BAYLE's

DICTIONARY

Volume the First.

A-B.

W I L L I A M R.

ILLIAM the Third, by the Grace of God, King of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c To all to whom these Presents shall come, Greeting Whereas Our Trusty and Well-beloved Jacob Tonson, of our City of London, Bookseller, has humbly represented unto Us, That he is preparing for the Press a Translation of Peter Bayle's Historical and Critical Dictionary in Four Tomes, And whereas the faid Jacob Tonson has inform'd Us, That he has been at a great Charge and Trouble in getting the faid Work Translated and Augmented, and therefore humbly befought Us to grant him Out Royal Privilege and Licence, for the fole Printing and Publishing thereof, for the Term of Fourteen Years, We being willing to give him all the Encouragement fuch an Undertaking deserves, are Graciously pleased to condescend to his Request, and do therefore, by these Presents, grant to him the said Jacob Tonson, his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, Our Royal Licence for the sole Printing the said Translation of Peter Bayle's Historical and Citical Dictionary in Four Tomes, with the feveral Additions, for the full Term of Fourteen Years from the Date hereof; strictly charging and foibidding all Our Subjects, within Our Kingdoms and Dominions, to Replint the fame, either in Whole or in Part, or in any Volume or Volumes whatfoever, and to Vend the same, during the aforesaid Term of Fourteen Years, without the Consent and Approbation of the faid Jacob Tonson, his Heirs, Executors or Assigns, by Writing under his or their Hands and Seals first obtained, as they will answer the contrary at their Perils Whereof the Master, Wardens, and Company of Stationers are to take Notice, that the same may be entred in their Register, and that due Obedience be yielded thereunto Given at Oui Court at Kensington the twenty first Day of April, 1701 In the Thirteenth Year of Our Reign

By His Majesty's Command

To the Right Honourable

ALGERNON,

Earl of Essex, Viscount Maldon, and Baron Capel of Hadham, Lord-Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum of the County of Hertford, Constable of the Tower of London, and One of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy-Council.

$M \Upsilon L O R \mathcal{D}$

onary, being at last finish'd, is proud of the Honour of Approaching Your Lordship. The Sale of the Book in French has been proportionably great in England, as upon the Continent: It is now Translated into the German Language, and Printing in that Country; and there would be no Reason to doubt this English Edition's being favourably received here, were the Generality rality of Readers as willing to Encourage any Learned and Useful Performance as Your Lordship is.

DEDICATION

This Quality, my Lord, proceeds from Sandour and Benevolence, that unaffected Easiness and Sweetness of Temper, which so Eminently distinguish Your Lordship in all Your Actions; These Accomplishing with every other valuable Quality, rais din Our late Glorious King a Personal Esteem for Lordship, both in Camp and Court: In the first of which, Your Lordship was near His Majesty in all the Campaigns he made during the last War in Flanders; and when it is said Your Lordship was always near the Person of that Heroe, every one will be fensible to what Dangers Your Lordship expos'd Your self, in the Service of Your Prince. and Country: Nor did the Favours that Prince particular larly grac'd You with, divert You from being firmly true to Your Friends; and whenever the Madness or Malice of a Party tryed their Efforts against any Your Lordship had honour'd with that Name, Your Lordship fail'd not then of giving inviolable Proofs of Your unwavering Honour. There needs no farther Confirmation of Your Lordship's unshaken Loyalty and Zeal for Your Country, than the late Gracious Instances of Her present Majesty's Favour to You; which that Your Lordship may long Enjoy, is the Hearty Prayer of,

 $M \Upsilon LORD$

Your Lordship's ever Obliged;

and Most Obedient Servant

REFAC

TO THE

First French Edition.

Might offer many Confiderations in this Preface, but as I can't do it without running into an exorbitant length, which would discourage the Readers, I rather chuse to give my self some Constraint, than offend their Niceness I shall therefore confine my Telf to five or fix Particulars

I declare first, that this Work is not what I promis'd in the Project I publish'd of a Critical Dictio- Work is not nary in the Year 1692 The Objection I had best answer'd, is that which form'd upon was chiefly infifted on, to condemn my Design, and perhaps it appear'd publish'd in very strong to a great many Readers, for no other reason, but because they 1692 observ'd I very much inlarg'd on its Confutation But let the Cause be what it will, I did not think it Prudent to oppose the general Taste, and fince it has been univerfally concluded, that most Faults I mention'd in the Articles of the Project were of little Importance to the Publick, Reafon requir'd I should give over my Undertaking. My Design was to compose a Dictionary of Errors, the Perfection whereof consists in obferving all Mistakes, great or small, for doubtless it would be a Perfection in a Geographical Dictionary, and in a Map, to specific every Town and Village Seeing therefore the best way of executing my Project had been the most expos'd to the Complaints of the Publick, by multiplying infignuficant Observations, there was a necessity for me to alter my Design; and I cou'd not but believe, that according to the prevailing taste of the Age, there was a real Impersection in the very Plan of my Enterprize, which could never be cured by the Execution If I contest any thing fider Scaling with those who say, that the greatest part of the Errors I have censur'd in ger's rem my Project are of no consequence, 'tis their supposing that they are us's Chris not all of that Nature; for I maintain, that none of em is important, and find that his that though, generally speaking, they are like those that have been Corrections observ'd by † great Criticks, yet they can contribute nothing to the pubflowing that lick Good. The Fate of Mankind does not depend upon 'em A NarTime, a rative abounding with the groffest Ignorance is as proper to move Man's Nam Let ten thousand ignorant &c have been taken the Passions, as Historical Exactness

People for others.

pag. 127 o Furctiere heard this I landers and I except those that concern Religion As tend to make no Exception

"Corsolenes's Mother obtain'd of him, what he refused the sacred College of Cardinals and the Pope himself, who went bons contes to meet him, you'll give 'em the same Idea of the Power of the Holy & des bons to meet him, you in give ein the lane idea of the Fower of the Flory mots, Prin-Virgin, as if this was no Blunder. Tell 'em, † 'Tis strange, Chris ted in the Tear 1693 frians, that you should not be moved to see our Saviour JESUS CHRIST pag 123 hanging upon the Cross; all bruis'd with Blows, when the Emperor Pompey of the Dutch Edition, that was mov'd with Compassion, upon seeing Pyrrhus's Elephants pierc'd with this was actu Arrows; you'll produce the fame effect, as if what you say of Pompey Tis affirm- was true. 'Tis therefore certain, that the Discovery of ‡ Errors is not ed in the Fu-important or useful to the Prosperity of the State, or of private Persons: of Observe now in what manner I have chang'd my Plan, the better to adapt. Edition that my felf to the publick Taste I have divided my Composition into two Parts · One is purely Historical, and gives a fuccinct Account of Matters Preach'd in of Fact The other is a large Commentary, a Miscellany of Proofs and I fanders toolly mean Discussions, wherein I have inserted a censure of many Faults, and some-Errors in Point of Fact, times a tiain of Philosophical Reflections, in a word, there is variety enough, to prefume that all forts of Readers will find fomething or other that will please 'em

This new Occonomy has broke all the Measures I had taken, most of to the former, the Materials I had Collected were of no use to me, and I was forced to work upon a new Foundation My principal Design was to observe the Faults of Morers, and of all other Dictionaries like his In my Quest of the Proofs necessary to expose those Faults, and rectifie them. I found, that many Authors both Ancient and Modern had committed the fame Mistakes And as Morers is much more out in what concerns Mythology and the Roman Families, than in Modern History, I had particularly made Collections upon the Heathen Gods and Heroes, and the great Men of ancient Rome. The Work I propos'd to publish, would have contain'd abundance of Articles, like those of Achilles, Balbus and Crassus in my Project All these vast Collections are become useless. because I was inform'd that these Subjects pleas'd sew People, and that a Volume in Folio, the greatest part of which should run only upon fuch things, would remain upon the Bookfellers Hands It will appear that I have had a regard to this Information; but few Articles of this kind being to be found in my two Volumes nor would they perhaps have been there, had they not been wholly Compos'd before I was fully informed of the Taste of the Readers

Why this Work cou'd not be Compos'd in a little time

This is one of the Reasons that have retarded the Publication of this Work Many others have contributed to it I resolved at first to say nothing that has been already faid in other Dictionaries, or at least to avoid as much as possible the Repetition of Facts that are to be found in them; whereby I deprived my felf of all the Materials that were most easie to be Collected, and employ'd Nothing can be more easie for the Authors of an Historical Dictionary, than to talk of Popes, Emperors, Kings and Cardinals, or of the Fathers of the Church, of Councils, and Hereticks; or of great Lords, Cities, Provinces, &c Tis therefore a great disadvantage to lay aside those Subjects, as one must do every moment, if he proposes to avoid the Articles that are in Moreri's Dictionary If you design to give the same Articles, you must confine your self to the things that he has omitted: The difficulty of separating them from others in the Originals you confult is not small; but that of connecting them together, after the Chases occasion'd by this Separation, is much greater Notwithflanding standing all these Difficulties, I resolved to give an account of most of the Persons mention'd in the Bible; but I was inform'd that *a particular *'Tis interled, Le Dich-Dictionary upon these Subjects would quickly come out at Lyons on aire de la What remain'd done, was to Collect what has been faid by the Rab. Bible 'Tis a Folio bins concerns the Persons; but understanding that the late Mr. d'Her-Book Printed belot's Best Eque Orientale was Printing at Paris, I gave over † this cording to the Design. Other in the same Difficulties, I had Compos'd the Arana Written ticles relating to Church-History, had I not consider'd that Mr Du Pin by M Simon furnished the Readers with all they could defire His Work is adap-Priest, and Doctor of the to the learned and unlearned The Dutch Editions have Divinity e it very common, and all the Curious read it I had not therefore ready Combeen excusable I mention'd the same things that are to be found pos'd the Arthere Must buy the same Histories twice? I rather chose to abstain Adam, Eve, from fo fruitful a Subject, and easie to come by, than to repeat what Cain, Abel, Abraham, may be more conveniently learnt elsewhere

I found my felf streightned in other Respects This Work was hardly give in this begun, when I heard an English Translation of Moreri's Dictionary was Printing at London, with abundance of Additions, and that a large Supplement to the same Work was going on in Holland Hereupon I thought my felf obliged not to treat of the Illustrious Men of Great Britain I concluded that out of the English Edition, they would be inferted in the faid Supplement, and that the fame thing would be bought twice, unless I prevented it by depriving my felf of so copious a Matter. of proper to recommend a Dictionary The same Reason made me asside my Enquiry after ‡ the Illustrious Men, who have Flourish'd in ‡ I bave only the United Provinces, and for the same Cause I have faid very little concerning the History or Geography of this State I thought the Sup-Lives or Faplement Printed in Holland would give a large and exact Account of all ons I had al these things, and likewise that it would fully treat of all the Tians- ready by me actions of Europe in our days This prevented my touching upon those Modern Histories On the other hand, I heard that a New Edition of Moreri's Dictionary was going to be publish'd at Paris, with great Additions This made me refolve to Suppress a great many things, and put a stop to my Enquiry into many Subjects, which I could handle but imperfectly in comparison of those who were engaged in this New Edition They are upon the Spot, and at hand to confult Libraries and Learned Men I ought therefore to leave them this Task entire, without running lightly over a Subject, that will be read more eagerly when fet off by them in its full Lustre, before others touch upon it But besides these New Editions and New Supplements of Moreri's Dictionary, other things have much streightned me Mr Chappuzeau has been a long time about an Historical Dictionary, in which we shall certainly find amongst abundance of other Subjects, what concerns the Situation of Nations, their Manners, Religion, Government, and what Plan of his Dictionary, concerns the Royal Families, and the Genealogies of great Men You'll publish'd by find in it at large, all the Electors, Princes, and Counts of the Empire, their the Tear 1694 Alliances, Interests, and principal Actions And by that means you'll see the Northern Commes, and the rest of Protestant Europe I thought therefore that I better be filent upon those great Subjects, than expose the Reader to the Necessity of purchasing the same things twice Nay, I have found my felf confin'd with respect to the Learned Men of the XVIth Century; for I knew that M. Teiffier was Printing, with New Ad-

† That 2d ditions, † the Commentaries he has fo curroufly compiled upon the Elogies Edition came on taken from Thuanus I was afraid, in speaking of those Learned Men, that the Facts mentioned by me would be the same with M Teissier's; and that Thought has often determin'd me to fuppress my Collections

I don't enumerate these Particulars, in order to enable my Friends to make an Apology against those who shall despise my Dictionary, and fay, Was so much Time to be consum'd in the Composition of such a Work? The Faults of it might be excused, if the Author had spent only a few Months in making it but so poor an Effect of so long a Labour deserves no Indul-Slowness is never tolerable * but when it produces a Master-piece. citulum, fed My Friends might answer, that the most diligent Writers would be hard put to it to make their Compilations with greater speed, if they abstained from the most copious and easie Subjects, and avoided mentioning what fome have compiled, and what they foresee will be compiled by others. What I have faid, is only design'd to resolve such Questions as these; Why so many great Men are wanting in my Book? Why it contains so many unknown Persons and obscure Names? Why it is so barren in some respects, and profuse in others? Could the Author be so mistaken, as to pre-Res ar- tend to be able to do what Pliny thought extremely difficult? &c Let the Querist be referr'd to the Account I have given above, and he will find the Solution of all these Doubts

*Diu paiturit lexiia lconem

du i vetustis novitatem duc, novis auctorit 1tem, obtoletis nitoi cm, obscuris lucem, fillidi-July 1692, end of it in

Books, for which I am willingly name and praise those, who bave done me that tavour, were I not afraid of offending sheir Mode-

I freely own, that laborious and diligent Authors will have reason to look upon me as a flow W11ter I have spent above † four Years in the Composition of these two Volumes Besides, they are intermix'd with long tis gratiam, dubits fidem Passages, which cost me no Pains, nothing of what I have said of my own. Plin in pr c- bespeaks an Author that Revises his Work, or Corrects his first Thoughts, † I began and the first disposition of his Words And therefore if any one thinks I July 1692, have been too slow, I shall not wonder at it I am sensible and ashamed of and made an it, and I should be still more ashamed, were it not that my Health fre-Octob 1696 quently interrupted, requires some regard, and does not permit me to perform what strong and laborious Men can do I know moreover that the flavery of Quoting, which I have fubmitted to, makes me lose much time, and that the prodigious scarcity of Books, very necessary to my Design, stopt my Pen a hundred times a day Such a Work as this requires the most numerous Library in the World, whereas I have very The Style is another cause of my Slowness I am scrupu-* Some Per- few Books * ry abl gingly lous about it, even to Superstition I take great care to avoid Ambigui-lent me some ties, and the use of any Particles that may occasion Obscurity The greatest Masters, the most illustrious Members of the French Academy, disvery thank-ful I wou'd pense themselves with these Scruples, and we have but three or four Writers, that are not cured of them 'Tis therefore a great mortification to me not to be able to get above those Niceties, which cost much time, and often spoil the lively and natural agreeableness of the Expresfion, when 'tis Corrected by this Rule

This is what I had to represent to those who might think it strange that my Dictionary cost me so much time But I must not neglect those, who might believe I have made too much hafte. There are many who will be furpriz'd to see two such great Volumes in Folso sinish'd in less than five Many Authors don't perfect a little Book under a Year, whether they look upon as mean Thoughts, and Expressions, whatever they produce without a long Meditation, or whether their Business calls them frequently from their Studies, or whether a natural Laziness, or too

fcrupulous

fcrupulous an Obedience to the Precept they have learn'd at School; Interpone tuis interdum gaudia curis, engage them often to interrupt their Labour. Those Gentlemen are easily prejudic'd against a Work that has not cost much time; and they think it has not, unless a hundred Printed Sheets have taken up three or four Years They'll apply to me, doubtless, the Canis festinans catos edit catulos, and will be confirm'd in their Prejudice, by reading the Particulars above-mention'd abate from the Labour spent upon things, all the time I have bestow'd upon avoiding Verses*, &c They know 'tis a long and painful task, and *The Γrench that nothing requires more Patience than a good Series of Citations of Verses, They will not allow, that under pretence of having inferted a great deal unless one takes an exof Foreign Matter in this Work, I may fay I have enlarg'd it in a lit- traordinary tle time For, will they fay, a just Application of abundance of Passages that fault is a more laborious Work † than a long train of Reasonings and Resternings and Resternings.

These Passages must be sought out, they must be Read with Atmospherical in the Article. tention, they must be pertinently plac'd, and connected with your own Epicurus Thoughts, and with one another 'Tis impossible to run, and do this perfectly well I grant 'em this, but I intreat them not to apply to me the Canis festinans, &c before they have read my Work Prejudices are deceitful, and if they would have favourable ones, I'll tell 'em that I remember Cato's Distich as well as they, Interponetus interdum gaudia curis, &c but that I feldom make use of it Diversions, Collations, Journeys into the Country, Visits, and such other Recreations necessary to a great many Studious Men, as they fay, are not my Business · I lose no time in them Nor do I spend it in Domestick Cares, in Cabals, Sollicitations, or other Affairs. I have been happily deliver'd from a great many Occupations not very fuitable to my Humour, and I have had the greatest and most charming Leisure that a Man of Letters could By this means an Author makes a great Progress in a few Years, his Work may receive considerable Additions every Day, and that without a negligent Performance

Some Rea-

I doubt not but the Method I have taken in Quoting the Passages of Authors, will be censur'd Many will say, I was resolv'd to compile a some for Quolarge Book with little Expence I have often cited very long Passages, ting Authors fometimes I give the Sense of 'em, and then I set 'em down in Greek and done Latin Is not this Multiplying Beings without Necessity? Was it necesfary to Transcribe a long Quotation of a Modern Book, which is to be had in every Bookfeller's Shop? To give a good Answer to those Criticks, I don't think it necessary to deny that their Objections are specious I confess they are plausible, and they kept me in suspence along while, but at last more specious Reasons determin'd me to the Method I have taken I consider'd that such a Work as this was to be instead of a Library to a great many People Many, that are Lovers of Learning, have not wherewithal to purchase Books, others have not leisure to consult the fiftieth part of the Volumes they Buy Those who have leisure enough, would be very unwilling to rife at every Moment, to feek out the Information they are referr'd to They had rather find in the Book they have before them the very Words of the Authors, that are brought as Evidences. If a Man wants the Edition cited, he loses a great deal of time; for it is not always easie to find in ones Edition the Page that an Author cites in his own. And therefore out of a regard to the Readers who have no Books, and to the Occupations, or Laziness of those that have

Libraries, I have taken care to shew them at once torical Facts and the Proofs of 'em, with many Discussions and Circumstances, that their Curiosity might be fully satisfied. And because many Frauds are committed in the Citations of Authors, and those who honestly abridge a Passage, don't always express the whole force of it, 'tis incredible how much Judicious Persons are grown Mistrustful. I manually say, that 'tis a fort of Rashness on a thousand Occasions, to believe tributed to Authors when their own Words are not Quoted. For Reason I was willing to fet the Reader's Mind at rest, and to prevent his suspecting any Fraud in my Report, I make every Witness speak in his Native Language; and instead of imitating Castebuetro, who his Citations with & catera, even before he had Transcrib'd the ry Passage, I have sometimes lengthned that Passage oth at the beginning and at the end, that the thing in Question light be understood, or something else occasionally learnt. I know this would be abfund in a short Moral Treatise, in a piece of Eloquence, or in an History, but it is not so in such a Compilation as this is, in which I propose to relate Facts, and then to Illustrate them with Commentaries Such a Method would be blamable, if instead of one Volume it made two; or instead of a Pocket-Book, it produc'd a Folso or a Quarto But the Question being only whether a Volume in Folso shall be longer or shorter by some Sheets, there is no need to constrain ones self Had it but 250 Sheets, it would no more have the Advantages of a little Book, than if it contain'd 330 Sheets; for it must be well observ'd, that these large Books are not made to be read Page by Page They would cost somewhat less, if they contain'd but 200 Sheets, will some say I answer, if a Booksciller went upon such a Rule, he would never Print a Wo confifting of many Volumes, though they contain'd nothing but folid Thoughts without a Syllable too much, for they would still be too dear for those that are in low Circumstances The trouble of Translating Amyot, or Vigenere into new French, would have been no Service, it suffices that my Reader can understand the Facts they ielate

Why Bran tome and fuch like Authors are often Quoted in this Dictionary

Plerique

tam ipii

tam narrare fiduciam

potius morum quam

arrogantiam

arbitr utifunt

Tacit in cita

Agricoli

cap 1

† See the

Remarks in the Articles

Vayer and

Virgil

Men of a Grave and Severe Character will Particularly blame the Citations out of Brantome and Montagne, that contain Actions and Reflections of too much Gallantry I must say a word or two to this Some Perfons of Merit, who were concern'd for the Interests of the Bookseller, concluded, that so large a Book as this, stuff'd with Greek and Latin Quotations in feveral Places, and full of Discussions little Diverting, would discourage the Readers that are not Men of Letters, and weary the Learned, and that therefore it was to be fear'd the Sale would quickly fall, if the Curiofity of those who don't understand Latin was not excited by fome other things I was made fensible, that a Work, which is bought only by the Learned, seldom pays the Printer, and that if any Profit is to be made by an Impression, its when a Book can equally please the Learned, and those that have no Learning, that it was therefore necessary for the sake of my Bookseller, sometimes to relate what free Authors have Publish'd; that the use of such Materials is like the liberty a Man takes to write hisown Life, in fome Persons*, 'tis a sign of Arrogance, in others a just Considence in their Virtue †, and that I might justly place my felf in the number of the latter, lastly, that if I was too averse to comply with this Advice, I shou'd at least fuffer others to furnish the Bookseller with such Memoirs, and even fometimes with Dogmatical Reflections that might excite Attention promis'd

promis'd the to have some regard to those Remonstrances, and added, that I had no right to oppose their Supplements; that I had left to the Bookseller a full Authority to insert, even without consulting me, the Memoirs his Correspondents and Friends should send him, and that I could wish they would do with respect to the whole Book what they seem'd to be willing to do in some Places, that is, make such Additions, least such things, and dispose of my Compilations as they It's certain I always wish'd to have no other share in this Work, than the care of Compiling I should have been glad if others would have taken the Pains to give a Form to the Materials, and to enlarge and shorten them; and I was well pleas'd when the Persons I assur'd me they would remember our Conversation, which is ming I desire my Readers to take notice of As for the Philosophical Leflections, and I need not make an excuse for them, for since they only tend to convince Man, that the best use he can make of his Reason, is to submit his Understanding to the Obedience of Faith, they seem to deferve the Thanks of the Faculties of Divinity

I have but two or three words to fay upon a thing which feems very Important I have related the Errors of a great many Persons somewhat Remarks on freely. Is not this a task and presumptions. Attempt 2 The A. S. freely Is not this a rash and presumptuous Attempt? The Answer to bold as to this Question would be very long, if Idid not refer the Readers to what I many Anhave faid upon it in my Project * I intreat them to have recourse to it thorn * Numero 6 I only add, that without exceeding the bounds of Humility, a Man may observe some Faults in the Books of samous Men, and yet have a profound Admiration for 'em When Subaltern Officers, or n common Soldiers, fay freely that their Generals have committed to Confult he Faults in the course of a Campaign, they are sometimes in the right, this I erfe of but they don't pretend to be better qualified than they to Command an Quum de se Aimy, they acknowledge themselves infinitely Inferious in Capacity as loquitur non ut myorc well as in Rank † This Comparison may be applied to me I further add, reprentis that when the Question is concerning a thing that is disadvantageous to lib 1 2 55 the Memory of a Man, I don't warrant the Truth of it, I only relate what I No quid others fay, and I quote my Authors 'Tis therefore to them, and not to me, dent, ne quid that a Man's Relations ought to address their Complaints A Modein Hi- falli jude at storian has declar'd in a Pieface, that those who have preserb'd the invio- The words of lable Laws of History must be applied to, to give an account of 'em, if any one his ficint is dissatisfied with 'em, and not the Historians, who ought indispensably to o- Book de Oribey, all the Glory they can hope for consisting in the Execution of their Orders

My Cause is still more favourable, since I only Transcribe the Authors already Printed Of the two Inviolable Laws of History mention'd by that historical Laws and the Authors alhistorical Laws and the Authors and the Authors alhistorical Laws and the Authors and the Au Historian, I have Religiously observed that which commands to say nothing gem, ne quid that is false, as for the other, which bids us venture to say all that is true, I audent, demcan't boast that I have always observ'd it I believe it sometimes incon-veri non aufistent, not only with Prudence, but also with Reason

I would not have it thought that I glory to have faid nothing but Truth I only can warrant my Intention, and not my Ignorance I advance food of what nothing † as Tiuth, when I am perfuaded that 'tis a Falfity, but my own, and of the how many things are there which I have not apprehended, or the Ideas great care whereof between confounded with one another during the Composition? However the does it happen that our Pen betrays our Thoughts? relate what I think to put down a Figure, or a Man's Name, and sometimes for the true sense of the Auwant of attention, or even by too much attention to other things, we of the Anthors Quoted

deat >

Write by me

write another? And therefore I make no doubt, that besides my Omissionis; which are many, I have committed many Faults. I shall think my felf obliged to those, who will be so kind as to Rectisse me. And had I not relied upon the good Advices of Intelligent and Equitable Readers, I should have . kept this Work many Years in my Closet, according to t the Advice of the Ancients, to Correct it, and render it less unworthy of the publick View, but confidering I had Materials left for two other large Volumes, I hasten'd the Publication of it I easily understood that I should be more usefully affisted, when the Publick should know what I want, and wherein I am wanting I hope that with those Helps the continuation of this Work will be more perfect than otherwise it would Ishall immediately go about it whilst Age † will permit me I fee nothing wherein I can better and more pleasantly employ the Leifure I am blest with, a Leisure which seems to me preferable to ‡ all things, and which has always been earnestly wished for by the true Lovers of Study and Learning, for how many Men impatiently long for the time, in which they may fay,

Nonumque prematur in annum Horat de arte poèt

Dum superell Lachen quod torqueat, & pe-dibus me Porto meis. nullo dextram fubcunte bacilla Juven sat Nec Otia divitus Arabum liberrima muto Horat epist 7 lib 1
* See Virgil

n the 4th Book of the Enerd

2 340

Me * jam fata meis patiuntur ducere vitam Auspiciis, & sponte mea componere curas?

I think I may reasonably say, that what I am going upon will be more considerable, even with respect to the Materials, than what I offer at pre-Chance had a greater share in it than Choice The thing is I put off as long as I cou'd the Composition of the Articles. this that seem'd the most Curious, and of the greatest importance ly hop'd for more Materials, and new Helps, and in the mean time I was preparing other things, whereby it happen'd on one hand, that the Articles I compos'd took up a great deal of room, and on the other, that the Materials for those I had put off were hugely multiplied I could not therefore infert them in these two Volumes, without prodigiously spoiling the proportion that is to be observed betwixt the Letters of the Alphabet This obliged me to keep 'em till another time: for I can't prevail with my felf to fay but little upon a large Subject, when I can fay a great deal Therefore I rather chuse to be silent altogethei, than to enter upon it The proportion I have observed betwixt the Letters of the Alphabet, has been the reason of my referring some Articles from one Letter to another The Preference was therefore to be given to the Articles I had promised, which was the reason why the Letter for which they were design'd had its compleat Extent, before those could be made ready, which were to be very long

V
U h it course I have taken with respect to Morery
Dictionary

Here I ought to declare what Course I have taken, with respect to Moveris Dictionary I There are many Subjects that I have pass'd over in silence, because they are treated at large in his Dictionary II When I have given the same Articles, I have been determin'd to it, either because he was short in his Account, or because having by me the Lives of some Eminent Persons, I was able to give a compleat Narrative, or because out of many separate and curious things, I cou'd make a pretty large Supplement In each of these Cases, I have industriously avoided the Facts he has mention'd But it was impossible to do it so absolutely in the second, as in the other two, for in Abridging an exact Narrative of the Life of a great Man, 'tis necessary to give a Series of his Actions in order, and to make Articles well connected, and in some fort continued Was it possible to do it, if I had absolutely omitted every thing that has been faid of that Person? Therefore in a very few Articles of the and, it will be possible to Aver that Moreri's Dictionary be related lomething, that will be found intermix'd with many I relate But as this feldom happens, and that in inconnew Fac fiderable Points, I needed not have made this Observation, and I only do it through a strong Habit of avoiding Universal Propositions, and gard in some Cases to the smallest Exceptions Besides, there ome Occasions in which a Man can't be too cautious to prevent Cavils. III If I advance any Fact that I have only from Morers's Compilation, I very carefully cite it I mistrust it very much; and therefore I am resolved to run no risk upon such a security IV When I don't cite that Writer, and yet IRelate any thing that is to be found in his Work, 'tis a certain Proof I have it from another Author I could fwear I have not stoll'n a Word or a Syllable from him I Quote him as often as I take the least Word from him, which very seldom happens; and I never omit citing him, but when I have discover'd the things by as painful Searches as if he had never mention'd them V I refer the Reader to him for Facts somewhat considerable It would be an absurd thing to make References for the Day of a Birth, the Name of a Native Place, &c for such References would take up more room in a Page than the things referred to, and yully disgust the Readers VI I have not pitch'd upon this Mefor fear of being accounted a Plagiary This had been a Panick, and a very ridiculous Fear, for no one has hitherto carried his Extravagance so far, as to accuse of Plagiarism such as relate Events that another has related, whilst they derive them from the Fountain-Head, and use neither the Turn, nor the Order, nor the Expressions of another. nor 18 it likely that it should come into any ones Head for the future, to give so absurd a definition of Plagiarism, for it would lead us to this utmost point of Impertinence, viz that the most excellent Historian, who should undertake to write the Life of Charles V would necessarily be the Plagiary of the most wretched Chronicler, that Collected Rhapsodies upon the Actions of this great Prince VII I have put by themselves in a Remark the Errors I have imputed to Morer: VIII I have not touch'd upon those that are found in the Articles given by him and not by me, though they are not less considerable, nor less frequent in those Articles IX I have followed the Edition of Lyons 1688, than in the others which is the Fifth and last that was Printed in France I am not ignorant that the Dutch Editions are much better; but I thought it necessary to proportion my Corrections to that, for the fake of a great many People, who only make use of the French Editions, and who still † seek and purchase them preferably to the Sixth and Seventh

From all this it refults, that my Dictionary is not design'd to lessen the bave been told that Sale of the other; on the contrary it will encrease it, and make the Rea- Moreri's Leal has been

ding of it were useful

For the name of Youth, who want to have their Judgment improved, and to be made sensible of the most scrupulous Exactness, I have taken notice therefore 'tas fit they should be of the least Faults of Morers in the Subjects we both handle as for the fee by per-Mistakes that are in other Places, I don't meddle with them, as I have Work that faid before. I don't desire that the Contempt this may create for his Lat bis violent should lessen the Acknowledgment that is due to him

+ They are I am of justly Cen-Horace's Sered

experto frustra Varrone Atacino, Atque quibusmelius quod scribere posfcm, Inventore minor neque ego illi detrahere autim H2multa cuni laude coronam Horat fat 10 lib 1

*Hoc erat, Horace's Opinion * with respect to those who shew us the way: The first Writers of Dictionaries have committed many Faults, but they have done great Services, and deferve a Glory, of which they ought not to be deprived by their Successors Movers took great Paux his Performance has been of some use to every Body, and has afforded sufficient Instruction. ons to a great many. It has brought a Laght into feveral Places, where other Books would never have done it, and which have no need of an exact Knowledge of Circumstances. It continues to disperse it into all rentem capiti Parts, and with greater Purity fince the two Dutch Editions. They are infinitely better than those of France, for they have been Revised by the of the greatest Authors of our Age Imean M LE CLERC, whose profound Learning, supported with a just and penetrating Wit, and an exquifite Judgment, is admir'd by all Europe He has Corrected a vast number of Faults, and has made excellent Additions, and no body could be better qualified to perfect this great Work, if nobler and more important Occupations would allow him to be at the trouble of it can't bear the unjust Caprices of those who complain of the frequent Editions of Morers, and look upon the Bookfellers that undertake them as thor has pre- publick Porsoners.

VI fixed bis Name to this Work

† Vir bo-nus esse quam videri face malchat See the Remark H in the Article Amphiarus, and the Rumark L in the Article Cæfir

1 Ciccio relates the thing, b t 1 nne et tho violim i lph il i philotophicu on in illis libellis quos de contein nend i gloria icribunt, no men luum inferibunt m couplo m quo piædic itionem nodespiciunt, prædic iti de te ic nominiri vo-. lunt Cicero pro Archia poèra ful m 164 D See allu Ciccro Lutent quant lib r tol 247 D Maximus lib 8 cap 14 n 3 in ext * In Scalige-

ianis, voce

du Maire,

p m 148

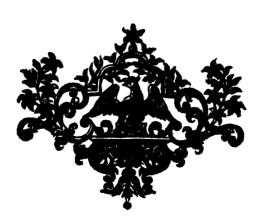

Those, who shall see my Name in the Title Page of this Book, and who know that during the time it was Printing, I faid on all Occasions I would not prefix it, deserve I shou'd say something about it in this Pre-I have not only faid this on an hundred Occasions, but I have writ the fame to feveral Persons, and many People know that all my Friends have strongly oppos'd my Resolution, and that the innumerable Arguments the fruitfulness of their Genius, and their generous Goodness suggested to them, could gain nothing upon me I don't blame those who put their Names to their Works, but I have ever had a fecret Antipathy There is no reason to be given of Antipathics any more than of Tastes, and yet I might say that Reflection has confirmed this Natural That wife Indifference, fo much celebrated by the Ancient That Illustrious Man, who labour'd Philosophy, has always pleas'd me more to be a good Man than to be thought fo †, who was always concern'd how to practife Viitue, but never to be prais'd for it, scem'd to me long ago an excellent Model, and never any Cenfure appear'd more judicious to me, than that which was pass'd upon some Philosophers t who put their Names to those Pieces in which they condemned the defire of In effect, why do you blame those that run after Reputation, if you proclaim to the Publick that you don't approve fuch a weakness? biliturinque Pursuant to these Notions, nothing seem'd to me more noble than to thew in all the Services that are done to the Publick, the same Disinterest-These were the edness that the Gospel prescribes in Works of Charity Maxims that moved me to suppress my Name at the beginning of my Dictionary But I shall not be believed by Detiacters; they'll think that my Scruples were grounded upon the little Honour that is to be got by appearing at the Head of a large Compilation, which they'll call a Commonshore of Collections, a Rhapsody of a Transcriber, &c. Of all the Employments, will they fay, that can be had in the Commonwealth of Learning, there is none so contemptible as that of Compilers they are the Drudges of great Men, and indeed they are not useless · Such People, faid Scaliger *, are the Drudges of Learned Men, they bring us all our Materials, 'tis a great help to us, and fuch Men are necessary. But are not not the vilest Professions necessary? and does their Usefulness retrieve them from their Sordidness? There is therefore more Vanity than Modefly, in declining the Reputation of a drudging Author, and endeavouring to get out of the Class of those Writers, whose Productions are not so much the Work of their Minds, as the Work of their Bodies, and who carry their Brams upon their Shoulders. The Detracters may beheve what they please, there's no Reasoning against them, and therefore I shall only say it is not through Inconstancy, but in Obedience to the Supreme Authority, that I have done what I have fo often faid I would not do It was thought necessary to compose the Difference of some Booksellers that I shou'd name my felf Without this the Sieur Reinier Leers could not have ob- + Tight Reinier Leers and not have obtain'd the License which he thought he had an indispensable Occasion Accison icolian for I therefore submit, and have no Reason to fear the Tribunal of the badmissi formidable Cato the Cenfor on this account †

I beg of my Readers, when they shall find any thing that is wiong, to επεσκωψε, fee whether it be not in the Authors Quoted by me, for if my Transla- "Tansla- "Tans tions be not Literal, they are at least faithful as to the Sense they must yvalunva Tav therefore contain an Irregularity, when my Authors have spoken or Ingia authors thought confusedly If any think they have been wrongly Criticis'd in atalkadese this Dictionary, and if they publish any small piece in their Justification, Francisco Posthumium Albinum Albinum to answer them, I take the Resolution of referring all this to the con- qui historias tinuation of this Dictionary I shall ingenuously confess my Errors, and Greec, veniretract them, without having recourse to Cavilling, as is the common amperentem irrifit, dan-I am fometimes more positive than I should be the Bottom I only propose Doubts, and if I speak upon another strain, Amphietyo-'tis that I may the better excite the Learned to afford me their Instructi- numdecreto ons, and concur more Zealously in the Illustration of things

The 23d of October, 1696

But at dam dicens, sumphilet Plut in Catone Majore P 343 B

ADVERTISEMEN

CONCERNING THE

Second French Edition.

* In the Preface of the First EdiHE first thing I am to acquaint the Readers with, is, that most of the Remarks they have seen above *, concern and ought to be apply'd to this Second Edition

It is not twice as large as the First, but it does not want much of it, and if it be not exempt from the

Faults of the First as much as it shou'd be, and as much as I desir'd it is however less Faulty As I was Revising the First Edition, I had found many Missakes that proceeded from the negligence of the Print They have been rectified, as also many others, most of which were oc. casion'd by the Authors Quoted by me, whom I could not rectifie, because I had not by me the Books necessary for it There are some Faults which Ishould not have Mended, had Inot been inform'd of them, they Eather in will eafily be discern'd, for I have carefully mention'd the † Authors of the Advices, Illustrations or Supplements that have been Communicated After all, I am not without great Fears that there are more Faults remaining than I have removed, 'tis the Fate of Dictionaries to arrive flowly and by degrees at Perfection Abundance of things are wanting to them when they come out first of all, which Time gives 'em Names, wanting to them when they come but the water when I knew by degrees Be it how it will, I have been fo diffatisfied with my First Edition, in bringing it to the Test of Examination, that I disown ‡ it and will be answerable only for the things I have caused to be Reprinted out of it I expect from the Readers equity, that if they will reprove me. they'll take care to observe whether the Passage they think Faulty is to † This ought be found in the Second Edition

There is a foit of Corrections that I have made, as it were ex officio, and in consequence of an Engagement of which the Publick was in-I have done it with all imaginable Care, and with the strongest ! To this purpose I have left out Intention to fatisfie the Discontented fome things that were unacceptable; and besides, the Reader is referr'd to Four Explanations that are at the end of his Work

I shall fay but little of the Additions, not being willing m tied great body let every one judge of 'em according to his Under inding

Mistakes in I will not discombine that the state of the sta I will not dissemble, that the trouble they have given me has not permitted me to Correct the Articles of the First Edition with all the Severity and Diligence I design'd Tis very difficult for an Author, whilst the Press goes on without any interruption, to do these three peneral, or the Perfoni, or placing Por 14, 11-It ad of then they would Named There are few Exceptiuns to this particularly to be under-stood of the Copies that and in were Reprin- foim'd sed, the Proofs whereof I did not Ke-tife The Printers

thuse Copies

pertisement concerning the, &cc.

things; to Revise two large Volumes in Folio, to enlarge them above one third part, and to Correct the Proofs

Some Additions require that many Places shou'd be Mended and new Moulded, to prevent contradicting ones self, and Writing Nonsense Theorest a Dictionary well, a Man should never enlarge if for 'the with these Works as 'tis with Towns and Fruits. A Town to me receives a just Symmetry and Proportion, whilst greater care is taken to enlarge it than to Repair the old Houses. Such an increase serves rather to shew its Disproportions and Irregularities, than to the them. And as for Fruits, 'tis well known they never Ripen sey cease to receive new Juices. Such is the common Fate of Commations. When they are Reprinted, a greater Care is taken to add new things, than to be the old ones in a better condition. An Author is weary of the old ones he has read so often, and finds in the others the Charms of Novelty which take up all his Attention. This produces an ill effect; most of the old Faults remain, and new ones are added to them

When the Reader meets with any thing worth remembring, he needs only fee whether it be found in the Table, and if it be not, 'tis but Marking it themselves in the Margin of the Table, under the word which they think most convenient, or on a Paper by it self 'Tis the Method that * Unde Scistaken by those who find the Tables of Books defective, and design to prevent the Damage they might receive by them

Having receiv'd too late the Memoirs for the Article of the Town of eadem materia fus mpes and for those of Fevret, and the House Minutoli, which has quemque funding apra could not make use of 'em I have also receiv'd too late an Article ready made, and very well drawn up, viz that of Ralph Arch-Bishop of Bourz querit, canis leporem,

I have nothing to fay to those, who complain that my Work does not certum afford 'em a sufficient number of things that suit with their Taste 'Tis roms libros the unavoidable Fate of Miscellaneous Writings Each Reader finds in de republica them too much of one thing, and too little of another Those who love Genealogies don't find enough of them Those who don't love 'em think there are too many Those who delight in Philosophical Reasonmaticus, hinc grammaticus, hinc philosophia deditus, and those who don't like 'em, would not have so many Some wish I had not given the Articles of so many Ministers, others wonder I have omitted so many. I desire them all to so sufficient them all to mind this saying of Pliny, Let us forgive others their Inclinations, dissifict multos cife, quos ca quissific multos cife, quos ca quissific multos cife, quos ca quissification.

If I have spoken of one Family rather than of another equally or more mui & duciconsiderable, 'twas without any respect of Persons, the only Reason of it was, that I had Materials for some and not for others

A Particular Answer is due to those who have found Fault with me for speaking so little of great Warriors. Two things made me so Barren mus, inquit, in this respect, one is, as I have sufficiently † said, that I have avoided falliant oblements in with the Subjects of other Dictionaries, both as to the present and future Editors. Most of the Ancient and Modern Generals of Armies tremus Sciare to be and in Moreri; especially the Constables, Admirals, and Mareschals of France, &c. These Articles cost only the Pains of Transcerbing Father Anselme. I was perswaded that all the samous Northern and German Warriors would appear at large in Mr. Chappuzeau's Dictiomircris, cx leporem, ciconia labus nos capiface to the nary. First Edition

D

Advertisement concerning the

nary. I did not therefore think it necessary to turn my Thoughts But I had still a stronger Reason, which was this: I did not find my felf in a capacity to give these Articles such I shou'd have desired.

Father Anselme's Performance is a good and useful Work, and required an incredible Patience and very laborious Enquiries, but it can't fatiffie the Readers Curiosity. 'Tis next to nothing to know that in such a Year a General took or reheved a Town, or won a Battel, &c Reader is besides willing to know what was his Character; whether he excell'd in Courage, as Marcellus, or in Prudence as Fabrus Cunstator: whether he was better qualified to Conquei than to preferve his Conquests; whether his fiery and quick Temper dazzled him in a Battel, or whether he remain'd Sedate in the greatest Danger, by what Stratagems he gain'd a Battel that was almost lost, by what Fault he was overcome on fuch an Occasion The Readers are also willing to know whether in reality he got the Victory, as the Writers of his Party affirm, or whether † The Origi- he lost it, as the Writers of the other side maintain These Disputes ‡ aic nal Caufe of innumerable I should think my felf obliged to discuss them, and to Paly this, The rallel the Relations of both sides, that by establishing as a Principle the ons of a Bat- uncontested Facts, as to the Battel or its Consequences, we might theresold about the by arrive to some fort of certainty

Realons takes Root, a transient one 'Iss like a Christian Name which remains to sbc last ticle, Bodugrave.

Streets, ery For Example, if I spoke of Mareschal de Luxembourg, I would observe for Political the Character that distinguish'd him from other Generals, and be Parti-For Example, if I spoke of Mareschal de Luxembourg, I would observe cular upon the occasions in which he discovered what he excell'd in, and in what his Talents were but indifferent. I would avoid the Mistakes though it should be only and Omissions which I find about him in Moreri's Dictionary I would not fay that he Defeated the Armies of Holland near Bodegrave in 1672, that he took Bodegrave * in 1673, that he raised the Srege of Charleros in 1674 For the first of these three Facts † 18 an inexcusable Hyperbole. I would not fay, that in and the two others are wholly Chimerical Nose, that 1673 He made his way through the Enemies Army of seventy thousand Men, Bodegrave is though he had but twenty thousand 'tis an Hyperbole that would not be but a Village though he had but twenty thousand 'tis an Hyperbole that would not be † See the Ar- excused in a Poet I would not say, that in 1678 He Reat the Dutch Army at St Denys near Mons, but I would examine the Question who won that Battel I would not fay, that in 1692 He took the Enemics Cannon and Baggage, &c at Steinkirke, it being a Fact manifestly confuted by the very Relation he gave of this Battel, and which was immediately Printed in France I would not omit the Rebellion he persisted in from the Year 1649, to the Pyrenean Treaty I would not omit his ‡ In 1676 Campaign of Philipsburg ‡ under pietence that he was Mortified upon that Account I would not omit his Imprisonment in the Bastille, and would endeavour to dive into the Secrecy of the Proceedings of the This is the more requisite for the Chamber of the Arfenal against him Honour of his Memory, because there went strange and very ridiculous Reports concerning his Triel I would Examine what so many People imagine, though perhaps without much Reason, that he would have done greater Services to France in his last Campaigns, if he had not preferr'd his particular Interest of keeping up the War to the Publick Good, of if his Orders had not been too limited. Those Men pretend that he Headed the Army just as the Pope's Legates Headed the Council of Trent, that is, he was to wait every Post for a new Inspiration. Lastly,

Second French Edition.

Lastly, I would endeavour to find a true medium as to his Morals, betweet his Funeral Orapon and some Printed Writings †.

Every body will be sensible, that since I am not in a capacity of filling mean all, for up a Plan of this Nature, I am very excusable for not touching upon and import such Articles.

"mean all, for most outling upon arises for an import outlines."

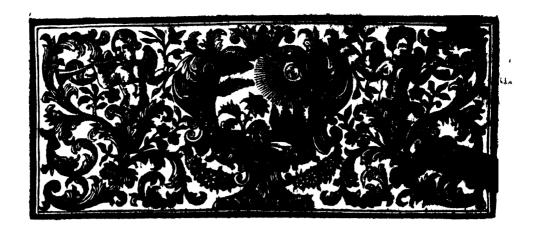

I forget to mention, in the Preface of the First Edition, one of the and to planly Calumni Reasons, why I have Quoted long Larm Passages, which was, that many one, that they Persons who read my Book are but little acquainted with French, but be Credited they are well skill'd in Latin, and so by the help of the Citation they can perfectly understand my Meaning

Such as will give themselves the trouble to cast their Eyes upon the Margins of this Dictionary, are desired to remember, that the Quotations I have Mark'd with a Figure are those which I have found in the Authors, whose Passages I relate. I am not answerable for them

The 7th of December, 1701.

† I dn'r mean all, jor most of 'cm arc so f lly and import nent vatves, and so planly Calumn ous, that they ought rot to be Credited

A

O F THE

Contain'd in this

1 C T I O N A R

* The letters 1 and y in this Table are saken for one and the fame Letter For instance, Amyraut is to be look d for, as if it was writson Amiraut Some few Arts- Abbeville Martyr is not in Abdi is this Édition nor in the tyr

Bairs Abaris (a Town of Egypt), See Pithoin their proper Places, but they may be ea fully found by pe rusing the Ta ble The Article of Veter Abbeville
Abbet (George)
Abot (Robert)
Abderame
Abderus
Abderus
Abderus
Abderus
Abderus
Abderus
Abderus
Abderus
Abderus
Abderus Abdıffi Abel French. the Abclard (Peter) the Author re fers to the word Abcliv (Antony) Vermilli under the word Marthe word Marthe Abcliv (Lewis) Aberdeen
tyr Abgillus (John) Abydus Abimelech Ablancourt, see Perrot Abrabanel (Isaac) Abraham Abram (Nicolas) Absternius (Laurence) Abucaras (Theodorus) Abudhaher Abulfcda (Ishmael) Abumuslimus Acacia, Jee Akakia. Acamas

Acarnania

Accard (Francis)

Accardi (James)
Accardi (Donato).
Accardi (Zenobio).
Accus (Lucius) Acco Accurfius Accurius (Cervot) Accurius (Francis)
Accurius (Mariangelus) Achæus Achæmenes Achæmenes Acheri, (Luke d') Achilles Achilles Achillea Achmet Acidalius (Valens) Acındynus (Gregory) Acındynus (Septimius) Acontius (James) Acosta Acronius (John) Actor Actuarius Acuna (Christopher de) Ada Adam Adam, a Chaldean Monk Adam (John) Adam (Melchior) Adamites Adonis Adrastus Adriani (John Baptist) Adrianople, see Andrinople. Adrichomia (Cornelia) Adrichomias (Christian) Ægialea, see Egialea Æmilius (Paul), see Emilius Æmilius (Antony), see Emilius Æncas, see Encas Ærodius, see Ayrault Æschylus, see Eschylus Æsop, see Esop Afer (Domitius) Afranius Agar, or Hagar Agathon Agefilaus I Agefilaus II Agefipolis Agis Agreda (Mary d') Agricola (George) Agricola (John)
Agricola (Michael) Agricola (Rodolphus) Agrigentum, see Gergenti Agrippa (HenryCornclius) Aguirre Ajax Ajax Ajax Ajax Aiguillon Ailli (Peter d') Aimon Ayrault (Peter) Ayrault (Rena Aitzema (Leo Akakıa (Martın) Akakıa (Martın) Akakıa (Martın) Akıba Alabaster (William).

Alains,

THETABLE

Alains, or Alam. Ir Aretin (Peter) Anarandrides Alaus Anchifes. Argyropylus. comenium Ariarathes, see Cappadocia. Arigoni (Pompey) 11, Ancillon Jamandus (Lewis) Alamos (Balthafar) Albertus Magnus Anceilon Ancre (Mareichal d') se Concini Andlo (Petrus ab).
Andrada (Diego de Payva d') Andreas (John)
Andreas (Tobias)
Andreim (Isabella)
Andreimus (P. Fandus) Arimanius Arimmensis (Gregorius) see 1, -Albret mini Albunea, fee Tibur, Albutius Silve (Caius) Anon Ariosta Andreimus (P Faustus) Andrinople or Adrianople. Aristander, Alcafar Aristarchus Alceus or Alceus Alceus or Alceus Aristarchus Andromache. Andromachus Aristeus or Aristaus. Alchabitius Andromachus Aristeus or Aristeus Alchindus Andronicus Aristeus or Aristeus. drew) Alcu Andronicus (Marcus Pompilius) Aristides hn Paul). Ariston Andronicus Andronicus (Tranquillus) Angiolello (Giovanni Maria) as (Terence) Ariston (Titus) Alcinoe Aristotle Alcinous Anglus (Thomas) Aristotle. Alcyonius (Peter) Anicius Arius Arminius (James) Alcman Annat (Francis). Alcmeon or Alcmeon lemeon or Alcmeon lemeon or Alcmeon Arnauld, a Family Arnauld (Antony) Arnauld d'Andilli (Robert) Anne Annius Viterbiensis, see Nannius Anielm, Archbeftop of Canterbury Alemena Anselm Arnauld (Antony) Arngrimus, see Jonas. Arniseus (Henningus) Aldrunger Antesignanus (Peter) Aldrovandus (Ulysses)
Aleander (Jerôme)
Aleander (Jerôme)
Alegambe (Philip)
Alesius (Alexander) Anthermus Antinoe or Antinopolis Arnobius. Arnoldus (Nicolas) Antinous Antipater Arodou (Benjamin d') Antonia, a Roman Family Aaron Arriaga (Roderic d') Arfenius Alexander ab Alexandro Antonius (Marcus) Alexander the Great, see Macedo-Antonius (Marcus) Antonius (Caius) Arfenius. Alexander VII Pope, see Chigi Antonius (Marus) Arfenius Alexander VIII Pope, see Otto-Antonius (Caius) Antonius Lucius) Arscnius Aarsens (Francis). Arlinoe is ius Varus (Publius) Antonius (Marcus Julius) Arsinoe Antonia uypius Antonia Artabanus Alypius. Antoniano (Silvio) Artabanus I Alypius Antonio Nicolas) Artabanus II Alypius (Faltonius Probus) Alkindus, see Alchindus Allatius (Leo) Almain (James) Apati (Michael) Artabanus III Apelles Artabanus IV Apelles Apellicon Artabazus Artavaides I Alpaide Apicius Artavasdes II Alftedius (John Henry) Altaemps (Mark) Althufius (John) Altulus (Gabriel) Apian (Peter) Artavasdes Artaxata Apion Apollinaris (Caius Sulpitius) Artaxias I Apollodorus Artaxias II Altingius (Henry) Altingius (James) Apollodorus Artaxias III Apollonius Pergæus Artemidorus Amable Apollonius Tyaneniis Artemilia Apono (Petrus ab) Aprofio (Angelico) Aprofio (Paul Augustin) Amama (Sixtinus) Artemilia Amaiæus` (Romulus) Asclepiades Asclepiades Aspasia of Miletus, see Pericles Aspasia of Phocasa, see Cyrus Asyanax Amastris Amboise (Francis d') Amboise (Adrian d') Amboise (James d') Amboise (Michael d') Apuleius (Lucius) Aquæus (Stephen) Aquaviva (Andrew Matthew) Aquin (Philip d') or Aquinus Arragon Alfonso V of that Name, Athenagoras Ambrosius Camaldulensis, see Ca-Athenæum King of) Arragon (Joan of) Arragon (Isabella of) maldoli Athenæus Attalus, see Pergamum Atticus (Titus Pomponius) Amelia. Amelius Arragon (Mary of) Africius (William) Attıla Ameteris Amiyot (James)
Amyraut (Moles) Aramont (Gabriel) Arbrissel (Robert d') see Fontev-Attılıus Attius (Lucius) Aubert N raut Aubertin (Edme) Amyrutzes Arcesilaus Ammonius Archelaus Audebert (German) Archelaus, a Philosopher Archelaus, King of Macedonia Archelaus, King of Cappadocia. Ammonius (Andrew) Ammonius (Livinus). Aventinus (John). Averroes Imphases S Augustin Aurat or d'Aurat (John) fee Dan-Imphiacaus Imphilochus Archilochus Archimelus rat. Aurelian (Lucius Domntius) Areun (Charles). Areun (Francis). Areun (Guy). Areun (John) Areun (Leonard) Libphitryon Aureolus (Peter, Auriege, or rather Ariege. Aurifpa John). macreon inaxagoras Inabaptists. Aurogallus Inaxandrides Aufonius.

Ausonius Austria (Don Juan d'). Azotus B BAbelot Babylas Babylon Bachovius (Reinier) Bacon (Roger) Bacon (Francis) Bacoue (Leo) Badius (Jodocus) Bagni (John Francis).
Baius (Michael) Balbus Balbus, Balbi, or Balbo (John) Baldus Baldus (James) Baldus (Bernardin) Balesdens (John)
Balmis (Abraham de) Balthasar (Christopher) Balzac Balzac(John Lewis Guez Sieur de) Bandel (Matthew) Bandole (Antony de) Bangius (Thomas)
Barbarus (Francis)
Barbarus (Hermolaus)
Barbarus (Daniel)
Barbarus (Daniel)
Barbara Barbara Barberini (Francis) Barclay (William) Barclay (John) Barcochebas Barcocneous Barde (John de la) Barlette (Gabriel)
Barleus (Melchior)
Barleus (Gaspar)
Barleus (Lambert)
Barlow (Thomas)
Barnes (Robert)
Barnes (John) Barnes (John)
Baron (Peter)
Baron (Vincent)
Baroni (Leonora) Baronius (Dominick) Barthius (Gaspar) Bafina Basnage (Benjamin) Basnage (Henry) Basta (Nicolas) Basta (George) Bathyllus Bathyllus Bathyllus Baudier (Michael) Baudius (Dominick) Baudouin (Francis' Bautru Des-Matras (Maurice) Bautru Des-Matras (John)
Bautru (William) Bautru (Micolas) Beaucaire de Peguillon (Franças), Beaulieu (Lewis le Blanc Sieur Beaumont (Francis de) Beaune (Renaud de). Beda (Noel) Bedell (William) Begat (John) Belearius, Jee Beaucaire Bellu Bellai (William du) Bellai (John du). Bellarmin (Robert). Belleau (Remi)

Belleforest (Francis de)

Belloi (Peter).

Belot (N) Bembus (Peter). Benedicus (Elpidio de) Beni (Rent) Bennon Benserade (Isaac de) Berauld (Nicolas) Berengarius (Peter) Berenice Berenice. Berenice Berenice Berenice Berenice Bergamas (James Philip) Bergier (Nicolas) Berigardus (Claudius) Berytus Bernard (Saint) Beroaldus (Matthew) Beroalde (Francis) Berquin (Lewis de) Beriala (Anne) Bertelier Bertram (Cornelius Bonaxentus) Beverningk (Jerome Bezanites or Bezanishs Beza (Theodorus) Bibliander (Theodoms) Byblis Byblos Bigois Bigot (Emeric)
Bigot (William)
Billaut (Adam) Billi (James de) Billon (Francis de) Bion Bion Biron, see Gontaut Blanc (Lewis 1c), see Beaulieu, Blanc (Lewis Ic), J.
Blanche, fee Castile Blandrata (George)
Blomberg (Barbara)
Blondel (David)
Blondel (Francis)
Blondel (Francis) Boccacio (John) Boccalini (Trajan) Bochart (Matthew Bochart Samuel).
Bochius (John) Bodegrave Bodin (John) Boi, commonly sall'd, Il Biracubine.
Boiffard (John James)
Boleyn or Bullen (Anne) Boleslaus I Bolice (Jerome) Bombafius (Paul) Bombaius (Paul) Bombeyg (Dausel; Bonciarius (Mark Aatony) Bonfadius (James).
Bonfinius (Antony) Bongars (James .
Bonoma (John de) Bore (Catherine de) Boreas Boreas Borrhaus (Marten). Borri (Joseph Francis) Borrichius (Olaus) Bote (John du) Bose (N du) Boso (Peter du Bosquet (Francis) Bossu (James le)
Bossus Matthew Boffus (Matthew) Botereius (Rodolphus) Botero or Boterus (John

Boucher (John)

Bougi (Marquis de) fee Reverend.

Boulai (Cælar Egaffe du'. Bouquin (Peter) Bourignon (Antoinette) Bourlote (Claudius de la) fec Labourlote Boxhornius, see Zuerius Brachmanes Brenzius (Samuel Frederick) Brezé (Peter de) Breze (Marechal de) Breze (Marechal de) Brezé (Armand de Maille) Brezé (ClaraClementia de Maille) Briseis Brissot (Peter) Britannicus (John) Brocard (James Brodæus (John) Brosse (James de la) Broffier (Martha) Bruyn (John de) Brun (Antonyle) Brun (Charles le) Brunus (Leonard), see Arctin Brunus (Jordanus) Bruschius (Gaspar) Brutus (Lucius Junius) Brutus (Marcus Junius), Brutus (John Michael Brutus (Stephen Junius) Bucer (Martin) Buchanan George) Budæus (William Bulgarus Bullen (Anne), see Boleyn Bullinger (Henry) Bunel (Wilham) Bunel (Peter Bupalus Burana (John Francis) Burgundy Burgundy (Philip Duke of) Burgundy (John Duke of) Burgundy (Philip Duke of)
Burgundy (Philip Duke of) Burgundy (Charles Dake of) Burgundy (Mary of) Buridan (John) Burnettus or Brunettus Burrus (Afranius) Busbequius Buirris Bufleiden (Jerome) Builamantinus (John) Butas Buteo (John) Bzovius (Abraham)

Cæfalpinus, fee Cæfalpinus Cæfar, fee Cæfar.
Cayer (Peter Væfar Palma)
Cain
Caintas
Calchas Calderinus (John) Calderinus (Domitius Calenus (Olenus
Calenus (Olenus Caligula (Caius Cæfar Callirrhoe
Calvin (John)
Camaldoli (Ambrofc de) Camaldoli (Mabraus Furius)
Cameron (John)
Cameron (John)
Cameron (John Antony Camillus (Mageus Furius)
Caminus (Angelus) Capet (Hugh)
Capycius (Scipio)
Capilipus (Camillus) Capiftran (John
Capifucchi

THE TABLE

Capifucchi (Blafius)
Capifucchi (John Antony) Capifucchi (Paul) Capilucchi (Raimond) Cappadocia Caracciol or Caraccioli Cardan (Jerome) Carion (John) Carmilianus (Peter) Carneades Caranza (Bartholomew) Carteromachus (John) Cailandra Cassius Cassius Viscelinus (Spurms) Cassius Longinus (Lucius) Cassius Longinus (Gaius) Caffius Longinus (Calus Caffius Hemina (Lucius) Cassius Severus (Trans) Cassius Chærea Castalio (Sebastian) Castellan (Peter) Castelvetro (Lewis) Castile, (Alphonsus X af shde Name, King of) Castile (Blanche of) Castor Castricius (Marcus) Castricius (Titus) Cataldus Catius Cato, fee Porcsus Cattho (Angelo) Catullus (Casus Valermas) Cavalcante (Guido) Cauffin (Nicodas) Cea or Ceos, see Zia Cerasi (Tiberius) Ceratinus (James) Cerinthus Cerifantes Cesalpinus (Andrew) Cethegus Chabot (Peter Gauthier) Cham Chamier (Daniel) Charles V Charnace (Batton de) Charpentier (Peter) Charron (Peter) Chaftelain George) Chateau-Briand (she Countifs de) Chatel (Peter du) fre Caltelian Chatel (Tannegui du) Chederics Chelidonis Chelonis Chigi Chigi (Tabio) Chrystis Chrysippus Chryippus Chrysis Cicchus Ciconia (Flaminius) Cicca, see Leon Cimon Cınyras Cipierre (Philibert de Marcilli) Cipierre (Ranatus de Savoie) Cyril Cyrus Cliudius, Emperor
Claude, Minister of Charenson Clavius (Christopher) Cleonice Cleonymus Cleopatra Cologne (Peter Apolichaus) Cologne (Peter de) Colognes (Paul)

Colonna (Pompcy) Comana Combabus Comenius (John Amos) Commandinus (Frederick) Concini (Concino) Conect (Thomas) Conon Conon Conrarus (Gregory)
Coornhert, fee Koornhert Corbinelli (James)
Corceone (Robert dc) Coricius (John) Corncla Coronel (Alphonfus) Cotin (Charles) Cotys Cotta (Catellian) Cotterus, see Kotterus Cousin (Gilbert) Crantor Craterus Cratippus Cremonius (Cælar) Crispinus (John) Crispius (John Baptist) Critias Crito Crito (James) Croius (John) Curio (Cœllus Secundos)

Curtius (Quintus) Joe Quintus D^Aıllé (John) Damaicen (John) Damian (Peter) Danae Dandini (Jerome) Dante Dante (Peter Vincent)
Dante (Ignatius) Dante (John Bapint) Darius I Dassouci or d'Adlouci Dati (Carlo) David Daurat (John) Daufquejus or Daufquus (Claudius Decius Philip Deiotarus Dellius (Quintus) Delphinus (Peter) Demetrius (Magnes) Democritus Dempster (Thomas) Des-Barreaux Diacceto, see Jaccetius Diagoras Diagoras Diana (John Nicolas de) Dicæarchus Dicu (Lewis de) Diyllus Dingnt Diogenes she Cyntok Diogenes of Apollonia Diogenes of Babylon Dionyfius Dionyins Dioscorides Dioscurias

Dolabella (Publius Gornelma)
Dolabella (Horanus)
Dolet (Stephen)

Domitia Longina Donaldson (Walter)

Donatus (Jerome)
Donatus (Marcolkus) Doneau (Hugh)

Doneus Drabicius (Nicolas) Dreincourt (Charles) Dreincourt (Charles) Dreilcrus (Matthew, Dryades Drynder (John) Driedo (John) Drummond Drusbicki (Galpar) Drufilla (Julia) Drufius (John) Drufus Drusus (Marcus Livius) Drufus (Nero Claudius) Drufus Drufus Duaren (Francis) Ducllius (Caius)
Durer (Albert) Dureus or Duraus (John)

Ecchellens (Abraham) Edward IV Egialea Eginhart Egnatia Egnatius (John Baptill) Elichman (John) Elijah Elizabeth, Queen of England Elisha Elmacin (George) Elmenhorst (Geverhart) Emilius (Paul) Emilius (Antony) Emma Emmius (Ubbo) Encas Ephorus Epicurus Episcopius (Simon) Eppendorf (Henry d'). Erasmus Eremita, see Ermite Ereffus Erfort Ermite (Daniel 1') Eschylus Esechici Esmendreville Efop Efop Efop Eſop Esop (Clodius) Liop (Clouds)

Lipagne (John d')

Elpagnet (John d')

Elpine (Jean de l') fee Spuna

Etampes (the Dutchess d') Euclid Eudes Eve Eugenius IV Euphrates Eurydice Eurydice Eurydice Euripides Europa Eustache (David) Experiens (Philip Callimachus)

FAber Stapulensis, Jee Feyre Fabricius Luscinus (Caius) Fabricius (Vincent) Fannia Fannia Fannius

Fannius Strabo (Caius) Fannius (Calus) Fannius (Caius) Fannius (Quadratus)
Fannius (Caius)
Farel (William Farnabius (Thomas) F atıma Fauchet (Claudius' Faucheur (Michael le) Fausta Feithius (Everard) Felibien (Andrew) Fernelius (John) Γerrand (James)
I errara (Renata of France, Dutchess of) Terrariensis Ferrettus (Æmilius) Ferri Paul Ferrier (Arnaud, or Arnoul du) Ferrier (Jeremiah) Ferrier (John' Fervaux (John) Ferus (John) I cuardent (Francis) Feuillant (le Petit, see Montgail-Fevre of Etaples (James le) Finaus (Orontius)
I lacius (Matthias), fee Illyricus Flaminius (Mark Antony)
I laminius (Antony) l lora I lora. Fontarabia Fonte (Moderata) Fontcyraud Fontius (Bartholomew) Lorbes (Patritius) Forbes (John) Forbes (William) I oulques I ranc (Martin) Francis of Affifi I rancis I I rancısca Francus (Sebastian) I rangipani F ratricelli Frauwenlob (Henry Fronto (Mark Cornelius) Fugger (Huldric) Fulginas (Sigilmund) Fulvia Fulvia Funccius (John) I urius (Frederick)

GAffarel (James) Gales (Peter
Gallars (Nicolas des) Galligai (Leonora)
Gallomus (Antony)
Gallutius (John Paul)
Gallutius (John Paul)
Gallutius (Angelus)
Gamache (Philip)
Gamache (Philip)
Gambara (Laurence)
Gamon (Christopher de) Ganymede
Garasse (Francis)
Gradie (Pontus de la) Garisloles (Antony)
Garnache (1 rances de Rohan, Lady de la) Garonne
Gediccus (Simon) Geldenhaur (Gerard

Gelenius (Sigismund)
Gentilis de Bechis Gentilis (John Valentinus) Gentilis (Alberic)
Gentilis (Scipio)
Gentillet (Innocent) Gergenti Gifanius (Obertus) Gymnosophists
Gioachino Greco Girac, see Thomas Glaphyra Glaphyra Gleichen Goldast (Melchior Haiminsfeld) Golius (James) Golius 'James' Gromarus (I rancis) Grombauld (John Ogier de) Grontaut (Armand de) Grontaut (Charles de) Gronzaga (Cecil de) Gronzaga (Eleonora de) Gronzaga (Julia de)
Gronzaga (Lucretia de)
Gronzaga (Lucretia de)
Gronzophone Gorgophone Gorlæus (Abraham) Gorlæus (David) Gofelini (Julian) Goffelin Goudimel (Claudius) Govca (Andrew) Goulart (Simon) Goulu (Nicolas) Goulu (John) Goulu (Jerome) Gournai (Mury de Jars) Grain (Baptist le) Grammont (Gabriel dc) Gramond (Gabriel Bartholomew de) Grandier (Urban) Grapaldus (Francis Marius) Graffis (Paris dc)
Grafwinckel (Theodorus) Gratarolus (William)
Grawerus (Albert) Gregory I Gregory VII
Gregory (Peter)
Grenaille (Francis de) Greticrus (James)
Grevius (John)
Grabaldus (Marthew) Gribaldus (Matthew) Grillon Gryphiander (John) Gryphius (Schaftian) Grotius (Cornelius)
Grotius (Hugo)
Gruterus (Peter)
Gruterus (Janus) Guadagnolo (Philip) Guagnin (Alexander) Crualdrada Guarinus Guarinus (Baptist) Guarini (Baptist) Guarini or Guarinio (Guarin) Guebriant (the Marechale's de) Guesclin (Bertrand du) Guevara (Antony de) Guicciardin (Francis) Guichenon (Samuel) Guyet (Francis) Guyet (Charles)
Guillemete of Bohemia Guimené (the Princess of)

Guindano (Sigismund

Guise (Claudius de Lorraine, Duke

Guise (James de) Guise, a Yown

Guiscard

of'

Guise (Francis de Lorraine, Duke of Guise (Henry de Lorraine, Duke of) Guise (Charles de Lorraine, Duke ot)
Guise (Charles de Lorraine, Duke ot)
Guise (Lorraine, Duke ot)
Guise (Lorraine, Duke ot)
Guise (Lorraine, Duke ot)
H

HAcker (James)
Hacket (William) Hadrian, Emperor Hadrian, Cardinal Hadrian VI, Hadrian (Hagar, Hagar, Hay ius) Hay Hay (John) Haillan (Bernard de Gira Hali-Bergh Halicarnassus Hallé Peter Hamadryades Hanno Hirpalyce Harpalicus Harpalus Harpalus. Harravad (Itaac Ben) Hartungus John) Hebed-Jefu Hegefilochus Heidanus (Abraham) Helena Heliodorus Heloifi Helvicus (Christopher) Hemelar (John) Hemmingius (Nicolas) Henault (N) Henry VI Emperor Henry II Henry III Henry IV Heracleotes (Dionyfius) Herachus Heraldus (Desiderius) Hercules Herlicius (David) Hermant (Godfrey) Hermehanax Hermias Herold (Basil John) Herwart (John George) Heshusius (Tilemannus) Hierocles Hierocles Hierocles Hierocles Hiero I Hicro II Hiero Hierophilus Hildebert Hilten (John) Hyperius (Andrew Gerard) Hipparchia Hipparchus Hipponax Hypsipyle Hobbes (The Hochstratus (Hoe (Matthias) Hoelzlin (Jeremiah) Hoeschelius (David

Honori

Hoffman (Daniel

Hofman (Melchior)

Honoria Kirstenius (Peter) Honorius Hoornbeck (John) knot it iwild) knov (Jean Horatius (Publius) Knuzen (Matthias) Kong, George Matthias' Kornhert (Theodorus) Kornmannus (Henry) Kortholt Christopher)
Kotterus (Christopher) Hortenna Horteniia Hortenius Ho, tenime Hortens Hortenflus (Lambert) Hortenflus (Lambert) Hortenflus (Martin) Krantzius Albert) Kuchlin (John) Hortenius (Martin) Hofius (Staniflaus) Hofius (Rodolphus)
Hofius (Michael de l') Hofius Francis de l') Hotomanus (Francis de l')
Hotomanus (Francis de l')
Hottinger (John Huybert (Peter de l') Hungary Mary, Queen of) Hungary Isabella, Queen of) Hunnius (Ægidius)
Hutten (Ulric de)
Hutterus (Leonard) Kuhlman (Quirinus) Abe (Loyse) Labourlote (Claudius) Lacydes Lacitius (Paul) Lais Lambecius (Peter) Lambert Hutterus (Leonard) Lamech Lamech I Lamia Lamia. Accetius (I rancis Cataneus) Lamia Jansenius (Cornelius) Lamia Japan Lamponiano (John Andrew) Langua (John Maximilian de) Langua (Jofeph) Langua (John Maximilian de) Langua (Hubert) Jarchi, or Jarhi (Solomon) Jardins (Mary Catherine des) Jarrige (Peter) [aversac (N) enischius (Paul) Ignatius, See Loyola Illyricus (Matthias Flacius)
Inchofer (McIchior)
Innocent VIII
Innocent XI Languet (Hubert) Lansbergius (Philip) Larroque (Matthew de) Lascaris (Constantin) Lascaris (John) Latinus (John) oachim oan, see Naples Laudice Launoi (Matthew de) Launoi (John de) Jodelle (Stephen) Sr John, the Evangelist Jonas, the Prophet Jonas (Arngrimus) Laurentio (Nicolas) Lazzarelli (N) Joubert (Laurence) Jovius (Paul) Leland (John) Lemnos Toviin Lentulus Ipres Leo I Leo X Itnerius Leon (Peter Cieca de) liaacites Leontius lilebians Leonicenus (Nicolas)
Leonin (Elbert) Italica Juba Judex (Mathew) Leontium Tudith Leovitius (Cyprian) Junus II Julius III Leri (John de) Lesbos Lescarbot (Mark) lulia Tulis Lefley Junctin (Francis) Jungerman (Godfrey) Jungerman (Lewis) Lesseville (Eustache le Clerc de) Leucas Junius (Hadrian) Junius (Francis) Leucippus Lævius Junius (Francis) Leuwentz uno Lewis, see Louis Licinia Juihmam (Auguitm) Lycophron Lycophron Lycoris Lycurgus

Lycurgus

Lydiat (Thomas) Lydius (Martin)

Liebaut (John)
Ligarius (Quintus)
Limeuil (Demoifelle de) Linacer (Thomas)

Lingelsheim (George Michael)

Lingendes (Claudius de) Lingendes (John de) Lippoman (Alouio) Lipfius (Justus, Lyferus (Polycarp) Lyferus (John) Lizet (Peter) Lytimachus Lismanin (I rancis) Lisola Francis de) Lognac Loyer (Peter fe) Loyel Ignatius
Lollius Marcus) Longomontanus (Christian) Longvic (Jiqueline de) Longus Lorme (Philibert de) Lorine (N de) Lorraine (Charles de) Lotichius (Peter) Lotichius (Peter) Lotichius (Christian) Lotichius (John Peter) Louaun Louis VII
Louis XI
Louis XII
Louis XIII Lubbert (Sibrand) Lubienictzki (Stamflaus) Lubin (Lilhard) Lucilius (Caius) Lucretia, a Roman Lady Lucretius, a Poet Lugo (Francis de) Lugo (John de Lupercalia Luther (Martin) Lutorius Prifcus (Caius) Luxembourg MAccius (Sebastian) Maccovius, see Makowski Macedo (Francis) Macedo (Antony) Macedonia, (Alexander the Great, King of Machiavel (Nicolas) Macon Macrin (Salmon)

Macro (Nævius Sertorius) Macts (Charles de Magnus (John Antony) Magnus (Jerome,
Magni (Valerian) Mahomet Mahomet II Mahomet Galadin Mayerne (Theodorus Turquet) Maignan (Emanuel) Maimbourg (Lewis) Mainus (Jason) Majoragius (Mark Antony) Majus (Junianus) Makowski (John)
Maldonat (John) a Jefuis Maldonat (John)
Malherbe (Francis de) Mamillarians Mamurra Manard (John) Manducus Manichees or Manicheans Manto Marca (Peter de) Marcelinus (Ammanus) Marche (Olivier de la) Marcionites Marcits (John des-) Marcits (Roland des-) Mare

K

KEckerman (Bartholomew)
Keller (James) Kepler (John) Kermatians Kilianus (Cornelius) Kircher (John) Kirchman John) Kymander (William)

Margarin (Cornelius). Margaret, see Navarre Mariana (John) Naples, (Joan I Queen of) Naples (Joan II Queen of) Naples (Alfonso I of that name, Pelias Pelias Pellisson (Paul). King of) Penelope Mary or Miriam, the Softer of Moles Mary the Egyptian Marillac (Charles de) Marillac (Lewis de) Maryella (Lewis de) Narm Peraxylus Navarre (Margaret de Valois, Quen of) Pereira (Gomezius). Perez (Joseph) Navarre (Joan d'Albret, Queen of) Navarre (Margaret de Valois, Pergamum. Marinella or Marinelli (Lucretia) Pergamum (Attalus, (King of) Marius, furnam'd Æquicola Marius (Philip de) fee Sainte Al-Perga Queen of) Naucratis Periander Nauficaa, or Nauficae degonde Peribœa Marnix (John de) Marot (Clement) Nauithous Pericles Periers (Bonaventure des) Perot or Perottus (Nicolas) Nazianzen (Gregory) Martellius (Hugolin) Martinengus (Titus Profper)
Martini (Raymond) Marulus (Marcus) Nephes Ogli Nestorius Perrot (Francis Nevers (John de Bourgogne, Count Perrot (Nicolas) Sieur d'Ablan-court de, Persius (Caus) Persius, the satyrical Poet Persona (Christopher) Petavius Dionysius) Marullus Neufgermain (Lewis de) Marullus (Michael Tarchamota) Mafcardi Augustin)
Matman (Rodolphus) Nevizan (John) Nicolle (Peter) Nidhard (John Everard) Nigidius Figulus (Publius) Nihufius (Barthold) Mausolus Petit (John) Mausolæum Phaon Mecca Nymphodorus Phaselis Mey (John de) Meymer (Honoratus de) Noradın Phœbadius Phædrus Melampus Phædrus (Thomas) Mclanchthon (Philip) Memnon Pheron OBsequens (Jusius) Ochinus (Bernardin). Philetas Menage Mestrezat (John) Philyra. Philistus Octavia. Metella Metellus Celer (Quintus) Metellus Lucius) Octavia Philla Oenone Okolski (Simon). Philomelus Phlegon Methydrium Olen Phræa John) Piaiecki Paul) Olympias Mctrodorus Metrodorus Oregius (Augustin) Oricellarius (Bernard) Picards Meziriac Piccolomini (Alexander) Piccolomini Francis) Micyllus (James) Origen Orobio (Ifaac) Orofius (Paul) Millctiere Pienne Demoiselle de) Milton John) Pighius (Albert) Myrrha Ofman. Pyladcs Pin John du) Modrevius (Andrew Fricius) Offat (Arnaud d'). Otho III Moliere, see Poquelin Molionides Pineau (Severin) Ottoboni (Peter) Molfa (Francis Maria) Molfa (Tarquinia Monantheuil (Henry de)
Monardes (Nicolas Pinet (Antony du) Ovid Pinfion Trancis) Pinflon (Francis) Pyrrho Pyrrhus
Pyrrhus
Pyrrhus
Pyrhus
Pythagoras PAcheco (Alvarez) Padilla (Mary de) Monunc Monin (John Edward du) Padilla (John de) Padilla (Louise de) Pageau N)
Pays (Renatus le) Monsterat Montannes (Michael) Monstrelet (Enguerrand de) Pytheas Pythias Montaigu (John de) Montauban Montecatinus (Antony) Montgaillard (Bernard de) Montmaur (Peter de) Palearius (Aonius) Pithom. Palingenius (Marcellus) Pallavicino (Ferrante) Panormita (Antonius) Pitiscus Plantavitius Pausanus, fee the ment Montmaur (Peter de) Montpensier (the Dutchess of) Mopsus Morgues (Matthew de)
Morin (John Baptist) Morin (Simon' Morsion (Robert)
Morlin (Joachim)
Morus (Alexander)
Mosvinians, or Mosynoccians Article Plantevit-la-Pause (John) Platina (Bartholomew) Paraclet Paré (Ambrose) Pareus (David) Pareus (Philip) Pareus (Daniel) Plotinus Plotina (Pompeia) Poitiers Diana de Parrhasius (Janus) Polydamus (Valentinus) Parthenai Polyenus Parthena: Politian (Angelo) Politian (Giovanni Angelo) Mosynians, or Mosynoccians Mothe le Vayer, see Vayer Parthenai (Anne de) Politian (Antony Laurentin).
Pomponatius (Peter)
Poncet (Maurice)
Pontius (Conffantin)
Poquelin (John Bantiff) Parthenai (Catherine de) Motte-aigron Mougne (Robert) Pascal (Blasse) Pasor (Matthias) Mucia Paterculus (Casus Vellesus) Munuza Poquelin (John Baptist) Patin (Guy) Musculus (Wolfgang). Patricius (Augustin) Patricius (Francis) Porcia. Musso Cornelio Mustapha Porcius Marcus) Porfena (Christopher) Portugal (Alfonso VI Name, King of). Parricius (Andrew) Musurus (Mark). Paulicians of that Paulina (Lollia) Peyrarede (John de). Pozzuolo Peyre (James d'Auzoles la). Prat (Antony du' Pretextatus (Papyrius' NAnnius (John) Naogeorgus (Thomas). Peyrere (liasc la). Peiresc. Price (John) Pridesur

Prideaux (John' Priezac Daniel de) Prynn (William) Pride (Benjamin) Priicillian Prodicus Prodicus Prudentius Pfammitich Ptolome Puccius (Francis) Puteanus (Erycius)

Q Charles de) etif James) Quintus Curtius Quintilian (Marcus Faurus) Quintin (John) Quintus Calaber Quirinus

R

R Acan Radziwil (Nicolas) Raimarus (Nicolas) Raynaud Theophilus) Ramus (Peter) Rangouze Raphelengius (Francis) Rapin (Nicolas) Rapin (Renatus) Reckheim Reckheim Regius Urban)

Thing James

Thomas

A Clorimond de)

Refenius (Peter

Reverend-de-Bougy (John)

Rhodomanus (Laurence)

Rhodope Rhodope Ricci Michael Angelo) Richer or Richier (Peter).
Ricius (Paul) Ryer Andrew du) Ryer Peter, Rigoriffs Rimini Gregory de) Rittangelius John Stephen Robert John, Roberval Rocco Girolamo) Rochefoucaud Alexander de la) Rodon David de, Rohan Renata de) Rohan Anne de) Roy James le) Ronfard (Peter de) Roquet ullade John de la) Rorarius (Jerome) Rose (William) Roses, a Town Roser (Hugh Sureau du) Rotan (John Baptist) Rotterdam Rovenius (Philip) Rua Peter Ruarus (Martin) Ruffi (Antony de) Rufinus Ruggeri (Cosmo)

SAbellicus (Mark Anteny Coc-Cius) Sabeus (Faustus) Sacratus (Paul)

Sadeur (James) Sadducees Saint Cyran (the Abbot of) Saint-Cyre Sainte-Aldegonde Sainte-Croix (Prosper) Sancta-Maura Sanctesius (Claudius) Salmacis Samblançai (James de Beaune) Samblançai (William de Beaune), Samfon Sauchez (Francis) Sanchez (Thomas) Sappho Sarah Sarisberiensis (Joannes). Sawicki (Gaspar) Scala Bartholomew) Scala (Alexander) Scamander Scheffer (John) Schefted (Annibal) Schilling (Christopher)

Schilling (Christopher) Schomberg (Nicolas de) Schomberg (Theodoric de) Schomberg (Gaspar de) Schomberg (Henry de) Schomberg (Charles de) Schomberg (Frederick de) Schorus (Antony)
Schot or Scot (Reginald) Scioppius (Gaspar)
Scotus (Michael) Scotus (Michael) Sculterus Abraham) Sebonde Raymond) Sedulius Segla William de) Seymour (Anne, Margaret, and Joan) Sclemnus Scive John de) Sengebere (Polycarp).

Sennertus (Daniel Sennertus (Andrew) Serbellon Serbellon John Peter) Serbellon (Gabriel) Serbellon (Fabricius)

Serbellon (John) Serroni (Hyacinthus) Servilia Servilia Severus (Cornelius) Severus (Sulpicius) Sforza Sforza (Francis) Sforza (Catherine) Sforza (Isabella) Sicyon Silanion

Sylvius Francis) Sylvius (James) Simon or Simonis (Theodorus) Simonides

Simonides Simonides Synergias Siris Sixtus IV

Smiglecius (Martin) Socinus (Marianus) Socinus (Marianus) Socinus (Faustus) Sommona-Codom Sophronia

Soranus (Quintus Valerius)

Soubise (John de Parthenai) Soubise (Benjamin de Rohan). Souches (the Count de) Spanheum (Frederick)

Spifame (James Paul) Spina John de Spinosa John de Spinosa Benedict de) Spon (Charles, Spon (Lacob) Spon (Jacob) Stancarus Francis) Stephanus Byzantinus Stilpo Stoflerus (John) Strigelius (Victorinus) Strozzi (Philip) Strozzi (Philip) Sturmius James)
Sturmius (John)
Suetonius Paulinus (Caius) Suctonius, the Historian Sulacha (Simon) Sulpicia or Sulpitia Sulpitius (John) Surena Sussanneau (Hubert) Sutcliffe (Matthew)

TAbor (John Otto)
Tactarinas Tachus Tacitus (Caius Cornelius) Tailnierius (John)

Takıddın Talaus Tamıras Tanaquil Tandemus Taphians

Taphins Tapperus (Ruardus).
Tarpa (Spurius Metius) Tarruntius (Lucius Taflo Torquato) Tavernier John Baptift) Taulerus (John)
Taurellus (Nicolas)
Tecnieflus

I ecmetlus Telamon Teleboes Tellier (Michael le).

Telmcsus Tenedos Tenes or Tennes. Teos

Termessus Tetti (Scipio) Tettix Teucer Thais Thales Thamyras Thamyris Theon Theopompus Theron (Vital) Thesmophoria

Thibaut, Earl of Champagne

Thomas (Nicolas Leonicus) Thomas (Paul
Thorius (Raphael) Tibarenians Tibur Tilli, or Thilli Timæus Timefius Timoleon Timomachus Tiphernas (Gregory) Typot (James)
Tyrannion Tyrannion Tiraquellus (Andrew).

Tissandier (N)

Titius

Titus (Caus'
Torquato (Antony) Tortclius (John,
Touchet (Mary)
Toulouse
Trabea (Quintus)
I rappe (the Abbey of Ia) Trebatius (Caius)
Tristan l'Hermite (Lewis) Tristan l'Hermite (Francis) Tristan de faint Amant (John) Tronchin (I heodorus)
I ulenus Tullia
I urlupins
I urpin
I urrettin (I rancis)
I useus (Balerus)

\mathbf{v}

Ayer (Francis de la Mothe le) Vil (Grodfrey du) fee Vallee Vil (John du) Valdes (John Valdes (John Valdes (John
Valdes (Junes)
Vileria
Vilerias (Augustin)
Valla (Laurence)
Villa (George)
Villa (Nicolas)
Valle (Nicolas)
Vallee (Grodfrey de la) Vindei Linden (John Antonides) Vaquence (John de la) Vaubiun (the Marquis de) fee Biutiu
Vedelius (Nicolas)
Vegius (Mapheus)

Velserus (Mark) Verder (N du) Vergerius (Peter Paul) Vergerius (Peter Paul) Vergerius (Angelus) Verona Vespasian, Emperor Vigerius (Mark) Vigilantius Villemarini (Ifabella), see Capycius Villareal (Emanuel I ernandez) Villavicentius (Laurence) Villegaignon (Nicolas Durand de) Villena Vinay (Alexander de) Virct (Peter) Viret (Peter) Virgil, a Poet
Virgil, a Bishop Virgil or Vergil (Polydorus) Vitellio or Vitello Viviani (Vincentio) Ulefeld or Ulfeld (James)
Ulefeld or Ulfeld (Cornifids) Ulviffe Ulysses Volkelius (John) Vorstius (Conrad) Vorstius (William Henry) Vossius Urceus (Antony Codrus) Urgulania Urgulanılla Urraca Urfinus (Zacharias) Urfinus (John)
Urfus (Nicolas Raimarus)
Ufher (Henry)

Usher (James)

Usson, a Castle in Auvergne Utino (Leonard de).

Vulcanius (Bonaventure)

W

WEchel (Christian)
Weidincrus (Paul)
Weidina (John dc)
Wessellus (John)
Wessellus (John)
Wessellus (Joachim)
Wicelius (George)
Wickam (William) Wida Herman de)
Wilhem (David le-Leu de) Wimpina (Conrad)
Wouwer (John de)

X

XEnocrates Xenophanes

Z

ZAbarella (Francis)
Zabarella (James)
Zahuris
Zanchius (Bafil)
Zanchius (Jerome)
Zenobia
Zeno Eleates
Zeno, the Epicurean Zeuxis
Zia, or Zea.
Zieglerus (James)
Zoroaster
Zuerius Boxhornius (Mark) Zuylichem (Constantin Huygens Seigneur de)

Historical and Critical DICTIONARY.

BARIS, (A) a Scythian by Nation, the Son of Seuthus There have been so many Fabulous Stories told of him, that even Herodotus himself made a scruple of relating them, and of getting himself inform'd about the Truth of them He only tells us a, Tis said that this Barbarian car- a Herod. ried an Arrow through the World, and did eat nothing Herodotus, it lib 4 cap 36 feems, knew not the wonderful part of the Story, for they who pretend to know it, fay, That Abaru (B) was carried through the Air upon his Arrow, as it were upon another Pegasus So that Rivers, Seas, and Places inaccessible to other Men, were no Obstacle to him in his Journey This Arrow was Apollo's, and apparently the same with Astr Powhich he killed the Cyclopes, who forg'd the Thunderbolts which Jupiter made use of et 1 against the unfortunate Asculapius & Apollo after this Slaughter hid his Arrow under a constant of the History and recover duraster a wonderful man. Mountain, in the Country of the Hyperboreans, and recover distafter a wonderful man
(c) Heroner, the Winds bringing it back to him, as foon as he and Jupiter were reconciled γ It dot 1 4 c 36 Di-od Sicul us in ad-mir*Hist Sect 4 Jamblich ın Vita Pythag c 28 pag m 127 &c Harpoeration v Scholiastes Arı-Hoph in Equit Luftbius, n 1568

(a) Sui-das, v "Acaes

(b) Eu-feb 111 Chronic n 1454

(1) Jim-blich in the foreplace, P 128

(c) Petitus, de Sion vif brufter, Comme un Chevaucheur d' escou-

(g) Nouvell de la Repub des Lett Ogop 1686

Apollons him this Christer, and who very particularly obusin ad ferves, that he came from Scythia into Greece, and ferves, that he came from Scythia into Greece, and that with the Arrow presented him by Apollo, he fled back again from Greece to the Country of the Hyperberean Scythians (a) Tetre o μυθολογάμθω δίσος τὰ πηριμβία και το Ελοθη β αυτώ ανέχει τὰ ανειδορέων Σκυθών Ελοθη β αυτώ ανέχει τὰ Αποκλαν. 1 e This Arrow of his was fam'd in Story for his flying from Greece (not from Scythia, as is commonly read in the Latin Version) as fan as the Hyperborean Scythians Eusebius (b) is likewise of the Opinion that he came from Scythia into Greece If the Account of Abair, which is in Suidar, were clear and distinct, we might from thence infer, that he therein takes notice of thice several Countries, Seythia, where Abaru was born, Greece, to which he travelled, and another Scythia, called the Hyperborean, whither he took inother Journey We might likewise infer, that he made ther Journey We might likewise infer, that he made use of his Arrow in flying, only in his second Expedition, and consequently that it was in Greece Apollo bestow'd it upon him All these Conclusions would be reasonable, had we to do with an Accurate Writer, or were we sure that he related Matters just as they are at present in his Works, and then we might tay, that Suidas is very fingular in his Opinion, fince most other Authors who have mention'd Abaru, tell us, that he was an Hyperborean (c), and that when he travelled to Greece, he set out from the Country of the Hyperboreans, and whenever they mention his flying Arrow, they constantly observe, bylla, 1 2 that he hadut before he came to Greece

7 pag (B) Was carried through the Air upon hu Arrow]

7 mblicus is very express as to this Point, when he fays, (d) 'Oιςῷ τε ἐν 'Τπιζοςξοις 'Ατολλων Θ δωρι Nonest Δυλιωυτῶ εποχάμθιΘ, ποτυμές τε χὶ πιλάχη τὸ τα deust ἄζατα δηζανον ἀξερδατῶν τερπου πνα ι ε When he rode upon the Arrow given him by Apollo, who is worthipped by the Hyperbereaus, he crofs'd Rivers and Seas, and other inaccessible Places, cutting, as it were, the Air through which he fied Moni Petic (e) in his Account of the Arrow, took notice of what is commonly reported concerning Witches riding to their Nocturnal Meetings on a Broomstick. The Improvide who gave us an Everest of Mr. Paters The Journalist who gave us an Extract of Mr Peter's Book, could not forget the Verses of Pillon, wherean (f) a Witch is stried a Broomstick-Rider I will here insert the whole Passage, because it gives us an occasion of making a short Remark Mr Peter (g) alledges the Translation of Elizah, the Repture of Habakkuk, that of Pythagoras, and the Arrow which the Hamashayana Analysis are a Abarte. The Golds he Hwoerborean Apollo neve to Abaris The (adds he) was a miraculous fort of Arrow, and much like the Broom-flick which your Witches make use of toride, as ley say, through the Air, to their Salbatical Meetings Before we make our Remark upon this, it will be requifite we make our Remark upon this, it will be requisite to take notice of a Passage in another Journal, which runs thus (h) Mr Petit, after Jamblicus, relates the (h) Bibl History, or rather the Fable of Abaris the Hyperborean, to whom Apollo granted the Power of skying through I om 2 the Air upon an Arrow, just as our Witches go to their No-flurnal Assemblies, bestride a Broomstick This is the Interpretation the Journal off gives to Mr Petit's Text, which is as follows (i) Austor est jamblichus (i) Petit, in vita Pythagora, cap 28 id munus Abaridi Hyperboice as above, ieo ab Apolline concessum suisse, ut per a rem quocunque pag 198 wellet curjum magico invictius jaculo tendere posse. Now here every one may perceive that the Epithet Hypinhere every one may perceive that the Epithet Hiper-boreo may be referr'd either to the Word Abarida which goes before it, or to Apolline, that comes atter it. The Latin Tongue is full of fuch Equivocations. But 'tis evident by the Words of (k) famblishes cited by Petit (l), that 'tis only Apollo that is called the Hyperborean. It would be more triple thing to criticise on the Journalist upon this account, Word fines without observing that the Vinthet much time. fince without observing that this Epithet might ve- aloue ry well belong to Abaru, as may be seen under the first Remark, it is well known that Journalists are not tied up to a rigid strictness of Translation. We must not forget that this was a Golden Arrow, and so necessary for Abarus & Travels, that he own dhimself (m) oblig'd to it for directing him the Way he should go Pythagoras extorted this Confession from him, by serving him a supperty Trick, for he robb'd him, by ferving him a shippery Trick, for he robb'd blichus him of his Arrow, and Abaru, like a Blind Man par 131 who had lost his Cane, own d his Necessities to him This puts me in mind of some People, who brig that (n) Fasther by Virtue of their Wand, they can find out the Ways Mallethat are lost If all were true that is related on this branche Subject, I cannot but suppose (all Circumstances in the considered) their Wand to be as miraculous as the Mercure consider'd) their Wand to be as miraculous as the Mercure Arrow of Abaris, for if on the one hand it has not Gallant the Power of making them fly, yet on the other it for the not only discovers to them Treasures, Metals, the Month of Boundaries of Lands, Thieves and Cut throats, but January, likewise Adulteries committed by either Sex A noted Philosopher (n) who was consulted about these Matters of Fast, in the Year 1689, return'd for An (o) James sweet, That thus could never be done, unless by the Assistance of some intelligent Cause, and that this Cause could a Prastic be no other than the Devil Whilst I was writing of of Status I was informed, that one of the principal of those Verin this, I was inform d, that one of the principal of those Verm 11 Wand-Conjurers (e) shew'd the last Summer (p) at Dauphine Lient, such surprizing Experiments of his Art that (p) In 1'

(L) Sir

(1) Petit. pag 199

t is no easy thing to know, when Abaris liv'd, (C) there being many dif-terent Opinions about it, as to occasion some of the Moderns to fall into listakes (D): However, it seems they are better agreed, with respect to the Reason that oblig'd him to

he was fent for up to Park, and that there he made fo many Discoveries, as forc'd several to My, (4) See here we have uncontroulable Lyidence that the De-(q) See the Note G (r) Virvils can do a thousand fine Feats, provided they are put upon them, by playing with some occasional Causes, such as a Staff, and the like This may serve gil Æn L 4 See likewile Hoas a Vindication of the Truth of the Story about the mer's Ili-Arrow of Abort: For why should not he have such an Arrow formerly, since in our Days such Wonderful Effects are said to have been wrought by the ads and Odyf L ult Ovid Trenchman's Staff? It would be worth our Metaphy-Metam ficians while to enquire how the Staff came into BII fuch mighty request, since the old Proverb, Virgula Divina, and the Common Saying, with the Turn of a Stick, and the Expression us d at every turn by your Hocus-Pocus Men, by Virtue of my little Wand, seem to the Story of Argus Horice. Ode 10,0 be owing to the frequent use of a Staff in Sorceries, according to the common Tradition What Virtues did they not inciently ascribe to Mercury's Rod? His Golden Wings which he clapt on his feet would have done him no kindness in his flying, had not his Rod contributed thereto by its powerful Energy, and 24 of B Statius in his The-baid 1 1 (f) De Virga it stems as if he made use of it instead of a Pegasius, to curvet it through the Air Thus Virgil, (r), Mcrcurialis po-Et primum pedibus talaria nestit Aurea, que sublimem alis, sive equora supra potentia peculi i-

Scu terram, rapido pariter cum flamine portant Tun virgam capit Hac animas ille evocat Orco Pallentes, alias sub tristia tartara mittit, Dat sonnos, adimity, & Lumina morte i esignat Illa FRE IUS agit ventos, & turbida tranat rem Tia-Elitionem 1 itis mvfferioden damus in tionum

magno

tous in Stit

Tom 2 P 291 (t) Homer s Odiffes, N

(n) 1b K

(w) On Chil : (ent i

11 97 (x) Huet Démonst 1 vang frologer

Not in Notas Maufaci

(c) In E. quit

crat

Luieb Ciron n 156

the Attree Virgula Divina,

It we had the Treatife which Barthius (f) promised on Superfli-Mercury s Rod, we should doubtless have seen a very curious Piece, and probably more instructive than the Iract of Antisthenes on Minerva's Wand That Commentuio Bar- Goddess had likewise her Rod, with which she made Perions look either young or old, according as the Occision requir'd (c) Circe (u) the Sorceress did more than all this, since with one single stroke of her Wand, she could transform Men into Beasts, and Bersts into Men Erasmus, who (w) to all those In-stances adds the Rod with which Moses wrought so many Miracles, should have taken notice, that the Devil. who mimicks God in all his Works, took his Model from thence, for making use of a Rod, as one of his principal occasional Causes of producing L-vents Huerins (x) affects, That what the Poets seign of Micros)'s Rod, Or was all borrow'd from the Hi-story of Most's Rod The Devil is certainly very ready to imitate, for Prirach's Magicians by Viitue of their Rods did fome Miricles which relembled those of the true God (1) Not are we to forget the Brackmans, (2) who always carry a Ring and a Staff, to which they deribe great Virtues. I shall enlarge more on this under the Article Rabdomancy propose

(c) When Abatis leved I His Imbally to Athens
4 pm
15 fix d by fome to the 21st Olympiad, by Hippostratus 558 to the I hind, and by Pindar to the Time of King (y) I xod
7 & 8
(x) Philo6x Philo6x Philo6x Reign to the second Year of the 54th Olympiad, but afterwards he falls into a shameful Blunder, 6x Philo6x (a) Apud Harpocording to whom Abaris flourish'd in the 2d Year of cration the 54th Olympiad, cotemporary with Pythagoras (b) Abairs This is infeir d from what Porphyry and Jamblichus fay, is ac- That Pythagoras shew'd his Golden Thigh to Abaris, knowledg- the Priest of Hyperborean Apollo It the Letters in-ed to be the scribed to Phalaris were not somewhat romantick, Hyperbo- one might conclude that Abaris was cotemporary rean A- with that Tyrant, but it is not probable that the Letwith that Tyrant, but it is not probable that the Letters in that Collection were ever penn'd by him However, its an Argument produc'd by someto prove that Abaris and Phalaris were Cotemporary, for its very likely that the Sophist who wrote those Letters, and ascrib'd them to Phalaris, kept strict to Chronology, in order to render his Fistions the more probable Suidas places the Reign of Phalaris under the cad Olymp the Opinion of Hippostraus may be back'd bythe following Argument Suidas (d) observes, that in the 5th Olymp the Athenians offer'd in behalf of all the Greeks, (c)Henr Vulefius following Argument. Suitar (n) Obles ves, the Greeks, Olymp the Athenians offer'd in behalf of all the Greeks, Sacrifices that were call'd segmestim. They were offer'd before the Land was till'd, an order to obtain the Divine Bleffing upon the enfuing Harvest Now ınHarpop 83 offer'd before the Land was till a, in views (d) in wes- the Divine Bleffing upon the enfuing Harvest the Scholiast of Antisophanes tells us, (e) That when the Atheniane offer'd the Sacrifice call'd aconomias, for the whole Country, there was a great Famine and Pettilence raying over the whole Earth, which forc'd wardsin the People to have recourse to the Oracle, and that fon, aputhe Response of the Oracle was a Sacrifice, the Plague be staying. It was Bibl we therefore at that time so main Ambassada was a feat & nova, to Athens, and Abaris, among the rest, in Name of the Hyperboreans Hippostratus then would not have been much mistaken in placing this Expedition of Annual Page 1 of the Hyperboreans Hippofiratus then would not have been much mistaken in placing this Expedition of A. (b) Vost baris under the 3d Olympiad If the Conjectures of us de Po Scaliger, upon a Passage of Firmicus Maternus concerning the Passasium, were true, the Time cis, cap in Abaris liv'd would be carried up much high according to some Authors, he must have flourn long before the taking of Troy. Others bring him down to the Time of Alexand Ciseat, this is introduced the Whimsical Notion Constitution, whom if nidemer we minded, we should have enough to do The Deercuit a scription (f) which the Sophist Himerus has left us, of Olymp, the Equipage with which Abaris made his Appear-xxx. the Equipage with which Abaris made his Appear- xxx ance before the Athenians, is very fuitable to a Barba- flow r an But (fays he) he was a Scythian only in his Garb, xxxii he fpoke Greek, and whenever he tpoke, you would uiq, hive thought you had he ind an Orition in the midft Olymp have thought you had heard an Oration in the might Olymp of the Academy, or the Lyceum. Now what Stuff is xxxviii this? Had Plate and Arifotle founded their Schools an 2 test in the Time of Abaris? One (g) there is who would Eusebie have adjusted this Point, by supposing that there were Id is two Abaris's, but that Supposition is not sufficient, he must have supposed five or six to have done his Bu-(k) Antificial.

finels, two will not do it

(k) Anti guromne

(b) As to eccasion some of the Moderns to fall into Mi fiakes] I essist shours their Opinion, who say, loquenty

I hat Abaris shours the between the 3cth and the 38th ut none

Olympiad This Period of Time (lays he) is as Eu Puriod of Time (lays he) is as Eufebius (1) observes, coincident with the Reign of Phalaris, and Abaris was cotemporary with that Trant By this Hypothesis he utterly overthrows the Notion of those who maintain, that Abaris was the tiquiora. Disciple of Pythagoras, for he remaiks, that Pythago- Id ib ras flourished in the first Year of the 60th Olympiad, and died about the latter end of the 70th. He takes (1) Scaling notice likewise, that no Disciple of Pythagoras could anim in possibly write 1 etters to Phalaris. Lastly, he affects, Euleb (k) I hat all the Ancients place Abaris not only beneficie Pythagoras, but even before Solon. In these Rep in 94. that is of to fluid there is not the leaft Solidity Since Enfebrus, upon whole I estimony he goes, his six d (m) Id it Phalaris to mother Period, in the 3d Year of the 53d n 1390 Olympiad, and the I rivels of Abaris to the 2d Year of p 84 the 54th I offins should have minded this, and have remembred, that the I as lige which he has not cited (n) Note out of Eusebius, was presented by Scaliger (1) before that Aba that which he quotes Scaliger grounds his Notion ris, award upon this, That the beginning of Phalaris's Reign ing to Jam was plac'd by Suidas under the 52d Olympiad Add blichus, to this, that Orosus (m) remarks, that Cyru and Phalaris were Cotemporaries. It is plain then that the which he Inferences which Vossius drawn from A was instrubaris and Phalaris living at the same time, are not well flad by Py grounded. for Abaris might have written to Phalaris thagoras Joffins should have minded this, and have grounded, for Abaris might have written to Phalaris thagoras after the 52d Olympiad, and have seen Pyibagoras after the 60th Olympiad (n) Let this be as it will, it (o) See Sca should never have been afferted, That according to liger, as the Testimony of all the Ancients, Solon lived after above, n Abaris, for we know that he prescribed Laws to the 1422.986 Athenians (e) in the 46th Olympiad, and that Eufebius (p) places Abaris under the 82d Mr. Moreri makes a wrong use of the Observations Note h.

of Vollius He meets with some fort of Contradiction above hetween those who say, that Abaris liv d before Solon, and those who aftert, that it was in the Time of (9) Voli Tulin Hestilias, or of Ancas Martins, kings of Rome us in the Now these are not two such contrary Sentiments, forecased and there is no Chronologist that will bush to as place and there is no Chronologist that will blush to assert, that these two Kings preceded Solar Mr Mofert, that these two Kings preceded Solar Mr Mofert, was milled by this Passage of Mr Moingitur (Phalaris) semporibus Tulli Hese Anci Markhodig in And here, by the way, give us leave to say, that Antiq
he has also suffered himself to be imposed upon, by Left 1 16 this Passage of Casinir Rhodigimus, (r) Hujus (Abari- c 22 p m dis) & Gregorius Theologis commensus in Equiphic ad 881 magnum Bassium Moreri is of Opinion, (f) that St Gregory makes mention of Mosici in an Epitaph upon St Bassi the Great But I have not met with one Error in word of Moris in the Verses which St Gregory Manual The anxin made on the Death of St Bassi I expect the sure

(p)See th

Note C

towards

quit his Country, and to traverse the whole World. When a Raging Pestulence a (say a Harpothey) presultd over the whole Earth, the Oracle of Apollo gave them who consulted cration v the Answer but this, That the Athenians should offer up their Prayers for all planthe other Nations. Hence it was that several States sent Ambassadors to Athens, of whom blich in the Hyperborean Abara was one He was then very old, and whereas he returned to his vita PyCountry, to confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose than a second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather'd to Hyperborean Apollo, whose the second confecrate the Gold & which he had gather the second confecrate the second confec Priest he was, it might be said, that a Collection for Pious Uses was one of the Motives heim on that induc'd him to travel to Greece During this Expedition he renew d the Alliance Callimabetween y the Apperboreans and the Inhabitants of the Isle of Delos He foretold things chus, pag to come; and the inhabitants of the Isle of Delos He foretold things chus, pag to come; and the reach his Prophecies in all Places through which he travelled, he may be stilled an Itinerant (E) Oracle Some say, That it was he who made Sicul 1:2 (F) the Palladium, that Fatal Pledge of the Security of those Cities that possess it, and c 47 p that he sold it to the Trojans He made it of the Bones of a Man, I a Material which I m 100 that he sold it to the Trojans He made it of the Bones of a Man, I a Material which I m 100 that he deliver the sold it is the sold in the sold it is the sold in the sold raldus de fancy the Makers of Talismans never make use of They maint in further, That he of Numero could forestell Earthquakes, (G) chase away the Pestilence, and lay Storms, and that he of Pelops circa init p m 119 offer'd Sacrifices in Lacedemon, of so great an Efficacy e, that that Country, which was blich as very subject to the Plague, never was troubled with it afterwards. He composed a alove, c (u) Strogreat many Books &; fuch as, The Arrival of Apollo among the Hyperboreans, The Mar- 19 p 9, mat 1 r riage of the River Hebrus, a Theogonia, wherein he explain d the Generation of the Gods, & cap of A Collection of Oracles, and another of Conjurations, or Exercisms, or, if you please so to call & Suidas (w) Nicethem, n of Explatory Prayers All these Pieces were written in Prose, except the hist anthosolar If we had the whole Speech of Himerius the Sophist, of which Photius 0 has presented a March tas in Opart, we could better tell than we can by this Fragment, whether the great Encomiums in The bestow d by that Sophist on a certain Person, belong to Abaris of not in it is at least word in past all dispute, that he i praises him for his speaking good Greek Others & aftert, That Suidas, his Affable Behaviour, and Plain Deahing, together with his Probity, recommended him 20 Supplies that he recommended him 20 Supplies his Affable Behaviour, and Plain Deahing, together with his Probity, recommended him 20 Supplies (x) Apolto all Greece I do not at all find that Callimachus and Lucian make any mention of him, he Phot tho a certain great Critick a affures us they did If his Arrow had had fo great a Virmir Hist tue i Scethe

(z) Deger therem to have found the five or fix Lines which Gy-Therem to have found the five of fix Lines which Gyst y arrow

friedly (r) cites, as taken ex Monodia in Divum Bafili minus

m The Term Monodia feems to refer to moranus

a Piece of Poetry, but here it is a fallaci
minus

ous Direction I had recourse to the Prose of that great Divine, that is, his Funeral Ora tion on St Basil, and could not meet with one quar ev, sha to ter of what Gyraldus had cited There is a particu tre cutive

lar Mistage into which Moreon has fallen when he save τες μάν- lar Mistake into which Moreri has fallen, when he says, Τοις περίνο- that this Epitaph was not compos'd for St Basil

(E) An Itinerant Oracle] Glement of Alexandria has plac'd Abaris among those who foretold Things to nas plac d Abaris among those who to retold I hings to come (u) Προγνώσει η η Πυθηρος ες ο μαγας σερσυνεί γεν αιει, "Αδαρίς τι ο ιστεβορε Pythagoras the Great always addicted himself to Prognofications, as did also Abaris the Hyperborean A Commentator of (w) St Gregory Nanianzen has told us, that Abaris ran through all Greece, and there utter'd his Oracles Apollonius affects the Come thing, and over and above tells us noum en afferts the same thing, and over and above tells us, qui vidit, That these Oracles were styll extant (x) *Eyeape propterea (x) \(\text{New Tais } \text{Xupais Appeies 20148} \) os essent the quod va tes erra
cles in the Countries through which he passed, which are buildain extant to this Day The Scholast of (y) Aristophanes vitam says likewise, that there were some even in his time Abaris was not the only Person who made it his bufiness thus to traverse the World, and to spread his Predictions whereever he came, 'twas the Property of Diviners so to do, and hence it is that Artemidorus (2) says, That the greatest Token of a Man's going upon a Journey and Business, is, when he dreams that he is a Prophet For, adds he, the Diviners are wont to lead a Vagrant fort of Life This withal he is what was common to them, and to Jugglers, and says, That all strolling Gypsies Abaris did more than forestell Says, That all strolling Gypsies things to come, 'tis faid that he erected Temples, that the Temple of Proferpine in Lacedemon (a) was owing to him Plate (b) fays, That he was a perfect Cheat, or rather a Conjurer, who pretended to cure Diseases by the Charm of a few Words

pheus Diseases by the Charm of a sew Words

(F) Who made the Palladium] This Discovery is owing to the great Sealiger, who (c) in two Places of a Passage in Firmicus Maternus (d) has instead of Avarus made it Abaris. The whole Passage, as it stands thus corrected, is as follows: Passage, as it stands thus corrected, is as follows: Passage, as it stands thus corrected, is as follows: Passage, as it stands thus corrected, is as follows: Passage, as it stands thus corrected, is as follows: Passage, as it stands thus corrected, is as follows: Passage, as it stands thus corrected and states for semilarity and serious est of semilarity and serious compessions. The world are states are serious for endels and simulations of semilarity and promises of sealing that incorrected two such aristophanes. Instead of sages, the would quit . MA alla L ess al l have us read "Λεαριν, and instead of βαριδαι, λεα ιδΘ, the latter which makes the Senie much more intelligible. The end Passage, as corrected, is, "Ο τε ή κ, "Λεαρι φασιτιν ν Stral o επερεδήτειον ελδυντα διώρον εις ταν ελλαδυ 'Α πίκλωι lib pag δυτεύσαι, κ) ετω συγρεμία τὰς χεισμές τὰς νῦι ωρί- 20 δι συρφευομένες Αδαριδ Θ. The Meaning of this is, λ Caliu-That Abaris, when he trivell'd to Greece to consult bonom some forme. Objection to him, shad an strake Apollo, or to make fome Oblation to him, staid in Strabo, his Service, and wrote the Oracles which went un- B 7 p m der the Name of Abaris Valesius (f), for his pair, 11, corrects a l'assage of Proclus (g), where Pythagoras is cited, ev mi we's "Acaeva hope, he believes it ought (f) Vales to be read 'Acapia By this means there had been not in some Work of Pythagoras (h) address d to our Acapia notae. to be read Acapir By this means there had been not in fome Work of Pythagoras (b) address d to our Acapir not as All that we know for certain is, that Pytlagoras, if Mauss in we will credit Jamblichus in the Case (i), explain'd his Harpocr Freatise concerning Nature, and his other Fract pag 83 concerning the Gods, to this Hyperborean Plutarch (k) (g) In Timakes mention of a Book entituled Abaris, and commutem pos'd by Hiraclides, wherein one might see, I fancy, Platon all the Adventures, both Real and Romuntick p 141 of this Famous Hyperborean I wonder that Scaling, (b) Collite did refer us to Gyraldus, as one that could best this with inform us concerning Abaris, for as Learned a Min what Jamas Gyraldus was, yet he was not very accurate in his blichus Account of this Matter (l) He says, That Valerius has said Harpocration has made mention of the Wonders of the before, cap Arrow, and that, according to Herodotus, it carry d 19 p 9 Arrow, and that, according to Herodotus, it carry d 19 p 9 him through the Air as far as the Country of the Hy- (1) Jam in perboreans But 'tis certain the Harpocration speaks not (k) Plu a word of the Arrow, and that Herodotus says nothing taich of the Flight of Abaris, much less does he determine quomodo the particular Place to which he fled Charles Sie- audiendiphens and Moreri (m) fell into this last Mistake, which Poet init however is more excusable than the rashness of the (1) Sectle former, in saying. That we have still extant the O-Remark former, in faying, That we have still extant the $C \triangle t$ racles of Abaris This is to copy after another with $C \triangle t$ racles of Abaris This is to copy after another with $C \triangle t$ out Judgment, and without confidering, that fince wards the that was afferted, those Oracles have been lost We End shall elsewhere (n) pass a general Reslection upon the (m) Lega-Blunders that arrie from this Principle tus Atheritas

(G) Foretell Earthquakes] Porphyry (e) afcribes this nas veni-Power to Pythageras, as also that of chasing away the ens ad su-Pestilence, of stopping the Hail, laying Storms, and os Hyappeasing of Tempests by Sea, and on the Rivers, perboreos that his Friends might meet with a prosperous Yoy- reduit niage He adds, That Empedocles, Epimenides and Abaris hil comu-having learn'd this Secret from Pythagoras, put it indens Car to practice upon several Occasions, monaga em-Steph remanura relaura A late Writer (p) upon rela-Resurning A 2

ting from to Scythia

in all that long Journey he eat nothing Morers on the Arciele Balbus (John) at the End (n) In the Note up-(o) In vita Pythag (p) La Moche le Vayer, Tom 11 p 127 dit etiam peregrinationes & motus hoc fomagunt,

(1) Gy-

Poetis,

Dial 3

P 334

T# 20 Gregor

Mazianz P 774

Sect 4

(y)In e-

guit

ۋv Parten-

> Artemıdor 1 3 tribute the building of st to Or-quit

a Origen of Good to the World, without fearing the Reflection east upon him by an a of beind growth of Good to the World, without fearing the Reflection east upon him by a sof being useless in his Generation. But we have a fince understood, that the Giory of the Wonderworking Wand was but short-liv'd (I), and that it met with its Fatal Doom at the Prince of Conde's Palace P m 129 B This was

ABARIS, a City of Egypt. See PITHOM. Written in the Year 1693 (q) He eiter Diog Laert in cerning Abaris he

ABBE-

B, asbe-

ful the (ires ev'n ef a Sinple State, Morerack me thef 21/11/ II dlu k does create Auton Idyll 15

(u) Horice, Ode 5 Book 4

ting that Pherecydes the Master of Pythageras (q), and that Anaximander and Abaris (r) foretold Earthquakes, proposes this merry Question, Whas, says he, did they look upon the Earth as a huge Animal, and were they Pherecyd arriv'd to so great a skill as to know, by feeling her Pulle, Ciceron i when the Trembling Fit was coming upon her? Now when ther the Arrow of Abaris was the Instrument with which he perform'd so many Miracles, or whether it contributed nothing thereto, it is certain that his Travels might be of great use to Mankind See farther under the next Remark baris he under the next Remark cites Apollonius, firnamed Dyfcolus, themselves so many Advantages, and so great Victorian en hich their Expectations make have quoted above word Rabdomancy, or upon some other Occasion But let this be as it will, I will not recant what I advince concerning the Usefulness of thanks and ing in the Hands of so great a Traveller as Abaris, it might well carry the Reformation of Manners might well carry the Reformation of Manners throughout the whole World, more effectually than the Millionaries with all their Art and Pains have higher the door. therto done. I or should such a Man return upon the Stage of the World, Jealouise, that Plague of a Marri-ed Life, would foon be banish'd all Human Society Neither the Italians, nor the Eastern Nations would then have occasion to fet Guards over their Wives, or watch them with Argus's Eyes themselves; each Min would trust to their Honesty, and they would need only bring them to the Test of the Wand And the Men would not only free themselves from RackINV. (2) Cares, which too often haden themselves. (t) Pain- ing (t) Cares, which too often haiten their Ruin, but they would perceive themselves under the Necessity of maintaining their Conjugal Vow, if they had any vilue for their own Reputation. The being call'd to the Bar, and appearing before a Judge, would strike less Teiror into the Soul of the Criminals, than the minuted of an Abaris. The greatest Number of Costences, the most dangerous Sins, such I mean as are committed under the hopes that they will never rife up to their publick shame, would be entirely suppress'd, by thinking on the Wand, and then we might with Horace tiuly say

(u) Tutus bos etenem rura perambulat, Nutrit rura Ceres, almag, fausticas

Culpari metuit fides, Nullis polluitur casta domus stupris

Laudantur simili prole puerpera

Culpam pana premit comes

I own that it is a haid Matter to comprehend, that the Devil, the profess d Fnemy of Mankind, has made choice of fuch Laws of Engagements with Man, and its this which those Men little regard, who cannot bear that one should either call in question the Virtues of the Wand, or go about to solve them Mecha-

(1) The Glery of this Wonderworking Wand was but fhore lived] It scarce lasted to long in Paris, as whilst we are composing and printing one single Article of this Dictionary The Prince of Gonds, whose extraoidinary Abilities must needs be fatal to all Impostors, and their Credulous Followers, has pull'd down the Trophies fet up by the Partilans of James Aymar This poor Ignoramus was fo wretchedly baffled in the Tryals (m) he made of shewing his Art in the Palace of Condo, that his Reputation was crack'd for ever The Publick was made acquainted with all the Transaction, and tis in vain to plead uncertainty in the Case, since it was by Order of that great Prince, that the World was inform'd of the Cheat. Nor do they make use of this Subterfuge; they only endeavour to assign some Reason of the Miscarriages of the Wand, as I shall observe by and by They who have Wand, as I shall observe by and by They who have afferted that the Favourers of these Jugglers ill-tim'd the Matter, and that in such a Philosophytal Age as this, 'tis meer trising to trump such Man upon the World, have, in some respects, Reason on their side; but all things consider'd, they do not argue right.

rivate Men, at pre-relift the Force, own it, There are a great many mon-fent, than formerly, who are and frop the Courie of Illustra to be imp al reply, that our Age is as early so be imposed as any whatfoever, and after what we have inconcerning an Explication of the Apocalypse, we have no reason to say, that the World is grown more cunning now-s-days. In truth it is not, all the Delusions which tickleMen'sFancies,go down glib withthem, they are not asham'd when they are convinc'd that the been bubbl'd; nor have they the less Respect who has cheated'em, and they cry as laud as everal those who have not hatth enough and deceived. He was a few of this Matter. The (x) To onies of a great (x) The "Prince, and the Letter of one of the principal Ma-Historic "The condition of the principal Ma-Historic "Prince, and the Letter of one of the principal Ma-Historic "The condition of the principal Ma-Historic "The gistrates, are such strong Proofs against James Ay. Mercu mer, as none of those who give credit to the pretended Effects of the Wand, dare to contradict But so foolish are those Credulous Creatures, that P 565 hardly one of them will submit themselves to this Lydence. Mr. Vallence who had beelease to this "Lvidence Mr Vallement, who has lately publish d
"a Track concerning the Secret Philosophy of the Divi"ner's Wand, goes about to explain how the Peasant
"of Dauphine might be mistaken in the Tryals of his
"Chill before the Pease shough he had really the Skill before the Prince, though he had really the Power and Gifts of which he boafted This fort of Philosophers, as well as the Unfolders of Prophecies, (for both of them are of the same Make) are a kind of Enthulialts, who will never own themselves to have been in the wrong, and who though they are convinced of the I ality of the Things they have advanced, treat with a haughty Air those Men of Sound Judgment, who will not espouse their Whimsical Notions "SINCE the Impression of what I have said, three or four Years have elaps'd without the least mention of James Aymar Our Journalists had quite lost the fight of him, and gave him over for lost But at last they brought him again upon their Stage, in the they brought him again upon their Stage, in the Month of April, 1697 and that to make him act a very Comical part, which would be of singular use, were the Story they tell of it true Within a while ago (siy they, (y) the Prior of the Charterhouse of Vil. (y) Histor leneuve in Avignon, travelled through Orange with cal and James Aymar, by whose assistance he pretended to discover Political several Boundaries of Landau, were lost But by chance Mercury he was made use of upon a week for the Convent of the 1697 Capuchins. The Restor of the Hospital desired James P 440, Aymar to discover the Person who did it To thu he readyle consented, came to the Capuchins Gate, where the dily consented, came to the Capuchins Gate, where the Child had been laid, and in the view of a great Multitude took the Way which the Motion of hu Wand directed him to, and went directly to a Village of the County Venaissin, nam'd Camaret, and from thence into a Farm-boufe, which he faid positively was the Place where the Child was torn I forgot to sell you, that in the Way he met with a Man a Herfeback, and that by the Motion of he Wand, he discover'd that he was the Pather of the Foundling The Judge of the Place, either of his own accord, or at the folicitation of some Persons concern'd, defired James Aymar, and those who set him to work, to make no farther Enquiry, and that he would cause the Child to be taken h again, which was accordingly done Upon this Narra-tion give me leave to make three Remarks In the tion give me leave to make three Remarks In the first place we are not certain of the Truth of this Story For how many Men take pleasure to invent Romances, and get them inserted in the Publick Pa-pers? They send them to an Author without a Name, they fix upon a Scene at some distance, and after all, they know that there are but few who will give themselves the trouble of being better. My focond Remark 1s, that though all and related in the Historical Mercary were true, cannot My fecond Remark is, that though all an included in the Historical Mercury were true, the Cannot tell how to make the Increduloushold the Tongues. James Against, will they fay, knew which way he was to go, a False Brother among those who knew the Intrigue of the Lyang in, was agog to make the Discovery, and to give some Occasion for Discourse. However, he was a particular Exception to that General Proverb, as Prepher has an Elment in his supplements. That Disgrace which he more with in the Metrolipelis of the Kingdom, that Train, say I, of Ill Successed.

(w) See the Historical I etters, and the Political Mercury for the Month of May, 1693

OLE, in Latin Abbatisfuilla, the Capital City of the Dutchy of Pon-ABDE Seated on the River Somme, five Leagues from the Sea, in the Diocese Buissiere thier in Pici Aperhecary of Amsens formerly, as the Word imports, no more than a Country-Seat belong-cefs, of which Mr. Bussiere (2) has published an ex-Entituled, own Province In the Third Place, I observe, That Lettre a this property of the Wand would be of vast Advan-Mr l'Ab-tage to the World in the pull case the Publick of the bé, D L funds it is forced to the list for the Maintenance of sure les versus to the force them to Maintenance their ritables are property of the versus to the world in the first them themselves effects de Besides, which presed is such a reference to the vision of the v la baguet- sequences, which Dread is such a restraint upon Incontinence, that without it there would be more frequent and more fcandalous Acts of Uncleanness Jaques The Female Sex, more commonly aw'd Aymar, par P B The Female Sex, more commonly aw'd with the Fear than Men are, would be more Caution Chaffity To chuse out a By-Cottage for Lying-in, to call a Midwise with her Eyes Blindfold, and by a resident bout way, to order the Child to be laid in the state of the Night, these and all the order than the would signify nothing in case the want of the Virtue they talk of the would chalk out the war of the war. 1694 (a) The Story 1m-That It would chalk out the way to the very Chamber of Ay- the Woman that Lyes-in, better than a Hound could follow the Scent of the Hare to her Form It would the Mon a put an end to all the false Oaths that are taken (a) by Horseback those who are not willing to be at the Charge of to be the keeping a Bastard, since the Mother would oblige Child's Fa- them to it, by appearing without any Shame before a Magustrate for that very purpose of Mr Bu- " sed above ..

THE Confession which James Aymar made beat

As nothing is fo proper to undeceive the Credulous, as to shew that James Aymar himself confess d this Cheat, I shall give the most convincing Evidence of it I have a Proof more Positive than the Testimony of Mr Robert, the King's Attorney at the Chatelet of Paru The Letter (b) which he writ to Father Chevigny affistant to the Father General of the Oratory, contains only some of the bad Successes of the Wand, and afterwards these Words "I have heard say that his Wand has not been more " Successful in leveral Experiments made at Verfailles "Successful in several Experiments made at Verjailles" and Chantilly, and that he had been Convicted of "Falshood, and had Confessed it But I know this "by common Report only, not thinking my self obliged to take any Trouble in such a trisling "Thing, which shews how ready Men are to be"lieve things which are new and appear so Extra"ordinary" Here is a clearer and fuller Proof of the Cheat Mr Buissiered and Mr Sauveur, Members of the Academy of Sciences. had desired him bers of the Academy of Sciences, had defired him to Print a Second Edition of his Letter, and to Name himself in it That he will do it, and put his Name to't, since the Partison will have him do it by his Order, to the Partisons of the Wands. To which he was made after those who Murder'd a Patroler, in St Dennis-street, and that the Favourers of the Wand may be entirely Underwood he will add a look of Santa which Tames ceived, he will add also the Confession which James Aymar made to the Prince of Conde, That he knew nothing of all that had been attributed to him; and that what he had bitberto done, was to gain a Livelihood Thu fincere Confession procured him a Present of 30 Louisledd'ors from his H that he might retire as soon as possible d'ors from his H that he might retire as joon as possible to his own Village; because being no longer under his Prorestion, the People whom he had fallely Accused would stop him. Mer Robert teld me, 'tis Mr Buissere who speaks, That is he had been put into he hands to be punished, he would have caused him to be Condomned to the Gallies, the Proof being beyond Contradiction. The same Letter informs me, That a Boy of 24 Years of Age, who had been infirusted, had already abused a great many People. Her me it may may the time a great many People, but me very near the time of Aymar's Tricks, he found People on their Guard. The little Boy missarried as the Confusion of a Geneleman who had produced him Mr Buissiere was appointed to exParch, as amme him, and found him very Cunning for his Age Parch, as amine him, and found him very Cunning for his Age below pa. They flut him ap several Days wishess any Communica778, calls tim with the invitement A little Money, mish some Prothe Father mise to satisfy and some Threats, made him Confess to whom all This are of Mr Buissier's is dated from Pathe Letter ru the 25 this July, 1698. We'll add to this meatrast was writ, of a Letter from Mr. Leibnizs, which the Author Cheulgni permitted to be Published in Mr Tomodius's Journal, 'Its proba- in the Year 1694, with (d) that of Mr Robort He bly a Fault assures us, That he heard the Dutchess of Himmour, in the Sister-in-Law to the Prince of Conde, say, she had printing for found out in her House as Paris the Impostures of Chevignia the American and that she was of the same Opinion chevignia with the Prince, That twas better publickly to expose the Falshood of these Things, than to imother them up, under pretence that the belief of the Divining Wand would fright a great many Rogues, and procure the Restitution of Stollen Goods She declared that James Aymer at last confessed the Fast; that he asked Pardon and overside himself by the test that he asked Pardon, and excused himself by say ing, That his Impudence had contributed less to his Management, than the Credulity of others (e) Is (e) Leib-(Princeps Condœus) Aimarum Lugduno accersiverat nitzius appud Tena (Princeps Condeus) Aimarum Lugduno accersiverat nitzius aindaginus causa excussum multu modis honumcionem & pud Tendaprehansum, tandem ad consessionem fraudus adegere, loq menquam sibi ignosci petiit supplix, & eraviera metuens, str ann Causatus non tam propria audacia, quam aliens credulitate hominum falli volentium, & velut obtrudentium sibi, qua alioqui nec fastare ausus suisset, sise in hac imbuissum eo tandem porvenisse, unde pedem commode non posere as I pulsum eo tandem porvenisse, unde pedem commode non po- here as 1 tuerst referre Facile Condonavit homini magnanimus Prin- find i n a tuerit referre Facile Condonavit homini magnanimus Prin-find in a ceps, sed erant, qui suadirint dissimulari comperta, & Bookof Mi conservari famam hominis vel artis, utili dolo, quod con state, furibus aliisque malis hominibus magnum metum profise injectum, & ob famam adventantis alicubi rerum Profisor of furtivarum pretia susserie sed ducisse pariter nostra at Kiel dissembly segregii sententia suit, potiorem habendam rationem veritatus. Mr. Leibnitz has joined to this i very worthy Remark, That it had been better to have examined, how so many Persons of Merit could be Antiquis, deceived at Lyons, than to endeavour to find our the say. deceived at Lyons, than to endeavour to find out the page 779 Natural Caules of the pretended Virtue of this Edit 1700 Wand (f) Efferipfinuper Parifies utilize Geramine dignize, mili viden problems, morale vel logicum, quo- (f) Id Ib mode tot viri infignes Lugduni in fraudem dutit fuerint, quam illud pleudophysicum, quod trattaniere Vallemanni. quam illud pseudophysicum, quod tractaverit Vallemontius, meliori materia dignus? Quomodo virga corylacea, tot miracula operetur i Nam moralis illa quastio excussa pro dignitate, multorum errorum popularium origines sa-pe specios aperires I fancy, that it the Magistrates of Lyons, who caused the Murderer to be Hanged, whom James Aymar discovered at Beaucaire, had threatned to burn the Discoverer alive, as a Wicked Magician, and had caused the Executioner to be nt with all the Instruments of the Rack, they would have made him contess how he had learne all the Secret of the Assassination, and how he should find at Beaucaire in fuch and fuch a place, one of the Affassines 'Tis very probable, that those Persons who had a mind to bring him into Reputation, that they might share the profit with him, caused him to take this Course Mr Buissiere takes notice in his printed Relation (g) That this Man had a Club of (g) At People, who cryed him up all over Paris, and who pubthe 13 and lished in the Mercure Gallint for February, 1693 that he had found such and such a thing, then which nothing was more fails. The Prepossession was so great that he would have got vast Sums, if he could but have kept himself up You may judge whether his Partisans had not very good Reasons to second him "(b) There never was an Imposture more Credited (h) Mr who had a mind to bring him into Reputation, that (b) There never was an Imposture more Credited (b) Mr than this, they were so prejudiced in favour of Buissiere than this, they were to prejudiced in tayour of Buissiere this Person, that they made him do things which in the Leta-he never thought of, and sound out Reasons to ter which excuse him when he did not succeed. He impo-he did me seed on them by the appearance of a simple and the Honour rustick. Air, and speaking only the Gibberish of to write to his Country, but he was in the bottom nothing me the 25. less than what he appeared to be The Motion of July of his Wand was the Cause of the Illusion. They 1608 say the Eocked Spick turn so destroys up his faw the Forked Stick turn so dextrously in his hand, that they did not perceive the insensible Motion of his Fist, which determined it to turn forcibly and quick, by the Spring which he gave to his Wand Besides his apparent natural Plainness, he affected to be Devout, went often to Confession, every day to Mass, and shew'd other external Tokens of a great Sense of Religion, and said, That he had very carefully preserved his Virginity, without which, as he said, he could not succeed with his Wand He would not walk in the Streets in the day time, for fear, as he said, of being Mardered by Thieves and Pickspockets But all this was only because the Night served better for his Tricks However residentions he was, yet he did not want Admirers, and confequently People to cry him up: And if they had not taken care to prevent his going out of Conde-House, because the Prince, who had sent for him to Peris to facisfy his Curiosity, would have him try some things which he had thought of, before faw the Forked Stick turn fo dextrously in his

A B B E V I L; Ls E.

a Father ing to an Abbot. 'Tis suppos'd, that this Abbot was St. Requier, or rought his Successum fors, who perceiving the Situation to be very Pleasant and Commodious, I wo Leagues but Methodical to the Built there, and then a dicastrable, from his Abbey of Centula, caus'd first of all an House a to be Built there, and then a dicastrable, where was a Priory β dependent upon the Abbey. Hugh Capet willing to make Geography, a strong place of it, in order to stop the Incursions of the Barbarsans, took it away from β 312 p Sirmontous North Monks γ, and when he had Fortised it, gave it to Hugh his Son-in-law, who took in Epist him the Protection of the Church of St Requier. His Son Angelram was satisfied with this Title, till such time as he had kill'd I in Battle the Count of Bouleagne, and Married his Widow, for then he took upon him the Title of Count of Ponthian, which has been continued to his Successors. In process of time, Abbeville became very considerable, for this sat present so large, that there are scarce Ten or Twelve Cities in all France which surpasses in his Computation made in the Year 1626, tells us, that is contain'd 25 or 40 thousand of his Mosoulle Souls. It was his Native Country, and the remarkable, that in a short time it afforded to 12 apud Three Skilful Geographers, Himself, Peter ? Duval, and Father Philip Brief the Jesuit. Hadr Valles of that Country were not in Comparison of Anceste of the Country, and that the other Cidelium, and partly without the City. Father Labbe is not of Sanson's Opinion, who main had be a set of that Country were not in Comparison of Anceste of the Country were not in Comparison of Anceste of the Country were not in Comparison of the American and then the country of the Country were not in Comparison of the Country were not in Comparison of the Country of the Country were not in Comparison Notit Gall p tains, n that Abbeville was always the Capital of Ponthieu (K), and that the other Ci Id Va. ties of that County were not in Comparison near so Ancient as that (L) Much less less is will be let his Pretension to pass for Authentick, viz That this City was formerly called a Sanson's Britannia (M), and that it was one of the most Flourishing Cities of all Gaul long be of one of Santon s Sifters " Ib p 19, "
Enquiry Enquiry

Abbeville "he was publickly fet on work, he had been over-Some wanted to know whether he could not difcover the Thieves who were guilty of fuch a Robbery, at such a time, in such a place, &c Others wanted to know whether such a Saint was not the true one rather than that of another Parish "The prop." In or the true one rather than that of another Parish which bragged of having him also. Others brought "Relicks to him, to know whether they were truly fuch a Saints. I saw a young Silk-weaver, who neu a ve- "was Contracted, give him Two Crowns to know the neur propers." Those who shared to had eur! Physic:- "Profit, took care to bring Grist to the Mill, and and there "made them now the Money herom-hand. If they an of Rot- made them pay the Money before-hand, if they terdam had a mind to fuceeed in their Enquiries published a Such a Man at Para would have been a certain fmallTrea- Cain, and an unexhaustible Mine for those who had a share in the Profit. The Persons who suspects and an advance of the Persons who suspects and advance of the Persons who suspects and advance of the Persons who suspects and advance of the Persons would have Dutchand ed others, and those who were suspected, would have French, to strived who should pay him best. He would have show gotten Money out of the Husbands and Wives, the vanity Gallants and their Mistresses. The Wand would not shew the andridicu- have moved but for those who gave most I believe louinels of that if we could discover the Mystery of those sorts of pretended Produgies, we should find that there is See a Combination of People who go about it to get the History Money One boasts of an extraordinary Talent, of the and others endeavour underhand to establish the seworks of liet of it But I believe there are some Cheats who the I can n- have no need of Lmissaries, the Credulty of the ed, by Mr Publick is a sufficient Preparation for their acting the Imposture 'Tis not long since there went over the Towns of Holland, a sort of Germans who pretended Bunage, M 13 1697 to cure all Distempers without any Remedies. The Patients need only, faid they, fend us their Urine Their Success was the subject of the common talk, P 408,00 And the Paris every Body related some wonderful Circumstances, Journal of the their Lodgings were like the Pool of Bethefda, full of, a 3 of Jan- and furrounded with infirm Persons I don't benuary lieve that those who cried up most the Art of those 1698 p 30 Quacks were to partake of the Prosit Some pleafor the sed themselves to recommend the thing, because in Durch E-look'd like a Prodigy, others might find something dition pleasant in it, because the unprositableness of the common Medicines put them out of Humour with their Phylicians The Cheat did not last long, a (k) Nısı Princeps Condeus Month or Two fet all things to rights This

Condæus Month or Two set all things to rights This (1) cognoscenda rei ple undeceived, that their Approbation was changed into the greatest Scorn studium We must observe that Mr Leibniz takes notice with a great deal of Reason, (k) That if the Prince of Comde had not discovered the Imposture, no Arapendisset into those credulous People But it is to be feared, that People would readily see the same Comedy Consisted again, if the same Motives should revive it 7 or 8 remur, Years hence

(K) Was alway: the Capital of Ponthicu 1 Father (K) Was alway: the Capital of Ponthieu] Father cum qui-buldam ingeniis quibus gratius est per mira falli quem nude versta-tis simplicitati acquiescere. Labaitz ubi supra, p 1780. Labbe (1) refutes him as to that particular in these (1) Labbe Words You have not read, Sir, the Titles and Memoirs Tabl megf the Abbey of St Riquict, which inform us, that un-tood p 32c der Lewis the Debonnaire, in the Year 815 there were edit in the within the Walls of Centula, Two thousand five hundred Houses, several Artificers, a great many Streets, &c That Abbeville is recken d among the Towns and Villages which depended upon it If any credit may be given to the Verse that is commonly repeated in that Country, Turribus a centum Centula Nomen habet, then the Hundred Towers with which the Walls of Centula were Flank'd, occasion'd its Name (m)

Centula were Flank'd, occasion'd its Name (m)

(L) Were not in Comparison near so Ancient as that abid. p

"This is (n) false, say the Inhabitants of S. Riquier, 316, 319

"What have you in Abbeville that betokens any Animal of tiguity? since your Collegiate Church of St. Wul
"fran owes its Foundation to William de Taluae and "John his Son, Eleven hundred Years after Christ,
"and since the Priory of St. Peter of St. Benedist's

"Order, was now set up but some Years before
"For as to the Parish Church of Notre-Dame du Cha"tel, it only looks like the Church of a Village"
As to Fredegarius, whom Sanson has cited as his As to Fredegarius, whom Sanfon has cited as his Voucher of the Existence of Abbeville in the time of the Mayor Ebroining, to this 'tis replied, (o) That (o) Ibid we ought to read in the ofth Chapter, not, aique A- p 321 bacivo villa evadens aufugit, but, aique a Bacivo villa evadens aufugit

(M) That this City mas formerly called Britannia]
He grounds this Conceit on a Pallage of Strabo, where he fancies 'tis faid, (p) That the Deputies of Marfeilles (p) Sanappearing before Scipio, being ask'd by him, what they fon's Enknew of Britannia, Narbo and Carbilo, not one of the quiryment Company could say any thing in Commendation of them, the Antithough they were the best Towns in all Gaul He suppo- quity of ses that it was An Urb condit 532 that the Depu- Abbeville ties of Marseilles shewed themselves so grossly Igno- p 4 rant His Reason for it, is, that he who propos'd those Questions was the same Scipie who lost the First Battle which Hannibal gain'd over the Romans He supposes that this Scipio, willing to get Intelli-gence of Haumbal's March, Sail'd to the Mouth of the Rhosne; and that there the Deputies of Marseilles, who came to Complement him, could make no rewho came to Comphiment him, could make no reply to his Questions. This we shall enquire into farther, under the Article of Pythear Let us at present proceed to the other Hyperheses of Sanson He observes, I That the City of Narbonne was one of the most Ancient and most Flourishing Cities of Gaul, and that (q) yet it is not nam'd till after that (q) P 8 of Britainnia, among the Three of which Scipie defir'd to be informed. II That the Belgium in the Commentaries of Julius Casar, was a Region (r) among (r) P. 20 Commentaries of Julius Cafar, was a Region (r) among (r) P 39 she Belgæ, which comprehended the Beauvaists, the the Belge, which comprehended the Beauvaisis, the Amisses, the Arises and perhaps sife the Vermanders, and the Scalifons: HI That the Inhabitants of the Coalks of Great-Britain came forth from (s) Belgium, and (s)P7 40 retain'd the Names of the Cities from whence they came s as Gosar informs us IV That according to Pliny's (s) Calculation, the People whom he stiles (s) Lib 4. Britains, must needs (s) have dwelt in Penebies. Cap 17 V That of all the Parts of Belgium, from whence (s) P 46. People were over anto England, there is none that ought to come into the Account. So much as that ought to come into the Account, so much as shat fore jells with. We shall in its due place take notice of the whole Contest which Facther Laws N) had with him on this Subject. Abbeville is endowed with excellent Privileges; and whereas it has never been taken, a it is still d. The Vargin of the Country, a Du Val and has for its Motto, semper fidela, always Faithful Whoever would be acquainted more at in harren-large with what relates to this City, the Privileges of its Mayors, the Famous Men who rise of Fiance, p to be the form of Died there 6. Ge may consult the Genealogical History of the 70 have been Born, or Dued there 8, or may consult the Genealogical History of the 70 have been Born, or Died there 6, or may contain the Genealogical rintery of the 70 Counts of Ponthem, Printed at Paris, by Francis Clausier, 1657, an Folso The Author B'Tis with only tells us his stone by these install Letters, F J D M C D But 'tis easy to per-great Reactive by seasons the Burney of the Country of the C footed &

Book was the Son of a Clothworker, and Born at Guilford in the County of Surry, for the Book 1562. He Studied at Oxford, and in the Year 1597 was made Mafter of University - 15 full of Two Years after he was advanced to the Deanery of Winchester which he hold there College Two Years after, he was advanced to the Deanery of Winchester, which he held Matters till the year 1609, when he succeeded Thomas Morton in the Deanery of Gloucester Hitherto Therain is referment was not so shining and sudden as it happen'd afterwards, for he was made to befound Bay indithe serbury in March following & His Learning and the great Grit which he had of Preach- and feveing, contributed less to his fudden Advancements, than did his Interest with the First of ratesfer was thought strange, that he should have more regard to his Secretary than to his Chaplains, who I are was thought strange, that he should sho and that when he appear'd Abroad he should show more Respect to the Lasty than to of Kelation It was supposed that having never had any Benefice with the Cure of to Ponthe Clergy Souls, my meaning is, that having never experienced the Difficulties to be met with in thieu the Direction of a Parish, he was thereby become less capable of shewing any Indul- V Some His Severity towards them, and the Countenance he gave miofa to the Nonconformists, were the Two principal Reasons of the Clamour that was rais d Abbat against ham The latter of these caus'd a Modern Writer to say, That if I and had Athen succeeded Bancrost, and the Design of Conformity had not met with an Interruption in Oxonifucceeded Bancroft, and the Design of Conformity had not met with an Intercuption in Oxonithe time of Abbot, doubtless the Schism in England would have been at an end • King en Vol 1 Fames was disgusted with Abbot, because he opposed the Design that King had of Mat-Worthess The Language of Same The Lan rying the Prince of Wales with the Infanta of Spain The Lucinies of the Archbishop of Encland being apprized of this, thought they had a fair Opportunity of ciushing him, for they

Britanni

ras par

which is Situated by the Sea-side; that is, the Country of Ponthieu I rom all this he infers, (w) That the Britanni of Pliny are the Principal of Belgium, who went over into England, that at first they retain'd their Ancient Name, and at last render'd it Universabler to mad Britanni than they would not have called themselves Britanni had not their Capital City been Britannia It follows then, that the Capital of Ponthieu was the Ancient Britannia of which Scipio desir'd to be inform d, now Abbewille is the Capital of Ponthieu It was therefore under the Name of Britannia, the most I lourishing City of the Gauli, even before the Second Punick War

Doubtless there is Least Genius in this long

War

Doubtless there is Leading Genius in this long train of Suppositions and Equences, considering the manner wherein Author has managed it, its when all comes to all, its a mere Romance, and the Physics of Supposition of Possess are duly under ho, 1 4 (y) Περιστικών when all comes to all, 'tis a mere Romance, an ciem ary Phantom, founded on a Passage not duly underλίζι tood The Matter of Fact is this, strabe (x) tells us, that Polytim has plac'd among the Fabulous Stories of Pytheas, That none of the Inhabitants of the Marfeilles, who held any Correspondence with Scipio, could say any thing considerable, when he question'd them about Britain, no more than any Inhabitant of Narbonne, or of Corbilo, the Two best Cities of the Narbonne, or of Corbilo, the Two best Cities of the Countrey This is the true meaning of the Greek Text (y), as may be collected not only from the Rules of Grammar, but also from the Humour of ชอง อบน-MERVION Rules of Grammar, but also from the Humour of the Stroller here mentioned; Pythew I mean This Fellow to put the better Gloss upon his Romantick Stuff and Rhodomontades, was used to brag, That he would inform his Readers of a Thousand Things, of which they never had heard before No question then but he boldly gave out, that his Relation of British presented us with the first and earliest Account of that Island, and that to prove it, he made use of אפשר אי אר אפשר אי אי किए प्राप्त-कर्म वहारण कामिस्टेंड Examenos of that filland, and that to prove it, he made use of that filland, and that to prove it, he made use of this Argument, viz. That scipie could learn nothing about it from the Inhabitants of Marseiler, nor from those of Corbile upon the Love and the Love in the Words of the ancient Geographer, to which no question the Lasin Version has not a little contributed. Onjus (Corbilens) mentionem facing polybism simul Pythea veser commentum, Massient with the manner and dicert interrogates de Britania, stemque Marbanensum of Corbilensensum, com the Strabe last resurves Gallia emmen after extinual one might the Words, that the Three chief Cities of Gaul, mention'd by that the Indice called Ritannia, Marbo, or Cor-bilo, but upon due Attention we shall perceve that bilo, but upon due Attention we shall perceive that Bestrauran, is here taken for the Island Britannia And thus Strabe (2) is us'd to express himself, with- (x) Se out the Addition of the Word Nino Island among of this Subject I Islande his Decluation of Wai, and lib is phis first Act of Hostility in these Words Britannia 71 am Abbavilleus Chalcographies interpretatur Abbeville, lepidissimo commen o, quod non i m ex Pythese mendaciis, quam ex ignoratione lingua Giaca editum malignam in lucem demonstrabimus alias, cum primum singularem illum de Britannia trattatum nancisci & legere datum suerit de Britannia traitatum nancisci & legere datum suerit. Tis thus that he express d himself in his Phanus Gil-Tis thus that he express d himself in his Phanis Gillia Antiquae, printed at Moulius, 1644. He had not as yet read the Book which Sanson published on this Subject at Paris, 16,6. He had only feen the new Planomenon about Bistannia, not in the Large Map of Ancient Gaul, published by Sanson in the Year 1622, but in a small Chart published innee. Having at last perused the Book, he refuted the Principles upon which its founded, An 1646, in the Methodical Tables of the Royal Geography, and did not forget to observe, that according to the Sense which the Sieur Sanson gives to Strato's Text, it must be said that the Inhabitants of Marseilles were wholly ignorant with respect to the City of Narionne, An W C 532 though Marseilles had then been Built about 400 rant with respect to the City of Narbanne, An W C 532 though Marfeilles had then been Built about 400 Years, and Narbanne was a very Flourishing City, Sansan was sensible of the Difficulty, and he guarded himself against it as well as possibly (a) (a) San could be done But who can imagine that the Mar- son as be sellous, because they had frequent Wars with their fore, page Neighbours, had not time to know what Narbanne 76. Neighbours, had not time to know what Narbonne 76, was ?! The Passage of Justin (b) which Sanson relates, (b) informs us, that before the Year of Rome 362 they lib 43 c had often Conquer'd the Carthaginians, and enter'd 5, 6 into Alliance with the Spaniards Father Lable was not much the better for his Triumph; for Sanson made the same Insults over him in his turn, which aimost ruin'd the Phasia Gallia Antiqua Note, That with respect to his Hypsibalic concerning Britage had aimost run'd the Pharus Gallia Antiqua Note, That with respect to his Hypothesis concerning Britannia he wrote a reply (c) which was never Printed.

(c) See the Confirmation of Several Books 1 The Chief are, Note (A) Anafrones see Theologica totidem praises combine disputation of the Artic Printed at Oxford, 1598 Dr Hill's Respons for ticle Py-Papistry numaited, at Oxford, 1604 An Expession theas, to-upon Jonah, by may of Sermon The History of the Mas-wards the sacre in the Valteline A Geography; of which the latter and.

9 Edition, which was not the last, in the Year 1607

hop'd to have an Ascendant over this Religious King, by alledging the Sacredness of the Ancient Canons. For the better understanding of this, it must be observed, that Abbet had accidentally kill'd the Keeper of Bramzel Park, belonging to my Lord Zauch. The Bishop of Lincoln, who was then Lord-Keeper of the Broad Seal, told the Duke of Buckingbam, That the Archbishop of Canterbury was sple facto deprived of his Dignity, upon the account of the Murder he had committed. To this purpose he produced the Laws of England, and the Severity of the Ancient Discipline; he added, That it was to be feared the Papists would make an Advantage of it, if they should suffer him to Exercise the Office of an Archbishop and Primate of the Realm, whose Hands were desiled with Blood In short, he wrought so far, that a Commission was issued to some Bishops and other Peers, to enquire into the Matter of Fact. With the Event of fome Bishops and other Peers, to enquire into the Matter of Fact With the Event of this Enquiry, the Archbishop's Enemies were not very well pleas'd, for it was adjudged, this Enquiry, the Archbinop's Enemies were not very well pleas'd, for it was adjudg'd, That he had committed no Irregularity by this involuntary Murder This happen'd in the Year 1621 Six Years after, a new Storm was rais'd against him, which quite overa The Duke set him Nor is there any Mystery in this, the Favourite a ow'd him a Grudge, and of Buckcould not endure that several Persons, offensive to him, frequented the Archbishop's Could not endure that several Persons, offensive to him, frequented the Archbishop's Tible, one of the most Splendid at that time The Pretence they made use of, was, worth:
That this Prelate resus'd to License a Sermon of Doctor Sibthorp, upon Apostolical Obesurface dience, though the King had commanded him so to do Then they. Suspended him collections, from all his Archiensscopal Functions, which were Administred by other Prelates Collections, from all his Archiepiscopal Functions, which were Administred by other Prelates, Where is to among whom was William Land, who was afterwards his Successor & Abbot retir'd to be seen a the place of his Nativity, and afterwards to Croyden-Castle, where he died the 4sb of long Memo- Aug in the Year 1623. His Monument is to be seen with several Ornaments and Inlong Memo- Aug in the Year 1623 His Monument is to be feen with leveral Ornaments and in-ling Memo- Aug in the Year 1623 His Monument is to be feen with leveral Ornaments and in-line of ferritions in Guilford-Church. He founded an Hospital well endowed in that Town George ferritions in Guilford-Church. He founded an Hospital well endowed in that Town Abbot, up. There was another George ABBOT (P), who has publish'd in English, a Paraphrase on en the Ai- Job, Short Notes on the Psalms, Vindiciae Sabbaths, 2 &c He liv'd in the Year 1640 count of his ABBOT (ROBERT) Elder Brother to the former, Bornalso at Guilford I, and Sulpension Student of Oxford in Baliol-College One of his first Employments was that of a Lectural North Church of All-Saints in the same of in the place, and a little after, Minister of the Parish of Bingham in Northamptonshire All Mar 1560 this happen'd between the Years 1581 and 1588. He Commenc'd Dr of Divinity at Oxford, in the Year 1597, and was admitted Chaplain in Ordinary to King James I in the beginning of his Reign In the Year 1609, he was made Master of Balsol-College, Three Years after he was advanc'd to the Dignity of Regims Professor in Divinity, in the University of Oxford In his Lectures ne made choice of a subject as is supposed to be fames, and managed it with that Depth of Thought and Learning, as is supposed to be a fames, and managed it with that Depth of Thought and Learning, as is supposed to be. the only Reason of his Advancement to the Bishoprick of Sarum Choice of, was, The Authority of Kings, the which he maintain'd against all the Subtilties and Sophisms of Bellarmine and Swarez. This is what may be seen in his Freatise, Entituled, De Suprema Potestate Regia, Printed at London, 1619 He likewise Publish'd in 1613 a Latin Book, no less agrecable than his Lectures, viz An Answer to the Apology publish d by Ludamon Foannes the Jesust, in Vindication of his Brother *Henry Garnet*Ile did not long enjoy his Bishopiick, for he was Consecrated Decemb 3 1615, and di1 Sicus ed of the Stone 4, March 2 1618 Within Two Years after his first Wise's Death Vitte he Marised a Second, which was highly displeasing to the Archbishop his Brother & place hs Some have wonder'd how it came to pass, that after he had shew'd his Learning and March 11 Ment both by Word of Mouth and by Writing, having a good Success in all that he did, 1617 that whether Preaching, Composing of Books and I ectures, Disputing, maintaining of Themship fes, and solving to a wonder the most Knotty Onestions they have tropically a start have tropically a start have the start have tropically a start have tropically a start have have tropically a start have tropically a ses, and solving to a wonder the most Knotty Questions, they have wonder'd. I say, how That his Relations were unwilling to consent, that the Church should be Adorn'd with do not be-the Spoils of the University, and that he should leave his Professorship to be made a gin their Bishop n This last Reason, in my Opinion, is not well grounded Let this be as it gin their Bishop n ther Coun- will, those who have made a Comparison between the Two Brothers, prefer George with Respect to his Eloquent Preaching, and Robert for his Preaching Learnedly They tell us, That George was the fittest for Business, and that Robert was the most profound Divine They add, that the Gravity of George was attended with an Air of Severity, and that of Robert's with a Smiling Aspect of The Latter was reckon'd a moderate Calvins of the Substitute of the Substitu for he explain'd the Doctrine of Predestination, according to the Hypothesis of the Sublapfarians. In the Note (2) we shall give you the Catalogue of his Works There has

Witte Athen Öxonien " Fuller

f Id 1b

And a Treatise concerning the Perpetual Visibility of the Church, Printed at London, 1624 to which he has not put his Name

(P) Ansiber George ABBOT] This was not minded by the Sieur Henningei Witte in his Diarium Biographicum, where he attributes to the Archbishop of Canterbury the Works of the other George, the Paraphrases on Job and the Psalms, and the Vindicia Sabbaih. He likewise ascribes to him, A Treatise against Bishops, and another, against the Brownists Though this seems to be very odd, for a Primate of England to write against Bishops.

(2) The Catalogue of his Works? Besides those I have already mention'd, he Compos'd, A Mirrour of Popish Substitute and Shift: London, 1594. Sermons on the Psalms, at the same place, 1601. Defines of the Remans afferds, else.

(C) That Learned Prelate show'd his great Skill quested in the Psalms, at the same place, 1601. Defines of the Remans afferds, else.

been fince him another Robert ABBOT, a Native of Cambridge, who has publish'd several Books in English. He was a London Divine, afterhe had been a Minister in Kent, and other places a. The Catalogue of the Bodlesan Library makes Three Robert Abbots out of one, and the Treatiles which were compos'd by one and the same Person are there divided among them Oxonica-

ABDAS, A Bishop in Persia in the time of Theodosian Junior, was through his in-seconsiderate Zeal the Cause of a very terrible Persecution which was rais'd against the Christians, who enjoy'd a full Liberty of Conscience in Persia, when this Bishop took upon him to pull down one of the Temples, where the Persians Worshipped the Fire. The Mass made their Complaints to the (R) King, who sent for Abdas, and after a mild Censure ordered him to rebuild that Temple Abdas resulted to do it though that Prince had declared to him. That in case of Dischedience of Abdas refu- CEx The-Abdas, and after a mild Centure ordered him to rebuild that Temple Abdas refused to do it, though that Prince had declared to him, That in case of Disobedience, the would cause all the Christian Churches to be pulled down Which he did 8, Hist c 39 and all the Faithful were delivered up to the Mercy of his (S) Priests, who being y Vedeveced at the Toleration that had been granted them, fell upon 'em with great Fury restant D - Abdas was the first Martyr who lost his Life on that Occasion, he was, I say, wing, the Green Martyr if we may so call a Man (T) who by his Rashness exposed the Church wing. the first Martyr, if we may so call a Man (T) who by his 2 Rashness exposed the Church blamestkar to so many Missfortunes. The Christians who had already forgot one of the most Essen-Bishop, tial Parts of Christian Patience, had recourse to a Remedy which occasion'd another apud Vo-Deluge of Blood. They implored the assistance of Theodosius, which kindled a long et disp War between the Romans and Persians A Tis true, that the latter were worsted But 3 p 3 10 was there any certainty that they should not overcome the Romans, and that being shush d & Socrates with Vidory instead of Persecuting only the Christians in Persia, they would not ever-12 c 18 with Victory, instead of Persecuting only the Christians in Persua, they would not exer-17 c 18 cise a general Persecution in all the other Churches? Thus we see what Mischiess the Hist Feel inconsiderate Zeal of a private Man may occasion. The Fury of the Persecutors could for inconsiderate Zeal of a private Man may occasion. The Fury of the Persecutors could for inconsiderate that season of the Persecutors of the Persecutors of the Rage and Violence of the Perseans, can't be excused. The Commonwealth of Learn-Remark the Rage and Violence of the Persians, can't be excused.

ing (C)

(R) To the King] 'Twas Isdegerdes, if we rely upon (f) Theodoret, but according to (g) Socrates, the Persecution began only under Vararants, Son and Successor of Isdegerdes Baronius (h) dares not determine which of the Two is in the Right (S) To the Mercy of his Prics] So I call the Magi, who amongst other things took care of Religion It was their business to prevent all manner of Indonestion in Religious Matters. Theodoret (1) com-

gion It was their business to prevent all manner or Innovation in Religious Matters Theodoret (1) compares them to a Whirlwind, which raises the Waves of the Sea, such was their Function in the Storm that tossed so Vears Socrates (k) tells us, that they made use of several Impostures to put a stop to the Progress of the Chiftian Religion, when they saw that the Love Isdegerdes had conceived for the Holy Bishop Maruthas. gave them Reason to fear, that he that the Love Is segretes had conceived for the riory that the Love Is segretes had conceived for the riory that he would for save them Reason to fear, the save the save them Reason to fear, the save them Reason to fear, the save the Triginta jam elapfis annis permansit nihilominus temThat Religion is a meer Human Invention, et up by the Sovereigns to keep their Subjects within the hounds of Obedience, how could it be denied, that bounds of Obedience, how could it be denied, that Princes are the first who have been taken in their quibufdam ventis ac turbinibus fuscitata

Theed

who fire the first who have been taken in their own Snares? For Religion is so far from making them Masters of their Subjects, that on the contrary it submits them to their Subjects, inasmuch as they are obliged to profess the Religion of their People, such that which seems to them to be the best from the of their Subjects, they run the ferent from that of their Subjects, they run the hazard of losing their Crown We see how the Perfan Magi threaten'd their King, though he had only carefs'd one Bishop It has been said, that the last (1) King of Siam was pull'd down from the Throne, for having too much sevent'd the Christian Mission for having too much favour'd the Christian Missionaries The same Socrates, who mentions the Arti-(l) I wrote fices made use of by the Magi, to pur a stop to the Propagation of the Gospel, tells us likewise, That after the Death of Islagardes, they inspired his Son with such a Spirit of Persecution, that a horrid Cruelty was exercised against the Christians They had endeavoured, but in vain, to inspire his Father had endeavoured, but in vain, to inspire his father with the same Spirit, for he was like to embrace the Gospel Secrates says so He is to blame for not owning sincerely, that the rash Action of Bishop Abdas afforded the Magi a very plausible Pretence Compara with this the Remark B of the Article of Junius (Francis) Professor at Leyden

(T) A Man who by his Rashness] All the Church Historians are not guilty of the Unsincerity for Which I blame Secrates, for Theoderes (m) does ingenuously confess, That the Bishop, who puil'd down a Temple, occasion a the dreadful Persecution of the

Christians in Persa He does not deny but that the Zeal of that Bishop was unseasonable, but he maintains, that his refusal of Re-building such a Temple is worthy of Admiration, and deserves a Crown For methinks, says he, 'tis as great an Implety to build a Temple to the Fire, as 'tis to Worship it Nicephorus (n) does but transcribe Theodoret As for (n)Lib 14 me, I am of Opinion, That no private Men, where 19 I ther they be Metropolitans or Patriarchs, can at any find apud time be dispensed from this Law of Nitural Religious Saldenum on The Damage that has been done to one's Neighbour Otia the eught to he made up by Restitution, or some other may of p 639 Now Abdas a meer private Man, and a Subject of that Sociathe Persian King, had destroyed a thing that did hete, vocationg to others, and it thing io much the more privale exerting leged here it did belong to the revenues. But the property of leged, because it did belong to the prevailing Relicion non gion, he was therefore indispensably obliged to opportuously the Orders of his Sovereign, by restoring what nam, vi at he had destroyed. And it was no good excuse to say, mast done by That the Temple which he was ordered to Rebuild, the Bishop was design d for the use of Idolaters, for he was not the quotes to put it to that use, and he could not be answerable. His Triffer the abuse of chose whom is did belong to Woods. for the abule of those whom it did belong to Would part 1 1, it be a good Reason to keep a Purie stoll in from ano c 30 but ther, to say that the Man from whom it was taken, it seem in spends his Money extravagantly. Lethim do to, you that that are not answerable to God for the ill use he ll make Chapto is of his Money Let him enjoy what is his own, takin from what Right have you to it? Belides, could there be Theedor any Comparison between the Destruction of a Tem-Voctius any Comparison between the Destruction of a Temple, without which, the Persians would have remained as great Idolaters as they were before, and the Theol to Destruction of many Christian Churches? Abdas 3 P. 10 should have therefore prevented this last Evil by the quartes I unfirst, since the Prince put it to his Choice Lastly, shous nho can any thing render the Christian Religion more could not Odious to all the Nations of the World, than to see, speak of it that after the Christians have infinuated themselves, as desiring only the Liberty of teaching their Doas desiring only the Liberty of teaching their Do-trine, they are so bold as to destroy the Temples Confecrated to the Religion of the Countrey, and to resuse to Rebuild 'em when the Sovereign commands it? Is it not to give occasion to the Infidels to mands it? Is it not to give occasion to the infidels to fay, These Mendesire at first a meer Toleration, but in a little time, they'll pretend to share with us all Friployments and Places of Trust, and then become our Missers. At first, they think themselves very happy if they are not Burnt, afterwards very unhappy, if they have f wer Privileges than others, and then again very unhappy if they are not the only prevailing Party During a certain time (o) Lucan they are like Casar, who would have no Master, and then lib 1 v they are like Pompey, who would have no Partner? 125 Vide Nec (o) quenquam jam ferre potest Casarve priorem, etiams loPompejusive parem

The Parsecurors of the French Propositional delights. Pompsissive parem

The Persecutors of the French Protestants did mali- c 2 ciously inspire Charles IX with such a Thought (p) DaviTis said, that that Prince made use of these Words la, 1 4 p speaking to the Admiral de Coligni, (p) Per immans m 158 ad vi contentavate d'un pace de licenza, pera la volete del ann 1566 pari,

(f) Theo dor Hift Eccl 1 5 cap 39 (g) Socrat Fint Eccl lib 7 cap (h) Baron ad ann

420 (1) Teidxovia Atληλυθότων ξτών η ζα-An Mame-มทหม , เฮอ ชนับ Magis tanguam Suprap m 245 (k) Socr lib 7 cap 8 athis in

1693

(m) Ubi fupfa.

Imgua

tım dıpræstan

oportere

Cicero de

Offic 1 3

CH : Name

was Mu-

avidum

Spritum, quim fi

Lib, un

ภนผ

« Cum ex ing may enter an Action against 'em, as 'tis practifed against those Sollers onedal → duodecim what they ought to acquaint the Buyers with; and it were to be wished, tabulis fathat the Pubtabulis 1a-tis effet ea lick wou'd be more severe against those Historians who suppress some things It is so common a Fault amongst those Gentlemen, that it would be high time to prevent it for qua effent the time to come, if it were possible

ABDERAME, Governor of Spain, for Iscam Caliph of the Saracens, in the VIII nuncupate, que Century, endeavour'd to extend their Domination into France, after they had Conquerta, que qui infici- ed all Spain They might have (U) been contented with the Countries that had already sub-atuses dued, but it was very natural for them not to stop in so fine a way we had a paratusely dued, but it was very natural for them not to stop in so fine a way we had a paratusely duely see a state of the party. It would doubtless opear dupli porticular History of Abderame, written by a Man of his Party, it would doubtless ppear, nam subthat he was very well qualified to satisfy the excessive Ambition of his Master, that nam subiret, à Juthat he was very well qualified to satisfy the excessive Ambition of his Master ret, à Juthat he was one of the greatest Captains in the World
I know that some Christian Writers tis etiam speak well of him And indeed 'tis no small Elogy to have penetrated, as he did, into reticentia the very Heart of France But after all, there is nothing like a Writer of one's own poena est Party Abderame did quickly remove the Obstacle which Eudes, Duke of Aquitain, had constituted Quidquid raised against him, seeing he reduced in a little time the & Governor of Cerdagne from esset had taken up Arms at the Solicitation of that Duke, to the necessity of Aling himself in production. He used (W) his Widow very civilly, who was Daughter of Duke E and a most vitindstatuerunt, if Beautiful Woman Associated that Insurrection, he appear himself with vendstor all imaginable Care to Warlike Preparations, in order to invade France; and y the Year fourt and solicitation into the Countries which are of the research. ferret, mil following, made an Irruption into that Countrey with one of the greatest Armies that had been seen for a long time. It spread far and wide, and fill'd every place with Desolation and Horror. The Memory whereof is not yet lost, no not amongst the common People in the Countries that were so cruelly ravaged. This not known whether étumesset. the Gascons (X), whose Duke was a Friend to the Duke of Aquitain, made any Resistance, or whether they submitted to the Saracens We only know, that Abderame having advanced as far as Bourdeaux, took that City, and burnt all the Churches After which, he won a (T) bloody Battel from Eudes, (Z) a little beyond I the Dordosgne. He cross d mile (sio Poitou, he plunder'd the Chuich of St Hilary at Poitiers, and went on in his way to tius, De Tours, in order to plunder the Treasure of St Martin's Church It was then, that Charles I the bells. June belli, Mariel, seconded by the Duke of Aquitain, stop'd the Course of that Torrent 1 - 68 11 7 8 Pu- great Aimy of Abderame, the Number of the Towns he plundered, and of the Churches findof de he buint in his way through Persgord and Saintonge made his March so slow, that Eudes had the time to raise again a considerable Army before he joyned Charles Martel After pari, fra poco vorrete effer soli, & cacciar noi altri fuori del regno. Such are the unavoidable Inconveniences which they expoie themicives to, who maintain so waimly. I hat the Power of the Secular Arm ought to be made use of for the Fstablishment of Orthodoxy. Such were the Principles of Abdar. For what would be not have done with force of Arms against the Idolaters under a Christian Emperor, since under a Heaven Principles of Abdar. under a Heathen Pinice who Tolerated the Christian Religion, he pull d down a Temple for which the Heathens had a very particular Veneration?

(U) Have been contented Perhaps the World has never feen such a long train of Victories and large Conquests, ten heat a more days the History of the Sargetts. The is what we read in the History of the Saraceus The Ide which a (q) Roman Poet formed of a vast Domi-Ide which a (q) Roman Poet formed of a vast Domination, takes in but part of their Empire Reason would have them to stop, and not to stop. This scenario be contradictory, and yet its very true. If they had stop, they might have been praised for it upon several Accounts, but they had been blam'd likewise for several Reasons. They had been charged with Weakness and Imprudence. It had been study. That they neither durst nor knew how to improve the Occasions which Providence put into their hands, and that a little more Boldness and Courage. hands, and that a little more Boldneis and Courage would have enabled them to Conquer the whole World They who do great Actions, are never fecure from such malicious Resections. If it can't be desired that have done asset things it will be denied that they have done great things, it will be full however, that it is a fmall Matter, if compared to what another would have done in the like (ale I he Heathens would have call dait a Cenfure of Fortune, about the ill Choice of those to whom the prefer that Opportunities

(W) He used his Widow, &c] I shall say in anothat the Daughter of Ender, Married their place (r), that the Daughter of Ender, Married to that Governor of Gerdagne, was the most Beautiful Princes in her time, and that being brought to Abd rame, he sent her to the Caliph A thing which a Saraca Historian would not slightly touch upon, as our Christian Westersdo. He would extel a shore () Sie the our Christian Writersdo He would extol it above Remark ill that his been faid by the Greeks to the Glory of (() of the Alexander and by the Remans to the Glory of Scipio Artic Ma-Alexander () behaved himself like a Chasse Man towilds Davius's Wife and Daughters, who were his Priloners Sc pio (t) contain dhimfelf, having a very beautiful Virgin in his Power, and fent her back to a Man of Quality, to whom she was Contrasted A Panegyrical Writer might find in the Circumstances of Abderame's Conduct iome Reasons to give him the Preference. He might have kept for himself the Widow of a Rebellious Prince. She was an extraordinary Beauty, and yet he left her untouch d (X) Whether the Galcons ____ made any refift.

(X) Whether the Galcons ___ made any resistance]
The most exact (n) Historians observe, I hat Abderame (u) Mezeentered into France, through the Countrey that lies rai, Cordeberwixt the Garonne and the Ocean, and they fay, mor that Countrey was at that time under the Domination of the Duke of the Colons, and not under the Duke of Agustain

The property was at that time under the Domination of the Duke of Agustain

The property is the General of the Saracens undertook, between went into Agustain, and before he made himself Master of Language, and before he made himself Master of Language, and before he made himself Master of Language, and agustain the second of the content of the second of perplexed and confounded, because it is cert in the the Saracens were Masters of Languedoc, before Abde Sarracens went over the Pyrenees The way he took will a p m ferve me hereafter to justify the Duke of Aguitain

The Account of Augustin Curio (w) is still more constill, 112

fused He lays, That Abderame enter'd into France before the Death of Munuza, that he won a Battel (x) Isidothere against Eudes, that being return d thirther after rus Pacenthe Death of Munuza, he crois'd the Rhone, and made cis Chron a horrid Slaughter at Arles, and after unds Besieged (y) Meze-Toulouse without taking it, and then Bourdiaux with rai, Chroa very good Success, and at last, that he Plundered nol Aand Burnt St Martin's Church at Tours bridg-

and Burnt St Martin's Church at Tours

(T) A bloody Battel] The loss of the Christians ment t I was so great, if we may believe Isidorus, Bishop of P 199487

(x) Badajox, that God only knows the Number of (x) Contains the French that were Slain According to Mezerai moi, His.

(y) Duke Eudes Fought with all imaginable Bravery, of I rance, but at last he was forced to yield with such a loss of his Men P 404

(a) Eudes as is not to be expressed

(a) Eudes

(Z) Alittle beyond the Dordogne] I don't apprehend what Cordemos (z) means, when he is a preif Eudes had waited for the coming of the confidence of of the Saintonge and Poston; Decause in fuch a case he had

(+) In t' Artic Mu nuzi

cedonia (r) Val Maxim 14c3

they had joined, they went a beyond Tours to meet Abderame The two Armics leing a With in light of one another, spent near seven Days in skirmishing, but at last, on the seventh respect to Day, which happen'd to be a Saturday of the Month of October, in the Year (A) ~32 Pairs the Battel was fought with a very great Loss for the Saracens Yet we must not believe g s that the Number of the Dead (B) was so great as some Hyperbolical Historians have re-Cordemon ported it to be. Abderame was kill'd upon the Field of Battel, the broken Remains of Hill of his Army (C) retired more easily than they could have expected β . The Duke of $A = \frac{1 \text{ tance}}{t - 1 - p \cdot r}$ quitain, who has been falsly charg'd (D) with being the Cause of that Irruption, did $\frac{1}{4}$, and (I) ningh- leq not loft the Battel which he loft, and having all his Troops, he might have kept the Enemy in awe, by the favour of some advantageous Posts which he would have chosen Thus preserving his Troops till the arrival of Charles, the entire defeat of the Saracens would have been more probable, in whatever Prograce they had been more probable, in whatever Prograce they had been met with It were perhaps a difficult thing to determine, whether the eagerness which hindred Eudes from shunning the Battel, be more to blame, than the grave and slow March of Charles towards the Loire Those two Men plaid a cunning part Eudes was desirous to beat the Enemy without the help of Charles Martel, and the latter was need followed to be a few same and waste by the same not displeased to see Aquitain laid waste by the Saracens, and the Troops of Eudes worsted By this means he got himself rid of the Obstacles which he feared from thence, to his great Design of making himself King, and the Glory of being the Deliverer himself king, and the Glory of being the Deliverer of France was to be greater, if his Rival had but a small share in 10 Glorious an Undertaking Some Spanish Writers say (c), Thit Eudes was betten between the Garonne and the Dordogne Mexerai made use of better Memoirs, when he said (d), That Eudes durst now stay for the Saracens beyond the Rivers, but retired on this side the Dordogne, and being there reconciled to Martel, he assembled his Troops, expecting that he should come and join him with the French Troops, have Abdersame hade his Maglures, and marching some but Abderame broke his Measures, and marching forwards, crofs d the River to attack him in his Camp Duke flaid for him without firring, and fought with grea, Comage This shews that his Impatience is not so much to blame as the Patience of Charles Mar-

(A) In the Year 732] Is it not very strange that such a Victory as this should not be sice from Chronological Variations? Catel places it in the Year 725 pag 529 of his Memoirs (e), but in pig 531 (no very great Interval) he places it in the Year 728 The Year following, says he, which was the Year 82001 Hundred Twenty Eight, I ado Duke of Aquitin sted Calvissius quoting the Annels of Fulde, places it in the Year 726 Petavius (f) places it in the Year 726 Petavius (f) places it in the Year 726 or 726 but of late they are for the Year 725. or 726 but of late they are for the Year 7, Fr ther Labbe, M zerar, Cardenos, Gr. flick to that, with the Annals of Meers and the most Ancient Chris-

(B) The Number of the Dial was so great] Tis commonly computed to 370, or ,75 Thousands, ind that of the French to Lifteen Hundred This is the Computation of (g) Anastasius Bibliothecarius, Piulus Dioconus, and several other Historians But it is no Discours, and several other Historians. But it is no longer credited. Mixerai says, That the whole Aimy of the Saraz ns wis only mide up of Hourscore of One Hundred Thousand Men. We must remember that they fought till Night (b) without giving ground, and that they were not pursued the next Diy, when it was known that they had marched all Night. But it were almost impossible to make such a prodigious Slaughter of Men who stand their Ground. A Slaughter of so many Thousands of Soldiers can the made but in the pursuit of an Army that runs away, when no Quarter is given. Since that runs away, when no Quarter is given Since therefore the Night parted the two Armies, what we read in du Haillan must needs be a meer Roman-tick Story, viz. That King Abderame, and almost all his chief Officers were found among the great Heaps of Dead Bodies, only stifled by the Crowd that fell back upon them If there had been at that time some Weekly News-Writers, it had been more safe to judge of the Number of the Sarazens by the Gazettes published before the Battel, than by the Relations of that Battel During the March of those Barbarians, the News-Writers authorized, or even paid by the Publick, would have represented their Army as inconsiderable, and weaken'd it every Day upon the account derable, and weaken'd it every Day upon the account of Defertion and Sicknesses But after the Victory they would have bethought themselves, they would have known from very good Hands that it was an innumerable Army One might be therefore impos'd upon by the first and last Gazetten but if I was to chuse, I should rather trust the first than the

(C) Retired more easily it an they could have expected]
To rectifie the Popular Notions of that great Victory, it is requisite to consider what the most Acutate Historians have fail of it "(i) I he Sarazens threw (i) Coi "their Daits to no purpose, the Shields of the French demoi, "Soldiers, set one over mother secured them, and P 466 "when the Sarazens came Sword in Hand, all their "Levers hearing not able to shale so gives and so "Lifforts being not able to shale so great and so "close a Body, did but serve to break them Graff, "who knew how to take his Advantage, cuited them to be charged A prodigious number of 'em were killed by the Denel, who continued to fight very Abderanc himself was killed upon the spot, but the Night coming on, put in end to the Light, before Charles was sensible of all his Advantages He would not follow the Remains of the ST a cure Army, to avoid the Ambuscades that are the tys to be feared, when the Enemy is very numerous Nix he caused his Troops to retire in good order and with their Swords in their Hands into the Cimp, where they study all Nigh, and at break of Day he drew them up again a order of Buttle in light of the Enemies Cimp. There were so many Pivilistons in it, that though the field wherein the Buttle was sought the Day before, was covered all over the the Day before the Day bef "was fought the Day before, was covered all over with the Dead Bodie of the San 27, C/r leichad "fome Reason to believe that they had still a great "number of Soldiers under their Teats and he "thought they were ready to come out, but at list "after a long stay the I neb perceived that the Vira ers had abandoned their Camp, and some Spics "reported that they had marched all Night towards "Septimania". This is what moved M cerait to say, That (k) Charles did not very well indicate the great A - (k) Meroantage belad. I am willing to believe that he was zeria, like so many (1) others a fitter Man to get a Visto 3, p. 192 like to many (1) others a fitter Man to get a Visto y, P 193 than to improve it. But perhaps he thought fit to let the Stracers retire quierly, that they might be the (l) 5 the mere alle to fall upon the Duke of Apartin, whom Rem A he looked upon as idancerous I nemy. At what pain wishe not, he wild his Son I proto fubdue that I is mily It was the lift that fubmited to this U1 feet at dearers his Six reflects agreement from No. cels of Abderame, his Su celfors returned fome Ye rafter into Prance and did a great deal of Mil-

(D) Who has been fifty chireed There was never a more unlikely Accusition than this is first I. des (m) had married his Daughter to the Governor (, of Cerdagne to engage him thereby in a Civil Wai whereby the Sarazens Irruption into France might le prevented His Son in-Law perished in that I nter prize, and his Daughter falling into the Hands of Abderame had been fent to the Caliph of the area zens Secondly It does not appear that Lad a mide any step to inclinate the Lutrance of the Saraz m, he give them no Passigethrough his Territories, they e tred into Gaul through the Country of the Dot Galco. and so advanced as far as Bourdeaux Belides, it does not appear that the Survey had any regard for the Territories of the Duke of Aquitain, they treated him like an Enemy from the beginning to the end for far were they from reftoring any thing to him of the state of the survey from the sur what they had taken from him in the precedent Ix peditions, as they would certainly have done if there had been a Negotiation with them about Abderanic's Irruption Laftly, Was there any necessity that any one should solicite Abderanic to come into Danic? Had not the Saracens entred into France already Had they not already taken Narbonne, (arcassonne, and extended their Conquests as far as the Rhone? Aldirended their Conquests as far as the Room? Aldirame's Expedition was but a continuation of what his Predecessors had so well began, he was willing to carry on their Conquests (n) over the Pyrenees, and (n) Wift to give a new Lustre to his Undertaking, he would r (n) to not go the same way others had done. He went over Spain the Pyrenees through the County of Biscay, which was a ready way to make new Conquests, whereas if he had gone through the Rouffillen, he must enter in-

(c) Apud Catel Hift of Languedoc p 526, 529

(d) Mezerai ubi *fupra

(e) For · the History of Langued oc

> (f) Petav Ration temp part 1

(g) He took it from the written by Eudes to Pope Gregory, II Jee below the Rem K

following
Rem

a Herod 1 7 cap 109, 126

(E) mightily contribute to that Victory. It is a surprizing Thing the Victory should not have been well described by the Writers of that Till Victory should not have been well tell us so many Pasticulars about it. and (F) yet that the Modern Historians should tell us so many Particulars about it.

A B D E R U S, Hercules's Darling See the Remark D of the following Ar-

& Solin c 10 fee la / 2 6 2

A B D E R A A Sea-Town in Thrace, near a the Mouth of the Nessus. Some tıcle A B D E K A A Sea-10wil in Institute, from fay, That it was $\beta$ built by the Sister (G) of Diomedes, and that it took its Name from her, but that it was rebuilt by the Clazomenians, in the 3 ist. Olympical and that they gave it their Name If we believe Herodotus, they only laid the strong of the conduct $\gamma$ of Timesius They were expelled (H), their Dongs was provided, ted, and, properly speaking, the Tesans only built Abdera, when being upon the filling into the Hands of Harpagus, Cyrus's Lieutenant, they choice rather to bandon their Country, than to live under the Dominion of the Barbarians They all took Shipping, and went a to finish what had been only begun by Timesius Which occasion'd a Proverb not (1) very well understood by Erasmus I say nothing of the

11 c 168 & Strab 1 14 P

& Herod

y See bu

Article

m 443 to a Province already conquered As for those many Annalists who cast such a Blemish on the Duke of Aquitain, their Testimony cannot counterbalance the Reasons that may be alledged for his Justification, for they are a fort of Men who do but transcribe one another, and the first had what they said from a Tradition, which owed its Original to the Artifices of the Cabal that fivoured Charles Martel That Cabal of the Cabil that theored Charles Martel. That Cabal had several Reasons to charge the contrary Party with keeping Intelligence with the Enemies of the Church and State. We do not find that Isidorus of Badajos, Schissian of Salamanca, Roderic of Toledo, and such like Spanish Writers, free from the Impressions of that Cabil, have accused Ender of hiving called over the Salazani into France. Now see what cilled over the Sarazine into France Now fee what it is to be born a Happy Man. I don't believe that Charles Mutel call dover those Insidels, and yet he I don't believe that should have been suspected of it rather than Eudes, feeing End was the first that was to be oppress, and Charl anight think that whilst the Saracens should deliver him from so Dreadful an Lnemy, he would have time enough to get his Army ready to fight em, and that a Victory would very much shorten his way to the I hione. I here are good holds for the Malicious Interpreters of the Conduct of Great Men, and yet Charles his not been suspected of keeping Intelligence with Abderame

(1) D d m git h contribute to that Victory | There with Charle Mital upon that Day, but others do express mous (a) De nde post decem anno, came o ilurd partul roumint , he is speaking of the sar zens, Agui aniam Gall æ provinciam quisti I ibiti uri in ressi I int, Carelus signid m cum I clone Aquitan e Princ pe ene discordiam i chat, qui tin en in unum | conqui-gentes contra cosdem \tauccinos pare constito dimicarum, nam criuentes Iran i sepercor recentas prungenta quinque m llia Sarracenorum intremenunt, el Ir meorum vero prite mille & qu'ngenti trutum ili ceciderunt, Lu lo quoquecum fuir luper cos irruens pare mo lo mul or neerficiens omnia devasta vit Regino does likewites mention the Reconciliation of Charles and Eudes He figs it was made before the Battel, and that afterwards they attacked the Saracens in concert Sigibers does to divide the Glory of that Dry between those two Chiefs, that he seems to illow Eudes no other Advantige than that of hiving forced their Camp, and destroyed the Remains of their Army Eudo quoque reconciliatus castra Saracenorum irrupit, & reliquias eorum contrit t Rodorick Archbishop of Toledo will afford us a good Proof, for he tays (p), that the grenteft Forces of Charles Martel confifted of Germans, Gotle, and Irench, who were left to Eudes after the Victory which the Saracens obtained near the Dordogne We must no torget the Letter written by Euder to Pope Gregory II wherein he gave him an Account of Maitanus Scotus, and Otho Frisingensis the Battel mention that Letter Anaft rfus Bibliothecar.us (q) does likewife mention it, and tis strange that he should afcribe all the Glory of thit Day to the Duke of Aquitain, without speaking one World of Charles Mnicl As for the Number of the Dead, 700 I houtand on the fide of the Saracens, and 1500 on the side of the French, his Authority is that Letter of Euder out of which he mentions a Particularity in immediate the Battel Letter of the Battel Eudes caused three Holy Spunges sent him by the Pope, out of the that served for the use of the Table, to be cut very smill, and made his Soldiers eat them Which proved to lucky to them, that none of those who eat of am was killed or wounded. That you may understand that use of the property all to mind these Words of Martial, (r) Her water datur tergendes (r) Wart Spongea mensis, Utilis

Important 2

(F) And yet that the Modern Historians] I shall set down the Judicious Resection of the Historian who has been my chief Guide in this Article That Day, fays he (f), can never be too much taken notice of, and the Ancient Arnalists can never be Sufficiently blamed for moi, pag the Ancient Arnalists can never be sufficiently blamed for MO1, pag omitting all the Circumstances of so memorable an Astron 506 But on the other side, they, who lave some love for Truth, can hardly excuse some Modern (t) Authors, though they (t) He are Men of great Meris, to being so particular in the quotes in Description of the Battel Interspeak of it as if they had the Margen been present in all the Councils, and had seen all the Motions Pulling of hack discuss Thou describes and had seen all the Motions Pulling of both Armies They describe not only the Arms of the Au trench and Saraceus, but also the manner how Charles and and Abderame drew up their Troops They set down long C Harangues full of Things neither true nor proper They mention Abderame s Stratagems, the Desterity wherewe he Charles hindred them from taking effect, and they conclude with the description of the different Postures of the Dead Bodies that were found in the Field of Battel, with-out for etting the Groans of those that were dying, and the Praises which Chailes and Ludes bestowed upon one ane-(G) The Sifter of Diomedes] No Reader can beheve what Moreri lays, without being periwaded that Abdora, built by the Icians, took the Name of Diomider, who reigned in it, and that Hirodotse gives us this Account of the Mitter But this is only a heap of I illities for iff What concerns Diomedes is a (" Sale of I illitics I or iff What concerns Diomicles is a (" Sal I act of the Poetical Limes, but the abandoning of mai LxI of by its Inhibitants, and their Retreat into Ihrace, ereit where they built Abdera, is a I set of the Hilborical Plin.

I ime, which tails resent the 59th Olympiad Tis P 160 therefore a firange over the 1 south those two things in such a manner as to the 1 abulous Time attention of I tuth I have a mind to follow Ablow Hilborius s Account of the building of Ablore Verby the I ians, leave off speaking of Diomedis, who if ever there was my such Man had been dead many shows ages before Oi if you design to speak of that An-Dorice cient King of Thrace, give us notice that via air reproximation and Opinion different from that which concerns the Teians 2 When Hero losses mentions the build- (x) See the Terans 2 When Hero lotus mentions the build- (x) See ing of that Town, he does not speak one word of Mr de Diomedis Lastly, It is not true that Abdera went by Spanheim the Name of Diomedes Movers should have faid, that Epist ad according to Solinus, the Sister of Diomedes built it, Laurent and gave it her Name From whence Salmasius (u) Begerum was in the right to infer, that Diomedes & Sister's Name was Abdera I here is a Medal in Goltzius, which ())Heiod represents the Head of a Woman with this Legend lib r (w) ABAHPAS KOPAS The most (x) I earned c 168 Antiquaties understand it of Diomedes's Sister, who tounded Abdera (H) They were expelled Herodotus (y) fays fo in anigmat express Words, we despite the special of the next Remark a all light-Mistake of Pinido about this Subject In all appeir- heamis ance the Printers only are the cause of this other non deel-Mistake, Il racibus ejectis, which is to be found in the se quo Learned Letter of the Baion de to confugir. Mr Beger They have put in ejectis and of mus, is Mr Beger quis præ(I A Proverb not very well underflood by Erasmus] ter moHere's the Proverb, "Abdrea rand Triw a toirix, dum perAbdera the fine Colony of the Teians which signifies, gat esse according to (2) Erasmus, If you wax me, I know vary molessus well whither I shall retire Pinede, a Portugueze, who Erasm was forced to leave his Country, to avoid Chil a the Pursuits of the Inquisition, understands this Cent 4 (a, Pro- m 53

Hiftor I ongob a, ud Citcl ubi tupi i

P 5,0

(Rodene HiflorArabum apud Citcl 16 p 529

(9) Apud itel Memoir de l Hist du Linguedoc P 5,1

exflitere

mion of who ascribe (K) the Foundation of that Town to Herpiles I rather Plining tion some things very singular, which have been transmitted to us concern-1 25 c 8 chuse to m The Pastures about that Town were so strong, that they a made Houses list c mad There was such a multitude of Frogs and Rats there B in the Time of Call ndo, y likelical there was fuch a multitude of Frogs and Rats there B in the Time of Call ndo, y likelical there was fuch a multitude of Academic into another Place of Aca King of Macedonia, that the Inhabitants were forced (L) to retire into another Place But they (M) returned soon after, or the Town was taken up by other Inhabitants (1, 2) and The Abderstance have been very much (N) cry ed down for their want of Wit and Judy- 100 renew ment, and yet the Town has produced many Great Men, such as Protageras, Dement analyce tus, Anararchy Historian Hecataeus, y the Poet Nicanetus, and several others who colfus were mantioned in the Catalogues of Illustrious Men Nothing can be more stronge Plurimi nutem thin Abderite

(s) Quo fignificaecurnon liæ inferantur. ut fecere eu, fed mper telliciter expertus loquor Stenhan de Urbib Epist

(e) Pag

(d) Salmil Ix-

Salmasi-

de

ollo-

(he Says

dorus

nedo and Ber-

7 220

begun to build Abdees, his Complaints would be very ill grounded I to Erafmus I shall not so much find fault for for his Explication of that Proverb, as for what he adds, That perhaps Cicero alluded to it in his Epistles to Acticus, he quotes two (b) Passages out of 'em, in which 'tis plain Cicero forces of thems or but to repuesent it as a Place where fpeaks of Abdera, only to represent it as a Place where things were managed foolishly, and without any Sense But if Erasmus, who made use of a perhaps, is notwithstanding lindle to Censure, what shall we say folet eve- of Moreri's Politive Affertion, without doubt Cicero nire, & alludes? What shall we say of it, when we come to dostus & know to what he refers that Allusion! He does not refer it to the Fact about which Erajmus gave a quels, it would be a flighter Fault, but to a certain Lustre which it is certain the Clazomenians heing expell if from Afia, gave to the City of Abdera, which mad it so famous, and occasioned the Greek Proverb, IINLABDERA I repeat it again, "Tis plain that Cicco mentions Abdera only to ridicule the Covernment of that Place 'Tis therefore a great I ault to tay , That without doubt he alludes to the Luftre, the Glory and Beauty of that Town But besides, it is not true that the Clarame-mans were the cruse of that pretended great Lustie, which occasion d the Proverb I own that according to Solinus, they rebuilt Aldera, and made it larger than it was before, but this is all that we read of em And if we confult Herodotus, we shall find that the Ibracians did not give 'em the time to build it ter all, is it not ceitain that Strato does expresly apply the Proverb to the Te m who for fear of being exposed to the Intolence of the Polium, tetried to Aldera? Is not the Name of the Icians comprehended in the Proverb . Befides I would have Moros to tell us mid 1xercit Plin
p 160
where he has tound, hit when the Christment come to build that Fown in Ilman, buy hid been expelled from Alia Herodotus and don't iperk one (c) Apollodor
Bibl 1

The Proverb rather to the did vantage than to the ge of Aldera Erafmus himself did not reject plication of I ad anus, though not very glorious that City Explication of I ad anus, though not very glorious (f) to that City Existence convenie prover um ubi quis ACO ours fortunam tenuem, sedeum liberate conjunctam, antepon t THUIN'He'- amplis opibus, fed obnovies fervituti Cujus scutintia une 11 - non refragor, nam damnatus est Abderit num an & wies epa- icim pascua See Isaac Vossius upon (c) Pomponius

Mela (K) Who ascribe the Foundation of that Town to Herus has cules Salmafus proves only (d) by the Testimony rightly sh- of Izetzes, that the Foundation of Abdera was ascribed foru d, that to Hervulis He might have alledged a better Auinstead of thority, for Apollodorus (e) tells us, That Hercules haAbelveirs ving stollen the Mares of Diomedes, had notice given is should be him, that the Bistones had taken up Arms, that thereAbelveir, upon he gave those Mares to the keeping of a Young Man called Abderus, whom he loved, and marched against the Bissones, that he killed part of 'em, and put the rest to sight, that he killed likewise Diomedes, but that at his return he found the Mares had torn Abderus in pieces, that he built a Town near the Apolloni- Sepulchre of that Young Man, and gave those Mares us) gave to Eurystheus to hanus By Lantinus says only, That to Hercu- the Town of the Was so called from (f) Abderus, les's Dar- Hercules's WHe does not say whether it was ling Pi-built by Method, or by the Young Darling This nedo kelius say that Passage ought to be thus corrected, but they do not tell us that Salmasius had soid so before them The sist quotes Apollonius, and man not aware that it is a Fault of the Press, or of Memory in Salmasius, instead of Apollodorus. Philostratus might have been quoted. kelius

(a) Proverb in that Sense, but he adds, that such Retreats doc't prove always happy, and that he knows it by Extra Had he had no more Reason to complain, it entire, would determine the thing. The l'xtrass vicorum we have of it do only say, that he Name of the City Indices of Abdera is that of a Man who we eaten up by Docommentary. medis's Hoises Obleive (b) that His nur lecims clear- morant If to fay, That Abderus was one of Diomea. Servants for p'anus and that he was kill'd by Hercu'es Diomedem rem Promise Thraciae & equis quatuo con qui caine rumana v f vin z 1863 at tur cum Abdero famulo interfects. When europe Solmaficus for that we must not expect to find a great United the August Fibles. Here we she right (1) formity in the Ancient Fables. He is in the right () Apud on't, the Writers of the I ibulous I imes are full of Silmin Contradictions But perhaps it might be find that ub ful 14 Hig nus's Meaning is, that Hercules (conded by Abde- (1) H killed that Cruel King of The ree, who ted his Lin Tib rus, killed that (ruel King of There, who red his Lin I ib Horfes with Min's I less I venere (i) hid already, observed, that H₁ nus and Pr lostra is contridictione (i) Vige-nother. He might all have find that the latter he c, An does very much differ from Aporloson i for (i) he notate on five, that Diomedis gave up I derus to hi Mires, it sepulated that Horesles coming to rescue his I womite is Absoluted him half devoured and that to pun she Done a rus in the his world have to be a tree in his his (i) Marco Physica and and that the pun she has to be a tree in his his (i) Marco Physica and and and that the pun she has to be a tree in his his (ii) Marco Physica and and a she has to be a tree in his his (ii) Marco Physica and a she has to be a tree in his his (ii) Marco Physica and a she has to be a tree in his his (ii) Marco Physica and a she has to be a tree in his his (ii) Marco Physica and a she has to be a tree in his his (iii) his distribution of the history and his history and his history and his his history and his history and his history and history des, he caused him to be extensip by his (i) Marcs Philost a Philost at does not say, as Apollodorus, that Hercular tus built a Fown near the Sepulchie of his Friend, but (k) Phion the other ide, Apollogorus does not fry, is Prolo- Listrat in firatio, that Hercul i appointed some Crimes or I ker- Icon cises to honour the Memory of Abderus. I believe (1) Vigethere i but one (m) Author who find that Pring-nere (a) is clus was Abderus. Brother Some pretend to prove filly, but (n) by the Medils that the Alderitance were more I trum m willing to asserbe the Name of their Fown to those bis D for the Prince of the property. willing to ascribe the Name of their rown to Hercules Dur-cour | 1- 07 met 1/2

(I) To ret reinto another Place | suff n frys, I hat Gentile Coffanto to rmo left they should invide Mucdoner, fars that mide a Treaty with them and placed them on the Hercules Liontiers () mile sten (o) he been hight it found Ab How could a Prince who left ill Go comawe be deturated afried that the Inhabitant of one file I own, who est a fled from Frogs and Pars thould invide a whole (m) Pro Country against his Will Maner, who its likely nealem He ver knew that fuff n was critical d upon that account placed a has done all that was require to fice him from tuch pa i Phoa Centure, for he declares, Tha Coffinder is a red trum wery kindly the Abdentanes in Ma edonic They who pig 48 shall trust his Dictionary will not the ik of criticizing it Se I that Ancient Historian Moreri adds, that this kind-Spin nels of Caffander appeared in the Tian of the World 3650 heim, Lb. according to luiebius schronology Could any one that lupri reads this, believe that Euf bins has not one Word of (v) See that Action of Castander, and that he does not com- Calareapute the Times according to the Years of the World nus But to come to the main Thing, I is, that according Justin to Justin, the Abdericance were placed by Cassander on Valio the Frontiers of the Country, before he killed the rum of Sons of Alexander But according to (p) Calvilus he Mr (n) made an end of em in the Year of the World 3641 vius's Edi-And therefore Moreri's Chronology is as falle, as Cal-tion p , 33 fander's Kindnels is contrary to the only Historian (p) Moie, that he could follow

(M) They returned soon after, or, &c] What I ucian commonly relates concerning the Distemper of the Abderitan s, follow Cal happened under the Reign of Lysimachus, and conservitus's quently after they were plagued with I rogs for ic-Chronology cording to Justim(q), this last Adventure preceded the (q) Just Time wherein Lysimachus and Cassand a ssiumed the Tie 1 15 c 2 tle of King Towhich ladd, that under the Reign of the last King of Macedonia, the City of Abdera was in a pretty flourishing condition The (r) Prator Lucius Horeigns plundered it, but he was blamed for it by the last their labors.

their Liberty
(N) The Abderitanes have been very much cried down | We have already feen how Giver handles em

m Pom-

Melani (z) Hip-

pocia 13 de morb

(1) Ex ilfecturucundifimo qui ipforum febribus

(1) In the

1 Book De Nitura Deorum

(a) Chil 4 centur 6 n 27

(d) (icero de quad P 16

See also

Hoiman

voce Ab-

acquirit eundo Virgil Æn 14

dera (e) Mo-bilitate Viget virelque a Lucian than the Distemper (0) which raged for some Months in Abdera, in the Time of a LyaQuomodo His machine It was a Fever that went off in Seven Days by a Crisis, but it so disordered the Imagination of those that were sick of it, that it turn'd them into Actors. They were only for reciting some Pieces of a Tragedy, especially of Europide's Andromeda, as if they had been on the Stage. So that the Streets were full of Pale and Lean Actors, who made Tragical Exclamations Which lasted till the next Winter that proconferbenda, mitio Actors, who made I ragical Exclamations Which laited till the next Winter that pro-flus Be-gerus, His (P) gives a very Wrong Account of the Matter. M. & Beger, who published his Book was Conjectures

Berlin, in in his Letters to Atticus He is not more obliging 4to in the in (f) another Book, wherein having mentioned and Opinion which he thinks to be ridiculous, he adds, (f) Cicero de Natur

Deor 1 1

(t) Juven

Opinion which he times to be intended, he adds, he

Deor I i
(1) Juven

Thick Air, and in a Country of Fools (1)

Cujus prudentia monstrat

Summos posse vivos & magna exempla daturos,

Vervicum in patria crassoque sub aere nasci

Martial did not entertain a much better Opinion of the Abderitanes, when he said (u), Si patiens fortisque tibi, durusque videtur,

Abderitana pestora plebu habes

Vigenere (w) is grossy mistaken about this Passage, he thinks those Words are addrest to the Criminal, who represented on the Stage the Astron of Mutius Sievola, by putting his Hand into the Fire, but they are spoken to those who should be such Lools as to take that for an Act of Construcy, since that Criminal did it only to keep himself from being burnt alive

Nam (x) cum dicatur tunica pras nte molesta Uri manum, plus ist dicere, non facio Isaac Vossius who was tometimes tomewhat singular

in his I houghts, made an Apology of a new turn for the Abdericanes He(y) owns that many of 'em were lorn, or became mid, but he pretends 'twas not a fign of Stupidity, fince Madness does not feize fign of Stupidity, fince Madnets does not ferre Blockheads and Stupid Men, but frequently fulls upon the greatest Wits. As to the Passage of Hippocrates (21), who mentions many Abderitanes, whole Fever had been attended with Raving, Vossius pretends 'twas not that which occasion'd the Proverb against that Fown, but rather the sweet Passion which (a) inceceded this I ever. They became extreamly fond of Verses and Musick, and acted the Comedians in the Streets. Such a Madnets as this fave he does fuccedere of Vertes and Munck, and acted the Comedians in the Streets. Such a Madneis as this, fays he, does Lucianus, not fall upon Stupid and Phlegmatick People. Lam Scriptode conferibends.

Historia II Vossius Hart and the Confequences of a level that happened but the Confequences out of Irian is a single Fact once What he quotes out of Irian is a lingle Fret on which such Provent's can the grounded Is fall observe by the by, that Erasmus did not rightly apprehend Givero's (b) Meaning, too it must be inferred from the Words of that Roman, not that the Inhabitants of Abdera were stupid, but that their Wandring Lancies made em tall into Incredible Paradoxes Abderitanis natura peculiarem fuisse mentis suporem indicat M sull in libris de Natura Deorum, ire Erasmus's (c) Words Some very Learned (d) Men quote them as the very Words of Cicco So true it is that the Collections of Men of Letters are somewhat like the Collections of Men of Letters are somewhat like

(c) Fame, they increase as they remove from one Place into another. They who pretend that the Word aldingering, which is proverbilly used in Tatian's Discourse against the Gracians, signifies a

Teller of Idle Stories, don't confirm the Stupidity charged upon the Abderitants. People are not imposed upon by I ools and Blockheads. Not to say that Tatian applies that Word to the Doctrine of Democri tas, who certainly was no Fool

(a) The Diffemper which raged for some Months] I weren, who has described its Symptoms, pretends to have found out the Cause of it Archelaus, lays he, a good Player, had asted Euripides & Andromeda before the Addresses in a very Hot Symptom. Lloyd and a good Player, had acted Euripear's Antonidas before the Abderitanes, in a very Hot Summer, many came out of the Stage with a Fever, and having their Imagination throughly affected with the Tragedy, the Ravings caused by the Fever represented nothing to them but Andremeda, Perseus, Medusa, Ore and so throughly excited in them the Idea's of those Objects, and of the Players above had when they fare the Players and they had a player the Players and the Players and they had a player the and of the Pleasure they had when they saw the Play acted, that they could not forbear reciting and acting in imitation of Archelaus I believe that the sirstwho plaid such a Comical Part in the Streets, when their continued Fever was over, spoiled many others that were on the mending hand. Things were then disposed for the Progress of that Contagion. The Mind is subject to Epidemical Distempers as well as the Body, 'tis but beginning under Favourable Auspices, and when Matters are well prepared. Let an fortibus fact multiple and the progressions of the multiple states and the progressions of the progressions. Herefiarch, or a Fanatick start up at such a same, knowing how to use their Contagious Imaginations, and Vehement Passions, they'll insatuate a whole Country in a little time, or at least a great many People In other Places, or at other Times they could not get three Disciples Call to mind (f) those Virgins of Miletus, who were for some time io weary of the World, that they could not be cured of the Fancy of killing themseves, but by threatning to expose those stark naked to the publick View, that should (h) The make away with rhemselves That very Remedy Common shews that their Passion was only a Distemper of the Muxim of Mind, wherein the Understanding had no share sheep some such Thing was seen (g) at Lyons towards the sophers, end of the XVia Century I he difference there is Sol & hobetween those Distempers, and the Plague, or Smallmogene, is, that the latter are infinitely more frequent I could willingly believe that the Ravage which the Player Achilaus and (b) the Sun made in the Minds of the Abderitanes, is rather a sign of Vivacity than of the intermediate of the Abderitanes, is rather a sign of Weakness, tor Case, in a which I refer my self to those who have observed what fort of Men are most affected with the Representation of a Play (1) Quos (terrores, or errores) auxwhat fort of Men are most affected with the Representation of a Play (1) Quos (terrores, or errores) auxerunt Po ta, frequens enim consessus theatri in quo sunt mulicrcula & pueri movetur audiens tam grande cai- (6) Cicer

Adsum atque advenio Acheronte vix via alta atque

Per speluncas saxus structas asperis, pendentibus,

Maximis, ubi rigida constat crassacaligo inferum (k) Hi has
(P) Moreii (k) gives a very Wrong Account of the Mat-committed 'Is not true that the Abderstanes died on the many other Stage, nor that the Proverb, Abdertica mens, was Faults occusioned by the Distemper they were then affected with Moreri would find it very hard to prove that there was such a Proveib It were not enough for him to maintain that the Abderitanes were common-ly look dupon as I sool he should make it appear that these very Words, Abderitan mens, were made use of to denote the General Opinion the Words enter-tuned of them, but 'tis certain Erasmus does not quote any one Author that used those Words Bur I will not insist upon that Incident, now Lam will no will not infift upon that Incident, nay, I am willing to give up as talle the following Reflection viz That a Thing of fo short a duration as that Distumper of the Abderitanes was, which his been only mentioned by Lucian, who did it only to form the Exordium of a Differtation, luch a Fact, I fay, does not feem proper to occasion Proverb, whereby a whole People are defamed for ever I or if it be faid, (1) Tre that the Sero sapiums Phryges, might have proceeded certain from one single Fault of the Phrygians, I can shew a that the great difference, since it is certain that as soon as the Proverbs thing was made a Proverb, it was not meant of the which rePhrygians more than of any other Nation Whereas flest upon the Reproaches cast upon the Abderitanes, concerned Normanthem literally, and at all times, just as (1) those that dy and are cast upon the Normans and Gascons concern them, Gascony, in a most proper Sense But once more I am wil- aregrandling to call this a meer Cavil, and am contented ed upon with this Stirking Blow Merer's Proverb, Abdere-lasting and tica mens, was only designed to charge the Abderi-habitual tanes with great Foolihness, but the Distemper Faults, mentioned by Lucian was not Foolihness, it was which pass only a Disordered Imagination, and a fort of Mad-from one only a Disordered Imagination, and a fort of Mad-from one ness which falls rather upon Men of great Wit, than Generation upon Fools and Blockheads Moreri is therefore to to another blame for saying, that his Proverb was grounded on the Fury mentioned by Lucian Though I name (m) In the Lucian, I am not ignorant that Moreri has only quoted Dutch E-Galius Rhodiginus, as (m) he has been already censulation of red for it. He had that Quotation from Charles Ste-his Distination. He and a great many others have answered, nary and a (2) Medal of the Abderstanes, which he thought to have beer Stamp dent of that troublesome Distemper, changed his Mind when he read the for a Montanian written to him a on that Subject, which contains several things relating and Eze to the City of Abdera. I shall mention some of 'em in the last Remark There was a chiefe spanhekind of a Ceremony practifed in that Town on certain Days, which might be call'd in spanhe-mio It was without doubt an Act of Religion I think Ovid is print the only Author that mentions it 'Tis one β of the Imprecations wherewith he loads began

Tufcul 1

and

The Control of the Ceremony I shall say in another place γ , That there was a γ in the Temple of γ and γ feweral Apostles, to have followed St Simon and St Jude into Persia, and to have been and Histomade by themselve First Bishop of Babylon. The Work that goes under his Name, is di-riorapher vided into To Books, and Entituled, Historia certaminis Apostolici. Welfgang I will be to the Imfound the Manufacipt in a Cavern of Carinthia, and though he was a I cained Man, he for I careful fuffered himself to be so much imposed upon by that fabulous Writer, that he went about the formal in the same credit to the Inscription of that Manufacipit in the same credit to the Inscription of that Manufacipit in the same credit to the Inscription of that Manufacipit is the same credit to the Inscription of that Manufacipit is the same credit to the Inscription of that Manufacipit is the same credit to the Inscription of that Manufacipit is the same credit to the Inscription of that Manufacipit is the same credit to the Inscription of that Manufacipit is the same credit to the Inscription of that Manufacipit is the same credit to the Inscription of the same credit to the same credit to the Inscription of the same credit to the Inscription of the same credit to the same cred to publish it as an Important Piece He gave credit to the Inscription of that Manuscript, 1 the D diimporting that Abdies, made Bishop of Babylon by the Apostles themselves, had writ in the History of their Lives, and that it was Translated into Greak aby Eutropius, the Lives, and that it was Translated into Greak aby Eutropius, the Lives and that it was Translated into Greak aby Eutropius, the Lives and that it was Translated into Greak aby Eutropius, the Lives are the New York and th Hebrew this Hittory of their Lives, and that it was frammated into Oil K v by Europhis, and into Latin by Africanus He published it at Basil ζ, in the Year 1551, with some other Lives of the Saints It was since reprinted several (22) times in several price of places Lawrence de la Barre inserted it in his History of the Fathers it Pars n in 1582 Julius Λ Tis not Pope Gelasius, as Morers would have it, but Pope θ Per IV who rejected the fricanus work of our Abdias as an Apocryphal Piece Several Writers both (atholick and Prote-Lutropius Andrews as Imposture. The latter pietend to have (R) under the control of the series of t stant have acknowledged that 'tis an Imposture The letter pretend to have (R) under was a D/ ceived the others But they won't (S) grant it and answer every day the Hopes which that Italian Author conceived, when he resolved to quote no Author concerved, when he reloved to quote ho Body He hoped to be quoted by others, which they would not have done, if he had put in the Maigins of his Book the Names of the Aucient Authors whom he Transcribed

(Q) On a Medal of the Abderitanes] It represents to a flar our fide and on the other

fents a Giiffin on the one fide, and on the other, a Man's Head without a Beard, Crowned with Lawrel, with their Words, ΕΠΙΔΙΟΣ ΛΑΙΟΥ Mr Beger wis of Opinion, that this Medal Confectated to Apollo, under the Title of Mischievous Jupiter, Sub fove sinistro, (the same as sub Vejove at Rome) was de-figned to denote the over-hot influences of the Sun, that had occasion'd the Imperations for which the Abderitanes were Detamed the Which, notwithst and ing, made'em good Detamed the Which, notwithst and ing, made'em good Detamed The Bason of Southern under the Line The Bason of Southern under the Line to Governor the Symbol of Teios, is it appears aving been the Symbol of Teios, is it appears of Abdera, a Colony of the Teians, should have Stamp'd the same Symbol on their Publick Monuments. It was the constant prastice of the Colonies

It was the constant practice of the Colonies with Respect to their Metropolis The Lxample of Syracusa and Corfou, whose Arms were a Pegasus, in imitation of Corinth, is a Proof of it As for the Head Crowned with Lawrel, it represents Abdenus, Herculer's Darling, or (o) Tisamenes the Clazomenian, who was worship'd as a Hero by the Tisams settled in (0) So Mr heim calls him whom who was worship'd as a Hero by the Trians settled in Abdera Isaac Vossius (p) understands by the Inscription of that Medal, Jupiter Frumentarius, as if (evs. a...) was the same thing with (evs. emig, m), and he grounds his Explication upon the Feithlity of the Soil that surrounded the Town of Abdera, and therefore the Triballi being reduced to a great Scarcity socked the there according to (a) Produces. Tiung G (p)If Vof-Malam 5 Diod ty flocked thither, according to (q) Diodorus Siculus, it being the most fruitful Ground that could be found M de Spanheim does not deny that, and he mentions another Passage of Diodorus (r) Siculus, wherein (r) Id lib Abders is reckon d to be one of the most Potent Towns that were then in Thrace He mentions like-de Span-

Herodo-

fius in

Sicul lib

(s) See the Letters writ-

Pomp

13 P 194 wise another assessment in Invates with another assessment of a Letter assessment of the Hippocrates, which we could be a supposed by the modern as no objective Theorem with a supposed by the meaning of the Medal Before I make an end of this Remark, I must be a supposed by the meaning of the Medal Before I make an end of this Remark, I must be supposed by the meaning of the meaning of the Medal Before I make an end of this Remark, I must be supposed by the meaning of the meaning of the Medal Before I make an end of this Remark, I must be supposed by the meaning of the meaning of the Medal Before I make an end of this Remark, I must be supposed by the meaning of the meaning

ters written on both fides upon that Ocean fion, among thing of Hippocriters

Account

The great concern they express for the Health of Democritus, their Itellow-Citizen, Hippocriters

Medal Before I make an end of this Remark, I muit observe, I muit
observe, that it would be a very wrong thing to take for an instance of little Wit, what past (s) between the Inhabitants of Abders and Hippocrates on Demoritur's Account The great concern they express for the Health of Democritus, their Itellow-Citizen, Hippocriters

Add of this Remark, I muit observe, I muit
o

be able to judge foundly of him. But that fort of Men are very fearce at all Times, and in all Places. They are as fearce, and perhaps more than Honest (r) Rui. Men, who in Juvenal's Opinion () do hardly equal the number of the Mouths of the Nile.

(QQ) Keprinted leveral times J M1 du Pin, who metus vix mentions the Editions of 1557, 1560, and 1571 effects and besides, an Edition of Bassil, in the (u) Year 1532 and one of Farss, in 1583, has forgot the first, which deserved most to be mentioned. I have not by me time per his Reblatheaue of the Paris Edition, and the second to, just his Bibliotheque of the Paris Edition, and therefore ti, jut I dare not affirm, that he takes notice of the pie tended Edition of Bafil in 15,2 Now because he til Nili tended Edition of Basil in 15,2 Now because he mentions but one Paris Edition, which is that of such Sat 1583, the Reader might very well think that the 1, v 36 others mention d by him are not of Paris And yet (u) So I it is certain, that Abdias was published there in the find it in Yen 1560, in 8vo with the Preface of a Doctor of the Amsorbonne, call'd John Faber The Abbreviator of section, in 8vo 'Tis fallely faid in Magirus's Eponymologium, t 1 p 18 that this Work was Printed the first time at Paris, in 1551

(R) To have undeceived the others] Consult Rivertus (w), Chap 6 of the 1st Book of his Criticu Sa (w) Rivet cer, where having observed the Prepossession of La-Open to cer, where having observed the Prepossession of La-Opel to zim, and the Authority which Hardingus and Bellarmin Pag 1076 bestowed upon our Abdius, he adds, Ejus nugas Comendacia non est quod operosius persequamur, quia jam oculationibus Pontificiis ita patent LX NOS IRORUM ANIMADVERSIONIBUS, ut cos tam putia commenti pudeat He quotes Baionius, Molanus, Possevin, and even Bellarmin who thought better of it lince, he quotes them. I say, as acknowledging the Impo-

he quotes them, I say, as acknowledging the Impo-flure of that History of the Apostles

(S) They won't grant it] I ather sabbe(x) does strange-ly inveigh against Rivetes, by Reason of the Passage
I have just now mention d. He may be in the right, (x) Phil I have just now mentional. He may be in the right, (x) Phil when he fays, the Catholicks found out the Impo-Labbe, stune, before the Protestants had given 'em any in-Differt de sight into the Matter; but he is very much to blame Script Ecfor his sharp and injurious Words; for thus he clei to i speaks Hajce quisquiliae ab otioso fabulatore, qui merito pag

After all, there would be no great Glo- upleu/Ab-1y dis 1y E Apud tain'd of Democritus They took him to be a lool, upontain'd of Democritus They took him to be a Iool, but he feem'd to Hippocrates to be Wifer than they I his fignifies nothing, I am fure that ill the Cities of Greece would have judged of Democritus as his Countrymen did People vould have now-a-divs the fame Opinion of a Philosopher, who should laugh at every thing, who should fay, That the Air is full of Images, who should Study the Singing of Birds, who should that up himself in Sepulchers, & de Script And none but the Wits of the First Rank, who keep themselves at a great distance from Prejudices, would be able to judge foundly of him. But that for of

p 200 $ Lih. 6 p m 83 Cave pher P 72

us Panvıment p m 754 And in of Tient place cle Hebedjefu

Genef chip 4

a See Vos- ry in it; for that Cheat has been so imprudent as to quote a Hegesippas, who Flourish'd flus, de 130 Years, or thereabouts, after our Saviour's Ascension He likewise & mentions a Disciple of the Apostles, call'd Crathon, who, as he says, wrote a History in Ten Books, of all the Actions and Sufferings of St. Jude in Persa, for the space of Thirteen Years, which History, as he goes on, was Translated into Latin, by Africanus the Historiographer That Africanus can be no other than Julius Africanus, who died about y the Year 230

A B D I S S I (T), Patriarch of Musal in Assyria beyond Euphrates, came to Rome in bestem in the Year 1562, and having paid his Homage to Pius IV received the Pallium from him Onuphri- The Council of Trent being then met, the Cardinal da Mula, Protector of the Eastern In Christians, acquainted that Assembly with it His Letters were read in the XXII Sef-They imported that the People under the Jurisdiction of that Patriarch had been IV in Su- instructed in the Christian Faith, by the Apostles St Thomas and St Thaddeus, and by rius Com- one of their Disciples call'd Mark, that their Belief was altogether the same with that of the Church of Rome, that they had the same Sacraments and the same Ceremonies 5 that they had still some Books written from the time of the Apostles, that that Passiar-Sponda- chate reaches into the very Heart of the Indies, and comprehends many Nations, some nus, Con- of which are subject to the Turksh Emperor, others to the Sophs of Persia, and others to tin An the King of Portugal The Portugueze Ambassador protested immediately, That the Eastern Bishops, under the Domination of the King his Master, acknowledged no Patri-Afterwards Abdiff's Confession of Faith & was read, bearing date the 7th of March, 1562 wherein he promised to observe and teach his Inferiors a persect and perpetual Conformity of Opinions with the Church of Rome Lastly, they read the Letters he Wist to the Council, to excuse himself (U) for not going thither, and to beseech the Fathers to send him their Decrees, which he promised should be punctually observed All those things had been read already in a Congregation, without exciting any one's Reflections, but the Protestation of the Portuguese Ambassador gave occasion to take notice of the Absurdities of that Account Some begun to grumble, the Portugueze Bi-* H ft of shops were ready to speak out, when the Promoter diverted the thing in the Name of the Council the Legites Thus Fra Paolo e relates the Matter I shall examine this in ζ another

A B F L, Second Son of Adam and Eve, was a Shepherd He offered to God the First born of his Sheepfold, at the same time that his Brother Cain offered some Fruits of the Earth God was pleased with Abels Offering, but not with Cain's, which vexed the latter to such a degree, that he rose up against his Brother and kill d him. This is all the Account & Moles gives of it But if I would enlarge on all the things which the Curiosity of Human Minds his blought forth upon that Subject, I should want no Matter I shall be fure not to launch into such a Deduction, nor to give any guess about Abel's gure Pfeudo Abdias dicitur, confictas interpolatafue nullius fider arque authoritatis effe apud eruditos docuerunt jampridem Catholici Fractatores , Sixtus Senensis, Joannes Missilius, Joannes Molanus, Cardin Baronius, Possevinus, Salmero, Miraus, alique, ut filcam Fossium, Cocum, Ri-vetum, jimilesque Heterodoxos Criticos, in alicnis ab Ec-clesis Catholica cassis militantes, atque ex Catholicorum duntaxat | criptis & oli | ervationibis | suffarinatos Min-titus enim pro more Andreas Rivetus, qui libri 1 cap 6 effutire aufus est, oculatiores Pontificios ex suoi um, hoc est, Hareticorum hominum animadversion bus edottos, nugus (x1) Fpo- tidi commenti pudeat Sed, amabo, que Calvini catulus in inol boc commentum subodoratio est aute Histolium, Molanum, Sixtum, ipsumque ades Paulum IV Romanum Pontificem qui inter scripta i se damnata resient? I believe this Book was condemned again at Rome, since the Death of Paul IV for I don't think that Claudius Espencaus Hist Col- means the Condemnation made by that Pope, when leg Navar he lays, Qualiscunque autor sit Abdias, superiore certe pag 710 quam hat scriberemus anno a Romanu Inquistroribus pro(z) Pan- scriptus est Those Words are in the 5th Chapter of vin in vi- the 5th Book de Continentia The Continuator of Magirus (xx) is in the wrong, to conclude from thence that the Year meant in that Passage is 1568, for that

(a) Thuthat the Year meant in that Passage is 1568, for that an Histor

1 32 Peter Paul Virgerius, a Protestant Writer, who died
(b) Aub in 1564, exclaimed against the Imposture of our AbMiraus, Politiae (T) A B D I S S I] Onuphrius Panvinius (2) calls Ficient 2 him Abdysu, which, says he, signifies Servus Jesus c 5 pag Surius and Spondanus give him the same Name Thuanus (a) calls him Abssius, and adds, that he was the (c) Thuanous (a) calls him Abssius, and adds, that he was the (c) Thuanous Of John de Domo Marcia, of the Town of Gezina nus calls upon the Tigria I confess, I don't well understand him Salaha, Spongive no Translation of those Two Words that can danus, Suplease me, nor approve that of Morers, who renders lace See em, Mark's House Aubstrus Miraus (b) calls the PatheRemark triarch we speak of Abdiess, and says, That he was (A) in the a Monk of the Order of St Pachemus, that he succeeded the Patriarch Simon Sulacha (c), a Monk of the same Order, who came to submit to Pope Julius III that he was a Man of an Admirable Learning, that that he was a Man of an Admirable Learning, that he understood many Languages, and was extraoidinarily well Veried in the Holy Scriptures 1/buanus's Memoirs imported, that he understood the Chalnus's Memoirs imported, that he understood the Chaldee, the Arabick, and Syriack, and gave pertinent Answers to the Questions proposed to him Panvisnius, Surius and Spondanus affirm the same thing with more Circumstances. He says in his Consession of I aith, as it is set down by them, That he had been a Monk of St. Antony, in the Monastery of St. Rochas and St. John, Two Brothers. He had very much Propagated the Roman Faith, if we may believe the berius Miraeus, but his Successors took no Care to be the surface of the surface bertus Miraus, but his Successors took no Care to keep it up, to that Leonard Abel, Bishop of Siden, the Pope's Nuncio in those Parts, in the Year 1583, found that the Patriarch Donha Simon, who was the Second fince Abdiefu, had retired towards the Borders of Persia. The Pope's Affairs were not in a bet-

ders of Persia The Pope's Affairs were not in a better Condition, when Peter Strozza, Secretary to Paul V Published at Rome and at Cologne, in 1617, his Disputation, De Chaldworum dogmatibus (d) (d)

(U) To excuse himself for not going thither.] This two sheets that Moreri is very much mistaken, when he pringly, That Abdissi affished at the Council of Trent, and presented his Consession of Faith in the XXII Session. Authorius Mirans committed the same Fault, qui & Tridentino Concilio interfuit, says he (e), speaking of his (e) Ubi Abdissu. That which is more surprizing, is, That supra, pay Moreri quotes Thusmus and Spondanus, though the first 217 iays not one word of that Patriarch's pretended Journey to the Council, and though the Second expressy ney to the Council, and though the Second expressy fays, That they read the Letters wherein Abdysu Excused himself for not coming to Trent I shall occasionally observe a Fault, which must needs have crept into Thuanus's History He says (f that Patriarch (f) The came, Ad possession limina Pontificem Salutaturus, at an lib 3 ab eo confirmatus partem de corpere Santis Petri acciperes pag 64c. Any one, that reads those Words, would think that col 2 ed he came to ask an Arm, or some other Piece of St Francoi Peter's Body; for to come to Rome, in order to carry 1625 away fuch Presents, is a thing very acceptable to that Court But I am persuaded that instead of person, Court But I am perfuaded that inwead of print thould be pallium, as we read in Spendamus, who, that being excepted, uses the same Expression with ()) See Launoi,

Cittic Pag 2

(X) 18hw

Ashenhen he was kill'il Inisampossible to have any Certainty whout it, Both because sa, not known how long (W) the State of Innocence lasted ; and because its not known by (X) how many Years Abel was younger than Com, nor in what (7) Year of the World he was killed by his Brother. I shall forbear making any Conjectures about this Question, viz. Whether he (Z) died in Celibiay, or about the Quarrel which Cun pick'd

(g) Vide Pererium in Genefim, 1 6 quest 1

(W) How long the State of Innocence lafted] Authors byery much differ in this point Some will have do very much differ in this point Some will have it. That down finded the very Day wherein (g) he was Greated, and that he stand not above Six, Seven the Terrestrial Paradile Others or Ten Hours in the Terrestrial Paradite fay he was there Six, Eight or Ten Days, and others, 34 Years Most of 'em ground their Opinion upon some Relations which they fancy between Adam and Christ They, for instance, who affirm that Adam dwelt; 40 Days, or 34 Years, in the Terrestrial Paradise-alledge for their Reason, that Christ I asked Forty Days, or (b) that he lived 34 Years upon Larth '(3) Vide Corpel à It were needless to acquaint Men of Sense, that this

Corpel 2 It were needless to acquaint Men of Sense, that this Lapide in fort of Arguments prove nothing. One may raise Genef c some Objections against those who pretend that the State of Innocence lasted but few Hours, but stronger Objections may be raised against those who say it lasted some Weeks or some Years I or, whitever the (1) August 19 Words of Moses, That Adam knew not his Wife till de Genesia he was turn'd out of the Terrestrial Paradise Now addit c 4 why should he have put off so long the Consumption. ad lit c 4 why shou'd he have put off so long the Consumma-(k) Potest tion of his Marriage? Had he not received the Nupetiam dici tial Benediction from the Mouth of his Cientoi? quia non- Had he not his Orders drawn up and notified in due dum Deus Form to increase, to multiph and to till the Earth? justerat ut The best Reason that can be alledged, why the Conconveni- immation of his Marriage was not made till rent cur his Fall, is, that the Woman was tempted and feduenim non ced almost assoon as she was Formed Thus St Auguad hanc fin(1) resolves that Difficulty; Mox creata muliere an-rem divi- tequam convenirent satta est illa transgressio. The other Reason he alledges, viz (k) That Adam was to wait for an Order from God, is altogether false, for as I have already said, That Order had been authenticalna expe-ctaretur auctoritas, ubi • ly notified ras, ubi • ly notified If it could be proved once, that the nulla con-Innocence of the First Man Justed many Days, it cupifcen- would make the Opinion of those all nost indubitable, who fay, That had it not been for the I orbidden Fruit, tia.tanquam fti- Adam and Eve would have kept their Virginity formulis, inphedientia carnis

it be, we cannot tell certainly at what Age they beurgebat gun to beget Children

I shall confute in (1) anothey beget the they bethey be they begun to beget (hidren 1 indi) contute in (1) anoid ibid ther place the idle Funcies of those, who find, That
(1) In the Cain was not conceived till a long time after Adam's Ait Lve Fall, whether it be, that his Father thought fit to a bottain many Years from the Pleasures of Mairingo out of Penance, or whether he applied himself to a Id shid (1) In the

(m) Rabdifferent Woman from Eve bini & ex (b) By how many Tears Abel was younger than hu eis Calvi-worker] The Narrative of Moss seems clearly to nus pupove, That Can and Abel were not Twins, yet tantexeo-one of the most judicious (m) Interpreters of the dem con-scripture believed with some Rabbins, that they ceptu E-were Suppose this was granted him, all the unvanipepe-certainty would not vanish away, since we don't the heavy rescale in what Year Can have Bore But rtile geknow precisely in what Year Can was Born mellos once more, 'tis not at ill likely, that Abel should Cain & have been his Twin Brother, an I there is no certain-Abel Corty, that he was Born a Year after Cain However, nel à La- it must be acknowledgd, that 'tis very probable idein Gc- Cain was Born the First Year of the World, and es e 4 v Abel the next Year The Revelation of Methodius is an Apocryphil Piece, and a meer Chimæra It has been faid (n), That whilft he was a Prifoner for the Christian Faith, it was revealed to him, That Adam and Eve went out of the Terrestrial Paradile, withthor Hift Scholaft out having known one another, that they remained in the same State for the space of 15 Years, being in Hist lıbrı Genoi c 25 entirely taken up with Imenting their Fall, that apud pewhen that time was expired, they begot a Son and rerium in a Daughter all at once, or Cain and Calmana, that Genef c afterwards they lived again in Continence for the fame space of 15 Yen, and then they begot a Son and a Daughter, viz Ab I and Delbora, that Abel was Chevreau, kill'd by Cain in the 13 oth Year of Adam, which History of thew Adam and Fig. into an Affliction that lasted the World, a Hundred Yens, and then they begot Seth. The table of the Islands will lave it (p), (p) Apud That Adam bewailed the salies of Teus near Hebron, if p 190 without any (112) Copulation with his Wife,

nei c 25

which perhaps might have lasted loriger, had not ar Angel comminded him in God's Name to come near Eve, fince the M flur was not willing to descend from Care These are meer Chimera's Such a long Mouining had been very unfeafonable at that time. On the contrary, it was requisite that Ad m and Fve should quickly ally their Grief by repairing the Brench, so that its probable, they soon comforted themselves by the mutual Hopes of getting another Son in the (pp) c us room of him who had been killed by C n No-ciap 4

verthelds one could fence believe how much that 25 pretended long Separation of Alam and Lue from ('5r Au-Bed his been preached up I shall speak of it in the gustin af-Article of Lamich

(1) In what Year of the World he wee k ld | Most Adim Interpreters think it probable, that this Murder was n' it was committed in the same Year that Seth was Born, that or h) fur duy is, in the 130th year of Alim, I say, they think it I ve, accorpiobable when they confidence (pp), that Eve calling a diam to the Son of whom she was delivered, by the Name of Sop pure that Research (1) An Sith, give this Reifon for it, For God Fath appointed (1) Aume another Seed instead of Abel, whom Cain slew But gust de it must be acknowledged that this Argument will civit Der, rather prove, I hat Seeh was the first Son that Evel 15 c 15 had after Abel's Death, than that his Death was soon (4) I is attended with the Birth of Seth St Augustin will Scripture not so much as grant that Seth was the lift-born of manious all the Children whom Adam and Eve got after A-out, or Ofbel's Murder He understands the Words of E 1, 1 ng of not of a Compensation of a Son, but of a Compensation of the Seth was the Law Beach of the Seth was local to the Seth was fation of Virtue he means, that Seth was look dup- Bro her on as a Man who should succeed to Abel's Piety and Int e .. Holinels Potuit (q) Adam divinitus admonitus dicere fie latier poster quam Seth nut is est, fullitivit enim mili Deus Sali in temen aliud pio Abel, quando talis erat futurus qui Sir si impleret esus (r) sin sitatem 'I is ceitiin, thit this o cor whole Mitter issoids nothing but Conjectures, and is the that if we were allowed the natural Liberty of make Cam tot ing Reflections on the bove-mention d Words of nothing to Eve, we should think Avel's Muider happen d a long Kept Tier time before For here is what the Light of Reason tut in leads us to Cain and Abel made their Offerings to length of God, issoon as the Huvest of the one, and the time, and Sheepfold of the other enabled them to do it. They after he perceived the very first time (s) they did it, that God I ad re timade some Difference between their Gifts Cam's rated | vitherefore kill d him before the Age of 60, for it was in 6 3 in the 50th Year of the World, according to Enfette crowns us, that Adam affign d to his I wo Sons the course of (t) Life which they were to follow He did not think what I of it too late, fay the Interpreters, Ince in those days shall men is Infancy lasted proportionably to one's Life on below
Let it be so, I will not dispute it, But if Gain and out of the Abel were not able before the Age of 50, to Plow In un of the Ground and to Keep Sheep, they must have been Jerualent able to do it when they attained to that Age Which and I urebeing lud down, can my thing be more natural than chius s to believe, that they made then Offerings Iwo or Annals Three Ye us after at the farthest, and that in the (1) (une like interval, at the farthest, the Invious and Jee used Rep lous Cain got himfelf rid of Abel - Can any thing be Heb 1 more unlikely than to fay, as 'its commonly done, and the Two Brothers began to exercise their (al-(u) Saint lings in the 50th Year of the World, That they Romu ild, made their Offerings in the 100th Year, and that Abrega (ain kill'd Abel in the 130th Year? Neither Reason (hours and Servery require that we should simpose (Ovidinor the Scripture require that we should suppose (Ovidi-(ain kept his Refentment to long concealed within us Wetam his Breaft (t) A very Judicious (u) Author places lib 2 V 1, the Birth of Seth about a Hundred Years after such 5 (3) 54 leentirely taken up with limenting their Fall, that Death Some Authors (w) place that Death in the rome, or Year of the World 102, but the Cloud of the Com- Bill, or mentators is for the Year 13c, which they take to Ambroide be the same with the 129th Year of 1 d. I might apud Conquote for this Opinion Capitan, Ionuel, Pererina, Connel a I incluse a I spide, Salian, and many other Interpreters, pide in whose Works may be compared to the Children of Gen. c. 4

one and the same Family, (x) Factes non omnibus una,

N caro rfa tamen, qualem decet effi sororum

All Parties, all Bodies, all Commonalties have in the ubi supra, like manner several Authors, who follow one another I' at I nas (2) Whether he died in Celibacy | Some of the Ia- not be Icthers (7) affirm it, and the Heisticks, of whom I rom () shall speak heisticer, who took then Name to un sian

a Apud ıllust decad r p 221, pick'd up with him Some say, their Quarrel was a (A) Dispute about 1 on; Other (c) No will have it, that they fell out (B) about a Woman. The manner (C) how that about Helenan Helenan nable Murther was commuted, is also variously Reported. But the manner how they cunnus came to know God's Preference of Abel's Oblation, is not so much disputed. It is comteterrima monly enough believ'd, That (D) Fore fell from Heaven on Abel's Offerings, and that belli Cau-Salianum, nothing appear'd like it on the Offerings of Cain But as we are but too much inclin'd fa Hobat to 1 P to heap Suppositions on Suppositions, to cause something wonderful to be found in all (b) Some to neap Suppositions on Suppositions, to cause foliating would be supposed in the Flaines Hereticks & apud things, some Persons have said a, That the Figure of a Lion appears in the Flaines Hereticks Biffelium, that tell on Abel's Sacrifices, which according to them, related to the Flaines by St and State of Juda, whose coming had already been promis'd. I have collected the said of Juda, whose coming had already been promis'd. I have collected the said and sharper of Juda, whose coming had already been promis'd. Tribe mention'd by St End a great many different Opinions on the things that concern Abel; and therefore have Her 40 collected many Fallities and many Faults But as this is the Design and the Intention (1) Apad of this Dictionary, the Reader ought not to give his Judgment on that Collection with Heidegg. out remembring that Design And let this be faid once for all.

Abel, affirm'd it likewise But it does not seem very probable to those, who believe Abel lived 129 Years, that he died a Batchelor Continence was not in that he died a Batchelor Continence was not in those days a proper thing, for it was necessary to People the World Father Salian (2) does not scruple to acknowledge, That Abel's Celibacy is not at all likely, nor to shew that St Jerome and St Augustin did not doubt of his being Married, and that St Irenaius does not say what (a) Genebrard attributes to him, vix That Abel was a Maid, a Priest, and a Martyl Three Qualities, which made some say, that the Church begun with him Those Three sine Qualities were ascribed to him by another (b) Author But it the I radition of Eutychius, which I shall mention hereafter, were true, Abel's Celibacy could the no longer doubted of, for, according to that be no longer doubted of, for, according to that I ridition, his Death happen d before the Marriage of the Two Brothers

(A) Wis a Dispute about Religion] The Targum of firusalem says, That Coin and Abel being in the I ields, the first maintain'd, That there was neither a ludgment nor a finder. 2 Judgment, nor a Judge, nor an Eternal Life, nor Rewards for the Righteous, nor Punishments for Impious Men, and that the World had not been Created by the Mercy of God, and was not Govern'd by the same Mercy, since, said he to his Brother, my Offering his not been accepted of, and yours his been Abel answered him in the same Words Cain phr He-had made use of, only putting the word res where rosoloum apud I in the other had put the word No And as to the main the other had put the word No And as to the main the other had been the way. That God had been the works had tinte Sali-been better They growing hot upon it, Gain fell upon abel and kill d him (c) This was a 1rd begine ning of Disputes about Religion, and an ill Omen upon the of the dreadtul Diforders they should occasion in the Subject f - World Besides, we have here an instance of the foolish results for Man. He is never to much inclined to doubt of Providence, as when things don't fucceed a cording to his Wishes When things go well for him all his Poul to vanish away; He fincies, forfooth, that he keeps such a considerable Rank in the Universe that he can't be overlook'd by an Equitab'e and Judicious Dispenser of Good and Evil Esta 10 Juport, ait Statius, cum convaluisset a periculoso morbo quid contigurat contra quam equum esse esse dicebant ullos se, aut rullos se, aut crudeles, aut injustos esse dicebant laque in morte Tibulli Ovidius,

Cum rapiant mala fata bonos, ignoscite fasso, Sollicitor nullos esse putare Deos

There are the words of (d) one of the best Orators of the XVI Century

(B) That to y fell out about a Woman] Entychius, Pattiarch of Constantinople, says in his Annals (e), That Eve brought forth together with Cain a Daughter call'd Azrun, and together with Abel a Daughter cill'd Owain, and that the time of Marrying the Two Sons leing come, Adam design d Owain for Cain, and Azrun for Abel; and that he beat Cain, because he would have his Twin Sister who was more Beautiful Eutychius adds, That whilft the Two arch Hei- Biothers were going to offer their Offerings on a degg t i Mountain by Adam's order, who was defirous that pag 19. they should perform that Act of Religion before they should Marry, and that the Success of their Piocopi- Sacrifice should decide their Difference, Satan did fecictly move Cain to get himself rid of his Brother fecicity move Cain to get himlest rid of his Brother (f) Id Futych vide Hottinter Hift Orient
prig 27

fecicity move Cain to get himlest rid of his Brother for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering
he for the sike of Arran, which hindring his Offering he for the sike of Arran his Offering
he for the sike of Arran his Offering he for the sike of Arran his Of with him into his Exile, was therefore the Caule of description of it, but, however, there what was faid by get 13, a (g) Latin Poet concern and Antiquity of the c 2 who Wars lailed on account from The Anchon-cites Rabbiticks (h), and Cabbaliffs (r) agree with Enzychius's Elicant Tradition I have read in Father Mersenne's Committee mentary on Geness, pag 1415, and 1431 that some have Rabbins say, Abel had Two Twin Sisters, and that (d) He-Cain had a mind to Marry them This, say they, box orum was the Occasion of their Dispute If this were nonnulla true, the defire of Polygamy would be of a very old tradunt was the Occasion of their Dispute. If this were nomally true, the desire of Polygamy would be of a very old tradunt structure, the desire of Polygamy would be of a very old tradunt structure, the desire of the Tareum fussion and Eurychius's Account, that Abel's Death hapmorsibus pen'd soon after the Sacrisice wherein God declared a Cain differ him. This Chronology is a thousand times more laceraprobable than the common one, which reckons 30 tum. Perfectly Errorectly. Cain's Fratricide

(C) The n anner how that abominable Murder was com- 7 ad vermitted J We have just now seen that some say it was 8 & with the throw of a Stone Others (k) tell us, That (l) Cain tore off his Brother with his Teeth Others de that he knock'd him down with the Jaw bone of an Ala. As Painters take that for granted Others will the have it, That he made use of a Fork St Chrysostom (m) Peroputs a Sword into his hand, St Ireneus gives him a rius ubi Sithe, Prudentius gives him a kind of Hedging Bill supra

Frater (1) probate fanctitatis emulus Frater (1) probate fantitatis amulus Germana curvo colla frangit farculo

See Salianus and Biffelius, the first at the 189th Page tradition of the If Volume of his Annals, and the latter, at the Hebiacis.

234, and 257 Pages of the first part of the Illustrium (0) Nisi illustrium However, at is said, That Abel (m) was linterneither Strangled nor Drowned, for the Scripture pretation testifies that he personal the Hoodshed Some sup-vera effet pose that he defende the Roodshed Some sup-vera effet all the Advantage at its said on the ground, Theodoand gave him good Quarter, but Cain recover the composition of the Some supself again and kill'd him Father Merssmurt Genesis dominus Génesis

(D) That Fire fell from Heaven] St jerom (n) re- superAbel (b) That fire fell from Heaven J St jerom (n) 12- superfices lates that Tradition, and confirms it by Theodosion & superfice (o) who followed it in his Translation of the Scri-facrificipture It is commonly approved of by the I athers of um ejus, the Church That which makes it likely, is, That supraCain the Church That which makes it likely, is, That supraCain I ire descending from Heaven on divers Occasions, vero & sales and the first superfice crisicium. shewed that God was pleased with the Sacrifice crificium. That Sign of God's Approbation (p) was given at the ejus non Confectation of Aaren Giden, David, Solomon, inflamma(fome add Nehemiah also) were honoured with that vit Id ipecial Favour in some of their (9) Sacrifices Cor-Hier in melius à (r) Lapide says, That Calvin and Luther quast laught at the descending of the Celestial Fire on A-Heb bel's Sacrifice as at a Jewish Fable But Mr Heidegger (p) Levilles him a Passage of Luther, that she is the constant of cites him a Passage of Luther, that shews the contia- c 9
ry plainly Ets Moses illud signum quo Deus ostendit si- (q) Consult bi Abel munera grata esc mon ostendit, tamen verisimile the Book of est fuisse ignem calo demissum, quo oblatio hausta & con- Judges, c sumpta in oculis omnium (s) The Protestant(s) Divines 6 the first have fallen by Numbers into that Hypothesis, and Book of some of them have confirm'd it by the of a(u) Kings, c Pfalm that Clement Marot Translate is man-18 the if

De tes offertes & services Se veuille souvenir, Et faire tous tes sacrifi es En cendre devenir the 2d of The Pagans have boafted of those extraordinary the Mac-ad Gen 1 v 3 apud Heidegg Hist Patr to 1 Saideni otia Theol p 337 (x) It is the 21

pag 191.

ubi fupra

dominus

Book of Chr c the 2d of Chr c 7 cabees c 1 Luth (r) See kind gium ciupen tlas John Bit felius a (eimin Hands I thin arum decad 1 pre 128 & leq (d) Muictus Omt 3 Vol. tych in Iran/l1 -011 110

Procopi-

ABELARD (Peter) in Latin, Abelardus, was one of the most famous Doctors of the XIIth Century . He was born (E) in the Village of Palaw, four Leagues from Names, in Britagne; and as he had a very quick Wit, nothing succeeded so well in all his Studies as his Application to Logick He travelled in divers Places with the only design to exercise himself in that Science, disputing and casting his Syllogisms every where, and earnestly seeking the Occasions to signalize himself against a Thesis, and never any Knight-Errant fought more ardently the Occasion to break a Lance in honour of the Ladies Abelard ended his Course at Pars, where he found a Famous Pro- a Guillet fessor in Philosophy, whose Name was William de a Champeaux He was at first his Be muc Cam leved Disciple, but it did not continue long, the Professor had too much trouble to an-He was fwer the Subtile Objections of that Disciple, not to conceive Vexation and Hatred Archdiacon against him Factions succeeded speedily after, the oldest Scholars transported with of Paris Envy against Abelard, seconded the Master's Passion, which increased that Young Man's Presumption, from that time forth he thought himself ingenious enough to set up for a Doctor. For that Purpose he made choice of a great Theatre, for he set up a School (F) at Melun, where the Court of France resided at that time Champeaux us'd his utmost Endeavour to hinder the erecting of that School, but B as he had some Enemies B Quonithat had a great Power, his Opposition was the chief cause that made his Rival's De-tentibus fign to fucceed The Reputation of that new Master of Logick made a wonderful Pro-terra gress, and eclips'd that of Champeaux These Successes swell'd Abelief in such manner, nonnullor that he remov'd his School to Corbeil, to pursue his Enemy closer with frequent Disputes, ibiden but the Application wherewith he studied, brought a Distemper upon him, that made habebat timulos, him go and take his own Country Air He continued some Years in Britagne, and afterus eoterwards he return'd to Park, where he found that Chimpeaux, who had resign d his Chair rum auxito another, and made himself a Regular Canon, continued to teach in his Convent. He his vota disputed with so much Force against him, concerning the Nature of the Universals, that post continued his obligid him to repourse his Opinion, which was in the many but a (6) Described. he oblig'd him to renounce his Opinion, which was in the main but a (6) Disgussed & pluis Spinozism. This made that Monk to be so despis'd, and his Antagonist to be so much morum efteem'd, that they went no more to the Logick I ectures of (himpeanx, and that the milital lenium professor himself whom (hampeanx, had substituted in his Place, would become Professor had substituted in his Place, would become Professor. Professor himself, whom Champeaus had substituted in his Place, would become Pero lentum iphus in-Abelard's Scholar This latter was no sooner installed in that Chan, but he found him-vidiamafelf more and more expos'd to the Strokes of Envy The Reguln C non ordered it so, miesta that under pretence of some very foul Actions, they turn dout him that had yielded his conquisi-Place to Peter Abelard, and that they gave him an Enemy of the latter for his Succeffor Vit Abelard lest Paris, and went to teach Logick at Melun, is the first time. He did i pag 5 not continue long there, for as foon as he heard that Chimpeaux was retired into a Village with all his Commonalty, he came and posted himself on Mount Saint Genevieve, tairs gloriæ pompam cum hæreditate primo genicis Eratribus derelinquens

9 p m

(z) See bis Policraticus,

p 111 and bis Metalogi-

(*) P2- kind of Tokens of the Approbation from Heaven quier, Re- in fome places, as we shall shew in the Article of Tearch 1 Egnatia We know sufficiently that the Devil mi- micks the True God

(x) Mili-ther had studied before he took up Arms, and took ther had itudied before he took up Arms, and took great care to cause all his Children to be instructed, but chiefly the Eldest. It is not certain whether Abelard was the Eldest, for he spoke on that Point in a manner that gave way to two disterent Opinions. These are his Words, Primogenitum sum quanto chapter habebat, tanto diligentius erudiri curavit. Fgo vero quanto amplius of facilius in studio literarum prosecti, tanto ardenius in eis inhass, of in tanto earum amore illessus sum, at militaris gloria pombam cum haredire illectus Jum, at militaris gloria pompam cum haredi-Natal tate & prærogativa primogenitorum meorum fi atribus Alexander, derelinguens, Martis Curiæ penitus abdicarem ut Miner-Sæc 11 & væ gremio educarer By virtue (w) of those Expres-12 part 3 sions Paquier does not flick to take him for the Eldeft Son, but (x) others fay positively, that he was a Younger Brother (y) Some also make him the Youngest of the Family If I was to make my choice, Pin, Biblioth I would not prefer the last Fxplication before the first It must not be question'd but that the Sir Proposition of Paletters where he have was grounded on name of Palatinus, which he bore, was grounded on the Latin Word Palatium, which he bore, was grounded on the Latin Word Palatium, which was the Name of the Place where he was born He was fo well known by the Name of Peripateticus Palatinus, that Jeannes Sarisberiensis never (2) calls him otherwise Some (4 a) suspect that the Reason of that Epithet came from some Magnificent Palace wherein he made his Lectures, but it is not so made his Lectures, but it is not so

(F) A School at Melun] I have not found by comparing the Relation of Abelard with the Abridg-(F) A School at Melun J 1 liarville and services, pag comparing the Relation of Abelard with the Abridgment that Paymer gives of it, that it was very exactly abbreviated. Here is the Order of his Adventures according to the Abridgment Abelard went to Corbeil the first time he left Para, he returned to Paris when Champeaux turn'd Monk, he was constrain'd to leave it a second time, and then he went to Melun, he return'd to Paris, when he knew that Champeaux was gone to reside in his Bishoprick of Chalons; Champeaux hearing of that Return, came to Paris again, to thwart Abeliard, who was again obliged to retire, and turn'd Scholar to Ansilmus, Divinity again, to thwart Abehird, who was again obliged to getire, and tuen'd Scholar to Ansilmus, Divinity Reader at Paris, he became himself afterwards Divinity Reader, and was defined by a Prebend tot 1.1 his Niece an Hour every Day He accepted the Charge willingly, and after having continued in Tride fome time, Love put in for one I here are divers I sults in this Nair tive I A lin did not go to Gorbeil before he had been at Melun When he went from Melun the according to the Champeaux was retired to a Village near Part, and not to his Bishopick of Chalons That Prelacy was not yet given him, he was but Regular Canon, and I wonder that Paquier did not find out the Ablurdity of the falle Steps which he ascribes to a Bishop, by drawing him from his L-piscopal See, to make him dispute against a Teacher of Philosophy at Paris Abelard had not the worst of it in that Rencounter, he went only out of Paris to go and fee his Mother, who would become a Nun and tee his Mother, who would become a Nun Anselmus taught Divinity at Laon, and not at Pin 5 The Prebend did not defire any Lessons to his Niece, it was Abelard defired the Prebend to take him into his House 6 Abelard desired the enjoyment of Helossa, before he taught her any thing How mistrustful ought we not to be in regard of a great number of Rocks. Greang Rocks the things for great number of Books, seeing Paquies stumbles so often in so fur a Way?

(G) A Disguised Spinozism] I leave it to the Judg ment of all those that understand these Words (a) E- (a) Abæs rat in ea Sententia de communitate Universalium, ut spit s' eamdem essentialiter rem totam simul singulis suis inclip s astrueret individuis, quorum quidem nulla esset in essentia divorsitas, sed sola multivuline accidentium variet i The Scotists with their universale formale a parte rei, or their universale a parte rei, or their unites formalis a parte rei, do not swerve from that Opinion Now I sty, that Spinozism is but an extension of that Doctrine, for, according to the Disciples of Scot, the Universal Natures are indicated for the control of their Individuals. The the Disciples of Scot, the Universal Natures are indivisibly the same in each of their Individuals. The Human Nature of Peter is indivisibly the same as the Human Nature of Paul. On what Foundation do they say this? because the same Attribute of Man that is proper to Peter, is also proper to Paul. This is just the Illusion of the Spinozist. The Attribute, say they, does not differ from the Substance to which it belongs, so that where ever the same Attribute is, there is also the same Substance, and consequently,

Eam totam no-

firo magisterio committens, ut quoties mihi à icholis reverlo vacaret, tam in die quam in nocte er

docende

operam

ter conftringerem Id

p 11

where he fet up his School as a kind (H) of Battery against him that ht at Pars: Champeaux seeing his Creature thus besieg'd in his School, brought the ar Canons Champeaux seeing his Creature thus being back again to their Monastery; but instead of relieving his Friend, he was the back again to their Monastery; but instead of relieving his Friend, he was the back again to their Monastery; but instead of relieving his Friend, he was the back again to their Monastery; but instead of property of the state of the sta back again to their Monastery; but instead of relieving his Friend, he was the cause on to leave off his School, without being suspected to have left the and of Both he only studied Divinity, and for that end he went (1) to Laon, where the Scholand felmus read Lectures in that Science with much Reputation He was not very well saves of (1) with the Maria Constant and the Constan tisfied (K) with that Man's Capacity, and instead of assisting at his Lectures, he bethought himself to make some to his Con-Disciples. He explain'd the Prophecies of Ezekiel in such a pleasing manner to them, that there was soon a Crowd in that new ditory

Anselmus's Jealousy would not suffer it long, he forbid that new Master Abelard returned to Paris, where he explain'd Ezekiel publickly, tinue his Lectures foon acquired the same Reputation in Divinity as he had in Philosophy, and got much To enjoy all the Comforts of Life, he thought he must have a Mi-Money besides dareni, & stress, and cast his Eyes on Helois, a Prebend's Niece, whom he preferred before an eam si negligentem hundred Maids or Women, of whom he found himself most capable (L) to be belosentirem ved The Prebend, whose Name was Fulbert, lov'd Money, and had a Passionate Devehemensite that Helois might be learned Abelard laid Snares for him in those two Places Let me board with you, said he to him, and I will leave the Price to you The good Man thinking he should give his Niece an able Preceptor, who so far from costing him any Money, would pay him a great Pension, fell a headlong into the Trap, he desired Master Abelard to instruct his Daughter well both Day and Night, and gave him leave to use Constraint with her, if she did not her Duty That pietended Preceptor answered Fulbert's Expectation very ill, he soon spoke to his Scholar of Love, and amus'd

(b) See the Capuchin Calimir of Toulouse, Atom peripatet to 5 pag

(c) Abal p 6

(d) Heis Son of James Thomasius, Profes-Leipfick, Aut hor of this Life of Abelaid pr n-

Hill in 1693 vid int Letter (c) Jo atisber Metalog

1 2 c 10 p 802 (f) That s to fay A-belard, as the Author expresses bimself, pag 814 In hac o-

(g) De

(1) He went to Laon] Otho of Frisingen plac'd things ill, when he said, (g) that Abelord first under Rozelin, and since under Angelmus of Laon, and gestis Frider I I. I. C 47 under William des Champeaux, Billop of Chalons fince the same Attribute is found in all the Substances, they are but one Substance So then there is but one Substance in the World, and all the Diversities that we see in the World, are but different Modifications of one and the same Substance Abelara's Adversary could not have said any thing good against this, and I do not see what the Cordelier Frassen, (b) who altered nothing in Scot's Doctrine, in the midst of the Philosophical Lights that enlighten d that Age, could have answer d to Spinoza But the other Scholasticks would have no other need to overthrow that bad System totally, than to distinguish between idem numero, and idem specie, or similitudine Peter and Paul have not the same Nature, nor the same Attribute, it by the same you understand any thing else than alike

thing elle than alike

(H) As a kind of Battery] He must be heard himfelt (i Quia locum nostrum ab æmulo nostro secerat occupari, extra civit item, in monie S Genovesa, Scholarum nostrarum castra posui, quasi cum obsissurum qui locum occupaverat nostrum Qui audito Magister noster statim ad urbem impudenter rediens, Scholas quas tune habere poterat, & Convenieulum si atrum ad prissinum reduxit monasterium, quasi militem suum quem deserverat ab obsidione nostra liberaturus. The Lite of Abelard, that fidione nostra liberaturus. The Lite of Abelara, that (d) Mr Thomasius publish'd in Germany, informs me of a thing that Andrew du Chene, Francis of Amboise, and perhaps all those that have spoken of Abelard, have been ignorant of Which is, that in the midst of have been ignorant of Which is, that in the midit of his Vexations, and of his Perfecutions, and fince he had plac'd Heloisa in the Paraclet, he return'd to Mount Saint Genevieve, to read Publick Lectures there Of which Joannes (e) Sarisberiensis, who was his Scholar there, will not permit us to doubt He fays, Cum primum adolescens admedum, studiorum causa migraflow in Galliar anna alterna ansignam, illustica per migrassem in Gallias anno altero postquam illustris Rex Anglorum Henricus, Leo justita, rebus excessit humanis, contuli me ad (f) Peripateticum Palatinum, qui tunc in Monte Santia Genovesa clarus dottor & admirabilis om-nibus prasidebat Ibi ad pedes ejus prima artis hujus ru-dimonta accosi. In organical mes quicquid ex-In hac opinione, dimenta accepi, & pro modulo ingenioli mei quicquid exfays he, decidebat ab ore ejus tota mentis aviditate excipiebam. Deprehensus inde post discessim ejus, qui mibi praproperus visus est, est Peripateticus Palatinus
Palatinus
Abelardus
So that Peter Abelard must have returned to Paris a long time after the Council of Soissons, and he went from thence a few Years before the Council of Sens Sens

The Order of Time is not kept there, and besides, that William was not Bishop while Abelard was his Disciple I come from casting my Lyes on a Book (b), wherein it is conjectured, that Abelard succeeded (b) that William in the Office of Professor in Divinity that William in the Office of Professor in Divinity that William in the Office of Professor in Divinity that the Walliam is the Office of Professor in Divinity that the Office of Professor is does not be visited to the Office of Professor in the Off an the Year 1119 But in the first place it does not appear that this Pretended Predecessor taught that Science Moreover it is very certain, that Abelard collects a appear that this Pretended Predecessor taught that Science Moreover it is very certain, that Abelard collects a read Lectures of Divinity at Paris before the Year 1889 for it is not possible that all that happen'd to him since his sirst Lectures, until the Council of Somasso, to issue, pass'd in two Years, now there is good Proofs that Council was call'd in the Year 1121 Add to this, that William des Champeaux became Bisshop of Chalons (1) in the Year 1113 and that as that Promotion took him from the Schools of Paris, Abelard went to study Divinity at Laon I cannot tell why others (1) I have be went to Chalonsto perpendicular that the proper perpendicular th

that Promotion took him from the Schools of Paris, lard there, Abelard went to study Divinity at Laon I cannot de qua sutell why others (k) satisfied with the went to Chalons to perform that Study

(K) Satisfied with there are Capacity I he was that which an Old Man that never had much Genius, was easily run a-ground so foon as he was was easily run a-ground fo foon as he was that push'd him to the Quick, as the Exceptious and the Subtile Abelard did, whose Character will be better known, if ye read what I am going to copy

Accession and hunc senem, cui magis long arus usus quam ingenium vel memoria nomen comparaverat ad quem si quis Motes on de aliqua quassione pulsandum accederet incertus, redibat Abelard's de aliqua quastione pulsandum accederet incertus, redibat Abelard's incertior Mirabilis quidem erat in oculis auscultantium. Relation, incertior Mirabilis quidem erat in oculis auscultantium, Relation Scd nullus in conspectu quastionantium Verborum usum P 1147 habebat mirabilem, Scd Sensu contemptibilem & ratione tibus & deligentius intuentibus infructuola reperiebatur 9 P 109 Ad hanc itaque cum accessissem ut fructuola reperiebatur Edit of deprehendi illam esse ficulneam cui maledixit Dominus, seu Holl illam veterem quercum cui Pompejum Lucanus comparat

- - Stat magni nominis umbra Qualis frugifere quercus sublimis in agro.
That Passage deserved to be copied, it shews the turn of Abelard's Wit, and what a great number of Persons do

(I) Most capable to be beloved] Property of our Man, and being moreover hand-fome, and in the Flower of his Age, knowing how to make Verse having an European to make Verses, having an Extraordinary Reputation, and wanting no Money, it must be thought less strange that he was in hopes that the door would be open'd to him whereever he made his Address, Tanis quippe (1) tune nominis eram, & juventutis & forma (1) Pag gratia praeminebam , ut quameumque feminarum noffre 10

digna er

more to (M) feel and kis her, than to explain an Author to her They gave them? es so much the more over to those kind of Pleasures, because they had a He was not tasted them before. He perform'd his Publick Functions only by way of Form, and named A-invented only (N) Love Verses The Scholars soon found that his I ectures were much strolability fallen off, and soon guess'd the cause of it. The last Person that heard of Peter B Intle Abelard's Amours, was the Good Man Fulbert, at whose I louse the I are was acted Article and the road Helossy. He believ'd nothing of it for some time, but at last he open'd his Lycs, and tim'd Helois his Boarder out of Doors Some time after, the Niece sound her self with Child, and writ to her about it, who thought sit she should come away from her Uncle miserame He seems Sister in Bretagne, where she was deliver d of a a Son, and to apconting bend, he offered him to marry Helosfa privately In a Proposition was ne posicalling to the Uncle than to the Niece, for a very inigular 1 xccis of Passion tum confusion rather desire to be Abdust's Mission show With made Heloisa rather desire to be Abelard's Mistress than Wife, as we shall say & elsewhere or, pudo-At last she consented to that Private Marriage, but on occasion she would protest on its porits Oath that she was not married Fulbert, who rather desired to cover the Disgrace of his quim de votio converting that Marriage, than to keep his Word which he had given to Abe-votio conventionis to speak of it, abused his Niece often, when he for not her obstitute to deny ad monitate the was Abelard's Wife Upon this her Husband sent her to the Monissiev of sticorum Argenteuil, and made her take the Nuns Habit, except the Vill Inchestin of Itibula Helosa imagined that he play'd them a fecond Trick of Persian in it, and were so ti in clausticported with Anger, that they fent some Men to him that enter dante has Chamber in pulte Id the Night, and cut off his Manly Parts wherewith he had different the Pich and spins Family He was so ashamed of it γ , that he went and hid 'mich in Dulines of a Monastick Life Shame, and not Devotion, made him take the Nionks Hibit in a Nionks Hibit in 10 the Abby of St Denis The Disorders of that Abby, wherein the Ir writes of the $\frac{1}{58}$ Sen Abbot were as superior to those of the Common Monks as his line by studed him Nine above them. above them, foon drove Abel rd away. He for up for a Reformer which he made round himself so troublesome, that they were glad to be rid of him. It is the cache of a Mamb Place of Retreat (0) in the Dominion of the Lail of Charger, who is no fet in the dignarer amore nullam vererer repulsam. For a Philosopher who had liv'd in (m) Continency, he did not dini pi laxaargue like a weak Person on those Mattters, when he hoped that the Conquest of Heloisa would be easier than that of another, I say, he was in hopes of it, for the Reason that the teaching of Heloisa would give occasion for a Commerce regulated by Letters, entiffi. wherein he durst better declare things than in Conversation Tanto (n) facilius hanc mihi puellam consen-furam credidi, quanto amplius cam literarum scientiam & habere & diligere noveram, nosque etiam absentes scriptis internuntiis invicem liceret prasentare, & pleia-que audacius scribere quam colloqui. The Billets-doux que audacius scribere quam colloqui. The Billets-doux and Tender Verses are no Weak Machines, and chiesly when a Person can sing the Passionate Verses chiefly when a Person can sing the Passionate Versus that he composes Abelard touched Helossa's Heart in such manner, and that such a surious fire into her by his Fine Passional that his Fine Voice, that the poor Creature contains the surious fire into him (0), Due the surious fire into him (0), Due the surious fire into the surious quaranteet onimos statim allicere potential videlices & cantandi gratia See her Article, where this Passage being related a little at length, will inform what force those things have on the Sex (o) Oper

(n) Pag

have on the Sex

(M) To feel and kiss her] To hide the Game the better from the Uncle, he seemed sometimes to make use of the Permission that was given him to chastise Helosa He said that Love, and not Preceptoral Anger, inclined him to whip his Scholar sometimes, and that he gave her the softest Blows in the World See the Draught here that he gives us of the Lessons he gave to that Young Maid (p) sub occasione disciplina amori penitus vacabamus, & secretos recessus quos amor optabat studium lestionis offerebat Aperticisaque libris plura de amore quam de lestione verbase se ingerebant, plura erant oscula quam sententia. Sapius ad sinus quam ad libros reducchantur manus crebrius oculos amor in se restetebat quam lestio in scripturam diocules amor in se reflettebat quam lectio in scripturam dirigebat Queque minus suspicionis haberemus verbera quandoque dabat amor non furo, grassa non ira, que omnium unquentorum suavitatem transcenderent But upon some occasions he had recourse to the Rod in each which was when he did not find her in a flumour, or that the respect of some Solemn her in a Humour, or that the respect of some Solemn haval inspired her with some Scruple See the Article of Heloisa Let us not forget Abelard's Reslection on the Prebend's Simplicity Quanta ejus simplicitas esfet vehementer admiratus, non minus apud me obstupui quam si agnam teneram famelico lupo committeres. Qui cum cam mihi non solum docendam, verum ettam vehementer construngen-dam traderet, quid aliud agebat quem ut votis meis li-muntiam penetus davet de accassone ettanis nollemus offer-ret, at quim en a lice o ind this in p??, min come, of im min heribus facilius fi derem. And is he cite the Ancie it in vehePoets often enough, I wo der I this Young Ship promenter delivered to an Hungiy Wolf, did not put him in mind of these Words of Viveil, (q)

Eheu quid volui in seio mish? Foribus austrin

Poedicus de la male commissionals foribus austrin vel in cir.

Perditus, & liquidis immiss for ibus apros

(N) Only I ove Verses After he had tasted the Delights of Enjoyment, he was not pleas d with purities & libono-Delights of Enjoyment, he was not pleased with reading Lectures, and tairied as little in his Au dibonio-fundatory as he could. The Night (1) was a time whol libonio-fundatory as he could. The Night (1) was a time whol libonio-fundatory as he could. The Night (1) was a time whol libonio-fundatory as he could have had the whole Divided to fludy in. This was the Readon that his 5 hold was very troubletone to him. Neither did to the peat any other but his old Leifons, and if my New Thought happened to hum, it did not turn on my Philolophical Difficulty, but on Amorous Some Pig. Philosophical Difficulty, but on Amorous Some 164 that were fung a long time in divers Provinces 1 a 1negligentem & tepida a le l'o tro c hasel a u 11m ? " (/) I d exingenio sidex ulu cuncts profession, ac sin nelli di exingenio sidex ulu cuncts profession, ac sin nelli (1) I di ta'or pristinorum (sson in ntoi um, or son nelli (1) II si liceret carmina essenti um stoi ia, noi phi is spinio si or si as Itelan Quorum etiam carminum plo si can thur mul, si ii as Itelan or ipse nosti frequentani or si can ti un reconici si, avi ta and shis maxime quos vita sim licosti litt (s). It is certain then that he could mike Verse, but I cannot be lieve that he was the Author of the I am sus Romanic (693). of the Rose, and that he described his H losa under the Name of Beauty Yet it is what I read in a lir (u) Franc's tle Book (t) reprinted in Hollan H that (u) took of Amtie Book (1) reprinted in Hollan 11 that (a) took of Amfo much pains to collect and confer Abelia d's Minu boile feripts, seems to me more worthy of ciedit that the Po of the little Book Now he says positively that the Po of the Pomance of the Rose is a Work of U. I'm d. I or s, each the accept the end of it, that was made by John at M. o. I was positively than the first belief thing. The History of Abelia I and the first thing. The History of Abeland and of Helogan 113 com inserted in that Romance

(O) In the Dominion of the Earl of Champigne

This is discovered by conferring to 0 Palige I to pinter of first is this (w) Ad Cellang in the rift pinter of Par n folious vacatures. The Second is this () if the ritter a solito vacaturus The Second is this ') il 'llo ' the lan aufug, atque adternam Comitis? con l'ipro im, ubi 1616, is antes in Cella moratus fueram, allies l'if i com 400 prehended nothing in the first feet the found this Sense in it, (y) Retiring himself u a i a k (o mer of the (a) Al x) Monastery, he read sorretimes in Pi lesphi, and sometimes p 190 in Divinity Abelard did in no write tet up a School in the Circumference of the Abby of St D nig, ii () It he had, he would not have been lest trouble similarly and the Monks, whose Irregularities he centuild, and which was the Reason that they desired to he rid of (s) Piham, than before Mr du Cu qu, according to his quier ubit, in the light of the properties of the formation of the properties here.

a Alberi-

(s a) Paquier ubi

up a School, and attracted fuch a great (P) number of Auditors, that the Envy of the other Masters that found themselves forsaken by their Scholars because of him, begun to raise him new Persecutions. He had two a Formidable a Albericus Removed the first and Lorus Results of their Archbishop, they obtained the Convocation of a Council at latter is Soffons, (R) about the Year 1121 That Council, without giving Abelard any talled Louraldus and to return to the Monastery of St Medard A little while after they orderfield him to return to the Convent of St Denis, where the Liberty he had taken to censure that their St Denis was Denis the Areopagite, that is spoken of in the believe that their St Denis was Denis the Areopagite, that is spoken of in the Scripture This was taken up presently, and reported to the Abbot, was very glad of it, because he had a Pretence in hand to mix the (S) Ac-

the bid Confequences of em, for there is some like-Ishood that sibeland thought the Maxims that he att elep the thit proceeded either from Malice or Ignorance not accuse him of Sabellianism, (d) but of Triebeism (ouncil of His Comparison is, that as the Three Propositions of a Syllogism are but One same Truth, so likewise the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost are but one Soutions fame Lilence, (e) Sicu entem oratio est proposit o, af-

Custom, explains very learnedly what Cella is See the Remark A of the Article Paraclet, wherein I explain the divers Stations of Peter Abelard

(P) Such a great Number of Additors] See the Article Ioulques Prior of Deuil, concerning the great number of the Scholars.

number of his Scholars

(2) On the Mystery of the Trinity] The Occasion that inchined our Abelard to write on that Matter, was, that his Scholars required Philosophical Reations for it. They were not satisfied with Words, but would rather have Ideas, and told him plunly, that they not not softly as hely we what was not any that it was not possible to believe what was not understood, and that it was to laugh at People to preach a I hing that was incomprehensible both to him that () Abal speaks, and to those that hear (v) Humanas O Phispeaks, and to those that here (%) Humanas & Philosophicas sationes requirehant, & plus qua intelligi qui in qua diei possente essanti quan intelligi qui in qua diei possente essanti quan intelligentia non l'aucretto, ne cred posse aliquid niss primitus intellettum of receille quos doceret intellestuam essente quod cree essente quod cree essente quod cree essente duces excorum Whereupon he begun to explain to them the Unity of Coul by Comparisons borrowed from Human Whereupon he begun to explain to them the Unity of God, by Computions borrowed from Human Things Paquio (aa) accuses him of having maintimed, that we ought not to believe a thing that we not go one Reason for, which is in plain Language, continues he, to destroy the General Foundation of our title. I do not isk him who told him that a Projection approves all his Scholus Lancies, when he has the complassine to prevent as much as he can the bad Consequences of cm, for there is some likethood that sabeled thought the Maxims that he attributed to 11 Auditors reasonable enough. But the likelihood must not be built on the Passage that in section of the likelihood must not be built on the Passage that in section in cought 1 ither to be grounded on the likelihood must 1 ither to be grounded on the likelihood must 1 ither to be grounded on the likelihood must 1 ither to be grounded on the likelihood magis contrasting to likelihood magis contrasting to likelihood magis contrasting to likelihood must reasonable contrasting to likelihood must reasonable contrasting the likelihood must reasonable contrasting to likelihood must reasonable contrasting the lik

() Conn vext that another had found Explications and Clear-

(1) Commerce that another had found Explications and Clear-Risher of Prenette out a Heretick, and made such a noise, that the Heretice out a Heretick, and made such a noise, that the Propieties People were ready to stone Abelard (b) Duo illi prantite at the annuli nostricita me in Clero & populo distance control of nostria prima die nostria adventus lapidarent, dicentes me tres Deos pradicare & sirripsisse, sicut apsis persuasum fueres that Deos pradicare & sirripsisse, sicut apsis persuasum fueres that Deos pradicare described from the (c) of latinger of the Douglasse, and made supplies fixed applications and Clear-noise out a store of the population of the control of the sirripsisse, sirripsisse, and made such a made against the was very Orthodox on the My-item of the Tanity, and that all the Processes they it that proceeded either from Malice or Ignorance. The h w w ac Companion that he bonowed from Legick (for Legick wild of the Wishis Mafter-piece) tends rather to reduce the Three High of Divine Pentons introduce, than to multiply the Effence Subclinus of God into Three and yet neverthelefs they do

Sumptio & conclusio, ita eadem essentia est Pater & Filius & Spiritus Sanstus The Inconveniencies that might proceed from such a Parallel, do not equal, or at least do not outdo those that proceed from the Parallel of the Trinity with the Three Dimensions of the Matter So that fince no doubt is made of the Orthodoxy of Dr Wallis, Mathematician of Oxford, who did very much infif on the Paiallel of the Three Dimensions, that of Peter Abelard is not to be doubted of, under pretence of the Comparison of the Syllogism That which is ceitain is, that on the Foot of the Syllogism, and on that of the Three Dimensions, the Trinity would come much short of being what it is Note, that a Minister mide use of the Pit illel of the Three Dimensions in the Year 1685. This appears by the News from the Republick of Learning, in the by the News from the Republick of Learning, in the 3d Article of the Month of July, in the 10th Article of the Month of August, and in the 1-th Article of the Month of September It was refuted by another Minister in the Year 1694. See the Examination of Mr Juneu's Theology by Mr Saurin,

pag 83 r

png 831

(R) About the Year 1121] I ather Alexander (f) Alexanproves this strongly, as well against John Picard, Piebend of St Victor, who plac'd that Council in the Year 1116 as against Binius, who plac'd it in the Year 1116 The Chronological Fults of Binius, and those of some others, had already been censured part 3 on the Prefice of the Works of Poter Abelard Ir had been ind that Platina hid placed the Synod that condemned Abelard in the time of Pope Lucius the IId that Binius was fallen into that Error of Platina, that that Binius was fallen into that Liror of Platina, that he had committed another, in placing the Councils of Sonfons, and of Sons in the Year 1140, and that Combinard placed but one Years Interval between those two Councils. To justifie that they were leasts, it had been faid, that the Pontificat of that l'aults, it had been said, that the Pontificat of that Lucius, which did not continue a whole Year, sell in the Year 1145 and that 20 Years pas'd between the holding of the Council of Soissons, and the holding of the Council of Soissons. It was maintained that the Bishop of Prenesse, who presided in the Council of Soissons in the Quality of the Pope's Legat, went out of France about the Year 1120 and did not return thither again. More Faults than one might be remark'd in those Words of Platina that have been cited. Qui (Abelardus) prasente etiam Lodovico. Rese ted Qui (Abelardus) presente etiam Lodovico Rege rationibus vietus non modo sententiam mutavit, sed esiam monasticam vienam & Religionem induit, ac deinceps una cum discipulis quibusdam in loco deserto santissimo vient First of all it is certainthat Abelard was turned Monk before any Council was held against him. In the second place it is in the Council of Sens that Lewis the VIsta assisted, to see what would pass in that Hearth's Care. retick's Cause But it is false that Abelard yielded himself in that Council to the Reasons of his Adverfaries, and abjured his Opinions He desir'd from the beginning to be sent to the Pope. In the third place, it is no less false, that he lived after that time in a Desart Place with some Disciples, for he lived the remainder of his Days with the Monks of Clugni. It appears very well, that Plating plac'd confusedly what regards the Two Councils that were assembled against Abelard. Most of the Faults that I have taking up are represented to Religence in the Present

ken up are reproach'd to Bellefores in the Preface above nentioned, where he is moreover cenfur'd with Reason to have gloss'd on Abelard's Epitaph, as if the over-strain'd Praises that are read in it were a Proof of his insufferable Impudence and Pride It wer fail to practice, to fatisfy their Revenge more fecurely. The Abbot for in the Gentlemen inversinit to practife, to fatisfy their Revenge more fecurely. The Abbot fay in the inflambled his Chapter without delay, and declar'd that he was going to deliver him to decler him. King's Justice, who had the Audacionfines to overthrow the Glory and the Crown he gave of the Kingdom. Abelard judging, that such Threats were no small Matter, sled by that Name Wight into Champagns, and after the Abbot's Death, he obtain d Permission to live Mo- to his Order Market in the Salard and after the Abbot's Death, he obtain d Permission to live Mo- to his Order Market in the Salard The Politick Reasons that concern'd with this are (T) Curimatrically where he pleas'd The Politick Res sons that concern'd with this are (T) Currency, and subscenough. In consequence of that Permission, he made choice of a Solutide in the report the Diocese of The Politick Res sons that call d the a Paraolet A great Cavils in the please of the property of the Envy that had so often which they report the Ressert Cavils. But at this time, he fell into the most dangerous hands in the World, him on these I meet that he was exposed to Two that call'd themselves Restorers of the Ancient Dif-subject currency and great Zealots, that like (U) new Apostles had acquired the People's Favour & Southers. cipline, and great Zealots, that like (U) new Apostles had acquir'd the People's Favour B See th. There spread so many Slanders against his Person, that they debauch d the chief of his Remort E from him, and that they constrain'd those that loved him not to shew it. of the Arriade his Life so butter to him, that he was on the point to leave the & Christian (John ntry; but his Star did not permit him to procure that Quiet to himself, and ad-Paul) incred him again to > Christians, and Monks worse than Turks The Monks of the Ab- > Incidi by of Ruys, in the Diocese of Vannes, Elected him (W) for their Superior, and he was in Christian hopes it would be an Asyle for him, but he found that he had only changed the Evil Monachos is certain that that Epitaph was compos'd by the Abbot of Clugni, after the Death of Abelard Divers Historians have ill distinguished the two Councils

(g) In Hist treated that Person's Cause Pnulus Emilius (g) Ludovice will have it, that that of Sens was the first wherein it was examin'd Du Haillan (b) fets forth the same (h) Hist of Fality, and accompanies it with divers others, is France in that Abelard durst not appear, that all his Writings the time of were condemned to the Fire, and that the second Leuis the time that he was Cited, the Prelates disputed a long VII time before they Condemn'd him Pulip de Bergamo time before they Condemn'd him Pulip de Bergamo () Hecalls maintains, That the Heretick (1) having been condum victed in the presence of King Lewis, by the power-ful Reasons of those Learned and Catholick Prelates, abjur'd his false Doctrines, turn'd Monk, and past the rest of his days very piously in a Desert with some an rise of his Disciples. A thousand Chroniclers might be found, that have copied those same Falsities friend (1) Hist of each other. A little Book (k) that I have already Helosia quoted puts these Words in the Mouth of H loss, and Abe-What did not those two false Prophets advance, that delaid, with clar'd so strongly against you, in the Council of Reims? Those Two salse Prophets are St. B rnard and St. Normare Lee-both. Helossa has not said, that they cried against him best Helossa has not fa d, that they cried against him ter that she in any Council, but however, it is not in that of witto him Reim to that he in any Council, but however, it is not in that of witte him Reime

At the (S) The Accusations of a Grime, of State] It is an Hag 1693 Art that has been 10 often image use of, fince the (I) Gospel Jews (I) employ dit against the Luke frange my body during the first time Ought they ch 23 vo not to fear that a batter worn out with Age as the Sould be incapined to feduce any Body? No, with the first come, and is the Spirit of Persecution and of Revenge has hitherto endeavoured to Interest Sovereigns in its particular Quarrels, it will endeavour to do the fune until the end of the World, And we may well apply the taying of Solomon here, (m) The thing that hath been, is that which shall be and that which is done, is that which shall be and that which is done, is that which shall be and that which is done, is that which shall be and that which is done, is that Abbot of St. Deny: to reture, had recourse to Politick Machines. He knew that the more the Monks of St. Deny: plung'd rhomselves into Disorder, the more Authority would the Court exercise aguing that Abby, and draw Prosit from it Therefore he gave the King and his Council to understand, that it was not for his Majesty's Interest that such a Religious like himself, that always Cenfur del bad Life of those Monks, should live a long time among the They understood by half a word what the meaning of this was, an order was given to one of the chief of the Court to enquire of the Sente serviceable to there, and who so that Reason they would retain a Monk by torce, whose Life did not it is stud) agree with theirs, and vho so that Reason was not to one of the chief of the Court to enquire of the Sente serviceable to there, and might easily procure them of times of the court of the Court, how their some Disgrace. The Conclusion was, that Abelard loves the retird. I remember on this Discourse, to have one Disorders of the Court, how their the Clergy.

nourable to their Religion and the State. He and viores attiwered me, That the Publick Good oblig'd the Socyereign to use that Indulgency, and to explain that res. Id. Riddle to me, he added, That the Senate was pleas'd. Prog. 32 that the People had the utmost disdain for the Priests and for the Monks, for then they are less able to make them revolt. I was told, that one of the Reafons why the Lesuits their did not please the Sover fons why the Jesuits there did not please the Sovereign wis, because they kept the Decorum of their Character better, and that therefore making them-felves to be more respected with the common People by a more regular out fide, they are more in a Condition to excite a Sedition I can fearcely imagine that fuch a dieadful Disorder like that can be true In what Condition should we be, if the Soveraign Authority stood in need to maintain it felf by fuch in Expedient, and if the Clergy made themselves more formidable by their good than by their bid Manners? I hat Dilorder would be a thousand times more deplorable, than that whereof Tactus speaks, when he says, That under a bad Government a great Reputation exposes a Person to as great Dangers as a bad one Intravit (o) animum militaris gloria cupido, (o) Tacibad one Intravit (0) animum militaris gloriæ cupido, (0) Tacingrata temporibu, quibus sin stra eigi eminintes inter- tus in vipretatio, nicemmus periculum ex magna fama, quam ex ta Agricomala. But let us sec Abel il d's own words (p) In- le, c s tervenientibus amicis quilus dam nostris Rigem & Constil- (p) Abel um ejus super hoc compellavi, & sic quo svolebam impi- p 27 travi. Stephanus quippe Regis tunc Dapiser, vocato in partem Abbati & similiaribus ijus, quasivit ah eis cur invitum retinere vellint ex quo incurrer facili scandalam possent. Er nullam utilitatem babera- cun nullatenus vipossent, & nullam utilitatem habers, cum nullatenus vitames & nullam utilitatem habers, cum nullatenus vitames & iporum conven il possent Sciebam autem in hoc Regii Consilii sintentiam is, ut quo minus revulaii. Abbatiailla esset, magis Rigi iste subjetta atque utilis, quantum videlicer ad lucra temporalia. Unde me sacile Regis & fuorum affensum consequi credideram, si que actum est Some Pages after he ilys, That a Bicton Lord had taken in Advantage (1) of the ill Life of the Monks of Ruys, to seize on their Estates To take from Page after her the believe to of their I was been no iclinet Persons that by the holincis of their Lives have acquir'd the Veneration of the People; I say, to take instituted away from such Persons what the Charity of the nistern rathful gave them, is no small undertaking, but it calionem is not believ'd very hazardous total e it from Persons

Lid 11 , 3 that scandalize the Publick

(v) That like new Aposses Read what follow (r) Quosdam adversum me novos Apossolos quilus mundus () Abal plurimum credebat excitaverant Quorum aiter (who P) was St Norbert) regularium Canonicorum v tam, alter (who was St Bernard) Monachorum se resultatife gio-riabatur Heloisa pag 42 calls them false Apo-

(W) The Monks of the Abby of Ruys _____ elited him for their Superior] The Benedictin that labour d (s) Du fo much on the Antiquities of P ir s, w is much in the Breul, An-wrong to Censure Bellefores, who had said, That A 119 of Pabelard possest an Abby in Bretagne (1) That he was ris, p 888 an Abbo in Bretagne, is falle, for in going from the Edit 1639 Paraclet be retired to Cluny, and continued in that Con- in 4to gregation until his Death This is an Author very ill (1)Th Letintorm'd He knows not that Peter Abelard had an tros Aberdone in Bretagne before and after the Cession of the laid that Paraclet. If he had read the (1) Letter well of Paraclet If he had read the (t) Letter well, of con mint which he cires fome Passages, he would have seen it the R lates there with the utmost Evidence

The Gentibus longe fæ-

Lfe

(X) And

& Unuf-The incorrigible Manners of the Monks, and the Violence of a Lordswhostock the best quique part of their Revenues from them, infomuch that they were confittant to maintain a clum mar-Vexations, and also (X) to the greatest Dangers. During those Transactions the Abbot & concus of St. Denys drove the Nuns away from Argenteulli, Abelied moved with Pity for Helosse binas flus their Prioress, made her a Present of the Oratory of the Paraclet, where the settled cum files their Prioreis, made not a recommendation Since that time, he often made Journeys from the files her felf with some of her Companions Since that time, he often made Journeys from the state of Wales, and to ease himself a little from the substants Bretagne into Champagne, for the Interests of Helossa, and to ease hunfelf a little from the ret Id Troubles of his Abby People spoke (T) ill of it, notwithstanding the Muriation that this poor Man had formerly suffer d. Thus far he has carried the History of his Missante of St fortunes, in a Letter that is yet extant. The rest of his Life is to be look'd for in other lito ic ibie nonicum partet Epist 1

pag 16

(a)Virgil Aneid

And also to the greatest Dingers.] They enderpous in commoditatibus gravabatui In Opeith Abel p 341

C See the

(X) And also to the greatest Dingers.] They endervour d often to Poison him, and not being able to do it in the common Diet, because of his Precautions, they tried to Poison him with the Bread and the Wine of the Luchirist. Not easing one day of the Meat thit was provided for him, he saw his ons that he thunder'd against the most mutinous of his Monks, did not mend the Disorder. Lastin he & quibuions that he thunder'd against the most mutinous of C six the his Monks, did not mend the Disorder I astly, he tened the Dagger more than the Posson, and computed himself to him whom the Tyrant of Syracusa renerally caused to be fet at his Table, under a Sword that hung only by a Thread (a) in operib himself to him whom the Tyrant of Syracusa hung only by a Thread (a) (T) People spoke all of it notwithstanding the mutilation of Jaines invesself of surroully against that poor Man, that although it was known, that he had no longer wherewith to stristy a Woman, yet they did Clericum not for bear to say, That a remainder of Sensual Lust acque (1) kept him addicted to his ancient Mistress Quad me fire, since a charitae compellibat, so its desograntium prafice, fine sa charitae compellebat, so ita derogantium pra-vitas impudentissime accusabat, decens me adhuc quadam carnalis concup seentia oblestatione teneri qui prissina di-lette substituce alsentiam vix aut nunquam paterer. It is the Complaint we find in the 35th Page of his Re-lation. He comforted himself by the Example of St Jerome, whose Friendship for Paula serv'd for an (u) Vide

Fpist 1

Fintertainment to Slandeiers, and he thought to rep 39, and fute (alumny invincibly, by observing that the most Jealous commit their Wives to the keeping of Eunuchs Father Theophilus Raynaud laught at that Reason, because he had read many Examples of impure Conventation between Women and mutilated (w) The
(w) The
(w) Ex qu bus omnibus liques quam frigida sucrit oph Ray-Petri Abelardi apologia, cum redargutus de nimia samipaud de liauseste cur amica au den lua Hibila & alia montalinaud de liarisate cur amico qui dem jua Helossa & alius moniali-Lunuchis, bus Paraclitensibus reposuit, Lunuchos qualu ipse fastus P 148 erit, tuto & abs sue comus priculo posse versari cum sami-ns I shall say something of it in the Article Com-litur Helossa lov'd Abelard so vehemently, although I thur Heloifa lov'd Abelard to vehemently, although they had Castrated him, that the Virtues of that Min might run great Hazards with her See our Ren wisson that Woman's Article These Words of Fine 1,

Trift per augurium Teucrorum pettora ducunt, represent in some manner the Conduct of those, who might fear that the Passion of Helessa had too much force on the Chaffity of her Abelard

Bernardby Writings, and confifts chiefly in that he had a new Process of Heresy before the Arch-Geoffoi, bishop of Sens He requested that he might be permitted to justify his Doctrine in a Monk of Publick Assembly. Which was granted him. A Council was call'd at Sens, at which, vaux, 13 King Lews the VII. would assist in Person. This was in the Year 1140. St Bernard was sent for thither to act the part of an Accuser. In the first place, the Propositions 189th Let- that were extracted out of Peter Abelard's Books were read in the Assembly. That Read? Bernard, oil Condemn'd the Propositions &, but order d nothing against the accused Person, and ed in Abe- gave an Account of all to Pope Innocent the II desiring him to Confirm the Condemnation The Pope , fail'd not to do it, he order'd Abelard's Books to be burnt, and works, p himself to be shut up, forbidding him to teach any more He appeas'd himself some time after, at the Sollicitation of Petrus Veneralles, who had received that Heretick very time after, at the Sollicitation of Petrus Venerabilus, who had received that Heretick very 194th Let-kindly in his Abby of Clugny, and who had also reconciled him to St. Bernard F, the ter of the Promoter of (Z) the Oppression that Innocence had suffered in that Council The Refume, and treat of Clugny was the last that Abelard stood in need of He found all kind of Charity there, He read Lectures there to the Monks, and he was equally Humble and I about ous Lastly, being become instim, plagued with the Itch, and troubled with see the several other Instructes, he was sent to the Priory of St. Marcel, a very pleasant Place on the Saone near Chalons, where he died the 21st of April (A) 1142 Aged 63 Years to linnocent the II speak of his Writings in the Article of Francis of Ambosse, and as for his Errors, and in operib his Synodal Persecutions, we shall touch something of them in the Article of Beren Abaltudi ger of Poitters. It is remarkable, that he made no scruple of his Marriage, although he P 335 was a 8 Clergyman, and Possessor. P 335 was a 6 Clergyman, and Possessor of a Canonship I have been surprized to see that he

(2) The Promoter of the Oppression] We shall speak of this, in the Article of Berenger of Poitiers
(A) The 21 of April, 1142] This shews, that the new Author of the Life of Abelard is much misftaken, in making him to live in the Year 1170 L fpeak of the Author of a little Book printed at the Hague in 1693 wherein we find three other little pieces, with the abridged History of Heloisa and of Abe-

lard

(B) His Body was fent to Heloifa] Paquier affures

(7), That Abelard ordered by his Will to be Buried

(7) Pain the Monaftery of the Panaght Francis of Amboile quier ubi

(2) affures it also, but he gives no other Pioof of supra it, than the Testimony of Paquier That which

(2) Præf

makes me incredulous upon this, is, That Peter the Apologic

Venerable makes no mention at all of it in the Let rer (a) that he writ to Helosa, wherein he gives her (a) In one Venerable makes no mention at all of it in the Letter (a) that he writ to Hilossa, wherein he gives her (a) In opean Account of Abelard's last Hours What is more, rib Abathe Absolution of Abelard's last Hours What is more, rib Abathe Absolution of Abelard proves, That his Body lardi, p was sent to the Paraclet only to gratify Hilossa This 337 is a sign that she had desired that I avour Now what Right would the Abbot of Clugny have had to make of a Testamentary Disposition the matter of a Courtely The Kalender of the Abby of the Paraclet consists all this powerfully, for we find these Words there (b), VIII Kal Januar obist Petrus Clunacensis Abbas, cujus CONCESSU habet Ecclesia nostra du Querce Chesne, in his Notes on the Lipstle wherein Abelard relates his Missortunes, is a great Reason for me against Paquier There are somethat without speaking of a Will (c), say, That they gave Hilossa the Body of her late Husband, as he had testissed by his Letters to have desir'd to be done. But neither lam Abeland the Chesne, when the same a standard that Calam Abeland the Chesne, when the same and that Calam Abeland the Chesne, when the same and the calam Abeland the Chesne, when the same are constituted to be done. But neither lam Abeland the Chesne, when the same are constituted to be done as the calculation of the Chesne, when the calam Abeland the Chesne, when the calculation are calculated to be constituted to the calculation of the Chesne, when the calculation are calculated to the constitution of the Chesne, when the calculation of the Chesne, when the calculation are calculated to the calculation of the Chesne, which is calculated to the calculation of the Chesne, which is calculated to the calculation of the Chesne, which is calculated to the calculation of the Chesne, when the calculation of the Chesne, which is calculated to the calculation of the Chesne, which is calculated to the calculation of the Chesne, which is calculated to the calculation of the Chesne, which is calculated to the calculation of the Chesn Body of her late Husband, as he had teithed by his Hift ca-Letters to have desir'd to be done. But neither lam Abel those Letters are Cited, nor any body that has cited (c) Cave, them I found the place in the 53 Page of his Histor li-Works He was then in his Abby of Russ, and fear'd tei script to be Assalinated every day He whit to Heloisa Leclei p. Quod si me Dominus in manibus immicorum tradiderit 652 Cilicet us ipsi prevalentes me intersciant, au quocunque casu viam universe carnis absens a vobis ingrediar, cada-ver absers nostrum ubicunque vel sepultum, vel expositum

ver observe no frum ubicunque vel sepultum, vel expositum jacuerit, ad Comiterium vestrum deservi faciatis, noi solie (d) See A nostra, imo in Christo sorores sepulcium nostrum sapius vi- belard s dentes ad preces pro me Domino sundendas amplius invi- Works, p tentur Here is Abelard's Absolution it was to be 343 put on his Tomb, and for such an use Heloisa had (c) In odesir'd it (d) of Peter the Venerable Igo (e) Petrole perio A-Ego (e) Petrile perib A-Gla- bæl p 3 e 5 makes no mention of his (C) Master Roscelin a, who past in those times for a Cunning a Orho Logician, and who is look d upon as the Founder of the Sea of the Nominals. He Irising do Logician, and who is look dupon as the Founder of the Sect of the Nominals. He shall an Inchination to that Sect himself, which he found very proper for B the Vivacity of bis penetrating, sharp and inventive Wit He frighted People by the means of that Science, Avenua and thunder'd and cast them down with so many Cavils and Sylogisms, that he made them as much And Bodiffonsh'd as confus'd. I do not believe that he ever meddled with the Explication (D) of shall shall see the Civil Law, as some pretend We shall see the (F) Catalogue of Mr Moreri's Errors Addit to the last Remark You will find a long List of Authors that have spoke of Abelard in the Hist of Lewis St. And Science as Sect of Harmaria as Sect of Harmaria. a y Work of Father Jacob ABELIANS, or Abelonians, a Sect of Hereticks that was form'd in the Coun- Pag 160 They near Hippo, and which was already extinguish'd in St Augustin's time. They had ris scrip-

Chun applies Abbas qui Petrum Abalardum in Monachum Clum appen recepi, & conput ejut furtim delatum Helas Abbatissa & Monialibus Paraclet concessi, authoritate omnipotentis Des & omnium santorum absolvo eum pro essicio ab omnibus opeccatis sus Bellesoret (f) set forth a great Fassity, when he said, That the Bones of Peter Abelard were taken up and burnt The Apologetical Presace of the Sieur d'Amboise resutes it thuncibly refutes it invincibly

(C) His Master Roscelm] Salabert Priest of Agen in his (g) Differtation on the Sect of the Nominals, calls it in question, Whether Roscelin was Peter Abelard's Preceptor? We shall examine his Reasons in

g) The Ti-le of it is, hilofothe Article Roscelin hia No-(D) With the Explication of the Civil Law] It feems to me, that Irancus d' Amboife is deceiv'd, when nınalıum ındıcata he believes that Accursive spoke of our Peter Abelard, in the gloss on the Law, Quinque pedum prascriptione Here are the words of (b) Accursius Sed Petrus Bailardus qui se factavit qued ex qualibet quantum cunque difficili litera traheret sanum intilictum, bic dicit NLSCIO Accastus praises the Modesty of that Peter Bailard, who so honestly own'd his Ignorance about it Magnus ille Andi eas Alcastus in illo quem de quinb) Apud r d'Amappel at Magnus ille Andians Alciatus in ito quen ae quinque pedum prascriptione scripsit tratiatu, postquam Petrum Bailardum celebrem sua tempestate Professorem laudavit quod ingenue sassus essen legem a se non intellibratus's own Expressions are sufficient to condemn him, for Vords, A. to make Alisaim speak right, the famous led autem Professor whom he prais'd must have been Professor ristimata in Law What wonder would it be, that a riotei-fieldiffici-for in Logick should own, that he does not under-fend a certain intricate place of the Code? We see is, ut Pe- fland a certain intricate place of the Code? We see rus Bay- also, that this Bailard is a Professor in Law, in Peter ardus Crinitus, who calls him Joannes Bajalardus Let us conclude, that our Peter Abelard is not concern d here, and that Paquier (k) who thought to have ion incemade a Remark that ought now to be forgot, in applying to him what Accurring faid, would have done better to have faid nothing of it. He ought at least to have taken good notice that there is not Petrus Arenuè fasbellardus in the passage of Accursus as he pretends, but Petrus Bellardus But if it was true, that that Glossator did mean our Abelard, I think we ought to us bevam de non fly, that he was mistaken, for we see no reason to believe that Abelard concern'd himtelf with Juris-prudence Let us see Crinitia's Words (1) Quasijuier ubi 1) (rini- tum est superiori etate a virus doctioribus quidnam in jure us de ho- nostro civili prascriptio quinque pedum signaret, qualis-tefta dit- que foret in ca intellectus Quam rem Laurentiu Valla & alss complures cum non fatis perciperent hac una se raipl 1 25

m)Jacob Thomas in vitaPeri Abel

Bel-noret's

bronicle f France

vo

'ræf \pel

ebris empestaeffor inntelligi

upra

Abelard was sometimes call'd Baialard Here is an Observation that Mr de la Monneie communicated to me, after having read my Remark D I am fure that it will afford a greater help to deter-mine the Matter, when his shoughts have been compar d with mine, wherefore I am pertuaded that he will permit me to put all my Readers in a Condition to compare I am per waded, he says, that Accursius in his Gloss on the Law quinque pedum, meant Abelard I grant that Abelard made no Prosofton of Juris prudence, but he past for Universal, and for a Man that presended to find nothing above his Understanding, qui totum Scibile sciedat, as it is said of him in his Epitaph. In the cited place Accursius gives us no other Idea of it than that, and those that believed on the Words of the Glosser, that Petrus Baylardus or Bailardus had been a samous Prosoffer in Law, are deceived compar d with mine, wherefore I am perfuaded that dus had been a famous Professor in Law, are decenved.
There was never any of that Name Bailardus un other than Abelard, and it is one of the ten or twelve maye that the Name of that Author is writ. The Italians who are very subject so those kind of Retrenchments, have tione descendebant, quod Joannes Bajalardus inter eos qui JUS CIVILL PROFITENTUR vir consultissimus ingenue affirmavit, se idud ignorare Thomasius (m) ought not to have concluded from this Passage, that faid Bailardus for Abailardus, as Ragona for Aragona, nenfibus, Naldo for Arnaldo, Berto for Alberto, or Lamberto p 142

It will not be denied at least that James Philip of Bergamo (n), an Augustin Monk, call dour Abelard, Baliards This is the Observation of Mr de la Monno e (n) See a-I shall say one thing that I did not think of in the bove P 23 shift Edition I believe that Abelard died before the Col 1 Let-Study of the Roman Law was known in France It for i had been rais'd again in Italy (e) tome Years before, (e) See the and it may well be thought, that the Infancy of that Are Irnenew Life lasted some time So that it is very unlike- rius ly, that recourse was had to our Irench Logician for the Explication of a particular Law, that was difficult in the highest Degree, and of a very small use Men seldom amuse themselves to unravel such like things, until after they pretend to have clear d the more important, or when they endeavour to out-do the first Interpreters. There must be time then bethe first Interpreters There must be time then before they come to that If it were permitted to make use of Mi Menage's Rules, we might perhips say, That the Bailardus of Accursus is a corruption of the word Bulgarus, Bailgarus, Bailgarus, Bailgarus, Bailgardus, Bailgardus Those that Copy proper Names ill, and those that do not pronounce them right, may by Degrees introduce great Alterations Perhaps what Accursus, deceived by those Corruptions of Names, attributed to Petrus Baillardus, had been said of Bulgarus a Civilian garus a Civilian (E) Of Mr Moreri's Errors] I It is falle, that Abelard taught Divinity at Corbeil, and at Melun II To fay that all Authors own that Heloisa was the II To say that all Authors own that Helossa was the Niece of the Prebend Fulbert, is a bad Proof against Papyrius Masso, who says, That she was the natural Daughter of a Prebend Nothing hinders but the Fulbert might have a Sister that had not well behave the felf, I say a sister, for he was Uncle by the Mother-side of Helossa, Avunculus I wonder that Andrew du Chene (p thought to be able to refute Propins Masson, by the same Proof that Mr. Moreri makes use of III It does not appear that Abelard introduced His calabimself with the Prebend, under pretence to trach Helossa Divinity Why do they specify that, which the Authors they ought to follow, say only in general. Do not these Terms (q), Esat cupi sus ill wald, (q) Abalasque erga neptim suam ut amplius semper in doctionam lard, p. 11 atque erga neptim suam ut amplius sempi in dostrinam lard, p 11 profecret literatoriam plurimum stud osus, denote Divinity less than another Science? IV It does not appear, that Heloisa had much esteem for Abelard before they liv'd together V It is not true that he carried her into Bretagne, when she run away from her Uncle, He sent her indeed into that Province, but he kept at Paris, cautioning himtelt, as well as he could, against the Enterprizes of Fulbert, until he had appeas'd him by promising to Marry his Niecc Then he went to her in Bretagne, as appeals by the Relation of his Missfortunes. The Abridged Hiftery of Eloisa and of Abelard, that was (r) lately (r) At the Printed, is not exact on that Point. It is supposed. Higue, there That Abelard left Paris at the same tine that 12mo he left the Prebend's House, that he return'd this but he kept at Paris, cautioning himfelf, as well as he left the Prebend's House, that he return'd the ther when he heard that his Scholar was with Child, and that he carried her away by Night to Marry her clandestinely, in expectation that her Relations would permit him to Marry her publickly. He had no defign to Marry her when he carried her away, and he never pretended to have his Marriage known to he never pretended to have his Marriage known to the World VI Heloisa did not rell him freely, that she did not pretend by that Marriage to deprive the Church of a Dollor, who according to her Hopes would speedily be an illustrious Prelate of it Nothing like this is found in the long Deduction that Abelard left us of Heloisa's Arguments against their Marriage See the Article of Heloisa VII He does not say that he married her for the quiet of his Conscience Why will Mr Moreri know the Motives of that Mairiage better than Abelard knew them himselt? VIII He ought not to have joyn'd the Wedding

(r) At the

e Vide Bochar-

graph Sacr 1 2

believes that the Fable of Adam's for 130

& August

strange Principles, and unfit to (F) make a lasting Sect. They ordered every Man to have his Woman; they did not think fit, and would not suffer that Man should be alone; have his Woman; they did not think fit, and would not suffer that Man should be alone; he must, according to the Statutes of the Order, have an Helpmeet for him: But he was not permitted to rely on that Help: I mean, to unite himself corporally with his Waster was for him the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil, the Fruit whereof was reverely forbid him. Those Persons regulated Marriage at the rate of the Terrestrial Paradice, where there was only the Union of the Heart between Adapted Eve: Or rather they regulated themselves after the Example of Abel; for the Greended that Abel had been Married, but yet that he died without having known a Woman. It has from him that their Sect took a its Name. When a Man and a Woman were entered to that kind of Society, they Adopted Two Children, a Boy and a Girl, who Secceeded to their Estate, and who Married together under the same Conditions of not getting Children, but to Adopt two of a different Sex. They did not fail to find poor People in the Neighbourhood that supply'd them with Children to Adopt. This is wastes. tum, Geo- radice, where there was only the Union of the Heart between Adap in the Neighbourhood that supply'd them with Children to Adopt. This is w Tears after Augustin & tells us of them, and as he is almost the only Person that speaks one maybelieve that that Sect was known in but few places, and that it did not considered for the it ended in that of Theodosim the Younger All those that Composed it being at last re-Name of duced to one Village, re united themselves to the Catholick Church. those Here-

ABELLY (Anthony) Doctor in Divinity, a Jacobin, Abbot of our Lady of Livri in the Aulnoi, Confessor to the Queen-Mother, and formerly her Preacher, caus'd August de Hares Sermons to be printed on the Lamentations of Ferensah, at Paris, in the Year 1582. I c 87 Vi- only Copy la Croix du Maine, and du Verdier Vau-Privas, and if I do not correct the Faults that they may have committed, I shall at least propose (G) my Doubts. If Mr. Moreri had done as much, perhaps the Truth of it might be known at present, for nothing encourages Curious Persons more to publish their Discoveries, than the Confession of Authors that they are Important of such or fisch a Thing. This will obtain on of Authors, that they are Ignorant of such or such a Thing. This will oblige me to propose my Doubts often Mr Morers had so many Occasions, which I have not, to confult those that could rectify those kind of things, that he should have done more here than to Copy la Croix du Maine

A B E L I Y (Lewis) Bishop and Count of Rhodes, who died the 4th of October, 1691, The Galant Aged 88 y Years, was Born at Paris, and had been there Rector of St Josse He Compos'd of Octob divers Books, and among others, a Treatise of Divinity, Entitl'd, Medulla Theologica, which

(t) Abalird ubi

1 - mo divided ac-jugu & vim aufectum

e irum

prortus

fupra,

and the Convent of Argenteuil together, there was a Mid-way between those two things Heloisa was only sent into that Convent, because her Uncle treated her ill, being vex'd that she strongly denied her Marriage IX It is therefore a strange Falsity to say, That that Marriage was not so private but that Fulbers was adverted of it, for it was in his Preference was adverted by the factors. fence that the Marriage was blest in a Church (u) L' En- Post paucos dies notte secretis orationum v giliu in quafant a Do- dam Ecclesia celebratis, ibidem summo mane avunculo ejus minican atque quibusdam nostris vel ipsius amicis assistentibus Figo, Ge- nuptiali benedictione confaderamur X It is not true ner Hist that Abelard read Lectures to a great Number of of all the Scholars in Clampagne, after the bad Life of the Monks of Ruis had constrained him to return thither, and April It at the time that Abbot Sugar drove the Number of Sugar drove the Sugar drov April It at the time that Abbot Suger drove the Nuns out of work Argenteuil Father L'Enfant (u) Copied some of in 6 Vol in those I aults

(F) Unfit to make a lasting Sett] The State of Continency was too violent between a Man and a Woman, that had otherwise all things in common, the Days of and whole Society was reputed a true Mairiage, I the Year say, it was a State too violent to continue long and printed Nullum violentum durabile. The Abelians were but at Piris mitigated Encratites and Novatians, the latter conin the Year demn'd Marriage Publickly, the Abelians prais'd and 1684 retain'd it. It is true, it was almost nothing but in (w) Hi no-Name, (w) they had the appearance of it, but deny'd men qui-the force of it. If they had believ'd that Marriage dem con-was a Sacrament, they would have been on that the ticle what the Zuinglians have been on that of the nuptra-rum reti-gure, and nothing at all of Reality Now this is it nucrunt, which must needs have contributed to the Extinction You will find in the Dictionary (x) of the Seft tem & et of Furetiere, that

Bowe & manger, coucher ensemble,

C'est mariage ce me semble
This is the natural Idea that we form to our selves of that State, and in that Idea, the last of the Three Attributes passes for the Chief, and for the Specifick næus in

Jist AuJibr AuJib word Mar- was then very unlikely, that many Persons, even after the Novelty of that Doctrine was over, would have the Name and the Tye of Married People, and deprive themselves of what a Single Life had from that time most transcendent, without tasting the Fruits and the Delights of Marriage It was not therefore necessary, when I said that the Principles of that Sect were very improper to make it contiof that Sect were very improper to make it continue, that I should make some Allusion to the Jest that is attributed to Sixtus the V (y) Non si chiava in questa religione, non duras a The Adoptions were instead of Generations, and therefore it could not be faid of the Abelians, what Florus (z) Remarks concerning the First Inhabitants of Rome Reservat uniterates, populus vironia. The Causes had not mixt themselves with it; the fact might between the could for ever, Per seculorum milita (inconditional trus, lib tinued for ever, lib tinued for ever, lib tinued for ever, lib tinued for ever (in every day of the Monks

(G) I shall --- propose my Doubts] It seems some-what strange to me that a Jacobin should enjoy an Abby, and that they should give him the Name of it I do not know any Countrey in France that is call'd L' Aulney If they meant le Laonous, that's another thing, but besides, I do not find any Abby call'd (b) See the Lever, in the (b) Diocese of Laon The Abby of State of that Name is in the Diocese of Paris Lastly, I France that Name is in the Diocese of Paris Lastly, I France find in the Ast by which the University of Paris took an Oath of Fidelity to Henry the IV the 22 of April, 1594, I say, I find there (c) among those that Sign'd it, one Francis Abely, Abbot of Ivri, the King's Preacher and Almoner It belongs to those, that shall have an Opportunity for it, to verify if they have not heap'd here on one only Person what suits to divers This happens but too often with the Bibliographers the Bibliographers

My Doubts have procur'd me a good Explication, which I infert here "L' Aunei, or L'adulnei is very good It is the Abby of our Lawre of Liver in L' Anner, or L' Anner, in Alnete, (d) of the Online of St Augustin, in the Deanry of Cheller, Direct of Parks It must be supposed, that to attain to that Abby, Anthony Abelly past from the Order of St. Dominick into that of St. Angustin, which is a very easy taken the About of St. Angustin, which is a very easy taken About of Ivil, I believe there is a Fault in it, Gallie and that that Francis who was likely the Successor of Anshony, ought to be qualified Abbot of Liver, there heavy no Abby in France of the Name of the state of the Name of the there being no Abby in France of the Name | I'm This Explication was communicated to

by Mr de la Monnoie

(y) Cathol rus, lib 1.

varre, by Launoi, 2 372 (d) Claud Robertu menclati ra Abba-iustule-

riage

Mr Baudra d

was the Resson that Mr. Desgream, gave him the Epithet (H) of full of Marrow, and which is very far from the (I) Maxims of the fansenists Hewrit also the Life of Vincent dePaul, Founder and first Superior General of the Congregation of the Million, a Book on the Principles of Christian Morality; another on Herelies, another on the Tradition of the Church, concerning the Worthip of the Holy Virgin, &c That last Work printed the second time at Plany, in the Year 1675 did the Protestants a great kindness, because it supply'd them with good Weapons against the Converters; who would make them believe, that if there was any thing excellive in that kind of Devotion, they were but Monachal Thoughts, or Abuses which the Bishops corrected daily That sime Book served the Thoughts, or Abuses which the Bishops corrected daily That time poon it. The Protestants also against that of a the Bishop of Condom And indeed Mr. Abelly made Exposition of the Protector of the most Passionate Thoughts concerning the Devotion to the One of the Virgin Mary. This was to ruin the Efforts of the other Prelate, and the Aims of those Catholick Catholick the Holy Virgin's Advice to her Indiscreet Votaries. Mr. Abelly Doctrage that publish'd or approv'd the Holy Virgin's Advice to her Indiscreet Votaries. Mr Abelly was Doctor in Divinity, of the Faculty of Paras, he was made Bishop of Rhodes, when Mr. de Posefixe, the King's Preceptor, mounted to the Archbishoprick of Paris, and he resign'd his Bishoprick to another, when his great Age did not permit him to exercise the Functions of it any longer, and retir'd into the House of St. Lazarus He reveal'd a Secret in Mr. Vincent's Life (K) that pleas'd much People

A B E R D E E N, an Epileopal City of Scotland, under the Archbishop of St Andrews, with an University It may be consider'd as divided into two, for there is Aberdeen at the Entrance of the Don, and Aberdeen at the Entrance of the Dee. The first is call'dOld Aberdeen, and the other New Aberdeen, and they are but a thousand Paces distant from each other. The Bishop's See, and the University, are in Old Aberdeen, but the other is richer, and full of Trade. The University was created in the Year 1489. The Bishoprick was transferr'd thither from Muritae ever since the Year 1100 as we learn from the Hestor Boethius, & a Scotch Historian. That City is indifferently call'd in Latin, Abredo-Baudrind,

Mr Baudrand informed me that that Abby of L vr. es three Leagues from Paris, as you go to Meiux, in a lit-ele Tratt of Ground which is call'd l' Aulnoy, where there are ten or twelve Villages, and the Bounds whereof are at present unknown

(H) The Epithet of full of Marrow | Let us make no difficulty to go a little back in relating that Passage, for besides that it is not to be seared that the length of the Citation should displease any body, it will serve to consirm what I am to say in the following Remark

Alain (e) toussi & se leve, Alain (f) ce savant homme Qui de Bauni vingt fois a lu toute la Somme, Qui possede Abelli, qui sait tout Raconu, Li meme entend, dit-on, le Latin d'Akempis N'en doutex point, leur dit ce savant Canoniste, Ce coup part, 1 en suis sur , d'une main Janseniste Mes yeux en sont temoins 3' ai vu moi m me hier Eutrer chez le Pielat le Chapelain Garnier Arnaud cet heretique and nt a nous detruire, Par ce Ministre adroit tente de le seduire Sans doute il aura lu dans son Saint Augustin Qu autresoit Saint Louis érigea ce Luirin Loa nous inonder des torrens de sa plume, Il faut pour lui repondre ouvrir plus d'un volume, Consultons sur ce point quelque Auteur signale, Voions si des Lutrins Bauni n'a point parli, the History of (ardinal Malanne Malanne Continuation of the If their Verses should contain nothing else than the Manager Their Verses should contain nothing else than the Manager Their Verses should contain nothing else than the

embracing of Bauni and Abelly, they would sufficiently signify the Anti-jansinism of the latter, but they contain other Strokes that aim at the same Mark, Holland and bear much The Author has plac'd a Note in the Margent that explains the Reason of the Epigo Confer thet, and he did well in it When I think on the phat Father Conjectures that the Criticks would form, if the Bouhowrs French Language should once have the late that the Jouhowrs French Language should once have the Fate that the fats in the Latin Tongue had, and that Mr Dispreaux's Works should be preserved, I represent many Chimera's to stock, of the Manner of the Manner of the Manner of the Medula It cologists that the Medula It cologists t profess d last, that the Writer Abelly had been characteris'd by Monk in the Order of the Co-flexings of Abel, that were not dry of the Co-flexing of Com, but a true Sacrifice of Beasts He would are upon this the bacrum pingue dobe, nec macrum Sacrificabe. He would tay that all the Parts of the Victims were not equally confiderable, and that the Fat, under which the Mariow must also be comprehended, was of a fingular use. The more learned he would be, the more we might see him run from one Extravagancy to another, and accumu-late Chimera's In that place as in divers others, we should see the Verification of what is spoken of in the 9th Satyr of Mr Boilean

Et deja vous croyez dans vos rimes obscures Es deja vous croyez dans vos rimes obscures,

Aus Saumaiss futurs preparer des tortures

Somebody (h) said, That it was to be wish'd, a good

Commentury was already made on that Author's Satyrs It is certain that those kind of Writings are from obscur'd, as to many things The Gatholicon of Learning, Ostoba

Are 5

those Savers in the Publish's Remarks on the last of those Savers in the Year 1602, and on the first in the those Satyrs in the Year 1693, and on the first in the Year 1696 He is curious, and penetrating, and very fit for that Work

(1) From the Maxims of the Jansenist.] One of those Gentlemen complain d bitterly that Mr de la Berchere, Archbishop of Aix, had order'd the Dire-Ctor of his Seminary to follow Abelly, and to teach the Moral Divinity (1) of Grenoble no longer He says that Three Wicked Principles are to be found in the Medulla Theologica of Mr Abelly, the I whereof destroys the most certain Rule of Good Conscience, acknowledged by the Pagans themselves, who did not believe that it was permitted to do a thing which they questioned to be just or unjust. The II reduces the greatest of all the Commandments to nothing, which is that which obliges us to love God above all things. The III is dire-Ely opposite to the Care Cardinal Grimaldi took to cause the Rules of St Charles to be observed in the Sacrament of Penance, by marking a great number of Cases in which the Confessors ought either to resuse or defer the Absolution So that Mr Abelly is accused of teaching, I That a less probable, and less sure Opinion may be followed in dolefs probable, and lefs sure Opinion may be followed in do-ing that which is a Sin, according to the contrary Opinion, which seems most probable to us. It That it is not cer-tain that the Precept of loving God above all things is ever obliging by it felf, but only by accident. III That those whose Life is a continual Visificude of Confissions and Crimes, may always be absolved without Scripple. See the Advice to the Reverend Fathers Jesuit, of Aix in Provence, on a Print, Entituled, A Ball, dane'd at the Reception of the Lord Aichb flop of Aix Which Advice was printed in the Year 1687

It is easy to discover that Mr Abelly's Book is spoken of in this part of the Managiana "(k) As they were speaking of the Marrow of Abb the Abelly's research of the Abelly's Book is speaked to the "bot le Camus, at present Cardinal, said The "Moon was declining when he did that " A new Proof of the Jansensts Disdain for that

(K) A Secret that pleas'd much People] He (l) de-clard to the Publick, that Mr Vincens would have

ing,Octob

(1)Compos'd by Mr Genet, whom the Cardinal Gumaldı, pre-Mr de la Berchere had called into his Seminary, to teach his Morality there, and who was fince made Bi-Jhop of Vaifon

(k) Menagranap pig 65 of the first Edit Holland

(/) Abelly, Life of Vincent de Paul, Book 2 Cap 12 Lawful Prepiffifi-Jansenism

(e) I utrin Song 4

(f) The Abbot Auberi, Picbend of the Holy Chapel, a famous Molinift, and Brother of that Mr Auberi that made Menagiant, pag 8 Edit of

Holland

Libro de Scriptor Frilist plicent, ac prope dixerum Insipientem, qui nonis reg1a & Oliris templo inclytum Plui 15_09 bo, Ib Plutarch de Ifide & Ofir pag 359 (Ammian Marc 15 b m 227, 218 n Plin Ib OStrab Ib Plin Ib * Strab Ibid

cell 1 19

(m) Strab
1 17 p 551 (n) Amm Marcell. 1 19 C 12 p m 22% (o) Qui ut eritangufli pectous. obturferus, in hoc titulo ıma, quod riunt, au riculamol hor, & dulpicax & minutus, acri fille concaluit Id b id ann 359. 4

" He Speaks nia, Aberdonium, and Aberdona. Mr. Morers had a mind to (L) be nice on that Article, mia, Aperdonium, and Aberdona. Mr. Morers had a mind to (L) be nice on that Article, but did not succeed very well in it

Author and A B G I L L U S (John) Son of a King of the Frisms, liv'd such an Exemplary

Books, in Life, that he was sirnam'd the Priest He accompanied Charlemagne in the Expedition of Libro de Palestine, and instead of returning into Europe after the taking of Jerusalem, as Charles magne did, he push'd as far as India, where he made great Conquests, and sounded the Empire of the Abyssius, which was call'd'after him the Empire of Preser John He companied Charlemagne's Time to the Holy valde sim Land, and the other his own Expedition to the Indies That last Works. scription of the Country, and of the different People that inhabit it If San was capable to imagine that those Histories are any thing else but one of those filly Romances that were made in Ignorant Ages, and in which they represented Charlemagne as boldly as if he had been an Imaginary Hero, a Palmerin of Oliva, an Huon of Bourdeaux, or a Godfrey Great-tooth, I say, if Saffridus Petri was capable to imagine the deserved all the $\beta$ Hard Words which Vossius gave him: For what can be set out I sabulous than the Conquest of Jerusalem by Charlemagne.

A B Y D U.S. a City of Egypt. Stephanus By antique will have a to have been a large.

Tabulous than the Conquest of Jerusalem by Charlemagne?

ABYDUS, a City of Egypt Stephanus Byzantinus will have it to have been a (M)

Vossius de Histor

Lat pag as of a much impair'd City, but says, that it seem'd to have been very great formerly, and the chief of the Country after Theber The Famous King Memnon lived there, and pages of the pages of the pages of the total city, and made it very recommendable The Greatest Lords of Eagypt affected to be buried there, to be near the Tomb of Osiris The Country The Country affected to be buried there, to be near the Tomb of Osiris The Country The Country affected to be buried there, to be near the Tomb of Osiris The Country The Country The Country The Country affected to be buried there, to be near the Tomb of Osiris The Country Devotion for that Deity, who answer'd in Writing when they could not consult him personally, for in such Occasions it was sufficient to send their Question in Writing & That Oracle was yet subinsting in the Reign of Constantius the Son of Constantine the Great, and caus'd (N) many Disorders Abydus n was 7500 Paces towards the West, from the Nile, but a 8 Canal was made that brought the Waters of that River thither It was situated below i Diospolis and Tentyris, and above Ptolemais, which was the greatest City of the Thebais, and as big as Memphis The Inhabitants of Abydus abominated (O) the Noise of Trumpets Great mention has been made of the Thorns (P) that grew in their Territory, and which, it was faid, were always loaden with Flowers that had the Figure of a Crown It is thought that at present Abydus is call'd Abutich folm Leo does not say what Mr Morers imputes to him, that it is in the Place where the Patriarch (2) Toleph was buried There was a City on the Coast of the Hellespont, call'd Abydus, of which I shall not speak at this time, although Moreri's Dictionary lacks to be rectified

ABIMELECH, King of Gerar, in the Countrey of the Philistines, was contemporary with Abraham That Patriarch being retir'd with his Family into the Country of no more Familiarity with the Abbot of St Cyran, after he had heard him fay, that the Council of Trent was but a Cabal, and an Assembly of Scholasticks with the Pope A Person that was persuaded of this could not be a Roman-Catholick

(L) Mr Morers had a mind to be nice on that Article I He found fault that some have said, that Aberdeen, or Aberden, or Aberdena, or Devana is a City there is no City, continues he, that bears those Names in all Scotland, but there are two Citics, whereof the one is call d New, and the other Old-Aberdeen, and that Name is only to be found in sime Books or Maps that are not very exact. It would be in vain to prove, that not only no diffinction is made in Common Language, of the Old and the New Aberdeen, but also that it is but very little made use of in Books For what Authors have said, the Bishoprick of Old Aberdeen, the University of Old-Aberdeen? What Historians have not been satisfied to say only Aberdeen, when they meant that Episcopal City? Mr Morers did not remember his cisin, when he said in the Article of Scotland, Saint Andrews has an University, and Aberdeen ano-

(M) A Colony of Milesians | This is very unlikely deicens in I contess that they tetted Colonies in Egipt, but it alies ettim wis near the Entrances of the Nic, their Power confisted in those Times in Naval Forces, and their Tride did not require them to have such a distant Post from the Coast as Abydus was Moreover they d d not tettle in Ezyps until the time of (m) Oyax ires, king of the Meles Now Abydus wis considerable before that time, fince Minnon had tertled his Court there

(N) And caus d many D forders] See how it happen d Those that consulted the Oracle in Writing, lett their Letter (n) sometimes in the Temple after they had received the Answer Some Malicious Perfons ient some of those Letters to Confiantins, and as he was but a (a) Mean Genius, inspicious, credulous, punctilious, he was in a great Rage, and dispatched away a Commission immediately, to cause the Guilty to be try'd, for it was pretended, that divers Persons had considered that God concerning the Emperor's Life, that God concerning the Emperor's Life, that Commission being a Violent that the Commission being a Violent that the Council the way to prophe a beauty of the Council the way to prophe a beauty to the Council the way to prophe a beauty to the council the co found the way to involve whom he pleas'd me Processes, which caus'd many Violences, as you may (O) Abominated the Noise of Trumpets]

forms us of this, if we correct him according to the in Ste-Conjecture of Berkelius (p) Σαλπης Φ ηχου βόλλυ phin de ταιπο Γοι Βεσεί, κ΄ λουδ Φ ή Αιγυπία (There is in Urbib the Editions of Ælian Aβυ η Αιγυπία) κ) λυκων pag 14 πολις (q) Busiries, & Abydus Ægyptia & Lycopolis tube sometime detestantur Strabo (r) confirms that (q) Ælian Conjecture, when he says, that he was torbid to de Animake use of any Vocal or Instrumental Musick in male 1 to the President of the Sacrifices that were offered and a say the President of the Sacrifices that were offered and a say the President of the Sacrifices that were offered and a say the President of the Sacrifices that were offered and a say the President of the Sacrifices that were offered and a say the President of the Sacrifices that were offered and a say the Sacrifices that were offered and a say that the president of the Sacrifices that were offered and a say that the same of the Sacrifices that were offered and a say that the same of the sacrifices that were offered and a say that the same of the same the Preludes of the Sacrifices that were offer'd to

Ofirm in his Temple of Abydus

(P) The Thomas of the Sacrifices that were offer'd to

(P) The Thorns that grow] Atheneus (f) tells us (r) Strab fo But the Word Acusov must be taken out of his 1 17 Book, and that of Acusov substituted in its place p 56 Book, and that of "Acuebu fubstituted in its place It is a very reasonable Conjecture of the same (t)

Berkelius Here is the Fact spoke of by Athoneus
The Thorn bushes that grew about the Temple of I is c 7

Indium pass'd for being always in bloom, but according to the Remark (u) of Hellanicus, this was because they made Assemblies in that during which time divers kind of Nosegay which time divers kind of Noseg or i norns grew about Abydus, and the Eshipian Soldiers, that Tisben sent to King Priamus, having heard that Memnon was kill'd, threw their Crowns of Flowers on those Thorns near Abydus, from whence it happen'd that the Flowers which they produc'd resembled Crowns

(2) The Patriarch Joseph was buried Mr More-gyptiaca-ri cites John Lee, p 8 One would think that he dis rum apud rects to page 8 but what is to be look'd for is only sumi Ib

Alian in- (p) Berkel apud A. then Ib

(w) In libris rerum Æ-

Gerar, his wife Sarah did not find her felf secure there, although she was 90 is Years of a Secrete Age, but was aken away by Abimelech, who thought her handsome enough to make her last at his Wife . Minubam would have avoided that Accident, of he had declared himself Sa- "ark of rab's Husband-, but fearing to be kill'd, he said she was his Sister, and defired her to Saiah say, that he was her & Brother. It was the y second time he had made use of that Expedient, which doubtless does not deserve the Elogies (R) that St Chrysoftom gave him frenches, it is thought that the King of the Philistines was struck with a Distemper (S) that made him imposed that however it be, it is certain that the Providence of God hinder'd him the Passion he had conceived for Sarab. He was advertis'd in a Dicam made up the passion of the Passion he had conceived for Sarab. as married to a Propher, and that he should die, if he did not return her to tha her Husband He did not fail to return her to him, not to reproach them for their Abraham excus'd himself, among other Reasons, on being effectively Sarah's Brother, born of one Father, although they had not the same Mother. Thus the Scripturakes him to speak. Mr. Morers improperly substitutes Josephus's Words instead of Thus the Scrip- Joseph of the Sacred Text, for he of fallly supposes that Abraham said, that Single was his nother's Daughter. He follows the same Author also, on a Fact of which the Scripture fays not a Word, to wit, on a Pretended Alliance contincted between the nelect and Abraham, at the Restitution of Sarah The Scripture flys only, that Ahim lee's give that Patriarch great Presents, and gave him leave to dwell where he pleas d in his Domini-It is true, there was an Alliance between them, but it was not made a until some Years after, which was the Treaty of Beer-sheba Josephus durst place that Treaty be-

· Genefis 21 0 ,1,

to be found in the 8th Book Now you will find there, that it is an Error to believe, that the City call'd Mefre Hatichi, is that wherein the Kings of Egypt liv'd in Jeseph's and Moser's Time He refutes that Thought by reason that those Ancient Kings liv'd on the West part of the Nile, which he proves by two Reasons 1 By the Situation of the City which the Scripture fays the Jews built to Pharach the Situation of a very Ancient Edifice, which is faid to be fofeph's Sepulchre Some Pages after he remarks, that the City wherein this Sepulchre is, stands on in Arm of the Nile, and is now call'd Bl I have not found that he fays any thing of our Abydus

(a) In the

Remarks

of the Ar-escle Sarah

(R) That St Chrysostom gave him We shall touch in another (x, Place wherein that Dissimulation on of Abraham is to be blam'd Every body may under what he pleases of the Relapse The Danger that Sarah's Honour juffer'd the first time, icems at first to make the reiteration of the Falshood less excusable, but on the other side, does it not seem more excusable to employ a Remedy that succeeded, than to make a new Tryal, and 1s it not, without all doubt, that the first Essay had all the Success that Abraham hop'd for ? They did not only preferve his Lite, but loaded him with Prefents allo, and his Wife was restored to perhaps he had not expended to perhaps he had not expense to baps, for I dare not write that prefer had been to write the present of the present the p than to fee his Wife suiperted to have been in the Power of another, and yet (y this Just Person here makes use of all his Efforts to cause the Ast of Adultery to be accomplish'd It might be expected after this, that the Preacher would censure that Patriarch, but on the contrary, we see that he praises his Courage and his Prudence very much, his Courage, that conquer'd the Motions of Jealousy, io far as to permit him to advise such things, and his Prudence that had shewed him such a sure Expedient to draw him out of the Troubles and Dangers that furrounded him St Chrysoftom did not forget to give a Lively Representation of the Terrible Force of Jealoufy, tomake his Hearers apprehend the Great Courage that had furmounted that Palfion, but on the other side he heightens Abraham's Prudence, by saying, That leeing Sarah was too fair to be able to escape the Incontinency of the Ezyptians, either by faying that the was his Wife, or his Sister, he would have her to say that she was his Sister, because he hoped to fave his Life by that Means Behold, cry dSt Chry-Joseph Is Like by that Means Behold, cry and Company Joseph In But Prudence that Ju T Person imagin d a good Mean Afterward Level'd him for having consented to his Wife's Adultery, because Death, which had not yet been stript of its Tyranny, inspired much Fear in those Times (2) "On known yetralogies on the garage of the stript of the s petra nouvoris dia 1870 n, in abilità in goi aros at petra nouvoris dia dira. C, n' morone america aros in anti- propertional propertion in Roma nouvoris continuo in a folia dira propertion in propertion in profession unoris continuo dia formation in mulieris continuolism ut mortem efugias. After in Elogy of the Husband, he passes to the Praises of the Wise, and says, that she gladly accepted the Proposition, and that she did all she ought to ast that (a) Comedy well. Whereupon he exhorts Wives to imitate her, saying, Who would not admire that great Easings to obey? Who can ever prosessarch sufficiently, for being willing aft r such a Continency, and at her Age, to expose her self to (b) Adultery, and g ve her Body to Barbains, to save her Husband's list. I do not think that a Preacher durst manage such a nice Matter as that in that manner at this present nice Matter as that in that manner at this present He would give Prophane l'eisons too much ground to jest, and I question much that the Inhabitants of Antioch, who were naturally Slanderers, could have heard such a Sermon, without taking the liber-St Ambroje ty to fall into Malicious Reflections (c) gave no less I logies to Sarah's Chility, and we shall see in the Article Acindynis (Septimius) that St. Augustin was almost in a like Illusion. It is a strange thing that those great Lights of the Church, with all their Virtue, and all their Zeal were ignorant that it is not permitted to fave one's Life, nor that of another, by a Crime

(S) A Distinger that made him import at 1 God fent him a great Sickness, to quench the Heit of his Lust, that put all the Science of the Physicians it a God wund him in a Dieim, not to touch that Stranger's Wife Abimelech finding himself a little better some time after, declar dithe Cuic of his Sickness to his I riends, and ictuined Sair's to Aoir ham again. Thus Josephu (d) relites the thing be ing little careful, according to his Culton, to conform himself to the Recitals of Moss, or rather bold enough to give him the Lye I or does not Mo bold enough to give him the Lye I or does not Mo fer fay (e) that Abimelech rose early in the Morning, and called all his Servants to communicate to them what he had learned in his Sleep. Could he have done that if the Phylicians had given him over? Jofephus found the Difficulty very well, but to take it away, he supposes boldly against the Authority of the Scripture, that that Prince did not communicate his Dream to his Friends, until his Illness was a lit-tle over, some time after his Dream Some (f) be-Some (f) bclieve that Abimelech was not incommoded in his Perfon, but only in the Perfons of his Wives, and that when the Scripture reports that God he il d him, it fignifies only that he took off the Seal that (σ) had been put in his House on every Womb I should not suffer my self to be much lugged by the L_1 , to approve that Explication, for I see no Track of S chaels for Alimelich in the whole 20th Chipper of Schee's for Alimelich in the whole 20th Chipter of Genesis, except in their Words of the 17th Verle, And God h alid Abime'ich, and his U se, and his Ma deservants, and they bare Children. But to the following Verle measures only the laceousery and of their pervants, and they bare Children. But is the following Verse mentions only the Inconveniency of those Women, it is probable enough that all the Evil that God had sent Abiniclesh consisted in that alone. I give an Answer (h) elsewhere to the Question that may be asked me. If that Prince was in Heal h, why did he not fairfy the Passion that made him take Sicah away? I do not wonder at the Dreams that the Tank may be asked into a substitute of the Passion that made him take Stram of the away? I do not wonder at the Dreams that the Jiws closus have reported on that Adventure, I should wonder much more at their Conduct, if they had not forg'd (i Ap an hundred Chimera's concerning our Ahimelach Merce They say, (i) that all the Passages of the Bodies in this House were stopy, both of Men, and of Beass, River and infin

(a) Maila พยศ ซึ่งเ TO SIZHA Auber: Ontora ficit iti ut fibula & fistio ılla lateunt Ib d (1) 115 HAL atian ET CUVETCI-ET 1175 AL -Tà moor-TTV 02.36 -तं । गा , भू ६० έλις ία THEUTH 20 2 mg TOI SIXALOP อใน*จ*ณิ จ ณ ómr cis TH CLYCIAN 21 CMHI X H$ 401 /11-AV EUL THY c= 6 17 , 4 . A, CUITAILS n Sito

> Id Ib (1) Ambrof de Abrah

(d) Jofeph Antiq 1 1 C 11

11 62

(1) Gene-fis 20

(f) Salian Annal t i pig 469 (g Gin

(1) In the Rimark C of the it diSuah

Apud Mercerium Sre River,uh, nan 3 ng an an qi -0 क्षा विद्वा x may a क्यासे बंदर لامروعة ١٩٥٤ THY LLO -Xear sx-Chry-fostom Homil 32 In ieneí fore the Birth of Isaac, as if he had Memours (T) prescrable before those of Moles; whereas the Scripture places it after the Rejection of Abmeel, which did not happen until Isaac was weaned. Mr. Morers follow'd the same Guide, when he assures, that the same Abunuleth shewed much Kindness to Isaac, who was retired into the Countrey of It would not be impossible that it was the fame Abineleeb, but it is very likely that it was the (U) Successor of him that took Sarab by force: It is certain, that a Famine being come, Ilane tetired to Gerar, where an Abmeleob seigned at that time. The Beauty of Rebekab was the cause that her Husband made use of the same Device that debraham had made use of by reason of Sarab's Beauty Isasa searing to be kell'd us it should be known that he was the Fair Rebekab's Husband, made her pass for his sifter:

(z) Id Ib

(k) Rivet on Genelis, Exerc 103 Oper to P 395 Heideg-ger follows him step by step, Hift PAtriarch tom 2 p 165

(1) This is vulgarly called nouer l' eguillette

(m) Chap

(n) For the Lord had fast closed up all the Wombs of the Houle of Abimelech, Gen

(o) Apud ubi fupra

(p' Pharaoh King of 1 gypt

(q) Apud Rivetum, ıb ex Mercero

(r) Apud Herdegg ubi fupra, P 144

and of Males and Females, so that nothing could enter or come out of them. They could neither eat, nor drink, nor evacuate, & Moreover the Men were struck with such a great Cold, that Abimeleth was not in a capacity to exercise any Viril Function, was not in a capacity to exercise any Viril Function, either with Sarah, or with any other. A Famous Protestame (k) Divine adopts the latter part of that Tradition, and rejects all the rest as ridiculous, or superfluous. He says, that as the Devil by his (l) Ligatures hinders Married Persons from performing Conjugal Duty, it is not unlikely that God sent a like Athletion in Abimelech's Family, for a Good and Holy End, which was to preserve Sarah's Chastity, and to make it appear most certainly that she had not received any Blemish in that House So that he believes that all Abimelech's Domesticks were struck with the Evil of Sterility, the Men with an Impotency like that which comes by Sorceries, and the Women with an entire Shutting up of the Gates of Life, or with a Straitness that disabled them to conceive It may be faid, here is too much of it by half, and it was sufficient for God's Design that the Men were thus afflicted, but it must be answered, that the closing of the Feminine Parts being a last which Mofes mentions by Name, it cannot be rejected as superfluous Here are Two Explications of that Fact, which do not wholly remove the Difficulty Some will have it, that Mofes meant, that Abimoloch's Wife and Servants could not be delivered when their Time was come, they were troubled with Pains, but it was as in the Time that the Prophet Isaiah ipeaks of (m) Fenerung filis ufque ad os matricis, & vis non eft ad partum thers say, that he meant, that they conceived no more I he first Explication cannot agree with Genefit, except it be supposed that all the (n) Women that belong d to Abimclech, were with Child at the Time of the taking awayofsarah, which is not likely TheSecond would require that search the well have lived leave. cond would require that Sarah should have lived longer in that Prince's House than she did, for it requires no little time to know whether a great number of Women have loft the Faculty of Conceiving Those Intricacies have obliged a very Learned (*) Interpreter to fay, That the Punishment which God sent on Abimelech's Family, was known in such a manner as is unknown to us As for what remains, the Rabbins make no great difference between the Personal Affliction of Abimelech, and the Personal Affliction of the (p) first Ravisher of Sarah They say of the the (p) first Ravisher of Sarah They say of the latter, that he was taken with the Rasan, a Disease which is (q) the most troublesom of all Ulcers, and the most opposite to the Drudgeries of Iust mon farchi (r) fays, that the Difference of the King of Fgypt, was an Head ach, caus'd by a Worm that was bied in his Brain, Morbus perturbite cerebre ob innatum oph vermiculum, quo qui laborant iis concubitus gravit fit, & libers gignantur ulcooff Some will be-lieve that those list Words spoil all, for they fancy, for Sarah's Honour, that Pi araoh's Distemper made him absolutely impotent See our Remarks on the Article of that Holy Woman

(I) Mimoirs professible before those of Moses It is a long time ago that I conceived Anger against tose-

pins, and against those that spare him on this Sub-A Person that made open protession of the swift Religion, whose Faith is grounded on the Divinity of the Scripture, dires to report things otherwile than he reads them in Genesis, he alters, he otherwise than he reads them in Gengis, he alters, he adds, he suppresses Circumstances, in a word, he opposes Moses in such manner, that one of the two must be a tasse Historian. Is this to be suffered? and must it not be concluded from thence, that either he cared but little to scandalize his Nation, or that he should the search and services the search of the se that he thought that the particular Opinion he had on the Fallibility, and confequently, on the Infpiration of Mofes, which he could not believe, was Balduinum,

Blow from Theodorus Beza (s) Hec ego semel pen t₁₂
p m 320

special for the first the firs Mosem & Sacres connes scripteres Sed nos postus ifiga pro verts ipfus Det interpretibus, illum vero pro secerdos se rerum sacrarum valde imperito, atque estamnegligente & prophamoscriptore habebimus. I believe that all the Ancient Historians have taken the same Liberty, in regard of the old Memoirs which they consulted. They have tack'd Supplements to them, and not finding the Facts plain and beautisted according to their Fancy, they extended and dress'd them as they pleas'd; and at this Day we take this for History.

(U) It was the Successor of him that had taken Sarala by force] I do not ground my ielf on the long Lite that must be given to Abimelech, if he had yet been living when Haac went to Gerar That Journey is posterior to the Purchase that Jacob made or the Birth-right. It may be supposed then that Isaac was at that the 80 Years of Age; for he was 60 Years old when Esau and Jacob were born, and Esau was already a great Hunter when he sold his Birthright On the other fide, Abineleels, that took Sarah, was a King, and married before Isaac was born He must have been therefore at least an hundred Years old, when Isase travelled to Gerar But this is no difficulty Did not Men in those Days live (e above an hundred and fifry Years? I can hardly believe when I read it, that (w) Learned Persons should be capable to object these Words in Ecclesiasticus, (w) Omnis potentatus vita brevis. As if in supposing the Canonicity of that Work, it was against Revelation that the Reign of a Man had continued an hundred Years. Who does not see that if this Passage had the Canonicity attributed to it, all Histories must be de-Years Who does not see that if this Passage had the force that is attributed to it, all Histories must be denited, that teach that iome Reigns have continued above sifty or fixty Years What is it therefore that inclines me to believe that the Abimelech that took Sarah away, is not the same that treated an Aliance with Isanc? Here it is This last Abimelech believed honestly on Isanc's Word, that Rebekah was only his Sister, and when he was undecenved by Isanc's Ass. Sister, and when he was undeceiv'd by Isaac's Actions, and not by his Words, he reproved him mildly for his Falshood, without saying so him, It runs in your Blood, your Father Abraham had already stand me the same Trick Now how is it likely that if he had been already trapped by Abraham, he would have fallen into the same Snare again, or if he had fallen into it, that he would not have censur d Isac imartly, as well for his Father's Lies, as for his own? He would not have forgot those of Abraham, that had caus'd him much Prejudice St Chrysoftom found what I have said to likely, that (x) he declared boldly in the Pulpir, that Abimelech reproach d Isaac for Abraham's Fraud But all this has no other Foundation of the Pulpir and the said of the said tion than the Privileges of Rhetorick, which are fometimes extended almost as far as those of Poets and of Painters

- Pictoribus (y) atque Poetis

Quid libet audendi semper fuit aqua potestas Two Things seem to tavour the Sentiment that Mr Morer: followed I In Abraham's Time the Mr Morers followed I In Abraham's Time the King of Gerar had the same Name as in Isaac's Time, and in both Times they had a General of an Army, whose Name was Picol II How fair soever Rebekah was, she was not taken away as Sarah was, because Abimelech had time to grow old, and remember'd the Ill Consequences of Sarah's Ravishment I answer, I That there have been Affected Names to all the Kings of a certain Country, as that of Pharaeb to the Kings of Egype Why might not that of Abimelech be common to all the Kings of Gerar? Perhaps Picol was the Name of an Office, and perhaps that Office might pass from the Father to the Son I answer, a That it may be the Abimelech of Isaac was not then a Young Man, although it was not he that had taken Sarab. I really believe that he was a good Old Man, seeing he formed no Design against the Father Rebekah, whom he did not believe to be married. Fair Reickab, whom he did not believe to be marri-ed, and feeing he did not tell Have that the was in danger

ham lived 175 2 ars,

(u) Pererius em Geneiis, c 26 præc. Salianus, f I P 520 and Ifac

180

(w) The Translition Toute tyrannie tite dure C X1 11

adhuc habens rememoraam corum quæ tempore Patriarcha rapta Sara tule pabat eur reumque arguens dicebat, cur hoc fecisti? Chryfost Homil 51 ceptione olim fuftinuimus à p. Homil 5

(y) Hora de Arte Poët

(1)Theod Beza Reiponf ad BaldusAbimelees all covered by a certain (W) Sport, that he perceived between them two, by a Tursellooking out at his Window, that it was not so; and having caus'd Isaac to come to him, linus Epist said, Of a surety she utby Wife And bow sayest thou, she is my Sister? What is this that His p 10 thou hast done unto me? (X) One of the People might lightly have lain with thy Wife, and thou 169 has shouldest have brought Guiltiness upon us. And at the same time he charged all his Subjects much mixto do Isaac and Rebekah no harm on pain of Death That Remonstrance, and that Or-stake a base said face of their Words. Isaac's Prosperity changed that good Friendship of A-stake a base said said when they perceived that he had acquired great Riches, they told him Geraras that he must retire He obev'd, and continuing to Prosper, notwithstand-annonae place that he must retire He obey'd, and continuing to Prosper, notwithstand-ingular Crosses that were rais'd against him in divers places, about digging of Wells, he feetus, De found himself courted by Abimelech for an Alliance, to which he gave a favourable An-numine

ABLANCOURT (Nicholas Perrot Sieur of). Look for Perrot

BRABANEL y (Isaac) a Famous Rabby, was Born at (1) Lisbon in the bimelech

1437. of a Family that pretended to be descended (2) from King David

Advanc'd humself much at the Court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who hodine in the dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal, who had dine in the Court of Alphonsus the V King of Portugal the V King of P nour'd him with great Offices, which continued until the Death of that Prince, but he fervar found a strange Alteration under the new King Abrabanel was (A) 45 Year's of Age & Taken when John the II Succeeded his Father Alphonsus. All those that had govern'd Affairs our of the strange of th danger of himself, but of his Subjects only And as these lived in such Lewdness, that every Beautiful Foreigner that pass'd for unmarried, run great hazard, I see no more likely cause of Abimelech's Continency towards Rebekab than his great Age The young Libertines say, There comes a Time that a Man is

$00 W : [e (W) By a certain Sport] Some Persons have imagin'd, that the Scripture doth modestly express by the word Sport, the Conjugal Duty that Isaac paid his Wise, when Abimeleck looking out by chance at his Window spied that Object (yy) Others will not hear of that kind of Interpretation; They say, That Isaac was too Wise and too Regular to have taken his Measures so ill and that in those Occasion that I alac was too Wile and too Regular to have taken his Measures so ill, and that in those Occasions he took good care to be in a place where Neighbours could not see him through the Windows So that, say they, by the word Spore, certain Passimes must be understood, which although they are not the last ast of the Comedy, yet are too familiar between Unmarried Persons, how near of Kin soever they may be Those Passimes ought to signify something else than to talk familiarly, or jesting or laughthing else than to talk familiarly, or jesting or laughing together, for a Brother and Sister do so very honestly, and without giving cause to conclude what Abimelech did from the sport between Isaac and Re-Abimelech did from the Sport between Isaac and Rebekah That Explication leads to me incomparably more Reasonable than the fift, nevertheless it must be confessed to the first winder'd Isaac sometimes from the first with the rigid leads in the first with the rigid leads in the first with the first with Rebekah at a certain Sport, from which it might certainly be concluded, that they were Husband and Wife Take notice that they had been Married 40 Years, so that Isaac was 80 Years of Age Married 40 Years, fo that Isaac was 80 Years of Age St Augustin in his Books against Faustin the Manichean a great Stickler against the Patriarchs, makes (z) it is too rigorous a thing not to permit a Married Patriarch or Prelate to take small Recreations with his Wife, without putting up all the Window-Shutters For this good Opinion must be had of their Modesty, that if Nature would pass from small Caresses to greater, they would take great care in such a flippery way to order it fo, that nothing should be seen from the neighbouring Windows Cornelius à Lagide does not know what he refutes, when he is passionate against the Authors of the first Explicatipassionate against the Authors of the sirst Explication. He says, Judai impuri jocum hunc intelligunt co-pulam conjugalem. Sed apage hos Cynicos. Quis credat Isaac publise & speciante rege tam inverecundum, lubricum & substantial fuels. That is not the thing in Question and hody pretends that Isaac was then in the middle of the Streets, he was in his Chamber, and had not shut his Windows well, that sall, and if it is too much, you will be obliged to condemn the Patriarch your self, and to set up for another Cato. We know that Case (a) drove Manlius from the Senate, because he had given his Wise a Kiss at Noon-day, and in the Presence of his Daughter. It tise of ports and Noon-day, and in the Presence of his Daughter It is likely, that Manlitus should have been Consul in the next Election Such Allegorical (b) Mysteries bought for in that Sport between Isaac and Rebellion, as doubtless notther they, nor the Sacred Histo rian did ever think on I do not place those kind of Errors in the Number of those that I collect, that would be to drink the Sea dry It were to be wish'd would be to drink the Sea dry It were to be wish'd that most of those Mystical Imaginations were unknown to every Body

(X) One of the People might lightly 1 The Phili-Sines must needs have been terrible People on the Chapter of Love, ieeing their King Abimelech is iur-prized, that no body had lain with Rebekah, who past only for Isac s Sister We learn from thence at the same time that they respected Marriage As for Maids, they believed sufficiently in those Countries that they were for the first Poliessor Witness Di-nah, Jacob's Daughter, when she had a mind to Walk (1), She was taken hold on immediately, they enjoy'd her, and afterwards spoke of Marrying

(7) Born at Lisbon] His Ancestors were of Ca-file, E majoribus Castellam Hispania, ex parentibus, Olyssiponem Lustiania agnovit patriam So says the Journal of (d) Leipsick Don Nicolas Antonio will have it, that the Family of Abrabanel had its Settlement, during feveral Ages, at Sevil He had learnt it (e) from Barcolocci, and he cites (f) Rabbi Solomon ben Virga, who faid almost the same thing in his (g) History of the Jews translated into Latin by Gen

(Z) That pretended to be descended from King David] shall be Ci-Abrabanel laid (h) somewhere, that at the time of the Deltruction of the first Temple, Two Families, of the Race of David, went into Spain, whereof one fettl'd at Lucena, and the other at Sevil, where it left Posterity In (1) another place he gives the History of that Transmigration Rabbi Solomon ben Virga (k) introduces a certain Thomas, who makes a long Deduction of the same History to Alphonsius King of Spain, and sets torth to him, that the Family of the Abrahanels descended from the Kings of Juda, but Alphonius believes nothing of it, and forms infu-perable Difficulties against those Genealogies. The Jews in order to come off, suppose (1) that Abrabanel lost his Genealogical Books in the hurry of his Removings Huetim (m) reports that Manafes ben Ifrael affures in his Concellator, That those Two Families, Issued from David, retir'd into Spain, after the Ruin of the Second Temple That Rabbi had a very particular Interest in that Ridiculous Story, for his Wife (n) was of the Family of the Abrahanels Finally, it is not easy to know who that Alphonjus is, that had fuch a long Conversation with that Thomas, in the Book of Solomon ben Virga Some (a) call him King of Portugal, and as they will have Lipsiens the Abrabanel whereof Thomas speaks to him, to be p 529 our Rabbi, it is not doubted but that they take him (m) Hue for King Alphonssis the V Don Nicholas (p) Antonio tius de-believes that the Question there is of quite another monstr Abrahanel, and that that Alphonssis is the last King of Evangel Castile that bore that Name He might be in the p 708 right fo far, but he is in the wrong, when he reckons near Two Ages between that King and our Rab- 1694 4to bi, for the latter was Born in the Year 1437 and (n) Id ib that King died in the Year 1350, at 38 Years of (v) Acta

(A) 45 years of Age] Nicholas Antonio inserted at (p) Nicol the end of his Bibliothicea Hispanica, what Fa Barro-Anton local told him concerning Isaac Abrabanel, whereby ubi supra, conjugis in 26 Ch of Genefis

y He alto is call'd Abrabansel Abarbanel. Abarbinel. Abravanel Avravanel Abarbenel (c) Genes cl ap 34 (d) A& Lipitenf Menf Novemb 1686, p (i) Nicol Anton Bibliot Hisp t 2 p 686 (f) Ibid

t 1 p 627 (g) It is the Book Scheveth Jehud 1, that ted hereafter (//) Comment in Lachariam c 11 apud Áéta Lipi p (1) Com-

Reg c 25 Acta, 1b (k) In Scheveth Jehuda f ipud ead Acta ib P 529 (m) Hucedit Lipf Lipf ib

he t 1 p 627

mificare o vocabulo copulam carnalem Sed non fit verifimile Ifaac prudeniillimum & sanctiffimum Virum tam incauté rem habuifle cum uxore, ut id per feneStrom profaccio, ut Seriptura
inquit. Rex pos-cet Abi-celech Credi-Lulius igitur eft co vocabulo fignificatos effe tales jocos & blanditias ın amplexando & oku-Inndo , quales inter conjuges agitari turpe non eff extra conjugium vero nefas est Pererius m Genes (z) August conria Faust dib 22 C cites part of thu Paf-

Sage pa 4

of his Trea-Deversions a) Plu-

arch in

Cat Maore, p m Note,

in the Preceeding Reign were put out of their riaces; and if we credit our Rabbi, we should believe their Death was privately contrived, under pretence that they defign'd to deliver the Crown of Portugal to the King of Spain. He knew nothing of this, when to obey the Orders he had receiv'd to come to the King, he was going with all speed to Lisbon; but understanding by the way, what was plotting against his Head, he fied in all hast into the Dominions of the King of Castile. All his Estate was seiz'd at the results of the Soldiers that had Orders to bring him Dead or Alive. He lost at that time all nait into the Dominions of the King of Dead or Alive. He loss at that time turn of the Soldiers that had Orders to bring him Dead or Alive. He loss at that time turn of the Soldiers that had Orders to bring him Dead or Alive. He loss at that time turn of the Soldiers that had Orders to bring him Dead or Alive. He loss at that time turn of the Soldiers that had Orders to bring him Dead or Alive. He loss at that time turn of the Soldiers that had Orders to bring him Dead or Alive. He loss at that time turn of the Soldiers that had Orders to bring him Dead or Alive. with all his Books, the beginning of a Commentary on Deuteronomy, which trouble that Difference very much Some Christian Authors (B) do not agree, that the Cause of that Difference very much Some Christian Authors (B) do not agree, that the Cause of that Difference very much Some Christian Authors (B) do not agree, that the Cause of that Difference very much Some Christian Authors (B) do not agree, that the Cause of that Difference very much some Christian Authors (B) do not agree, that the Cause of that Difference very much some Christian Authors (B) do not agree, that the Cause of that Difference very like Storm but could not obtained that the Cause of the Catholick King, in 1492 He us'd his endeavour expell'd out of the Dominions of the Catholick King, in 1492 He us'd his endeavour expell'd out of the Dominions of the Catholick King, in 1492 He us'd his endeavour both by his Prayers (D) and Lamentations to divert that terrible Storm, but could not obtain any thing, and he was forced to go away as well as all the rest, with his Wise and Children. He retir'd to Naples, where he Compos'd his Commentary on the Books of , ojourn' d there about ci, bibl Rings, in 1493 Being a Courtier, he did not forget to cause himself to be esteemed Rabbi, to. by the Knowledge he might have acquired in the Courts of Portugal and of Aragon, so by the Knowledge himself into the Favour of Ferdinand King of Naples, and afterwards that he infinuated himself into the Favour of the latter when the followed the Fortune of the latter when the followed the followed the Fortune of the latter when the followed the Fortune of the latter when the followed the followed the Fortune of the latter when the followed th 7 Wars Bartolocsosay, The into that of Alphonsus He follow'd the Fortune of the latter, when Charles the VIII. King of France drove him from Naples, for he past with (E) him into Sicily After the Death of Alphonsus he went to Corfou, where he begun his Commentary on Isasab, in the He had the good Fortune to find by accident, what he had formerly writ-The Inhe- Year 1495 He nad the good Fortune to find by accident, what he had formerly writtence of ten on the Book of Deuteronomy The Year following he past again into Italy, and conthe Fa- sin'd himself at Monopolia in Apulia, where he wrote divers Books He sinish'd his Deuthers fin'd himself at Monopolia in Apulia, where he wrote divers Books He sinish'd his Deuthers fin'd himself at Monopolia in Apulia, where he wrote divers Books He sinish'd his Deuthers teronomy, and Compos'd his & Sevach Pesach, and his y Nachalath Avoth, in the Year teronomy, and Compos'd his & Majene Hajeschua, and in 1498, his & Majene Hajeschua, and an 149 That is, Year 1495 chmsa Jeschua, and his Commentary on Isasab Some time after he made a Journey to The foun- 1496 Salvation Venice, to terminate the Differences that were risen there between the Venetians and the Portuguele, concerning Spices, and shewed so much Prudence and Capacity, that he The Preacher of acquir'd the Esteem and Favour of the higher Powers In the Year 1504 he Comcher of pos'd his Commentary on Jeremiah at Venice Some say that at that time he Compos'd also the Commentary on Ezekiel, and on the Twelve Small Prophets In 1506, he made the Commentary on Execute, and he died at Venice, in the Year (F) 1508, Aged made the Commentary on Exodus, and he died at Venice, in the Year (F) 1508, Aged 71 Years. He left (G) Three Sons, Juda, Joseph and Solomon. The Eldest was a Phy-

(q) Id to

(r) Ex ActisLip-

fienf P 529 See also Father

Bartoloc-

ci, Bibl Rabbin to 3 P 874 (1) A&

Lips p 530 Bar-tolocci ib (t) Comment in libros Regum init apud Nicol An-

Hisp to 2 p 627 (a) Apud 627

Nicol

he corrected some Faults that were already Printed ne corrected some Faults that were already Printed in that Rabbi's Article, but it seems to me that he did not speak exactly, when he said, (q) Tuvens adhuc, sed ben's dostus in Castella regnum transiit, cum Jonnii II Portugallia Regi parum essit gratus. He means an Age that commonly cannot give time to acquire Learning, which cannot be said of the Age of 45 Years. It is therefore certain, that the Author of the Bibliotheca Hispanica believ'd that the Rabbi was much below that Age when he sled into Castile. He much below that Age when he fled into Caffile He was therefore mistaken

(B) Some Christian Authors do not agree] They fay that Abrahanel descrived to be Treated as he was; and that he would have been more severely punish'd, and that he would have been more severely punish'd, when his Malice had been known, if the good nature of King John had not inclin'd him to be satisfied with Banishing him. They add, that the remorfes of Conscience made that Rabbi resolve to leave Portugal, and to fly by Night to Castile, with an extraordinary Speed (r).

(C) And make the same Judgment of his other Persecutions:

They say that he intruded himself in the Court of Ferdinand and Isabella, by means of the Bank he set up in the Kingdom of Castile, that he gather'd great Treasures, by making use ingeniously of all the Arts of his Nation, that he tyranniz'd over the Pool, that his Usuries eat up all, that he had the Vanity to aspire to the most Illustrious Titles, and the most Affected by the Noble Families of Spain, and that being, moreover, a Sworn Eneof Spain, and that being, moreover, a Sworn Enemy of the Christian Religion, he contributed more than any other to the Storm that crush'd him with all his Nation (s)

(D) By bis Prayers and Lamentations] He relates himself in one of (t) his Books, what he did on that Occasion Solomon ben Virga reports it in his (u) History of the Jews, with the Tragical Description of the dreadful Misfortunes that accompanied the Three hundred should Jews, they were forced to Three hundred thousand Jews, that were forc'd to go out of the Dominions of the Catholick King in one day

(*) Nicol

(E) He past with him into Sicily] Nicholas AntoAnton to mio correcting his Article of Abrahanel, on the Conp 686. versations he had with Father Bartolecci, says, (*)

That that Rabbi follow'd King Ferdinand into Sicily, whom the French had Dethron'd, and that after the Death of that Prince he retir'd to Corfou This is doubtless a Fault, Ferdinand is taken for Alphonjus doubtless a Fault, Ferdinand is taken for Alphonjus, as Abrabanel past into Sicily with (x) Alphonjus, as (y) Fa Bartolecci remarks, and not with Ferdinand He dwelt at Messina (x) until Alphonsus died in the beginning of the Year 1495, and there went to Corfou, and there the Commentary on Isaiah was begun in 1495. If he had not past into that Island un in 1495. If he had not past into that Island gun in 1495 If he had not past into that Island until after the Death of Ferdinand, it may be held for very ceitain, that he could not have been there in 1495 So that the Appendix of Nicholas Antonio for Successional have need of another Appendix to correct for Ferdi-

(F) In the Year 1508] Father Bartolects noted that Year to Don Nichelas Antonio, who had already caus'd it to be Printed, That our Rabbi was Profesfor in the Hebrew Tongue at Padus about the Year 1510 We have a Proof here of Mr Morers Negligence He had that Author's Bibliotheca Hispanica in his hands, and did not take the pains to consult (z) Id ib the Appendixes that made a good part of it, and which clear and correct divers places of the Work So that he gave us the fault concerning that Professoring of Padua, without knowing that the Author had corrected it himself at the end of the Book, and had excus'd himself for having follow'd Buxtof (a Venetias inde profettus memoratur, ex qua urbe in Germaniam aut in professionem Patavinam Hebraica lingua, quod 2 p 6 Buxtorsium & alios sequuti nos literis in Bibliotheca nostra mandavimus, potuit conferre se Constat autem Venetiis eum (b) septuaginta annos notum superioris saculi anno affanta diemi sum abioste. Duncum man hono can autho e li anno offavo diem sum obisse Quocum non bene con- ought to venit quod circa annum decimum Professorem, ut ibidem have said diximus, Patavinum egerit This is what Nicholas 71 Antonio says He does not absolutely deny that Professorship of Padus, but says only, that he had not Noted the time right So that Mr Moreri ought not to ted the time right come and tell us, that in 1510 Abrahanel taught the Hebrew Tongue at Padus

(G) He left three Sons, Judah, Joseph and Samuel] (c) Id ib
It seems at first as if he had left Four of them, if its to 1, B was true, as Nichelas (c) Ansane Reports, That this 625

(x) He was she 2d of dinand the Baftard, nand the (y) Barto-locci fupra,p 875

(a Ve- (a) Nicol Anton to

fician and a great Poet, and Compos'd many Verses to the Glory of his Father It 18 faid that Samuel embrac'd Christianity at Ferrara, and receiv'd the Name of Alphonsus there, which was the Duke's Name Abrabanel made divers (H) other Books, the Date whereof cannot be fer down, and some whereof have not yet been printed. Several toble Venitians, and the chief of the Jews, attended his Funeral with great Pomp his Body was buried at Padua, in a Burying-place without the City Rabbi Juda Menic, who had been Rector of the Academy, was buried a little while after in the same place The Siege of the Year 1509, ruin'd the places thereabouts in such manner, that that Burying-place is no more to be discern'd Abrabanel had great Gists He is equal'd with he famous Marmonides, and some Persons place him also before him The Jews pictend that he utterly ruin'd all the Reasons and Objections of the Christians The latter despising with Reason all that he said concerning our fewish Controverses, do much value his other Interpretations, they find him Subtil, Clear, Learned and Sincere He does not Canonize the Opinions of his Masters, and Censures the Plagiat, and the other Faults whereof he finds them Guilty, freely enough His great Fault is to have been too sensible to the Persecutions that the Jews had suffer'd, and in which he had his Share The remembrance of that Misfortune animated him with fuch Fury against the Christians, that he treated them with the utmost Passion He made almost no Book wherein he did not shew some Marks of his desire of Revenge, and of his Indignation, and right or wrong he brought all kind of Matters to the miserable Condition to which his Nation was reduc'd. By that means he hoped to reanimate the dying Synagogue again a, and I believe also that he found case a ExAstis in it for the Oppression of his Choler, which might perhaps have suffocated him if he I rudito-had not discharged it on Paper He would not be the only Person that found him-rum Lipit p 880 (e) See the felf well by that Remedy We know some Persons, that have had great need of it, went No-although they were not ignorant like him of the Precepts of the Gospel I find (I) no- 1686 thing about his Professorship of Padua, nor about his Travels (K) into the East They P 5 8 & are Facts wherein Mr Morers has grossy abus d himself I say but little less of the (L) leq Journey into Germany

ubi tupra I to that mide Dialogues of Love, was his Son But it must be known, that the Author of those Dialogues might well be the same with Juda, the Lidest Son of Abrabanel That Juda was vulgarly call d (d) Misser Leone, his Book of Love is very well known, Dennys Sawvage and Pentus de Tiand have put it into French The Author of it is commonly cited under the Name of Leo Hebraus He is calld (e) Mestre Lion Abrabanel Med Hebreo, in the Spanish Tranflation, printed at Venice in the Year 1568 Judia Abrabanel left his Lather, when the French Conquer'd the Kingdom of Naples, and retir'd to Genea to ex-(1) That is ercise Physick (f) Samuel Abrabanel was yet liv-zo say, Ca-ing in the Pontificat of Julius the III as appears by put 1 det the Petition he presented to Cardinal Sirles Protector

(A)Bartol

ubi fupra

Catalogue of Mr de I hou s Library , to 2 P

405 (f) Bartolocci

p 881 (e) Id b (b) Id ib p 688 ex R David

Ganz (1) Id 1b

k)Ubi

lupra, p

Tr mflated znto Latin by William Vor-

Rius, and printed muth his

Notes at

Amstei-

Moles

took all what is on Crit Hist p 537 (n)Spizel

the Petition he presented to Cardinal Sirlet Protector of the Neophytes (g) He retir'd to Naples in the year 1540 and carried with him the value of above I wo hundred thousand Crowns (h) His I ather dedicated to him the Commentary on Pirke Avoth, that he had compos'd in the Year 1496 (i)

(H) Many other Books I Here are those that are noted in the (k) Journal of Leiphick, some Commentaries on Genelis, on Leviticus, and on Numbers (l) Rass hamana, Sepher Jeschwoih Meschicko, which is a Work on the Traditions that concern the Messias Zedek Olimim. this regards the Punishments and Amsterdam, 1638

Zedek Olimim, this regards the Punishments and the Rewards of the other Life Sephir Temoth Olimim of the Rewards of the other Life Sephir Temoth Olimim of the Rewards of the other Life Sephir Temoth Olimim of Sephir Sephir Sephir Sephir Sephir Sephir Sephir Sephir Atelory of the Sephir Maimonide: Sepher Atelory of Sephir Sephi taken out of Abrabanel's Works, which he had reastion of the Creation of those which the same Buxtorf publish d with the the World, Book Cost: He shewed also other Tianslations that mines from mines from Commentary on Hargai was Translated into the La-mbence sin Tongue by Adam Scherzerus, and inserted in the Irifolium Orientala, publish d at Leipsuk in the year 1663 The Commentary on Joshua, on Judges, and on Samuel, were publish'd in the same City, in 1686 written in See What has been faid of that Edition in the Joursn the Book nal of Leipsick, from whence I have taken this ArofGenesis ticle In the same Year 1686, the Commentary on Father SiHose was printed at Leiden, with the Presace on the Hose was printed at Leiden, with the Presace on the 12 Stall Prophets; the whole Translated into Latin with Notes, by Francis ab Husen In the Year 168; Monsieur de Veil, a Converted Jew, publish a Abrabanel's Presace on Leviticus at London See the Louvel of Levil of Samuers, 168. Specumen Journal of Leiglick, in the Month of January, 1684 Biblioth. Necelas Antenio will give you fometimes the Title of iome of that Rabbi's other Works, with the time and place of the Impression, according as the Bibliotheca Rabbinica of I lanta vitius could inform him
Univers

Mr Morers ought not to have laid, I hat Abrabanel writ a Commentary on the Thalmud, but only on a piece of the Thalmud, Lntitl d, Pirke Avoth His only Author Nicolas Antonio could have explain d that fo well to him, that he ought not to have deceiv'd himself in it. I ather Simon, who tells many curious things concerning Abrabanil's Books, observes (0) Crit (e), That the Book composed by that Rabli under the Hist of the Title of Nahilat Avoth, Pollession of the I others, is Old Testan a Commentary on the Ivertije Pirke Avoth, and that ment, p both were printed at Venice, in Quarto, in 1545 that 537 there is a harned Prefice of that Author, at the bigin-ning of his Book Nahalat Avoth, wherein he explains the Succession of the Tradition amone the Jews , which is a very puzzling thing

(1) His Profession of Padun | See the Remark here before The Leuned Men that have given us (p) an Historical Abridgment of Abrabance's Life and that have followed him almost from year to year, from his going out of Spun until his Death, would not have omitted fuch a remarkable Circum-france, therefore I conclude, that fince they do not speak of it, the Author has not spoke of it Now it is very unlikely that having faid many things that could not do him so much Honour as a Protestorship at Padua, he had not faid any thing of that Office, if he had been actually possess for it and it any Body else, besides him, had spoken of it with any I oundation, I believe the Gentlemen of Leipsuk would not have been ignorant of it, nor have past fomething Apoit in Silence So that it is a lact cryphal, to fay nothing worse Add to this, that is there Bartolocci who has given an exact Series of that Rabbi's Adventures, does not speak of that Em-

(K) Nor his Travels into the I aft] I hold it for falle, for the same Reason that I but just now reported, taken from those Gentlemens Silence But although that Voyage had been effective, yet Mr Moreri would advance a great I ditt, He supposes, 1 That Abrab mel taught the Hebrew Tongue at Padua, in 1510, and in the 2d place, that the defire he had to fhew his Harred against the Christians, oblig'd him to pals into the East, to live there with those of his Sect, and that it was then that he Compos'd that great Number of Works we have of him We have seen that he died in the Year 1508 which is enough to judge that this Account is very Chi-

merical

(L) I say but little less of the Journey into Germany 1 I durst not call it false, while I was periwanded

ubifupra

Abrabanel was an indefatigable Man'in the Labour of Study; he spent the Nights in it, and could Fast a long time. He writ with a great Facility, The implacable Hatred that he shewed against (M) the Christians in writing, did not hinder him from

alx Bartoloccio ubi fupra D 875

6 wording to the Hebrews, it is the ,52, after the Flood, and the to the Creation of the World & See the Article Sarah & See the Hagar living with them in a civil, genteel, mild and flattering Manner a

A B R A H A M, the Father and the Stock of Believers, was the Son of Terab He descended from Noah by Sem, of whom he was Nine Degrees distant The Opinion that makes him to be Born the 130 year & of Terah, seems more likely to me than that which makes him to be Born the 70th year of the same Terah It is you likely that he was born in the same City from whence the Holy Scripture y informs his Father went to go to the Land of Canaan. It was a City of Chaldea that is e braham went out of it with his Father, and stay'd with him at Haran, until the his Father Afterwards he follow'd his first Design, which was the Journey into Palestine The Scripture shews the divers Stations he made in the Land of Canaan, his Journey to Egypt, where they took his Wife from him, who was also his Sister & by his Father, his other Journey to Gerar, where she was likewise taken from him, and afterwards stor'd again as at the first time, the Victory he obtain'd against the Four Kings that plunder'd Sodom, his Complaisance to his Wise, who would have him make use of their Maid-servant Hagar , to have Children by her, the Covenant that God made with him, feated with the Sign of Circumcition, his Obedience to the Order in his Marriage God to offer up his only Son, the manner how that Act was hinder'd; his Marriage with Keterab, his Death at 175 Years of Age, and his being Buried near his first Wife The World be useless to enlarge on those things. The sealed with the Sign of Circumcision, his Obedience to the Order he had received from Article of Protestants know them at their fingers end, they learn them at the Fountain Head from their Youth And as for the Roman Catholicks, they have no need of a new Dictionary to instruct them, that of Mr Simon and that of Mr Morers do it sufficiently It is more proper for fuch a Compilation as this is to mention the Falfities, and the uncertain long Traditions that concern Abraham, but their great Number would be able to discourage the most indefetigable Writers For what has not been supposed concerning (N) the rum Motives of his Conversion? What Laploits (O) have not been ascribed to him against ldo-

(9) P10tugus ergo is in Germaimam venit, quod ipie ait in tariis ad librum lalmudicum Pirke A-Buxtorfio teffe in #1 1Ctatune Able na zwis licbr corum pag 100 Nic Anton Bibl Hisp t 1 p 628 (r) Buxtorf de abbreviat Hebraor dit fecundæ (·) Bartoloc ubi fupr (p

658 () Bartolocci ubi

iupra. p 876, 879 (u) ld 1b

P 878

(w) Sui-

dis in Lapsy (1) Apud Gene. brard in Chron

ded that Don Nicolas Antonio had cited Bunton f right, for in supposing that he cited him right, it ought to be believ'd (q) that Abrahanel spoke of his Journey into Garmany in his Commentary on Pirke Avoil I reduc'd my self therefore to say on that Supposition, that it was at least certain, that Abrabanel did not go into Germany as soon as he was Exil'd from the Catholick King's Territories, seeing he Embark'd for the Kingdom of Naples, and arriv'd there some time after So that I tound Mr Moreri in Fault still, He says, Abrabanel was of the Number of the Exiled He retired into Germany, and afterwards into Italy And I had into Germany, and afterwards into Italy And I had Reason to be so much the more surprized at that Lault, because I knew that Don Nicolas Antonio had Corrected it after he was better instructed by Lather Bartologgi But having confulted the Book that was cuted, I found that the Author fays in no wife that Abravanel fays that he travell'd into Germany See here what (1) Burtorf lays, Hic titulus (Morenu, id est, Doctor noster) novus est, infra ducentos amos na-cus in Germania, inde in Italiam traductius, quod valde miratus fuit Don Isaac Abarbinel ex Hispania in has terrat veniens, at ipsemes scribit in Commentario, Pirke Abhoth, cap & I can no longer doubt but that Don Nicolas Antonio did not well understand Bux-torf, and it is a mistake which he did not retract in the place where he informs us what I ather Bartolocci had told him concerning Abrabanel Note, That that Father proves the Falitty of that Journey into Germany demonstratively, of which, tays he, some (s) speak, he cites Busiers I do not question but this will stop the course of that false Citation

(M) That he showed against the Christians in wri
g] His Commentaries on the Scripture, and ting] His Commentaries on the Scripture, and the first thole he made on the Prophets, are so still of the first against the Church, against the Pope, and against the Cardinals and all Cleigy, and against all Christians in general, but wer more against the Roman Catholicks, that Father Bartislaces (s) could have wish'd that the Tems had not have many treat the reading of them. He Remarks been permitted the reading of them He Remarks alio, that the reading of the Commentaries on the last Prophets was interdicted them, and that they durst not keep them (u) In his ctiam plurib is in locis canino denti Christianam Religionem mordet & lacerat, rdeoque merito illorum lettio & retentio Judais interdicta est, nec eos apud se retinere audent, publice saltem, & palam propter metum Christianorum

(N) Concerning the Motives of hu Conversion] It is a common Opinion enough, that Abraham suck'd in the Posion of Idolatry with his Milk, and that his Father Terah (w) made Statues, and taught that they must be Worship'd as Gods Some Jews (x) have Teriorth, That Abraham exercis'd Terah's Trade a pretty while, that is to fay, that he made Idols and innutii-sold them. Others fay, That the Impiety that tum fuif-reign'd in those Countries, being the Worshipping see Phaot the Sun and the Stars, Abraham liv d (y) a long time in that unhappy Mire He drew himself out of it, by the Resections he made on the Nature of the Planets He admir'd their Motions, their Beauty, and Order, but he observ'd also Imperfections in them, and from all this he concluded, That there was a Superior Being to the whole Frame of the World, an Author, and a Director of the Uni-verile Suidas cites Philo indeed to prove, that Abra-ham rais'd himself to the Knowledge of God by those kind of Resections, but as he relates on the Credit of the same Author, that Abraham attain. Credit of the fame Author, that Abraham attained that high degree of Light at 14 Years of Age, and had the Courage to 1 Totale, Leave off this Trade of Idols, wherewith the World, we have not here an united. we have not here an unifor dera-ham's long Idolatry It is certain, the without owning that that Patriarch was time infected with Idolatry, maintains, That is, Wit, and by the Confideration of the Universe, he knew the Unity, and the Providence of God, and that he was the first that durst oppose the Popular Error concerning it He found an Opposition strong enough to make him resolve to forsake his Country This is perhaps the first time that any bo-Country This is perhaps the nrit time that any dy expos'd themselves to Banishment for the Zeal of Religion On that foot, Abraham would be in relation to that kind of Punishment, under the Law of Nature, what it Stephen was, in regard of the Capital Punishment, under the Law of Grace He would be the Patriarch of the Refugees, as well as the Father of Believers I do not see that it can be on the denied but that his Father was an Idolater, seeing the Holy (a) Scripture assures it calling him by of the Food his Name, but all that might be inferred from inold time, thence, would be, that Abraham before the Age of even Tennesonal before the Age of the Food his Father's Religion, it is the rath the Father of Children to be in that the father there of A unavoidable Fate of Children to be in that the faithful Sectaries of the Persons under whom they are Foliated Suidas Reports, That at Fourteen Year's of Age he made use of his Reason, he districted the Abyss into which his Father was plus and the Father whim out of it, insomuch, that we food commanded him to go out of his Countres, Terah would go along with him St Epiphanius (b) Reports, That Idolatay having begun in the time of the Sarug, great Grand-Father of the Patriarch Abraham, the Idols consisted only in flat Painting, and that (b) Epiphanus (c) What Explaint I I would not accuse Philo to have contradicted himself, although we have suft now seen that he says in one of his Works, That unavoidable Fate of Children to be in that the faith-

Chal strorum divinitate fe Phil Ma Ma nides, MoreNevoch p3

ted in the Religion of the Zabians, that ledge no other God than the Stars (z)Joseph Antiq 1 IC Recognit Clement (a) Your I'athers dwele in old tim,

Holatry, either in Chaldea, or in the City of (P) Haran? How many (2) Sciences, and Apud how many (R) Books are not attributed to him? The Jews a attribute to him the Privi-

(i) Xxxdujous suited 71-ve Povov Per longum tem-pus Chaldaico imbutus delirio Philo de Abrah pag 361 (d) R Mofes Haddarfcan in BereichathRab-Hedegger Histor Patriarch t, 2 p 36

> (e) They alledge for thu Gir-

cumftance,

Gen 11

(f) Judæi

apud Ly-

Toffatum, Saliano, t

1 p 402 (g)Hieron

Hebraic in Genelim

(b) Fpiph de Hærei

1 1 p 8
(1) It 1 cthe

Proper Nume of a City, and fignifies

Fire also

In the 2d Book of El-dras, c 9

the Latin

eduxisti

cum de igne Chul-

dxorum

15 V 7 (/) Prulus

Burgenits

in addit

lam Lyti-nt in Ge-nef c 11

(m) Apud

Paulum

Burgenf · Ib Sec bus

Moreh

Nevochim P 3 C 29

kelosChaldeanPara-

(4) Chap.

(k) Gen

Translation Jays, Qui elegisti A-

Tradit

Suides, That Abraham knew the Absurdation of Ido-latry at 14 Years of Age, for how can one rely, as to Numbers and Citations, on such a lame and talli-fied Author as the Suides of this time? Perhaps he had not writ 14 but 50 Years There is an old Ira-dition that gives Abraham that latter Age, when he went out of the Bosom of Idolatry It is related (d), That his Father having undertaken a Journey, trusted him with the Sale of his Statues And that a Person who pretended to buy some, ask d him, What Age art thou? Abraham answered him, F. fty Tears Unhappy Man as thou art, reply d the other, at 50 Tears of Age thou doft adore a Being of but one Day This confounded Abraham Some time after, a Wo-man brought him Meal to offer to the Statues, but he took an Hatchet and broke them, and afterwards he put that Hatchet into the Hands of the greatest 7erah, being return'd home, ask'd from whence that Havock came . Abraham answer'd him, That a Di-Havock came Abraham aniwer'd him, That a Diffpute arose between those Idols who should begin to eat of the Offering that a Woman had brought, and thereupon the God which you see greater than the rest, arose and broke them all with the Hatchet Terah aniwer'd, That he mocked him, and that those Idols had not the Witt do it Abraham tuin'd immediately these Words of his I ather igainst the worshipping of shote Idols had so the Terah did the worshipping of those I alse Gods, but Terah did not understand Raillery, but delivered his Son to the Inquisition Named the great Inquisitor, as well as the Conqueror of the Country, exhorted Abraham immediately to adore Tire, —— then after some Answers and Replies on both sides, he caused him to be cast into the middle of those I lames, Let thy God come and take thee hence, faid he to him Haran the Brother of Abraham was very attentive on the Lvent, for he had resolved in himself to follow the Pirry that should conquer, to be of Nimrod's Religion, if the Fire should burn Abraham, and of Abraham s Religion, if the Fire did not burn him Abraham came ligion, if the Fire did not burn him Abraham came fafe and found out of the Flames, and then Nimrod having ask d Haran, What doft thou believe of it, and received this Answer, I believe in the God of Abraham, caus d him to be cast into a lumine. Him was to ill us d there, that he died of it a little while ifter, in the (e) presence of his lather. The reason why the line had so much hold on him is, that (f) his lath was not to lively as that of Abraham, and that he was not predeftinated to gicat I hings as Absaham. That I ladition is not new, leeing St Jerom reports it, and he feems g) also to adopt it in that which conceins Abraham's Miraculous Preservation in the Civel of Terah, who asted the put of an Informer to the Holy Office against his own Son St Epiphanius, (h) who tips nothing of it neither, maintains on the contrary, that Terab outlived his Son Haran, for punishment of the Audacity he had to make Gods of Clay, and that no Inther before him had feen his Children die of a Natural Death. The Equivocation of the Word (1) Us might have given occasion for those Fab es. I hose that urge the Words where God liys k) to Abraham, I am the Lord that brought thee out of Ur of the Calacans, imagine (I that he deliver d him from a great Perfecution, feeing he made ufe of the same Phrate in the beginning of the Decalogue, to fignify the Deliverance out of Egypt, but this is to seek Mysteries without necessity We see no steps of that Persecution in the Scriptures Thus the Fire that did not hurt Abraham, may be placed proportionably in the same Rank of Imaginary Thoughts, as also what Maimonides (m) borrows of a certain Book that treated of the Agriculture of the Egyptians It was found there, that Abraham having maintained in a sublish Defended. publick Dispute against the Idolaters, that Fire did not deserve Divine Honours, was imprison'd, depriv'd of all his Goods, and condemned to Banishment. The King fear'd that the Authority and the Eloquence of such a Man might turn the People from worshipping Fire Codrenus makes Haran die for a very bad Cause, seeing it is for having endeavoured to take Terah's Idols out of the Fire into which Abraham had cast them It was in vain that he endeavoured it, for he was himself consum'd by the Flames deanParaphraft and that he became a Converter there, and that while he laboured to make Profelitesamong the Men, Sarah did lake among the Women, and that the Words in the laboured to make the Women, and that the Words in the laboured to make the Women, and that the Words in the laboured to must be understood so, where it is said, that the words in the laboured to must be understood so, where it is said, that the words in the laboured to must be understood so, where it is said, that the laboured to must be understood so, where it is said, that the laboured to must be understood so, where it is said, that the laboured to must be understood so, where it is said, that the laboured to make the labo Abraham went out of Haran with Sarah his Wife, and Les his Brother's Son, and all the Substance that they had gathered, and all the Souls that they had gotten They will not understand by this a Generation of Children, but a Propagation of Linth, and they confirm that I explication by the Metaphoi that the Apostille St. Paul (p. made use of in the 19th Verse of the 4th Chapter of his I pistle to the Galatian. My l. the Children, of whom I translander a course would not the Abrahamwas a long time(c)infected with the Extravagancies of the Chaldeans, and in the Dictionary of 4th Chapter of his I piftle to the Galatian My l the Children, of whom I travel in tirro again, until C nist l formed in you. It is more likely that those So L they had gotten were Slaves that they had bought, and the Children that were born of those Slaves without doubting for all that, that Avraham endeavour d to instruct the Insidely is much as his Zeal and his Wildom (warm light to him and his the the same his Wisdom suggested to him, and that it be converted any of them during his sojourning at Haran, they might follow him to the Land of Canaan Some (9) Persons will have it, that his Lather did not serve the Laste Cods until steer his coming to Haran. This seems absorb for as it is to the code of the code feems abfurd, for us it is very probable (r) that that Family went out of Claddea to word their effect on they had reason to tear, because of their to liking I. Josephus dolatry, it would be very strange that the Head of it should not have been corrupted until he came into the Country, whither he sled for Refuge But it might be that the worshipping of Idols, whereof A braham had cured I rab before they went out of their Country, tevis d again in the good Old Man soul, for in thole I imes of Ignoriance, many Perions had not the Gift to overcome always their Natural Inclination to Idolaty. It is allo believed that Natlo Content that third Son of Terah, was never well converted, and the manufact. It is that her Country to go to built that nevertheless he left his Country to go to his I ither it H1 in Perhaps it might well be he that re viv d the Idolatious Worthip in that Old M is Soul which Abrahm had drove twill from thence. It is certain that Laban, Grindehild of that Nochor forved Idols Some Intheis of the Church have believed that Terah was neither futhful in his Life, not at the point of Deith See the , ift, and the 37th Homilies of St Chrylostem How should they prove it? And how should the contrary be proved to them? There are many Intricate Things about the History of Abraham, wherein those that argue pro and con want no Arguments But poor I ther Bouldue, (t) who be-I eved that that Patrauch creded tom-Monasteries at Harm, and that he brought only the most Novice with him into Palestine, is none of those that can illedge ion c Reiton

I It is fud he understood () How many Seich out naming him, it we beneve (1) Josephus, who if (u) Joseph fures we did that he tought le langta is Authmetick Aning land Afronom, and News Dan af ones would have ? confirmed it, if he had find that Abraham taught the (w) Ibid Fg)p i ns Creamery and Art brutteck, but he trys no fuch thing Mi Heidegree in the 144th Page of his ad Volume, cites the 4th Book of Niedro Dimascenus s Histories, as if it was to be found there, but he took Tosephus s Words for those of that Niedis, in the 16th Chipter of the 9th Book of Eif bius s Prip milokvan. Fusebio, gelica. That Pitriuch communicated Astronomy to Prap 19 the Phanicians and to the Explians, is Fusebing are no (1) Arialas in say, but after all, these things are no (2) Apud Articles of laith. The Authors that attribute them to him, weaken the weight of their Testimo, citante, ny, by the I allities they mix with it. One (2) says, I usebio, that Abi aham its fined at Damas us, mother (a) says, that he lived with all his I unity 2. Years with king (2) Nicol Phanichon in Egypt. Another (b) does him the Injuscite to think, that one of the Motives of his Travels and Jointo Egypt, was the Desire to know the Dostrines of seph An into Egypt, was the Defire to know the Doctrines of feph An the Egyptians concerning the Divinity, to follow tig 1 r them if they were better than his, or to disabute co Jukin those People, if they had an Erroneous Belief Some [4] sit also (c) Moderns do not believe that he raught the Fgpp / 36 c 2 teams the Mathematicks, but the Reason they give to: (a) Arts tians the Mathematicks, but the Reason they give too it feems falle to me. They say, that the king of Egypt's detention of Sarah caused such a I leas in A braham s lar, that he was but in a mean condition to Prap 19 give Lestons on such Abstract Sciences as those, which 6 18 like Poetry require the Omer and I down, which 6 18 Mind,

Mind,

Carm na | fum | riventis & etir quarunt | 1 | c | 18

But they ought to have taken notice, that Josephus (c) See Sadiftinguish d the Time very well, he says it was atlan r i tel Sarah's Liberty that Abraham had Conferences p 114 with the I erined of Egypt, and when his Heart was quiet, both because Pharash had lorded him with Benefits, and because he was personaded that his Wife (d) See the was returned to him without having received any kimark A

Blemish in her Honour

(R) And low many Books] There is a Book (d) of ricle Akithe Creation that has been a long time attributed to be

lege, Orient 1106

10) 5 = 52 ling,ton ;

a) Toftat rerium in Gen c 11 (1) Thus as grounded Stimony of Book of Judith c Auguftin affirms r.de civit Dei,1 16 Augustin

degg Hift Patr $ 2

(1) Apud lyhist ci-Antiq

a Understand thus of those among the Jews that believed the Metempfychofis C Joseph č 14 V 14 J Ib V 21 a See the Rabinnital Library of Barto-locci, t 3 p 562 n Id 1b P 594 &c t 1 p 703 OTaken out of Nathan Soel Bibl Societ 1 622

(e) See Heidegge1, / 2 p 143 (f) Abrahun Znchut in libro Juchafin p 52 apud Hei-degg Ib (g) Pri-Zchar Mantunn ipud eundem, Heidegg 1b (h) Adveri Haref p m (1) Homil 35 in Lucam, apud Heidegg (L) In Synoph Athrarfu liber qui Affumptio Abrahami dicitui inter reieatos numeratur Heidegg Ιb (1) Kircherus Type of I ibiar p (m) II. ough+ to PAUL STIA Four (n'Spizelius, Spe-cim Bibl (0 1 x Pocockio, not inspecim Hist Arabum (p Grets de ciuce, 1 r

lege of being born circumous'd, and a the same Soul which Adam had. Bereleves that David had the same Soul, and that it shall be the Soul of the Messian his Bibliotheca Rabbinica. The Mahometans have also concern'd themselves to tell Fancies about that Patriarch, as may be seen in the Alcoran, and in one of their believed the Mester of the Mester of the Mester of the Mester of the second state of the se

Here are yet some other Fancies of the Rabbies They say that the Servitude of Fgypt Rabinniwas the Punishment of some Faults that Abrabam had committed, for he had constrain d the Disciples of Wisdom to take up Arms, and permitted Persons instructed in the Law of God, to plunge themselves again into Idolatry For so they understand the Words of the Scripture, where it is said, y That he arm'd 318 of his Scripture, bern in his House, and Chartolocthat he return'd I the Persons that the King of Sodom ask'd of him e Father Bartolocci is in a great heat about that Matter, and does not make (U use of a good Rabin and They say also, i That the Sight of a Precious Stone that hung about Abrabam Ca That fick Persons, and that God hungthat Stone to the Sun after the Death of Abrabam Ca That that Patriarch taught the Children Magick, that he had by his Concubines a ABRAM (Nicolas) a Lorrain Jesut, born in the Diocese of Toul, in the Year 1589 enter'd into the Society in the Year 1606 and made protession of the Fourth Vow in 1623. He was a good Humanist, and his Superiors thought him to be a pretty good Divine, to be made Professor of Divinity in the University of Pont-a-Moull n. He exercised that Office during 17 Years, and died the 7th Day of September, 1655. He had taught Classical I earning before he begun the Profession in Divinity He publish d divers (W) Books 8 It him It is mentioned in the Thalmud (c) Rabli Chanina, and Rabbi Hofehaia us a to rend in it the I ve of the Sabbath The Author of the Book entirled (ozri lays that that Work of Abraham is profound, and wints a Prolix Explication, that he teaches the Unity of God, that he feems to may very different things in certain regards, but that in other regards he tends but to one Aim All / ws have not a rributed that Book to that giest Patriarch Some (f) have publickly declined, that it is a Supposed Work, and condemned the Boldness of Rabbi Aquiba, whom they believe to be the true Author of that Piece Quis (g) dedit potef tem R Aquibe foribend librum Jezina romine Arranami patris nofine The Supplement of Moreri has a very Curious Atticle on this Subject, taken out of lather & non's Critical History, confult it at the 48, and 5,6 Piges of the I dition of Rotter-dim. In the first Ages of Christianity the Seihian Hereticks published a Revelation of Abrahan, as St Ipiphanius h) icm ilks Origen (1) has cited a pretended Work of that Patinich, wherein a good and a bad Angel are introduced, disputing about his Silvation or his Lois Abrahims (k) Assumption was also a supposed Work. It is said, that the Library of the Monastry of the Hely Crof on Mount Amara in Ethiopia contains (1) the Books that Abraham compos'd in the Valley of Mamre, wherein he taught those Philosoply, ly whole means he defeated the (m) Five Kings that had taken his Nephew Lot Littly, Abraham's supposed Work of the Creation was printed at Paris, in the Year 1552 translated into Lat n, with Notes by Poficel Rittangelius, a Converted tem, and Professorat Koningsberg, gave a Latin I ranslation of it with Notes in the Yeur 1642 (n)

(5) That he begun to build the Temple ther] They relate, I hat Adam being drove out of Paradie, pray'd to God to permit him to build a House, according to the Model he had seen in Heaven, I say, a House, where he should direct his Prayers, and round about which he should walk for Devotion God caus'd a Tent to fall down that resembled the House that Adam had seen, and Adam made use of that Tent for what he had wish d roi. After his Death Seth built a House of Stone and Mortist on that Model, and the I lood rusin d it, but Abraham and Ishmael repair'd it by God's Order, others kept it successively in repair, and lastly, in the Year 74 of the Hegira, Hejazus Jut it in the Condition it is in at present, and it is the Otatory of the Temple of Mecca (0) See the Remark of the Article Agar

(T) Of a way fingular Vertue] Greeferus testifies (p) to have tend in a Greek Manuicript of the Library of Augsbiog, the Abral am planted a Cypreis, a Pine and a Cedar, that united themselves into one Tree, nevertheless each containing the Propriety of its Roots and Branches, that that Tree was cut down when the Materials were preparing for the Temple of solomon, but that it was impossible to fix it in any place, which Solomon feeing, resolved to make it serve for a

Seat, that the Sybill being brought there, would never fit on it, and that she predicted that the Redeemer of Mankind should die triumphantly on that Wood, that Solomon enclos'd it with 30 Crosses of Silver, and that that Situation lasted until the Death of Jesus Christ—This puts me in mind of the Oak of Mamre under which it is (q) pretended that Abraham went sometimes to cool himself—It is said, That that Oak (r) was still to be seen in the Reign of Constantius, Drys, (s) id est, quereus Mambre junca Hibron, in qua usq, ad atatem infantia mea of Constant regis imperium terebynthus monstrabatur pervetus, of annos magnitudine indicants, sub qua babitavit Abiaham Miro autem cultu ab Ethnic's babita est, of wilnt quodars infgin nomine consecuted to far, as to say, that it was seen not above three hundred Years ago—I hey say, It i suft not be distinguished from the suit of Seth, that the Fraveller Mandewil (O the fine Walley, that the Fraveller Mandewil (O the fine Walley, it is suft not be distinguished from the suit of Seth, that the Fraveller Mandewil (O the fine Walley, that the Fraveller Mandewil (O the fine Walley, it is suft not be distinguished from the suit of Seth, that the Fraveller Mandewil (O the fine Walley, it is suft not be distinguished from the suit of seth and suit of the suit o or the docs not make words of the pretends that these Words of the Grue me the Persons, and take the factorial and True See the Remark of the article those return to the worshipping of Idols, whom you have instructed in your I with, but that Abraham protested before all the People, that he would not do it. The Author quotes the 22d and 23d Veries of the Bonifacity of Impudence and Blasphemy, who said that the Patriarch acquiesed to the Desires of the King of Sodom. He is in the right to condemn them, because they suppose that that Prince demanded some Persons converted to the True Religion back to middle of the did not demand the Patriarch's Dometricks, but only the Subjects that the Four Kingshad (w/taken in plundering Sodom But Father Barcolocci (w) taken in the wrong, to suppose that Abraham did not return them. What he cites of the Scripture (w) It is sondernas him planely.

condemns him plansly

(W) He published divers Books] Notes on the Paraphrase of the Goipel of ht John composed in Greek in Abr. Verses by Normus A Commentary on some Oi ctions ham of Gicero A Commentary on Virgil A Collection brough of Theological Treatises, entitled, Pharus Veteris Teagain his stamments, five Sacrarum quassionum Listener The Axions of a Christian Lite, and a Help Frammar in Lot and Latin Verse He translated the Listener Canada and the first fine of Letters, and the Contented Povers anathest ty (x), from the Italian of Bartols, into French His men also Commentary on Gicero is a Work of great Labour, and the Logical Analysis of it is good and exist, the People Notes are also full of good i iterature, but as he (x) fix the Work of sich a length, that it discourages the Socuel, least lary That Commentary comprehends only Orations of the last Volume, unto the second Plepick inclusively, and yet it is in two Tomes in They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferriso; to The Jesus They were printed at Paris in the Ferr

(q) The Translation of the Seventy, Gen. 18 1 um Hift He had St Jerom
(s) Hieron in He br litt D (t) Vide JI ABP His men alfo

Com- 2

known in (X) Foreign Countries

A BST EMIUS (Lawrence), born at Micerata, in the Mirch of Angoni, iddicted ging enough, that having been an Author of Distinction, he was so little himself to the Study of Good Literature, and made pietry good Progress in it lie 4 . See Grueaught it at Urbino, where he was Library Keeper of Duke Guido Ubildo, to whom he de- to Ther dicated a small & Book, wherein he explain d some Dishcult Passages of Ancient Authors Cit to He publish d that Work in the Pontificat of Alexander the VIth as also another, the Ti-P 878 the whereof is Hantomythium, and which was dedicated to Oction in Uhilding, Count of B Opuf Mercatelle. The on of that Title was, because the Work was 22 Collection of an Hunculum de doubled the Number of them afterward. They have been (1) often nonnullis dred print the fe of the Ancient Writers of Moral Lables, 18 1/op, 11 c/rus, Gabrius, A- locis chvients, ce which Nevelet gather d into one Body, and illustrated with some Notes Abfeuris Iput dedicat Hecatimes he mix'd among thoseFables whatwecall aMerry Story, (1) and did not always spare somyth Some of his Conjectures on some I allages of the Ancients, are to be found in the first Volume of the Critical Treasure of Gruterie, I say, some of them are found in the first Volume of the Critical Treasure of Gruterie, I say, some of them are found in the Title of Annotationes variae, they are in very small number, and do not fill single teen Pages.

The is a Preface of his making at the head of the Amelias I see S, that is some of sole that Lawrence Valla censured. Take notice (2) of the Observations of Spirony of Schere's Biblioth.

ABUCARAS (Theodorus), was a very Zerlous (B) Piclate for Orthodory, and he made it appear by above Forty Dissertations he writ either ig sinst the few, or against eachigothe Mahometans, or against the Hereticks, or on Matters of Religion in general Genebi rd stat 1606 put fifteen of those Differtations in Latin, and published them Gressem (C) adding them ? Arnold to others that Father Turrianus or himself had translated, give in a I dition that seemed Prefat But he forgot something, for Mr Arnoldus caus da lacatile of Abucarae to be printed at Prim in 1685, that never came out of the Prefs before, and which had found in the Library of Oxford He added no Notes to it, because he dirst not \(\xi\) touch on the Great Mystery that the Author examines in that Treatise, which is that of the Incarnation, and of the Hypoflatick Union It is uncertain in what time a bic ris lived Tefuit Turrianus takes him to be a Disciple of foln l' mejecons, which is to place him in the

(y) ... ed at Paris ın Fol in 1648

(z) Joh

Andreas

Boirus de

prudentia

comparanda, p m

(1) Historia litera-

11a Scrip-torum Eccleinflicoum, pag rinted at ondon

Griti-

al Hiftery of the Con pent on be New

Testament,

kius de unciario,

Printed in the Tear,

P 107

1608 5

199

& cloquentia

Commentary on Virgilism uch shorter, which is the reafon it did more service in Schools At the end of this Pharus (y) Veteris Testamenti, is a long I ic itile ae weritate & mendacio, wherein he does not fall into the Maxims of the rigid Casuists Mr de la Monnoie inform'd me, i That the same Jesust supply d the Hiftory of the Adulterous Woman, that was wanting in the 8th Chapter of the Pumphrile of Nonnus, in teventy one Greek Veries of his own miking . nefius speaks of this Nicolas Abram, Page 155 of his Letters ad Hoffmannum & Rupertum I have consulted that Place, wherein I found this I logy, so me cum tot rationibus audire his noles, wel hujus (Nic Abi imi) authoritati cede Est enim la trech actiff mus, o ma rime idoneus extra la track the fame (oun-ti) this Witneis let us add the fame (oun-ti) tive idoneus explanation neerons Sufficiet commentarius Jo I homel reigii, n si qui addere maiir protecto commente instructor In Abiani Jeluita multa rerum varietate instructor Torrion Countries] His No n si qui addere malit prolivios commentarios Nico-

(X) So little known in Foreign Countries] His Notes on the Pariphrase of Nonnus, were printed at Paris by Sebastian Cranois, in the Year 1622 and it does not appear that Heinstein knew of it, when in the Year 1627, he publish'd that same Paraphric with a great Commentary. It is that which he calls Anssarbus Saccr mentary It is that which he calls Anglarchus Sacer Neitner had Dr Cave heard of that Jeluit S Notes, fering he fays nothing of it in the Place (a) where he mentions the different Lditions of Nonnus Neithen do Aubert le Mire, and Tather Oudin lay any thing of it, the first in his Austarium de Scriptoribus Ecclepaftices, printed in the Year 16,9 the latter in his Supplementum de Scriptoribus Ecclesiasticis, printed in the Year 1686 After the manner that Mi Simon (b) cites that Work of Fither Abram divers times, it appears that he values it, and that it is not a Book that deferves to be unknown But here is a more fingular Fact Martin Schoockius, whose Strength was a vast and prodigious Reading, declar d in his Old Days, that he had mover heard of an Author whose Name was Nicolas Traham (c) Hanc si tuitus fuerit nessio gam rapum (c) Hanc si tuitus suerit nescio que mus (jam primitus eum nosse incipio) pro-naud opus suisset Nicolay lixion (2) c 23 (c)Schooc-marks the Edition of Strasburgh 1522 1 hat of Newelst is more modern by 88 Years The Notes that he added to it are of little value, and doubtless it is not for the take of them that it has been to often re-printed He made none on the Fables of Abstemius, or was there any need of it

2) And did not always spare the Clergy] Here is a Of of it The 104th of his lables is, that a Priest s committed by his Prelate to the keeping of

Convent, wherein were five Nuns, by each of which he had a Boy at the Years and I he Bulhop having that News, was vested at it, and a used the Prieft to come to him, gwehim a fevere Reprimand, call dhim Perfidiou, Sicrilegious, 1 Min that durit violate the Temple of the Holy Ghost He was inswerd. Lord, you had committed I ve Talents to me, and belold That g ined froe more. The Piclate v is to pleas d with luch it icctions Aniwer that he fully blow d the Piclate. Quo dicto tem fr to perm us Ip scopus he mini veniam actis. The More d that the Author placed ur der the I ble, i no be ter than the I dle at felt, in regard to the nke Prophita in sof the scripture Far bulli indicat, feeta cum sa one i que mt, urbar sa ed luenda. Seeing frys ne i Mai cannot justity his Crime ly Good Arguments he must have recourte to fome jest It is certain that fiel I hings have fue cceded upon fever d. Occasions, but a Bilinop that should be farished with facility Joved Prophenyion as that which we have mention a, would perform his Duty but little better than the Gundin of the five Nuns

(A) Take notice of the Offer vations that have been communicated o me] 'The Conjectures of Aesternias, inof Gruterus, are but an Extract of the Work entitle " Obscurorum lecorum, dedicated to the Dulee of Urbin Gruterus, who gave us that Extract, placed simall "Marginal Note at the beginning, wherein he trys that Lawrence Valla criticis d that Alfremius I que "frion that lack much, no Trace of this pretended "Criticism being to be found in the Works of Law rence Valla, whom moreover Abstemius highly prais d in the Pieface of his Second Hecatomyti im, and with whom it is likely he could not have had any "great Quariels, having jurvived him at least 40 "Years He is the first I know of, that writ the Sto-"ry of the Multiplied Falents Bandel, I croille, "and others have reported it innee" I heie Words are taken out of one of Mr de la Monnoies Letters

(B) A Prelate] Some (d) call him Archiers copum Caria, others (e) Lossop in Cir a, Kapov chi ko tr Carum Episcopum Mi Armidus believes that Abuca as was Bithop of Charran in Mesopotamia.
It was also the Opinion of Josias (f) Similarus Photius had destinated Abucaras to the Prelature of Lac

disea, as Dr Gave observes
(C) Gretierus add ng them to others] The Journal of the Learned gives a very faite idea of that Jeluis They lay (g) that Genebiard translated int 163 published 15 Differentiant of that Author, and that Giet- p 368 teru a deat con to what he collected from Anastalius 31- i det of nulta in 2 Manuscripts of the Lobs art of Bavaria little liviland.

Liter of I Armolins had been understood, that Lault

(d) Cave Hiftor Script Licht Oudin Supplem r - 9

(i) Spelium Speoth Lonig Bibl ver & no va Arnol dus Prat

f. Sunt Lpit Bibl

(a) Tournal

8th Century. Gretserus (D) makes him a little younger, for he does not distinguish him from him that was so concern'd in the Troubles of the Church of Constantinople, in the Time of the Patriarch Ignatius, and of Photius That Abucaras was at first of Photius's Party, and went with Zacharias Bishop of Chalcedon, in Embassy for him to the Court of the Emperor Lews the Ild He was to present to that Prince the Book that Photius had compos'd against Pope Nicolas, and to excite him to cast off the Pope's Yoke. But he was scarce on his Way, before Basil the Macedonian, who had usurped the Empire after having caus'd the Emperor Michael to be put to death, recall d him, and commanded him to be quiet. Two Years a after, he presented himself before the Council of Constantinople, and humbly defired Pardon for having follow d Photius's Party, protesting that he had been drawn to it by Violence and Art He obtain'd his Defire, the Patriarch Paphlago receiv'd him to the Peace of the Church, and admitted him \(\beta \) into the Assembly Mr Arin vita Ignoldus \(\gamma \) had known a Learned Person in England, who believed that Abucar as had liv'd in nativapud the VIIth Century That Author's Works were inserted in the Supplement of the Biblireceiv'd him to the Peace of the Church, and admitted him sinto the Assembly Mr Arotheca Patrum of the Paris Edition, 1624

ubi fupra

liter Script

556

Eccl p

a in 869

& Nicetas

& The Place of the Temple us so call d that u design'd for Adoration and Prayer

e Pocockius not in Specimen Hist Arab p 118. 119 ex Abulfeda & Ahmede Lbn Yu-

(In the Article Carmath

ABUDHAHER It is the Name of the Chief or Head of the (E) Karmatians, under whom they prophan'd and destroy'd Mecca, in the Year (F) 317 of the Hegira They ftripp'd the Pilgrims, and kill'd 1700 of them in the very circumference of the & Caaba, while those poor Superstitious Persons walk'd round that Sacred Oratory, according to the Rubrick of their Devotion The Karmatians were not satisfied with that Slaughter; they carry'd the Black Stone away from the Temple, that was venerated there as a Prefent descended from Heaven, they destroy'd the Doors of the Temple, and fill'd the Well Zamzam, one of the most Holy and most Sacred Parts of the Place, with Dead Bodies And for an addition of Affliction, Abudbaher made a hundred Jests on the Mahometan Religion, he brought his Hoise to the entrance of the Caaba, to dung there, and said to the Mahometans, that they were great Fools to give that Building the Name of the House of God, for, added he, if God had any respect for this Temple, he would already have struck me dead with his Thunder, for having (G) so provokingly prophan'd it The Mahometans Devotion towards that Temple did not diminish for all that, but they continu'd to go there every Year in Pilgrimage When the Karmatians perceiv'd this, they resolved to send them the Black Stone back again, after they had kept it 22 Years Some time after they had a mind to jest and mock at the Folly of those Votaries, saying, These People believe to have the Black Stone, but we have sent them another in the room of it. So that the Object of their Devotion is a False and Supposed Being By such Discourses they thought on (H) fomething more folid than the Pleasure of Insulting They were answer'd, that they might come and see the Proof they would make of it, and that if the Stone did swim upon the Water, it would be the true one It swam effectually in the presence of the Thus they removed all the Doubts and Scruples which the Ralleries of Karmatians those Prophane Men might have created. This is a small Sample of the Legends of the Oriental People

You will find many Curious Things concerning the Karmatians and Abudhaher in & Mr d Herbelot's Ribliotheque Orientale He cills them Carmathes, and writes the Name of

their Chief Abu I baher

A B U I P H A R A G I U S (Gregory) the Son of a Physician, whose Name was Aaron, was also a Physician himself, and acquir d a great Reputation in his Art, so that would not have been committed Theodori (b) Abu-care differentiones quindicim jamdiu Latine vertit & edidit Genebrardus , deinde Theodorum Anastasio Sinaita ob Argumenti similitudinem conjunxit Jacobus Gretserus, dedique ex duebus codicibus MS Ducu Bavarie Maximiliam Three things are to be feen inthat Latin, I That Greeferus publish'd Abucaras's Works, after Genebrard had publish'd them on Two Manuscripts of the Duke of Reserve. Bovaria 3 That he added them to Anaftafus Si-naita There appears almost nothing of all that in the Journal of the Learned They don't tell us that Gretjerus publish'd more Pieces than Genebrard, nor that the Manuscripts of Bavaria ierv'd for the Edition of Abucara, and they say, that they only serv'd for the Ldition of Anasiasius, of which Arnoldus had not faid a Word It must not be thought that all the Works of Anaflasius Sinaita were publish'd with Theodorus Abucaras, there was only the Treatise entitl'd 'Odwoos, Dux via adversus Acephalos, that was added to the Works of Abucaras, in Greeferus's Ldition

(b) Arnold Præf

(D) Gretserus makes him a little younger | In reading the Preface of Mr. Arnoldus, a body is almost convine d that that Jesuit durst not advance any thing concerning the Age of Abucaras, (1) Greeferus vero que fuerit Abucaras, quo saculo floruerit, ab Antonio Velsero SS Theol D Ecclesia Frisingensis Canonico, Praposito Spalsensi, cujus honori librum suum dedicavit, discere volebat Mt Arnoldus saying only thus much of Greeferus, insinuates plainly, that we must look for no more in that Je-suit's Preface Nevertheless other things are found in it, to wit, that the Albucaras that is mention'd in the Life of St Ignatius, Patriarch of Constantinople, is the same that composed the Dissertations

(E) Of the Karmatians] It is the Name of a Sect that arole in Arabia about the Year (k) 278 of the

The first Chief of that Sest was a Blaphemer Hegira Hegirs The first Chief of that Seet was a Blaphemer and an Impostor, who drawing those in his Party from among the Inhabitants of the Countries and of the Desarts that had the least Religion and Knowledge, acquir'd a full Authority over them Divers I tymologies of the Name of the Karmatians may be seen in (1) Pocock They were but despicable in the beginning, but made incredible progress They seed of on the greatest part of the Provinces of Heraki and of

(m) Id 1b

Year 335 (n)

(G) So provokingly] Abmed (e) Ebn Tusef says, That Pocock the Mahomeran Religion never suffer d an Affliction ib p. 119 like that

(H) On something more solid They hoped to have drawn the Caravans of the Pilgrims to them, for they imagin'd that those good People would go to the Place where the Stone was That was the Reason that they would not put it to ransom; they would neither hear Intreaties nor Promises But seeing they neither hear Intreaties nor Promises But seeing they did not discontinue to go to Mecca, and that no body came to pay their Devotions to the Stone they had taken away, they returned it. It was not without reserving some right to themselves in it, for when they said that they had returned a False Stone, they doubtless pretendeded to cast some Scruples in the Peoples Minds, and at least to share the Pilgrimages early or late with them. Those of Meccas foresaw the Consequences of it, and bethought themselves are publish that their Stone had been tried, and was certainly known to be the true one. certainly known to be the true one

(ı)Arnold ubi fupra

(k) It is our Year 168

(I)Pocock not in the remotest Countries to consult him He was of Malatra, (1) near the Embrares, and no would be but very little known at present, if he had confin'd himself to the Knowledge of Physick; but he understood History, and there remains a Work of his making in that kind, which honours his Memory Not that our Age judges as advantageously of it, as the Eastern Nations did. For those People are Excessive in their a Royal Prairies; either because the truly Learned are very rare among them, or by the Character Profisor in their Genius. However it be, there are many Historians in the West, whose Compositions do not yield to those of Abulpharagim, and to whom no body ever thought to give the Title That are given him He hiv'd about the end of the 13th Century, and in the Amade Total Control of Christianity But that did not hinder many Mahometans (M) from rabick fludying funder him. It has been said, That finding himself near Death, he abjur'd his Religion; but that Report ought to be put in the number of a Thousand Fables of that Nature that Break are (N) forcead in all Sects He divided the History that he composed in Arabick into live. that are (N) spread in all Sects He divided the History that he composed in Arabick into his Topynasties It is an Abridgment of the Universal History, from the beginning of the Northwest World to his time, divided into Ten Parts The Supplement to Moreri's Dictionary allow what each contains Dr Edward Pocock a publish'd that Book of Abulpharagius, y Taken 1663, with the Latin Version that he had made of it He added a Supplement to it, that out of Poready publish'd a small Extract of the 9th Dynasty of that Author, in 1650 with may Learned Notes. It was that which he Entitl'd, Specimen Historia Arabum, sive Greckius not goris Abul-Faragis Malatiensis de origine & moribus Arabum succinéta narratio Abulfaragius is inspecim not so exact by much on the Affairs of the Grecians and the Romans, as on those of the hist Arab Suracens, and of the Mogul Tartars This last Piece is the best of the Work We find P 363 in it the prodigious Conquests of Zingis-Cham, in a very instructive manner, and that he was seems worthy of Credit All that Abraham Zacuth said of it in his Juchasin, and many Born in the other things also were taken out of the History of Abulpharagius It cannot be conjectured for what Reason Abraham Ecchellensis gave 8 our Author the Name (0) of Gregorius Bar 672

Hebraus Syrus y

A B U L F E D A, Ishmael, Prince of Hamab, a Caty of Syria, Succeeded his bick Tiele

Which inswers to the Year of our Lord, sirinsses Brother in the (P) 743d year of the Hegira, which answers to the Year of our Lord, furnifies 1342 and died three Years after, at about 72 & Years of Age. He loy d Study, and mon, or ra by 16purticularly that of Geography, as may be known by the Work, Lntitl'd , Cho ifmie Etificatio Etificatio Mawaralnabre, boc est, regionum extra sluvium Oxum descriptio ex tabulis Abulfedæ Ismae- teriarum, des principis Hamab. It was printed at London, in the Year 1650 The Author cites as Colon-

A. See He was of Malatia] I fought for that City in vain in the Prefaces of Pocock, in the Treasury of Ortilizer, and in Mi Baudrand's Geography Chance twour'd we more than my Searches, for in turning over that which is scall'd the Geography of Nubia for other things, I (p) found there that Malatia was a trong, City, 51 Thousand Paces from Samosaia, drawing towards the Source of the Luphrates Mr Bundrand informed me, that he has spoken of this drawing towards the Source of the Luphrates Mr Buildrand informed me, that he has ipoken of this Towa under the word Melita and Melitani It is io, he places it in little Armana he Euphrates, and fays, that it is now (K) The Toward of a Copy of Abulpharagius, the year 900 of the Hegira, Dixt Dagning fier, pater sanktus, eximius, decirina or cruditione infiguis, doctorum i execulentium excellentium excellentium (unum exemplar, saculi phanix, sapientum semporum suorum exemplar, saculi phanix, sapientum gloisa, Doctor divina ope suffultus, Mar Gregorius Abul Pharai, filius excellenter sapientus Ahronis Medici Malatiensis And here is what he found at the end of another Copy, Pater & Dominus noster, rex dottorum & corona virorum virtute prastantium, dubionam in Theologicus occultorum Emilutis, Christianorum Princeps primarius, Secta Jacobitica medulla, Mar Giegolius, dominus, pater, unicum avi decus, & Saculi plania. Let us add to this what he found at the head of a Syriack Grammar, compos'd by that Author Paternoster sanctus reu dottorum, Mar Gregorius, Doctor Orientis, qui idem est Abul-Pinarai, filius Ahrenis Medici Militiniensis, i a Malatiensis (L) Made Profession of Christianity We have just now ieen that he was of the Sect of the Jacobites This is more to be credited, according (a) to Poseck, than doctorum & corena virorum virtute prastantium, dubie-as more to be credited, according (q) to Pocock, than what a learned Jew set forth, That Abulpharagius was of the Sect of the Melchites of the Sect of the Melchites

(M) Many Mahometans from Studying under him]One of Pocock's Replies contains their following Words of a Mahometa the thor libri est Abul-Farai Ebn Hotam our multiples sour variifque scientiis instructiu & penitus imbusus, praesque autem Medicina gloria seculo sua clarus, adeo us ad eum e plagis occidentalibus frequentes contenderent Christianus erat, a quo tamen didicerunt multi è Muslemerum enimie dotto. Forunt ipsum morts propringuum à fide Christianus descripts Ebn Chak Prælican, a famous Author, who writ the Lives of Illustrouge Men. is he that west these Words, if we may ficione Hen, is he that writ these Words, if we may be believed to the Remark written by another hand in place of the Copy.

(N) That are spread in all Setts] We have just now seen what was spread abroad concerning Abul-pharagius's last Hours The Mahometans could hardly believe, that so giest a Man could be inwardly a Christian, they rather believ'd that he nad detund the Fruth in injustice, until the Approaches of Death removed the Reasons he had to diffemble This is a Prepossession that prevails every where Every body fancies that the Truths of his Religion are fo plain, that Ingenious Men of anothe Party do not fail to fee them and that nothing but humanConfiderations hinder them from making an open Profession of them So that we flatter our selves, that at the Approaches of the fatal Hour, wherein the Lot of Fternity (1) strikes the Mind more strongly, those (1) Dis Dissemblers give Glory to Truth, and throw off the longa no-

Nam (t) veræ voces tum demum pestore ab imo Ejiciuntur, & eripitur persona, manet res

It is from that ill Principle that so many Stories are inserted in Moreri's Dictionary, concerning Peter du Moulin, Joseph Scaliger, &c It is niso the Source of Moulin, Joseph Scaliger, &C. It is allo the Source of I know not how many Discouries, wherein they make certain Persons say, The Religion which I Profess, as better than the other for this Windship but not at the Point of Death. See the Article Market and the Market of Gregorius Bally Market all make this small Remark on this Occasion. Precede Reports Two Passages where our Author is U'd Mar Gregorius, and one where he is call'd Mar Gregorius, he makes no Resection on the first of those Two words, he never said, that Abuloharanius was call defined to the control of those Two words, he never faid, that Abulpharagins was called (w) Petup Mark Whereupon I fay, that the Author of the Supplement to Morer's Dictionary might be missade Chalken in saying, That the Name of that Author was dard dog. Mark Gregory He might take Mar, which is a Title mat Vie of Honour, such as Markement in our Language, for Auh Marketin and Mark Gregory He might take Mar, which is a Title mat Vie of Honour, such as Monsseur is in our Language, for Aub Mi-Mark which is a Christian Name I find the same ræum postult in the (u) Perpetuity of Faith defended, where the Patriarch of Babylon, who reunited himselfagain p 219 to the Church of Rome, under Pope Paul the V is (x) Apud call'd Mark Elias But the Author that is Cited (w), Gravium Præst him Mar Elias

(P) The 743d Tear of the Hegira] Which the (y) He calls Arabian Author of the Book Al Sacerdan (n) testifies him Abi-So that the Jesus Blanconus was deceived, when he feldes in placed (7) Abulfeds in the Fourth Century of Christianity. That Error ought to have secured him matic from Chronol.

Konign as not in the wiong to Albuteda made a work of Geograectorium (g10-ctis quorum jam numina nabis Mors instans majora facit Dido apud Silium Italicum li 8 p m 3,3 (t)Lucret (a) Lib. . . ch 101

) Cui m habem Ju odni

e) Cim

in vocat nol

a Infer

thence.

Ihat Ia-1 pecun linguæ Arab p 99 15 11 the wrong zo fay,apud

Iranslated

of Abul-feda into

Latin Spizelius in (pecim

Biblioth oites the lame Inbricius, as

Iransated that whole

& Spizeli us ibid y Mr d'Herbe-lot m/o made a long Articalls I im

Moflem # 1 15 our many Arabian Authors in it: He compos'd it a long time before he begun to Reign : for it is noted at the end of the Book, that it was finish'd in the Year 721 of the Hegi-ra, which was the 1321 of our Lord. The Learned John Gravim is the Person to whom we are oblig'd for the Edition of London, which I have mention'd. He added a Latin Translation to the Original which is in Arabick, as also a Preface, wherein he tells us, That he consulted five different Manuscripts: The first is that which Erpenius transcribed from the Copy of the Palatine Library; The Second is that very Copy which, is at present in the Library of the Vatican, Two others belong'd to Pocceet; the Fifth was bought at Constantinople That Presace informs us moreover, That Ramusius is the first that prais'd that Work of Abulfeda, and that shewed the use of it; that Ca-studies made use of it afterwards, to correct the Longitudes and the Latitudes of divers Places, That Ortelius mentions it often in his Geographical Treasure, not as having scen it, but on the Faith of Castaldus, That Erpenius being vext that it was not yet given to the Publick, resolved to Publish it himself, and that he would have done it, if Death had not taken him away in the midst of his Course; That Schickardus was the first that took divers Remarks of a prosound Learning out of it, that were unknown until that time, which he inserted in his Tarick Perseum. But as the Copy of the Imperial that time, which he inserted in his Tarick Perseum. konig, rial Library that was lent him by Tengnagelius, was not Legible in divers places, he e left the main Trouble and Glory to John Gravius It is a furprizing thing, how Mr. Morers (9) Schickard could heap up so many Faults in but one Article, as he heap'd up in the Article of Abulthe Work feda Spizelius & did not know in 1668, nor Konig in 1678. that Abulfeda had been printed in England

A B U M U S I I M U S, y General of the Army under the first Calsphs of the Race of Abbasi The Province of Chorasan gave it self to that Abbasi in the A 125 Year of the Hegira He accepted it, and died the same Year. His Son Ibrabim being his Successor, sent Abumusimus into that Countrey when he was but Nineteen Years of Age His great Youth did not hinder him from driving Nosrus away, who Commanded in the Province in the Name of Caliph Merwan After the Death of bricius, as Ibrabim, which happen'd in the year 131 of the Hegira, his Brother Saffabus was rais d having to the Dignity of Caliph He left the Government of the Province of Chorasan to Abu-Schickard muslimus, and made use of him to cause his Councellor Abumustimus to be kill'd, who Iransluted became suspected to him. He died in the Year 136, and his Brother Almansor Succedibility who after having receiv'd very important Services from Abumustimus, caus'd him. to be put to Death treacherously Abdalla had revolted in Syria, Abumusumus being sent against him with a fine Army, Deseated him entirely. Almansor being more sensible to the Calumny, which he pretended that Abumusumus had spoke against him, than to the Importance of his Victory, sent for him to put him to Death Abumusumus, full of a just Distinct of his victory, left for him to put him to Death Zoumujumus, full of a just Distinction, refus'd to go to his Master, but suffering himself to be decoy'd by the Caresses that were made him, he went to Almansor, who cast him into the Tigru. This was done in the 137th year of the Hegira, which answers to our year 754. It is said, That Abumussumus had been the cause of the Death of Six hundred thousand Persons. He was thought to be a little skill'd in Magick; and was of a Sect from which that of the us de Mathem p 250

(a) He Laks him Abilteldeas,&Abilfeda 1s See the Abridg of Celneis Biblioth

> (o) Uhi tupra Hu Specimen Histor Arabum. was prin ed at Oxford in 1650 from filling into another mistake, in giving that Geographe: the Title of Prince of Syria, Assyria, and Persia. A little Attention might have made him Geographer the Title of Prince of Syria, Assyria, and Persix. A little Attention might have made him comprehend, that an Andrian and Mishometan Author could not be King of Persia Four hundred Years after Jesus Christ Vossia, and proported Biancanus's Opinion, (2) said only, That he believ'd that Albusteda was nothing near so ancient. But he gives him the Qualities of Prince of Syria, Assyria and Persia Simlerus gives him them also. He comes pretty near the Truth, as to the Chronology, seeing he says, That it was 300 Years ago. (a) that Abussia I lourish de Instead of which, Monst Moreri imputes to him to have believ'd with Blancanus, that that Prince of Abussia of Moreri, that he livid much later, and piri api in the 3d or 4th Century, But it is jure, and piri api he should not have express himself by a persiagi, he would have affirmed, that he lived in the 14th Century, seeing his Work was finish'd in the 721 year of the Hegira, as is declard at the end A printing Full has ciept into Moreri's Distingary in this place. They make John Gravius say, That our Abusseds lived in the beginning of the 13th Century, and yet he plac'd the Death of that Prince in the year 1345. That which troubles me, is, To see that the Learned Edward Pocck (b) assures. That Abussed took Possession in the 710th Year of the Hegira. I his cannot be reconciled with what John Gravius. A little Attention might have made him Province of Hamab, in the 710th Year of the Hegira

I his cannot be reconciled with what John Gravius chablished But it is more reasonable to refer one felt to the latter, than to the other, because Abulfeda is the chief Matter of Gravius, whereas Possek speaks only of him as of a very small accessary But is it not a sad thing, that such Persons as Possek, in matter of Oriental Learning, should not be a very sure Guide, and that at the very same time that shey publish a thing, one of their Colleagues should shew the Falsity of it?

(2) Mr Morers could heap up so many raults] We have just now seen some of the and here follow the rest I In saying that some believe, that Abulfathe rest I In faying that some believes that Abulfeds was of Nubia, he confounds him plainly with the Author of the Geographia Nubiensis, of whom we shall speak in his place. He shews at least that he was ignorant, that those Two Authors ought to be distinguish'd, for if he had known it, he would not have reported those Persons Opinions without confuring them. If He confirms that first Observation furing them II He confirms that first Observation, when he adds, That Abulfeda treated his Geography by Climates This agrees better with him that gave us the Geographia Nubiensis, than with Abulfeda We have only seen the latter's Description of some parts of Asia, Situated beyond the Oxus, which he places under the 25 and 26 Climates The Geography ces under the 25 and 26 Climates The Geography of Nabia is quite otherwise disposed There are but Seven Climates in it, and the Author keeps to that Division of the Ancients, to which he refers his Description of all the parts of the known World Description of all the parts of the known World I shall remark by the way, that Abulfeds begins the first Climate in Arabia, and not as the Geographia Nuberassis, at the most Western Coasts of the Aclantick Sea, and that he takes for the first Meridian, that which passes over Cape St Vincent III Mr Moverisays, We have hitherto seen but the first Climates of Abulseda, and they make us along for the rest this Year This is a great Falshood; what was published of Abulseda does not only relate to the first Climates, but to the Twenty sith and Twenty sixth IV An Author ought never to make use of the indefinite Terms of this Year; for at Ten Years end his Reader knows no more where he is, recourse must be had to the Date of the sirst Impression, it is only to be found in some Books, and it is not always a be found in fome Books, and it is not always a good fursty in those wherein it is found, facing many Years pass sometimes between the Composing and the Publishing of a Book. We have an Example miserable (A) Spinoza is not much different in the main Erpeniae (B) did not under a Taken stand Elmachine's Words on that Subject a. What I have just now said, and the Two sat of El-Remarks which the Reader will find here, are Things that I will not warrant, for I report them on the Fauth of others. There is nothing of mine in it but the Parallel of Histor. the Spinozism. And I am not very much perswaded that he who Criticizes Erpenius, understands the place in question better than he

CI&fe.

A C A C I A, or Acaksa (Martin) Look for Akaksa

A C A M A S, the Son of & Thesens, follow'd the other Greek Princes to the Siege & Pausan of Troy He was deputed to the Trojans with Diomedes to demand Helena That Embassal 1 1 pag 5 fy was useless as to the chief Design, but it was profitable to Acamas in what is called p 325, good Fortune in point of Galantry Landice, the Daughter of Priamus, fell so much in & 343 Love with him, that having in vain called Honour and Shame to her assistance, she was 2 liacuforced to open her Heart to Philobia, the Wife of Perseus, and to desire her Assistance as the most pressing Necessity 2 that a Person can be in Philobia touch d with Comun not pressing Necessity 2 that a Person can be in Philobia touch d with Comun not pressed her Husband to order the matter so that I salies make surface her Mandalance. passion, desired her Husband to order the matter so, that Landice might satisfy her Mind orgenerin, Perseus pitted that poor Lady, and being moreover complaisant to his Wife, he contracted Friendship with Acamas, and obtain'd a Visit from him in the & City of which Illamque he was Governor Laodice did not fail to be there also, being accompanied with Trofic alvo jun Ladies There was a Magnificent Feast, after which Perseus put her to Bed with casse, us Acamas, telling him, She was one of the King's Concubines Laodice return d very quantum jan Ladies well contented, and at Nine Months end she was deliver'd of a Boy, whom she caus d tandem to be brought up (A) by Athra, the Grandmother of Acamas by the Father's fide That pam pereChild's Name was (B) Munitus We shall say in the Remarks what became of him a unit auxicleamas was one of the brave Men that inclosed themselves & in the Wooden Horse

He had afterwards an Adventure in Themselves with the had afterwards an Adventure in Themselves with the had afterwards an Adventure in Themselves with the first transfer of the second of He had asterwards an Adventure in Thracia pietty like the fift, but the Consequences of then ubi it were very unhappy Phylle, the King's Daughter, fell in Love with him, the Propo-infra sals of Mairiage were soon agreed on, the Fair one was promised him with the Crown of it was for her Dowry He desired leave to take a turn home first, Phyllis opposed it with all call of Daragements. the Intreaties she could think on, and being only able to obtain an Oath from him that he would return the presented him with a Confectated Box, as the said to Rhar Taken out the Intresties she could think on, and being only able to obtain an that he would return, she presented him with a Conscirated Box, as she said, to Rhea, of Hege-Mother of the Gods She charg'd him not to open it, until he should have no more sippus, it hopes de rebus Milesso.

ple here of the Trouble that Readers are put to, by those Words, This Year What Man can divine in reading Morers, in what time the other Climates of • Abulfeda were promis'd? That year is very long, it has continued until the Sixth Edition inclusively V William Postel a the first that brought that Work, into Europe, of which he publish d an Abridgment in Latin Thoie are Two new Faults of Mr Morers Latin Thoie are Two new haults of Mr Moreri Of all the Authors he Cites, Simlerus is only concern'd in that Now Simlerus fays only, That Poficil having brought that Book from the East, left at Venice the Abridgment that Musius (c) Ramusius Translated, for Musius design d to publish a Second Tome of the new World There is much difference between the Telegraphy of the second for the new World There is much difference between the Telegraphy of the second for the new World There is much difference between the Telegraphy of the second for the new World There is much difference between the Telegraphy of the second for the new World There is much difference between the telegraphy of the second for the second for the new World There is much difference between the second for the secon tween bringing a Book from the East, and being the first that brings it from the East, between publishing a Book, and leaving the Manuscript of it with a Man that can make use of it. It is sure, that Ramusian and in the publish what Posted left him, and if it be true, that the Arabick Abulfeda, that was in the Palatine Library, as Mr Moreri Remarks, was brought into Europe by Postel, and that it was the first Copy that was seen in the West, yet it is true, that Mr Moreri makes People iay more than they do say, and that the and that there is Reason to complain here of his Falistications

(A) Of the miserable Spinosa is not much different in the main] The Sect that Abumusiumus profest, (d) taught a kind of Transingration of Souls, that was nothing like that of Pythagoras The latter did not nothing like that of Pythagoras The latter did not destroy Souls, it only sent them from one Body into nother Body, but the other Metempsychosis is thus described by the famous Traveller Pietro della Valle (e), in the place where he makes mention of certain Ma bomeran Hereticks that call'd themselves Ehl Eltahkik, Men of Truth, Persons of Gertainty "They believe, Men of Truth, Persons of Certainty "They believe, "fays he, that there is no other God than the Four " Elements -- that there is no reasonable Soul, not any other Life after this, but that the whole Man is but a mixture of the Four Elements, of which Man is compos'd during his Life, joyn'd together and animated by that strict Union that keeps them bound to each other, and which dis-folves in dying, and dissipates its self into the Four simple Elements, and consequently returns to God, of whom it was Created, and so of all the other Things on the Earth and in Heaven In 1 word, that there is nothing but the Four Elements, which " are God, Man, and all Things, that consequent" ly the Tour Elements are Eternal, and the World with all its Vicifitudes and Changes Eternal What difference foever there is between this Do-

Etrine and the System of Spinoza, they are the same in the main. Both hold that the World is but one Substance, and that all what is call d Generation and Corruption, Life and Death, is but a certain Combination or Dissolution of Modalities Elmacinus calls the Mesempsychosis of Abumustimus a Metempsycosis of Reso-

(B) Espenius did not understand Elmacin's Words]
He makes him say, (f) I hat Abumustimus tollow'd the Sect of the descending Succession, profitchatur settlam successions descendents. He ought to have said, that he tollow'd the Sect that taught the Metempfichosis of Resolution, profites at ur sittam eorum qui cre-dunt metempsychosim resolutionis Thus the Sieur Bispier (g) censui'd and corrected the Translation of Er- 1 1 P 21 peniss in that place

(A) Caus d to be brought up by Æthra, Grandmother of Acamas by the Fathers pide] You must know that Caster and Pollux making an intoad into Astica to recover their Sister Helens, took the City of Aphidna, where that East One was sent by her Ravisher Æ-thrs the Mother of Thesess had been sent there at the fame time They took her Prisoner and brought her to I accdemon She was there when Paris carried Helena away, and Embark d her for Troy Demophoon and Acamas follow d the (b) other Greeks, chiefly to deliver that good Woman their Grandmothei, either by paying her Ransom, or by the taking of the City They met her in the Streets during the Ransacking (1) of Troy, and having understood who she was, they Imbraced one another—It was then that Athra (k) made Muniting known to his Father Acamas—She had Educated him, for Landice had trusted her with the Secret of what had past in Perfew's House John Cornarius made a gross Mistake in his Translation of Parthenius He turn d those words, δν υπ' αιθρο τρο-ψεντα μετά Τρεία, α΄ Λωσιν διεκιμιστιν επ' οικι, into these, See Paulaquem sub die enutritum post Troix captivitatem transportavit in domum He ought to have faid, Educated by (k) Tzet-Ætbra, and not Nur'd at the Fair Star We shall zesinLy-cite Plutarch, who frys, That some have call d all cophron this a Fabulous Story

(B) Name was Munitus] He follow'd his Father into Ibracia, where he died by the biting (l) of a Serpent Plutarch calls him Munychus, Muruges in the Life of The Company Rosekowski Puttles a the Life of Thesew, but seeing Parthenius, Lycophron, pistles, p and Tzetzes call him constantly Munitus, Muvit (1) Pair must be believed that Plutarch's Text has been although the plu ter'd in that place or that the Author did not well then in remember the true Pronounciation of that word Does it not happen daily, that when we Cite any Author by Memory, we confound fometimes one

Milefiorum,apud Parthenium in Ł. roticis, c 16 and out of Tzetzes in Lychophr (Tryphiodorus de excid Iraj vi-

de etiam Paufan (f)Elmac Histor Sarac 1 2 C 3 P3g 100 (g) Befpier ubi fupra, p 665 (b) Scho haft Euripid in Hercul See Paulanias I 10 ber, la 13

(c) Simler calls him wrong, Rhamnufius Spizelius grves him the same Name

(d) Beipier Remarks on the present State of the Ottoman Em-Ricant, 666 (e) Tom 3 P 392, apud Bespier, ib

a In Lycophr B He was also the Son y Oyıd '' Epiff Phyll + Turpiter um lecto cumulasse jugalı Pænitet, & laters conferusse latus & Paufan I 1 pag 5 & 1 10 pag 325 See also Suidas, & Stephanus . Strabo 1 10 P 317 Z Id 1b

p 318 u ld 1h

c 14 lest

ipud Me 71111C, w/o

takerup

* 171 072

Ovid s /pittles, par 144 (n) Plut

in The-

feo fub fin p 16 (0) Strab

1 14 Ptol

1 5 C 14 Plin 1 5 c 31 (p) Philoparties in

+/ It | Tul 1 15 (07m-

Attic

47

hopes to see Thracia again. Acama landed in the Island of COA Cyprus, a second to settle there. Physis hang'd her self for u, after having made an himself seiz'd with strange against that persidents Man. He open'd the Box, and sound himself seiz'd with strange Visions. He got upon a Horse, and spurs'd him in such a rash manner that they both came down, and Acamas happen'd to fall on his Sword and run himself through. Timezes a relates that History, but he confounds Acamas with a Demophosm; for it is of the latter that all Authors report what concerns the unhappy Phylla. See the passionate Letter that Ovid feigns her to have written to Demophosm. It appears by that Letter, that their Marriage 2 was Consummated Let us not forget that one the Tribes of Athens was call'd Acamantes, from the Name of our Acamas I, by the Oracle Stephanus Byzantinus makes him Founder of a City (E) in Suggest and makes him have a War against the Solyma I dare not decide whether Pandra or (F) Ariadne was the Mother of Acamas In the Remark D we shall speak of some other Acamas's, concerning whom Mr Morers behav'd himself according to his usual manner

A C A R N A N I A, a Country Situated on the Ionian Sea, between Atolia and the Gulph of Ambracia It is faid a that the Taphians and the Telebogatwere the first Masters of it, and that Cephalus subdued it after he was established Louis of the Islands that are near Taphos by Amphitryon They add &, That Alemeon the Soul of Amphiaraus made himself Master of it after the Second Theban War, and that he gave it the Name of himself and they had associated himself with Domester and they had conquested himself. of his Son Acarnan He had affociated himself with Diomedes, and they had conquer'd e Ætolia, which fell to the share of the latter Some time after he was summon'd to be at the Expedition of Troy one of them, to wit, Diomedes went to joyn the other Greeks, but Alemeon kept himself quiet in Acarnania of This was useful to the Acarnanians seveial Ages after, for they valued themselves (A) much upon it at Rome, having represented there, that among all the Greeks their Ancestois only did not go to the Siege of Troy.

or more Syllables in his Name I shall speak more of this in the Article Ephoria I do not know whether it ought not to be imputed to a defect of Memory what Plurarch lays, That it was Demophoon that mory what Plutarch iays, That it was Demophoon that lay with Loodice It may be, he had read it in some Authors we know not Perhaps also Itetzes had read in some of those lost Writers, that the Adventures of Phyllis concern'd Acamas However it le, it seems that Compensation and Indemnity was use'd reward those I wo Brothers. If on the was us'd toward those I wo Brothers If on the one fide Platarch takes from Aramas the good Moments that he past with Landice, and transports them to Demophoon, Tecters on the other side takes from the latter the agreeable Nights that he past with Phyl-(m) Meurnoise ferroully It Meursius had well weigh'd the stuy lib 1 Pissages, where the son of Landice is call'd Munistus, he would not have made (m) use of Plutarch's Words, to prove that the Harbour of Munychia had not taken it. Name from Munyeous the Son of Pantacles, as is commonly faid, but from Munyehus the Son of Decommonly laid, but from Manychus the Son of Demophoson and of Lasdice See Plutarch's Words here

(n) Oi) is to 10 επ & Jakandesin, την περι Μενυχε μυ θυλογίαν, ον εκ Δημοφιώντ & Λαοδίκης χρυφε τεκεσης εν' Ιλίφ συνεκθες ξαι την Αιθραν λεγεσ Ali hunc verfum repiciunt, ('tis that where Homer lays that Helena brought Athra with her to Trey) & Munichi thulum given as Demophosopte a Lasdice clay who fibulara quem ex Demophoonte a Laodice clam editum Ilu creviste sub Athia memorant

(() Acamas landed in the Island of Cyprus] There was I Mountain in that Island that was call'd Acamas, from the Son of Thefins Hesschiss attests it, and Remarks, I hat the River Bocario that pist by Salamina had its Source in that Mountain Geographers (c) Geographers (o) speak of Cape Acamas very notable in the fame Island, and some observe also (p) that the whole Island was formerly call d Acamas But no body that I know of among the Ancients said, That Cape Acamas borrow d its Name from a City, which Acchamas the Athenian a friend of the Irojans that fled from thence, built on that Cape, and to which he give its Name That City, and the Athenian Acamar's I riendship for the Irojans, nie both alike Chimerical I would tain know where Brother Stephen (9) of Lu-(4) Hift of figuren, Reader in Divin ty to the Dominicans of Pa-Cypius, ris, in the 16th Century found that rise I and

(D) One of the Trib.] My Moreri calls that Tibe a smante, but I fee no Irench Author but what fixs littile Acamantide Let us mark another (r) of that Witter's Errors here He figs, That Homer in the 2d Book of the Iliad makes mention of an Alamae Primme, who came to the Affistance of Primme, a Imacian Prime, who came to the Affistance of Primme and of another Acames, the Son of Antenor, wrof admirable Modify cau'd him to be plac'd in the Number of the Gods. It is true, that Homer in the before-cited Book ipaks of that Thracian Prince, and that he face (c) all whom the data by 1112 him. and that he fays (c) clicwhere that Max kell'd him

It is true also, that he speaks of Arch lochus and of Acamas Sons of Ant nor, and that he nakes them very expert in all kind of Combats, paxis of elder maons, but he says nothing of the Dessication of chast Acamas. Mi Morer wants but little of being the Author of it, for rigorously speaking he should be so, if Charles Stephens had not supply d him with this Foundation to build on, Fust & alius ejustement nominus filius Antenorus, qui tempore belli Irojani cantilitation of the alius ejustement. As that Author dock in not cite any body for that Fact, I could make not search after that Celibacy, and if I durst freely Conjecture, I would say that the Printers have put calebs for celebris, in some Book that Charles Stephens Copied. But without pretending to deny that Copied But without pretending to deny that were kill'd before they were Married But let us ad I put the Cale, that this Trojan was unmarried, and 474 that they have given him the praise of being like the Gods, must it be encluded from thence, that his Purity was so admirable at made him obtain Divine Honours? butes the Epithet beosize butes the Epithet Oscillation of poor services boulder of poor services bounder of poor services

Homer observ'd sometimes (t), that such and such

(E) Stephanus Byzantinus makes him found of a his 13 ! City | He calls it Acamantium Geographers fay nothing at all of it The Abbreviator of that Writer, or the Copists have maim'd that Pailage in such — Co a manner, that no Sense can be found in it, if tentage fomething be not supplied to it. But supply to it what you please, you'l be never the better instructed paucuby it of the War of Acamae, and of the Soly.

(1) Whether Phadra or Ariadne] I find two Learned Men of a contrary Opinion on that Question Meznine (w) affirms that Acamas was the Son of Phadra, but all the Proof he seems to give for it, is, That Demopheen the Brother of Acames was the Son I hat Demophoon the Brother of Acamas was the Son of Phadra, which he provessby the Letter that Sa- (v) on b nus writto Phillis under the Name of Demophoen Ovid's Mr de Valois (v) pretends, That Ariadne was the Piffles, 1 Mother of Acamas, and cites the Scholiaft (y) of 137 Homer for it, he adds, that Demophoen was the Bro- (x) He ther of Acamas, according to that Scholiaft, and that Furipides (x) confirms it Neither of those in Hary Crentlenies remark d, That it is needless in that Question, That Acamas and Demophoen should have been P 4 &

Question, That Acamas and Demophosa should have been there, for they might be to, although the one was the Son of Ariada, and the other of Phadra (A) They valued themselves much upon it at Rome] The Historian Ephorus, without thinking at that time of ever giving them an Occasion for it, yet happen'd to do it. For when they knew what he related concerning Alemon, they ingeniously took the Advantage of it with respect to the Romans, who pretended (a) Str that the Founder of Rome descended from Aness lib to This is Strabo's Conjustive (a) Turns of the sixty p. 318

tyr, wk he says, — Con Numin bus mi rum ur gebant Atlanta minori p 4 & (y)InO (z) In lone

(r) The mark d in Il chill Edition are suppicst fol m 4

(1) Ihad ub 6 v

That noble Reason was alledg'd (B) by the People of Rome, when they embracid their Party against Atolia. So true it is, that in certain Occasions, Policy does not refuse to make use of the most Ridiculous Pretences. The Etolians and the Acarna- a Id ib. mans kept a a long time united, either to repulse the Macedonians and the other Greeks, P 317. or to maintain their Liberty against the Roman Arms, but at last they were tired, and lost their Courage The Year was but of Six Months 8 in Acarmania The Inhabis Macrotants of that Country were very lascivious, if we believe (C) some Dictionaries It bius Siis more certain that Modesty (D) did not appear there in the Womens Garturn 1 i ments It is not true that Cicero (E) speaks of a City that was called Amathematical courses. carnamia.

A C-

(b) Id 1b

(c) Homer denotes only their Coun try, and does not name it Acarna-

(cc) Ju-ftin lib 28 .C I p m 466 Mothe le Vayer Letter 95 at the 325 Page of the 2d tome

(d) Plutarch de fera numinis Findicta I mak ufe of Amiot's Translation, p 832 of the 1st some in 8vo fays, Book 2 c 36 p m 763 (f) Thomas de Pinedo in Steph By-

(e) Mon-

tagne Ef-

zant p 50 (g) Aisós μοι, φασι, χαιρεας κή χριει -- α καρvávi 😉 Lævis mihi, ut ajunt, Chæreas & porcel-lus Acarnanius Lucian Dialog meretric P 723 (b) In mol-lem & amabilem *delicus habitum dicebatur

Eralin Chil 2 centur 3 n 69 p

(i) Id ib

τεις λόγοις επακολυθήσαντες δι 'Ακαρνάνες, στοίσαθζ This do sets emunous distantes it 'Angevaves, sools and de soit at Papalius, it the autovoquae may autovo exampairs, as a metalogues may autovo exampairs, as a metalogues may are autovo exampairs, as a metalogues movel this on this socious this entire. I sell a ude of other throma this emperous or this enterior Verisimile est Acarmanes banc secutor narrationem, callide do perduxisse Romanos, ut also beinerent liberum patriarum legum usum qued so les non intersuisse belle contra Romanerum majores geste discerent, ut qui neque in Etolico censu, neque sersim, neque omnino in versibius Homericus commemorarentur They grounded themselves on a Falshood, for Strabo (b) shows by the Catalogue (c) of the 2d Book of the Iliad, that the Acarmanians supply'd their Quota for Iliad, that the Acarnanians supply'd their Quota for the Expedition of Troy

(B) Was alledged by the People of Rome, when they embrac'd their Party against Atolia | After the death of Alexander the Son of Pyrrhus King of Epirus, Acarnania had all things to fear from the Etolians, and did not confide much in that Prince's Widow who was Guardian of her Two Sons, wherefore they implor d the affiftance of the Romans, which was not refus'd them Word was fent to the Etolians, that they should leave a Nation in quiet which alone had not assisted the Greeks against the Trojans (cc) Acarnancs quoque diffif Epirotis adversus Etolos auxilium Romanorum implorantes, obtinuerunt a Romano senatu, ut legati mitterentur, qui denuntiarent Ætolis, prasidia ab urbibus Acarnania deducerent, paterenturque esse liberos, "who ask'd him, for what Reason he Ravag'd their "Island, Because, said he, your Ancestors former"ly receiv'd Ulysse. And likewise as those of the "Island of Ithaca complain'd to him, That his Sol"diers took their Sheep And your King, said he "to them, being formerly come into our Country, "did not only take our Sheep, but also put out our "Shepherds Lye" What I am going to say is more filly still (e) Mahomet, the Second of that Name, Emperor of the Turks, writ to our Pope Pius the Second of wonder how the Italians should Bandy are some me leave are common Original from the against me, seeing we have our common Original from the Trojans, and that I have an Interest as well as they to revinge the Blood of Hector against the Greeks, whom they Favour against me See how Chimerical Evils fors'd by the Poets have served for an Apology to Real Evils

(G) Very I ascivious if me believe some Dictionaries] Let us cite Mr Lloyd first of all, Modicies & lascivia notati leguntur (Acarnanes) tefte Luciano in Dial Mereericus, unde proverbium Porcellus Acarnanius in laf-civos Mr Hofman transported this whole passage into his Dictionary, and here is what Moreri says, The Acarnanians were also accus'd of being too lascivious and Accarmanians were associated of being too tasterious and too nice. This was the cause of that ugly Proverb of the Ancients, Porcellus Acarmanius. You may read the same thing in Pinedo's Notes (f) on Stephania Byzantinus. I have consulted the Dialogue of the Curtizans of Lucian, and did not find there that the Inhabitants of Acarnania past for voluptuous and esseminate It is true, that the Curtizan Musarium being to Answer her Mother, who reproach'd her for not gaining any thing by the Favours she granted Chereas, and who thought it very strange that she should not hearken to a Pealant of Acarnania, said to her, What I should have less Chereas to give my self to that Blockhead that smells so Rammish, (g) Chereas un wishout Hair for me, as they say, and an Acarnanian Hog erasmus supposes, that by an Acarnanian Hog is meant (b) an Esseminate Favourite, and that it was an Allusion to the Comedy of Aristophanes, where a Hog is the Symbol of the Instruments of the Venercal Voluptuousness (i) Alusum, opinor, and percellum quem inducts Aristophanes or Acarevagus stratum of the instruments of the Venercal Voluptuousness (i) Alusum, opinor, and percellum quem inducts Aristophanes or Acarevagus stratum serum membrorum quebus observa vol grates stratum I do not believe that the Mystery of the stratum's Answer is understood, as for me I habitants of Acarnania past for voluptuous and effe-

own that I do not understand any thing of it, for which Reason I shall not criticize those who asfure that the Inhabitants of Acarman a were reputed Lascivious But if it is so, I wonder a little that (k) Varro Authors make no mention of it Lastly, Erasmus is de re runot mistaken about the figur'd Signification of the stica, 1 2 word years of The Lastin had adopted that Figure C 4 p in word poession The Latins had adopted that Figure C. Varre lays (k) Nestra mulieres maxime nutrices naturam 73 Varre says (k) Nestra mulieres maxime nutrices naturam 73 qua samina sunt in virginibus appellant porcum & Grace resper See the Italian Etymologies of Mr (lil ucian Menage, at the Word Posta Here is a Conjecture ubisupra, that does not satisfie me, and which I propose only P 721, to try if it might give any overture to those that have more Ingenuity, and more Science than my self Cherear (l) always fed his Curtizan with Hopes, it was his only Payment As soon as my father is dead, said he, and as soon as I shall be in possession of my Patrimony, you shall dispose of all my Estate, and I will marry you Muserium being surfaced by those Promises, lent him her Rody and Veluti
Purse Had she not Reason to say to her Mother, cauponaHere is a Gallant that I can neither sleece nor shear, but I feed an Hog of Acarnania, the Profit will come but I feed an Hog of Acarnania, the Profit will come ies exiguall at once? It is indeed the Property of those Ani- os porcelmals, nothing is got by feeding them until after all los nutri-the necessary Expences have been made to fatten unt A-them, but at last they make Amends with Usury then lib It may be that Acarnania was as Westphalia is at this 14 p 656 time, a plentiful Countrey for Hogs Perhaps it is from thence that the Cooks (m) of the great Cities of Greece sent for many Hogs to fatten them, and therefore the Curtizan made use of the Epithete

(D) That Modesty did not appear there in the Womens Garmenes] The manner wherewith Apollonius cenToday informs us of this From whence have you the Fashion, says he to them (n) of (n) Philothofe Pompous Garments of Purple, of Carnation, of Dryded Roses, of Fillemot, Tellow, Green, and such like, to Apolyherewith you dress your selves like a Meadow in the lonni lib Month of May? For it was never seen that the Women 4 c. 7 of Acainania ever pranks themselves up in that manuer make use Thus the French Translator expresses himself. The of Vigo-(o) Latin Translator had said. Cocc new atoms estam nere's (o) Lotin Translator had fied, Cocc nea acque etiam nere's purpurea croceaque vistes unde a vobis sumpra? Cum ne- I anslatique Acarnanides mulieres sta exornintus. It appears on plainly that Apollonius would not have argued in that manner, if the Women of Acarnania had not the Repute of dreffing themselves in an immodest manner. This seems to savour the Dictionaries that assure that Rhinuc that Acarnania was a savour the Dictionaries that assure that Chinuck the Acarnania was a savour the Dictionaries that assure that Chinuck the Acarnania was a savour the Dictionaries that assure that Chinuck the Acarna was a savour the Dictionaries that assure that the savour that the sa the Acarnanians were detam'd as Laicivious Persons, cinus p nevertheless the Consequence would be somewhat m 167 strained Those Authors want a more Precise Authority Artis Thomas apprehended nothing in Appllomius's Words, which he undertook to comment He says (p), The Acarnanians were formerly very expers in the course of Chariots, by the Report of Paulania, in the fixth and last Book of the Lliacks, having formerly been held for wise People, and very great Politicians, for having so well ordered their State and Commonwealth, that some say that Aristotle made an hundred and fifty Books on the only Argument of the Laws and Government of that Nation But the Books are lost with the Policy This is the Reason why Philostratus speaks here of their Wives O, what a miserable Commentary! the Sense of the Irst is taken quite wrong in it

O, what a miserable Commentary! the Sense of the Jirja rva
O, what a miserable Commentary! the Sense of the Jirja rva
Text is taken quite wrong in it

(E) It is not true that Cicero speaks of a City that was call'd Acarnania so Nevertheless Mr Moreri assures it He adds, it is in Sicily, and samous by a Temple dedicated to Jupiter. He cites Givera, Or in Verrem, and Servius in his 5 Ameid Mr Hosman goes much farther, for he notes two Circumstances, the one, that that City was near Syracusa, the other, that it was burnt by the Goths. He had read all this in Charles Stephens. The truth is, that Cicero does not speak of Acarnania, but of Acradina, one of the four Parts of Syracusa (q) Ea tanta esturbs it ex quatuer urbius maximus constare dicatur, quarum una, rem, Og Or --- altern autem est urbs Syracus cui nomen Aof fol m cradina est In qua forum maximum, pulcherrima porti77 verso

1 2 cit,

(n) Philoftr in vi-ta Apol-a Ab Mo fictus fuerat cmnium fuorum ftudiorum particeps Nic Erythraus ubi ınfra

A C C A R I S I (Francu) Civilian, born at Ancora, performance of dies at Siena, where Bargalio and Benevolento taught Jurilprudence with inflicient Reputation. He had a great kindness for them, but much more for the first than the other The Reasons for that Inequality were macural; Bargalio had had all kind of a Closet Freeness for that Scholar; he had praised him very much in a Speech that is printed, and that contains the Elogies of the Accarift, and on his Death-bed he had charged him to cause his sine Dispute de Dolo to be printed. The first Publick Employ of our Accathey committed the Explication of the Pandeets to him,

Ultramiuntains went to study at Siena, the Great Duke Ferdinand I:

Professor there that should explain the Civil Law in such manner as Cujaena. Afterward wie many plain'd it Accarifi was chosen for that Office, and acquitted himself worthily of it; after which he was promoted to that of Ordinary Professor in Law, vacant by the Death of Bargalia, and fill'd that Place honourably for twenty Years. His Reputation was fpread abroad, all the Universities of Italy defir'd to have him, and offer'd him very advantageous Conditions. He refilted those Temprations a long time, by the consideration of the Sweetness he enjoy'd at Siena. But by renewing the Characteristic gain, they gain'd him at last, and prevailed upon him not to persist in the Resolution. The advance to die in his first Post. A Resolution that has almost no (A) Example among Persons of his Character It was Ramucio Farnese, Duke of Parma, that made him yield to the Temptation, by adding to the Promises he made him, and to the Glory of succeeding Sforza Oddus, and Philip Marins, the Title of his Counsellor wherewith he honour'd him The Great Duke would not suffer Accards to concerne long in the Service of another the counter of t thei Prince, but made him (B) soon return, by giving him the first Professorship in I aw in the University of Pija, so that Accarifi less the Duke of Parma, and went to exercise the Employ that was presented him at Pssa, which he did until his Death, which happen'd sour Years after, it was the 4th of October, 1622, that he died at Szenn The Author 8 that supplies me with this Article, and who is the only Person cited by Mr Morers, does not say that Accarist writ divers Treatises of Law, nor that Rainucco Farnese endeavour'd in vain to draw him to hun. They are two Fassities of Mr Morers, who moreover did not understand what the IV Non Octobrss was, for he imagin'd se signified the 26 September. We note another Miltake of his in the Second Re-

A C C A R I S I (James) Native of Rologua, and Doctor of Divinity nothing to add to what Mr Moreri has faid of him, except, I That the Speeches that published are Pieces that he had recited at Rome, at Cologne, at Montus, and elsewhere II That he professed Rhetorick Four Years at Mantus, in the Academy that Duke Ferdi nand eftablish'd there in the Year 1627.

A C C I A I O L I (Donate) an Hillitrious Person, as well by his Learning, as by the Employs he had at Florence his Country, flohrift'd in the 19th Century. He might have been much a more learned than he was, if Publick Affairs had pertinited him to allow more time to his Studies, and if the Delicacy of his Temper had not hinder'd him from enjoying a Long Life. His Integrity and his Impartiality need no other Proofs than the small Estate he lest his Children. His Daughters were the Charge of the Publick, as formerly were those of Aristides, which she was time how much e time how much to Irance to defire Affiliance against Pope Sixing the IV the who harraise uas fent intreamly, but he died & before he had pass'd the Alpes, at Milan, in the Mona 1473 in the 39th Year n of his Age. His Body was carried to Florence, and but a in the Church of the Carthulians of The Epitaph on his Grave was made by Politianus. The Works that we have of him are reduced to the Latin Translation of some of (A) Plu-

B I was Nicius I rythraeus Pinacoth 2 C 35

y Lx Aub Miræo Scripe. Sæc 17 P 241

d Jovius ın I log L 16

eVolaterr

(Jovius pidi

» Varillas Anecd P 169

6 lovius

glovius,

(r) Servius m s Æneid lib v 298

(1) Irom IC. Servasin 1. Mèperd Historian voce A-Cummi

(t) Annal

cus, ornatissimim prytaneum, amplissima est curia, templumque egregium sovia Olympii Servius, cited by Mr Moreri, said only (r), that Acamania is a part of

Epirus, and not a small Country of Egypt, as Mr Hof-man will have it (1)

(A) Almost no Example among Persons of his Chara-ter | One of the most common faults of Profesfors, is not to be able to fix themselves in the Univerlities where they begin to have forme Ensployment Infead of looking upon that first Vocation is a kind of Marriage, they consider it only as a Fransient Engagement, as an Interim, and a Resting Place They tarry there in expectation of fome-thing better They have no more affection for the iecond Vocation than for the first, and wast to settle their Tabernacles for the last time, until they have utain d the best Professorships. It has been said of some Persons, that they run through all Religions in a little time; others run through all the Universities as ioon as they can Some of those that do not remove, make themselves to be well paid for their Constancy is costs those that will retain them a good addition of Wages Traiser, who doubles comprehended many Defects under the Terms of all Prefestrate burges, which are being training. comprehension many exercise under the actual of the second flam of whom I speak, if he had known him. Churchmen are not essent from the final hofemity; we know the Complaints of the Rigid Morzifits against complaints of the Rigid Morzifits against complaints. tam Prelates, who beginning with a Bishoprick of a mean Revenue, pass by degrees to the most Emn-nent Metropolitan Cities It is a Spiritual Polyga-my, or something worse For according to the Spi-rit of the Ancient Canons (10), a Spiritual Marriage is contracted between a Pastor and his Flock The Christian Societies that have smaller Benefices, are not appropriate of the efforts of the Huttonia.

not agnorant of the effects of that Humour

Parcius (w) ifia wires tamen objected a memento.

See the Remark (H) of the Article Alciatus (An-

(B) But made him foon return] This is the fucces of so many Solicitations and Gratifications that the Duke of Parma made use of to get Accares I confess he had him at last, but he was soon taken from a him again by the same Means he had made use of to take him from others. Ver Mr. Manufacture and the part of the par take him from others Yet Mr. Merers lays, that de-carifi did not go to the Duke, and that he would have, done too much wielence to his Inclination, if he had left his Country, where he was detarn'd by the Benefits of Fardinand, Great Duke of Tuscany A new Fault that cannot be excused for we read in Nicine Erythrans, that when Accordi went to serve the Duke of Parma, it was at least 20 Nears since the New Office, that the Great Duke Fordmand had caused to be created Interlike in the College of Sima, had been beltuwed upon him We readcallo in the lamp Author, that deep rifi profess dut four Fears at Rifa, whither he was called a lettle after his engagment of Rams Rifi he ect 3 v died in 162- four Years after he had acceptant the 7 virginalis paupercu-læ Societate contemptad tiorica. dulteræ querat P 744 apud Au torem li bri Gill cus tital vice se the Jesmets of Aux or

ACCIAIDLL

(A) Preserve vet, to the Life of Charlemagne, and to a Commentary on Arifotle's Politicis and the life. That Life of Charlemagne having been sometimes added to show of Plainted, was the canfe of a strange Mistake of George Witelfast. He set forth a that Life ologio, as one of Plainted's Works; which show well vers'd he was in the Doctrine of fol 178 Tienes. Some have accused Meciacid of (B) Plagfate, concerning the Commentary on and Volumistic's Morals: Others have overstrain'd the (C) Praises they have given him for sum de that Book. The Cardinal of Pavis had a great Esteem for limit, as appears by the Letters he received from him, and that are found among those of that Cardinal that are published.

confiderable Supplement will be found in the Remark D. I. A. I. O. L. I. (Zenobio) a Florentine Monk of the Order of St. Dominick, and himself by the Works that he publish'd. He must have had Learning, seeing he was Library-Keeper of the Vatican under Pope Lee the Xth He exercise that Office from the Year 1518, to his Death, which happen'd in the Year 1520 having liv'd 58 Years He understood Greek and Hebrero, and he translated some Works of the Ancient Fathers into Latin. Olympiodorus on Ecclesiases Easeboun's Treatise against Hierocles; the Tweldy Books of Theodoret de Gracarum affectionum curatione, and Justin Martyr. As he was Poet and an Orator, he prais'd every body both in Verse and in Prose We from Poems and Sermons of his on the Epiphany, and Verses and Craken Speeches in honour of Leo the X. Some Letters have been published that he had write from Answer and Present and an Orator and Landshus write Rome, the Panegyrick of the Carry brose of ten to Picus Mirandula, a Treatise de laudibus urbis Rome, the Panegyrick of the City brose d' of Naples, recited in the General Chapter of the Order, and the Chronicle of the Biblioth Monastery of St Mark of Florence He collected the Greek Epigrams of Politican into Ordin one Volume, and published them in the c Year 1495.

Piædicat P 243

It

(x) Vollius deHift Lat p 624 (y) Konig Bibl vet & nov

P 4. (z) Pocciantius de ropylus By cantinus cuius prælettiorentiæ habitas non absque manitesto plagn crimine fibi postea vindicavit Donatus Acciainlus Naudaus Bibliogr polit p m 16 (1) Vostiusubi supra (c) Con-in a Arast p 649, 659 apudThoupalium de Lite-Donat Accepted Prafar ad Colmum Medicen Commonter in E. thica de rife ad Nico-

Professorship of Pifs, so that the Duke of Parms must have compass'd his Design about the Year 1616, must have compass'd his Design about the Year 1616, at which time there was no great Duke that was call'd Ferdinand Mr Moreri says himself in the Article Medices, that Ferdinand the Ist died in the Year 1600 and that Ferdinand the Ist died in the Year 1600 and that Ferdinand the Ist died in the Year 1600 and that Ferdinand the Ist died in the Year 1600 and that Ferdinand the Ist died in the Year 1601 (A) Of some of Plutarch's Lives Ist we believe the Mannibal, that of Scipio, that of Alcibiador, and to of Demetrius But Because it does not appear that either the Life of Scipio, or the Life of Hamilbal by Plutarch, are in the nature of things, it is much more probable that Accinolus composid those two Captains Lives of (x) his own head, than that he translated them from the Greek, Of which Vossius does not seem to have taken notice. It is likely that the Abbreviator of Gesserus's Bibliothecas served hims for a bad Guide. Father Menetrics (a) assures that Accinothecas are that Accinothecas served hims for a bad Guide. a bad Guide Father Menetrier (a) aftures that Accounted was an Impostor, in boating to have translated the Life of Hannibal from the Greek

(B) Have accused Acciaioli of Plagiate It is pre-tended that he appropriated the certures of John Ar-gropylus to himself, and the hade out of them the Commentary which he had hid on Arifole's Morals Scripta quassible homens Acciaioli en de re cry-cumferunture non Acciaioli commentaria, sed Argropyli cumjerunturi non Accianoli commentaria, lea Argyroppii pralettiones Florentia habrea, & ab Accianolo descripta, editaque a plerisque existimantur So says Simon Simonius in the Fpistle Dedicatory (b) of a Book printed in 1567 Gabriel Naude renewed that Acculation (c) very positively a long time after Mr Moreri has contounded Aristotle s Morals with the Commentary on those Morals Nay, it was thought, says he, that Aristotle's Morals to Nicomachus, which Donato had publish'd, were of the same Argytopilus's making; but Volaterranus maintains the constary. Thus that Author knew not how to translate the most easy Latin, I mean Vossins's Latin. He had read these Words of Lastin. (d) Ima commentaria illa in Nicomachia Aristotean Vossus, (d) Imo commentaria illa in Dicomachia Aristote-lis multi arbitrantur non ipsius esse Acciaell, sed pralettiones esse Argyropoli, ab Accessole autem descriptos, imque lucem emissas Nebel tale tamen de ev Voiatirranus This is to contound things twice, this to take the Commentary for the Text, this is to take a Man's Silence for the formal refutation of an Acculation The Learnest Conringue justified our Denses against Neudy, not by shewing that Argyrepylus had not furnished the property of the Work, but by saying (c) that Assistant declared from whom he had shem. What authorities Confession can be desired than this manner (f) Argyrepylus Byannius cum Florents intersection of Manual of the Section planus, ses tue nomine Latines fecit, publiceque demide englieust non fine magna audientium approbationa habent eurm libri 2 summam dignitation, admirablemque destrinam, ordenine vero prope fingularem league si musta & englission quadam enflanacio accedar, magnitatio mecum affront fruitum, quod ogo jam endo ab putto mecum considerans una cum plerisque alsis que butus quoque praceptores disciplinam sequintin, in ils audiendis quoque praceptores disciplinam sequinau, in its audiendio pracepnam curam diligentiamqui adhibiti. Possess vero cum viderem hos libros a te or ab iss omnibus qui engenio vehomenter excellunt libentissimo legi, ulterius progediendum ratus LXPOSITIONEM HUJU, DOCTORIS accommodatam pracipul monti philosophi literis mandara constitui, ut is qui adesse non potuei unt bac qua nos FXEJUSOREACCEPIMUS gercipere & ipli pro arbitrio possens, quare oradustionem illius ao ordonom exploiandi pluribas verbis sesuis sumus, lasa imordum or distusa oratione usentes, ut explanatio aporta magis magis en montone utentes, ut explanatio aperta magis magisque omnibuo effet communio. If Voffius had known this Paffage, would be have been contented with oppoing Volu-terranis's Silence against the Accusers of Actions Ho implit have read it in one of Gefineris's Works (g) Gesti Is it not very strange that a Poor Author, who had so Biblioth following declar'd in his Preface, that he give but a family declar'd in his Preface, that he give but a family declar'd in his Preface, that he give but a Paraphras'd Translation of Argropplus's Lectures, vesto should be a long time accue'd of Plagiate?

(C) Overstrain'd the Praises] This appears by comparing Paul Jovius's Text with Mr. Varilles s Paraphrase (b) Erudisa & poreliganti commentatione magnum lumen attulisse judocatur Moralidus Attitoto-Listemplosis services sophisterum meorprotum inequies, quam Bustratis eraci placita secutus, cortiore ubique vo-stigio niceretur. That is the Text, and were is the Paraphease. He (1) transaced Ausstolle's Morals much more exactly than these shat were before home in than home Anesder of Labour, and gung det from the Rediculous Interpretations that the Antients and the New Sephshers had grown them, by an admirable Commentary, wherein he showed that whoever engages homfelf in that Labyrinch without another Guide than the Famous Eustachus, cannot avoid same alean. It is needlesso wherein the the Antiente alean. going aftray It is needless to advertise that the Author of the Antechores goes tarther than his kaped, both in regard of Accesselus, and in regard of Enforcements (h), and that instead of praising the latter, as he intends, he lowers hant to the utmost rank of linear preters, he hould have faid with another, and not without another. What would Father Bendours fay of those Words, by an Admirable Commensary? Those Words are so ill plac'd, that they would make one think that the Sophesters have given Ridiculous Interpretations by an Admirable Commensary.

(D) A Considerable Supplement will be found } I can speak of it with this Commendation, secure a very The Treatife that Massiew Pointeri lefe of the Ornginal of the Pamily of the Actionia, stay ferve much to rectify and fill up the Action of Bosses Accasio. That Treatife written in Latintby Madison Pointer, was translated into Robins by only between Accasion, Kinght of Rhodes The Engine has not yet appeard. The Franslassons only was prended at Bosses, and of the Erranslassons only the period of the Bosses, and of the Bosses and of the Bosses, and of the Bosses, and of the Kingdoms of Sielly, and of Terufalem. It is faid that our Donate was born (1) Ingenious Person has communicated it to m

(b) Jo≠ı-us, Elog:

(1)Varilian Ancedet

Wordough

It is likely that Ambrose of Altamura, whom I have follow'd step by stage in this Article, dispensed himself with the Laws of Exactness; for here is what Mr. of the Monney write to me. Of the Works of Zenobio Acciaiol, we have only the Translation of the Book of Eusebius against Hierocles; that of Olympiodorus on Ecclesiastes, and that of Theodoret, of the bealing of the False Opinions of the Gentiles. The Greek or Latin Poems mention'd by Gyraldus, were never printed Some believe that he did not die until the Year 1537. because Jerom Alexander, hu Successor in the Office of Library Keeper of the Vatican, did not begin to fill up that Place until the same Year, as Zenobio had fill'd it in the Year 1518. after Philip Beroaldus the Younger, who died that Year

dus the Younger, who died that Year

ACCIUS (Lucius) a Latin Tragical Poet, the Son of a (A) Freed Man, should have been born in the Consultan of Hostilius Mancinus, and of Atilius Serranus, in the Year of Rome 583, if we believe the Chronology of St Jerum.

that there is not (B) too much Reason to trust it. He made himself known before the Death of Pacuvius, for one of his Pieces was represented (C) the same Year that Pacuvius produc'd a Piece of his making on the Stage. The latter was at that time 80 Years of Age, and the other but 30. The Name of the Piece which Accius put out that Year is not known, but those of divers of his Tragedies are known by the means of some Authors a that have cited them. He took the greatest Subjects that had appeared on the Stage of the Athenians, as Andromache, Andromeda, Atrous, Clysemnestra, O, (D) Medea, Meleager, Philostetes, the Thebais, Terens, the Troades, & He did not always borrow here the Maxim 13 c 7 (1) St E-vrestont

&c

"born in 1428 that he was buried at the Charges of the Publick, that Christopher Landin made his pose that there is no Applause but at the first representations of a good Piece of the Stage, which is to some most falle Nevertheless it is better to take it that See the Hi-"the Publick, that Christopher Landin made his "I uneral Oration The other Particulars would be too long to relate Sabelicus in his Dia-"logue de reparatione lingua Latina (a Dialogue, to fay it by the way, that is commonly cited as of a nameless Person) and Vives libro 5 de tradendis disciplinis have spoke with praise of the Life of Char-"lemagne by Donato Acciaieli The Florentine History of Leenard of Arezzo, translated from Latin into "Italian by that Donaro, was printed at Venice in Tol
"1473 as Father Labbe says, p 341 Supplem nova

"1473 as Father Labbe lays, p 341 Supplem novæ
"Biblioth MSS
(A) The Son of a Freed Man] The more I consider these Words of Moreri, Marcinus and Serranus, whom Ancient Rome had seen rais'd to the Consular Dignity, were his near Relations, the more listy than difficult to guess another Cause of that Falsity than this He had read in Charles Scephens, natus parenti-bus libertinis, Marcino & Serano Consulibus, and not giving attention enough to the Word Libertinis, nor to that of Parentibus, he thought he ought to say that the Poet was nearly related to those two Consuls He ought at least to have chang'd Marcinus into Mancinus Father Brief (n) artributes two or thee Things to Aulus Gellius concerning Accius, that he ought to have attributed only to St Je-

(B) That there is not too much Reason to trust to it] I speak in this manner without having any Demonfirstive Reasons against that Chronology, I have nothing but Difficulties to shew on each side Cicero spoke divers times with Accius, I bring the Proof of it in the Remark H But Cicero was born in the Year 647 of Rome, and it is very unlikely that he could have any frequent Conversation with that Poet before the Age of 20 Years, so that Accius must have been yet living in the Year 667 of Rome He must therefore at that time have been 84 Years of age, according to the Chronicle of Eusebius I confess there is nothing immediately in the confess there is nothing immediately the confess there is no the confess there is nothing immediately the confess that the confess that the confess the confess that the confess that the confess the confess that the confe there is nothing impossible in it, but it must needs be unlikely, seeing Gyraldus could not believe that the Poet with whom Giene had spoken so many times, was the same Lucius Accius of whom so many Tragedies are cited He believes that there were two Poets call d Accius Add to this that (0) Corradus, who does not admit of that Distinction, dares not make the 20th Year of Gierre fall but with the Toth of Accius, infomuch that because of the Passage of Cicero, he places the Birth of Accius forty Years lower than St Jerom does But this is not all, Cicero informs us in his Ist Philippick, that a Tragedy of Accius was represented during the celebration of the Games that Brutus was to give, and at which he did not affift, because he was gone out of Rome since the Murther of Julius Casar That Piece was much applauded, but the Applauses had more relation to Bruene than to Accient Those Applauses on to Brusse than to Access. Those Applauses would have come from far on that Poet, and by a Leap of Sixty Years, Nist force Acces tum plauds & sexagessime pess anne palmam dars putabases, non Bruse If you reckon (p) those Sixty Years since the Death of Access, he must have died in the Year 650 of the sand consequently Gierre should tell a Lie, and consequently Cierre should tell a Lie, when he fays that he often heard Assus fay certain Things If you count them fince the time that that most false Nevertheless it is better to take it that See the Hi-way, than to place the Death of Assiss in the 3d flory of the Year of Cicero If therefore the Passage of the Ist I rench Philippick does not prove that Assiss died before Academy, the Year 667 of Rome, let us prolong that Poets p m 69 Life until then But as we have no Reason to be as but in the fur d of (q) the Exactness of St Jerom, let us make Chevreano difficulty to say, that Assiss might yet be a Main no, p 307 of Sixty or Seventy Years, and that if he liv'd as that Satyr long as Passagement. nothing hinders but that we unlong as Paeuvius, nothing hinders but that we unis attribuderitand of him and of Cafar what (r) Valerius Maxitied to the value fays is (Poeta Accius) Julio Cafari ampliffimo Coung of o florentissimo viro in Collegium poetarum venenti nunquam Exelan assurrexit, non majestatis ejus immemor, sed quod in comparatione communium studiorum aliquanto superiorem se esse consideret Quapropter insolentia crimine caruit, Comedy quia ibi voluminum non imaginum certamina exerceban- ot the A This last Thought fuits with that of which (s) cadethe Author of a Satyr (t) against the French Academy made use I own it is not without some dissipation of the Life of the Poet Acquir can be extended to the great Prosperity of Julius Casar, and it to Colless that which oblig'd Corradus to suppose that Sextus to Colless that which oblig'd Corradus to suppose that Sextus tet, Colless that which oblig'd Corradus to suppose that Sextus tet, Colless that which oblig'd Corradus to suppose that Sextus tet, Colless that which oblig'd Corradus to suppose that Sextus tet. I find Valerius Maximus But why might not that Casus you a gen-Casar be understood that was kill'd by the Satellites teel Player Maximus and who having been but Edile, had never on the of Marius, and who having been but £dile, had neer on the vertheless such great Credit, that his disputes with Violing the Tribune Sulpitius rais'd the Civil War (u)? He was one of the Chief Orators of his Time, and a this Am good Tragical Poet However it be, let us remember that Cafar was an early Poet, Feruntur & a pure are all the Additional Sulpitius musdam series, at Landes Herry. & ab adoleseentulo quedam seripta, ut Laudes Hercu-lis, Tragedia Oedipus (w) ing the (C) The same Tear that Pacuvius Cicero reports Sons of it on the Testimony of Accius himselt (x) Us Acci.

Piece begun to appear on the Stage, you will make

Apollo us is seen is the Edition air see Pacuvium do wiffe fabulam, (u) Ascom ille offoginta infection mature effer. There Pedian is in Cicero is seen and the set of the pacuvium of the property of the pacuvian and the set of the set of the pacuvian and sum the octogenes appetrights assure matur effet. There Pedian in is in Cisero inform Edilibus, but some having ill writ. Orat pro or read it, have reported that those two Poets pub. M Scaulish'd their Works in the same (y House, in inform ro Edibus, sew Years after each other, paucis quidem (w) Sucamus interposes: Which is visibly a double Falssifiction in Cation. cation Corradus (2) believes that recius had writ that Circumstance of his Life in his Annals, but Vossius pretends (a) that it was in a Work entitled Didascalica His Reason for it is, that Accim treat- ro ed of Poetry and of Poets in that Work, as may be to gather'd form what Charifius and Aulus Gellius have (y) Crinicited of it But that Reason has no force Vossius tus de Porefutes himself in refuting Corradus The latter had et Lat refutes himself in refuting Corradus The latter had et Lat recourse to the Annals of Accius, because, said he, c 5 Glana Poet does not speak of himself in a Piece for the dorp Ortogues from the tontrary I nomast wonder that Vossius, who made use of that Reason, p 3 did not fee that Accius might very naturally fay in a Prologue, That one of his Pieces was produc d on the Stage at the same time with a Piece of Pacuvius Add to this, that besides the Annals and the Didasealica, Access had made Books that were not Pieces for the Stage
(a) Vossius
(D) Medea | Father Lescalopier's Conjecture seems de Histor

very likely to me, that the Verses cited by Cerein Lat p 30. the Second Book of the Nature of the Gods, belong at

Lat p. 5 (o)Corrad in Brut Cicer P 198

(n)Briet de Poët

(p) Manutius in Philipp 1 counts them thus, having forget what Cicero faid of bu Converlations with Accius Note by the way, that the Opinion reported in the Judgment of the Learned on Poets, t 2 p 15 stfalje, to wit, that Accrus Year 618 of Rome. 1mthe 161 Olymp

(t) Entitu-

er on the Violin, receives equal, be-

(u) Ascon

Pedian in ejus vita,

c 56

ro in Bru-

P 3 (z)Corrad in Cicer

P 342 (a) Vossius

Brut

We

testific his Pieces from the Greekshe made, one whereof the Sobject was albdraesk zb solventer Hand 1: at was call'd (E) Bruss, and whered of the depoing of Tarquin. If it herme, the rich made a Piece entit'd The Wedding, and another call'd the Merchant, a Vollies shere would be Reason to believe (F) that he made Comedies also He did not limit de Poet himself to make Pieces for the Stage, but Compos'd some other Books, and namely Some Annals, that Macrobius, Profitenus, Festus, and Nomins Mancellus have cited 1418 Treplices Finend and Patron was Decimus Brutus, who was Conful in the Year of Rome 6as, and anti-class who obtain'd divers Victories in Spain, that gave him the Honour of the Triumph some of the T A time after, That Brutus was fo well pleas'd with the Veiles wherein Accius had prais'd the rather orn'd with them the Entrance of the Temples and the Monuments Victo which will be built with the Spoils of the Enemies This might rather be done I be not by a miciple of Vanity, than by a Principle of Luendship And it night be a less found if it Proof that the Poet was belowd, than a Proof that Brutus lov'd to be Praised. But be in Varro It how it will, it shewed that Dreumus Brutus liked Access's Verses Now he was a Mun 6 3 Seethe that cou'd (H) judge of a Work of that nature I do not find that Cicero accus d Acci- I affi us of a little too much affected Roughness of Style, that concerns (1) another Poet, as Mr of Si-Morers might easily have known if he had not trusted to his Fore-runners Not but that gonius Assume has been reproached with a Hardness of Style, who was otherwise a Poet γ very $\frac{Scc}{R-mark}N$

mentar in Cicer de nat Deorum, P 382 (1) Crinit de Poet

Corer, fub

Tice-

ro, Lpist

16 ad At-

2 &

to the Medea of our Poet (b) Those Verses deferibe the Astonishment wherein a Shepherd wis scribe the Attoniument wherein a Shephera wis supposed to be, who having never seen a Ship, discover'd from the top of a Hill that which carried the Argonauta The good Peter (c) Crinitus fancies by virtue of this Passage, that Gictro had illedged a Tragedy of Accius, Entituled the Argonauta Suppose that l'oet had Compos'd such a Tragedy, Crievis would not have been less to blame. seeing he nitus would not have been less to blame, would have affirm d it without any good Reason for it. The Author, whose Conjecture I have just now mention d, ought not to prove to us by the Testimony of Cinitus, That the Grammarians make mention of the Media of Accius, he should have cited Nonius Marcellus directly I have just now feen in the Frigments of the Tragical Poets, Collected by Scriverius, that the Verses concerning the Ship of the Arganause belong to the Tragical Fortil's Management the Argenaura belong to the Tragedy, Entitl'd Me-

(F) It was called Brutus] Manucius (cc) thought wrongfully that it was represented when the Appollanary Games were Celebrated, at which Mark Antony s

Brother presided instead of Brutus, who had absentable to the Brother presided instead of Brutus, who had absentable from Rome, but it is plain by (d) Cicero's ed himself from Rome, but it is plain by (d) Cicero's I etters, That the Tragedy of Accius that was repre-iented on that Occasion was Fereis It is surprizing that most of Cicero's Commentators were ignorant of Maturantius thought that Atreus was represented, Beroaldus and Hegendorphinus believ'd that Brutus was represented

represented

(F) That h made Comedies also. The Grammarian Donatus will not permit, doubt of it, for he makes it one of Terence's a composition to be contented to make Comedies, with the Temptation of making Tragedies, which together with other things, adds he, was above the forces of Plautus, of Afranius, and of Accius, and of almost all the greatest Comical Poets As I do not iervilely addict my self to Translate word for word, it is good to set down that Author's own Words (e) it is good to fet down that Author's own Words (e) Hec cum artificiosissima Terentius fecerit, tum illud est admirandum quod & morem retinuit ut Commadiam siriberet, & temperavit affectum ne in Tragadiam transiliret, quod cum alius rebus minime obsentum esse a Plauto, O ab Assani, O ab Accio, O multus sure magnis Comicus invenimus It might be gathered from thence, that at the beginning Access made none but Comedies, but as the Tragedies made his great Reputation, I do not know whether Donatus had all the necessary Exactuefs, when he plac'd him thus among the Comick Poets Mi Dacter knew very well that he was a Tragical Poet, and faid it expresly in his Remark on this Verse of Horace (f)

Nevertheless he translated that Verse in this manner, Does not Lucilius --- find any thing to change in the Comedies of Attius?

rius Maximus lays (b) Similiter honoratus animus erga poetam Accium D Brun sus semporibus clari duen extitis, cujus familiari culta & prompta laudatione delettatus, cijus verstimus tomplorum aditus qua ex manubis consecraturat, adornavit Scriverius (i) cites another passage at, adornavit Scriverius (1) cites another passage hele very Terms, Amatus etiamnum in tantum

Attius à Decio Biuto fuisse dicitur, ut Attianis veisibus temploium & monumentoium fron es & aditus exonnais confuctorit He gives it as Gierro's own Words in Bruto, but I am fure they are not to be found there Very likely fome Modern Author deceiv'd him in this manner He had quoted Cicero in Bruto concerning the Age of Pacuvius, and of Accius, and then he hid reported what concerns D Brutus, and had contented himself to express the Sense of Cicero's Words, and yet had cited idem Cicero Hereupon Scriverius imagin'd that Cicero's own Words were cited, and that they were taken out of the same Book that was cited before, and he did not take the trouble to verify the Quotation Thus you see how the most laborious and the most ingenious Compipilers love to find Business done I offins (k) being doubtless deceived by Scriverius, eites Cicero pro Archia of n Bruto, concerning that Astron of D Bruta.

The Illusion is perhaps more accept than I sure property and the property The Illusion is perhaps more ancient than I fig. It may be Serverius had it not from the first hand. How careful locver he was to collect ill that we faid of A cine, yet he did not cite the Passage of Columella, which we shall see (1) hereafter

(II) That could judge of a Mork of that nature] Paterculus (m) makes a great Flogy of that Brutus in tew words, concerning his Military Virtue But fee here how (n) Cicero praises him on the account of his Learning D Brutus M filius, ut ex familiari lib 2 cap solibat, & erat curs literis Latinis, tum etiam Gracia, ut temporibus illis, satis eruditus

(1) That concerns another Poet To wit, Attilius, to pag m of whom Gicero does not only ipcak in one of his 197 Letters to Atticus, (o) Hoc enim Attilius, poèta durif-fimus, but also in another place That other Passage deserves to be reported a little at length, because it teaches what judgment ought to be made of those Attic that despise their own Tongue, and the Authors of then own Nation (p) A quibus tantum dissintio ut cum Sophocles vel optime stripferit Elistram, tamen male conversam Attilit mihi legendam putem, de quo Licini-

Ferreum (q) scriptorem opinor, verum scriptorem tamen

Ut legendus sit

Rudem enim effe omnino in nostris poetis aut inertissimæ segnitie est, aut fastidit delicatissim: Mihi quidem nulti satis eruditi vidintus quibus nostra ignota sunt Sueso-nius mikes mention of the Electra of Assilius, as we shall make appear in that Poet's Article Doubtless the Electra was a Fragedy, yet Actilius is only counted among the number of Comical Poets in the Catalogue of (r) Volcatius Sedigitus, and according to Voffius's Remark, the pieces that (cero, Varro and Macrobius (s) cite of him, are more Comical than I I ragical Whoever should pretend to make a diffi-I ragical Whoever should pretend to make a dissipation of this, would be in a great Illusion. Are lieve that not Corneille and Racine Tragical Poets only and absolutely yet they have made Comedies; and if Moliere had bethought himself to compose some Tragedy, as it is said, that Starron had a mind to do at last, would be suddenly have ceased to be a Comical Poet? Amajori part. Sumitur denomination See the Remark F. But to return to the pretended Accusation ignish Accus style, I ought to say that Civero cited that Poet often, and that he called him a great Poet in the Oration for Sextime Summi Pota ingenium non solum arte sua, sed etiam dolors exprimebat. The place is curious: We see there that the

(L) Voffius de Poet Lat pag 7

(1) In the Kemark (m) Vell Patercul 5 (n) Cice-(6) Id epist 20 14 ad (p) Id de I mib 1 CILCS

(q)Voffius de Poet Lat p 7 orders of Licinia us thus

(c) Don

de Tragæd & (omæd

Ho-10 1 1 (g) Cicero pro Archra Poe-Val Maxim

Tib & a (Seri-VET THE tell mon de Attio a Notarum æde maxima forma statuam fibi pofuille, cum brevis admodum fuisfct Plin l 34 c 5 Charles Stephens Says falfly Lloyd and Hofman ses have a-

(t) Sueton in

(u) Aul Gellius, I 1, C 2

(w) Lipf in institut Tpist (x) Amputanda centi illi ætafı quàm in-ferenda, facileque eff remedıum ubertatis, ferilia. nullo laborefuperantu. Balzac in epift Sc-ĹĦ (y)Quin-til infti-(z) Horat epift 1 | 2 (a) Ovid Trift | 2 (b) Quinfluults much esteem'd. One may see in Aulus Gellius the judicious Reseation (1) which she much enterm d. One may lee in Alass Others the Junicious Renection (a) which he made against that Reproach. The Answer he return'd to those who ask'd him, why he that succeeded so well on the Stage did not Plead, is no less (L) Judicious. He was of a small stature; a yet he caus'd a very great Statute to be set up for hamself in the Temple of the Poetam in Muses. The Consideration they had for him was such, that they punish d (M) a Comedian Camenarum ade who only nam'd him on the Stage We shall see in the Remarks, if it may be attributed to rum ade him, what Valerius Maximus relates of a Poet Accius, who never rose to Honour Julius Casar in the Assemblies of Poets Cicero spoke very distainfully of one Accius that had made an History; and because the Tragical Poet compos'd some Annals, some will have it to be him that Gicero abus'd in that place Others (N) do not believe it. In those times there was a pretty good Orator, whose Name was Accius, against whom Ciaro dethe famous Actor Efep made use of Accous's Verses that had some relation to Cicero's Exile, I say he made use of them to make the People sensible of that Injustice The Romans were very much us d that Injustice The Romans were very much us a that Dec to make Applications to the present time, when Brutus set they understood certain Thoughts of a Play See up that Suctionius (t), and the 1st and the 10th Philippick of Statue for Givero They teach us that while a Tragedy of Achim cius was acting, the People did not cease to testify Lloyd and the Friendship they had for Brutus by their Applau Hotman.

Orat 1 5

(K) The judicious Reflection which he made against depted that that repreach] Access going into Asia past through

Tault Tarensum, where he saw Pacuvius, who was retir'd thicker in his old Age He shewed him the Tragedy of Atrens which hehad in his Pocket, and read it to him Pacuvius found on the one fide a great Sublimity and Cadence, and on the other fide a great deal of Rough-Cadence, and on the other side a great deal of Roughness and Rawness in it Accius own'd it with Joy, and drew a good Augury from it for his future Productions, the Minds of Men being like Apples, that are never good, if they are not hard and green before they are ripe. But it is better to weigh the words of the Original (u) Tunc Pacuvium dixisse aiunt sonora quidem esse quas ripsisset or grandia, sid videri ea tamen sibi duriera paulum or acerbiera. Ita esse, inquit, Accius, uti dicus, neque id sane me panitet, meliora enim sore spero qua deincept scribam. Nam quod in pomis est, itiden, inquit, esse aiunt in ingenis. qua meliora enim fore spero qua deinceps scribam Nam quod in pomis est, itidem, inquit, esse aiunt in ingeniu, qua dura & acerba nascuntur, post siunt mitia & jucunda sed qua gignuntur statim vieta & mollia atque in principio sunt uvida, non matura mox siunt, sed putria Relinquedum igitur visum est in ingenio quod dies atque etas mitiscet. This puts me in mind of a Counsel that Lipsius gave young Men The Enormous Passion he had conceiv'd for I know not what concise Style, that disgusts or makes most of those Laugh that lead that great Man's Letters, did nor hinder him from condemning those young Men that affect Brevity He said it was the way to Barrenness, and that tity He faid it was the way to Barrenness, and that they ought to have divers Superfluities at that Age, that were to be pruned the following Years (m) Adeo juventutem ad brevitatem non voco, at etiam absterream, sive quia tuto adsumere vix potest, & brevitatis imitatio facillime atatem hanc dicipit sive quia nec utiliter potest, & juvenili illo brevitatis studio aridio plenumque & exfuceus stilus evadit, nec facile ad laudaram illam temperiem venitur, nifi initio ubertas quadam & plutatunt luxuries sit quam atas paullatim depaseat Balzae (x) efflores- was of the same Opinion But to teturn to Acceus, it has been well observed in the Distionary of Charles, Stephens, and in those that were built on the same Bottom, That Quintilian excused him on the time wherein he hv'd (1) Tragadia scriptores Accius at-

Bottom, That Quintilian excus'd him on the time wherein he liv'd (1) Tragedia scriptores Accius atque Pacuvius clarissimi gravitate sententiarum, verborum pondere & autoritate personarum Caterum nitor fumma in excelendu operibui manus magu videri potest temporibus quam ipsis defuisse Pirium tamen Accio plus tribuitur, Pacuvium videri dottiorem, qui esse dotti assetsant, volunt. One would think that Quintilian Gopies these Verses of Horace,

Ambigitur (2) quoties uter utro sit prior, ausert Pacuvius dotti faman senu, Accius alti.

There is a Passage of Oviditat seems to reproach I know not what of Savage and Austere in our Accius style, but when all is done, I should rather understand by it the cruel Actions that he had describ'd in his Tragedies. Ovid's Thought is, that if one was to judge a of Man's Manners by his Writings, Accius would be sierce, Terence would love good Cheer, and those that describe War would be brave and valiant Men. liant Men

Accius (a) esfet atrox, compina Terentius esfet, Esfent pugnaces, qui fera bella canuns

(L) Is no less judicious] Quintilian mentions this small Fact Aiunt (b) Accium interrogatum our causes

non ageret, com apud eum in tragadiu tanta vis effet, honc reddidiffe rationem, qued illic ea discrentur qua ipfa vellet, in fore diffur adverfaris effent qua minime vellet. In my Tragedies, aniwer'd he, I say all that pleases me, but at the Bar I must hear what I would not I know a Man of Wit that made use of a like Reason to divert his Son from the Study of the Law, and to encourage him to the Study of Divinity What is more commodious. iaid he to him, than to speak bemore commodious, faid he to him, than to speak be-fore Persons that do not contradict you? It is the Advantage of Preachers And what more Incom-modious than when you have done fpeaking to hear modious than when you have done speaking to hear a Man that Consutes you, and makes you give an Account without quarter of all that you have said? That's the Condition of an Advocate This puts me in Mind of a Thought of Montagne "As for "the Gift of Eloquence (c), says he, some have a (c) Mon-I facility and Readiness, and which may be called tagne's "Gift of Utterance, so easy that they are ready at Essays, "every turn Others are slow, and speak only Book I what is Premeditated and Elaborate———If I Cap 10 was to give my Opinion in these Two different at the beat Advantages of Eloquence, of which Preachers ginning, and Lawyers now a-days make the chief Profes- p m 52, so fion, the slow one would seem to me to be the best fion, the flow one would feem to me to be the best 53 Preacher, and the other the best Lawyer, because the Employment of the former, gives him as much time as he pleafes to prepare himself, and he goes on with the Thread of his Discourse, without any Interruption But the Lawyer is obliged to come often into the Lists, and the unformation Answers of his Adversary force him to foreigen Answers of his Adversary force him to turn his Tale immediately ____ (d) The Advocate's Business is more difficult than the Preachers, and yet we find more tolerable Advocates, in Pag 54.
my opinion, than we do Preachers, at least, in

(M) That they punish'd a Comedian] Being brought before the Judges to give Satisfaction for that Injury, he faid in defence of himself, that it was permitted to name a Manthat gave his Pieces to be represented on the Stage Publius Musius, before whom the Cause was Debated, Condemn'd him The Satyrical Poet Lucitius had not the same Success. for the Comedian, that had offended to cess, for the Comedian that had offended him by Name on the Stage was fent away absolv'd So true is it, that all Judges are not of the same Humour, or that some Persons are more considered than others He that informs us of those Two Cases expresses himself thus (1) Mimus quidam nominatim Accium poetam compellavit in scena cum eo Accius in-juriarum agit hic nihil defendit, nist licere nominari cum cujus nomine scripta dentur agenda Cajus (f) Calius judex absolvit eum injuriarum qui Lucilium poetam in scena nominatim laserat, Publius Mutius eum, qui L Accium poetam nominaverat, condemnavit Glanderpius did not know where to find that History, but (g) reported it only on the Credit of a (b) Modern Author, whose false Glois he Copies, to wit, that the Defender was Condemn'd, because he had plainly ipoke the Name of Access without Titles of Homer of Compliments. nour or Compliments, Sine prafatione honoris nomina-

(N) Others do not believe it] If I was to take dorp does (N) Others do not believe it] If I was to take any part, I would be of their fide, for befides that Cicers, who has so often nam'd, and so often cited our Accins, either with Elogy, or without blaming him, would be ungenteel to abuse him in the 1st Book of the Laws, I observe that those Abuses are altogether opposite to the Character of him that makes the Subject of this Article Elevation. Grandeur and Force were the Character of so tion, Grandeur and Force were the Character of Activity, and we have feen (1) the Testimony that (1) in the Horace and Quantition have given him upon it Let (2) in the us add two Verses of Ovid, and a dequive Decree of fended Cluentins. He was of Psfaurum; and that might make him pass for (0) one of our Poet's Relations. It is not true, that Cicero speaks also of another Famous Orator of that Name, Sernamed Navius. Mr Morers made a Mistake there; he did not consider, that that Access Navius does not differ from the famous a Diviner of whom he ipeaks fome a Cicero Pages after in the Article Accius Nevius He is no less mistaken, when he distinguishes lib i de him that made the Annals, cited by Macrobius, from the Tragical Poet That which he divination on the Tragical Poet one readds, That A Gellius speaks also of Accoust the Historian, as distinct from the Tragical Poet, later the in the 9th Chapter of the 3d Book, is doubly false. That Author does not speak of any History of Accuse in that place; and every where else when he speaks of Access, he must understand it More-the Tragical Poet. Some Persons have exposed themselves to Raillery, for having imita-de divin ted or admir'd (P) the Latin of that Accius, in the Ages of a better Latinity

(e) Autor Rhetoricor ad Herenn f(f) Ib 1 (g)Gland Onomast pag 3 (b) Cata næus , of not cite the place, but it is found mentary 111 Plin epift

A C C O. Charles Stephens reports that it was an Old Woman, who giew mad with which see Vexation, by seeing in a Looking-glass how homely old Age had made her. He cites fall cite-the 15th Chapter of the 6th Book of Calius Rhodiginus, but a nothing like it is to be found then there. The Continuator of Morers adds, That that Woman ple is d ber felf with specking alters no to ber Image before a Looking-glass; and that oftentimes she seemd to refuse with t the wish a thing, exmuch for Plutarch adds, continues he, that it is a word that Mothers used to frighten little cept that Children, and keep them to their Duty He cites the 16th Book of (alins Rhodiginus, and he cites

(a)Ovidi-Amor" eleg 15
(b) Patercul 1 2 (c) Acron in Horat

(d) Columella de re rust l 1 ef .

Epult 1

(e) Voll de Hist Lat 1 1. C. 10

(f) Vell Patercul 1 2 6 9 (g) In Chron Łuseb n 1876

(b) Scalig anım ın Euseb 1b ex Paterculo, l c 15

(i) Cicero in Bruto See also the Speech pro Cluentio

Ennius (a) arte carens, ANIMOSIQUE Accius oris Cafurum nullo tempore nomen habent Clara (b) etiam per idem evi spatium fuere ingenia, in sogatu Afranii, in Tragadiis Pacuvii atque Attii usque in Gracorum comparationem EVECTI, magnumque inter hos ipsoi facientii operi suo locum, adeo quidem ut in illis lima, in hoc pene plui videatur suisse SANGUINIS If the new Withess (c) that I am going to produce was of the force of the toregoing, that which follows would excel by much all that I have already reported, for here is Accius on the head of the great Euripides. Accius poèta tunior suo incenso pracelluie Rus togatie Afranis, in Tragadiis Pacuvii atque Attis ufque Euripides, Accius poèta junior suo ingenio pracelluis Eu-ripidem, qui fuit altus & ingenio sublimu Another (d) gives us Accius and Virgil for the Two most Excellent Poets of Rome An Latia Musa non solos adytus Jun Accium & Virgilium recepere, fed corum & proximis & procul a secundus sacras concessos sedes? How is it likely that such a Man made an History worthy of that Censure of Cicero? Nam quid Accium memorem, vujus loquacitas habet aliquid argutiarum, nec id tamen ex illa crudita Gracorum copia, fed ex librariolis Latimis In orationibus autem multus & inceptus, ad summam impudentiam Observe well that the Annals of the Tragical Poet Accius were in Verse, and that Cicero speaks there only of those that had writ Histories in Latin Profe, for he fays nothing of Enning of Cicero is Our best Criticks think that this Passage corrupted, and that it must not be read Accium but Macrum So that the Centure will fall on the Hiftorian Licinius Macer Voffius (e) embraces that Opinion, but when he brings for & Proof the Friendship that was between Sicenna and him whom Cicero abus'd, when I say, he concludes from thence, that Cicero did not speak of Accius, he is mistaken, for, by his leave, Accius and Sisenna were very near of the same Age Sissens was (f) Old after the Civil War of Mariss and Sylla, that is to suy, about the Year 672 of Rome, and Accius was not dead in 665 (O) Past for one of our Poets Relations] St Jerome observes (g), speaking of the Poet Accius, That he was carried to Pisaurum when the Romans lent a Colony there, and that there was a place near the City call d Fundus Accianus It was the Lot that fell to him of the Land that was divided among the Inhabitants of that new Colony Scaliger observes (b) upon this That the Colony of Pisauum was not iettle duntil Four Years after that of Bologna, that is, in the Year of Rome 568, Tifteen Years before Acciwas mistaken Rome was a more fit abode for a Powas militaken Roma was a more fit abode for a Po-et that was the Glory of the Theatre in those times, than a Colony But let us not believe that this I al-sity is without any Ground It may be, the Tather of Accius follow'd those that conducted the Colony of Pisaurum, and it may be that the Patron to whom he owed his Liberty, was one of the chief Com-missaries of that new Settlement In case he had follow'd his Patron, he might have had the Land to his share, that was afterwards call d I undus Accianus, and among other Children he might have left the Father of the Orator Access See how Cicero (1) spoke of that Orator T Access Pisaurensem, cujus acculations responds pro A Cluents, qui & accurate di-cebat & satis copiose, eratque praterea dossus Hirmagora peaceptis, quibus essi ornamenta non satis opima dicendi, tamen ut basta velitibus amentata, sic apia quadam & parata singulis causarum generibus argumenta traduntur galiger does not censure St Jerome, sor having con-fufedly (L) placed the great Reputation and the Death Clap 2 of Pacusius in the 3d Year of the 156th Olympiad and the great Reputation of Accion in the 2d 1 ear of the 160th Olympiad Nothing can proceed from thence but Contui on, for those who know that Pacuving was 50 years older than Accuss I of it it should be supposed that Pacuvins died about 90 years of Age in the year in which St Jerome speaks of his Death, it must be said that Accus was about 40 years of Age in the 3d Year of the 156th Olympiad, and yet according to St Jerome he was Born in the Conjulship of Mancinus and of Serranus, which falls in the 2d Year of the 15-d Olympiad. So that 25 I faid in the Second Remark, we must mistrust that Chionologist a little in this Cale

(P) The Latin of that Accius] Perfius and Martial Laught heartily at those People Est (1) nunc (m) Brifai quem venosus liber Acci, Sunt quos Pacuvinfque & versucola moretur Antiopa, arumnis cor luctificabile fulta See what Martial lays of them in the 91st Epigram of the 2d Book

Actonitusque ligis terrai singif ra, Accins & quidquid Pacuviusque comunt they had imitated those old Authors as our finest Wits imitate Maror at prefent, and the other Poets of the 16 Century, in Stories, in Ballads, in Pindarick Odes, in Roundo s, or made on purpose in old Language, I do not see that any body could reasonably have found to Small at it. But likely it was in earnest that that mouldy and superannuated Style Ev/l n was made use of, it was taken to perfect 1 to 1863 quence, whether it was pure or mix d with that of (1) Perfect Phayoring Sit 1 gave a young Man of that Mind We are not sub- (m Casar) ject at present to that kind of Dissemper, but more Persons are rather found that are too much disgusted hunc loc at a common word, or that run too violently after Perin, Imp new created Words, than those that will retain the polisthar old Language is employ d, it is by way of Jesting and in Witicisms, and Builetque Works. It is only in Latin that Authors are ver found that ple de themselves to set forth the oldest Phriles Doubtless the title of there were other kind of Perions among the ancient a leac dy Romans, when Latin was come to its Perfection Those Perfons were perpetual Admirers of the old Poets, without making or intending to make use of their Superannusted Expressions, they design d only to moitify the Writers of their time, by placing them beneath old Authors Horace had well comthem beneath old Authors prehended their Intention

Sie (p) fautor veterum it tubulas peccare vetante Quas bis quinque viri sanvirunt sudera rigion Fel Gabiss, vel cum rigidis aquata Sabinis Pontificum libros, annoja volumina vatum Dittitit Albano Mujas in monto-locitas

Jam Saliare Nume carmen que lauaat, & illud Sued mecum ignerat, folus or less reved et, Ingeneu non elle favet, plaudeques pultes, Nostra sed impugnat, nos nostraque levidus edit It is a Diffemper from which our Age is also ex-

(a) The Orator Silenna had that Affellation Cicer in Bioto Sallust was accused of w., System in Aug. 86 & mvit Giam. C. 15 and of the contrary Affellation, that is, of forging new 11 or is Gell 1 i.c. 15 (p) Horat epist. 1 2 empted

Cicires nus at the

(1) Picus 1145 Brundufinus Tragadi 1ium Cripton clarus habetui Vixitque Roma Étur im excicuit & fibulas rendidit Demde Tarentum timb greffus non igenarius diem obut (m (1fau bon in 1 2711/10 read Bis fers, and us in Te ftim de Attio, 16 in the n tune 16 tilieve that Per mus does not Speak gical Poet (n) Apud Aul Gell l 1 c 15 quem vi-16 c 7

the 2d Chap of the 17th Rook He Says, that be read this see the Epitome of the Adages of Tarræus and of Dydimus B Plut de Stoicorum repugnant p 1040 B y Taken out of l'anzirolus, 1 de claus legum Interpret p m 147 & seq SArth Duck de 1105 apudPope Blount ceni celebr Autor p 286 . I orfterus, Hift Juris civillzc I 2

Cicero's 2. ad Atticum. I shall make a (A) Criticism on this Passage house mean time here is what Rhodiginus says in a place that is not a cited. o doated in such manner, that when she look'd in her Glass, she entertain'd her felf with her Resemblance, as if it had been another Woman, she was seen to make use of Signs, Promises, Threats, Smiles, and of all that is practised in Conversation Others write that she endeavour'd sometimes to drive a Nail with a Spunge as if she had held a Hammer. Rhodiginus says no more of her As for Plutarch, he & says only that Chrysippus did not approve that we should be frighted with the Justice of God to turn us from Sin; for, said he, we don't want Arguments against what is said about the Distribution which shew that such Discourses resemble those of good Women, the little me.Plu-Children with (B) Acco and with Alphito, to hinder them from idling away the

tarch shews afterwards that Chrysippus contradicted himself

ACURSIUS, Professor of the Civil Law in the 13th Century, was a Florentine. He acquir'd a very great Name by the Glosses he Composed on the Body of the Law. It is faid that he begun but late to Study Jurisprudence, and that he was 40 Years of Age when he begun to hear the Lectures of the famous Azo He had applied hanfelf before that time to other Studies The Progresses he made in the Civil Law were so great, that he became a famous Professor in that Science, which he will at Bologna, and keeping himself retir'd afterwards, he Compos d a continued Gloss on the whole Law, which appear d so convenient and so useful to young Persons, that the former Glosses were no more spoken of and doubtless than were not so were no more spoken of and doubtless than were not so were so more spoken of and doubtless than were not so were so more spoken of and doubtless than were not so were not so were not so were no more spoken of and doubtless than were not so were Glosses were no more spoken of, and doubtless they were not so well dispos'd, nor so compleat Some think that the Contradictions that are observ'd in Accursius do not proceed from his Inconstancy, or a defect of Memory, but from this, viz. that in reporting thor Juris the divers Opinions of those that had preceded him, he had only made those Authors civ Rom known by the first Letters of their Names. It is find the attention of the contract of t divers places, was the cause that Readers have taken for his Opinion, what he said only as a Witness of another Man's Doctrine His Authority (B) was formerly so great, that fome call'd him the Idol of the Advocates? Most Interpreters have taken as much or more & Care to explain his Gloss, as to comment the very Text of the Laws Some Criticks great I overs of the Politeness of the Language, have cried horribly against (C) the Barbarous Style of that Author, but it is generally enough believ'd that he was a empted We are contented to place Greece and Ancient Rome above our Age, but we do not prefer the Speeches and the Poems of the 15th and 16th Centuries before those that are made at present

(A) Griticism on this Passage 1 1 None of the Three Authors that are cited have said, That Acco grew mid with Vexation for having feen her felf ugly in a Looking-glass, and that the feem'd to retuie what the with d much for This is attributed to Plutarch by Name, feeing after having reported Accos Lolly, her Illusions concerning her Image, and her Diffimulation, the next words are, Plutarch adds, that is to fry, That Plutarch reported those Three I iets, and confequently it is to deceive the World, teeing that Author frys only what I have cited of him 2 What Negligence is it not to cite (cite ad distribute 2) would they cite the 2d Letter of the 2d Book? must the Readers be left to guess it ? must they be it the I touble to feek what Letter, what Book it is? But those that should have the Patience to look for it, would lose their Labour They will find in the 19th Letter of the 2d Book Cortificmus periffe omnia quid enim à exisqueba tam I his is the 3d Centure Cicero is falfly cited, he tud nothing of Acco I he Greek word he made ule of, and whereof divers other Authors make use, to tignity what we call Wheedling, Lyading, Raifing Difficulties about things that one heartily wishes for, that word, I say, which Erasmus (a) plac'd among his Proverbs, give occasion to suspect that Allo ws in Hypocitie, but it is only a Conjection of the permitted to cite cture, and it ought not to be permitted to cite Pluari, noi Gicero, noi Galius Rhodiginus, for Conjectures that other Persons have advanced

(B) It is frighten little Children with Acco, and b Alphito | I do not believe there is any Coun-6 Alphito] tiv in the World where there is not the like Custom I have heard it condemn d by very ingen ous Do-ttors The Ancient Romans had their Manducus, wherewith they threaten d Children, as I shall say

under that word (1) and that he was 40) ars of Ac] Others fay that he was but 28 fam quadragenarius, velut alis I renn XXVIII annos natus jus civile ab Azone audivit Solins Pinzirolus in the (b) 147th Page of his Second I dition, which is that of Venice 1655 Sir conditation, which is that of pinice 1055. Sir It on 10 Pope Blount (c) citing Panzirolus and Konig puts, 7 and not 8 Years. The Citation of Konig is good but that of Panzirolus is not, except my Edition differs from the first Forsterns would have been more proper to have been cited, (d for he reports that Accurlius became a Disciple of Azo at 37 Years of Ave. See the Remark E. of Age See the Remark L

(B) His Authority was formerly so great] I cannot alledge any thing more proper or diverting here, than a Passage cited by one of the Modern Civilians that have least esteem'd Glossators Nosis (e) quite trus, ta sit autoritas glossatoris Nonne heri dixit Cyn glossathion 8 sam timendam propter prascriptam idobalatriam per adoblig vocatos, significans qued sicut antiqui adorabant idola pro apud Fr vocatos, significans quod sicut antiqui adorabant idola pro Diss, ita advocati adorant glossatores pro Evangelistis Volo enim potius pro me glossatorem quam textum, nam si allego textum, dicunt advocati diversa partis & etiam judices, credis tu quod glossu non ita viderit islum textum sicut tu, & non ita bene intelleverit sicut tu? Ego recordor (& sit islud pro nous) quod dum essem Scholaris eram satis acutus, & sit simul essemus multi socii in una collatione, accit in una collatione, accit in una collatione, accit in unum textum allegare contra sententiam Dectorisme tantam audaciam habui. Dixit unus socius, tu loqueris contra glossam qua dicit sic et ego respondi etsi glossa dicit sic, ego dico sic, in qua autoritatis glossatorum. Credebam enim quod essent communes apostissa, quales sunt in libris grammaticae, sicut super Virgilio & Ovidio, sed tamen non ita est, sucrum enim glossatores maxima scientia viri & autoritatis. Etsi aliud non esset quan glossarum ordinatio, & de judices, credis tu quod glossa non ita viderit illum textum Etsi aliud non esset quam glossarum ordinatio, & de quibus potest dict id quod arbitror de nulle dict posse, vi-delicet quod totum corpus Juris viderunt. Magis ergo standum est eis qui viderunt, quam nebis qui non vidimus Hottomanus cites some other Passages of the (g) See same Author, which consum the same thing, and Paquier inform us, that the Glois put into a Balance against Research the Opinion of Two Interpreters, carried it always of France, before the Judges Si sententia glossatoris duobus Do- 1 9 ch 39 ttoribus est contraria, profecto in judiciis pravaleret fen-

tentia ipfing gloffe

(G) Cried borribly against the barbarous Style of that the first author] Ludovicus Vives (f) was one of them See Bernarting also in his I reatise of the Profit that reading of History brings Many Authors have been found among the Civilians of the 16th Century conditions. reading of History brings Many Authors have been found among the Civilians of the 16th Century that have Censur'd that Barbarity It seems that Alciatus stirred them up, and begun to give them a Gust for the Union of good Literature, and the Civil Law Budeus, one of the modern centre of Accursius, contributed also to the made of the contributed also to the made of the canonic of the contributed also to the contributed and the Glosses fall into divers Mistakes Albertance Contributed declared himself much their Parties. ent Gentelu declar'd himself much their Partifan, he (b) would not own that Accurfus put this Maxim in use, Gracum of, non potest kgs, which was (1) Reproach'd him He believes that those Words are no where to be found in that Glosser, and makes him cuatum c more I earned in the Greek Tongue than is go thought However it le, the Proverb Grace

(a) Sie acciffaie, Chil 2 cent 2

(b) Pm zir de clir leg Interpr libac 9 (c) Pope Blount, cent celebr Auroi p 286 (a) Forff Histor Turiscivi-114, 1 3 C action & House Præf confiliorum (f) Lu-dov V₁ves. de causis corrupt artium 1 p m 52 & lib 7 pag 206 See also Brafficanus inter epistol Eobanz p m 901 (b) Alb Gentilis de Juris inter fol (1) Vide Sich in præf ad Cod The od & Algreat (CA) Genius; and that his Defects proceeded from the Age wherein he hi'd He liv'd very plentifully, having both a fine City and Country House, and Two Sons that studied well, as we shall see by and by Some Persons say, that he had (D) a very Learned Daughter, and install'd in the Profession of the Civil Law He died (E) in the Year 1229, at 78 Years of Age His Tomb is to be seen at Bologna, in the Church of the Cordelsers, with this a very short and plain Inscription, Sepulchrum Accursii Glossators in p 149

Legum, & Françosci equs filis He said there was no need (F) of Theology to know Divine

Things, seeing the Roman Laws instructed us enough in them Mr Moreri alledges (G)

the Sieur Catel very ill Francis Hotomanus had no reason to say that Odofred taught Azo Dialog de and Accursius, for Odofred and Accursius were both Scholars of Azo, and afterwards Pro- Junismfessors at the same time at Bologna & Albericus Gentilus Observ'd that Fault of Francis Ho-

ACCURSIUS (Cervot) Son of the foregoing, made much more haste to take 2 Panzi-his Degree than his Father For he would be Doctor of Law before the Age of 17 Years, rol ubi and obtain'd his Desire, after it had been i long time discuss'd whether the Laws y per- supra mitted it He concern'd himself with making Glosses, and added them to those of his Father, but no great Account was made of them

A C C UR S I U S (Francis) Elder Brother of the folegoing, was so esseemed presinep-

by those of Bologna, that when they heard that he was to follow the King of England tax glossiss by those of Bologna, that when they neare that he was to ionow the king of England tax giones into France to teach the Law, they forbid him to absent himself, and threatned to confiscate all his Estate if he went out of their City He thought himself more cunning stantes particles. than they, by felling all his Estate to a Friend, but his Cunning was void, for they con-ternis adfiscated it nevertheless. That oblig'd him to return, and he obtain d the Restitution of didit, que his Estate. He had taught at Toulouse, and found himself one Day very much puzzl'd Cervotians vocafames of Ravanna, one of the most Learned to ut pluin explaining the Matter of Interests Civilians of his Time, crept in among his Auditors incognito, feigning to be one of the rimum Scholars, and made him Objections that remain d without a good Answer Some have rejiciun-faid that Accursius, at his Return to Bologna, was Professor in I aw there with Bartolus, tur Id ib and that having had a Dispute with him on the Reading of a I aw, they sent to consult & Ex Panthe Ancient Manuscript of the Pandells at Pisa about it. But how likely is it that he zirolo, lb liv'd (A) until the Time that Bartolus was Profesior 6 ?

a Panzir

ACCUR-

an in Runon potest legs, passes for having taken its Original fin L 2
v 85
p 1200, 1201 that could not be read, and after having leap'd over that ditch, they resum d the explication of the

Latin

(CA) That he was a great Genius, and that his Defects proceeded from the Age I I shall only cite two Authors (a) Hanc significationem animo habuit Fr Accursius Glossatorum veterum Coryphaus, homo ingenis prorsus stupendi, qui in tantis disciplinarum tenebris spam disciplinarum disciplinarum accuratissime intellexis, cum non jurisdictionem, sed jurisditionem scribendum censuit This is what a German says, let us see what censuit This is what a German says, let us see what a Frenchman says (b) Antiqui (interpretes juris) inter quos Accursius & Bartolus principatum tenent, de sermone non valde anxii, rerum quas trastant curam solam habuerunt quas cum nossent, quantum in illa barbarie & codicum depravatione nosse poter ant explicare nisseculo illi tribuendum quo lingua & bona litera prossus sacebant Note that Barthius gives Accursius the Forename of Franciscus, and he is not the only (c) Person that does it I sollow'd those Persons in the sirst Edition, but I forsake them in this

(D) Avery Learned Daughter] Panzirolus (d) only speaks of her by an it is said, Filiam quoq, habuisse dicitur que jui civile Bononie publice docuit. As soon as a Fact of that nature is doubtful, it is very near beas a fact of that nature is doubtful, it is very near being false, for such things are too singular to remain in uncertainty when they are true So that I do not give much credit to what I have just now read in the Theatrum of Paul Freherus (e), that Accursus had some Daughters, who for their excellent Erudition were employed to make Publick Lectures at Bologna I hope Freherus will not take it ill that I should mistrust John Praumlobius, of whom he cites a German Book man Book

(E) Died in the Tear 1229 You fee nothing like it in the Theatrum (f) of Paul Freherus, which was compiled with so much Labour, and during such a long time But you will find on the contrary, that Accursus flourish d in the Year 1236 that he died as the Year and the he made (1) offee he died in the Year 1279 and that he made Glosses on the Authoricks in the Year 1236 He is cited himself for this last Fact by (g) John Fichardus in the Lift of the Civilians

That Citation is false, for here is an Observation that was communicated to me from good hands (h) "Volutorranus (1) says, That Accursing began to study the Law at 40 Years, and that he di"ed in the Year 1279 in the 78th Year of his Age, "from whence it should follow that he was born in "the Year 1201 In the mean time Accurfiur him"felf informs us on the Authentick ut prap nom Im"per at the Word inditioner that he actually write in the Year 1220 and on the lift Law but one in the Code de accussionibus, that he writ in the Year 1227 which he could not have done, if the "Calculation of Volaterranus had place Otherwise "Accursius would have labour'd on the Law a long "time before having studied it Those Lpochs of 1220, and of 1227, exclude that of 1236, which is "faulty, and cannot be admitted by those that place"

"Accursus's Death in 1229

(F) There was no need of Theology] Conringius (k) (L) Concensus'd him for it to the purpose, their are his ring de i Words, Ridicula est Accursin gloriatio in gl ad 1 to test 2 ff de J & J nibil opus ess. Theologia studio ad cognoscenda divina, ut qua ex legum Romanarum librus and Pope

affatim queat peti
(G) Mr Moreri allidges the Sieur Catel very ill]
Let us compare these two Authors I exts with each other, which will be sufficient to know the Mistake other, which will be furnished to know the Militake Catel (1) having faid that Monspellier is one of the first Cities of France in which the Roman Law was read publickly, adds, "For we find that the Great and "Ancient Civilian Placentinus, who lived before the "Glosser Accursus read the Law publickly in the "City of Monspellier, of which he makes often men"tion in his Summa that he compos'd (according is the Core in the Institutes) living at Monspellier, as "tion in his Summa that he composed (according is he fays on the Inflitutes) living at Monipellier, as "those have observed that writhis Life. He died in "Monipellier the 12th of February 1192, and is buried in St Bartholomem's Churchyard." Now here are Moreri's Words, The Sieur Catel maintains that Accursius died at Montpellier in 1192. That which he adde has great need of correction. cursius died at Montpellier in 1192 That which he adds has great need of correction, Others, says he, as Fischardus and Trithemius, place him in the following Age, nay, the last fays, that he profess d at Bologna in 1240 But they may be mistaken in confounding that Great Man with his Son Francis Accursius, who had much Science and Mirit, and who was Professor in Lew at Bologna, and counsellor of Richard King of England The Father ought to have been plac'd in the 13th Century, and then they'd run no kind of hazard to confound him with the Son So that Mr Moreri's Doubt is very ill grounded There was no King of England at that time, whose Name was Richard

Richard

(A) Until the time that Bartolus was Professor]

Bartolus was born in the Year 1313 and was received

Doctor in Law at the Age of 21 Years, that is, in apud Pope Blount

the Hift of Langue

P 149 (e) Paul Theatr Viror erudit p 784 (f) Id ib g) Apud Freher 1b (b) It us by Mr de la Mon-

(a) Bar-thius =- nımadv ad Claudi-

(b) Rolan-dus Ma-resius, Fpist 40

l 1 p 176, 177 Ldit Lipf

(c) Arth

See Pope

ubi fupra

Blount ubi fupra (d) Panz

Duck. and Pope Blount de it also > note

> (i) Volat > l 21 P m 781 Heremaiks that Accurfius begun that Study in the Reign of Irede. Tick the that Emperor reign d rom the Year 12137 west the a Barth ın Statıum, t 2 P 399 t 3 p 1. 1601 See also the 18th Chap of the 20th Book of his Adversa-B It has been done in regard of Aufonius in the Edition of Amsterdam, 167 1 but not according to the extent which promiles noras integras Accurfii (γ) Nico-lo Γoppi Biblioth Napolitana, p 206 J Henr Valetius

Præf in Amm Marcell

€ I opp

ubi fupra

do Nico-demo ad-alla Biblioth Na-

politini, P 170 n The Litle of it is, Distribu-tio item voc tbul i ac not i putium in rebus

pecuniadere numero meniura

(a) Panzir ib

C 29 P

(42 p), 16, 161 (e) And chieff) in t'i 17th

Clup of

tic 4th

us pon-

dizioni

A C C U R S I U S (Mary Angel, in Latin, Marsangelus) is one Criticks that liv'd in the 16th Century. He was (A) of Aquila, in the Kingdom of Naples. His great Passion was to search and confer the Old Manuscripts, in order to correct the Pass. lages of the Ancients The Diatribæ that he caus'd to be printed at Rome, in Folio, in the Year 1524, on Ausonius, on Solinus, and on Ovid, shew what he was capable of in that kind of Learning He had labour d hard (B) on Claudian, but that was not published although that Author had made known that he had corrected over Seven e Discontent hundred Passages of it by the Ancient Manuscripts Barthius & she that such a Work did not come out of the Press, and that the others were not represented. He does not despise Accursius on account of Wit, and finds him often judicious Critick made Latin and (C) Italian Verses, he understood both Musick and Opticks, and he travell'd (D) to the North Those that inform us of this, might add, That he underflood the French, Spanish, and the German Languages γ perfectly. That he collected a great number of Antiquities that were put into the Capitol, and that he pass'd 33 Years at the Court of Charles the Vth, to whom he was very agreeable, and of whom he received many Favours. It must not be forgot that his A Edition of (E) Marcellinus is larger by Five Books than the preceding. That Edition is of Ausburg 1. He pretends to have corrected Five (4) thousand Faults in that Historian Lamburg and in the same City he publish'd the Letters of Cassidodorus in Twelve, oks, with the Treatise of the Soul added to it, and we are a oblig'd to him for the First Edition of that Author. As there were some Latin Wisters in his time that lov'd to make use of the most Superannuated Terms, he ridicul d them very pleasantly in a (F) Dialogue that he publish'd in the Year 1531 He added a n small Treatise of Volusius Metianus, an An-

the Year (a) 1334 So that Accursius the Son must it It is but Five Miles from the Ruins of Amiter-have liv'd at least 120 Years, if he had seen Bartolus num Consult Mr Baudrand teach the Law, for he had been (b) emancipated by his lather I et us take it that he was but is Years of Age when he was emancipated, and that the Year of his Emancipation was that in 1334, he must have had 12 Years Panzirolus's Conjecture is good enough, (d) which is, that the Accursus that was Bartolus's Colleague, was the Son of an Accursus that taught the Law at Reggio, his Country, about the Year 127, and read also at Padua William Durant: makes often mention of him

Let us give yet mother Observation of Mi de la Monnoie "Anionius Augustinus ipeaks in "divers Places (e) of his Emendationes of that Dispute "of Barrolus touching the reading of a certain Word of the last Paragraph of the Law si creditor at D de Distrait pign and inclines to believe that Barrolus "had that Dispute rather with Baldus, than with "I sancis the Son of Accursus Alexander of Imels, "cited by the same Antonius Augustinus believ'd al"so that the Contestation happen d between Baldus and Barrolus But Barrolus himself having positive"Iv writ, that it was with Lagues the Son of Accurs-'ly writ, that it was with I ancis the Son of Accurfine, the Expedient that Panzirolus gives, feems to ' be most receivable

(A) He was of Aquila] Besides the Testimony of loppi, approv'd by the Silence of Leonard Nicodemo, here are Verses that confirm that Truth

Ut volucium Regina supervolat æthera & alti Immotum lumen solis in orbe tenet, Sicilla genitus Mariangelus Urbe --

Sicilla genitus Mariangelus Urve --Alite qua a Jovia nobile nomen habet Felici ingenio solers speculatur, &c They are in a piece of Francu (f) Arsillus, printed at the end of a Collection of Verses entituled Coryciana, with the control of the Yen 1524 There c 67 p 189, 190 (/) ld 1b that was published at Rome in the Year 1524 There is in that Collection a Protrepticon of our Accussius ad (g) Coricium, that contains 87 Veises The Title of Arfillus's Piece is, De Poetis urbants ad Paulum Jovium (c) that is Pierius I alerranus, contemporary with surefius, firm the names him Aguilanus, not only in his Commentary the 12th Book of the Æne de, but also in (b) some (d) Id ib satin Verses that he addresses to him What Barthe 12" Book of the Ane ac, but allo in (h) some as in Verses that he addicties to him What Barthius said of Accursus's Country is therefore a Fault He made him to be born (1) at Amiternum Konig I nowing not that this is file, adopted it all along I hele Words of Accursus (k), New placus reticere, no quie (quod Sallustius circis ait min) modestiam in conf enciam duceres, have deceived Bar hius. Now see here why Accursus called Sallustius his Country man here why Accurfius call'd Sallustius his Country-man, Book I lay, Sallustius, who was born at Amsternum, it is, (f) Leonaido NiAmsternum, and was in some manner substituted to codemo, ubi infra, calls him wrong Arilius (g) He was a German, whose Name was Cioritz, as I have understood from Mr de la Monnoie (h) Lib 4 Amorum, apud Leon Nicodem Addizioni alla Biblioth Napoletana, p 170 (i) Ipse Sallustii civis, Amiterinius nempe Barth in Stat Tom 2 p 399 (k) Mariang Accurs in Testudine m Confult Mr Baudrand

(A) He had labour d hard on Claudian]

the Fatigues of his Travels in Germany and Poland, did not hinder him from correcting near feven hundred I aults in that Poet, it may be imagin'd that he apply'd himself hard to the same Labour at a more leisure time. He says, (1) Non Ales legitur in codicibus (Claudiani) etiam novissime recognitis. Qui tantam abest ut non etiam nunc versibus sint claudi. ac deformes, ut eos ex vitustis exemplaribus dum Germaniam Sarmatiasy, nuper peragramus septingents forc men-dis inter equitandum eluerimus

(C) Made Latin and Italian Verses] See here what A curfins tells us on that Subject, in a Fable entitl d in the E-1estude, which he added to his Diatriba He relates in it the Perfecutions he fuffer d at Rome from Envious Men, and how they made the most innocent Things a Crime to him Addressing himself to two Young Princes of the House of Brandenburg, to whom he dedicated his Book, he fays, Ipsi principes quammihi vestitum prope (ut aiunt) militarem probre verterint, tum fidibus scan musicen callerc, philosophe indignum prædicent, quamitaring invascrint, quod & Opeticen cum literarum studiis, peruaculosq, cum Latinis numeris, conjunxerim He says there also, that he was wilting the History of the House of Brandenburg on Memours that he was supply'd with moirs that he was supply'd with

(D) And be travell d to the North] We have already heard him tpeak himfelt to his Readers, of the great numl r of Passages that he corrected on his Saddle, croiting Germany and Poland That which follows will inform us that he remark'd the least Things, to the very Songs which they fung to make Children fleep, but he drew no very good Confequences from them, as we shall see Nuper, says he, (m) non in Pannonia solum, at que a deo a pud septentirio (m) ld ib nales plerosq, populos, verum etiam ultra Sauromatas non sine admiratione audivimus ad suadendum nutras non sine admiratione audivimus ad suadendum nutras non sine admiratione audivimus also said suadendum nutras non sine admiratione suadivimus also said suadendum nutras non sine said suadendum nutras nutras non sine said suadendum nutras nut more infantibus sommen dic, Li lu Li lu, tum & La lu La lu, & Cha la La la Quod nostrates fre Nan na Nan na & Nin na Nin na, etiam mora quadam vocem suspandintes passim dicere consueverunt Movit porro nos majori quadam admiratione quod infantes ipsi & horriduli & sordiduli vin dum fari incipientes mammam atq, tatam Latine balbutiunt, ipsis quoq, matribus non intellett. Ut videri possine & ha quoque voies naturales magis quam arbitraria He was in the wrong to think that Mo-thers did not understand what their little Chidren would fay, for it was they that taught

words
(E) His Edition of Marcellinus is larger Toppi had no good Memoirs on this Fact. He has not faid what he ought to fay, and he faid what he ought not to fay. He did not fay that Accurfius added five new Books to those that were already proposed. Books to those that were already printed, and spoke only of the Sixth It is not true that the Sixth was found, the Thirteen first Books of that Historian are yet wanting Leonardo (n) Nicodemo took up Nico-las Toppi roundly for it

(F) In a Dialogue that he publish'd in the Year 1531]
Because all those that shall have my Book may not have that of Leenardo Nicedeme, let us copy the Title

(1) Id Di-Auf eirench d Aufonius

(n) Leon Nicode m. pra.

of Plagiat about his Ausonius, for it is reported that he had appropriated pub cient Civi He is acou the Labour of Fabricio Varano, Bishop of Camerino to himself, but he clear'd himself from it by an Oath, and protested that he had never taken any thing he had read out of any towards Book to adorn his own. The Form of his Oath is (G) remarkable Several other the end

Works of his making would have come out of the Press, if his Son (H) Casimirus, who of the 139 Olympianing, had liv'd longer a A C H. Cousin German (A) of Seleucus Ceraunus, and of Antiochus the had be Tiar Great, K. Cousin German (A) of Seleucus Ceraunus, and of Antiochus the had be Tiar Great, K. Cousin German (B) of Seleucus Ceraunus, and of Antiochus the had be Tiar Great, K. Cousin German (A) of Seleucus Ceraunus, and of Antiochus the had be Tiar Great, K. Cousin German (A) of Seleucus Ceraunus, and of Antiochus the had be Tiar Great As Great had be Source and Services with an admirable E. L. Visius, a ble manuer At first he did his Sovereigns very great Services with an admirable Fidelity, for having accompanied Seleucus Ceraunus in the Expedition against Attalus, he caus d the two Captains that had kill'd that Scleucus to be put to death, and regain d y Taken all the Provinces that Attalus had conquer'd, and refus'd also the Title of King, that the out of Posuffrages of the Troops, and the Favour of Circumstances put into his Hands He lybius, refifted those Tentations generously, and would only conquer for the Lawful Suc-p m 322 ceffor of the Market whose Death he had revenged, that is, for Antiochus the Youngcessor of the March cer, Brother of Mucus But his Good Fortune blinded him, for as foon as his Victories & APrince had made him Master of all Attalus's Dominions, except the only City of Pergamus, he who Dominions took the Title of King upon himself He maintain d that Usurpation with much Piuminions were spruadence and Courage, and no Prince on this fide Taurus made himself so much sear d as red mar The Great and Noble Provinces that he possess d on this side that Mountain did the Calpinot fatisfy his Ambition, he thought also on the Conquest of Syrir, when he heard that an Sea Society Poly-Antiochus was gone to make War with Artabazanes & He was in hopes either that Antiochus would perish in that Expedition, or that it would continue so long that he should c 13 have time to take Syria before the return of that Monarch He relied also much on P 408 the Rebellion of some Provinces that were but just revolted le departed then from

of that Dialogue at large Osco, Volsco, Romanoque kloquentia interlocutoribus, Dialogus ludis Romanis actus In quo ostenditur verbis publica moneta signatis utendum esse, prisca vero nimis & exoleta tanquam scopulos esse sugicinda Si quid itaque, lessor optime, antiquitatem sugicinda Si quid itaque, lessor optime, antiquitatem sugicinda Si quid itaque, lessor optime, antiquitatem sugicinal, ut sanc debes, libellum hunc ingenti quamvuis pecupatem, ut sanc debes, libellum hunc ingenti quamvuis pecupatem sugicines and partim Volseis prizer quam quod vocibus partim officis, partim Volseis consciptus est, Latina quoque sisue verba ecoletiora aimique prisea quibus Aborigines, Picus, Evandrus, Carmentaque in al que partie qui prisea qui pur affatim collara sunt. Quanue Quæque mentaque ipsa; loquebantur affatim collata sunt omnia apud Ennium, Pacuvium, Plautum, aliosve hujus notæpriscos Autores abstrusiora leguntur Itemque recen tiorum cacatas Apulci & Capella chartas, hujusmodive aliorum Qua ut certe sunt evitanda, ita tamen ab co aliorum Qua ut certe Junt evitanda, ita tamen av co qui docti nomin ferat agnoscenda sunt, ut cum aliquando in eas offenderit, de illorum sensu es turpiter hestandum non sit (a) Here is the Judgmear that Andrew Schot-tus makes of that Book (b) De esto metamorphoscos ex Lucio Patrensi seu Luciano satura e audi amabo qua in Dialogo olim ante hos ipsos octogenta annos i Mariangelo Accursio (l'omine, ut illis temporibus pererudito, quip 59 apud que Nasonem, Ausonium, ac Solinum Diatriba illustra-Leon Ni- vit) (sc. ac Volse conscripto, ut saculi degenerantis nimium a prima eloquentia infaniam veluti aceto aspersa satyr a persiringeret, audi inquam, & risum contine fi potes, > Note that this Book of our Accursius is in 800 but Note that this Book of our Accursius is in 8vo but note chiefly what was communicated to me by Mi de la Monnoie "The Dialogue of Mary Angel" Accursius against those Corrupters of the Latin "Iongue may have been printed in the Year 1531" but it must be believ'd that it had already appeared forme Years before, seeing Jestrey Tory cites "It in his Champ steurs, printed by himself in 4to in the Year 1529 Likewise, says he, a thousand other "ways of speaking, that Hieronymus Avanre, Nation of Verona, alledges in the beginning of his Anno-"tations, which he made very diligently on the Works of " tations, which he made very diligently on the Works of the An ient Poet call d Lucretius, which I leave to "the Curious, and lovers of Antiquity, and which may > be seen and read at large in a Dialogue entit d,

>
> Osci & Voisei Dialogus ludis Romanis aftus That "Piece is hinest at by Paul Jovius in the Elogy of Baptista Process at the Elogy of the District is singular, and pretty long, but I can scarce construe the first Words of it, Osco Volsco Romanoque eloquentia interlocutoribus It seems to me it ought to be, & eloquentia, Boxhornius in TheIdo not boast to have seen it, and only report it on tr Holl

P 1,8
Credit of (c) Toppi, but here is a Fact that I am
P 1,8 Credit of It was believ'd (d) that our Accurwrit with his own Hand in the first Leaf of Passage of Passage ammar of Donatus, printed on Vellum, that this atus, with another Book entield, Confessionalia, re the first Books printed, and that John Faust, Citizen of Mentz, Inventor of that Art, had put them in the Press in the Year 1450 Mi Chev liver (1) observes that that Accur sius wis living in the Year 1500 Let nevertheless he makes some difference between his Testimony and that which was given by Ulric P 281 Zel, Bookieller of Cologne in the Year 1499 I fry he makes some difference in it in regard of the time It was, tays he, (f) a longer time ago that Donatus wis (f) Id ib printed, when Accurlus writ that, than when Zel p 284 fpoke of at Every Man apprehends that a Yeu more or less is of no consequence here. Moreover ought it to be said, that a Man that pass d 33 Yeus in the Court of Charles the Vth was living in 1500

(G) The Form of his Oath is remarkable | Here it is, (g) Quod dis hominesque, fas, filesque and it, siera-menti religione, ac si qued est su sui in lo s'intérns, affir- (e) Miri-mo, idque rice pariter ac sine dolo malo dici, caterisque ing Acaccipi volo, mence ullius unquam scripta perleg si ne ne conspexisse quidem, unde vel tantillum luerubratione nofira redimiri juvarique datum fuer t Quin immo labo. dine id rasse quoad ejus sieri licuerit ut ji quipp ani alt rice post cilcem observacionem quoque meam, editum occurrir e nostris Diatrib protinus aboleverimus Luod se pezirem, tum P ntis x perjurio, malus autem genius Diatribis contingat ul jue adeo ut si qua bona sut saltem mediouria in ipsi sucrint, imperitorum turbæ p ssima, bonis leviuscula tricisque viliora censeantur, famæ si qua ma ient munera, vento evolent proque vulgi levitate ferantur. How many Reslections might be made on this Oath >

(H) His Son Casimirus, who was a Man of I earning] It is likely he, whom the Learned and I amous Patron of Learned Men, Vincent Pinelli, had some time in his House, for although Gualdo gives Accurfin's Son the Name of Francis, he tears to mistike in giving it him See here how he speaks, (h) Pra- (h) Gual ter hos domi habuit Benedistum Ostavianum res Philosodus, in Mariangeli Accurphicas Theologica sque doctum fit filium Franciscum, ni fallor, insignem moribu & Do- Pinelli Arına

(A) Cousin German of Seleucus Ceraunus, and of Antiochus the Great He was the Son of Androma-Antiochus the Great] He was the Son of Andromachus, who was the Brother of Landice, Wite of Seleucus (1) Callinicus, and the Mother of those two Princes Let us observe that he was a good Son, for knowing that Andromachus was imprison d in Alemandria, he forgot nothing to release him out of that Captivity The Rhodians knowing his Dispositions upon this, fent Ambaitadors to King Prolemy to demand Andromachus of him Their Design was to make a Present of him to Achess, to engage him to make a Present of him to Achaus, to engage him to make a Present of nim to Acnaus, to engage nim to break the Promise with the Byzantiers, that he had made them to affish them. There was at that time a strong War between the Rhodians and the Byzantines. The King of Agypt made some difficulty to part with Andromachus, he knew that such a Prisoner as he might be useful to him in Time and Place.

(r) Chevill ib &

on Testu-

(b) Gual-

Pag of Pating constle Bibliotheca Vati-Cana. compos d by Angelus Roccha, d print-Rome in the Y ar 1651 Passage of

Angely Rocch

(a) Taken out of Le-on Nicod

ubi fupra

(b) Andr

Schottus, Li Quæst

Tullianar

mum, ubi

(c) Toppi Bibliot Napolet

(d) Chei Villier 10-codefup1a

P 418

n Herod

6 Id 1 1

1 Id 1 3

x Nicolaus, 1 2

Histor

Magni Etymol Autorem

apud

L 125

c 65

C 3

Lydia with a great Army, and in his March he writ to the Subjects of Antiochus, but when he drew near Lycaonia, he perceiv'd that his Soldiers would not bear Arms against their Ancient King This made him declare that he would desist from his Enterprize He returned back, and having plunder'd Pisidia, he distributed such a Confiderable Booty to them, that he entirely regain'd their Friendship a Let us infer from a Polyb thence by the way, that those who say that he declar'd himself King of Syria, speak 15013 without exactness Antiochus having gloriously sinish'd the War against Artabazanes, sent Ambassadors to Achem, to complain of his taking the Title of King, and savouring the Agyptians openly B That Reproach was not altogether inessectual, for we P 409, & Id 1b. find that Antiochus y made a Truce with their Prince, because he knew that Acheus, his P 409 Ally in appearance, was really in their Interest. This shews that the Usurper had some regard for the Complaints of Antiochus, and that he seign'd to join himself with y Id ib C 15 P him against Ptolomy King of Agypt. This latter endeavour'd in vain to have him comprehended in the Treaty of Peace, for Antiochus always rejected the Proposal of it, and could not suffer that the King of Agypt durst speak to him for Rebels of As soon as his hands were free, he apply'd himself mainly to recover the Dominions that Achaus JId 1P had usurp d. He compass'd it, he confin'd him into Sardes, he besieg'd him there, he # Id 1 7 took the City after a long Siege and there were Traytors whose Intrigues made Achaus fall into the Snare They engag'd him to fally out of the Citadel of Sardes, and de-liver'd him to Antiochus, who caus'd him to be cruelly and ignominiously put to death He caus d the Extremities of his Members to be cut off, and afterwardshis Head, which was fewed in an Asses Skin, and caus'd the remainder of his Body to be hung on a Cross & This pass'd in the Year of Rome 540. It was a fit Example (B) to serve two ways. I shall not remark Mi Moreri's Faults, they may be easily 2 14 1 8 c 5 & 6 known by only comparing his Narrative with mine, but I shall plainly shew the Faults (L) of Francis Patricius

A C H Æ M L N E S was the Father of Cambyses, and the Grandsather of Cyrus, first King of Persia, if we believe Herodotus n There are other Passages where that Author feems to speak of an Achamenes much ancienter than the other, for he fays that 8 the Persian Nation was divided into divers forts, whereof the most Illustrious were compos'd of the Pasargada, under which were comprehended the Achamenidae of whom the Kings of Persia descended In another Place he introduces Cambyses, the Son of Cyrus, exhorting the Chief Lords of Persia on his Death-bed, and above all the Achamenida, not to suffer the Medes to recover the Royalty This seems to give the Idea of an Achamenes, the Stock of those Achamenida, much ancienter than the Grandfather of Cyrus Stephanus Byzantinus makes mention of an Achemenes the Son of Ageus, whom he pretends to have given his Name to a Province of Persia call'd Achameona Others k lay that this Achamenes was the Son of Perseus, others infer it from the (A) Kings of Persia being descended from Perseus. Almost all the Commentators of Horace will have it, that the Achamenes of whom he speaks in the 12th Ode of the 2d

Place, for he was yet embroil'd with the King of Ancient Kings of the Countrey, and Heir of their (g) See Syria, and he was not ignorant of the great Power of Avarice He thought both on the Riches of Cassus, Ovid's and on the Request of Midas (g) He had better Metan that Fisher willing to remit that Printed them, have remembred that Acheus was a Syrian But 1 11 v nefs, he was willing to remit that Prisoner to them, that if they judg'd it fit, they might send him to his Son, which they did. And by that, and some other Means, they procur'd Acheus's Friendship, and took from the Byzantin the chief Foundation of his Hopes (a) Note that Acheus was married (b) to Landice, the Daughter of King Mithridates, who had been very well educated (c) by Loghasis a Citizen of Selge, a City of Prisids. That Lady maintain d the Siege of Sards with her Husband, and was constrain'd to surrender her self after he was put to Death (d)

Death (d)

(B) It was a fit Example to serve two ways] For it was an Advertisement to be mistrustful, and not to abuse the Tavours of Fortune, Let us copy the Words of Polybius, the Author of that Morality (e) Katu do teomis un armended with the Author of that Morality Tiss commons und transfer padies and trees of the mistrustration of the teomism and transfer of the mistrustrate padies and trees of the dobus mode utile primum, and neministemere esse credendum discamus deinde, rebus later, at spiritus me attellamus, led ut homines, humanistation. latu, ut spiritus ne attoliamus, sed ut bomines, humani nibil a nobus alienum putemus

(C) I shall plainly shew the Faults of Francis Patrici-us He pretends that the Subjects of Achaus over-burthen d with Taxes, revolted, and murther'd him with all his Family, and cast his Body into the Pastolar, to make him drink Golden Waters (f) Achau. I) dia Maoniaque Rex, gentilitio avaritia crimine ardebat, is siquidem crebra ac gravia populu tributa semper imperabat, in quibus exigendu savuis, improbus atque inexorabilis crat verum cum tantam injuriam durance. tius populi serre nequirent, nocturna tesseram injuriam aiu-tius populi serre nequirent, nocturna tessera inter se data, subito hominum concursu illum cum omnu familia trucida-verunt, & regia vecensa ejus cadaver unco tractum in Pattolum stumen demerserunt, ut auriferas aquas semper potares. Observe irist that he is instaken in pretending that our Acnaus was a Lydian, issued from the that Fault is small in comparison of the rest, for all 103 the Circumstances of that Narrative are fals. Mr de Bosssien is persuaded that the Bad Interpreters of these Words of Owid,

Morte (b) vel intereas capti suspensus Achai, v 301 Qui miser, auriferateste, pependit aqua have deceived that Writer He observes (i) with (i) Dio-Reason that they signify'd that they hang d the Body of Achaus near the Pactolus He adds, that Zarottus is the first that faw into that Poet's Thought, and that Leopardus discover'd it plainly, and therefore that Lipsus ought not to have gloried of the first Discovery of the true Sense of that Paisage (k) Hance of the paisage (k) Hance of the paisage (k) Hance of the paisage (k) esse Poèta nostri mentem primus vidit Zarottus, sed quasi per nebulam, & omnino Paulus Leopardus emendat, lib I c 20 ideo non crat, quo sustus Lipsus, l I de Cruce, cap 4 principem sibi hujus loci explanationem tribueret Valeat autem Alciatus cum sua illa explicatione quam, l 9 c 24 Barergan juru inseruit However it be, Francis Patricius places his Examples very ill Acheus was not punish'd for his Avarice, but for his Ambition Aquilius, whom they (1) associate with him, because Mithridates pour d Melted Gold into his Mouth, has porhing common with the Revenge that Antieprincipem fibi hujus loci explanationem tribueret Vahas nothing common with the Revenge that Anti-

(A) That the Kings of Persia were descended from Perfeus] Mr Chevreau (m) attributes to Herodetus to have faid, that the Perfide, that is, these of the House of Persis, or Perseus, were descended from the Achame- Edit of nida Allies of the Pasargarda. He assures in the Holl same Page, that according to the Testimony of Herodotus, the Kings of Persia came from Perseus, or Persis, and that the Persida were descended from the Achame- (n) Herod nida, that is, from the first that had the Name of A- 11, C 125 chamners in that Family. All this is much employed. broil d Herodotus does not say in general, that the (e) theo Perfide came from the Ashamenida, he says (n) it on- in Ally of the Kings of Persia, that is, of (e) Cyrm, and of cib

Metamor 1 11 V

(b) Ovidi us in Ibin

nyf Salvagnius, not in libellum Ovidii in Ibın, p

(L) Id ib

(1) Patricius, ib P 243

(m) Chevreau Hift of the World, Book 1 Chap 5 p 95,96 Edit of

(n)Herod

(a) I x Polybio, 1 4 C 3

(b) Id 18 c 6 p 531

(c) Id 1 15 C 17 P 425

(d) Id 1 сб P 5,2

(e) Poly. bius, 1 8 P 528 edit Cafaub

(f) Francifcus Patricius, 1 4 de regis inlitutione it 9 p 71 242

Steph

MACHÆMENES. ACHERI.

Book, as of the Young Opulent Man, was a King of Perfia (B), but if so, he must have reign'd before the Man had subdued the Perfians; for since these had Founded that great Monarchy, which is counted for the Second Universal, we do not see that they had any King of that Name. Cyras passes constantly for their First King; and those that will have Two to have been before him, a distinguish them very plainly both from his Father a Mar-Two to have been before him, a distinguish them very plainly both from his Father a Maracambyses, and from his Grand-Father Achamenes However it be, the Epithet of Achemaniam, than so often given the Persians in the ancient Latin Poets, and yet at this time Persia is Chron Can page A C However it be, the Son of Darius I of the A Name, King of Persia, and Lips Brothers by Father and Mother, had the Command of Egypt ζ after Xerxes & Bizarus had begain under the Yoak of the Obedience that they had the Boldness to shake Hist Persians after he Commanded the Egyptian Fleet A in that semons and for all Expenses.

had begain under the Yoak of the Obedience that they had the Boldness to shake off some time after he Commanded the Egyptian Fleet θ , in that samous and satal Expedition against Greece We do not find what other Employs he had during the Life of rain in the King his Brother, but we see that Egypt being again Revolted, after the Death of ner Indithat Monarch, Achamenes was sent thither to bring it to its Duty again That Un- e, c dertaking was unfortunate, for he was beaten by Ingrus, Head of the Rebels, affifted by apud Pithe Athenians

A CHER Luke d') a Benedictin of the Congregation of St Maur, was pag 145
Born at St 2 min in Picardy, in the Year 1609 He made himself I amous by the Pub-Born at St 2 Marin in Picardy, in the Year 1609 He made himself I amous by the Pub- of Hero-lication of divers Books, that were yet but in Manuscript in the Obscurity of Libraries dot 1.7 He began in 1645 with the Edition of the Epistle attributed to St Barnabas. Father is 16 c 7 Hugh Menard, Monk of the same Congregation, had a Design to publish that Epistle, \(\zeta \) bid c and had already clear'd it by divers Notes. him Death have a him Dea and had already clear'd it by divers Notes, but Death having hinder'd him from execu- 97 ting his Resolution, Father Luke d' Acheri persormed it So that by his Care the Epistle of St Barnabas was printed in Greek and in Latin, with Father Menard's Notes in the year od Sicul At Three Years end Dom Luke publish d the I ise and the Works of Lanfranck, 1 11

Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Chronicle of the Abby of Bic In 1651, he published the Life and Works of Guibert Abbot of Nogent, with some other Treatises Having afterwards collected divers rare and curious Pieces, and hoping to get a great many and of the Life and Works of Guibert Abbot of Nogent, with some other Treatises Having afterwards collected divers rare and curious Pieces, and hoping to get a great many and of the Design to publish the most ample Compilation of them that 18 Teb he could, under the modest Title of Specilegium He publish'd his first Volume in the 1678 why Year 1655 That Volume was follow'd by Twelve others, the last whereof was printlegium was ed in the year 1677. That Collection in 13 Volumes in Quarto is very much esteem'd not contra by those that endeavour to clear Ecclesiastical Matters in every particular But few nued Theatifes are found in it that have not been composed fince the Decay of the Roman Fm- x See the plie in the West The same Author publish'd the Rule of the Solstarians, composed the Learnby the Priest Grimlaic, and some (A) Ascetick Works His Prefaces and his small Notes ed of the shew that he had some Learning He had a hand in the critical Labour that appears in 26 Nov the first Volumes of the Acts of the Saints of St Benedict's Order, and it is to him and 1685 and to Father Mabillon, that the Title of those Acts attributes the Labour of having Collect 1 3 of lected and Publish d them Luke d' Acheri died at Paris the 29th of April, 1685 in the the Judg-Abby of St Germain in the Fields, where he had been Library Keeper a

ACHIL- P 518

those that reign'd after him differentians into divers Chilles, among which there is one that he qualifies in particular, with the Name of Persians, another that he calls Pasargada, under which he places the Achemenda He says elsewhere (a) indeed that the Persians acquired that Name since Persens the Son of Japiter and of Danae had left them his Son Perseus, whom he had by Andromeda, but he does not say as Mr Cheureau supposes, That the Kings of Perseu drew their Extiaction from Perseus supposes. the Kings of Persia drew their Extraction from Persians Mr Choweau's Argument goes there, That Cyrus was not Inferior in Birth to the Kings of Media, norto the Kings of Persia, seeing these descended from Athaeners as well as Cyrus, he proves that they descended from him, because the Persians did Besides the Fallities that I have already taken has the proposer that That the first share here up, he iupposes this, That the first that bore

() Dacier the Name of Achamenes was anterior to Perseus the

Horace Son of Jupiter Mr Dacier did very well remember

 pag what he (b) cites by Memory of that place of Mr

> (B) Was a King of Persia] Mr Morers says downright, That Achaemenes was the first King of the Persians, and that all the Princes that have govern'd that Menarchy to Dirius, are descended from him But first of all I working sk him, Why in speaking of Cyrus he attributed for first Foundation of the Persian Monarchy, and why in giving the Lists of the Kings wersa, he does not place Achaemenes above Cyrus, but the latter before all the rest? If any body goes about to deceive himself, he ought to do it consequently Besides, I would fain have him tell me, of what Darius he speaks, for there have been Two or Three Kings of that Name in Persian he speak of him that was Conquer'd by Alexes he speak of him that was Conquer'd by Alex-the Great? but in that case he would be too

We, the Ancients do not agree that that Darius was of the Royal Family If he speaks of Darius the Son of Hystasses, he expresses himself ill, those Words, all the Princes, are not proper, when one would speak but of Two Persons out of above Twelve (c) Dacier's I cannot tell why Mr Dacies (c) limits the Epithet ib of Acheminedae to the time of Davius the Son of Hystasses when he saw These the Descriptions of Acheminedae of Achaminedae to the time of Daviss the Son of Hyfraspes, when he says, That the Descendants of Achae menes King of Persia bore his Name unto that Daviss

I do not question but that they bore it also ifter him For besides that his (d) Son Xerres refers his Extraction in a direct Line to Achamenes, we see at the same time one Tigrancs General of the Medes (e) qualisted Achamenides And we find an Achamenes, of whom I spake above, who was the Brother of Xer- (f) see xer I say nothing of saper, call d Achamene in Am- Valcsius mianus Marcellinus, (f) it is a corrupted Passage Mr in Amm Chevreau, wondering without doubt to see Five Ge- 1 19 c 2 nerations between that Xerxes and Cyrus, believes that that Prince counts his Paternal Ancestors on the one fide, and his Maternal Ancestors on the other side, insomuch that he makes himself to come from Achamenes only on the Mother's Side but this is what is not to be found in Hirodotus, unless we should

what is not to be found in Hirodotus, unlets we should change the Greek Fext, according to a very likely (g) Sal-Conjecture of Mr de Saumaise(g)

(A) And some Ascetick Works] He did not put his Name to the Collection that he published of them, and of which I am going to give the Title, as I find it in the Bibliotheca Bibliothecarum of I ather Labbe Asceticorum, vulgo spiritualium opusiulorum, qua interpatrum opera reperiuntur, indiculus Christiana pictatis cultoribus ab Asceta Benedictino Congregationis sancti Mauri digestus Parisis in 4to 1648 Mr Teisser Mauri digestus Parisius in 4to 1648 Mr Teistier fays in his Additions to that Work of Father Labbe, that Luke d'Acheri publish'd the Life of St Augustin at Paru in the fame Year

ment of the

1 (A) That

(a Hurod

ACHILLES. Divers Persons have had that Name. The first that bore it had no other Mother than the Earth, and did Jupiter a very good Office; for having received the Goddes Juno in his Cave, when the fied from the Amorous Pursuits of that God, he extertain'd her with such persuasive Discourses, that she consented to consummate (A) the Marriage. We are not inform'd how the testified her Gratitude to an Host that could inspire her with such Doculity, but we know that Jupiter in acknowledgment of that Service, promis'd Achilles, that henceforth all those that should be of his Name should make themselves spoken of. For which Reason the Son of These was Famous. The Name of the Preceptor of Chiron was Achilles, and from thence it comes that Chiron impos'd the Name of Achilles on the Son of Theta his Disciple This alone might suffice to overthrow all those (B) cold and forced Etymologies of the Word Achilles, that are made to depend on the personal Qualities of the Son of Their. The Inventor of the Ostracism among the Athenians was named Achilles A Son of Jupiter and of Lamia bore that Name He was such a handsom Man, that by the Sentence of the God Pan he carried the Prize of Beauty that was disputed with him Venus being displeas'd with that Judgment, made Pan to fall in Love with Eccho, and (C) alter d him in such manner that he became a frightful Object Another Achilles the Son of Galata, was born with White Hair There have been 54 other very Famous Achilles's, Two of which distinguish'd themselves only by doggish Actions a I shall make a separate Article for him that attain'd most Glory See the Margent B

A C H I L L E S the Son of Peleus and Their, was one of the greatest Hero's of Ancient Greece He was Born y at Philia in Thessally, and in his Insancy he was dipt in the Waters of Size to make him Invulnerable And he would have been so over all his Pody. If his Mother had had the Wit to take him by one Heel after having held him.

out of the 6th Book of Ptolomy the Son his Body, if his Mother had had the Wit to take him by one Heel, after having held him Hephæstion, Novæ ad variam by the Jother, but as she had not that Precaution, one of her Son's Heels remain'd subject to Wounds, and it was also in that place that Death seiz'd him. Yet it must not be eruditiothought that Authors are well agreed upon this, for we see some that speak of divers Wounds received by Achilles, in divers places of the Body I shall report another Prenem hifloria, apud hocaution of Thetse in the Remarks, which is, that to make her Son Immortal, the (Atium n nounted him with Ambrofia, and put him under live Coals He was Lducated under the 190 pag Discipline of the Centaur Chiron, it was the best School in the World in those Ages. 488, 489 BIhad put Chiron Educated him in a lingular manner, sceing instead of Milk, or Bread, or a kind of Preface bere in the firft Edition, which contains she lase

I suppress

Monleur

Drelin-

Phyfick at

Ley den

Lucry body found that I Rray & So to angely ulu il may and that I plac d luch

Price fo

to leave is out to cause fuch a ge-

I declare that my

that this I chimony court.

against my Will It an Elogy of

a Taken

(A) That she Consented to Consummate the Marriage] These words of Photom, ouverbest To Dis, signify to much (a), as appears by what follows, is apaining much H'ege u, Dide wurm yeved paoer, and it is faid, that it was then the first time that Jupiter Enjoyed Juno

(B) Etymologies - - - - that are made to depend on the Personal Qualities of the Son of Thetis | Nothing is more pleafant than to fee what Greece invented on that Subject It does not only deferve the Lpithet of (b) Lying, and of (c) labulous upon that Account, but also that of mal fireata, which our term idle does not yet fully answer Ask the Greek Grummirians why that Hero was call d Achilles, tome will intwer you, because he call d Achilles, some will instead you, because he was very troublesome to his Mother and to his Enemies. Others, because having learned the Secrets of Physick, he appeared Pains Others, because he had but one Lip. Others, because he was fit to Command. Others, because he had never Suck d., And others, because he went away from his Preceptor Chiron, without ever having. Lat of the Fruits of the Farth. Whoever had a mind to shew by what analyse of Grinimant they found so many Etywhat analysis of Grimmar they found so many Ety mologies in the Name of Achill's, would fill this place with too much Greek. For which Reason, I refer the Render, if he pleases, to the great Etymoam oblig d logicum, to Eustathius (d), to I vetzes (i), neral Cen- ficus Lloyd and Hofman, who by the Example of fure to Fungerus, and of divers others, have enriched the seafe But Aiticle of the Son of Peleus with their Ltymological Observations, ought at least to have given us Notice that much Pains have been taken for nothing by those who pietend by all means that the word Achilles depends on the perional Qualities of the He10 of the Iliad I hey might have refuted that preof my Gra- tension, by shewing that there were Achilles's beof my E more Natural than all the rest, why this Person was seemshould call dechilles It is that which I have already re-

18 remain lere as if it was repeated word for word y Servius in Æn 2 v 197 & See the Remark A, n V & Dietys Cret 1 2 Daies Ptolemwus Hephast lib 6 apud Phot ubi supia Lustathius in Odyst 11 (See the Remark A, n V

(a) Father Schottus Translated them wrong by Jovem reduce (b) Græcia mendax Juven Sat 10 (1) MuSorou 1 that, tabularum paiens Gracia Nonn Dionys 1 1 (d) Eufath in lib 1 Hild (e) Seetles in Lycophron ported, to wit, that the Preceptor of his Preceptor was call'd fo

(A) And alter'd him in such manner] Photium (f) who preserved us some I tagments of the Seven Books that Prolomy the Son of Hophaftion had fill'd with the lioth most curious Trifles of fabulous Antiquity, has n lamed what regards Achilles the Son of Jupiter and of I amia, in such manner, that a Man must give himself the Trouble to Conjecture that it was with the Goddess Venus that he enter din Concurrence on the Account of Beauty This Conjecture is grounded on the Indignation of Vinus, against the Judge that conterr d the Prize on Achilles Venus to punish Venue to punish that conterr d the Prize on Achilles Venus to punish that Judge, made hims in Love with Eccho, and so ugly that his I iguie alone caus d him to be hared. Thus Schottus understood the Text of Photius But Mr de Meziriai (g) divides the Historia Venus's (g) Mezi-Anger between Pan and Achilles, the former became riac, Comin Love, and the last, the Uglish Man in the World with the Christian to know with It is in vain to confult the Original, to know when the Epifile ther the Translation of Andrew Schotten is better than of Brifeis I or if on the one fide it may be to Achilthat of Meziriai faid, that the Rules of an exact Grammar are for les, p Schotters, it may be faid on the other fide, that Greek Authors do not subject themselves to such Rules, and that it is no lare thing that divers Persons being concern d in one of their Persons, the Pronoun he, him, relates indifferently either to the remotest or to the nearest Person. I he Latinists are not so (1) Arach-Scrupulous in it. The French Grammar is of a most ne, Marawonderful Exactness in that Matter, for it requires syas, Thamper of the state o the same proper Name to be rather repeated Two or Three times in few Lines, than to leave the Reader's Mind in Supence It we consult Reason, enther for or against Mezeriae and Lather Schottus, we are a Proof shall hardly hind a fixed point. It may be that a that Re-Person that has lost his Cause sevenges himself only venges also on the Judge. Apollo was fatisfied with punishing semetimes (b) Midas, who had blam'd the Sentence of Superior and in Layour of Sealla and in province Company. rity pronoue d in I avour of spello, and in prejudice Competion Pan By this way Meziriai would lose his Cause tor But a Person revenges himself also sometimes both (k) There of his Judge, and or his Rival (1), and on that was a diftoot Father Andrew S bottus should have Translated front Traill, for according to him, Venus being displeas'd, detenfront does no harm to him that obtains the Victory It is that, I true also, that according to the other Interpreter hall freak she does no great harm to the unjust Judge, she is of it in the tatisfied with making him in Love with a Nymph, Arricle who according to the I radition of the Ancients (1), Pan.

(f) Pho-

253 (b) Ovid Metam myris, the Daughters vengenalfo

fuch other Allments, he fed him with (A) Lion's Marrow, or with that of some other wild

. had a Daughter by him When all is done it feems as Af Meneriae should have the worst of it, and if he was in the right, Photons or his Ptolomy would be to was in the right, Photous or his Protomy would be to blame, for not having declared that the same Venus who had made Pan in Love with Eccho, made him Unforcunate in his Love That Circumstance ought necessarily to have been noted, and it might have been done without offending every body's Opinion, for some have spoke of that Nymph's Rigours for the God Pan Of all the Works of the Pen, that of Abbreviating well is perhaps the most disticult, there must be more than a common discerning, to judge what are the Circumstances, the Suppression whereof makes an Abridgment obscure or not Justin is not the only Person that wanted that nice discerning I have made use of this Thought in some other part of this Work

iome other part of this work

(A) Fed him with Lion's Marrow or with that of fome other Beafts | Libanius (a) in Three Places, and Priscianus (b) in one place ipeak only of Lion's Marrow Gregory Nazianzen (c) adds the Marrow of Stags to it The Scholiast of Homer (d), that of Bears The Author of the great Etymologicum (e) speaks only of the Marrow of Stags Apollodon in (f) focales of that of will have and libary and adds the speaks of that of wild boars and Bears, and adds the Entrails of Lions to it S atim (g) idds the Fittails and Marrow of Lions both together, or, according to the Reiding of some old Manuscripts, the 1 ntrails of Lions, and the Muriow of She Wolves Look hereunder n II Philoftratus (h) adds the Mariow of the I was of Hinds, and the Marrow of Roe-bucks, to the Milk and Honey Intulian (i) ipeaks only of the Mariow of wild Levils in general Enstathius (k) expicus himself in a more in-definite manner, teeing he speaks only of the Mairow of Beasts Suidas (1) says only Mariow should not bave denied that Achilleswas feel with the Mar-(f) Lib 3 (g) Achil (b)InHer pag 705 B & m Icon 2 pag 781 (1)De pallio, See hercunder VIII (k) In II li pag (1) In X-(m) Reply to Coft u,

(a) Pro-

gymn p
70 D p
97 C p
129 A (b)In præ-

exercit

Rhetor

(c) Orat 20 p 324 C

(d) In Iliad 1 16 (e) In A MANGUS

I.

Girac

As for what remains it is such a vulgar Tradition among the Ancients, that Chiron fed Achilles with the Mirrow of I ions, that it cannot be fufficiently admir d that such a learned Man as Mr de Girac was, should accuse Mr Costar m) of a gross Ignorance, for having made use of these Words You fed your set having made use of these Words You fed your Self from your Infancy with the Juice, Substance, and the Soul row of Lions of good Books, like Achilles with the Marrow of Lions Mr de Giracasks a Question upon this, which does Mr de Giracasks a Queition upon this, which does not become in exact Critick, feeing it alters the State of the Question, and makes Mr Costar lay more than he id say Where did he find, lays he, that Achilles fed himself only with Lions Marrow ! But what tollows is worse still Having alledged among divers other Reasons to support his Opinion, that according to Wheren h. Achilles may fed much things that according to Plutarch Achilles was fed with things that have no Blood, he idds, that he does not believe that any Author worthy of Creat writ that Achilles was Nurs d with the Marrow of Lions And neverthelets inmediately after he himself cites St Gregory Nazi-anz n, who Remarks that St Bajil had not like A hilles had a Centrur near him that prefented lim with Labulous Mairows of Lions and Stigs Which shews, continues Ma de Girac, that St Gregory took ut for a fign d and impossible thing. Be it to But he will be a Credible Witness tor ill that I or to be to in those things, it is neither necessary to be persuided of the lasts we Report, nor that they should really Lxist, nor even that they should be Possible, it suffices that we do not forge what we Advance. Now withself 7 p that we do not forge what we Advance Now with of Hol in He do's not key what he relates of the Contaur Chiran and of Aculler, without having read it I own, he does not believe it, but neither did he mvent it, and that is sufficient to make him worthy of Gredit Neither the Moral not the Physical Truth is to be enquired into upon this occasion, but only the I ruth of relating Mr de Girac, who will have it that the Mariow of Stagi was the only lood of Homer s H ro, at ording to the to muon Opin on of the An-cients, doubtlels found the A i hors that reported it worthy of Crede, although there is no Realon to think either that they believed it Life tively, or that the thing is True Doubtlets he priced St Giethat the thing is True gor, Nazanzin in the sime Rink, as to the Mairow of Stags. He cannot therefore except against him or orags the cannot therefore except against him as to that of Lions. And consequently he himself produces a Witness worthy of Credit, immediately ofter having said. That he did not believe there was any Achilles.

The not think it so much surprising that he cited by any of the constant of the cite of the constant of the cite of every body's Hands, had put in the utmost Evidence The one is Mr de Meziriac, who provid by the Te-frimony of the Scholiast of Homer, on the 16th of the Iliad, by that of Libania in his Two Speeches, the one for, and the other against Achilles, and by that of Statius, in the 2d Book of the Ach llers, I hat that Hero was Nurs d with the Mariow of Lions The other is Barehius, who on this lasting of Statiu for the same Fich, cited, besides the I wo Texts of Libanius, these words of (n) Priscianus Deinde si- (n)InProquitur victus, ut in Achille, quod MFDULI Is IEO- gymn NUM paftus eft Those Witnesses are as viluable as Rheton-those whom Mr de Girac produces to justify that cases lieu-

they gave Achiller another I ood
It must not be dissembled, that Bartlins takes Stations's Testimony from us for the Marrow of I cons For instead of lubens, he pretends it must be read lupe, in the Passinge where Ach!! s speaks thus

Dicor or in teneris & ad'ouc creje ntibus and s Theff slus ut rigido sinior me mont iccep s, Non ullas ex more dapes habu ste, nee almi Ubiribus fatiaffi famem, [cd | piff 1 | onum Vificera, femi mimifque, v lupe trax ff medulias

What Mi de Girac makes Plicarch Li, discovers to us that he did not confult the Grick and as he alledges tome of the Remarks there that Vigenere made use of in his Notes on Philostratus, it night taich ill very well be that he had no o her bad Caude than to inflated there words of (p) Vig no. Plutuch first that (hiron nurs d Achilles from his Both, with t'ingst at had no Blood (q) M rir at thewed many Years ago, that Amiot had deceived it if there in it, and that inftend of taying with Amiot, (r) But this Philinus, like a new Achilles of Children, feeds his son in like manner a Achilles Isod, d was brought up from his Infance, with Food from which in 4 o f no Blood was drawn, to with the Isuate of the 544 Earth, it must be faid, But this new (hiron feeds that (1) (om-Boy quite contrary to Achilles (articeopus The Axidas) men on to wit, with M at without Blood \ \ \ \ \ lander might be ic- the to wit, with M at without Blood. Valander might be ic- the Epiffle cuted of the inme Error, for his I atin. I rinflation of Briders, bears, Nofrum autim quo pitto Achillim Chiron nui i- p. 49 ens ifte flatim a natalibus. Singuine Carentibus. There (1) Pluss a gip in that Paffage of Plutarch, but the trich, 4. World autime que ought not to be left intelligible. Rook of the content of the content which the District of the content of the co there in the Sense of contrary, which the Diction i- Irili Con ries commonly give it

What I have faid proving the Validity of St Gregory's Lestimons, thews that Mi di Giral cited I lian, IV Pliny and Aristotle unfectionably, to shew that I ions Propies of have no Mulow, or that it they have any, is for little as nothing. He might have cited Crien. Ho in the 11th Book of the use of Parts. Chap is and it does not teem that this 1 ist ought to be called in question, seeing the Moderns do not commonly take up the ancient Naturalists for i, though it the iame time they accuse them of divers. Mistakes on the Subject of Lions Confult Voly 1 in the 5 a 2000 Chapter of the 3d Book, de Oriente & progress Idola- (3) No 1 tria Iran aus & Bochan in the Books de Auen is lis 111 Ho Sacra Scriptura I ather Ha down in his Commentiny min con on the 37th (hapter of the Heventh Book of P' - tinuit ny, (s) &c. If we believed 10fth, we might pre- I exict tend that Athenaeus had found I sult with the stock on university. that I act But when Arbitaette (1) hunfelf is contout pig fulled, it appears that he five nothing concerning I or Mairow, and that he only speaks against the hud-attributes ness of the Lions Bones, which Austotle made so the second to the s great, that he says, when they first against each the form other they produce Spaikles is out of a Stone of the interpretation of th among his other Remarks under the word I the contrary had not been vermed at last Bon us (u) speaks of Two Anatomics of Lions done it Copinhavin, the one Sixteen, and the other 1 40 10ph 1 8 Years before, and he affures that they shewed much c 11 Mariow, copiosam medallam, in the Bones of that (n) 1, 14 Animal, and even in most of the Bones, and he 21ca 11 quotes Severing, who Reports, That Tiber is Crista brought up a Lion, whole Bones were found hollow and full of Marrow, a those of other Beasts.

But although it should be certain, that Lions have no Mariow, Mr de Gnac should not have had it - Chimicacourse to that Reason, since it is not so that I acts than f proportional form the P 3 in Mithology are to be considered, especially when it is drived that no Au han per worthy of Credit speaks f em. The only Test Cope that mony of some ancient Authors when sufficient to gen, in the

mogene

()) , , / lu

Ш A Pallage of Plu-2 rf 1 1 1011. ch 1

be I on new 1 out Mn Let Hot parles bo trik " 0-Peti Deipnopro Her-

171.1

The Etymologists have not neglected their Interests on the same sion: They Beafts.

make one lose his Cause, although the Naturalists should inform us of the Impossibility of the

A Remark against Barthius Decisive Authors find them-Selves (ometimes trapp'd in

Thing
From whence it appears, That Barthius engages himself in a superfluous Resutation, when in commenting the Verses of Statius, that I have mention'd before, he cries out very seriously, It is a strange Fable, ingens fabula, since a Child that should take any such like thing, if it were only in Sucking, would die, there being nothing in Lions to the very Breath, but what is venement, especially for such an Age, in consequence of which he cites a Passage of Arifotle, containing that Lions have no Marrow All this is Labour loft, because the Ancients them-felves that had examin d Things a little, look'd upon all those Stories as witty Conceits Would upon all those Stories as witty Concerts Would not a Man be much at leisure if he should go a-bout to amuse himself to resute by Physicks what has been faid of the same Achiller's Heel, and of his burnt Lip? It is said that his Mother having plung'd him in the Waters of Siyx to make him plung a film in the waters of styx to make film invulnerable, could not procure that advantage to the Heel, because she held her Son by it Fulgentius in the 7th Chapter of the 3d Book, and the Scholiast of Horace on the 13th Ode of the 5th Book, note, that she held him by the Heel Those that say that he died of a Wound in the Heel, as Hyginus in the 107th Chapter, and Quintus Calaber at the 62d Verse of the 3d Book, agree in the main with the other two Servius on the 57th Verse of the 6th Book of the Enerd says in general that he was invulnerable, except parte que a matre entus est. Others have said, that to consume all that was mortal of her Son's Body, she laid him every Night under Live-coals, and that in the Day she anointed him with Ambrosia, and that but one of the Child's Lips was burnt, which happen'd, because he had lick'd that part

Many (a) Authors mention that Conduct of Thetis, and iay alio, that she had destroy'd by it six of her Children, when her Husband having surpriz'd her in it, was the cause that Achilles, who was the Seventh, escap d it Nevertheless Tzetzes (b) pleads the fallity of that Story, and lays, that he does not know from whence Ly cophron had that Lie, that Thetis got feven Children by Peleus is mother Lxample which may be added to that of Mr de Girac, to thew the danger to which a of Mr de Girac, to thew the danger to which a Perion exposes himself by too decilive a Confi-dence 101 Mr de Meziriac cites four very grave Interest good Reason to fay, when we hear speak either of some extraordinary Phrase, or of some unheard-of lact, that it is good to trap Wagerers, that is to fay, certain rash Learned Perions, that are al-wiys ready on such an occasion to lay Wagers that fuch a thing is not to be found in any Author, and they feldom fail to lote. But that which is most astonishing, is, that sometimes they deny the most easiest Things to be found. I shall give divers Examples of it in this Dictionary

I will not leave (c) Barthius, without observing that he pretends that the Reading Lupa, instead of Iubens, does Seatius much Honour, who by that meins is not in opposition with Arifotle, and observes the same distinctions as Apollodorus, seeing the latter said, that Chiron made his Achilles eat Entrails of Lions, and the Marrow of wild Boars and Bears But Barthus taking the An of Refutition upon himself again a little while after, rejects that Marrow of the She Wolf as a manifest Absurdity, and five that he knows that it a Child should take that kind of Food but once, he would die before the next Day Wherefore adds he, Gregory Nazianzen mends the thing better, by adding the Mariow of Stags to thir of Lions We do not fee how Barthius is agreed here with himfelf, faid in the foregoing Page, that the rejection of the Marrow of Lions was a fign of Judgment in Statius, and that the approach of Lions is very dangerous to Children

Let us also observe, That the Reason why Apollodorus and some others have rather spoke of the Intruits, than of the Mairow of Lions for the Lood of Adulus, items to come from their having heard, that those Beafts are almost without Marrow, for orherwise it was more proper to make him est that Mariow, than to feed him with other bood, conthe Marrow lidering the Character under which the Poets repre-

fented him It is not so much under the Ide Bravery, although they give him an eminent gree of it, as under that of an invincible and Homer proposes to himself the describe him by to in the Iliad, where accounts to the large of (d) of Horses, he takes this There by th Peleida stomachum cedere nejen, and begins thus, Murer deede Sed Mannaden

(d)Horat Od 6 lib z

Iram cane Des Pelida Achillis it is certain that in order to find out the cause that Character by Fictions proper to Poetry, and imprinted with the Wonders of those ancient Ages, the Marrow of Lions was a thing better contrived than any other Nourishment For the most Juicy, and also, as is pretended, the specifick and seminal Parts of the Beast are in the Marrow (e) Homer infinuates to us by the Example of little Afranax, that it was the bit of an indulg d, or spoil'd Child, and Jesters tell the Mothers sometimes that it is the bit of the Son-in-Law of the Family Besides, there is no Beast in angry as the Lion, and it supposed that it was from him that Prometheus both row'd the Principle which subjected the first Me to Anger

1 ertur (f) Prometheus addere principi Limo coactus particulam undique Defectam, & infant leonis

Vim stomache apposusse nostro

Not but that the thing would have done as well by giving Achilles a Lioness for his Nurie (g) Virgil follow d that Idea in some adorn'd reproaches of Ciuelty

Duris genuit te cautibus horrens Caucasus, Hyrcanaque admorant ubera Tigres
And the Bragadochio in the Comedy of the Visionaries is not far from it in this Rhodomontade Le Dieu Mars m'engendra d'une fiere Amazone

Et je sucar le lait d'une affreuse lionne By this Key may be understood, why some chose to pieter the Marrow of Stags before any other for Achilles Because they were struck with the Tra- (f) Horac dition that gave him great swittness in Running, Od 16 and which inclind Homer to Honour him continue. ally either with the Elogy of moday was, iwist-tooted, or with some other Epithet of the same Signification, ποδυκής, ποδύρκης, πόδας τα χυς, ποσί id 1 παχεσση, πρωτισίση, &c At present we use that See Ma-Word to commend the merit of a Basque Footman, crob Sabut anciently (b) it was an heroick Quality And turn 1 therefore Homer is only at most to be blam'd for VII having made a Botch of it too often repeated Ιt was therefore thought necessary to feigh, that a Why they Hero of an extraordinary swiftness was fed with feigh's the the Marrow of Stags, and the Ancients were so Marrow of fond of that Notion, that they did not take notice a Stag that the Mairow of fuch a timorous Beaft, was Swiftnefiof otherwise very improper for that Thunderbolt of Foor was War, and for that Lion's Heart Annia physical formerly an Summer Achillem frangent muros animo (1) heroick leonino, who shewing the utmost diddin for the Quality General of the Aims, faid to him among other (n) See the Abuses,

Va fac a vin, yeux de c'ien, cævi de ceif swiftnese So Vigenere (k) tianslates this Verse of the ist that Virgil Book of the Iliad, OsroCates, xu de outlat exalt, xpadiny d' shapcio

I do not think that if the Mitter was decided by joung the Majority of Voices, it would be judg'd that mazor.

Achilles was fed with the Mariow of Stags, nor call that Mr de Girac could find the Confirmation of mills and what he faid too lightly, that that Marrow was the only Good of Homer's Hero, according to the common Father La Opinion of the Ancients But if this should be true, Cerda an old (1) French Translator of the Treatile de Pall o would not be excusable, having restrained (r) Homer to that Marrow what Tertull an in said of that of Il Wild Beasts in general Transplant have not that (F) Right Ille ferarum medultis educates (under no-nere ubi minis (m) confilium, quandoquidem labits vacuerat ab supra mornim gustu) He who had been sed with the Marvow of Sags, (from whence he lad its Name, for as Faults of much as it had never juck'd a Breast with his Lips) some of Sec Totodorus (n) Marcilius stumbled also on those Tertuille

(1) Edmund Richer, who published his Version in 8vo (m) Salmatius approve thise that (n Not Crit in Tertull de Pall p 77 Paris 1

(e) 'Asud vak, 85 mir mir er on yé VALOR OTHER OLWY MOVE SHUDI Aftyanax. qui prius quidem sui super genus pa-tus, medullam folim co. medebut ovium pingelim edipem Homer

And turn 15

Aneid 7. mille and upm that Leida

ords, an's Inter preters

Con thum

.) Burth comment in lib 2 Achill , v61 3 D 1753

(a) Apol-lodorus,

1 3 Schol

Homeri Il # v 36 Scholinst

Aristoph

p 184 A

(b) See the

Commen-

Maziriac

p 248

VI The Anuents ought to bave fugn'd, that Achilles In a upon

of 1.005

(a) Lucreu made their Profit of that Tradition, for they pretend that the Name of (B) Actives came from thence. He was not contented to inure his Body to the most labourous Like () (1) 1, 4 (b) In his (b) In his ercifes, but he also adorn'd his Soul with divers fine Sciences But if we believe Hemo, it is Poementhe, ercifes, but he also adorn'd his Soul with divers fine Sciences But if we believe Hemo, it is Poementhe erciles, but he also adorn a his Soul with divers nne Sciences But it we believe riemo, it is recommended to Phenix, (C) and not to Chinon, that the Quality of Achilles s Preceptor, and Nursing Father isto. Alcand W. dding of to Phenix, (C) and not to Chinon, that the Quality of Achilles s Preceptor, and Nursing Father isto. The tisand be given The Disquiets of Therm did not permither to leave her Son in Chinon's Cave to long to the father than the property of the willish se thought

Words, having pretended that Tertullian hints at Words, having pretended that Tertullian hints at the Etymology fine chile, drew 2008, which is visibly false, as Salmasius observes I might have remark denother Mistake of the same Author Here it is "Fie first that Achilles, according to believe Longue, cited by Cassioderies, had his Nume from the Word 2010, as it he had been one of those Persons that are call'd Chilenes, or Labones, that is, who had great or thick Lips Lucetius viesthe Word (a) Labinsius, and observes that a Lover, who would (a) Labiofus, and observes that a Lover, who would excuse the Imperfections of his Mistiels, lays, labiofa, EIAMμα, Great Lipe are large and spaceous Fields of Kisses.

But it is talse that Achilles had his Name from καλυ, a Lip, upon such an account, he was rither so call d because he was main'd in that Part, altho Salmassur denies it, notwithstanding a formal Passage of Photius, which I have already mention d, notwithstanding what (b) Agamistor, in old Poet cited by Tzeszes, positively siys of it. Here are Salmassus Words, (c) Si chilones dich a mienis & improbis labris, Achilles dichus surest and an incidentation of the salmassus and Achilles dictus fuerit quali a rev gertem, non quod fine labris fuerit, sed quod labiorum m nisterio non usus sucrit I do not deny but that Apollodorus itys, that the Son of thetis, whose first Name was Liggron, was call d Achilles by Chiron, because he had never apply d his Lips to the Breast (d) On the xero masses we object, qued mammus labor minimal immussification (B) That it e Name of Achilles can from thence I to have preceeded that of Hefied on the Jame Sub-geet Nei-

fius nor Lorenzo Crasso Say any thing of that Post

(c)Salmat

in Tract de Pall p

281 edit 1656

(d Apol-

lodor 1,

P m 2,5

dition was made of it at Utrecht

12 1690 ambich is added tie

Iransation

in Latin and in Dutch

The Latin

Translation

ised already appear'd by st felf The Eng-lish pub-lish d st in their Languageinibe Year 1671

(f) Poet Hist Book

II cas p 158 edit of 1681 wch

ss the 4th

(e) Among others, in the Histor cal Dictionary of Juigne

the Post

phoron

1 9 C 12

trobute to

Sr Gregory that which is

ment on the Apiftle of Briteis, p have spoke of the Ltymologies of thit Name in the Remaik B of the foregoing Atticle, but I must speak particularly of that in agitation here—It goes always with the Tradition which five, that Actilion was fed with nothing but the I lesh and Murow of Beasts. The coherence of those two Things is grounded on the Greek Word Mass, properly ing-nifying the Nutriment that the Luth supplies in with But some Authors have a pretry pleasant Opinion upon this Here it is according to the Proper Terms of Father Gautruche, in his Poetical History I rather chuse that Work than mother, becaule it has been printed (e) feveral times, and in divers Languages, and it passes for being fit for every Body Now no I aults are more carefully to every Body Now no I aults are more carefully to be observed than those that may seduce many Perfons (f) I ather Gautruche lays, lustead of Milk and other Common Food, Chiron nurs d him only with he Marrow of Lions, or of Wild Bears, to produce the Courage and the Stringth of those Beasts in his Person I round the Courage and the Stringth of those Beasts in his Person I round the Course of thence it happen'd, according to the Opinion of Jone, that being thus fed without any Meat, be was sail d Achilles, that is to say, without Chyle Although the list Period of this Passage does not appear in the last Lditions, yet I shall remark i That it is in Livoi to say that a Person is sed without any Meat, when he is only fed with the Marrow of Berils, for the Mirrow is unquestionably comprehended under the Word Meat, and is none of the Aliments that are permitted in Lent 2 That it is file that Marow is not converted into Chyle, and that those that should be only fed with Marrow, should be with out Chyle These Remarks will not seem supersu-248 mbere ous to those that shall consider, that this Doctrine of Luphorion Father Gautruche is in 1 great many Copies of his Works, and in other (g) Writers, and that in the Edition where the Faults are suppress d, it is not 15 wrong named Lu-(1) Mythol faid why they were taken away

The Lrior came from the I erm 2005, (that Euphorion made use of in some Verses cited by the Author of the great Etymologicum, and by Eustathius,) being taken so that soft and whitish Substance into which the Stomach converts the Aliments, and that which the Stomach converts the Aliments, and that Physicians call (hyle, of the Greek Word poor Whereas by poor ought to be understood, as Mr de (b) Meaning did after Enflating, the nouriffment we take from things that are sown in the Farth Natalus (i) Gomes has all translated Employeen, too he makes him fay that Achilles had tasted no Milk pregence and Fungerus fortifying (k) themselves fallly with the Authority of St Gregory Nazianzen, have not been more lucky Fungerus concludes that Anot been more lucky Fungerus concludes that Achilles was nurs d fine cibo, because they give him nothing to eat but the Mariow of Stags. The other will have it (1' that 20' è, signifies juice, and that Adilles was nurs'd writiont Juice, because he was that Ali ides Was nurs'd without Idice, because he was the Orania art fed with a sual Meats for Men, but with the Raw ont of that if the fed with a sual Feater Alunno adopts half of Father, is last Lerror Tu nutrito, says he (m', nel monte Pelio printed "Chirone Centauro, ne mai in quel templo mangio oilo with his with a (l) Com on Philostr of the Nursure of Achilleo, p 5.43 (m) in hand theirs del mondo, which is a Dictionary on Boccacio, Uante, Petraich, Sec. printed at Venice in 1588 in Folio cotto, perche fi nomenato Aclille, perche a in Gre o f - c Thun mifica f next, & ch los CIBOCOLIO Sone us 7 P taking the Word Makes plants to Nourishmert, dur ground the I tymology of Acris 5 (n) on this that 1991 is his Preceptor Chron itter a certain time would next there give him may more Mariew of Wild Bersts, (e) the nor my other thing whattoever to est fo that he was obliged to live on what he tool by hunting. But was this to live withour Nourishment Perhips on Laplication is worle than the forego in the interpolation is worle than the forego in the interpolation of the int Art, Munck and Morality we put under the direction of Phony, who learn d him both to the kind to live well, as he boulds of it himself. He proves this as to Mufick and Morality by these Verte of Owid, in the 1st Book de no non me Phythride puerom of area per me 'm' m'

Atque animes molli contude ais Het ein down withour alreing inveling either in theOrthography, or in the Ci', first est, that ought to be changed into Cit', is peter. I very Body may see that there is not a World of the Study of Morthly in those Visles. His Proof is to Plus are these Worlds of Home.

וצו בע (p) ע שן ווצר לולטד ע ומגוג דע דע אוור בא ווור בא נשבעור אנים בעוד באוור ביינו בא התיוא אוויר אוור בא הערבעור Properties me might att does might omn a live Pro-Properties me might att does might omn a live Pro-Levonumque or its is if m, astorque court thins I com-But provided we read with reflection the Book of the bet Soit-

Hiar, from whence that Authority is borrow d, nu H it will appear that Decimator is inifial en. The Lx-mar Red pressions of Phenix testity that he was the first Pie- of a Col ceptor of Achilles You would not eat my Thing, / represented he to that Hero, unless I tool you on my Knees, and cut your Pieces I he Wine that / you vomited on my Bolom in your troublelome Infancy, did often fully my Clothes

--- (q) 'Lπε εκ εθελειγες σ'υ αλλη

Ουτ ες σαιτ ιεναι ετ' ει μερι οισ το παθζ

Πει: γ' οτε δη σ' ετ' ειωισυ ε γω γ ένασσι χιθισας,
"Ο με τ ασαιμι που το μωι, χιο επιχωι, Πιολλαιι μοι νιτεί ευσις όπι επίθεσσι χι πο α

Οινα επιζουζου ε νηπειω αλ χια. Oivn, Smchucas e viimen an yei n - - - Non chim volebas cum also Neque ad convivium ire, neque in dibus e lum fi mere

Ante quam te meis ego "en ihus impolitum Opsonio satiavi secato-antea, & vi ium admovens, Sape mili rivifti al pectora veftem

Vino, ejectain in infantia difficili

Vino, ejectain in infantia difficili

frange Difcourie, that it might easily have been thought that it was not such as I to influe it. See the 11th Paragi iph hereunder. But however it be, 116, 116, 117 the Paragi iph hereunder. But however it be, 116, 117 the Paragi iph hereunder. ty of Homer, with respect to Phenre, we must reasonnee what others report concerning Choon, of the Atlanta t least we must not give Chron the first Lduce and lets that a least we must not give the state of Achilles, and lets that a least we must not give the first Lduce and lets that a least we must not give the first Lduce and lets that a least we must not give the first Lduce and lets that a least we must not give the first Lduce and lets that a least we must not give the first Lduce and lets that a least not give the first Lduce and lets that a least not give the first Lduce and lets that a least not give the first Lduce and lets that a least not give the first Lduce and lets that a least not give the first Lduce and lets that a least not give the first Lduce and lets that a least not give the first Lduce and lets that a least not give the first Lduce and lets that a least not give the first Lduce and lets that a least not give the first lates and lets that a least not give the first lates are given by the first lates and lets that a least not give the first lates are given by the first lates and lets that a least not give the first lates are given by the this shews that if we will make use of the Authorition of Aebilles, and less still make it continue until he had taught his Scholar the Military Art, Mulick and Morality When a Perion is in a flate to le un those things, he eats no longer on his Loster I a ther's Lap, nor vomits his Wine on his Clothes Add to this that those that make Achilles to be brought up by Chiron, say that he was taken iway from noder his December to be four in a Mulicipal from under his Discipline, to be sent in a Muden's Gaiment to the Court of King I yeomeder, where his Disguise soon facilitated to him the occasions to see the King's Daughter very near, as appen'd by the Chi'd she brought into the World Now it is not likely that they give him a Preceptor often he was a Father, and confequently there is no time wherein to place the lunctions of Poems ittel those of Chiron The laults of Decimaior we to be found in Chiron The laults of Decimator are to be found in the Thejaurus Scholastice erudit ones of the last Edition, although that Work was often corrected by Learned (r) Humansts () Dimplicar fair also, that Achilles having been infructed by Chiron in his Intancy, was educated by Plans when he was grown taller. Observe that I do not intend to deny that after Achilles was lather, Plans was ordered to teach him (t) how to behave himself in the Trade of Arms, and in the Councils of War. But I do not call that to have given him a Pre-But I do not call that to have given him a Preceptor

H 2 I cin- 1686,

for that of 1691 (t) Iliad 1 9 P 440 (c) Paralep ad Ro' num lib

I hud Thefur 1 L 1-(p) 11 mei II nd I 9 (4) Id il 4d (1) (1) fuft in I het iumar Rule of a Col tord, and les Bool in th Tia 1571 4 olasin emplos a ,6 2 cars 111 11/2 the 1 itin 1027 Horl n r reprosted 111 16.5 nith ti ıft. 212/ 1111 Pronto Postir 4 Last ant 11 110 1) S AL Wittemcorrecti

and aug

that Diff

onary or

Chuftopher (c)

lirius ..

agan, to

1 16 0

()

, Id

Latte

but in the Latin Translation of the Comentaries of Nicetas Serronius Hieraclea, in the 11th Century, on

p m 235

Achil 1 r

a Apollo- as the could have defir'd, the stook him from thence when he was but Nit and hidhim among Maids, difguis'd like a Maid, in the Court of Lycomedes, King the Island of Serros, as soon as she heard of the Preparations that were making against the Trojans. The Reason of her Conduct is this, She knew on the one side that if her Son went to Troy, he would never return from thence, and on the other fide that Calchas had fortold that the City of Troy should never be taken without Achilles. The Device of Thetis stood her in no stead, the Diviner Calchas discover'd to the Greeks & where Achilles was, whom they had fought for in divers places without finding him Upon this Ellel

I cannot tell whether Malherbe ever took notice of this, but it is certain that he express'd himself like a Min that hid well observed that Achilles had but one Preceptor See how he speaks of that Warrior in the IVth Book of his Poems, p. 106,

De quelque adresse qu'au giron, Ou de Phenix, ou de Chiron,

Il est fait fon aprentifage
We must give him only Phenix, if we will refer it to Homer, who makes no mention of the Pieceptosship of Chiron, and we must only give him Chiron, it we refer it to the Crowd of Authors Yet Mr Menage faid in his Notes on that Place of Milherbe, that Chiron was the first Governor of Achilles, and Phenix the second I do not sely on the Authority of Izetzes, who by in Allegorical Explication of what he had read in some Authors, that Phenix blinded by his own I other, was brought to Chiron, who gave him his Sight again, pietends that the meining of this is, that Chiron give Young Abilles to him, for believes that there is nothing more cold, not more forced than that Thought, you must know that I erzes does in no wife prove the Iact By his pretended Allegories he goes about to reconcile 110-mer with Lycophron, But how will he reconcile 110mer, who says, that Achiller yet a little Child was under the Conduct of Plenix I say, How will he reconcile that with those that make Achilles to be educated by Chiron from (a) lix Years of Age, to ripe Age, until he had not only learn'd to fit altride on the back of his (b) Preceptor, but also till he had harden d himfelf to (e) the most violent I xerciies, without reckoning to many other Things that Chiron taught him, as the Military Art, Musick, Morality, (1s Disimator told us just now) and Physick, but particularly Botinicks and Jurispiudence, as an Ancient Author call d (1) Staphylus, and divers others inform us (1) Statius in the 2" Bool of the Achilleir, Claudian in his Work on the 3d Confulfing of Honorius, Sidonius Apollinaris in his 9th Poem specify what Achilles learned of Chiron Note that on the Pieterned Testimony of Homer, they give to Clien in the Commentaries on the I inblems of Alcities whit belongs only to Phint more frequent among Authors than those quid pro

I faid that Homer has not if oke of Chiron's Piecep-You will isk me then, whit mean thele Words of Eurypylus to Patroclus in the Lleventh Book of the lieas Die e) my Wounds with comfortable Medicines, which it s faid you learn d of Achilfortable Medicines, which it's faid you kind of Achilles, who was infinited by Chiron, the most just of the Corrains. I inswer, I hat they do not lignify that Chiron was the Pieceptor of sebilt, but only that he taught him Physick. Livery one sees the difference of those two Things. Moneon in his Travels in meas in hundred Persons that taught him Receipts and Secrets for Cures, yet those People had not been his Pedigogues, not had educated him in his Youth. Professors in Physick that teach their Au-Youth Profession in Physick that teach their Auditors in hundred good Remedies in publick, or some very the Receipts to distinguished Friends in particular, he they therefore what we call a Young Man's Preceptor of Governor And without leaving this Passing of Horner, do we not see Ashilles reach Patrollus Remedies, although he was not his Preceiptor. To enter then into Homer's I hought was Preceptor To enter then into H mer's I hought, we must fry that Achiller was educated by Phenix from three or four Years of Age, until the Age wherein he might learn to speak well, and perform fine Actions, but yet that in that Interval of I me, or afterwards he heard Chiron's Letions. It is thus that a Scholicht took Homer's I hought. For he observes that Apollon us, who feight that Chiron went to the Sea side to wish the Argonaute a good Voyage, and that his Write went along with him, holding Achiles in her Arms, and shewing him to Peleus, follow'd the Poets that ways for the terms and supposed with the Poets that came after Homer, and supposed with them that Course noised the little Ashiller, a Thing never mention d by Homer (f) Hishiller Amona-rib the het? Ounger wintars and Xeepav Argan to Argan Argan argania Oung Bush to it to Xeepav Argan Argania Oung Bush to it to Xeepav Argania Apollomus was very excufable, feeing in low d the Crowd, For who has not spoke theren, as of him that had educated Achilles Is St (g) whit Orpheus, what (h) Pindarus, what (i) Euripides, and what fo many other Poets (k) have fung? (1) Xeand what so many other Poets (k) have sung? (l) Xenophon, (m) Plato, (n) Apollodorus, (o) Pliny, (p) Plutarch, (q: Pausanias, (r) Cleriens Alexandrinus, (s) and of the Philostratus, (t) Libanius, (u) St Gregory Nazianzen, and divers other (x) lets Anciens have they not said the same Thing? But on the fide, those (y) that have mention'd the Pausanius of Phenix are in no less number. It may be such gon v

are in no less number it may be such gon v
are in no less number. It may be such gon v
are in no less number. It may be such gon v
are in no less number. It may be such gon v
are in no less number. It may be such gon v
are in no less number. It may be such gon v are not such gon v are fide, those gon v
are fide, th Authors had not eximin'd the Thing narrowly enough, or that they had no regard to the Incompati-bility that results from the Circumstances of the Preceptorship of Phenix, and from the Circumstances of the Pieceptorship of Chiron

I had therefore Reason to deny in my Project, that Statius ipeaking of Phenix and of Chron as of two (k) Senec Preceptors of Achilles, could bring my assifunct to Decimator, for besides that Statius does not say whether they exercised that Employ both together, or after each other, or which of the Stat Silv two was the nist, he cannot be reconcil d with Ho mir, who in case of concurrence ought to carry it Consider these two Passages well

Non (z) tibi certaffet juvenilia fingeri cordi Neftor, & indomiti Phænix moderator alumni, Quique tul as acres lituojque and re vol ntem Maciden, also frangebat carmine (huon This is the first, and here is the other Tenero (a) fie blandus Achilli

Semifer Amenium vincelat Pel aChiron Noc lenior Peleus natum comitatus in arma

Nee fenior Peleus natum comitatus in arma 1101010, fed caro Phanix herebat alumno
(b) Xinophon and (c) Lucian, who give those Two Claudian
Preceptors to Achilles, the exposid to the fame Bartery is Statius, and besides they differ from ful Homor, whom Decomator alledges? Note, that ithough statius (d) says that Phanix accompanied Achilles we Troy, it does not follow (l) De vestiom thence that he makes him Chiron's Successor, nat p for he tays clearly enough that Phenix had been with Achilles before that Voyage, he calls the latter (e) Alumnus of Phenix As for Treezes, who tells us in his Commentary on Licephron, that Pelius having brought Phenix to Chiron's Cave where Achilles was educated, faid to him, Hores thy Son, tutor him as a good Father ought to educate his Son, he proves nothing de Repubngainst me, and he is not two unable to those that to possible would have recourse to the distinction of Go. B vernor and Pieceptor, which is so clear in Plutarch is to the Son of Philip, King of Macedonia See the Article Lysimachus I do not think that Po-See the Article I ysimachus ets will shew it us at the same time in those remote Ages, and when all is done, it does not appear that Peleus committed the Coa ljutorship of Chiron to Phenia And it Izetzes expressing himself very ill meant 10, he deserves no credit. He is too lite an Author to deserve to be follow'd in regard of a Fact that can neither be reconcil d with Homer, nor with the Ancient Authors that attributed the Education of Little Achilles to Chiron Let de Music

(9) In Lacon p 197 (r) Stromit 1 1 p 306 B (s) In Her p 682 A & 705 A (t) Progymn p 71 A p 97 C p 129 A p 142 C p 14, A & Declamat 4 p 259 D (n) Ont 20 p 324 (s) Euft in Homes, p 11 & & 840 Scholiast Homer n II 1 s & & 1 16 v 14 & (y) Here are the Names of the Ch ef Scholiast Homer II 9 v & 448 Dictys, 1 2 Xcnoplon, Conv p 897 A Plato 2 de Republit 2 p 390 E Cicero 3 de Orat n 15 Strabo 1 9 p 297 Quintil 1 2 c 3 Statius ubi insi a Plaut t 2 p 4 26, & 72 Lucian Dial Mort Philostr Lemn p 136 Libanius, Progym p 99 (2) Stat 1 5 Silva 3 v 191 (a) Id 1 2 Silva 1 p 99 (2) Stat 1 5 Silva 3 V 191 (a) Id 1 2
V 88 (b) In conviv (c) I 1 Dial Actil Soil (d) Uli supra & 1 3 Silva 2 V 96 (c)

Canterus understand by the Worst respices (G), with made use of se denote Phenix, to the latter had been Silva 1 ius and ophron s's F⊶ fter-Fai es

(a)Pindar Nem od ,

(6) 15 מו דנו ווד עם xy didxr-1701 () hayon See-Fodem utens & pullo & praceptore Greg Nazianz Orat 10

(1) Statius, 1 2 Achil

(d) H. W cited ly Natal Comes, 1 9 mthe Com mentaries ou Alei tus : Lm-Lini

IX Examinaion of a Passage where Homer /peaks of Chiron

() kni d ##ac adjusted माजवार भक्तिमा नव CE COPUTY करमां त्रा में जि 9 = 3) + a / . 904, () क्वार्वा देंव की-Maioral & h /7 augwi Iliad 11 1 829

(f) Schol Apollon ın'l ı V 558

Au hors tlat spoke of the Preceptorship of Chiron, of Phenix

(b) Nem

v 89 A chil L

254 8407 Autonius Protrept nat p 973 A &

(/) De ve-

(m) Hipp T 1 P 371 C 3 371 c 3 de Repub

(n) Lib 3

L 5

(p) Sym

pol 1

660

deputed to the Court of Lycomedes, (D) discover'd Achillet easily, and ses having way without trouble, although he was so well the ov'd by the Princess King's Daughter, that she let him get her (E) with Child From brought Deskamen, til thence came Neopolemus, or Pyrrbus, as shall be said in its place. Achilles fought a great many fine Combats during the Siege of Troy, and before they encamped before a Horn City. The great Quarrel that arose between Agamemnon and him about their Il 1 (for a Agamemnon having return'd Chryseis, who was his, took Briseis away, Admiles) oblig'd the latter to keep in his Tent, without troubling himthe War, and nothing was able to make him change his Resolution of his Dear Friend Patroclus; to whom he had lent his Armour, 8 of deprived him, as well as of his Life Vulcan, at the Request of The- 8 lb 1 16 new Armour at that time for (F) Achilles The Death of Patroclus was(G) 2 lb 1 18 fell Off which ts, mad foon

XI Homer about the Descourse of Phonix

(a) In the tacle of fall

(b) Horat de art Poet v

(c) Apud tam 1 13

Tex-Con-Mytha 16c i Vigenere on Philo-Or, in the Achimary rillment Pomey,

(e) In Cıcero de amicit. C 10

Mythico,

(f) De exevelo ev Barthine cites thuse Words in the 1579, and in the 1685 Paes of the ome of and Wertheles he Says in the 1584 page, that Apollogorus Achilles s Age

(g) Stat Achill v 2,4

Let us end this too long Remark with a Stroke that will seem very bold. I cannot help it. I dare say that we need only read the Discourie of Phenix in the 9th Book that Poem. For are those per at present the Majesty of the Epick Poem. And Horizo, who by the Report of Mr. (a) Month Least the says of the 1st Rook that he reri boasts in the 6th Satyr of the 1st Book, that he had learn'd the Iliad by heart, had doubtless forgot that Speech full of a Thousand Impertmenties, when he gave the Author of the Iliad this Elogy, that he runs always to his Aim, that he runs quick to his Conclusion Semper ad eventum fellinat quick to his Conclution Semper ad eventum festinat (b) If it was so, would be imuse a Deputy of the Greek Army that had a very important and pressing Commission, I tay, would be amuse him with Nuries Stories, and with the recital of his old Adventures

(D) Discover'd Achilles easily Mr Moreri pretends with little exactnoss that Ulysses discover'd him, having caus'd a Merchant to present him with Jewels and Aims, for if we hold to what Ulysses himself iays of it (c), in his Speech to the Generals of the Army, it was he that not only presented those few is and those Arms to Achilles, but also to all the young Damzels of the Court If we leave it to Hyginus, and to young Philostratus, it is Ulysses again that presented tem, being one of the Ambassadors of the Greeks ient to Lycomedes to ask Achilles of him If we leave it to Statius, it may be faid indeed that it was not Ulyffer himielt, the Chief of the Greek Embassy, that prefented the Jewels, but not that he caused it to be done by a Merchant Some (d) Moderns fay that he did it himself in the Disguise of a Merchant not maintain that this is fory'd, but it is very certain that they did not take it out of a good Source angius (e) pietends that Lycomedes did what he could by his Tears, and by his Prayers, to hinder Achilles from following Ulyss, and accuses Cicero for having taken the Son for the Fathers in their Words New enim Trojam Neopresides appear pointset, si I ycomedem apud quem erat education this cum lacrymis iter sum improduentem auditre volussite. I angues is mistier suum impedientem audire voluisse I angius is mi-fisken, and not Cicero See the Remark A of the Article Pyrrhus, the Son of Achilles

(E) She let him get her with Child] Achilles was so young at that time, that there are but few Lximples of such a forward generative Faculty as his Yet good Instructions had been more early still, and free from the Disorder whereof Montagne complain'd in the 25th Chapter of the Ist Book of his Essays. He says, They teach us to live when Life is past An hundred Scholars have got the Pox, before having attain'd to Aristotle's Lessons of Temperance. But it I had a mind to moralize on the Power of the story of the power of the story of t etical History, I should say to Montagne, that this Adventure of the Son of Peleus is an Advertisement, that though Education be never so early, it will link under the weight of Nature

I shall say by the way, that the I ictions of the Ancients would be more tolerable than they are, if they had not given themselves the trouble to contradict each other so much, but it seems they look'd on then I abulous History as a Country wherein every body did what a pleased, without depending on others Apollous fays, That Achilles was (f) but nine Yerts when he was brought into the Isle of Seyres that they ipoke already of the I xpedition of The According to Statius, the Preparations of the Greeks had already continued a Year, when Ulysses was ient to the Island of Seyres to fetch Achilles thom thence When Ulysses came there, Achilles was already (g) I ather Judge whether Nachiller was already (g) I ather Judge whether Na-re had been flow to grant him Viril Stiength, and deterr'd long to exercise it on young Deidamia durst not keep to the Calculation of Apellodorns, for he gives Achilles at least (b) Twive Years before the taking him out of Chiron's Cave I cin-not tell how Barthius (1) could find that according not tell how Barthius (1) could find that according to the Calculation of Statius, the Son of Achilles (1) Ibid must be above a Year old at the Time of Ulysses 5 Embassy, for alrhough that young Hero should have enjoy'd the Fair one the very first Day, his Soncould have been but Three Months old at the Arrival of the Lysses Some have faid (k) that he repeated the 100s to his Missiries after her first Lysing-in, and 100s to his Missiries after her first Lysing-in his head and 100s to his Missiries after h that he had another Son by her But leeing he was born (1) before the Voyage of the Argonauta, between which and the Expedition of Troy the Chronologers (m) put at least 30 Years, judge whether the Ancient Poets did concert their Calculations u ell

(F) Vulcan made at that time a New Ai-No body ought to find trult that Charles Seephens and Lloyd, Hofman, Morers, &c speed of the Impenetrable Armour that these caus'd I ulcan to make for her Son for the I xpedition of 1.09 For although she had already made the Body invulnerable by plunging it in the River Siyx, we know that few Precautions feem superfluous to Motherly Tendernes Malherbe design d to de note those I wo Precautions of Thetus, when he (n) ind

Bien que sa mere cut : ses armes, v 256 Ajoure la force des charmes Butyet he did not denote them, because his Expressi. (m) See Butyet he did not denote them, because his Expression does rather make one think that I lets give her calvisus on an Enchanted Armour, than that belides ad ann her having charm'd the Body, the Armour she give him was proof also Mr Menage, (o) who justly censures the Equivocation of the Expression, acknowledges moreover, that I lets made use of that double Expedient, which in the main does not clash against likelihood Moreover it is not for an Author of a Dictionary to suppress a Thing under pretence that it was done needlesty. It suffices him that it is found in Books, and he may fortify us in time of need by his wise Resections. Now it is certain that an Ancient Author call'd Philarchus, or Phylarchus had left in Writing, That Thetis seeing that she could not hinder Achilles from going to the Siege of Iroy, supplicated Vulcan to make (p) an Ar-Siege of Iroy, supplicated Vulcan to make (p) an Armour for him, proof against all Human Force Valcan having made that Armour, declar'd that he would not deliver it, until he had obtain'd of Thetis the most precious Thing she could grant him She defended her self from it, offering to testify her Acknowledgment by all other kind of Services But seeing he would none but Peisonal Service, she promis'd to pay him in her Person, provided the Ai-mour fitted Achilles, which was to be tried upon her self, who was of her Son's Stature Vulcan satisfied with the Bargain, gave Thetis the Armoui, who put it on, and run away with it, that poor Cripple not being able to overtake her, threw his mmer at her, and hurt her on the Heel

Hammer at her, and hurt her on the Heel phr p y It might then be faid in general, that Thetu caus'd an impenetrable Armour to be made for her Son's first Campaign But since Homer is the chief Source from whence they ought to draw tor this Article, it ought not to have been forgot that and N this Article, it ought not to have been forgot that after the Death of Patroclus, from whom Hefter had taken Achiller's Armour, Theter obtain'd another from It is one of the finest Episods of the Iliad, and it ferv'd Virgil for one of the best Parts of the Encid It deserv'd therefore to be touch d upon Observe that according to (q) Servius, the Armour that Patroclus bore when he was kill'd, was made at

Peles by Vulcan

(G) The Death of Patroclus was soon after reveng'd a Morer, had Region to say, That Achilles soon took up the Armour again that the loss of Brises had made in effect, seeing the Iliad compressions. him lay down In effect, seeing the Ilind compre- neid 1 1.

1736

Luftachius in Il 11 &Ptol apudl'hot lon Argon 1 r v 558 Valer I laccus Arg 1 r mage's Observ on Malherbe, P 372

(p) Apud Natal Comitem Mythol Tretzes 12 Lvco ss in the Scholiast of Pindarus, in Nem

(q) Servi us in Æhends v 843

& Virgil Æn i Ovidius Metamor

e Dictys Dares

Phrygius,

Hyginus,

C 110 Servius in Æn 6

V 57 (a)Mr Mc-

nige, Observat on Mal-herbe, p 441 be-lieves that it compre-hends much less (b) Mal-herbe, Po-em 1 5 p 11, (c) Menage ubi

(d)Homer Iliad I i v 361 (e) Horat

Sat 10 1 1 (f) Æn I r v 483 (g) Il 23

V 13 & 24 V 16

(b)In Aia

V 145 (1) In An-drom v 108, ,99 (k) Metam 1 12

1 2 Lleg

v 333 (1) Troad

aét 3 v 413 A-gam act

3 V 447 (m)Achil

(0) De republ 13 t p 391 B (p) Tul-cul I

2 V 6 (n) Lib

(q) Cap ioo (Alin Hei

p 697 (4) Pro-ym p

(r) In i cl

(u) P 75 (w) In Il

ftor Lat

Amor

ın Ibin

a Homer foon after reveng'd; Athilles fought a with Helder, and having kill'd him faften'd him to his Chariot, and dragg'd him round the (H) Walls of Troy Priamus whent in Perfon to defire the Body of him, and obtain'd it for a great Ransom. There are divers tus Calab Opinions concerning the Death of Achilles; some say that Apollo y kill'd him, or that he saffisted Para to kill him, by directing his Dart to the Part that was not invulne-rable to the part to the part that was not invulne-rable to the part that was not invulne-rable to the part to the part that was not invulne-rable to the part to the part that was not invulne-rable to gone to treat about his Marriage with Philoxena, the Daughter of Priamus The Gracks made him a Magnificent Funeral (1), of which Morers's Dictionary touch'd forme Circumstances with very little Exactness, to say nothing worse. They buried have in the Promontory Sigaum, and after the taking of the City, they sacrass'd Philotopia on his Tomb, as his Shade requir'd That Warrior, the most violent of all Warriors, and hends but one Year, according to the Sentiment of Lather Mambrun (a) in his Treatise of the Epick Poetry, few Months only must have pass'd between the Retreat of Achilles, until his Return to the Army after the Death of Patroclus Therefore Malberbe fell into a strange Mistake, when he reported as a certain Last, that Achilles had been nine Years before the City of Troy without fighting

Achille (b) a qui la Grece a donne cette marque

D'avoir eu le courage aussi haut que les cieux Fut en la meme peine, & ne put faire mieux,

Que soupirer neuf an. dans le fond d'une barque

Sarrazin being likely deceiv'd by that Place of Malherbe, whom he minded to imitate, faid in a ve ry fine Ode,

Achille beau comme le jour,

Lt vaillant comme son epec, Pleura neuf ans pour son amour, Tieura neuf ans pour fon amour,

Comme un enfant pour sa poupee

But Mr (c) Menage coriected that Fault in the Ldition he procur d of Sarrazin's Works, he cause Nine Months to be put instead of Nine Tears. I shally that Comparison of Achilles with a Child that cries for its Baby, has its soundation in the Iliad, where we see that Achilles having lost his Concubine Brises, runs melting in Tears to make his Complaints to his Mother, and that his good Mother comforts him

Manuque ipfum dimulfit, verbunque dikit & nomen Fili quid fics? quis vero tibi mentem invafit mæror, Dic, ne cela animo ut sciamus ambo

The Majesty of the Epick Poely suffer'd those Plainnesses in those I imes. Therefore let us say nothing of them. Let us agree on the fine Genius of Homer, let us agree on the Fruitfulness and the Eloquence of his Muse, but let us say also, (e) Sell ille fi foret

her nosserum fato delatus in avum, &c

(H) Dragg d him round the Walls of Troy] Perhips no body before Ingil had said that the Dead Body of Hellor was dragg'd three times about the Walls of Troy Ter(f) commissions approximate Helloria muros Homer had only noted the Number of the Tuins in relation to the Sepulchie of Patroclus, and it is not much unlike that Virgil converted the Three (neurts about the Sepulchre of which Homer (g) had expicily made mention, into Three Compasses round the Walls, I say, that he converted them in that manner, either by a defect of Memory, or to make a better Verle. The liberty of that Metamorphosis has scarce been imitated by any body, you see the Three Circuits of the Walls no more in the Auther there circuits of the Walls no more in the Authors that live dafter I irgil, than in those that preceded him (h) Sophoeles, (i) Euripides, (k) Ovid, (l) Soneca, (m) Statinu, (n) Distis Gretensis, (o) Plato, (p) Ciciro, (q) Higimus, (r) Philostratus, (s) Libanius, (t) Sirvius, (u) Taitas, (w) Eustathius, speak indeed of the dragging of Histor, but not of the number of Turns As much as I can remember, there is only the Author of the Little Mad in Law Varios, the the Author of the Little Iliad in Latin Verles, that noted namely Three Couries round about the Walls, and Three Couries round about the Tomb That Author's Name is Pindarus Thebanus, he was cited by the old Scholiast of Statius, which Vossius (x) did by the old Scholiast of Statius, which Vossius (x) did not know Barthus mention d him often in the great Volume of his Adversaria, and (3) elsewhere I know that Ausonius in the Summary of the 22d Book of the Iliad, sets forth that Hetter was dragged thice times round the Walls of Trey, but I know also that he was censured for it, (z) and that that % V 401 (A) DeHi-Lault made one of his Commentators believe that p 8 19

Auloniu did not make all the Summaries that we have under his Name Finally the Treatment of that Dead Body, the Discourse that Achilles had with ry on Statius, t 1 p 340 & dy, that Venal Soul that suffer'd it self to be at last
- 3 p ,9, 1609. See the Distribes of Mariang Accur in Auson perfuaded by Rich Presents to send to Priamus the Body of his Son, are Things so far remote, I will not say from Heroick Virtue, but from the most not say from Heroick Virtue, but from the most Common Generosity, that it must necessarily be judg'd either that Homer had no manner of Idea of Herossim, or that he had only, a Design to describe the Character of a Brutish Man. He represents (a) (a) II Achilles to us, as wishing to have Brutality enough v 346 to eat Hetter's Flesh raw

Aî μα πως αυτόν με μίν Θ κ. δυμος ανείπ

Τιμ' λαυταμινόμεν ν πρεα εδιμενικ

Utimam enim ullo passo ιρ μαν me furor & animus simulares fimularet Crudas difecantem carnes comedere

He has not so much as comprehended, that to do more Honour to his Hero, he ought not to give his Enemy so much Cowardise and Weakness as he gives him

(1) Funeral, of which Moreri's Dictionary touch'd fome Circumstances with very little Exactness] That Author said, that the Gods lamented the Death of Author iaid, that the Gods iamented the Death of Achilles 17 Days, but he ought not to have cited Homer without quoting the Place where he speaks of it It cannot be in the Iliad, for he observed the Rule very well that forbids to bury the Hero of an Epick Poem in the Poem it self Virgil observed it also He ought to have said then, that Homer speaks of Achilles's Eugenral in the 24th Rook of the October. allo He ought to have faid then, that Homer speaks of Achilles's Funeral in the 24th Book of the Odyssey, where he brings in that Episode on the Occasion of Penelope's Gallants kill'd by Ulysses. They have done wrong in the Edition of Amsterdam, to bring in the Continuators of Homer in the Place of Homer That's not all They should not have faid the Gods in general without specifying what Homes notes. That's not all They should not have laid the Gods in general, without specifying what Homer notes, That Thesis accompanied by Sea Goddess, came to the Camp of the Greeks, to perform the Inneral Duties of her Son jointly with them, and that the Nine Muses held their Part there by thair Mourning Songs He might have cited Pindarus for this last Fact Τὸν (b) μὲρέτε δάνοντ' ἀοιδαὶ ελίποντ' αλλά οι παρά τε πυράν, τάφον 3' Ελικωνιαι παο Φαν-3' Exixavias map Bevoi Esav, em Binvorte mμνοις Θεάν διδόμεν ετλόν γε φώτα κ) φωμενον υ-

dar Isthm Od 8 p m 753

Quim ne mortuum quidem carmina defecerunt Sed & ejus rogo & sepulcro Heliconia virgines adstiterunt, & lamentationem memorabilem effuderunt Placuit ergo immersationem memorabilem effuderunt Placust ergo immortalibus firenuum virum etiam mortuum hymnis Dearum sradere. What the Dictionary adds on the Taith of Homer again, that after those Seventeen Days, the Young Men of Thessay perform d Achilles's Funeral, where they wept crown d with Flowers of Amaranih, ought naturally to be in the same place. Of the Odossay where the Saventeen Days Moura of the Odyssey where the Seventeen Days Mourning is Yet it is not there, I am much afraid that Morers made use of some Book where the Cemakes mention in the Picture of Neopsolemus It is, that the Greeks, having been ordered by the Oracle of Dedone, to go every Yeur and perform the Anniversary of Achilles, the Theffalians were the first that added Crowns of Amaranth to the other Ceremonies. remonies

remonies

(K) They bury'd him in the Promontory of Sigmum]

Almost all the Dictionaries objecte it Lloyd rejecting the other Citations of Pliny, which he had found in a bad Condition in Charles Stephens, keeps that of the 12th Chap of the 4th Book, but wrongfully, for Pliny does not speak there of the Tomb that was at Sigmum, but of that which was said to be in an Island of the Eusine Sea. He trye in the 20th Chap of the 5th Book, that there are Tomb that was at Sigaum, but or that which faid to be in an Island of the Eukine Sea. He type in the 30th Chap of the 5th Book, that there is been a City call'd Achilleen, near the Tomb of the shiller, on the Coast of Sigaum. It is to be with the coast of Sigaum.

to brave his (L) Name became that of the supream Valour, lov'd (M) Musick at, that after the Correction of that Passage,

Vossius bethought himself of accusing Plice Achiller's Tomb on the Banks of hat of Ajax on the Banks of Sigaum on the same of signal contrary solinus (b) by a sught to him, transported that their neighbouring Cape, to wit, on the signal contrary is in (e) the Emblems of Alcratus His Commentators own that he is mistaken, except (6) Po (c) Æacıdæ tumu-

Pignerius, who maintain'd the contrary It is nevertheless certain by the unanimous Testimony of Authors, that the Tomb of Achilles was on the Bank of Sigeum We have already faid that they went thinher every Year to offer Sacrifices to him, the Tradition was, that his Phantom appear d there in Armour, and in a threatning Posture, which did not hinder Apollonius from having a mind to (d) speak with him I believe also that it was said, that Miracles were done at that Tomb See (d) Philoft in the following Article

(L) His Name became that of the Supream Valour] Mr Moren pretends, without citing the Book of the Chapter, that Aulus Gellius laid, that when they would speak of any generous Soldier, they said, he is an Achilles But it is false, that Aulus Gellius says so He says only in the 11th Chapter of the 2d Book, that Sicinius Dintatus was call d the Roman Achiller, for having perform d very surprizing Actions in War. Our Author reports some Circumstances of it, taken out of that place of Aulus Gellius, without telling us from whence he takes them So that he does not cite him when he might. but when he ought not, not when he borrows his Goods from him, but when he gives him what is not his due If he had cited Scrouns (e), he would have alledg'd better Proofs Now it was not only the Martial Vigour, but also that which was shew d in the Service of Venus, that made the Name of Achilles to be given, witness that debauch'd Person, who finding himself already dead in the Parts that are nameless, says in Patronius, Funerata est illa pars corporis qua quondam ACHILLES eram Perhaps he was more vext at that, than Milo was at the lois of the strength of his Arms, and he would have feem d more blameable to Cicero than de Senect that Athlete for very good Reasons (f) Que von de Senect effe contemptior quam Milonis Crotoniare, qui cum jam senex esct, athletasque se in curriculo exercentes videret, adspexisse lacertos suos dicitur, illacrymansque dixiss, at hi quidem jam mortus sunt (Non vero tam isti quam tu ipse nugator, neque enim ex te unquam es nobilitatus, sed ex lateribus & lacertis

The Dictionary of Charles Stephens, in the Edi-(r) Tanta tion of Paris 1620 revited and corrected by Frederick Merel, Royal Professor, and in that of 1662 corrected again of a great number of Faults, as the Title says, attributes to Aulus Gellius (g) well cited, not that the generous Soldiers, but the Captains of an extraordinary Valous were call d Abilles s, and that Money was call d Achillean, because it was insuperable or when it was insuperable. The Latin Text of Charles Stephens may be understood both those ways, and I confess also, that at the Expence of a bad Situation of Words and of much inexactness, whereof a Person should appellentur & argentum lus Gellius, that which concerns that pretended Achillean Money But neither Charles Stephens, nor his Correctors, nor Mr Lloyd, nor Mr Hofman, who follow d him closely, cannot justify themselves to having taken argentum for argumentum. For the I pithet taken from Achilles, is made ule of for an prioluble O spectron And in the Schools they company call the principal Argument of a Sect, prior Which does not come in much from Achiller was an invincible Warrior, as The seed a quick Motion never so little, could never must us outsitus by it a calegorier of calegories, which cites also which teaches us that the Evil process from the put a lortoite in compatition with Assimplicial chilles, to shew that a flow Motion that should prous a Theceond a quick Motion never so little, could never must us outstript by it Calegories, which cites Aulus See also Il us very badiy, puts argumeneum, and not argumbling which teaches us that the Evil proceeds from which teaches us that the Evil proceeds from n ancient Source, that form'd as it were two Branches of Copies Some having likely lost ar-gamentum half way, by the Fault of the Printer, who substituted argentum, were the cause that their Descendants preserved that last Word from Hand to Hand, others have not yet degenerated in that regard, so that those that go to them, as Calepinar's Correctors did, avoid the Defect that flipt in the other Branch

other Branch

(M) Loud Musick very well] Mr Morer: spoke of it with very little Exactness, he said, That Homer says often, that the sound of the Lire had a marvelous Power to divert Achilles's Anger, and calm that furious Passion that gave the Trojans so much trouble He adds, That Athenaus observed it also after Theodomous But it is certain that we only ter Theopompus But it is certain that we only observe in Homer, that the Deputies of the Aimy found (1) Achilles, singing the fine Actions of (1) Tot of great Men on the Lire to divert lumiels Achilles su corpoperate being offended by Agamemnon, had at that time 729704600 abandon d the common (aufe out of Spite and An organizer I his is all that Homer tells us of it As Albert for Reflections, he makes none on the Occupations wherein the Deputies found Achiller (k) Ath name To 200-concludes from thence that Homer had a mind to 100 year and 1 hero, to moderate the violent Heat of his Anger of dea It is not true that A benaus makes that Remark at 200 years and 1 heros a tei Theopompio, and I am very much mistaken if the drov, cruic of Moieris going istray, is not a Passage of Iliad lib Vossius in the Irestite of Mutick. That Learned 9 v 186 Main having cited Athericus for the Observation that we have just now ieen, (1) continues to tay that (k) Athen the Ambassadors of the Geræ, who went for some 1 14 p Fleaty of Peice, or of Iruce, to Persons whose m 614
Wrath was to be appeared, presented themselves playing on the Lire, and alledges Athenens for his (1) Vossi-Authority, who reports it out of the 46th Book of us de Muthe History of Theopompus Mr Hofman is very sice, p 45 near in the same Livin as I have observed They The Pajwould have found their Account a little better in Sage of A.
Philostratus (m), for he observes that Chiron per- then was ceiving that Achilles could not conquer his Anger, up m taught him Musick

Some have faid, that Achiller did not fing the fine Explores of great Men on the Lire, but the Evils that Love made him juffer

Talis cantata (n) Briscide venit Achilles Acrior, & positis crapis in Hictora plestris Ille (o) Pelet remiam cecinit miserabile carmin

I believe, they are Slanders that may be retuted by I the Answer that pleander the Great made to him. that offer d him the Lite of Paris I care but little for it, I aid he to him, but I would willingly for that (n) State of Achilles, on which I fung the Aftions of the Horocs us, Silv of the former Times Plutarch, who reports the 4 1 4 Thing thus in the Life of that Prince, attributes v 35 (p) mother Aniwer to him elicwhere, to wit this I have nothing to do with it, for I have that of Achil- (o) InPriles, at the found a hireof he took his Rest, in singing apeis, 69 the Praises of valiant Persons, but this of Paris had too soft and too essemble an Haimony, on which he (p) Of A Jung Love Songs This is not the only I xample lexinder. that shews that Plutaren made himself such a Mafter of certain I icts, that iometimes he turn'd and 1 c 6 apply d them one way, and fometimes another Surely Alexander did not aniwer those two Things, and likely it is the lift that is the Invention of the Historian As for what regards these Words, 100 I have that of Achilles, it is easily believed that Alexander would have had it, but who questions but that it is very falle that he had it · Elian (q) relates the I act conformably to the first Nariative of Plutaich A (r) Commentator of Elian assures that Homer represents Achilies in divers Places linging the Exploits of great Captains to the Inc. He is inistaken, (Homes does it but in one place) and his Error being that of a Man much stronger in point of Literature, might comfort Merers if he was yet Living Kuhnir (f) does not Correct that Fault Statius, who supposes against the formal Terms of Homer, that Ahiller sing his Loves, and his Brifess during his Retreat, 'testifies in other Places, that from his most tender Youth he had employ'd his Mulical Instruments in Chiron's Cave, us if the collebrate the plear Astrong of the the Annual Line. celebrate the great Actions of the Anci-Ents

Sudor, Apollinco quam fila fonancia plettro Cum quatirem, priftofque virim mirai er i onorei I hey poguiz so

(m) In Her p 705 C see alfo A.lian. H f div

Intune,

(f Kuhmus 111 E-Irin ib

(t) State us, Achil 12 v 44'

in Bel. 3

n Ecl 1

V 34.

lum Rhateo in littore cer-nis Alciat embl 136

fortitudinis tuiffe fertur (Astilles) ut teste Gellio lib 2 C 11 ınfigni fortirudine duces Achilles appellengentum um quod sit insupe-rabile &

ınfolubik SicbiscAri-Diog Lacre ly

ın Ze

a See the Remark B of the Archilles

8 Printed at Leyden in the Year 1693 See the History of the Works of the Learned, May 1693 P

Pliny, 1 4 C 13 item c 12 Paufan 1 3 p m 102

J Mela, Scylax, p

s Autor Peripli Ponti Luxini 1b If Voftio editus Quintus Calaber Lab fin

ረ Amm Marcell 1 22 C 8 you will find hus Words in the Re-

(aa) ld 1b l 1 v r88 (66) Ph loftimus in Her p $ 172.778 146 ac tranflates, The Ancients in the fame Age with Achilles This is very equito cal; be bad better made of e ford they were con empo-

Achilles, but that very well, and also a Poetry, and pass'd for the Handsomest Man (N) of his Time. If his Beauty made him lovely to the Women, he (O) lov'd them as well on his side; and it is also said that he lov d some Persons of (P) his own Sex We shall see in the following Article what he did after his Death, and a Miracle he wrought, of which Tertullian spoke I refer you to the Homericus & Achilles of the late Mr. Drelincourt, as to a Collection of the most Compleat Literature that can be seen concerning that there of Pagani/m

A CHILLE A, an Island of the Euxine Sea, that is also call'd the Internal Heroes, the Island Macaron y, or the Island of the Blessed, Leuce, &c was according to some over against the Borystbenes, and according to others over against the Danube The Name of Achillea was given it because the Tomb of Achilles was to be seen there A, and that it was confecrated to that Hero There is or Neptune gave it him, and he obtain'd Divine Honours, a Temple, an Oracle, an Altar, Sacrifices, and what follows Some & speak of that Island as if it had been inhabited, and that there was no kind of Security to pass the Night in it, which made Persons that went on Shoar there to return on Board again toward Evening, after having seen the Antiquities of the Place, the Temple, and the Gifts that had been consecrated to Achilles. That Hero was not there

They were the Combats of Hercules, those of Pollux, and those of Theseus, that he Sung before his Mother, who came to see him in that Cave, to which he added his Fathers famous Wedding

- - Canit (aa) ille libens immania laudum Semina, qui tumida superarit justa noverca Amphytrioniades crudum quo Bebryca castu Obruerit Pollux quanto circumdata nexu Ruperit Ægides Minos brachia Tauri Maternos in fine thoros, Superisque gravatum Pelion

Yet I confess that Philostratus makes him sing divers Things under the Discipline of Chiron, that related much leis to War than to Love, Hyacinthus (bb), Narcissus, Adonis, Hilas, &c

Let us end this Remark with something that con-

Let us end this Remark with iomething that concerns the very Lire of Achilles Some say, that Corybas (a) the Son of Jasus, and of Cybele, being gone into Phrygia with his Uncle Dardanus, settled the Service of Cybele there, gave his Name to the Corybantes, who were the Priests of that Goddess, and brought the Lire of Mercury there It was kept at Lyrnessius, from whence Achilles brought it when he service on that City Happer is not of that when he feiz'd on that City Homer is not of that Opinion, feeing he says (b) that the Lire of that Hero was found in the City of Eetion, that is, in Tlebes of Phrygia, when the Greeks plunder'd

(N) For the handsomest Man of his Time] Instead of this Fast of which there are such authentick Proofs, Mr Moreri observes only that Philostratus Jajs that Achilles was of a fine Stature Achilles boots himself in the 21st Book of the Iliad, of being Great and Handsome, xalos To usy as To And when Homer had a mind to speak of Norses, he remark'd (c) that after Achilles, he was the Hindras, which fomest of all the Greeks
Vigenere Nied Season

Nigdi, ôs resiste de inp wo "Inter no de Two anno arawi, pa apoucora linhara Nireus, que formosissimus vir ad Ileum venit Cateror im Danaorum, post laudatissimum Pelidem See the Scholast of Homes on the 131st Verse of the ist Book of the Iliad, where he livs (d) that Achilles, the Handiomest of all the Heroes, had a lace to like a Woman, that it was easy tor him to pais for a Maid at the Court of Lycomedes Sea. teus fays, (c) Plurimus ille Inviels virtute decor falleast lays, (c) Plurimus ille Invites virtute decor fallique tuentes Ambiguus, tenuique le cue descrimines serus. As for his Stature, I shall not observe what Philosphratus lays in the Life (f) of Apollonius, that the Shade of Achilles being conjur'd up by that Philosopher, appear'd at first sive Cubits tall, and afterwards twelve, and of a Beauty that is impossible to be expreted. Neither will I say with I, copperent the state of the services of the service Philotopher, appear'd at first five Cubits till, and afterwards twelve, and of a Beauty that is impossible to be expieted. Neither will I say with 1, cophron, that Abilles was nine Cubits tall, that is not what we call a fine Statue. It is only good for Quintum (g) (alab r, who converted it into a Giant, and it would not be the means to justify the Sieur Morrer. Let us say then that it is very true that (b) rece let us say then that it is very true that (h) the nuthor he cites gives that Hero a fine and tall Statute, and a Face that casts forth Rays, a Nose measure hawked nor crooked, but such as it was to continue it is lkely that Pigeners translated it thus from the Latin Venton I would ruther translate in more fuch as a ought to be, and give that Signification to amplifies the Veib mess as

(0) He lov'd them as well on his fide? The Lubricity of Achilles was a forward and lasting Fruit We have seen that he got Deidamia with Child at ten Years of Age The Consequences prov'd worthy of such a speedy beginning He did not tarry long to treat Iphigenia (1) in the same kind, and if Diana thought that they had offer'd her a Virgin for a Victim in the Person of that Daughter of Agamemnen, she was taken for a Bubble, Achilles had taken good Order, that if the worst virgin for a victim in the Perion of that Daughter of Agamemnon, she was taken for a Bubble, phr Achilles had taken good Order, that if the worst came to the worst, Iphigenia should not go out of this World before having tasted the Joys of Conception, and the Pains of a Woman in Labour He saw Helens on the Walls of Troy, and became so furiously in Love with her, that he had no Rest, and that he had recourse to his (k) Mother to beg of her to find some means to make him Enjoy that Woman A sine Employ for a Mother! Theirs accepted of it, and invented a kind of Pimping, that consisted in making her Son believe that he enjoy'd the Fair One But it was a meer Dream, and yet that imaginary Pleasure appeas'd Achiller's Torments Tho' they took away his Brisser, yet he did not lie alone, he had too much care of his Provisions for the Bed He could find relays at Home in Case of Necessity, Diomedea (1) took the Place of Brisser. As soon as he had seen Polyxena, the Daughter of Priamus, he would make her her Wise. the Place of Brises As 100n as he had seen Pelyxena, the Daughter of Priamus, he would make her his Wise, and not being able to farisfy that Desire in his Life-time, he requir'd after his Death that she should be Sacrific d to him, (m) that he (m) Senemight Injoy her in the Elysian Fields He had so ca, Troad well deserved in this World to be call'd (n) aparities, v 945 απλγης, ακρατης, εξωπκωτωί Θ (o), that it was thought he would have need of Women even in the other, and therefore they Marry d him there with Medea, and with Helena He was accus d (p) with Medea, and with Helens He was accused (p) of being fallen in Love with the Amazone Penthefiles, a little after having taken her Life away, and to have fatisfy'd his Passion on the Body of that Woman newly kill d We shall speak of it in the Article of Thersites See also the Article of Tance.

(P) Lov d some Persons of his own Sex] Some will have it (q) that Iroilus, the Son of Priamus, died imother d in the Arms of the lascivious Achilles, who would have violated him but found too much Reinfance A very malicious Turn is given to the Choice that Ajax juggested to Menelaus, he advis'd him to cause the News of the Death of Patroclus to be carried to Achilles by the handsome Antilochus Philofiratus, (r) who hys clearly enough what fort of acquaintance there might be between the Hero and the Messenger that was chosen, is mithe Hero and the Meilenger that was chosen, is mi-flaken about the Author of the Choice, for it was not Menelaus, as he says, that cast his Lyes on Anti-lochus, it was Ajax (f) that proposed it to Menelaus But it is chiefly with respect to Patroclus, that they have given a Criminal Turn to the Passion of Achilis Plate (t) takes his part upon this against Eschylus Lenophon (n) is of Plate & Opinion in it Sexual Empiricas (w) handles the Matter like a Man of his Prosession. I mean pyrrhonically But Lucian and Profession, I mean pyrrhonically But Lucion and Priossification (x) declare him guilty of it One (y) (q) Service them pretends that Achilles was not wary enough us in Lycon lamenting his Friend's Death, and that he suffection in Lycon Truth phron, v

I lib 4 c c Vigenere citis Book, and says, That the Shade ap
y traff soft' hight of Seven Cubits (g Lib 1 v 514 1 3 v 716, lost in Epist p 903 Aly) Lucianin Amorib p 1071 trad Salm.

(1) In Heroc p 705

(1) Vide ın Lyco-

(x) LibaniusProg р 101 В & р Declam IV p 256 B & Orat IX p 258 C

(o) Plutaich in Amator p 761 D

(p) Tzeto 7es in Lycophr Libanius. Prog P P 153 A

alone, the Souls of divers other (A) Heroes a had also their Abode there, and as for a Dionys him he must needs have been there in Body and Soul, seeing he & married Helena there Perieg him he must needs have been there in body and Soul, leeing he is married Helena there aring and had a Son by her, whose Name was Euphorion, whom Jupiter loved criminally, and the high without success, and whom he kill'd with a Thunderbolt to punish him for his Resultal and Photop parts say, that Achilles had Iphigenia to Wise in it, whom Diana had transported there, after hong communicated the Gift of an Immortal Youth to her, with the Divine Niture. Others in short will have it, that the Wise he mirried in the other World was I theralis the Fances inclea, but the most Common Opinion give him Heleni to Wise It is a factors.

The Opinion that Philostratus and a Paulanias have followed. The hist of reports, That of lactices are there landed in that Island could not find upon the same Diversity would not find a sum the same Diversity would not find the same Diversity would not find a same Diversity would not find the same Diversity would not same diversity that the same Diversity would not same diversity that the same Diversity would not same diversity that the same diversity would not same diversity to the property of the Opinion that Philostratus and a Paulanias have followed. The first ζ reports, and if Strangers that landed in that Island could not full again the same Day, they must pass the Night in their Ships, where Achilles and Il lina came to see, and drink with them, schol and did not only sing their Loves, but also Homer's Verses. He adds, that it that time Apollon Achilles cultivated the Talent of Poetry (wherewith (B) Cilliope had gratified him) with Achilles cultivated the Talent of Poetry (wherewith (B) Cilliope had gratified him) with the more Care because he was not hinder dby Warlike Occupations. He adds to the them. fo much the more Care, because he was not hinder d by Warlike Occupations He adds & In He also that those that Sail'd near the Shoar heard a Musick that gave them Admiration role mix'd with Horror, and that they heard also a noise of Horses, a clashing of Arms, and warlike Cries Mx mus Tyrius (() and Arri mus, fry things that are no less surprizing No doubt but it was there, that z chilles wrought the Miracle (1) that Icitia n () some spoke of He wrought many more of them, whereof that which he atches d against lared

Truth to escape in these Words upper to the own to i, fimorum or tuorum since conversationellor. What shall I say of those I wo Veries of the 44 Engran of the Element. ies of the 44 Epigram of the Eleventh Book of Mar-

Brifeis multum quamvis aversa j weret,

Anda propier levis amicus erit

(A) The Souls of divers other Horocs had aifs their abode there] This appears by a passage of Pausanias, (a) where he relates that I conymus, General of the Crotomates, being gone to the Island of Lince to take a Remedy there that should cure him of a Wound, reported, That he had seen there Achilles, the Iwo Ajax's, Patroel is Antisochus, &c I wonder that Ammania Marcellin is forg to that, in the place where he reports that that Island was a dange-tous place (b) in las Taurica infula I euce sine habita-toribus ullus Achilli est dedicata, in quam si fuerint qui-dam force delati, vissi antiquit i is vestigius temploque & donaris eidem heroi consecratis vesperi repetuni navis, aunt enim non sine disci rine vita illic quemquam per-

(B) The Talent of Poetry wherewith Calliope had grat fied him I Some Persons will have it, that when Plutarch relates that Minerva the Goddes of Sciences, convey'd Drops of Nectar and Ambroliz to Achilles, who would not eat any thing, he inti-nuites to us, that thir Hero had in Universal Science (c) H A Duva To A MAG Verlas The ascortiage versage un mortious of Troom Minerolla instillation nutrimentum respuentem nectare & amerosia instillation alnutrimentum respuentem nectare & amorosia instillatis allus. It is one of the Authorities employ d by Iorenzo (d) Crasso, to prove that Achilles ought to be placed among the Greek Poets. A quibbling Mun might call it an infued Science, or else there was never any such thing. But however it be, Platarehs Words are of no use to prove what Loren o Crasso interesting them. They are to be understood of a true Nourishment of the Body, as appears by the roth Book of the Iliad from whether they are taken 19th Book of the Ihad from whence they are taken Homer (e) tells us, That superer having perceived that Achilles would neither Lat nor Dank after the Death of Patroclus, bid Monors infule Nellar and Ambrolis into his Body, that he should not be first d to De th (f) Recourse must be hid to Poilestrius to prove that Hero to have been a Poet He is a Witness that speaks very clearly about it (C) Maximus Tyrius, and Arribus 1 II The first tay, (g) that Achilles lived in an Island near the Lexine Sea, opposite to the Dinube and had he he had Temples and Alrais there, that it would have been trouble tome to have landed there before having offer dear the standard the figure of a fair young Man, who dane dear walke Dance in her allen Almany tome hand a warlike Dance in h s golden Atmour, tome head him Sing without feeling him, others both five and heard him. It happened that somebody being filled alleep in that Island without thinking of it, was awaked by achilles, and conducted into a lent where they gave him a Supper Pariodia nl'd out the drink, and Achilles plaid on the lyie, Their and the other Gods were prefent drinks (2) had heard (g) M 1X1drink, and Achilles plaid on the Lyie, Thets and the other Gods were prefent Arrims (3) had heard fay, and believed it, that those that were enforced on that Itland by any Storm, went to consult the Oracle of Achilles, to know whether it was expedient for them to Sacrifice the Victim to him, that they should chuse themselves in the Pasture, and that at the m sTyrian in Periplo Ponti Luxini fime time they configned the Price on the Altar the what they thought the villae of it might be, that if makes the Oia le rejected their Propolition they added fomething more to that Price, until they found by his aquielding that they hid attained to the just Value, that this being done, the Victim prefented it felf in the Temple, and did no more run away, that Achilles appear d in a Die in to those that came near the Island, and directed them to the most convenient place to Land, that he flewed himself also the Impension retimes to those that were twike, Cr. Among for Hadrisorher Reasons, Arrimus thought this worthy of Cical and Schiller died young, and had been very Calcubon Lair, and so confint in his love and Friendship, in Sputialist, and so constitution in the Love and Friendship. that he would also die tor the Object of his I ove we know to she is to the Object of his I ove vocation of this Word, and the least Reslection on the Danger to which he exposed himself to Revenge the Death of Patro lis, would fuffice many Persons to place (1) dirianus amony those that fig, the the Possion of those Two Perions went beyond Friendthip See the Remark P of the Article 11 1161 and hereunder (1) one of the Wonders that An anno-reported. It is that of those Brids that swept the Lemple of Adalas every day in the Island of zahil

The Mrale t'at Fertullian spoke of Mr Morers tull his observes that Fert ill an informs us, (1) I hat A hides de anima, cui da Champion in a Dieum, whole Name was c 46 Cleonymus. That is to fay very likely, that Cleony—(n) Allama thought he saw Ach lles in a Dieum who taught trusted in the necessary Remedy. I stall in makes use of the Hospital and the metals in the necessary of the large of t ms thought he saw sets ues in a him the necessary Remedy I stull m makes use of that I act, and of divers o hers such like against the Epicurems, that would not acknowledge any thing. That Adventure is but the country of the countr Supernitural in Diesins. That Adventure is but little known for nothing of it is found in a great Number of Authors that have amply spoken of A-chiller Print is in his Commentary on Iertullian refers us only to Homer who to the best of my icmembrance, does not speak of that Dream A Palage cited by Leo (m) All vius gives some light into that I act it bears that I conym as General of those is a Morror of Crosona, in the Wai against those of Lori, was the wounded without knowing by whom, in attacking a wids Fp Party of the I nemics Froops, that never intrench d fill 1,p,, themselves, because they were Consecuted to the and the Harons whole Party through the Best stream was thought to be follows. Heroes, whose Protection was thought to be suffient, that that General finding no Cure, confulted the Oracle of Delphi, which inform d him. That A chiller who had Wounded him would also (use him, upon this he vent to the Island of I noe to male his Prayers to that Hero that he saw some Heroes in his Sleep, that Achilles cur d him, that others had order'd him to affeover certain things to Men that Helens in particular chaig d him to tell Stefachothat he flould Retract if he would recover his Sight It is clear that this History and the which (n) Pau-fan as and (o) Conon relate in the time in the main But in Paufanias it is his the Son of Oilcus that alleages is wounded I conjuin that was wounded and curd by of a Comtat Mary but Autolon I here are some other Di-mary in the Mary but Autolon. vertices that I do not icmaik, contenting my felf to Phadrum conjecture, that the Cleonymus of Iertullian came I litonis from that I conjmus Laftly, (p) the Author cited met print by Leo Allat uslays thing that I cught not to fored the Persons though t nakes the Elocy of 1ter th Name of to make his Court to mum, vit Hidriani, c 14 & Triftan Comment Hifloug t (k) In the Kamarl 1 145 (a) Piupag 102 (o) Apud Photium (od 186 Se Meri up Jonn M fak s Vigenere Paufania and (p) His Hormas 1/ Natige t/at Leo Allatius

(a) Pauian lib 3 p 102 (b) Amm Marcell 11b 2. C 8 p m (c) Plu turch de facte in or he lunx, pag 938 edit Par 1624 (d) Istoria de Poeti Greci, p 6 where he re orts the Larin Version of Plutaich, as if there was aluit, and not alluit A-Least as (1) O11Ex-

lay TE X

allC+ 92111V EPO CIVAV

Era overs SHIJETO I ia un un

ALMOS BAN-

nectarque

& ambrofiam ama-bilem infilla in pectora ut

ne iplum

funes oc-

Homer Il 19 % , 47

lostr He-

Achil tol

m , 19 & in \cop=

C) Aru

to tol

cupet

101

Ŀι

a See the Remark

(a) Philoftrat in

Neoptol

fol 341 to 2 edit

111 4to

(b) Plin

lib 10

cap 29

(c) Salmaf exer-

m in So-lin cap

19 pag 215

(d) In Pe-

riplo Pon-Philostratus faid almost the famething In that Iflund (fiys

he according to the Iranslation of VIgenere, t 2 fol 337 verto of

tle Edit

certun

on of white generatiare Aqua-

tick, and finell of the Sca, les makes ule of to his Sacred iwasping it with ther Wind of their Wings, need

Grove.

17 4to)

there is a

the Impiety (E) of the Amazones that would plunder his Temple, was the That which concerns the Flight (F) of Birds was wrong related by Mr Maray t the least. moreover gives us a separate Article of a (G) Fountain Achillea, wherein A wash'd himself, and which had a marvelous Property Achilles was not the only wrought Miracles in the Island of Leuce, his Wise Hilena concern'd a her get, which is, that Homer keeping some Sheep near Achilles's Tomb, obtain'd by his Offerings and Supplications, that that Hero should appear to him, but he shewed himself surrounded with so much Glory, that Homer cou'd not bear the Splendor of it, for he was not only dazzl'd, but also Blinded by that

Sight

(E) That which he atchiev'd against the Impiety of the Amazones] Let me be permitted to relate the hast according to the Version of Vigenere His Author (arches they against add That the Amazones) thor speaks thus, after having faid, That the Amazones caus'd Ships to be made to go and Plunder the Temple of Achilles (a) Having landed in that Island, the first thing they did was to bid these Strangers of the Hellespont to cut down all the Irees round about the I comple But their Axes flying back upon them, destroyed Timple But their Axes flying back upon them, destroyed them on the Spot, and they sell stone-dead under the Trees Whereupon the Amazones crowding about the Temple, sell a Spurring their Hors s, but Achilles looking on them with an evil Eye, in the same manner as when he rushed upon the Scamander before Troy, did so frighten their Hossis, that their Fright proved stronger than the Bridle so that prancing and bouncing up, and thinking that what they carried on their backs was a new and extraordinary weight, they threw down the Amazones, and like wild Brass trody them under-foot, their Main standing on end Beafts trode them under-foot, their Main standing on end through the great Tury they were in, and their Ears being prock'd up, and thus like cruel Lions they tone them to pieces, devoured their Arms and Legs, and made a most limentable Slaughter of their Bowels When they had fill d their Bellies with that Flesh, they fell a prancing and galloping through the Island, full of Rage and Fury, with bloody Lips, till they came to the top of a Cape, from whence perceiving the smooth Sea, and taking it for a fine large Plain, they ran headlong into it, and fo they died for the Ships of the Amazones, an impetuous Whirlwind falling upon them (when they were empty and defittate of all the necessary things to steer them,) made 'em knock one against another, as if it had been in a great Sea sight, so that they were broke and dashed to pieces, especially those in hose sides were struck by the Beaks and Proms of other Ships, as it commonly happens to Ships that have no Pilots. So that all the Wicks meeting towards the Limple, where there were many Persons half dead, and breathing still, and many Members horribly scattered up and down with the Flish that the Horfes being not used to and nown with the tilp that the Horls being not upta to fuch Food had rejected, that holy Place must needs have been very much prophaned. But Achilles did soon purge and expeate it, as it was an easy thing to do, in an issand of such small extent, against which the Sea did beat on all sides. Achilles having therefore let in the Waves, every thing was mashed and made clean in a trice (F) That which concerns the Flight of Birds] which Morers mikes Pliny 13, 11 st no Bird is seen to fl, there, is wrong Reported Here are Pliny's Words (b) Perdices non transpolint Baotia fines in At-Budsthat tica, nec ulla avis in Ponto, infuli qua sepultus est A-chilles, facratam e ædem I hat is, Partridges do not sty beyond the Frontiers of Bastia in Attici, and no Birassis beyond the Temple of Achilles, which is in that Achilan Island of the I uxine Sea Salmasius (c) pretends, that by these Words must be understood, that no Bird ever iais dats slight over that Temple, and he proves by a Pallage of A conus Caryli is, that this was anciently reported Aid moreover as he proves by a formal Pallage d) of Arrianis, that the Birds came into that I emple every Morning to featter the Water wherewith they hid wetted their Wings, and to sweep the Temple stockward with them, he infults Solinus for having said, That no Bird comes into the Temple of Achilles, and that it any one happens to come near it, he flies from it again immediately Salmasius tips, That Solines has nothing but what he borrow d from Plin; and that the latter find the fame thing as Antigonus (aryflius, but it is more likely that Pluy had not the thought of difficults (asystems in view, and that solinus had read that I act elicwhere, adorn d with more particular (ircumstances than those of Plin). For what Negligence would it not be in the latter, it to inform us that the Birds did i of fly over a Temple he had made use of an Expression which signifies that they never flew beyond it? little the same, that there is noting than never to go over a House, and your it behind It is not more difficult to file of the flying above a House, without passing of the Moreover the Ancients lov d so much to diversify Miracles, that it is not very likely, after what was Reported from the time of Antigenus Caryfius, that they tarried until Solinus to relate that Birds fled at they tarried until Solinus to relate that Birds ned at the Sight of the Temple of Achies However it be, it cannot be provid by Plantage and Solinus, that the Birds came into it, and all, Mr Morers makes Pliny 1ay more than he did, and suffer'd himfelf to be deceived by these Words of Charles Sephens in the 2 abovecited Editions, Achilla insulan nulla avus transvolat Plin 10 29 10 But he will nulla avus transvolat Plin 10 29 10 But he will take his Revenge with usury of Mr Hofman, who ittributes the same thing to Strabe also It is doubt-less for having seen that Mi Moreri cited Strabe immediately after Pliny, and for want of taking notice, that that Citation of Strabe, with that of ponius Mela that follows it, relates to other things contain'd in that Article (e) Nullam his avem vo-lare, (fays he,) Plin l 10 c 19 habet & Strabo, l

(e) Hofman voce Achillea

(G) A separate Article of a Fountain Achillea] That Article appear'd to me at first a Subject to be Criticiz'd It seem'd to me, that that Fountain was not call'd fo in a proper Substantive or substantissed Name, but by way of Lpithet, or of an adjective Name, common to every thing that belongs to Achilles In a word, Fons Achillese, and the Fountain ot Achilles seem'd the same thing to me Now as its would be ridiculous to make an Article of facilities for that Fountain of Ja ob spoken of in the 4th ter of (f) St John, which a Latin I ranslator might call fontem Jacobeum if he pleased, it seem'd to (f) Those me also that none ought to have been made of the that translator what Franslator where the of same than I pithet Achilleus, that Freinshimius makes use of sace, there speaking of the Fountain of Achilles But after have was a ing confulted (g) Athenous, I found that that Criticolin would be dubious, because it appeared to me of faceb that it might be contested, whether that I ountain there, was cill'd 'Annies statement of aceb
that it might be contested, whether that I ountain there, was cill'd 'Annies statement of adjectively, would de was cill'd 'Anniesov fathantively, or adjectively, would do and whether it may not appear in its Alphebetical tester to Order, with as much saion as the Islands of Achil- say, Jacob's lea It is to be found in the (b Geographical Treasure of Or elius, under the word Achilleum, and afterwards under the word Achilleus fons, which is however better than the Achillea, fons Mileti, of Mr

I do not examine whether (1) Freinshemius has well explained the Passage of Athenaus, that regards the Well Singularities of that I ountain. I am satisfied with there that siying, I hat Athenaus ought at least to have been was call'd cited, as Preinshemius did, that is to say in the 6 Chapter, and not in the 2 of the 2 Book Mr Hosman I ouncites like Mi Moreri, and they were preceded in it tain by Ortelius It is but a small Matter, it it be compar'd with the Error of Morers, who says Austobulus the Son of Cassander, instead of Aristobulus Native of

We cannot complain too much of the Negligence of those that make Additions to Dictionaries, for very often they flitch things to them that are quite contrary to those that are already there, and generally they forget to accommodate the Addition in such manner to the ground on which they let it, that no 1611 in Dissonance may result from it

(1) Primo ne medium measo ne a serce t imum For Fxample, those that e slarged the Dict onary insh Supof Charles Stephens, made no difficulty under the word Achillea to thrust these words a supplier to thrust these words a supplier to thrust the least Alexandra and without the least Alexandra caractan in substitutionaries point, so a carolo stepheno Cicarian in sus Dictionaries point, so a carolo stepheno Cicarian in sus Dictionaries point, so a carolo stepheno Cicarian in sus Dictionaries point, so a carolo stepheno con the substitutionary con the Charles Stepheno carological stephenomen and a Charles Stepheno carological stephenomen and a Charles and a charles and a charles a substitution and a charles a charles a charles and a charles is to make Charles Steph is i peak of his own Dictionary in the Dictionary it felt, as if he cited another Work, and yet he seems uncertain in citing hierarch which he had advanced without any sign of tainty in the place that he Cites was a m I ounta n was there, or like the Port-Royal. I here was a facob's

-וקצי דווי 'A MAN plen in loct

(g) Fv M1-

red with fin-water, for to that pui pose they fly little 1-bove the ground

them, as weathall fay in the Article of Stefichorus, Plenty (H) is more prejudicial here Rigalt than Scarcity

A C H M E T, the Son of Serrin There is a Book of his making that contains the e Leun-Interpretations of Dreams according to the Doctrine of the Indians, Persians, and Fgp chius, Tions It was Translated from Greek into Latin about the year 1160 by Ieo Tuscus a, artians form Bus Dedicated it to Hugo (A) Echerianus It was B Publish'd in Latin in the Year 1,77 Purch point sery mutilated Manuscript that was found in γ the Library of Simbuens, but it was us, Advertigiven as a Work of Apomasares of The learned Leunclavius informed the Publick of that 131 c 14 Miss contains in his Annals of the Turks Mr Rigault is the first that published that Abuma-A Work in Greek Because of the Conformity of Matters he added it to the Artemidorus fher seu that he caus'd to be printed at Pars in the year 1603. He alter d nothing in the Latin Albuma-Translation of Leunclavius, and made ζ no Notes on the Text. He believes that Achmet are Can all Own en the Son of Seirim, is the same that Gesner mention d. The Achimet of Gessner was the in Oxon end Son of Habramius, and a Physician, and Compos'd a Work divided into Seven Books, Kignula in the Achimet of Don Done Regardle and entituled, Peregrinantium Viatica, which was in Greek in the Library of Don Diego ibid Hurtado de Mendoza, the Emperor s Ambassador at Venice, when Gesner compos d his Book (Tet tis John Anthony Sarrazin 8 had also the same Work, as he assures in his Notes on Dioscori- Suahe did The two Greek Copies of the King of France's I ibrary, on which Mi R giult publish'd his Book of Dreams, do not contain that the Author call d himself Achmet, the Oxford Son of Seirim It is true, that as the beginning is wanting, it may be conjectured that p so the Author's Name might appear at the head But lastly, "Gesting the Author's Name might appear at the head. when they were whole, that Author's Name might appear at the head But lastly, "Gesing those are but Surmisses that may be fortissed by another Consideration, which is, that the Name of Achmet is write with a fresher Hand on one of the Two Copies 1 hat θ_{Rigaul} Name did not appear in the Copy that Leo Tuscus made use of in the 12th Century, to ibid make his Translation This is inferred from the Italian Translation that we have of that Prince Tricallo Work, compos'd by Tric for Mr Rigault took the Piologue out of it, and give it in des Cere-Litin, although he supposes that it is not Achmet himself, but Lev Iu/cus that compos'd firs, of It & Barthus & had the Translation of that Leo, and believes that his Copy was written in that Translator's Time The Samples that he gives of them make it appear with the E that it was not translated literally, and that many Things we c retrenched from it. That blioth of Du Verwhich is considerable is, that the Names of Achmet and of Schim are in the Little of the Manuscript with those of Syrnacham, of Baram, and of I as ph in The first μ of these three 940 last Persons was Interpreter of Dreams at the Court of the King of the Indies, and the Ex Pref second at the Court of Sugnifian, King of Person, and the third, at the Court of Pharaph, Riggish second at the Court of Suanisan, King of Persia, and the third, at the Court of Pharaub, King of Egypt r Barthius conjectures from thence, that Achmet and Sermwere also two fupra Interpreters of Dreams in some Barharian Court However it be, the Work was com- u syrbapil d by a Christian, for the Author begins it \(\xi\) in the Name of the Holy Trinity Mr Rigault looks upon the Greek Text only as an Ancient Translation of the Work The Ocolor relationship. riginal was in Arabick

Lambeesus makes Achmet to flourish in the 9th Century, at the Court of Mamoum, Caliph of Babylon Mr du Cange is not of that Opinion See his Greek Glossary at the beginning

Word manier

A C I D A L I U S (Valens) would have been one of the best Criticks of these last Ages, if a longer Life had permitted him to bring the Tilents . he had received from Nature to perfection. He was born at Wistoch, in the Mirch of Brandenburgh and Esection having feen divers Universities of Germany, Italy, and of some other Countries, where end of the he made himself (A) much belov d, he stopp'd at Breslaw, the Capital of Silosu He waited a pretty long time for an Employ there, but as nothing came, he went over to the cens Sum-

(a) T L1vius Decad 3 1 4

inProxm

(H) Plenty is more prejudicial here than Scarcity] If the Reader finds in this Work divers Prodigies, an I divers Miraculous Fractions, it is not a fign that I uivers Miraculous I raditions, it is not a fign that I would make them pass for true, I fear no Accusers on that side. If my Intention was such, I would relate but very few of them. I am very sensible that in those kind of Mutters, Credulity is the Source of Multiplication, and that there is no better Nursery (a) than that, but at last it is abus'd with so much excess, that all those are cur d that are not incurable. Credulity is a Mother whose own Fecundity stifles her early or late in the Minds of those that stifles her early or late in the Minds of those that make use of their Reason So that it would have been the Interest of the Pagins that had a mind to deify their Heros, to hive attributed but few Miracles to them, the Maxim πλεον ήμισυ πιί] s, dicles to them, the Maxim $\pi\lambda\epsilon o$? nuov πvi s, dimidium plus toto, and that other, ne quid nimis, were feafonable here. Those that have so much multiplied the Holy Winding-Sheets, the Images of the Holy Virgin made by St. Iuke, the Hairs of the same Saint, the Heads of St. John Baptist, the Pieces of the True Cross, and an hundred Things of that nature, ought also to think on those Two Maxims, for by redoubling the Doses, they have enervated their Venom, and supply'd both the Poyson and the Antidote at one time, (b) Insa sibilat magnitude Achilles had the same Fate in the Island of Liuce as in going to Troy. The same Miracles that could deserve the Readers, could also undeceive them, as the same Spear wherewith he had wounded Telephus, supply'd him with a Plaisser that cur'd the Wound (b) Florus supply'd him with a Plaister that cur'd the Wound

Inlines (c) Achilleo que guondam fecciat hosti, Vulneris auxilium Pelias basta tulit Nysur (d) & Emonia juvenis qua cuspide vulnus Sensirat, hac ipsa cuspide sinst open But I don't consider that the number of those who dis-

abuse themselves by the multiplication of Prodigies is fo fmall, in comparison of those that do not dis-buse themselves, that it is not worth while to alter ones Course, and to take the Two Mixims that I have mention d for one's Polar Star, in making (4) the Fleet of those Merchandises to fail We shall fee a Fallity of Camerarius in the Remark (2) of the (1) Ovid Article of Pyrrhus, King of Epirus, concerning a pre-tended Miracle of our Achilles Amer 1 : tended Miracle of our Achilles

(A) To Hugo Echerianus] Barthius (f) calls him Hugonem Eteriarium, and fays that he wis in Excellent Author Scriptorem avo suo luculentum. There lent Author Scriptorem evo suo luculentum There pert 2 is a Fault of Impression in Barthius, as well as in these Words of Mr Rigault, Hi spin Ech riano dedicavit It ought to have been Huponiem Eterianum, (I ask Hugoni Eteriano Alatius in the 11th (hap of the Suntar Second Book de perpetuo conf nfu Ecl fix Occidentalis for se & Orientalia, writes Hugo Astherianus wrong Baroni- he rsmission. nus, but Eterianus is more correct. It is the Name please, for of an Ecclesiafical Author of the 12th Century the Non-This was communicated to me by Mr de la Mon- I nie of

(A) Where he made himself much beloved The consideration that the Illustrious Persons of I aly hid (f) Barth for him, may be seen by the Correspondency which Advertar he kept by Letters with Vincent Pinelli, Jerom Mriuri- 131 6 14 of the 2 3 and 4Chapo Adolei-Com-& eruditionis Thuan 1 113 p m 687

(d)

this I gure

& Barth us had writ this with but Hand on the Copy of Acidalius's Poems Teste Konig Bibl nov p 6 β Ubi fupra y Seethe Remark D

(sa)Valens Acidal in Lbift b 209, 215 (a) Apud Konig p ad fluvium cognommem Episcopi Wratiflaviensis iedes Bine in Cluverii Introd 13 i 13 p 196 edit Amst el 1697 (e)P 228 318 (d) Christian Aci dalius in præfat Valentis Acidalii, Hanovia editarum 1606

(c) Id 1b

in Statitra culti rican

fert de Poet p (1)InClau-Konig ubi fupra (w)Christ Acidal ubi lupia

Communion of Rome, where he foon found the Rectorship of a (B) School. It is said, that before four Months were hardly expir'd, a very strange Accident happen'd to him that before four Months were nardly expired, a very strange Accident nappend to his He follow'd the Procession of the Holy Sacrament, and on a sudden he fell into a Phre zy. He was carried home, and died soon after. Some said that (C) he had kill'd self a It was pity, for he had Wit, and was a very Laborious Man. That gree plication was the cause of his Death, if we believe Thuanus B, who says having sat up too late in composing his (D) Divinations on Plantille (E) subject to a Distemper of which he died in three Days, the analysis of the same wift entred (E) into his 20th Year. We have several 2 B He was just entred (F) into his 29th Year. We have several > B im. A small Piece printed in 1595 to shew that Women are not Rational Affine felle homines, was falsly (G) ascribed to him I have read someway es non that he (H) was alu, Antony Riccobonus, Ascanius Persus, &c he (aa) had liv d three Years in that Country

(B) The Rectorship of a School] Barthius affirms it,

(a) he says, Rector Schoola Neussana factus I believe he ought to have said Neissana factus I believe he ought chalius always calls Nyssa in his Letters, is three or four Leagues from Breslaw The Bishop of that (b) Name resides there He that was there at that time had John Matthew Wacker for his Chancellor, who loved the Sciences and the Learned He lor, who lov'd the Sciences and the Learned He call'd Acidalius to Neisse, and lodg'd him at his House See (c) Acidalius s Letters I have not observed in those that he writ from that Place, that he ever mention'd the Rectorship of the School School

(C) That he had kill d himself] Christian Acidalius, the Brother of Valens, durit not ipeak the Word, when he complain'd of the Calumnies that were spread abroad concerning his Brother's Death, but it must be no longer question d, after what Barthius writ in one of his Books, that the Subject of his Complaints was the Report that was spread, that Acidalius had kill'd himself, a Thing that occasion d many Exclamations in the Pulpit See here how Christian Acidalius speaks of it, after having faid that his Brother was pompously buried (d) Us mirari fatu nequeam calida multorum in judicando nimium pracipitantium & temerariorum ingenia, qui & ipsius morbi & loci etiam sepe ignari quicqu d maledicendi li-bido dictavit, vil sama que Tam sicti pravique tenax quam nuncia veri, de obitu ipsius Sp 11/it, propagare porro in exter is etiam regiones & propugnare, imo nescio quas non tragadias ctiam in concionibus ad plebem, ubi regnare solent excitare non erubueruni He does not deny that his Brother had been light-headed, and that it had disorder'd his Mind , Gravissimum illud f brium acutarum symptoma pariphrenitidem aliquotics scrift, quod extremum malo-rum animam citam sua sede escrit (e) But he main-tains that very Able Physicians, and Mr Wackers I amily, at whose House Mr Falens lay sick, assisted him till he died Peihips there is nothing about which Lame reports more lastinges than about the which I ame reports more l'allities than about the Sickness and Deith of Illustrious Persons, where-tore Preachers, and all Moralists in general, ought to be very reserved in their Resections on it. to be very referved in their Reflections on it One cannot too much distrust the Rash Credulty, or the Malicious Art of those kind of Newsmong-

(D' H : Divinations on Plautus] On the one fide (b) H r Divinations on Plautus] On the one fide (f) Valens he had the Satisfaction to fee them (f) publish d in Acidal Lpift p Displaying of Francfort, and on the other, the Displaying of making an hundred Complaints against the Slowness of his Bookseller In a word, they did not appear till after his Dearthus fets a value on that Work, Pauci, says he, (g) eum In iword, Comici locum affecuti sunt solus Acidalius rettum fensum percepit, ut alia multa in Comico Mr Teissier (h) lays, That the Commentary of Acidalius on Quintus Cursius is much esteemed He dedicated it on the Bishop of Breslaw, who rewarded him well for it, as it appears from the Author's I hanks in his 80th Letter. He made Notes on Isciens, on the 12 Pinegyricks, and on Velleus Paterellus, besides Speeches, Letters, and Poems (1) This last Work inserted in the Delights of the German Poets, contains Epick Verses, Odes, and Fpigrams, which Bornich us does not (k) much value. His Dissertation de constitutione carminis elegiaci ple des (1) Barthur on bius (E

(E) He became subject to a Distemper] Thumus does not say what that Distemper was, but we know that Acidalius he ited his Blood in fuch manner, by fitting dian apud up late, whilit he commented Plautus, that from that Konig time he became subject to Fevers This we learn from his (m) Brother Uratiflavia qua Silesierum Metropolis per sesquiannum plus minus utrumque se mibi pra-stitit, (præceptorem & patrem,) donec inde Nissam evocatus familiari morbo suo, quem ex nimiu vigihu in adornandu Plautinu Divinationibus suu contraxerat, biliosi alias etiam babitus juvenus, FEBRI SCILICET ACUTISSIMA opprimeretur. He was more than once grievously sick in the was his constant Illness in that Countrate p 97 and 112 of his Letters

(F) He was just entred into to 29th Year] Thus I render Thuanus's Latin Words, cum vix annum 28 excessisses.

excessifier Du Rier renders them, having not attained to his 28th Years Let the Readers judge whether he has hit the true Sense of Thuanus Mr Bailles (n) fays that Acidalius was but 27 Years and some Months old Perhaps he found out that Thuanus had not been exactly inform'd of that young Author's Age

(G, Was falsly ascribed to him] Gisslerus cleared him from that falle Imputation, as it appears from these Words of Placeius (0), Prioris (p) author quemedo (0) Placeius de Anonynon ex vero sit habitus Valens Acidalius, vide apud cius de Geislerum deadis 3 n 8 I shall speak of that AnonyDissertation in the Article of Gediccus, but I must mis p 72
here observe how it came to be ascribed to Acidali-Being defirous to indemnify the Bookfeller, who had printed his Quintus Curtius, and who often complain'd (q) that he had been a Lofer by it, he complain'd (a) that he had been a Lofer by it, he complain'd (a) the Rook I am speaking heres nor happen'd to get a Copy of the Book I am speaking of, which had been already transcribed by several People He read it, and being well-pleafed with it, he transcrib'd it, and presented the Copy to the Bookseller, as a Piece that would turn to good Account However, he did not tell him to print it He thought, without doubt, that it was sufficient to let him know that it would make Amends for the Loss he had sustained, but he told him, that it was Lois he had fulfained, but he told him, that it was his Business to see what he was to do about it, and to consider whether the Satyrical Strokes of that Piece would not bring him into I rouble. This Discourse did not discourage the Bookseller, he made all the haste he could to get that Dissertation printed. As soon as it came out, People did mightly explain against the Bookseller was professionally printed As soon as it came out, People did mightily exclaim against it, the Bookseller was prosecuted for it, and because he confess'd of whom he had the Copy, they invessed terribly against Valens Acidalius, who was amazed to see People so angry for some Witty Conceits (r) Obsupesco ad judicia saculi nostri, & tam irritables animos illorum (bonos non tango) Stodocy uparam foces nemo fere jam admittit, & ex levissima quisque re gravem calumniandi caussam & ansam saptas. He desir d his good Friend Monavium to intercede for the Bookseller with the Magistrates and Professors of Leipsick, and to prevent their doing any thing that might bring a Disgrace upon himself. He was afraid that his Enemies would not be contented with the many Aspersions they had cast be contented with the many Aspersions they had cast upon him, nay, he fear'd that they would raise the Mobb against him, and of all Things in the World he defired to have nothing to do with the Preachers (f) Nomen meum sic traductum sam in vulgus calumniosis (f) Ibid sabulu satus sit, quod ist mio plus satis ulcerius ne quid sur ori populari concedatur. In primis a Tueologis & Cone on storious ne quid nociatur mihi, cum quibus nole committe, nec quicquam magis opto quam illorum, Tril unitiis edict s nunquam m sceri, n.c. scripting He died some Months after, and because inual occasioned by the publishing of the fill fresh in every one's Memory, People were the more dispos'd to descant upon the Circumstances of his Death (t) Que calumniarum & mendaciorum lina inde potissimum nata est, quod recens adhuc est fa. Acidal bula illa in Apologetica epistola satis risutata, qua mula in Prast torum animis altenimis insederar, ut fueile estet improbation quidois in invidiam trahere, core e is prosendere, pistol plaustro quasi calumn ari. To conclude, I stall serve, that he affirms the Difference had plaustro quasi calumn are. To conclude, I stall serve, that he affirms this Differtation had be handed about for a considerable time, and that in all likelihood it had been written in Po and

(n) Baille Jugem fur les Poet n 1346

effe homi

(9) Ut 1d genus 🐂 minum est. cum aviditati ejus emo lumenrum editionis noi fatis refpondsffe: questum perfæpe de jactur fua Valens Acre dal Epist apolog a epistol

in Praf

viician, and that he would have made some Notes upon Aulus Gellius if a Nisi juhe a had list longer. It appears from his Letters that he had written fome Observations upon Appleius. Mr Baillet places him among the Famous Children, and says that tem mise. sluftrated Plautus, being seventeen or eighteen Tears of Age, not to mention several Latin rabiliter properations, which are extant, and which be composed at that same Age. One of his first print properations, which are extant, published by himself at Padua, in the Year 1591 He himsopp de site of the was assumed of that early Production of his Pen, and he was surface at that it had been reprinted in France Lipsius, who write some of printing wherein he expressed his Love and Esteem for him, was of Opinion that a Val A Cidal Epister and the same and the same are cidal Epister and t ove a Great Man Ipse Valens (non te fallam augur) gemmula erit Germaniæ cidalEpist This he wrote to Monavius in 1594 as may be feen in the beginbat modo ning of Acidalius's Letters

A CINDYNUS (Gregory) a Greek Monk of the XIVth Century fociated himself with Barlaam, who since he had embrac'd the Greek Religion, had alogo like to this Business to consound the Hespeastes, whose Number was very much increased and the among the Monks of Mount Athor The Hespeastes were Contemplative Votaries, 26th of the whose Name gives sufficiently to understand that even in those Days there were Quie- Century tists in the World They believ'd they saw in the height of their Orisons a Sight re sembling that which appear'd about fesus Christ, when he was transfigur'd on Mount & Hisp to be increated, tho' altogether distinct from the Estauthors. Acindynus seconded the Impetuous Zeal of Barlaam, wrote against the quoted by fence of God # Illusions of these Fanaticks, and was one of the Sticklers against them in the Council of Constantinople But he had the Missortune to meet with Antagonists who had more Hist of the Credit and Interest than either he, or Barlaam, and who made them undergo several set fin of Censures and Condemnations in divers Councils The Ill Success he had had in that the Greeks, of Constantinople about 1337 did not deter him from charging openly with Herely the 15 P 1499.

Favourers of Gregory Palamas, for which he was cited by the Patriarch of Constantino Dutch ple in 1341 He appear d before the Council, and was condemn'd to be filent upon Pain Edition of Excommunication Six Years after he was yet more vigorously pursu d, because & Orthod fobn Cantacuzenus, who was become Emperor, had a kindness for Palamas The Cen-Gree t 1 fures and Excommunications which at several times fell upon Acindynus, reduc'd him at ad 773 last to a more Sedate, and altogether Obscure Life fames Gretser, a German Jesuit, n In 1 2 publish'd at Ingolftad in 1616, Acindynus's two Books, De Essentia & Operatione Des Leo c 16 de Allatius has also published a ? Poem, and some n Fragments of the same Author, who consensu, waving had the Fate to piss (A) for a Heretick a considerable time, has sound at last apud Appendic (B) more Learned and more Fourtible Judges (B) more Learned and more Equitable Judges

ACINDYNUS (Septemeus) was Conful at Rome with Valerius Proculus, the filme flor liter Year 8 that Conftantine, Son to Conftantine the Great was kill'd, near Aquilea He had Script been Governor of Antioch, and during his Government there happen'd a Passage, mention'd by St Austin, which deserves to be taken notice of A certain Man not pay- full that tion'd t by St Austin, which deferves to be taken notice of A certain trial not pay just that ing into the Exchequer a Pound of Gold at which he had been affels d, was committed Appendix to Prison by Acindynus, who swore withall that he would cause him to be hanged if he about this did not pay that Sum upon a certain Day which he appointed. The limited Time was Article of In 340 near expiring, and the poor Fellow still unable to satisfy the Governor He had in according deed a Beautiful Wife, but who was bare of Money as well as himself, and yet twas to Calvi-from thence that he had the first Hopes of Liberty A very Rich Man being desperarely in love with this Woman, offer'd her the Pound of Gold on which her Husband's Life 'August ly in love with this Woman, offer'd her the Pound of Gold off which depended, and ask'd no other Recompense for it but a Night's Lodging She being fermone in- Domini

Few Persons will wonder that Ac dalius should have thought that the Preachers would have been too hard for him, if he had been engag'd in a Quarrel with them, for Men, being very apt to make an Ill (a) Æole, Judgment of others, do commonly fancy that Preachers are like Æolus (a), but in such a manner that they can better raise a Storm than calm it

(H) That he was a Physician] Scioppius (b) calls him so Indeed he took his Doctor's Degree, but it was only ad honores, for he never practis'd Physick, and never delign'd to do it Medicum ic) The meg connec ago, nec agore propositum unquam fuit certo confilio nec ago, nec agere proposium unquam fuit certo consilio tamen inter ejus artis Gandidatos nomen dedi, nec panitet, eo quod petii, inde jam ablato, &c. He had said a little before, Dabam illic (in Italia) me ross' 'Airkhumdous, quorum saeris & in Italia sueram initiatus, what he says (d) in another place imports something more Inde regions eutopolisant illustration Medicina.

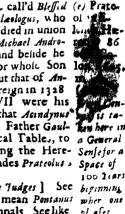

Inde rediens cur felenni illerum (fludiorum Medicinx) henore

(A) To pure Heretick] As in the heat of a Diffute we haly intent upon pressing our Adversaries, we obtain the sea dezele our Eyes to such a degree as not to perceive that we pass from one Extream to another, or at least that we stretch our Arguments for the season prove too much. I do not guments so far, that they prove too much I do not queition but 'twas upon this Score that Barlaam and was, and that being Orthodox at the bottom, they en argued like Hereticks Prateelus has not fail'd to place them in his Catalogue, but tis impossible to make any thing of the Sentence of their Condemnation, fuch as he relates it. What we find least obfure in his Book (e) concerning Barlaam and Acincens pio dynus, is, That the Council which was call'd in order to condemn them, was celebrated in the presence of the Blessed and most Famous Emperor Michael Andro-Ceri velocity. Balanage, and Jaha his Son, in the Barge of let, se au the Bleiled and most ramous Emperor Michael Andro-Cerivelnicus Palaelegus, and John his Son, in the Reign of let, se auHenry VII Emperor of Germany John XXII being ri shiram Pope of Rome, in the Year of our Lord 1313 This daturum whole Passage is full of Errors For first of all, (f) in the Century here in question, there was no other Emperor of Constantinople that could be call'd Blessed (e) Prateby a Roman Carbalch, but Michael Palaelegus who of the by a Roman Catholick, but Michael Palæologus, who of was reconcild with the Holy See, and died in union with it Now neither was he call d Michael Andronicus, nor had he a Son call d John, and befide he died in 1283 Secondly, The Emperor whole Son lowas call d John, had no other Name but that of Andronicus Palæologus. and only began to reign in 1228 was called John, had no other Name but that of Andronicus Palacologus, and only began to reign in 1328 fo that neither John XXII nor Hen VII were his Contemporaries Lastly, 'Tis false that Acindynus was condemn d about the Year 1313 Father Gaular ham here in tier does not forget in his (hronological Tables, to a General quarter Bailaam and Acindynus among the Here-Sensesor at cks, but he has no other Warrant besides Prateolus > Space of Authoriza.

(B Has found at I ft more Equitable Judges] See biginning the Authors quoted by Mr Morers, I mean Pontanus wher one upon Canticuzenus, and Spondanus S Annals Seelike plases

7 lb pag He as- 160, 161, Cave Hiin monte una nocte,

let. se au-namque tıbidivum pater atque homi-Et mulcededit ftus & re los, Virgil Æn l 1 v 6c (b) Sciop pius de arte Criti ca, p 18 (c Val

Acidal Epist p

also pag

194, 29 (d Ibid

a Illa corpus non nılî marıto dedit, non concumbere, ut folet, fed vivere cupienti Id ıb

B In the Remark of Ahime-

y Moreri fulfly pla-cis him in the XVth Century

& Grafferus's Epist ad lector LeforeStra tegemata Sat in v

(a)Grets not in (antacuz & in editione A. cindyni

(b) Mumbourg of

Greck

5 / fm (c) Auguft I r

de termo-ne Domimm men te (16

contra

Manich

(e) Rivet

7, in Cica grq r

Lacreir

(f) 1700 ir Conne Do

ni in monte, 6 16 (b) Rivet instructed by the Scripture, that She bad no Power over her own Body, but her Husband, communicated to the Prisoner the Offer of the Spark, telling him withal, that she was ready to accept of it, if he would give his Consent, he who was the true Lawful Master of his Wise's Body, and if he thought his Life worth redeeming at the expense of a Chastity whereof he had the sole Disposal. He thank'd her for it, and bid had and lie with her Lover She obey'd, as became a Dutistil Wise, affording a upon Occasion the Use of her Body to her Husband, not to satisfy the Ordinary D Nature, but the Desire he had to live The Spark gave her a Purse with the Sum of Money, but got it again cunningly from her, and shamm'd her on the Puise fill d with Larth The Harmless Creature being return'd home (for the had taken the pains to meet her Gallant at his Country House) had no sooner found out the Cheat, but she complain'd of it publickly, and demanded Justice of the Governor, to whom she very ingenuously related the Fact Acindynus begun to accuse himself, as having by his Severity and Menaces drove these Innocent People upon such Desperate Remedies, and first of all condemn d himself to pay the Pound of Gold into the Exchequer, afterwards he adjudg'd to the Obedient Wife that Piece of Ground out of which the Larth had been taken that was found in the Sham Purse St Augustin dares (A) not decide whether this Woman's Conduct be good or bad, and inclines rather to approve (B) than to condemn it, which is somewhat (C) surprizing We have observed before B the lame I ook Principle of Morality in St Chryfostom, in relation to Abraham and Sarabs Conduct

A CONTIUS, (James) a Philosopher, Civilian, and Divine, born at Trent, in He embrac d the Reformation, and being gone over into Engthe > XVIth Century lind in Queen Elizabeth's Time, he received a Thousand Marks of that Princes's Bountv, as he acknowledges himself (A) in the Frontispiece of the Book which he dedicated to her This is the Famous Collection of the Stratagems of the Devil, which has to often been translated, and reprinted The first Edition of it is that of Bafil, 1565 soon after which & the Author died in England James Grasserus procured a second Edition of it in 1610 wherein we find indeed Acontius's Letter, de Ratione Edendorum Librorum, containing very whollome Cautions for those who design to set up for Authors, but in it we mis his Treatife of Method, which is a Good

(B) Piece.

(b) Maimbourg, &c.

(A) Darci not decide] That's plain from these Words Nihil bic (i) in alteram partem dispute, lice-ai cuique affimare quod velit. In another (a) Place he brings into question, whether a Woman's Chastity should be violated, in case to save her Husband's Lite, and he has own Order, the should lie with another and by his own Order, the thould lie with another Man , Scrupulofius disputari potest utrum idius mulieris puticitia violaritur, etiam li quisquam carni ejus com-mirtui foict, cum id in se fieri pro mariti vita, nec illo n science sed jubente permitteret, nequaquam fitem dese-Rivet 1) having quoted these Words, adds, That St dugus'in relates, that the rune can americal der the Imperor Constantine (f, when Acindynus, &c. der the Imperor Constantine (f) when Acindynus, &c.

(B) Rather to approve than to condemn it This evidently appears by these Words Nonita (g) existing mandum ic loc citam femina, viro permittence, factre posse viden in , quod omn um sensus excludit Quamquam nimius cause possent existere ubi O uxor mariticon in un proposanti possente contente possente contente proposanti contente c

Not live in alteram parten dispute Sed tamen unia o los fisto, (to wit, the Cale of the Wite whose Husband was committed by Acindynus) non itarespuis hos sin us bumanus, quod in illa muliere vivo juvente commissi in est, quemadinodum antea, cum sinc ulio exem-p'o vis ir sa ponerctur, borruimus. I know not what triounds the Protestant Divine I have quoted in the foregoing Remark has for his Affect on, when he there's us that St Augustin rather inclines to condemn than to just fy that Woman Que facto (b) Ae nayn explicato liberum un cuique permi t t Augustinus fructius,

n he Book

of to Au
frin, Phich estimate quod est t, anament in camp par em propentor estimate quod est t, anament in cam par em propentor est atur quod id for non le cet (C. Il biob is femewha | rpi ~ rg | So great a Divine is he was, ought he not to have known that out life, which is but a Temporal and Leithing food out the property by to derive the life thought Good, ought not to be so den to us, is to be thought worthy of being redeem'd by our Dalaced ence to the Liw of God? For as this Disobelience is a Sin which makes us liable to an Eternal Punishment, and a Noral Lyrl which offends an Infinite Being It is no lets against Common Prudence, that the Dictates of Sound Reason, to chile to commit a Sin, 13ther than lose one's Life. I say nothing of those Wide Abysles of Corruption which are open d every where under our I eet, by afferting, that a I hing which would be a Crime if done without a delign to fave ones Life, becomes innocent when its done to prevent Death Acindynus a Prisoner would have acted the shameful part of a Pimp, and consented to an Adultery properly so call d, it he had suffer d

wise those of Brown, Lather (a) Greizer, Tather
(b) Maimbourg, &c

(A) Darci not decide] That's plain from these

his Wife to he with the Spark meerly to gain a Pound of Gold, but because he consented only to save his Life, it ceases to be a Consent to an Adultery, nay, 'tis a lawful thing Who does not see that if this Morality took place, there is not one Precept in the Decalogue of which the Fear of Death should not afford a Dispensation Where are the Exceptions in favour of Adultery? If a Woman may be dispensed with for not obeying the Command of not defiling her Body, when by that means she may residue her Husband from a Capital Punishment, she will likewise be free to transgress it when her own will likewise be free to transgress it when her own Life comes in question, for God no where exacts from us that we should love another more than our rom us that we should love another more than our selves. Therefore one may impunely violate the Law of Chastity, in order to avoid Death. And why should not the same Reason make Murther, Thest, (1) In the Perjury, the Abjuring of one's Religion, &c lawful? Remark. The greatest Men are apt to mistake and lose their 1 of the Way even in the smoothest and most beaten Roads.

Article of the last of the St. Randald not present Sarah. Is it to difficult to find that St Paul did not pretend Is it to difficult to find that of Paul did not pretend that a Husband had power to dispose of his Wive's Body to whom he pleas'd, when he faid, That she Wife has no power over her own Body, but her Husband Nevertheleis you see that St. Austin puzzles himself with these Words of the Apostle, and that he lays great friels upon the Diffinction, marite jubente, pentessatem non abnuens maritalem We shall take notice (1) elsewhere that he has made use of this Doctrine of St Paul to justify Abraham and Sarah in relation to Agar's Concubinage Let us now hear a Divine, (k) who tho'he liv d ieveral Ages after that Father of the Church, yet proves a better Casust in this Point Qua in re (that is, concerning the Adventure of the Qua in re (that is, concerning the Adventure of the Wite whole Husband was Acindynus's Prisoner) minum est talem ac tantum virum potuisse dubitare, cum ex jacra Scriptura constitu apercissime malum aliquod pana nunquam efferedimendum male culpa, & vitam petius ofse acponendam, quam ut cam nobu aut al 15 servemus 1d tresentes ex quo Deus offendere, ur Nullo modo 1 taque cenf naum eft lieitum effe adulterit remedium del marito, vel uxori vitanda alterisu necu causa, quin petitu m expecture convenit, imo vero ultro expetere quam alicru-ti ius castitatem prodere, ob cujus conf rvationem multa pud cissma famina non solum ab aliis occidi sustinuerunt, pud cissima famina non solum ab alissoccidi sustinueruns, sidetiam (qued tamen probare nolim) sici ipsis vim intulerunt, non solum inter Ethnicas, sed etiam inter Chr stianas. He quotes the Lxample of Sophronia, of whom in its. Place Consult Amanitates suries of Mr Menage in 10th p.52 the Chapter (1), entituled, demariti lenocinio Adastesis Edit Lipsi sterarum viros ordinare non potuisse (A) In the Frontispiece of the Book which ie dedicated to her I Instead of an Lipsste Dedicatory, he contented

(k) Rivet ubi supra

Joh Wol.

gurinum de ritione

brorum

411 e By Mr Crenius,

following,
of the 2d

part of bis vertiones cre & hi-

(e) 10te Rapin s

Preta e

rilon of

tie Con pa

floricæ

Piece, the Author a only published it as an Essay He had composed in Ita- a Post il. Book of Fortification, which he turn'd himself into L. tin during his stay in lud tembut I think it was never printed He was also writing a Logick γ , which I pus quo excidit the hindred him from finishing 'Twas great Pity, for he was a Man that nobis in-Thinking, and a great Discernment and Penetration I had fram'd chottum reasonable Notion of such a Piece of Work, and thought himself the more Pains and Care upon it, because he foresaw, that an Age opticular that he liv'd in was coming on this (D) Conjecture was well lum, seis inciples in Religion were not the same with those of Colvin, he me bis fearners to Tolorston, and held in general course. dem action to Toleration, and held in general certain Tenets which have dem action to fome Protestant (L) Divines I could find but little conmutation. rendred hi cerning his Adventures He says of himself A, by the bye, that he had bestow d a great Argento-part of his Life upon the Reading of Bartolus, Bildus, and such like Barbarous Writers, ratum and many Years at Court

Aconting s Letter, which was published in $ 1696 shews a clear and exact Genius, and Angliam which was accounted with sound Logick. It is dated from I ondon the 5th of June 1565. Acont and serves to the grate a thing he had advanced concerning S ibellius, and which had been I fail ad tented himself with a Canonizing Subscription, which begins with, DIV L ELIZABETHA ANGI I.

E, FRANCIE, HIBERNIE REGINA He declares, that he inscribes his Book to her to shew his Gratitude In signum memoriamque grati animi ob partum ejus liberalitate, quum in Angliam propter Evange-licæ veritatus prosessionem externs appulisset, humanissime-que exceptus esset, literarum otium. In his Letter to Wolfius, he says, That his Pension relieved in some Measure his Indigence, and afforded him leifure to (a) Ut autem quicquid est opera id istam in artem (muniendorum oppidorum) conferrem, ex parte privatus sum rationibus adductus, etenim in hoc volunta rio meo exilio inopiam UTUNQUE sublevat, & otii ad alia studia suppeditat NONNIHIL, impetrato mihi ab hujus sapientissima atque optima Regina liberalitate honesto stipendio What Restrictions are here! And how well they shew how difficult it is to content represent the same of this Pension not as a Divine, but as an Engineer, which appears by the Reason he alledges himself, of his bestowing his time upon Fortification

(B) Which is a good piece | This is the Judgment which a learned Cartefian (b) has given of it, in a Letter he writ to Father Mersennus, foon after the Publication of Des Cartes & Meditations (c) "He faid he relish'd above all things the Market of the second se faid he ielish'd above all things the Method which Mr Des-Cartes had made use of in hardling his Mr Def-Cartes had made use of in handling his Subject, he admired its Usefulnets, and extolled its Excellencies above that of the Schools. More particularly he esteemed him adgreent, and the Reasons he had to prefer the malytical or Resolutive Method, to the Synthetical or Compound, is well to teach as to demonstrate. He had not till then some large through the strength the light Rook of found any thing like it, except the little Book of Method, Compos d by James Acontius, who belides that excellent Freatile, had dio given a nine Special Control of the Acontius of the Book of the Bo cimen of the Analytical Method, in his Book of the Stratagems of the Devil, which he recommends to the Perusal of all those who love the Perice of the Church, though in it Acontius be not altogether free from the Prepossessions of his Sect, " and thereb, meant to Favour those of his Party That little Piece of Acontius, under the Litle of, Methodus five retta investigandarum tradendarumque astium ac scientiarum ratio, was inserted in a Collection of Differtations de studiu bene instituendus printed at

Utretcht, in 1658
(C) Il at an Age more refin'd was coming on] must hear whit he Tis himself, after having mention d the other Reasons which render d his Delign very difficult in the Performance (d) Intelligo etiam me in seculum incidisse cultum prater modum, nec tam

me in seculum incidisse cultum prater modum, nee tam eeste vereor corum qui regnare nune videntus judicia quam exorientem quand im seculi adhue paulo cultioris lucem pert misco di enim multos habuit habitque atas nostra v ros prasser dhue tamen videre videor nese o quid magis su

(D) Haran mas well grounded] I think the VVIth Centur, has produced a greater Number of I e irned Men, that i the XVIIth, and yetthe former was not so enlighten'd as the latter. As long as the Reign of Criticism and Philalogy has continued, there have been all over Enope ieveral Prodigies of Lrudition. The Study of the new Philosophy, and dern Languages, having introduced another, that universal and profound Literature has more refin d, and accompanied with a more exquifium Tisite Discennment, has spiend it self over the Commonweilth of Learning People ne now 1-days less I earned, and more Subtle I heretore Acontins had edendo rum lı-Region to foreign it i diffrance, in Age which would be a more dreadful Judge of the Logick he intended would not be thought for preluming as by my own Authority to adjudge the Superiority to our Age, don No-for in this I do but conform my tell to the Opinion of the most cute and refind Criticks "We the man Age (trys one (coff them) when in Peoficial Coff, 1562). ple become more fentible of good Senfe and Rei-6 Id ib fon, than of any thing elfc, and it may be fud in our Commendation, that we are the dy better acquainted with the Character of ancient Authors, I lbid p and more intimately familiar with their Genius, than those who went before us. I he difference between them and us, is, Thit in the last Age People were more Ambitious of Lrudition thin they are at prefent ______ Twis the Genius of thole times, wherein nothing was more in Vogue thin a vast Capacity, a great Memory, and a profound Literature. They studied Languages to the bottom, apply d themselves to reform or restore the Text of ancient Authors by far-fetch d Interpretations, cavild about in Equivocal Word, laid firefs upon a Conjecture, in order to establish a Correction, in short they stuck to the litteral Sense of an Author because they had not firength enough to rafe themselves to his Spirit, to be thoroughly acquainted with him. As People do at present, because they are more restonable, and less Learned, and set a greater Value upon plun good Sense, than a cross digram d. Capa-

I hucydi-(E) To some Protestant Deven .] That I may not be arraign d for advancing this without my Ground I my or Proof, I shall quote the words of a (f) Minister (f) Saldeof the Hague facohus Acont us (de quo jure quod nus de liof the Hague de Origine diet folet, ubt bene nemo melius, ubi biis, pag were doclar, sed ingenis at acres quidem, it a & elatio- (1) I rigris, & justo liberations quin a nescio quali scepticis- lind Hist mo & indifferentissimo in ipsam I heologiam introdu- Lecles p cendo haudquaquam alieni, quod trastatu suo de Stra-tagematis Satina testatum satis secit, libello (1) (simone Goulartio judice) omnium malorum pessimo Polit Ic-Voetius (2) et adscribit quod vel imperite vel sub- cles part dole communem confessionis conceptum molitus "dole communem confessions conceptum molitus in sit, sub cujus vexillo militari possunt & ipsi Aii- Indic & ani" What is here mention d of Simon Goulart is possion to be found (as far as I know) in any of his Books, I believe it comes from Ustenbogardus who says in one (g) of his Works, that when he studied at some use censured by Simon Goulart for reading Belgian, Antitus, who told him, that his Book of the Strategems of the Devil, was the worst Book in the World, offe librum omnium malorum ressimum. I have sound gems of the Devil, was the worst Book in the World, ptace in the world another Pusinger of I verius concerning this Matter, wherein that (/) Doctor place. Accounts among the Hereticks who came out of I al, under pretence of Reformation, and assures us, that if the Venom I heol t which lies hid in tome (,) places of his Book, had been taken notice of he hid either been Excommulated, or constrain a to sign a Contession of Oingle thodoxy (1) suffective quis angus in his balatures. thodoxy (1) suffective quis angles in le ba latuerit edit Bil quod hie vir in findamentalibus aff resoulus nunquam 7 16 emorate trium personarum satuerit, net edu rsn 0, 5a- ()Id Vo mosa en em, Potinum, Arrium, Finomion, Pu uma o cius ib

() Heulneres. Hu Later 15 dated August the 9th, 1641 pud Bullet, life of Defc t 2 p 138 (a) Baillet, ubi fupra

> Cost ubi iupia, P 41

a Pater meus vere erat Chriftianus

Uriel Acosta ubi inCriticiz'd upon Note, that though most Protestant Divines look upon this Man with Horror, yet some (F) amongst them have very much commended him

A C O S T A (Uriel) a Portuguese Gentleman, was Born at Porto towards and paid of the XVIth Century He was Educated in the Romish Religion, which his Floring strain'd to receive Baptism He was also brought up like a Person of Question dhaving learnt several things, apply'd himself at last to Civil-Law. Nature himself with good Inclinations, and Religion had made so deep an interest than the sound in the same of the sam him (A) with good Inclinations, and Religion had made so deep an imprementation, that he ardently desir'd to fulfil all the Precepts of the Church, in order to avoid eternal Death, of which he was very much afraid. Therefore he diligently apply'd himself to the reading of the Gospel, and other spiritual and godly Books, and often consulted the Decisions of Casuists about the heads of Consession, but the more Enquiries he made, the more he found his Scruples and Difficulties to increase, till at last they entangled him to such a Degree, that being unable to get out of that Labyrinth, he saw himself expos'd as a Prey to mortal Inquietudes. He did not think it possible for him punctually to discharge the Duty and Conditions which Absolution requires according to Sound Casusts, and so he despair'd of Salvation, in case it could not be obtain'd any But, because it was difficult for him to abandon a Religion to which he had other Way been accustom'd from his Infancy, and which had taken deep Root in his Mind thro' the Force of Perfuasion, all he could do in his Condition was to examine whether whatever is told of another Life may not be meer Fiction, and whether these Things were agreeable to Reason He thought that Reason incessantly suggested him wherewithal to oppose them He was then 22 Years of Age, and this is the Course he took He First turn'd Sceptick, and afterwards concluded that the Road into which Education had led him, would never carry him to Salvation In the mean time, he studied the Law, and obtain d a & Benefice at 25 Years of Age New being unwilling to be without Religion, and the Profession of the Roman Cathilick Religion affording him no Rest, he read Moses and the Prophets, and having found them more satisfactory than the Gospel, he was at last persuaded, that Judus/m was the true Religion, but not being able to profess in Portugal, he resolv d to leave his Native Country Accordingly he resign'd his Benefice, and embark d for Amsterdam with his Mother and Brothers, whom (B) he had had Courage enough to Catechile, and whom he had effectually imbued with his Opinions Affoon as they arrived there, they were aggregated to the Synagogue, and were Circumcis d according to Custom He chang d his Name of Gabriel into that of URIEL It was not many days before he found that the Manners and Customs of the fews were not conformable with the Laws of Moses He was not able to be filent about such a Nonconformity, but the Chief of the Synagogue gave him to understand, that he must follow their Tenets and Customs in all Points, and that if he should recede from them never so little, they would excommunicate him. These Threats did not discourage him, he thought it would not become a Man who had abandon'd the Conveniences of his Native Land for Liberty of Conscience, to yield to

C The Digmity of of a Collegiate (hurch machos aut corum errores rejecerit, contentus solos illos re-machos aut corum errors rejectrit, contentus jotos idos rejectos, qui negarent filium non esse alium a patre

(F) Look upon this Man with Horror, yet some amongst them have very much commended him.] Mr Grenius furnishes us with Proofs for both their Affertions He observes, (a) That Com adus Bei gius declares that Acontius argued prudently and piously. This Bergims was Minister and Protessor of Divinity at Bremen.
The Book wherein he speaks to that purpose, is entituled. Praxic Catholica divini Canonic contra quasivus tituled Praxii Catholica divini Canoni contra quasus l'arises & schismata, & and printed at Bremen, in 1639 in 800 Rivetus having got one of these Books ex dono autoru, writ in it some Remarks, of which I shall mention that which relates to Acontius (b) Miror cur, p 524 tanti faciat vir doctus judicium Acon-tii hominis ambigua fidei & Socinianorum vel prodromi, vel commilitonis, cujus rei gratia ab Arminianis toties recusus est & commendatus, etiam in varias linguas vulgares translatus Huchomini scopus fuit, ut ex toto libro apparet, ad tam psuca necessa a dotrinam Christianam artiare, ut omnibus sets in Clo stranssmo pateret adutus ad mutuam communionen sets allem actiss & pium virum atalitus laudandis & imitand s abstituisse. The Book whence I had this Passige tells me also, that IJaac Junius (c) Minister at Delft, plac d Acontius, the Remonstrants, and Socious in the time Form, and look'd upon the first as a Man who had a mind to reduce all Sects into one, and enclose them in the same Aik, as Neah did all loits of Animals in his, wherein they were preserved, though sustained by different food. We see in the same Book the Account which Pel ius (d) gave of Acontus, which is, that by reducing to simall Number the Points necessary to Salvation and requiring a Toleration for the particular Opinions which were against the other Articles, he of en'd a wide Door to all manner of Here-fies Lastly, we see in the same Book, that not only Arminias and Grevinchovius have given great Com-mendations to our Acontius, but also the principle, and George Pauli, (e) two Reformed Divines have ve- (e) In Rery much applauded him (f) Jacobo Arminio tamen formato in Respons ad Excerpta Theol Leidens p 65 Acontius Augusta est divinum prudentia ac moderationis lumen Amesto no, seu Apresat ad Puritan Angicanos & Grevinchovio in Abflerisone calumn Smoutii, p 125 apud B Hulsiman-num in Dedicat Supplementi Breviarii Theologici p 6 idem Acontius est Suvasarutos en tais neavais, qui se-mentem Ecclesia Anglicana caloie & rore calesti sovit fedulo

(A) Nature had endow'd him with good Inclinations] us ib p
He was to tender-hearted and Compassionate, that 32 he could not forbear shedding Tears at the recital of (f) Cremany Misfortune that had befallen his Neighbour, and Modesty had taken so deep Root in his Soul, that he fear d nothing more than what might offend that he fear d nothing more than what might official it, and put him to the Blush. He was Couragious, and insceptible of Anger in a lawful Occasion, and check d the Insolence of those rude Men, who take delight in insulting over and hestoring others, shill chusing to (g) side with the Weaker. This is the chuling to (g) inde with the Weaker. This is the Character he gives of himles (h).

(B) Whom he had Courage enough to Cat chife. Ite does not forget the Circumstances which were proper to hairborn the Carefica ha made as his Palatonia. per to heighten the Sacrifice he made to his Religion He observes that he relinquish'd (1) a profitable and honourable Benefice, and a fine House which his I ather had built in the best part of the Gity He adds the danger of his putting to Sea, for such as are de scended from Jow, cannot go out of the Kingdom without the King's particular leave (1) Navim a season Jeendimus non fine magno pericula (non lieet illis qui ab manæ in-Hebrais or ginem duiunt a regno discedere pue special Re- it p 346 g s facultate) Lastly, he tays, That it it had been (h) Ib known that he entertain d his Mother and Brothers (i) Uriel with his Thoughts about the jewish Religion, at Acosta, p would have been his utter Ruin, but his Charity 347 made him over-look the Danger (1) Quitus ego fra- (k) Id ib terno amore motus ea commun caveram , e a mil (uper (1) Id 1b

Acontius Augustapologia pro dictatis fuis de Aug Confess See Crenius ibid p

> (e) Infirmorum partes adiuv are cupiens, & us me 10cium adjungens Unel A. costa in exemplira

1 digione

(A) Thom Cienius Animady philologic & hi-ftoricar parte 2 pag 32

(b) Rivet apud Crenium ib

(c) litac Jugus in eximine Apologia Rimon arrestium par Ce niun ib (d) Peltius in De dicatione Harmonia, apud Cremum ib

Rabbies (C) without Jurisdiction; and that it would argue want of Spirit and Piety, if he should betray his Sentiments upon this Occasion; wherefore he went on as before:
Accordingly he was Excommunicated, which had such an effect, that his very Biothers,
I mean those he had instructed in the Jewish Religion, durst neither speak to him, nor I mean those he had intructed in the Jewija Kengion, durit neither speak to him, nor so much as salute him when they met him in the Streets Being in this Condition he Compos'd a Book for his Justification, wherein he shewed, that the Rites and Traditions of the Phanises are contrary to Moses's Writings. He had scarce begun this Book, when he embrac'd the Opinion of the Sadducees, for he strongly persuaded himself, that he Familianents and Rewards of the Old Law respect this Life only, grounding himself principally upon this, that Moses makes no mention either of the Joys of Heaven, or of the Torments of Hell. Assoon as his Adversaries were told that he was fallenged that Opinion, they were extreamly glad of it hecause they foresome at march. len into that Opinion, they were extreamly glad of it, because they foresaw it might prove a good Excuse for them to justify to the Christians the Proceedings of the Synagogue against him That was the Reason, why even before his Book went to the Press, they publish'd a Book a concerning the Immortality of the Soul, Compos d by a Physician, who forgot nothing that might contribute to brand Acofta for an Atherst And they inftigated Children to abuse him in the Streets, and to throw Stones at his House Nevertheless he published 6 a Book against the Physician, wherein he oppugn d with might and i xamen main the Immortality of the Soul The Jews had recourse to the Tribunals of smaller reduction and Characteristics. dam, and impeach'd him as a Person who overthrew the Principles of Judaism and Chit-num phi-shianity. He was put in Prison, and Bail'd out of it in 8 or 10 days. The Impression latophicaof his Book was conficated, and an Americament of 300 Gilders fet upon the Author rum adle-All this did not stop him. Time and Experience push'd him on much farther. He examin d whether the Law of Moses came from God, and funcied he had found sufficient Reasons to be convinc'd, that it was a meer Contrivance of Human Wit, but instead of concluding from thence, Therefore I ought not to return to the Jewish Communion, he drew this Consequence, Why should I obstinately remain separated from it all my life time, exposed to so many Inconveniencies, and Stranger as I am, in a Country, the I anguage whereof I cannot speak < Having considered all these things he returned to the Pale of fudation 15 Years after his Excommunication, recanted what he had said, and subscribed whatever Some days after, a Nephew of his who lodg d in his House inform'd. This was a young Boy who had taken notice that his Uncle did not obthey pleas'd ferve the Laws of the Synagogue, either in his Diet, or other Matters This Accusation had strange Consequences. For one of Acosta's Relations, who had reconcil d him religione wisa fuerant magis consintanea, licet super aliquibus dubitarin quod quiden in magnum malum meum poterat recidere, tansum est in eo regno periculum de talivui loqui. We may held take notice by the way, that the Spaniards and Portuguese have omitted nothing that the subtilest and severest Politicks can invent to maintain a Party They have made use of all those means for the Support of Christianity, and the Destruction of Judaism, and they cannot be accused, without Injustice, of having committed the Church to the Piotection of Heaven, with the Dispositions of such as quickly expect every thing from the Lift-cacy of their Prayers No, one would say on the contrary, that they have follow'd the Advice which a Heathenish Poet has given about a Business of Agriculture.

(a)Virgil (reorgic 1 3 V 452

(b) Sallust

Catilin p in bello

m. 160

Non (a) tamen ulla magis prasens fortuna laborum est, Non (a) tamen ulla magis prajens fortuna laborum est,

Quam si quis ferro potuit reseindere summum

Ulceris os aliter vitium, vivitque tegendo

Dum medicas adhibere manus ad vulnera pastor

Abnegat, aut meliora deos sedet omina poscens

Or esse one would be apt to say, that they have squared their Conduct by the Reproaches which Cato made to the Romans, when he blam'd them son confiding in the Assistance of the Gods, who, added he, never hear the Prayers of the slothful, for Sloth is a Sign of the Anger of Heaven (b) Vos inertia & mollitia animi alius alium exspectantes cunstamini, videlicet diis immortalibus confist, qui hanc rempubl in maximis sape periculis servavere. Non votis, neque suppliciis muliebribus auxilia diorum parantur, vigilando, agendo, bene consulendo, prospere omnia cedunt Ubi secordia tete, atque ignavia tradideris, nequicquam Deos impleres irasi insessigue unt Lastly, one may say, that the Lesson which they are most apt to practise, is the latter part of the Axiom, which a Modern has set down in these Words (c) We must, as it were, wholly abandon our selves to Providence, as if all Human Prudence were useles, and we must govern our selves by the Distates of Human Prudence, as if there were no Providence. Without doubt they would laugh at an Author, who should blame them for using Christianity like an old Palace, so much decay d that it wants Props on every side, and Judaism like a inertia & mollitia animi alius alium exfectantes cunttait wants Props on every fide, and Judaism like a strong Fortress, which one must Cannonade and Bombard continually, in order to weaken it We may justly condemn certain Ways of maintaining the Good Cause, but when all is done, as good as it is, it will not do without Assistance, and D strust is the Mother of Safety See the Remark (E, of the Article Lubienietski

C) To Rabbiss without Jurisdiction There is certainly a great difference between the Tribunals which our Acosta ought to have dreaded in his own Country, and the Tribunal of the Synagogue of Amsterdam This latter can only institute Canonical Punishments, whereas the Christian Inquisition can put a Man to death, by delivering to the Secular Sword all those it condemns Therefore I do not wonder that Acoffa was less afraid of the Jewish Inquisition, than of that of Portugal - He knew that the Synagogue had no Tribunals that intermeddled with any Process, whether Civil or Criminal, and to he leok'd upon their Excommunications as a brutum Fulm n. He did not perceive this Canonical Sentence atte ided either with Death, Whipping, Piifon, or pecuniary Mulct Wherefore he thought that fince he had fufficient Courage not to betray his Religion in Portugal, he ought, with much more Reason, have the Boldness to speak according to his Conici nor among the Jews, though thereby he should draw their 12-communication upon him, which is the utmost that he could fear from Men who have no Migistrates of their own (d) Quia minime decesat ut propter talem (d) Uriel metum terga verterit ille qui pro libertate na ale folum, Acosti u Gutilitates alias contempferar, O fuccumbere hominibus, bi lupia prasertim JURISDICTIONEM non habentibus, in ili causa nec pium nec virile erat decrevi potius omni pira ferre & in sententia perdurare. But it faied with him as with most People who judge of combined Lvils. They imagine 'cis in the Union of I wo or three Punishments that a Misfortune contasts, and that a Man were little to be pitted, if he were to fuffer but one of them, but they Experience the contrary when Providence expotes them to one of those I wo or three Disgraces. They feel at much heavier than they thought it would prove The Inquisition of Portugal icem d dicaddul to the 13m Acofta Why for Because he beheld it join'd with the Power either immediate or mediate, to Imprison, Torture, and burn People If he had consider dit only with Relation to its Excommunications, he would not have been much afraid of it Reason of his contemning the Menaces of the Synagogue of Amsterdam But he was tensible by Expersence, that the bare Power of Excommunicating
K

(c) Cotin, Galantes, to 1 18 hu Difcourse of the Truth of Dreams, cof 1, Enemplar humanæ Vitæ, and inserted stianæ, printed at Amsterdam 1687 6 Twas either his his Coufin in Præfat > Fxtrided out of Limbouch, pixfat returar

c complaris huma-na vita (a) Infi francis mei quibus ego Friceptor tue rım me tranhin plates four ib int proj tei metum illorum Id ib (v) Id ib () Nelciebant quale jusum finis verticibi s imi one rent Id 1b p , 15 (d) Multi corum tranleunte me in inuchant, quod eti-11 1 & purumante lance lance uls cas-di; in-tum non lapitabu

Silver Silve Silve Silv

(e) Dui 1-tem, intra

pus metedibilia peill 18

ium id ib

afta per annos lep-

a Extract- with the Jews, thought himself oblig'd (D) in honour to persecute mine and out of a Severity. The Rabbies and all the People under them were acted by the writing of ed out of a Severity The Rabbies and all the People under them were writing of especially when they heard that our Acosta had distinated Two Christians, who were Uncl A. especially when they heard that our turning fews. He was summon'd before the grand come from London to Amsterdam, from turning Jews. He was summon'd before the grand Council of the Synagogue, who declar'd to him they would Excommunicate him a Second time, if he did not perform the Satisfaction that should be requir'd of h found it so very hard, that he answer'd, He was not able to undergo it. they resolv'd to turn him out of their Communion; and 'tis impossible to rages were done him since that time, and how much he was persecuted to the Limborch ons Having past 7 Years in this sad Condition, he resolv'd to declare the land of the Sentence of the Synagogue, for they had given him to derstand, that by means of this Declaration, he would easily come off, because the Judges being that by means of this Declaration, he would easily come on, because the fallowing of his A-fatisfy'd with his Submission, would mitigate the Severity of the Discipline But he was fatisfy'd with his Submission, with the utmost Rigor (E) the Penance which they had mic collatio de trapann'd, and made to undergo with the utmost Rigor (E) the Penance which they had at first impos'd upon him. a This is what I have extracted, without any Disguise or Alteration, (and without pretending to warrant the Truth of the matters of Fact) out of a small Writing Compos'd by Acosta, and publish'd and constuted by Manuelle at thought he writ it some sew days before his Death, having first resolve hands upon himself. He executed this strange Resolution a little after he had mist his considerable to the Distribution of the Distribution and the Distr chief Enemy, for assoon as the Pistol, which he had taken to kill him as he past by his House, had slash d in the Pan, without going off, he shut up his Door, and shot himself with another Pistol? This happen'd at Amsterdam, though in what Year 'tis not (F) certainly known Here's an instance which favours those who condemn the Liber-Limborch ty of Philosophizing in Matters of Religion, for the principal stress of their Arguments is very terrible, though altogether destitute of the Secular Sword Every body look'd upon him as a Monster since his Excommunication His (a) very Brothers avoided his Rencounter, and durft not take notice of him. The Boys hooted at him in the Streets, and loaded him with Curfes, they gather'd Venets, and loaded non with curies, they gather a in (10 w ds about his House, and threw Stones at his Windows, sangue faces & san volant He could not be quiet either at home or abroad (b) Pueri istorum, a Rabbinis & parentibus edosti tui matim per plateas conveniebant, & elatis vocibus mbi maledicebant, & comniginis contumelius irritabant, l'æreticum & defectorem inclamantes Aliquando etiam anie fores meas congrega-bantur, lapides j iciebant, O nihil ententatum relinquebant ut neturbarent, ne tranquillus etiam in domo propria avere possim. The ills to which his Excommuni-cation subjected him were so violent, that at last he found himfelt incapable to bear them, for as great in Aversion as he had to the Synagogue, he chose rather to return to it by a feeming Reconciliation, than to be openly separated from it. And indeed he us'd to say to some (Institute and not know what Yoke they were groung to not about their Nacks. But have were going to put about their Necks But how great wis his Perplexity when having refus'd to undergo the ignominious Fenance impos'd on him by the Synagogue, he saw hinself still detain'd by the bonds of Excommunication? Those who met him did (d) Spit at him, and Children were taught to do the sume, his Relitions Pensecuted him, and no body went neu him when he lay sick. To be short, they () toimented him to such a degree, that at last they extorted from him the Submission they desir'd We shall see in the Remark E what kind of Punishment they imposed upon him. He knew then more than ever, how terrible those very People are, who without any legal Jurisdiction administer the Laws of Discipline

I would not be understood as if I thought the Ressons of the Independents material take it so very ill that the Church should arrogate to her self the Power of Excommunicating, that is, to inflict Punishments which are tometimes more Ignominious and Detaming than a Branding Iton, and which expose a Man to more Temporal Missfortunes, than the afflictive Pains which the Civil Magistrates impose The Sentences of Judges do not suppress the Acts and Offices of Humanity, much less the Duties of Confinguinity But Excommunication arms some times the Fathers against their Children, and the Children against their Lathers, it stifles all the Sentiments of Nature, it breaks the Bonds of Amity and Heat stality, and reduces People to the Condition of it chas are infested with the Plague, nay somevit pugna times to a worle and more destitute condition

(D) One of his Relations thought himself ob-ligation homes These are the ill Treatments he did him deosts was upon the point of Marrying a Se-cond Wife, he had a great many Effects in the hands quod temhira of one of his Brothers, and it concern'd him very much to continue his Partnership with him Now this Relation cross'd him all these, for he broke the Match, and engag'd Acosta's Brother to withhold all his Effects, and to have no more Dealings with him These Proceedings ought to be consider'd as one of the Reasons which construed Acosta in his one of the Regions which confirm a Acoira in his Impiety, for without doubt he perfunded himfelf, that their Passion and Injustice might be Authorized by iome Passions of the Old Testament, wherein the Law commands (f) Brothers, Fathers, and Husbands not to spare the Lives of their Brothers, Children and Wives, in case of Apostacy And we must take notice, that he made use of that Proof (g) against the Law of Massion for he pretended that a Law the Law of Moser, for he pretended that a Law which overthrew natural Religion could not proceed from God the Author of that Religion For, argued he, Natural Religion establishes a Bond of Amity among Relations, & See how Mr Limborch has (b) answer'd this Sophism

(E) With the utnoyle Rigor the Penance which they had at first impor dupon him. Here is the account he gives of it himself A great the word of Men and Women having repair'd to the winagogue to see this Spectacle, he enter'd the Piace, and at the time appointed went up into the Pulpit, and read with a loud Voice a Paper wherein he had acknowledg'd that he had desert d Death a thousand times for not knowledgid. deferv d Death a thousand times, for not keeping either the Sabbath-day, or his promis'd Faith, and for having hindred the Conversion of People who had a mind to embrace Judaism. That for the Atonement of these Crimes, he was ready to suffer whatever they should decree, and that he promis'd never to relapse into the same Faults Being come down from relaple into the lame Faults Being come down from the Pulpit, he was ordered to retire to one of the Corners of the Synagogue, where he stripp'd himself Naked, from the Waste upwards, and pull'd off his Shooes, and the Door-keeper tied his hands to one of the Pillars, afterwards the Master-Chanter gave him 39 Stripes with a Whip, no more nor less, for the Corner was the corner to execute the in these Ceremonies they take care not to exceed the Number which the Law prescribes Next came the Preacher who caus'd him to sit on the Ground, and declar d him absolv'd of the Excommunication, (1) so that the Door of Paradise was not shut against him as before Acoffe put on his Cloaths again, and went and laid himself down flat on his Belly, at the Door of the Synagogue, and all that went out trod over I thought the Reader would be glad to initially in what Year 'tis not with himself after the Ceremon of his Absolution, enrag'd at the Treatment he had received, contrary to the hopes he had entertained of a mitigated Punithment But that cannot precisely determine the time of his Death, because its not known in what Year he performed that Penance If it were known how long he had costa, p been under an Excommunication, when the Batthe Physician was publish'd in 1623 it would difficult to make a right Computation, since he ob-

Deutero. Chap 13

me Spirit,

(g) Uriel Acosta in exem pl. humana vitæ, pag. 352

(h) Phi-Ippus à Limboich ın refutat Uriel Acostæ,p 361 & ieq

Jam porta cœli mihi erat aperta. que an fortification fa me à limine & ıngressu bat Aco-Stap 3500

(k) Takes Exemplar

ferves

lies in this, abor such a Method leads insensibly (G) a Man either to Athersm or Delsm I shall touch upon the Restection which Acosa made, about the Jews endeavouring to render him the more odious, by affecting to say, That he was neither (H) Jew, Christian

fier, 201 Mahameten

A C R O N I U S (706n) taught the Mathematicks and Physick at Basil, with a reat deal of Reputation, and compos'd fome Books, De Terræ motu, de Sphæra, de Almelebra & annuls Aftronomics confectione. He was of Priezland, and died at Bafil in the Hower of his Age, in the Year 1563. This Author has escaped a the Diligence of all makes Vosta alchough Swerting, and Valerine Andreas had plac'd him in their Bibliotheque of the Neno mint on therlands, wherein however they have forgot to insert another John ACRONIUS, who was his Book, and perhaps a Native of the same Province with the former. This MiniDe Sciengreat deal of Reputation, and compos'd fome Books, De Terræ mutu, de Sphæra, de Aa Minister, and perhaps a Native of the same Province with the former This Minibe Scient ster was of a Restless Seditious Spirit, he abandon'd the Congregation of Wesel, at a tis Mictime when she was threatned with an Imminent Danger, he shew'd at Deventer that thematithey could not chuse him Pastor of their Church, without admitting at the same time cis avery Ill Citizen into their City, he left with little Credit the Church of Groningin, he wanted Learning at Francker to discharge the Professorship of Divinity into which he had thrust himself Lastly, he was Minister at Haerlem, where he behav'd himself as he had done elsewhere, that is, he contradicted, attack d, and criticized upon every body & The Historiographer of that City does not deny him the Quality of a very the Learned Man, but gives him at the same time that of a Turbulent Spirit Some doing body compares him to Hesting, against whom the following Distick was spread Screveliabroad,

Mutin

Quæritur, Hishusi, quarta cur pulsus ab urbe? In promptu causa est, seditiosus eras

In promptu causa est, seditiosus eras

Aeronius has writ in Dutch a Book de Jure Patronatus, wherein he has inserted several SchoockiQuotations out of the Canon-Law y I am inclin d to father upon him the Elenchus Orthodoxus pseudo-religionis Romano-Catholica, printed at Deventer in 1615 He may very well also be the Author of the Treatise, De studio Theologico, which Mr Konig stathers upon him who wrote about the Sphere The same Konig speaks of one Rush dis ACRONIUS, who publish'd some Catechetical Expositions in 1606 He might have added, that in the beginning of the Troubles of Arminians, he wist something against the Arminian Hypothesis, concerning the Power of Magistrates in Matters of Religion, to pass and that 'twas he who publish'd a Sermon which Uytenbogard had preach'd at the Hague 126

hefers the Troubles, much different from the Doctrine which he afterwards muntain'd before the Troubles, much different from the Doctrine which he afterwards muntain'd about the said Question & Ruardus Acronsus was one of the fix Sticklers for the Reform'd against the Arminians, in the Famous Confeience held at the Higue in

ACTOR

(a) Biblioth Uni-P 327

(6) Joh. Helvicus Willemerus in differtat de Sadducæis, pag ult He guotes Mulicrus's Tudasim Proleg

ferves, that his first Excommunication lasted 15 Years; that the Second continu'd Seven, and soon follow'd the other 'Tis suppos'd in the (a) Bibliotheque Univerfelle, that he kill'd himself in the Year, 1647 but others say (b) it was in (G) That such a Method leads insensibly a Man either to Athersm or Dessm] Acost a serves them for an Example. He would not acquiesce in the Decisions of the Catholick Church, because he did not find them conformable with his Reason, and he embraced judassim, because he found it more agreeable to his natural Light Afterwards he rejected an infinite Number of Judaical Traditions, because he thought they were not contain'd in the Scripture, nay, he rejected the Immortality of the Soul, under pretence that the Law of God makes no mention of it, And lastly, he deny'd the Books of Moses to be divinely inspir'd, because he thought that natural Religion did not agree with the Ordinances of that Legislator Had he liv'd six or seven Years longer, he would, perhaps, have deny'd Natural Religion it salf, because his wretched scanty Reason would have puzzl'd him with Dissiputies about the Hypothesis daifm, because he found it more agreeable to his napuzzl'd him with Difficulties about the Hypothelis of Providence, and of the Free-Will of the Eternal and Necessary Being Let the Matter be how it will, there is no Man that makes use of his Reason, but has need of the Assistance of God, without which 'tis a Guide that leads us aftray And we may compare Philosophy to certain Powders so very correspondent to the Provident and may compare Philosophy to certain Powders so very corrolive, that having consum'd the Proud and Spongious Flesh of a Wound, they would eat up the Quick and Sound Flesh, rot the Bones, and pierce to the very Marrow Philosophy is proper at first to consute Errors, but if she be not stopp'd there, she attacks Truth it self, and when she has her full Scope, she goes so far that she loses her self, and knows not where to rest That must be imputed either to the Weakness of Mens Understanding, or to the ill use it makes of its pretended Force By Good Fortune, or rather through a Wise Dispensation of Providence, there are sew Men that are in a Condition to fall into that Abuse

(H) Affected to Say, that he was neither Jew, Christia (H) Affetted to say, that he was neither Jew, Christian, nor Mahometan J. This Accusation, answer dhe, had both Malice and Ignorance in it, for if he had been a Christian, they would have look d upon him as an Abominable Idolater, who, together with the Founder of Christianity, should be punished by the True (sod as an Apostate. If he had follow do the Religion of Mahomet, they would not have made him less odious. Therefore he could no manner of way escape the Lashes of their Tongues, but by devoutly addicting himself to the Pharifacal Inchinons. Let us consider his own Words. (c) Scio and standard response if to the nomin meum coram indesta pleble dilaniers, solutes essentially himself to the pharifacal Inchinorate is solved and the solution of the soluti ent, folitos effe dicerc, ifte nullam habet religionem, Juda- P 351 tu non est, non Christianus, non Mahometanus Vide prius Pharifae quid dicas, cacus enim es, & licet malitia abundes, tamen ficut cacus impingis. Quafo, dic mil fi ego Christianus essem, quid susses dituius? Planum est, disturum te, fadissimum me est, disturum te, fadissimum me est, disturum christianorum dottore panas vero Deo soluturum. turum, a quo defec 1 am Si Mahometanus essem, norunt etiam omnes quibus me honoribus fuisses cumulaturus. C stanunquam linguam tuam possem evad re; inicum hoc effugium habens, nempe ad genua tua pricum re, & fadissimos pedes tuos, tuas inquam nefarias & judindas in stitutiones osculari. He makes use of another Answer For he asks his Adversaries, whicher bestice the three Religions they have mention d, (ind of which they account the two last not to much a Religion, as an Apostacy from God) they acknowledge any other? He supposes that they acknowledge. Natural Religion as true, and as a Means to become acceptable to God, and sufficient to save all Nations, the Jews excepted. 'I is that which is contain'd in the Seven Precents which Noah and his Descendants the Jews excepted 'I is that which is contained in the Seven Precepts which Noah and his Descendants down to Abraham observed. Then, said he, according to your selves there is a Religion on which I may depend although I descend from the Jews, for if my Prayers cannot engage you to give me leave to crowd amongst the other Nations, yet will I arrogate that Liberty to my felf. Whereupon he enlarges on the Praises of Natural Religion. tural Religion

a Car B Scholast Homer in Il 18 > Eustath Schol Apollon in 1 4 Scholiast Pindari in Olymp 9 6 Eustath 1n 2 II ζHygın c 14 n ld c 0 Homer Il 2 Paufan in Bœot Paulan 15 pm 148 x Apollodor Bibl 1 2 p 138 Ldic 511mur A Paulan Ib

ACTOR (A) is the Name of several Persons mention'd in the Fam Stephanus I So was call'd a one of Hercule's Companions in the Amazonson Watt, who having in Diction on received a Wound, had a mind to return home, and died in the way II This is also on the Name of Patroclus's Grandfather, for Menetius, Patroclus's Father, was Son of ACTOR the Name of Patroclus's Grandfather, for Menerius, Patroclus's Father, was son of Acrok and Agina This After was a Locrian, according to some 8, but he fettled himself in the Island of OEnone after having married Agina, Daughter to the River Association whom he got Menerius Others say, that he was a Thessairan, Son of was Son to Jupiter, and that the Nymph Agina having already had a call'd Aacus, went into & Thessair, where Astor, being sharp set, make the property her property have not weeklanding the Prepristing she had served in Matters of marry her, notwithstanding the Prentissip she had serv d in Matters of by her several Children, who conspir'd against him, which oblig'd him to turn them away, and to bestow his Kingdom upon Peleus, with his Daughter Polymele Peleus was son to £acus, and consequently £gina's Grandson, and had fled for a Sanctuary to Phthia, where Actor reign d, thither, I say, he fled, after he had kill'd his Brother Phocus III There has been one ACTOR? Son of Hippasus, who sail'd with the Argenauta. IV Another was Son of Neptune (B) and Agamede, Daughter to Augeus. And, V Another was Son of Axeus, (C) and Father of Astroch, by whom we God Mars had two Sons, who at the Siege of Troy commanded the Forces of Astrochymatic III. had two Sons, who at the Siege of Troy commanded the Forces of Affin, and Orchomenus, two Towns of Baotsa VI Another ACTORs, Son of Phorbas, build Town in Elas, his Native Countrey, which he call'd Hyrmine, by his Mother's Name Augias King of Elis, who, according to a some, was his Brother, and whose Stables, clean'd by Herenles, have made so much noise, affociated a both him and his two Sons in his Kingdom His two Sons were call'd Lurytus and Cteatus, and poetically Molsonides, because their Mother's Name was Molsone, see the Article Molsonides VII Lastly, there was one ACTOR, describ d as a Hero of the first Rate among the Aurunci, in the 12 Book of the Aneis Validam vi corrip t hastam Actoris Aurunci spolium, quassatque trementem Vociferani, Nunc o nunquam frustrata vocati s Hasta meos, nunc tempus adest Te maximus Actor, Te Turns nunc dextra gerst

A C-

HOW much the Notion of ınMatters of Religi on offends and pro vokes the Minds of

By the first of his Answers one may plainly see By the first of his Antwers one may planty see that the Objection of the Jew, was more specious than strong, more glittering than folid, more proper to serve their own Ends, than agreeable to the Exast Rules of Argumentation, and at the bottom somewhat fallacious. This is what makes it look plausible and specious. The Mind of Man is so contrived, that by the first Impressions a Neutrality, in the Worship of God is more shocking to him than a last of the Worship, and therefore it soon as he hears Lasse Worship, and therefore is soon as he hears that some Perinos have abandon d the Religion of their lithers, without embracing another, he is icid with more Horror, than it he was told that they have left the better for the worse. That first they have left the better for the worfe Interpretation divide, and moves him to fuch a Degree, that he mixes it his Scindard to judge of those People, and by it he squares the Passions he conceives against them. He does not allow himself time matricely to examine whether in reality it is better to list one sielt under the Devil's Banner in to me of these falls Palarines, which that homework to ne of these salse Religions, which that knemy of God and Men his introduc'd, than to keep to a Neutidity The eforewe may imagine that the Privihas who perfecuted short s, had to much friels upon their Objection, only because they found it proper to be wilder and startle the People, and to engage the Christians in the Quarel I contess they would not have made to much builte, had he embrac d Coristiani y it Amsterdam, or Misbumer |m at Constant nople, but in effect they would not hive accounted him less abundond, less damnd, or less an Apo-trate I heir I emper would have been owing to then Policy, and the effect of their just hear of the Resentment of the Reigning Religion Io judge of things by the sirst Impressions, there are but sew Prosestants who upon the News that T stus had left the Protession of the Reform'd Religion, without embracing any other Persuation, would not after that he were more criminal than if he had turn d Pap if But I would fain ask thele Protessar, Have you a bood Ground for it? Have you well examind white you would tay, in case he were become a great Bigot in Pop ry, if you should see him loaded with Relicis, in madding itter Processions, ind, in florr, practite the most over strain d Devotions of Idolatrous and Superstitutes Marks? Could you answer, That you would fay full the same, if you should learn that he were turn'd few, or Makometan, or a Worshipper of the Pageds of Ghous To repeat it once more, the Mind of Man is thus contrived, the first thing that strikes him is the Rule of his Passions He makes use of the present Circumstance, and does not consider what he would tay in another Conjun-

This Private Man (fays the World) has left us, and has embrac'd no Party, well, we must at tack him on that side has Indisference must tack him on that fide his Indifference must be his chiefest Crime, if he were turn'd Heathenay's we would attack him on that side too, and we would say, at least we would think, if he had but been Neuter, and kept to the main Point of Natural Religion, well, and good, but, &c

By the Second Answer, Acotta depriv'd his Adverfaries of a great Advantage, for he shelter'd himself against that strong Battery, It is better be of a False Religion than of none However, upon the whole Matter we will conclude that he was a detestable Person, and a Genius so ill turn'd, that he misers bly lost himself thro' the cross-windings of his Mi-

flaken Philosophy
(A) After] Mr Morers has without any Reasons chang'd this Word into that of Afterius, but that is but a small Fault in comparison of that into which he falls some few Lines after, when by these Words, Que fuit Afforide cum magne semper Achille, he proves that Ovid, from whom he quotes them, has ipoken of one Afferim How came he not to fee that there is no mention made in that Place of any Man call'd either Attorius or Attorides, but of Patro-clus, whom the Poets, for the fake of Verlification, are us'd to denote by the Patronimical Name Attorides; which fignifies, descended from

(B) Son of Neptune and Agamede] Munkterise in his Commentary upon the 157th Fable of Hyginus, pretends that Homer's Scholiast makes this After Son of Nepsune and Molione, but the Scholast fays no such thing Homer in the 749th Verse of the 11th Illiad mentions two Brothers whom he calls Autocious Molione, Milians Meliones Thereupon his Scholast says, that by these Words we must under stand, Creates and Eurysus Sons of After and Meliphe; or, according to some, of Melione and Neptune Homer throught them Sons to that God, for he adds, That they had been kill'd, had not Neptune their Father fuccour d them in the Engagement, by covering them with a thick Mist

Ει (b) μη στους πατής disuxpeins Ένου Ένο πατής disuxpeins Ένου Ένου της παλύ ως περι πολλη Νιβι τρfos Pater late dominant Neptumus

Nist types Pater late dominant Neptunus

Ex pugns erepty servasset, testes taligne mutts

(C) Who was Son of Axeus] Homer (c) calls him (c Id I Axeus, Ous than Axibya domo A top A Asidas. 1 2

Mezarist (d) takes notice of a Fault of the Author of the Great Etymologicum Who changle and a fault of the Author of the Great Etymologicum Who changle and a fault of the Author of the Great Etymologicum Who changle and a fault of the Author of the Great Etymologicum Who changle and a fault of the Author of the Great Etymologicum Who changle and a fault of the Author of the Great Etymologicum Who changle and a fault of the Author of the Great Etymologicum Who changle and a fault of the Author of the Great Etymologicum Who changle and a fault of the Author of the Great Etymologicum Who changle and a fault of the Author of the Meziriae (d) takes notice of a Fault on the radius of the Great Etymologicum, who thought that the (d) Upon same After mention'd here by Homer was the Father Ovid's lof Patrocky 'Tis what Homer never meant He piffles, speaks 248 44.

(b) Homer, Il. 1 11

ACTUARIUS ACUNA. ADA:

RIUS (A), a Greek Physician, of whom we have (B) several Works Ambrofine Leo of Nola, who has translated some of them, and gives him great Commendations, owns a that he could not discover what Man he was, nor from what Countrey. Peter Castellan in the Life of Illustrious Physicians, and Wolfgang Justus in Gesner the Chronology of Physicians, confess the same thing & Mr. Moreau in his Treatise of Bibl f 3 eleeding in the Plearily, believes that he liv d about the Year (C) 1100.

CUNA y (Christopher de) a Spanish Jesust, born at Burgos, enter'd into the So- C See in the Kingdom of Chili, and in number of the So- C See in the See i Professor in Moral Divinity He return'd into Spain in the Year 1640 Renovaand gave the King his Master an Account of the Commission he had received to exatus, p 6 mine the River of the Amazons The following Year he published a Relation of that River at Madrid. He was fent to Rome in the Quality of Procurator of his Province, VIt is pro and having pass'd into Spain, honour'd with the Title of Qualificator of the Inquisition, nounced A cugna but he return'd to the West-Indies He was at Lima when Father Sound, of whom I have the Spanitaken what you have read, publish'd the Bibliotheca of the Jesuit Authors at Rome in the aidswrite The Relation of our Acuna is entituled, Nuevo descrubimiento del gran 110 Acuna
The Author was ten Months successively on that River, and had Oide las Amazonas ders to instruct himself exactly of all that might mable him to give the King an Account of the actives Perhow to make the Navigation of it easy and advantageous. To that effect they made rule of the country of Perhow to make the Navigation of it easy and advantageous. him embark at Quito I with Peter Texeira, who had gone up that River so far, and whom they were glad to send back again thither. They embark'd in the Month of Preface of Preface of (A) February, 1639 and did not arrive at Para until the Month of December following the rench It is believ'd a that the Revolutions of Portugal, which made the Spaniards lose all Bra- translati-zil, and the Colony of Para at the Mouth of the River of the Amazons, were the cause on that the Relation of that Jesuit was suppress d, for fear that being useless to the Spaniards, it might become useful to the Portuguese The Copies of it became very rare, inimplies that those that published the ζ French Translation of that Book at Parm, declar d that there remain'd no more of them, except that which the Translator had made use rof the of, which is perhaps that of the Library of the Vatican Mr de Gomberville is the Au- 19th A thor of that French Translation, but it was not publish d till after his Death, and a long pill, 1683 Dissertation is added to it, that deserves to be read The Relation deserves it allovery θP 323 much Those that have it not, may have some Tincture of it in the Journal nof Paris, ann 1683 and 16 of Lerpsick, and in the History of Mr Chewreau.

D A, Daughter of Hecotommus *, and Sister of Artemisia, Queen of Caria, mar- 1811 4

ried her own Brother Idrieus, and reign'd with him in Carsa after the Death of Artemilia, edit of

(a) Pauian 19 p 311

(b) Hyde, Catal Biblioth Mercklis nus. in Linden

(e) Gef-& ejus Eprtomato-

(d) He begun to roign IN 1050

nte in Lindenio renovato, P 6, 7

🙀 He was, but batter to exprofé d st, Alexis the Angel, who begun to reign in the Year 1195 speaks of one After a Bastian, Grandson to Erginus, and Great-Grandson to Clymenus Meziriac quotes for this Pedigiee Eustathius upon the 2d Iliad, and Pausanias in Baoticus, but Pausanias makes (a) Clymenus Grandfather to Asto, but not Great-Grand-

tather

(A) Actuarius] Some (b) call him John, Son of Incharias, others (c) chose rather to make him Son of John Zacharias Vossius, who sides with the latter in the 13th Chapter of his Book, De Philosophia, speaks a little after of one John Astuarius who lived in the Time of (d) Constantine Ducas, as its inferred from his having a Sister, upon whom Michael Psellus composed a Monody If it should happen that that John Astuarius did not differ from the Physician here in question, Vossius had been in the wrong to distinguish. in question, Vossius had been in the wrong to distinguish them, and not to give the Physician the Name guish them, and not to give the Phylician the Name of John But by the Remark C there's little likelihood of their being the same Person Mr (e) Du Cange shews that the Title of Aduarius denotes a partreular Dignity belonging only to the Physicians at the Court of Constantinople, and he confesses he is ignorant of the Reason of it, notwithstanding all the Enquiries of Father Poulsines He owns also, that the does not know whether our Attuarius, whom he criffs John, Son of Zacharias, was possess'd with that he does not know whether our Attnarius,

(B) Of whom we have several Works] They were printed in Piris, in a Volume in Folio, by Henry Stephons in the Year 1567 having been printed before in another Place in three Volumes in 800 They have likewise been printed single more than once The chief of them are, De astronibus & affestibus spiritus an malus ejusque autritione, Libri II De Urinis, Libri VII first antificed into Latin by Ambrossus Leo, and printed at an 1519 and afterwards revis d and illustrated with Notes by James Goupil De Medicamentorum Compositione Ruel has translated this Treatise Mathodi medendi Libri VI translated by Henery Mathissus of Bruges, and printed at Venice in dedicated to Joseph Racendytes, and the Nicetas, in a Strab one Racendytes He approves what Lambecius (h) decided concerning that Physician's Time, which is, that he livid in the Reign of Andronicus the (h) De Lider, because in the Manuscript of one of his Bibl Cx-Books which is in the Emperor's Library, there far 1 6 is a Title that shews that it is dedicated to Apocan-P 11, But we know that Apocauchus hv'd under that Andronicus Mr du Cange observes, that Astuarius relates in the beginning of his Method of Remedies, that the Emperor his Master sent him to the Hyperborean Scythians Mr Moreau is therefore a little besides his Reckoning, for Andronicus the Elder did not begin his Reign before the Year

(A) In the Month of February 1639 I own free-ly that I have not the Relation of I ather Christopher (1) de Acana, therefore I take this Date in Mr Chevreau, and prefer it before the Month of noted in the Journal of Leiglick, because the Faults (1) I do not that the Printers of that Journal have let slip in the fay d' A-foregoing Page, give me some Reason to mistrust cuna, soi I see Page 324 of that (k) Journal, that the Governor of Brasil caus'd Peter Texeira to go up the River sirve d that of the Amazones in the Year 1639 and that Texeira the Spaniculal not arrive at Quinto before a Years end He inds do not therefore empark again at Quinto in the year Adid not therefore embark again at Quinto in the put an A-Month of January 1639 as is affur'd Page, 25 postropus Mr Chevreau (1) is more to be credited when he o mer fets forth that Peter Texeira departed in the Month of October 1637 and gave an Account of his Voy cle de, age to the Viceroy (m) of Peru, in September of the Aupro Year 1638 Mi Chevreau does not name the Aupro Name thor of the Relation right, for he callshim Christopher beginning d' Alcuna

> (B) Idrieus (k) Acta crudit

ann Lips 1554 (f)

(G) That he lived about the Year 1100] Mr du 4 pag 171 Edit of Holland

Contact durit not place him in the Reign of Alexis, (g) (m) He was called the Count de Chinchon Chevresalthough his Book, De affectibus Spiritus Animalis, is Ibd

Vowel

Sicul 1 16 I take the Duration of the other Reigns & Strabo, & Diodorus, ibid

2 Arrian

Alexand P 677

monly called the Terrestrial Paradice, and the Garden of n See the Remark of Rive conconcerning that Serpent

(a) Dio-dor Sicul 1 16

(b) Chev ubi fupra P 33

(c) See the Summary of that Harangue

(d) Vales not in Harpociat p 99

(r) Plut in Alexand pag

a Diodor. The a surviv'd her Husband Mausolm but two Years. Idriem reign'd Seven (B) Years, Sicul 1 and died of Sickness, without leaving any Posterity. His Widow having reign'd about four Years, was driven from the Throne by & Pexederes her Younger Brother, who to maintain his Usurpation, allied himself with a Persian Lord whose Name was Orontobates, to whom he gave (C) his Daughter in Marriage. Her Name was Ada, like that of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother's Name was Aphness, Daughter of Sympton of the dethron'd Queen, and her Mother of the dethron of t miss, King of Cappadocia Orontobates y succeeded his Father in-Law in the Kingdom' at the end of Six Years, and defended Halicarnassis against Alexander. The Revolvations that happen'd in those Times were favourable to Ada She I implored that Conqueror's Protection against the Usurper, deliver'd the City of Alenda to him, which belone'd to have the first second to the City of Alenda to him, which belone'd to have the first second to the City of Alenda to him, which belone'd to have the first second to the constant of the City of Alenda to him, which belone'd to have the first second to the constant of the city of Alenda to him, which belone'd to have the constant of the city of Alenda to him, which belone'd to the city of the ci long'd to her still, and promis d to endeavour to make him Master of divers others lexander gave her a very good Reception, and settl'd her again in her first Authority over all Caria, when he had subdued the City of Haltearnassus. She thought to shew her Oracitude by fending him all kind of Refreshments, Comfits, Pastry-Work, Delicate Sicul 1 Meats, with the best Cooks she could find But he answerd her, that he wanted none 17 Strabo, of all these Things, and that his Governor Leonidas had formerly given him more Excellent Cooks, in teaching him, that to dine with Appetite, be must rise early and walk; and that to make a good Supper, be must eat but a stender Dinner

A D A M, The Stem and Father of all Mankind, was immediately produc'd by God the Sixth Day of the Creation, his Body having been form'd of the Dust of the (A) Earth, God breath'd a Spirit of Life in his Nostrils, that is to say, he animated him, and made that Compound that is call'd Man, which comprehends an Organized Body, and a Rational Soul. The same God that had produc'd Adam, plac'd him in a sine Garden? and to put him in a State to impose a Name on the plac'd him in a fine Garden 3, and to put him in a State to impose a Name on the Beasts, he made them all come to him, afterwards he caus'd a Deep Sleep to fall on him, and took a (B) Rib from him, of which he made a Woman endum knew that that Woman was Bone of his Bones, and Flesh of his Flesh, and liv'd with her without being ashamed to see themselves naked. There was a Tree in the Garden of which God had forbid them to eat on pain of Death Yet the Woman, seduced by a " Serpent, did not forbear to eat of it, and to persuade Adam to eat of it also. From that time they perceived that they (C) were naked, and made themselves Aprons with Fig-leaves fewed

(B) Idrieus reign'd Seven Years] It is Diodorus Siculus that (a) fays it Mr Chevreau (b) who has converted the Years into Months, would perhaps have had more Reason to lengthen the Time than he had to shorten it, for Idrieus was yet living when Isocrates made his Philippick Now if we believe (c) Hermingue, he made it a livele before his Death and a mippus, he mide it a little before his Death, and a little before the Death of Phil p So that Philip must have lived until the 110th Olympiad, seeing Isocrates died few Days after the Battel of Chainnea, that was given in the 2d Year of the 110th Olympiad, only two Years before the Death of Philip Because therefore the Reign of Idrieus did not begin until about the 3d Year of the 107 Olympiad, (foi I shewed in the Remarks of the Article of Artemisia, that her Husband Mansolus, whom she surviv'd two Years, did not die until the end of the 106) the seven Years that Diodorus gives him are not sufficient. Yet I believe his Chronology more certain than that of Hirmpous. Where would Hermippus place the Reign of Ada, and that of Pexedares, whereof the one continue of four Years, and the other fix, and which preceded the Expedition of Alexander?

(C) He gave his Daughter in Marriage] Valefus
(d) thought that Philip King of Macedonia dein'd that same Daughter of Pexodares for his Brother Aredens, and he cited Plutarch That Historian (e does not tell us whether the Daughter of Pexedares, of whom he makes mention, was call d Ada, but it may very well be interied from what he fays, that she was the Lidest, tor we know besides that Orenteba-tes having married a Daughter of Pexedares, thought himself Inwfull Possessor of the Kingdom of Caria So far then Valifius feems to me very well grounded, but he had no reason to fay, that Philip defir d that Alliance for his Brother Arideus, Pexedares dethat Alliance for his Brother Arideus, Pexedares defir'd it, and fent Ambassadors to Philip for that Purpose On the other side, Arideus was not the Biother, but the Son of Philip Plutarch says it expressly He adds a thing that is not Useless to know the Obliquities of Courts the better Alexandr's Injends alarm'd him on the Proposals of Pexedarcs & Ambussador. There note in his bland, there Pullon Ambussador. Ambullador They put in his Head, that Pi lip would not advance Arideus by a great Marriage, but only to put him the better in a Capacity to succeed in the Kingdom Alexander to put by that Stroke dispatch d n Man to Penedares, to represent to him that he ought rather to cast his Eye on Alexander, than on Ar deus who was a Bastard, and almost a Fool Penedares did not boggle at the Choice, but

Philip understanding this Management, censur'd Alexander briskly, saying to him, that he would be very base, and very unworthy to succeed him, if he was stissy'd with the Daughter of a Carian, Vassal of a Barbarian Prince At the same time he exil'd all his Son's Confidents, and writ to the Corinthians to fend him the Man bound Hands and Feet that Alexander had fent to Caria He was a Comedian whose Name was Theffaius

(A) Of the Dust of the Earth] If we Lelieve Father Garasse Phorius (f) reports that the Egyptians seed of the Garasse surface of the English Parameter of the Chickens I do not thank that Phorius lake a Couple of Chickens I do not thank that Phorius lake a Couple of P 232 Chickens I do not thank that Photius laid so, and I should be much deceived, if it be not a licentious Paraphrase of that Jesuit, forged on what Photius rejects concerning (g) a certain Seaman whose Name was Oe, whom some made to issue on the continuous "Ou, that is to say according to Father Garasse (b) in another Book, of the Race of the First of all Men, whose Name was Egg Or according to 1 ather Schottus, by prime parents "Ou Many Enquiries might be made about the Egg, that served according to the Dostrine of the Anguents, for the Generation of things when of the Ancients, for the Generation of things when the Chaos was clear'd We shall touch some Parti-culars of it under the Word Arimanius

culars of it under the Word Arimanius

(B) And took a Rib from him] A Modern Author

(i) deligning to shew that the Roman-Catholicks are in the Wrong to think themselves more Learned than the Protestants, reproaches them among other Mistakes with that of a ik) Preacher, who said that Adam was form'd of one of Eve's Rib Hereported that a Philosopher having propos'd these Three Questrong to Theodorus a Disciple of St Pacomus, What man u not born but u dead? What man u born but u not dead? What man u born and dead but not rotten?
had for an Answer, that the three Persons in Question were Adam, Enoch, and Lot's Wise Adam is not born, added the Preacher, for he was form'd of one on were Adam, Enoch, and Lot's Wife Adam is not born, added the Preacher, for he was form'd of one of Evo's Ribs His Sermon was Printed at Vienna in Austria in the Year 1654 with the Approbation of the Sub-Dean of the Professors in Divinity, who was at that time Father Loonard Backin a Jesus That Approver declares that he read the Book, and that he found nothing in it contrary to the Faith, nor against good Manners A Proof the little Attention wherewith the Censors of Books examine certain Manuscripts tain Manuscripts

(C) They perceiv'd that they wer naked] The Scripture says that their Eyes were opened. That Exprefion

(g) Phot ex Hellad10, p 1583.B1M. n 179 (b) Theelea gical Sum. p 26 where he reports thus t bou fand Alterati-

i) Daniel Francus, de indicıb.lıbror prohibit epuft de-

(k) H# Name so Floren tineSchilling, Res of Se Paul and Barnabite,

God came and pronounced to them the Punishment that he would lewed tog and God came and pronounced to them the Punishment that he would inflict upon them, drove them out of the Garden, and made them Cloaths of Skins Adam called his Wife Eve, and confiummated his Marriage. He became the Father of Cain, and of Abel, and afterwards of Seth, and of divers other Sons and Daughters, the Names whereof are not known, and died at the Age of 930 Years a This is all the aserthe Certainty we have on his Chapter. A great number of other things that have been fiff know faul of him, are either very falle, or very uncertain, it is true, we may judge of some Chapter of General Contrary to the Analogy of Faith, nor to Probability. I place in that a so God land the Age of him, are either left, then to alienate us from it, nevertheless it might be that Manual had the that Idea, than to alienate us from it, nevertheless it might be that Manual had the start Idea, than to alienate us from it, nevertheless it might be that Manual had less fit. We us that Idea, than to alienare us from it, nevertheless it might be that Manin his Adam came out of the hands of his Creator with insused Sciences, and that he did not empirimage, lose them by his Sin, as the bad Angels are not become less Learned since their in the image of I all, and the Crimes of Learned Persons do not make them lose the Sciences that they Godernated posses. They have stumble grossy on the c words of the Scripture who imagin'd created have luch them, Gen.

a) Au-Del C 17 im c ect icati cant, ut mperium vulgus opt-concun 9 & l 2 de pecche merit Seremuil. C 22

(1) Id de civit Dei, 114 617 (d)Joseph Antique] 1 6 2 lianAnna-lium, t I

P 107,

A pry He liv'd in the beginning of the 15 Centu-Vinus,Serpent fe-duct p

PAS 49, 56, 57.

pression made People believe (a) that Adam and Eve were blind until they had transgress d the Commandment of God St Augustin refutes that Fallity iolidly in divers (b) Places of his Writings, and fays that that opening of our first Parents Eyes, confisted in perceiving certain corporal Motions that they were ignorant of before, and that made them ashamed Exercise (c) in most corporar quadam impudens novitas, unde effet indecens nuditas, & fecit at-tentor, reddiditque confusor

(D) What is said of his vast Science] Mr Moreri is not contented with Assuring in General that Adam natur had a perfect Knowledge of Sciences, and chiefly of Afirelogy, of which he taught his Children divers fine Sefirelogy, of which he taught his Children divers fine Sefirets, he adds also, that Josephus fays that Adam inter c 11 for the Stars on two feveral Tables I have lookt for this in Josephus, but find only (d) that the Deicennupt dants of Seth the Son of Adam invented Astrology, and caus'd their Inventions to be engraven on a Piltoncuthe firety of Rick, and on a Pillar of Stone, to preserve pof Brick, and on a Pillai of Stone, to preierve pile c procession of Brick, and on a Pillar of Stone, to preceive them from the General Destructions, that according to the Predictions of Adam were to happen once by the Deluge When a Person is capable to fallifie in such a manner an Author whom the cares, he does not look so narrowly into the Text he cites, he does not look so narrowly into the Text of his Witnesses, as to make them say nothing but of his Witnesses, as to make them say nothing but what they depose, so that I do not wonder that Mi Morers attributes to our inft Factor to have impect a Names on Plants, I say I deposition of the Names of the Beasts. I how that infer from that Imposition of Names that was a great Ph. of only and the part of the party of the par pher, do not argue well enough to deserve to be re-futed. To return to the vast Science that is attributed to Adam, I (4), that according to the (2) common Opinion, h knew more things the very first day of his Life than any Man can learn by a long Experience I here was farce any thing besides stuture (asualties, the Thoughts of the Heart, and part of the individual Beings that escap'd his Knowledge Casetanus who durst 10b him of the perfect Know-ledge of the Stars and of the Llements, was much of all other Mortals, have been condemn d to acknowledge, That Adam was more knowing than Solomon It is true, that Pinedo excepts Politicks out of it, but they have no regard to his particular Opinion, and they decide that the speculative Understanding of the first Man was endowed with all the Philosophical and Mathematical Knowledge that Human Kind is naturally capable of, and that his practical Understanding possess for a confummated Prudence with respect to every thing that Men ought to do, either in particular or in publick, and moreover, all Moral Sciences, and all the liberal Arts, Rhetorick Chetry, Painting, Sculpture, Agriculture, Walter County of the Measure of the have the page of the have the page of the have the medium of the Measure of the page of the have the medium of the Measure of the medium of the Measure of the medium of the medium of the medium of the Measure of the medium of the medi centur'd for it Some having made it a Question, whether Solomon ought not to be excepted from the gene-ture, Washing C. Every body knows the Praises that have by bestowed with handfuls on the Memory of arrivale, as if People had studied to outdo each other All Ideas, and all Comparisons were already exhausted, when a good (f) Carthusian being willing to scale a Superlative that had not yet been a first maintain. That Aristale's Science was as

(b) Apud in field, maintain'd, That Aristotle's Science was as eumd Restanded as that of Adam Some Rabbins have vanum it seemed themselves to equal the first Man with chers have (b) maintain'd, that he outdid the Angels in it, and have alledg'd the Testimony of God himielf for proof of it. They say that the Angels having spoke of Man with some didain, when took consulted them on his Creation, God aniwer'd them. That Man was more knowing than they, and to convince them of it, he presented all kind of Beasts to them, and ask d them their Names They could not tell what to answer, and then he ask d the same Question of Man, who nam'd them all after each other, and being Interrogated what should be his Name, and what was God's Name, he aniwer d altogether well, and gave to God the Name of febouah Here is the Sense that must be given to this Aphorism of their Doctors, according to those same Rabbins, Adam s Stature extended journal to the other (1), that is, he knew all things to the other (1), that is, he knew all things If any Per-

(F) Concerning the Beauty of Adam I If any Perfon had been contented to fay, that he was a fine Man and well made, he would have faid nothing but what was probable, but they have fillen into the Gaieties of Rhetorick, and of Poetry, and even into chimerical Notions on that Matter It has been fet forth that God intending to create Min, illum d a perfect fair Human Body, and that he form d the Body of Adam on that Model, whereby God might fay, in regard of the Body, that he made Min iccording to his Image They add, That that apparition of God under an Human I orm was the first prelude of the Incurnation, that is to say, that the Second Person of the Trinity cloath'd himself with the Appearances of the iame Nature that he was one day to take in Heft, and that under the likeness of the finest Man that ever was, he wrought on the preduction of Adam whom he made a Copy of that C and Divine Original of Beauty that he had assumed (k) Hanc speciem divinamque pulchritudinem elementifinus formosissimusque assumanque putentituainem etementis-mus formosissimusque assumens, quam erat post multa ten-por a usque ad carnem & ossa assumpturus, ereal at homi-nem largiens ei speciem hanc tantam, ipse prin us Archi-ypus, speciosissimus ipse speciosissim a protis ereator. It can nem largiens ei speciem hanc tantam, ipje prima.

ypus, speciosissimus ipse speciosissim a prolisereator. It can (o) sie be no wonder after this, that these I xelamations. Heidegbe no wonder (1) Quan am qualemvecridae suisse prima ftor Pami hominis illius venustatem's quantumin ore decus, quas gritias insediss? For in shoit, that I orm that the Word assum d, was like the I orm that was seen by St. Peter on Mount Thabor, and by Moses on Mount Sinas, and like that which Moses and Elias shewed in the day of the Transfiguration. But the most marvellous thing is, That Adam himself taw his own Maker, and the manner how his Body was form'd by ral Thefis, that places the light of Adam above the light the fair hands of his Author (m) (um fineerecur lo mo manus illas civinas alpexit ambrofiosque vultus illos, pulcherrima bi achia corpui suum finzentia, singulosque ai-tus ducentia A very learned Minset torth ell those alle Fancies, and there (n) are People enough who approve at least part of 'em

(F) That he was created with both Sexes A great number of the Rabbins believed (o) that Adam's Body was created double, Male on the one fide, and I emale on the other, and that both those Bodies were joyn d together by the Shoulders, the Heads look'd on places directly opposite, like the Heads of Janus Now they pretend that when God made Five, he only divided that Body into Two That which was of the Masculine Sex was Adam, and that which was of the Femiline Sex was Five Manessen Manessed the most (F) That he was created with both Sexes | A great num-Feminine Sex was Fue Manifeb-Ben-Ifrael the most Learned Rabbi that lived in the 17th Century maintain'd that (p) fantafrical Opinion, if we believe Heiacggerus The learned Maimenides, the Honour and diago ib Glory of the Jewish Nation, had (q) already main

(1) Tugubin in Coimopa is apud Silian iup.18 106

(1) Id 1b

(m) Id ib

(n'Salian tipico

triarch t 1 p 128

(p) Conciliat in ipud Heideggerum Hoornbeeck who refuteshim in the Iff Chapter of the 14th Book, de convertendis Judæis

(4)InMorch Nebuchim p degg ib.

(a) Plato ın Convi-V10, p

1185 edit

Francot 502

such a like Dream. The Revelations of Antomette Bourignon (G) would be improperly tain'd it, if we believe the same Witness Engubimai varied from it only as to the Situation of the two Bodies, for he pretends that they fluck together by the Sides, and that they resembled each other in all things except the Sex The Male Body was on the right, and embrac d the other by the Neck with his left hand, while the other did the like to him with the right hand Both were Animated, both fell into a deep Sleep, when God would form Eve, that is, separate her from the Male Body We need only know how to read the Scripture to confute all those chimerical Fancies Before I pass to other things, I shall speak a word of those Andregynes, of which Plase (s) spoke amply enough They were Hermaphrodite Bodies, with Four Arms and Four Legs, and Two Faces turn dagainst each other on one Neck That duplicity of Members gave them much force, That duplicity of Members gave them much force, and made 'em very infolent upon that account, they thought on nothing less than to make War with the Gods. A Confultation was held in Heaven on the manner to bring them to Reason, and Jupiter's Opinion was to part them into Two. Each of the Parts preserved a strong inclination to re-unite again, and this is the original of Love, if we believe that Philosopher But some Alterations were made in the Situation of certain Members, to make that re-uniton fruitful. I shall observe by the way, that they who speak of those Androgynes of Plate, do not commonly report the thing as it is. They make him say that Men had that Nature in the beginning, but he That duplicity of Members gave them much force, that Men had that Nature in the beginning, but he fays it only of fome, he acknowledges that there were also Males and Females as at present See the Remarks of the Article Salmasis. The Author of a Book (b), entituled, The New Visionary of Rotterdam, assures (c) that according to the Rabbins, Adam and France were both Hermanhrodizes before their fall. Eve were both Hermaphrodites before their Fall I know none but him that imputes that Opinion to the Rabbins

(1) It was printed in the year 1686

(c)Pag 36

(d)Preface of the Book entitl d. The New and the New Earth, printed at Amsterdam, in 1679

(c) Continuation of the Life of Mad im Bourignon, pag 315.

(G) The Revelations of Antoinette Bourignon]
That Gentlewoman's Books testify that she had very particular Opinions, but perhaps the advanc'd nothing more strange, than what concerns the first Man She pretends that before he finn'd he had the Principle of both Sexes in himself, and the Virtue to produce his likeness without the help of a Woman And that the necessity that each Sex has at present to unite to each other for Multiplication, is a confequence of the Alterations that Sin made in Human Bodies She fays (d), "Men think to have been created by God as they are at prefent, altho" it is not true, feeing Sin has disfigured the work of God in them, and instead of Men as they ought to be, they are become Moniters in Nature, divided into two imperfect Sexes, unable to produce "their like alone, as Trees and Plants do, which in that point have more perfection than Men or Women, incapable to produce by themselves, but in Conjunction with each other and with Pains and Misery" The (e) particulars of all this Mystery are explain'd in another Work, as it was reveal'd from God to Mrs Bourignon She believ'd that she had ieen in Extasy how Adam was made before Sin and how he alone could produce other fore Sin, and how he alone could produce other Men Nay, she believed she had learn'd that he had put that rare I ecundity in practice, by the pro-duction of the Human Nature of Jesus Christ Although the Passage is somewhat long, yet I shall set it down, to discover the better the extent of the strayingsthat our mind is capable of God represented to her in her Mind, without "the affiftance of corporal Eyes, which would have been overburthen'd with the weight of fuch a great Glory, the Beauty of the first World, and the manner how he drew it out of the first Chaor "All was bright, transparent, radiant, with an ineffable Light and Glory In the tame ipiritual manner he made the first Man Adam appear to her, whose Body was more pure and transparent than Crystal, all light and flying, if one may say so, in and through which were seen Vessels and Streams of Light penetrating from the infide to the outinde through all the Pores, Vessels that contained most lively and diaphanous Liquors of all Sores and Colours, not only of Water and Milk, but allo of bire, Air, & His Motions made an admirable Harmony Every thing obey'd him, nothing resisted nor could annoy him He was of a larger Stature than Men are at present, short and curl'd Hair, inclining to black, the upper Lip

tish parts that are not to be named, he was made like as our Bodies shall be restor'd in eternal Life, like as our Bodies shall be restor'd in eternal Life, and that I do not know whether I ought to tell In that Region he had the Structure of a Nose, of the same form as that of the Face, and that was a Source of admirable Odors and Persumes: from thence the Men were also to come, whose rinciples he had all within himself, for these was a Vessel in his Belly that bred little Eggs, and another Vessel full of Liquor that made those Iggs fruitful And when Man grew hot in the Love of his God, the desire he had that there should be other Creatures besides himself to praise, love. other Creatures besides himself to praise, love, and adore that Great Majesty, made that Liquor diffuse by the Fire of God's Love on one or divers of those Eggs with unconceiveable Delight, and that Egg being made Teeming, came out iome time after from the Man by that Canal in the form of an Egg, and came a little after to hatch a per-fect Man. In that manner there will be an holy and endless Generation in the Life Eternal, quite and endless Generation in the Life Eternal, quite different from that which Sin produc'd by the (f) I wish means of the Woman, whom God form'd of the the Author Man, by taking that Vessel out of Adam that contained the Eggs, which the Woman possess, and Visionatrom which Men proceed yet at present, according to the New Discoveries of Anatomy The first terdam, Man that Adam produc'd by himself in his glorified State, was chosen by God to be the Thione of fulled the the Divinity, the Organ and Instrument by which Vision of the Divinity, the Organ and Instrument by which Visions of God would communicate himself eternally with that Maid, Mankind That is Jesus Christ, the I inst-Born uand those nited to Human Nature, both God and Man (f) of the Manifer, in is, that Ameinette Bourignon should not have believed fuch a gay that the should rife again, for according to her Prin- Humour as ciples, the thick Matter that was added to Mail's Bo- he has agne dy fince the Fall (g), and that rots in the Grave, He might thall not rife again, and the Refurrection is nothing have rdielie but the re-establishing of Man in his State of Incented the nocency A State wherein, according to the fine latter are Revelations of Autoinette, there were no Women An bout his Heretick whose Name was (b) Annulry, was former. I ancy conly condemn'd at Paris, who maintain'd among other cerning the Errors, (1) That at the end of the World both Sexes shall Marriage be re-united together in one Person, and that that re-union of Adam-begun in Jesus Chilt, and that (k) if Man had consi- and Eve, nucl in the State wherein God had produc'd him, there without would not have been any distinction of Sexes Faber (1) Sporting so Stapulensis believ'd, that in the State of Innocency Adam might have begetten a Man like him from him- (g) Preface felt, without the help of any Woman So that Mrs.

Bourignon was not the first that taught those things, but she has added much of her own to it, as for instance, that perpetual Propagation which she says will be in Paradice, in the tame manner that Men of the 13th would have multiplied if they had preferv'd their In-Gentury What shall I say of Paracelfus, who behev'd that our first Parents had not the necessary Parts for Generation before they Sinned, but that nem relaafter they had finn'd they came out of them as an Ex- tionis de crescence, or like the King's Lvil at the Ant Bu-Throat' (m'Negabat primes parentes ante lapsum habuisse rign Act partes generations hominis necessarias, postea accessife us crudit frumam gutturi My second Resection is, That that Lipsiens Woman (n) attributes to Jesus Christ born of Adam all the Apparitions of God, spoken of in the Old Testament, and that she believes, that when he would Testament, and that the Delieves, that when he would (*) Fratecloseth himself with the Corruption of our Flesh and Blood olus Ein the Womb of the Holy Virgin, be enclosed his Body there, either by reducing it to the smallist had at ret vege its first Conception or Birth, or by any other manner unconCustomatic Customatic Parlows that were sufficient in the (!) Apud first Edition of this Work, do not suffice in the ieCornel à for some nearly the Persons have said that my Lapide in

" cover'd with small Hair And instead of the brucond, for some peevish Persons have said, Article of Adam contain d intolerable Obscenities. They must be answer'd, that they are too nice and scrupulous, and that they are ignorant of the Rights of History Those that write the Life of a wicked Man, may and ought to represent in general the ex- pudVossicess of his Lewdness, and what choice soever they um de make of words, they must necessarily relate Philosompure things, and which stain the Imagination phia, c, 9 They cannot avoid it All that they can avoid, is pag 7: the particulars, and the too gross Expressions, and () Centities I have done Those that write the History of sund Life, the Sects, whose Doctrines and Actions have been pag 317

Tancy concerning she much of the New beginning (1) Vide defensiorign A& miertæ, P 150 (k) Prate-Lapide in Genef c.2. celsus a alledg'd to confirm that false Gloss The Romantick Narrations of (H) James Sadeur might as well be employ'd for that use Neither is it more true that Adm was produced with the Circumcifion, and that being disple is d with it, he committed the Fault of those that St Paul mentions in one of his & Epiftles Let us place also among fabulous Stories, what has been faid of (I) his Gigantick Stiture, and of his (K) Books, and of his (L) Sepulchre, and of a Tree planted (M) on that Sepulchre, ϕc But let us have great Care c If e_{pr} .

impure, find themselves in the same Necessity. The greatest cruples of Style can never hinder them from representing sithy and obscene Images to their Readers. That which justifies me here in particular, is, that I relate Absurdities that are contained in a Book that is sold publickly. Besides, I have the Example of the ancient Fathers on my side, that have inserted the most hideous Impurities of Herendeaus. inferted the most hideous Impurities of Hereticks in their Works

(H) The Romantick Narrations of James Sadeur]
It is a pretended relation of certain Hermaphrodite Nations of Terra Anglialis See the Article Sa-Nations of Terra Australis deur

1) Philo le Opific b) In li-

110 Sanhe-

c) In tratatu de paradifo

lrim

(1) Of his Gygantick Stature | Philo (a) believ'd that Adam exceeded all other Men in Body and Soul, but the Talmud fts go very much farther, they at-firm b) that Adam extended himself from one (f the ends of the World to the other, when God form d him, that after he had transgreis d, the hand of the Loid grew heavy upon him, and reduced his Statuse to the measure of an hundred Ells Some fry that God did it at the request of the Angels that were affaid of that Grant, but they suppose that God left to the first Man the height of Nine hundred Cubits See the first Volume of the Rabbinical Bibliotheque of lather Barrolocci, pig 65 and 66 Barcepha makes (c) mention of tome Authors who fay, that the Ter-refinial Paradife was separated from our World by the Ocean, and that Adam being driven out of that Paradife, cross'd the Sea on foot to come into our World, and that he found it every where fordable, us Stature was to Enormous This is just the Orion or the Poliphemus of the Poets,

Quam (d) magnus Orion

Gum pedes incedit medii per maxima Nerei Stagna viam scindens, humero superiminet undas Summo (e) cum monte videmus Ipsum inter pe udes vasta se mole moventem Pastorem Polyphemum, & littora nota petentem

- Graditurque per æquor

(a) Vitg Æn 1 10 v 763 (e) Id 1b lib 3 v 655

() Moncon 714is,1 Par 1 372, Edit Lions

(g) Joh Lucidus, հե ւ de emendit tempor c por c 4 apud Pererium in Genef 14 quast 3 C 14 (i) Hie-Matth (k) Pereri-(1) Ludomanus i atricius in fua Navigat apud Biffelium

Jam medium, needum flustus latera ardua tinxit The Arabians have no less Idea of the Stature of our furft Parents, than the Author of Moses Barcepha See here what Mr de Moncons informous of "(f, My Arabian told me how the Caravan of Cairo arriv'd in it at Mecca, and that after having made their Prayers, they went to the foot of the Mountain, which is a League distant from thence, to wait for the other Caravans of Damascus and of Bagdet, that came the following days to Mecca, and that being all come the Ninth of the Twelfth Moon which is Diel Heghe, at the end, I fry, of the Ninth day, going into the Tenth, which is the After, all the three Caravans go to the top of the Mountain, on the Peak whereof (which is very low, like those Hillocks that are alone in the midst of Plains) they believe that Eve laid her head when Adam knew her the first time, and that her two Knees, were two Musket shot distant from each other, on two other Hillocks in the bottom of the Plain, on each of those places they have erected a round Pillar, between which, (to be a good Agi, that is, Pilgrim) you must pais going up and returning from the Mountain, on the top of which, is a Mosque that is made like a Niche, wherein but Seven or eight Persons can en-"ter' I see that a certain John Lucidus is cited, who (g) believ'd that Adam was the greatest of all Giants, and would prove it by these Words of the Scripture (b) according to the vulgar Translation, Nomen Herron ante vecabatur Cariatharbe Adam manimus ibi inter Enacim situs est By virtue of this passage St Jerom (1) fancies that Adam was buried in Hebron But (2) neither the Hebron Text nor the Translation of the LXX, say any thing whatsoever of Adam or of any Sepulture The Geneva Translation says, the Name of Hebron before was Kariath-Arabah which Adalah had been a sum great Man amount the gat apud Bisselium thankins There is a Mountain in the Island of Colon that is call'd the Peak of Adam, because according to the Tradition of the Country, it was the place of his Residence (1). The prints of his Feet are yet to be found there, above two Palms in length Pythagoras would not find fuch a Gigantick Stature there as that which others attribute to Adam, I fay, Pythagoras, who (m) judged of Hiralis s Stature by the length of that Hero's I out It is also faid, that there are tome Monuments on that Mountain, of the Tears that were shed for the Death of Abel, but others fay, (n) That Adam and Eve beward other Death in a Cave that is in Judga, where then Beds of Stone are to be seen 30 Foot long

(K) Of his Books] The Jews pictend o) that Adam writ a Book concerning the Cication of the World, and another on the Divinity Mississipping sprinks of the first A Mahomes in Author whose Name is K seus (q) reports that Airaham being gone into the Control of the Saber, open a Asam's Irunk, when we have send his Pools with the last of the saber of the sabe wherein he found his Books with those of Seth, and with those of Edru I his last Name is that which the Arabians give to Enoch They tay (r) that Adam had a score of Books fallen from Heaven that contain'd divers Laws and Promites, and divers Threatnings from God, and the Predictions of divers Events Some Rabbi s attribute the god "falm to Adam, and there are some Manuscripts where the (laldnick Fithere are some Manuscripts where the Cratanick 11-tie of that Pfalm bears, that it is the Praise and the Song that the first Man recited for the Sabbath-day (s) The good Eusebius Nierembergius, a very credulous Man reports (s) Two Canticles, which he faithfully copied out of the Revelicions of the ever bleffed Amadeus, in the Library of the Escurial It is faid, that Adam is the Author of those I wo Pieces, he made the one the first time he saw Eve, the other is the Penitential I salm, that he and his Wife recited after their Fall

(L) Of his Sepulchre] We have already feen that St Jerom imagined without any ground, that Adam was buried at Hebron, but there would be no lefs Reason to believe it with him, than to think with fo many others (u) that Adam was buried in Golgotha I confess that the last Opinion is better per la predica for it is much more seitle in Allusions, in Antithefes, in Moralities, and in all kind of fine Ligures of Rhetorick But such a like Reason is fit for little but to serve for a Proof to those that should ask why St Jerom's Opinion had less Sectitors than the other Concurrence being laid stide, let it suffice us to know, that the Fathers believed very commonly, that the First Man died in the Place where ferusilem was built fince, and that he was buried on a Neighbouring Hill, which was called Golgotha, or the place of a Skull, which is that where Jesus Christ wis crucified. If you ask me how Adam's Grave could crucified If you ask me how Adam's Grave could refift the Waters of the Deluge, and how his Bones could maintain their place, to receive the Aipersion of the Blood of our Lord, for there lies the point of the Mystery,

Hic (w) hominem primum susceptimus effe sepultum,

Hic (w) hominem primum jujicopimus effe fepultum, Hic patitur Christus pia janguine terra madefeit, Pulvis Ada ut possis veteris cum sanguire Christi Commixtus, stillantis aqua virtute lavari, If, I say, you make that Question, Barcepha will alledge a Doctor to you (x) very much citeemed in Syria, who said that Noah dwelt in Judaa, that he planted the Cedars wherewith he built the Ark, in planted the Cedars wherewith he built the Ark, in the Plains of Sodam, that he took Adam's Bones with him into the Ark, that after he was come out of the Ark, he divided them among his Three Sons, that he gave the Skull to Scm, and that the Offfpring of Sem having put themselves in the possession on of Judas, buried that Skull in the same place where Adam's Grave had been

(M) Of a Tree planted on that Sepulchre | Cornelius à Lapide (y) fays, that the Hebrew relate, that by the Command of an Angel Seth put some of the Seed of the forbidden Tree in Adam's mouth, who was already buried, and that it produced a Tree, of which the Cross of Jesus Christ was made, and that it was but just that the same Wood that had caus d Adam to sin, should be that on which Jesus Christ should expiate Adam's Sin That Jesus the was the same to Pinedo, prate Adom's Sin That Jesust refers us to Pinedo, who related that Fable at length. But what does he mean by the Hebrews? Doubtless he means the Jews New; do the Jews own that Jesus Chirist exprated Adom's

aThe Jews R bbin p not ft to the ans, ch 7

> $(m)\Lambda$ Gellius noct Att lici (n) Apad Sildenum otia I heol P 346 (1) Her--եր հոք l iti t 1 P 481 (p) Vide 1 p 230 q) Apud Stank-ium, 1 3 c 3 Philoi Ou-(+) Hotting Hift Orient p 22 Citante Lyiero m polyg prg 145 parSchottus techn curiof p 556 (t) Lib 2 de orig facre icript c Schottum, ibid (u) Sic Salim,Ann t 1 P 225 where he shews that 5 Jerom himfelf an dopis that pinion in ∫ome pla= (w) Tertullian 1 2 Carm Marcion C 4 (v)1)omi nus Jacobus Orrohaita (live Edeflenus) St Ephrem in the 41h Century, was has Disciple See Salian, P 226 Cornel 2 Lapide, p

> > (y)In Genelim,c 2 V 9 P 74

5 Ep1phan. Hær 46 Eusebius hist 14 C 17 Apud Cornel Lapide in Genef c 5 V 5 Vide Reuchlinum de art Cabbal p 8 & Heidegger Hist Patriarch t 1 p 160 6 In the Remark A of the Ar-Z Taken from the 10th Chap of the sth Book of the Perpetuity of the Faith defended naud cites the Treasife of Peter Strozza,de dogmatibus Chaldxon Nic Godignus, 1 bus Abasfinorum apud Aub de statu relig Christ p 2266 & Sornel. Biblioth

Societatis Jesu pag 397 (1) Id 1b

(A) See concerning

thu Rabbin, &c

the Republ of learning,

July 1686

art 3 p

Mæbio

de ænco

ferpente (b) See Sal-

dent s,otia

I heolog p 608 (c) They fignify Ja-cobus Sappe from

Genel c him condemn'd to Infernal Flames, as the & Tatianites did Nothing of i to believe him condemn'd to Infernal Flames, as the & Tatianites did Nothing obliges us to adopt the Opinion y of Origin, of St Augustin, of St Athanasius, and of divers others, that Adam was one of the first of those that rose from the dead with Jesus Christ, and we are yet less oblig'd to believe that his Repentance & would have kill'd him with Grief, if God had not fent the Angel Raziel to Comfort him But Reason requires that we God had not sent the Angel Razzel to Comfort him But Reason requires that we should believe that his Faith and his Prayers made him find Mercy, are that he are good End, without imagining for all that, that he made a Speech to his Death, and recommended them particularly to honour their Mo hilda bre bury her near him People give themselves too much Liberty when they (N) to e fuch We have related elsewhere what is said of the continuance of his direct Speeches State of Innocency

A D A M, Archdeacon of the Patriarchal Chamber, and Superior of the Monks of Chaldea, was sent to Rome at the beginning of the 17th Century, by Elius Nestorian Patriarch of B bylon That Patriarch having caus'd the Profession of Faith that Paul V had sent him, to be examin d by his Bishops, charg'd Adam to present it to that Pope, with the Alterations he had made in it, but order'd him also at the same time to correct what the Pope should find to gainfay in it This Embassy of our Adam was an Embassy of Obedience That Monk being come to Rome, acquitted himself of his Commission with all the care imaginable. He had brought a Writing with him, wherein he pretended to reconcile the Faith of the Oriental Churches with that of the Church of Rome, and to make it appear that their Differences were (A) but a Dispute of Words He had first shewed that Writing to his Patriarch, and afterwards by his order to all the Bishops of the Party, and he had been a whole Year going from City to City to cause himself to be approved by those Bishops Peter Strozza, Secretary to Paul V was charg'd to answer that Writing The Answer came nearer to Instexibility than Condescension, he explain'd nothing favourably, and the Legat of the Patriarch was not only oblig'd to submit to the Doctrines, but also to the Expressions of Rome. He sign d all that was propos'd to him from the Pope, and not contenting himself to abjure all the Errors of his Nation, he made Books, and addrest them to his Countrymen, to con municate to them the Knowledge he had acquir'd at Rome He departed from thence after an abode of Three Years, and he brought a Brief from Paul the V to his Patriarch Llias, who rejected all the means of Accomodation which that Patriarch had propos d and oblig'd had to condemn all the Terms that might cover any Error & Adam was accompanied with

I wo Jesuits n, that had orders to labour on the entire Re union of that sect A D A M, (John) a French Jesuit, was a famous (AA) Preacher in the 17th Century He was of Limiusin, and enter d among the Jesuits in the Year 3 1622, at 14 Years of Age His Superiors having found him fit to fucceed in the Pulpit, apply'd him to it after he had taught Human Learning and Philosophy He exercised the Trade of a Preacher Forty Years, and made himself heard in the chief Cities of Irance, and alfo in the lourier. He begun, as it was reasonable he should, in the Provinces, but when he had sufficiently signalized himself in them, he was sent on the great Theater of the Kingdom. The Conjuncture of the times favour'd himself the D sputes of Jansenssm had all eady heated the People, and never was Man many set than Fatler Adam to be let loose against that Party, like a rash Adventurer. The was Bold and Petulant, and had all the parts of a great Declamator The Sermons he preached in I ent at Parts in St Paul's Church in the Year 1650, mide a heavy Clutter The Preacher push d Mat-

Adam's Sin by the Punishment of the Cross, to which their Nition condemn'd him under Pontius Pilate? When an Author is full of a thing, he thinks others are so too, and does not always perceive the Absurdity of attributing his own I houghts to them Lassly, that I table has been diverily reported, for we find in a Rabb that liv'd long before Jetus (hrift, and whole Work is Entituled Gale Rasejah, that the Angels brought to Adam a Branch of the Iree of Lite in the Defert, which Seth planted, and that it became a Tree whereof Moses made good Use, for after having taken the Rod from it that serv'd him to work so many Prodigies, he took the Wood from it which he cast into the bitter Witters to sweeten them and that on which he fastned the Biazen Seipent (a) Some, fay that Adam sent sub to the Gate of the Garden of Eden, to defire the Angels that defended the Entrance of it, to grant him a Branch of the Tree of Life, which they did (b) (N) When they for ze such speeches] My Delign is to centure Father Salianus Not contented with the Speech, he made a long I pitaph for Adam, wherein he denotes his Name by their Three Letters (c) ISP He made Epitaphs also for Abel, for Abraham, for Serek Are Lamph ship is Garca pardocable, him cobus Salianus pofuit.

Sarah, & In truth this is fearee pardorable but in Authors who have newly taught Rhetorick, and I am strongly persuaded that the Sirmonds, the Petavisis, the Hardonius, and the rest of the great Authors of the Society of the Jesuits will judge of at as I

(A) Was but a Dispute of Words] The Sieur de Moo

m in his Critical History of the Levant, feems much perswaded that the Patriarch Elias had reason to maintain that there is but a meer dispute about words (d) Mon hetween the Nestorians of this present Time, and the Critical Catholicks (d) The Nestorianism of the present Time, History of says he, u but an imaginary Herise, all that Diversity the Belief ty of Opinions confifts only in Equivocations, for as much as the Nestorians take the Word Person in another Sense than the Latins Why then did they not acquiesce in the Explanations that the Patriarch of Babylon caus d to be given? It is, because in order to keep a decorum, and by a false Nicety of the Point of Honour, they must always maintain that Nestorianism is a dangerous Heresie, or elie they must prostitute the Honour of the Occumenical Councils This is what the Sieur de Moni would have faid in a free Countrey, but in France he must make use of cover'd Expressions, (e) The Councils, says he, having condemn'd the Heresy of Nestorius, it seem'd to be necessary to make it appear at Rome, that Nestoriansism was a true Heresy, seeing been condemn'd (figure Dy the Church in a general Council and with the same Prudence, That (f) sime might infer from the yeary Acts of the Ancient Councils, that Nestoria- (g) It is nism u but a nominal Heresy, and that if Nestorius the 11the and St Cyril had understood each other, they might have the3d Book reconcil'd their Opinions reconcild their Opinions

(AD) Was a famous Preacher] See the Letter that Mr de Balzac writ to him the 15th of Jan 1643 after having read the 15 Sermons that had fent him.

(d) Moni, the Belief stoms of the Nations of theLevapt P 93

(A) They

ters so far, that if he had not had powerful Patrons, they (A) would have interdicted him the Pulpit He had (B) Honesty enough to acknowledge, that St Aiguilla was no ways favourable to Molinism; and giew very angly with that Ancient Doctor The Fansenists (C) did not neglect that Insul. They published a Winting against his Sermon, and were not satisfy d with making St Augustin's Apology, but ic futed some other Propositions of that Jesuit, and particularly that which related to the Inspiration (D) of the Canonical Writers 1 ather Adam had no regard to the Complaints that were made against his Scimon, and against a Bool wherein he had express d many offentive Things against the same St always in He retracted nothing, and continued to write on the same Tone. The Sarfor strength of their Complaints, and their Writings, and a particular Conflict nose between them and Lather Adam. They criticized the Books that he published, and he made some for the use of Devout Souls, to thwat the Deligns of those Gentlemen To that end, he publish'd the Pfalms of David, the Hymns and Prayers of the Church in Litin, and in French Every body knows that the finsense endeavour d to make themselves recommendable by the French Translations of those kind of Books. They criticized the

(a)Pitin, 1 tter 37 p 162 of the t part edit of Geneva,

(A) They would have interdiffed him the Pulpit] This we learn from a Letter of Guy Patin, written This we learn from a Letter of Guy Patin, written the 12th of April, 1650, (a) Our Archbilbep, 13ys he, bas forbid the Pulpit to Mr Broussel, a Dader of Navarie, and Canon of St Honore, who is a great Janiemit, and not at all Mazarin, for having preach d within the fifther edgys a little too boldly Father Adam a Tesur would have felt the same rigor, for having preach a gainst St Augustin in St Paul's Church, and so having call'd him the Hot African, and the petulint Doctor, if the Credit of the selucis and of the Capuchins had not diverted the Archbishop from it

(B) H. had Honely enough 1 This must be under-

(B) He had Houghy enough] This must be understood, cum grano falis, with some Restrict on, and one would be deceived it he imagin dethat that Jefurt retain d nothing of the artificial Obliquities of those, who pretended that St Augustin is neither favourable to the Calvinists, nor to the Jansenists in the same Sermon that excited so many Complaints, and which he divided into Two Parts (b), he defign d the Second to show by the doll time of that lather, that Jesus Christ died for all Men without excepting any, and he had already published a Book, Entitled, Calvin deseated by himself, and by St Augustin's Weapons, which be had unjustly usurped on the matters of Crace, Free-will and Predefination Now he made no diffi-culty to 14y, that Janfenius and Calvin tiught the fame thing about the Dottine of Grace, and a few days after his Sermon, he aniwerd somebody that days after his Sermon, he aniwer a somebody that Reproach d him with it, I (c) fear nothing, no body can attack my Sermon, nor my Book about Grace, except he undertakes to support Calvin. What is it then thit ought to be inderstood by the Honesty I give him. We ought to understood by the Honesty I give him. We ought to understand that the I inherity wherewith he explained his I houghtson's conjusting uff n's Defects, noted plainly that he we willing thought he known that he did not think St Augustin and Model of high him those Matters. a good Model of Lath in those Matters

(c) Ibid

(8) See the

that Sur-

211011 P 2

Jansenists Writings .

> () of 6 : 1 4715 111 410

(C) the Janienists di nor neglect that Infalt] I ew dissisten they publish d a Writing, (d) the little whereof is this, St. Augustins D fine against the Errore, h Calumnies, and the Scaudalous Invictives that Father Adam the lefute preach d in St Paul's Church the Second I huilday in Lent, on this Text of the Goffel of the Canancan Woman, I amonly lent to the lost Sheep of the house of Is all They accused him of having find, "I That St Augustin was intricate and "obicure in his Writings, that being an African, "ordent and full of heat, he had been too often pal-"nonate, wasfallen into Lucess, had gone beyond "the Truth in opposing the Luemies of Grace, as it happens sometimes, that a Man who deligns to "frike his Lnemy, frikes him with io much vio"lence, that he casts him against a Tree, and give.
"him a Counter-Blow against his Intention II That "St Augustin himself in establishing Original Sin against the Palagians, was passionate to an excels of Error, in saying that Original Sin was punished in Children who died without Baptism, with the "Torments of lire, and with Dampation III That "St Augustin was not well assured of what he wist, feeing according to the Observation of Mr Gamache, he chang't his Opinion three times about the Doctrine of Grace" Those Reproaches and some others of that nature had already appear'd in a Book of Lather Adam Those that have not that Book, may find them in a Work that is easy to be consulted, I mean, in the Vindicia Augustiniana, wherein Father Adam is the first of St Augustin's Modern Adverturies that Father Norra refuted

(D) Which related to the Inspiration of the Canonical Writers] "Let no body wonder it father Adam

"faid in his Sermon that Sr August 2 went too for "by the Aidor of his Zeal, leeing he wir in an "ill Book (1) full of Falhties and Lriois, That i at "Weakness is not fo criminal, but that God Juffers it in "the Authors whom (emple, and whon we call Canomeal and that the Netwal Fire of St Paul p 622. "mas also capable to incline him to Expressions of that nature To prove that there is sometimes Wiak-

"nels in Canonical Author, and that they speak ac-"cording to their Imarinition in exp ssing the things that God has a wealed to them, he says, That when the Prophet Llus complant of he Imput) of his Age, he faid to God, that Fair wertinguish d'in the Hart of all Men, and that he remained alone of all those that ador d him on the Earth David affures, that ne-"our more Corruption and Disorder was sent in the in his Time, that there was not one Min to be found that did "a Cond of tion". This is the Doctrine that I after Adam's Century reproached him with. The result of it is, that the Intpir d Loctime, and the Laprefitons of those who he inspired, were two different things, that God was the only Author of the hist but that he left the other to the Imagination of him whom he inspired, and that he did not hinder that Imagination from going farther than the Holy Choil. Doubtlels this was I then Adams I hought; for the I xample of Elias and of David would not God reveal d that Elias was the only Worthipper of the True God, and that in David's Time there was not one Good Man on the 1 ith He therefore who ules fuch Lamples must needs be pertuaded that God had not reveal dit, but only that the Number of Good Men was small. At that rate the Imagi-nation of an Inspired Man makes that universed which as given him with refriction, it talks into the Sophism, a dicto secundary que de at desum simple it in a word, it tophisticites Revolution it deceives the Church, it lies. The same miss did not ful to caclum against that Dostrine, as being (di) impious, (dd) P is and opening the Gite to a thousand Attempts against the Authority of the Scripture "I or, and they, if God permits any Weakness in the Cumoned "Authors that he inspires it there is a Natural Fire "in St Paul, which is not that from God all that "a Libertine or a Heietick shall find in Holy Wrice" contrary to his Sentiment, he will say it is what comes from the Weaknels or the Natural Fire of " Man, and not from the Sprit of God "acknowledge any thing or the Weaknet, and of the Nitural Spirit of Man in the Scripture 18 to "give every body the liberty to make a Judgment of "it, and to reject from the Scripture what he planfes, as coming rither from the Weakness of Min than the Spirit of God I he (2) I ibertine (c) P 16. " will tay, that the lare of Hellwill not left always, "and that when St Matthew Said, Co ye conf a into "note the long confinunce and the greatness of "the Torments prepared for the Wicked according "to the Imagination of that Lyangelift." Those

Gentlemen pretended that I ather Aim had only made use of this to be able to rid i might of St Paul's Expressions that seem d hard to h m, and contrary to his Sentements, and to teach the Art of playing with the Words of the Apostle of Nations about Grace and Deine Predestination and with those of St Augustin If he finds himself prof d by the Ninth Chapter of the Fpiffle to the Romans, where St Paul fays, that God will have Mercy on whom he pleases, and hirden whom he pleases / may answer, that it is to Pauls Pin and he pleases / may answer, that it is to Pauls Pin and Mercy of the pleases / may answer, that it is to Pauls Pin and Mercy of the pleases / may answer, that it is to Pauls Pin and Mercy of the pleases / may answer, that it is to Pauls Pin and Mercy of the pleases / may answer, that it is to Pauls Pin and Mercy of the pleases / may answer of the Pauls Pin and Mercy of the Pauls Pin and Pin and

ral I retl at carried him into Expressions of that natu

a See Mr Daille's Reply, 2d part, p 19 part 3 P 234 and 424 B Which bappen'd in the Month of May 1662 y He died, being Mi-Professor of Divinity Aricht, the adof August, Father Adam laid many Snares in bus way, but be found an Adversary, who got out of 'e ``em ingeniously & His Name was Mr Cottibi & See Mr Daille's Life, p 33 and follow

(a) Confer what u Said pag 374 of the Advices the Refugees (b) See Mr SI mon's Anfwer to the .. of some Divines of Holland, his Critical History of the New I estament, C 23 the Universal Bibliotheque 1 10 p 132 # 11 p 80 and £ 19 p 499 (c)[n 1692 (d)Saurin Examination of Mr Turieu's Dostrine, to Serve for an Anfwer to a Libel entituled, Mr Jurieu s Second Apology

(e) See the

Muses of Father Adam; I mean the Translation that he had made a of the Hymnis in French Verse But that Combat with the Pen continued but a very tween them and him His Writings begun (E) in 1650 and ended in 1651. time be-It is likely they found that he did the Church and the Society more Service by his other Gifts, than by his Pen He was sent to Sedan to settle a College of Jesuits there. He would have found it very difficult during the Life of the Marshal de Fabert, the least bigotted Man in the World, and the most firm on the Principle of Plain-dealing The Protestants found themselves very easy under his Government, but Things alter'd after the stands of the B Death They were disturb'd a thousand ways by that Jesust, and oblig'd to Sums of Money, and to give him Funds that put him in a Capacity to settle the pollege that he thought of He publish'd a Project to which Mr de St. y Maurice, Profes-He liv'd for in Divinity at Sedan, oppos'd an Answer that remain'd without Reply some Years at Sedan, where he advanced the Affairs of his Order, and the Project of Conversions as much as he could. But at last the High Powers themselves were disgusted at him, and whether it were that they fear'd his Bold and Intriguing Spirit, or because they perceived that his Manner of Preaching had not all the Gravity required in a Place where there was an Academy of Protestants, they were pleased that his Superiors call'd him away I have also heard say, that some Instances were made for it He had been sent to preach at Loudun, while the Protestants held a National Synod there, about the end of the Year 1659 It is likely that this engaged him to the composing of a Work that made him known to the Protestants of France more than any thing else, and more than many Authors of the First Rank are known to them more than many Authors of the First Rank are known to them A Minister of Postiers having chang'd his Religion a little after the closing of that Synod, writ a Letter, wherein he very maliciously criticiz d the Fast which that Company had order'd all the Reform'd Churches of the Kingdom to keep Mr Daslle, who had been the Moderator of that Assembly, answer'd the Letter of that Ex-Minister. The latter anfwer d him again Father Adam would put in for one, and publish'd an Answer to $(F)Mr_{\bullet}$ that it is the Weakness which God Suffers in Canonical Authers, that it is the expression of a thing revealed according to (a) St Paul's Imagination, Nature, and Temper I omit what they answer'd to what was cited of Elias and of David, I shall only say, that they found a great Error of Fast in the first of those Citations for the Capanical Author that married d Citations, for the Canonical Author that mention d Elias's Complaint, did not mention it as the Expression of a Man inspir'd, but as the Expression of a Man that was deceiv'd, and to whom God reveal'd that he was deceiv'd Therefore that Author stray'd no ways from the most Historical Exactness in reporting a Falle Complaint of Eliar Those Gentlemen put the Publick in mind, "that among the Propositions "extracted from the Publick Lectures of the Jesuits "extracted from the Publick Lectures of the Jesuits of Iouvain, acknowledg'd by them, and censur'd by the I aculties of Louvain and of Douay, in the Year 1588 are the two following, To the end that founthing may be Holy Scripture, it is not necessary that all the Words should be inspir'd by the Holy Ghost And it is not necessary that all Truths and Sentences found be immediately inspir'd into the Sacred Authors by the Holy Ghost But whatever (b) Qualification those two Propositions deserve, yet they are very different from the Doctrine of Father Adam, and much less dangerous much less dangerous

I have enlarg'd upon this, because I observ'd that it was an unknown Fact to those who on Occasion of the Sentiments of Some Divines of Holland, have writ so much in these latter Years on the Inspiration of the Sacred Books All Communi-ons have their Father Adam, there are Writers to be found every where to whom the same Lecture ought to be read, that was read to that Jesuit Here is that which Mr Saurin, Minister of Usrecht, read (c) to Mr Jurieu, Minister of Rotterdam "The "(d) Comparison that Mr J made of the Imagina—"tion of the (e) Prophets that had receiv'd Imprefusions from above, with a Wheel, which being put in "morrory does not coass to move although the "motion, does not cease to move, although the Hand ceases to move it, is yet another Prophana-"tion I or tho he did not apply it to the Great Pro"phets, yet it goes directly to it. Or else he ought "to shew that their mov d Imagination did not run "beyond the Impression by its own Impetuosity,

"like the Wheel that is put in motion, as he says
"it happen'd to other Inspir d Persons, in whom God "produces those Extraordinary Motions for a Sign and Produgy, and who often go farther than they ought to "do By what Mark would he have those Persons "known that God sends for Signs if their Imagina. known that God fends for Signs, if their Imagina- known that God lends for signs, it their alliagina20th Pa tion being once first'd, confounds what comes from foral Let God with their Folly, and if they report true and er of 1689  false things with the Exterior of Persons ent of their  Senses, and that are in an Irregular Motion? That " mixture of Divine Inspiration, and Hidden Extra-

"vagancy under the same Exterior that resembles "Madness, is inconsistent with the Idea that we have "of the Wisdom of God" Some Persons are of such Ardent Imaginations, that they never report anything that is told them muthout over-doing it. They only retain the thing, and never remember the Expressions. of him that spoke to them They substitute other in their room, that are set off with all their and consequently are an unfaithful representation what was told them Those Persons easily believe that the Prophets and Apostles dealt so with the Idea's that the Holy Ghost communicated to them

(DD) The Translation that he had made of the Hymns]

What is to be found upon this in the ninth Part of the Difficulties proposed to Mr Steyaers, deserves to be reported "(f) It is a long time ago that no (f) Diffi "Prayer-Book has been more esteem d than that culties pro"whereof the Title The Office of the Church, and posed to "of the Virgin, in Land and in French, with the Mr Steyae "Hymns translated into Verse, that is otherwise call deer 9th "les Heures de Port-Royal. Or. the Primer of Port-Royant, p. Ad. les Heures de Port-Royal, or, the Primer of Port-Roypart, p 41al Four Editions were made of it in one Year, which gave so much Jealousy to the Jesuit, that they left nothing undone to cry it down They made filly Objections against it, that were immediately repuls'd They oppos'd to them Father Adam's Prayer-Book, under the Name of Heures' Catholiques, as if the others were heretical The Hymns in it were also translated into Verse, but fo ridiculously, that it only served to raise the Splendor of those of Port-Royal Lastly, they in-"fo ridiculously, that it only serv'd to raise the "Splendor of those of Port-Royal Lastly, they in"form'd against them in the Inquisition of Rome, and "made use of all their Credit to have them condem"ned there" Cardinal Spada intimated to Mr de St Amour, that if that Work of Father Adam was accus'd at the Tribunal of the Inquisition, they would condemn it Mr de St Amour answer'd,
That (g) if the Primer which he defended was to be blemish'd they might as well condemn it without the P 45 Company of that of Father Adam And that he did not think fit to use those Fathers to compose a silly Book, as soon as they see a good one appear that does not please them, in hopes to have them both condemn'd, under presence of helding the Balance even, and of keeping both pretence of holding the Balance even, and of keeping both Parties in peace

(E) Begun in 1650 and ended in 1621 Father Setuel notes but five of Father Adams of the last is his Answer to a Letter of Maries, and it came out in 1660. Here are the Trites of his other Books. Calvinus à seips & Augustine profigatus, Parifice 1660, in 840. Parifits 1650 in 800 Pfalmi Davidis Latine & Gallice cum Canticis undesim quibus utitur Ecclefia, Patisus 1651 in 12° Fidelium regula ex Sacra Scriptura & fauctis Pascribus deprempta, Patisus 1651 in 12° Proces Catholica Latine & Gallice, Patisus 1651 in 80°0

Mr Steya-

Vriting in the Year 1660 Mr Daillé answer d'them both in one Booki made a Work that succeeded him better than that, nor that has been Perhaps is fo much read by all forts of Persons among the Protestants, and that's the Reason why Father Adam, who appears almost at every Period in it, and often under such a Chaincter as makes Impression, is more known to them than an hundred Authors that are be-That Work of (G) Mr Daille remain'd without Reply, and it must not be a wond him That Work of (G) Mr Daillé remain'd without Reply, and it must not be a Wonder, those that ought to have reply'd to it, had not the Force of such an Adverfary, who even in a Bad Cause, could have drove them before him I do not know in what Year Father Adam was the Procurator of the Province of Champagne at Rome, the Jefuits a Bibliotheque does not noteit, but it informs me that in 1674 he was Superior of Collegi-the Maison Professe at Bourdeaux I think he died in that Employ about the Year 1680 um Seda-He had publish'd some Sermons of Controversy on the Fucharist, which was the Gospel nemse in of the Day all over France, during the Quarrel between Mr. American Provinces of the Day all over France, during the Quarrel between Mr Arnaud and Mi Claude, I Campa-(12y, he had publish'd them since the Impression of Father Sotuel's Work, and I think he preach'd them in the height of that Contest They are not ill turn'd, but they look a qua el little too much like a Dramatick Piece, because Mr Claude appears sometimes in them thus estimated the contest of the source of t Father Adam pass of through the procura-tor ad U as an Interlocutor I only speak of it by hear-say hands of Father ferrige, but more mildly than divers others, and came off (H) very chean cheap

Sotueluh Supra

(F) An Answer to Mr Daille's Writing] Father Social entituled that Work, Responsion ad Episiolam D. Allis Ministri Charentonensis Haretics. This is to latin ze Mr Daille's Name milerably, and it is a fign that Father Societ read but few Books of Controverly For 1s there any Controvertist to whom Mr Daille Latin Books are unknown, and who confequently does not know that that Minister's Name in Latin is Dallaus? All those that know confusedly that there was a Minister of Charenson, whose Name was Mr Allix, will believe without hesitation that Father Adam made a Book against him, if they had no other Light than that which the Article of that Jeiut gives in the Continuator of Alegambe, and thus the least Faults about Proper Names are able to declude the Readers A Person that should once have taken Mr Alix for the Alius of that Continuator, ungue well place him in the Catalogue of the Facus Children, and fend him to Mr Baillet (c) as an Addition, for he would think that Book was printleft do and refuted by a I amous Je-Mr Allix for the Allius of that Continuator, might

The Curious will be glad to see here what the Son of that Learned Minister observed concerning that Book He says (d), "it is in every body shands, "and was so well received, that two Editions have "already been made of it Those of our Communion, for whom it was chiefly made, find with latisfaction most of our Controversies treated in it after a manner very proper to instruct them, and our Religion cleared from every thing that its Enemies commonly charge it with And if we may draw any advantage from the Silence of our Adverse Parties, it seems as if they had condemn'd themselves, seeing hitherto neither of them have oppos'd any thing against it, although of they often promis'd the contrary, and have been reproach d for it divers times "Mr Daille the Son laid a thing that infinuates clearly that I ather Adam was the Converter of the Minister Cottibi I ought then to note it as one of the Prowelles of him that makes the Subject of this Article Let us hear then Mr Daille's Historian once again "Not on"ly the new converted Roman, who was the Party
"concern'd, defended himself by publishing a pret-" ty large Answer, but moreover as if his Cause had "not been fure enough in his hands, a Famous Je"fuit came to his affiftance, of whom fome of his "Communion have faid that he is the first Man of the "World only by his Name The Reader understands "well enough by this, that it is Father Adam, who to defend his Profelyte, publish'd a fecond Answer at the same time with him, about the same bigness

That first Man of the last Passage supply'd me in the first Edition of this Dictionary with a Marginal Note, which shall make at present part of the body of this Columbia. I have heard say, that the Queen "Mother hand ask'd a great Lord that had accommand any of the to one of Father Adam's Sermons, what the chought of it, he thank'd her for having been so "mail conversal have of the Original State Present of the Present well convinc'd by it of the Opinion of the Pre-" adomites He was desir'd to explain that Enigm, he answer'd, That Sermon made me see very clearly that "Adam is not the first Man of the World" You will find that Story in the Continuation of the (c) Menagiana, and you will find there also that the great I ord that and you will find there allo that the great Lord that answer d the Queen so, was the Prince de Guemen' and that the Sermon (f) that gave occasion for that (f) It was Jest, was very ill received by the City and by the Court a Sermon Father Adam made a very odious Comparison in it of the on the Passantians with the Jewisthat had crucified our Lord He sien, He fion, compar d the Queen to the Virgin, and Cardinal Maza-tin to St John the Evangelist Note that o hers give rin to St John the Evangelist Note that o hers give by Father that Jest to Benserade Read his Life before the last Adam at (g) Edition of his Works

St Ger-

(H And came of very cheap] I find three Passages that concern him in the Libels of the Ex-7esure

ges that concern him in the Libels of the Ex-Jefuit AuxerJarrige Here is the first (h) I atmir John Adm, rois one of the best Preachers they have interpreted the Tratise of Generation to an Utivaline of the Convent of Saint (g) That Macuire, and spoke as plainly of the Paris that contribute the Tear to the Procreation of Children, as the Sicur du Laurens in his Anatomy The second contains these Worlds, All (1) those that more in the College of Problems in the (h) Live his Anatomy The second contains these Words, All (1) those that were in the College of Poictiers in the Year 1646 Year 1646 knew the Quarrils between John Adam rige, the and James Biroat They attack deach other in Such an ho- 7 Justs shall manner, that they made their finking Ordures applaced on pear by a Secret of the Provid nee of God, and James Birote Stafroat remained convicted, &c The third lays, (k) that fold, c to John Adam, the most Excellent of their Preachers, is the Son of a Taylor The first of those three Passes can only huit the Memory of Father Adam, for the second makes the Ordures that were discovered (k) June 1900 (2019). in consequence of their Quarrel, fall on Biroat's head alone Thus all that the Scandalous Chronicle, and Private Memons had revealed to Father Jarrige concerning Father Adam, is reduced to fome Lessons Beauses, Anatomy made to a Nun on the Generation of Children Once again this is to come with imill charges out of the hands of Jarrige Which will be conteined to me, if but never so little Reslection be made on the Character of his Work. If that Author had told use that Nun's Age, we might judge more securely us that Nun's Age, we might judge more fecurely of the Fault I o speak of those things to a young Nun is doubtless a great Sin, because it is morally impossible but that such a Conversation should excite Impure Thoughts, but I would willingly have a Casuist of good Sense, that is neither too loose, nor too rigid, to examine this Question, Should a Nun of Such an advanced Age, that she could hear a Lesson of Anatomy on the Organs of Generation with the Jame Indifferency as the Explication of the Parts of the Ear, commit a Sin by the Curiofity of hearing that refford I be-lieve it will be granted me that it is very lawful for a Woman of what Condition soever, to know all mick Cuthat is faid concerning the Circulation of the Blood riolity It is no Sin for her to know that the most Subtle Parts of the Chyle pass from the Intestins into the Lasteal Veins, and from thence successively into the Refervoir of the Chyle, into the dustus theracicu, into the Subclavian Vein, into the Hollow Vein, into the Right Ventricle of the Heart, into the Artery of the Lungs, into the Vein of the Lungs, into the left Ventricle of the Heart, and into the Great Artery of the Meart, without Su the playing of tery She might know without Sin the playing of the Valves that are at the Extremities of the Veins and of the Arteries, the Anaflomoses, the Secretion of the Urine, &c Why then should she be criminal for finishing her Course of Anatomy, and Learning exactly all that is faid on the Inwild and Outward Parts that are design d for the Procreation of Chil-on the Pasa preach'd main de l' Auxer-

(g) That of rige, An-

A Doubt propos d fuifts on an Anatodren à

1688 em situled, Of the Children that bemous by their Studies or by then Writings

(d) Abridgment of Mr Daille s Life,

P 35 printed in she Year 1670

e Under the Word

fays look for Melchior A-dun . but nothing is

h Ihis I

Melch

Bergerus

Ste the k-citory of Inc Creimin Phi-

4 lienn

Witte, Dinium Brog

found

theap. Lastly, he was not the first who spoke (1) disoblingingly of St Angustin, and who endeavour d to perfuade that St. Paul (K) run upon Ext reams by his too Fiery

A D A M (Melebur) liv'd in the 17th. Century The Indefatigable Care he took to collect, frame, and publish the Lives of a very great number of Learned Persons, deserved that somebody should do him the like Office, and yet I think no body ever did it M. Morers a had engaged himself to speak of him, but he forgot his Promise when the Time to perform it presented it self. The Engagement and the Non-performance Adm. be have sublisted hitherto & in all the Editions of his Dictionary It was dishcult to forget Writes of whom we often borrow many Articles As for me, that find my felf very much indebted to his I abours, I would testify my Gratitude to him in giving the Pargod to Mulchior, ticulars of his Life at large, but I could nowhere find the necessary Materials for it. Here is what I have found Melchior Adam was born in the 7 Territory of, Grotking in Silesia, and perform d his Studies in the College of Brieg, where the Dukes of that Name took great Care to make good I nerature flourish, and chiefly the Reform'd Religion I mean that which a Roman-Catholick would call Calvins The Young Min learn'd to be a good Referenced in that School To continue his Studies, he had a nritein Junc 1698 Min learn'd to be a good Refermed in that School share in the Liberalities that a great & Lord had defign'd for the Entertainment of a Alim, I pift Decertain number of Scholars He became Rector s of a College at Heidelberg, and it was in that City that he publish'd the first Volume of his Illustrious Men in the Year dicat Gui-That first Volume which contain'd the Philosophers, and under that Name, the Poets, the Humanists, the Historians, &c was follow'd by three others That which Joachim contun'd the Divines, was printed in the Year 1619 that of the Civilians follow'd it, and lastly, that of Physicians These two last were printed in 1620 All the Learned whose Lives we see in those Four Volumes in 800 liv'd in the 16th Century, or in the Pille Dedibeginning of the 17th and are Germans or Dutchmen, but there is a Score of Divines of other Countries, whose Lives our Author publish d separately in the Year 1618 All his Divines are Protestants Although he compos d but few of those I ives, yet he allow d much time to that Work, and took much pains with it, because he abiidg'd the Writings that furnish d him with the Materials, whether they were Lives properly faid, or Funcial speecha's, Programma's, Elogies, Prefaces, or Family Memoirs I say nothing of the Summaries that he placed in very great numbers in the Margins. He fordren? The Crime cannot confift in the bare knowledge of those things, it must consist then in the Impure Thoughts that might accompany, precede, and tollow that Study But I supposed that the Perton should be in the time Calm as if it was the Study dy of the Anitomy of the I ar This is the Cale on which the Argument must run Not setting my self up for a Casusst, I give the thing to be decided to whom it belongs, and I fly only, that to play the furest way, it is better that Perions that are not of a Protession to be oblig d to know those I lings, and chiefly those that mide a Vow of Continency, thould never havefuch a Currofity, or ever latisty it so that I other Adam could not have owned the I all without owning that he had committed al jule The greatest Charity of People would go but little tuther than this, that the Nun was for this Maxim, Am srel ceat, fi potiri non lect Dum caremus veru gaudia falfa juvant

(1) He was not the full that spoke disollingingly of St Augustin | Mi Sarran writ to Mr de Saumaise in 1646 that the Jeiusts said daily in the Pulpit, I hat St Angustin was not the Rule of Laith, and that he had advanced many Things indiscreetly, to clear himfelt from the Objections that were made Non (d) ef his Pater rigid t fider Ut fe expedire ab argumentis hereti orum fui temporis multa liberi-At im, four Diss after his Sermon, contess d to a Person that represented to him the Prejudice that his Sermon might crufe (e) Flat Gabriel a Porta, a feluit, In the often, that it were to be wish dethat St Augustin to never writt of Grice. Some Divines had very freely deeln d long before the Birth of Jansenson, that St augustin had pushed Things too ful, and that when he had certain Advertages opposed against him, he stray d from their Livers to aidently, that he feem d to go to the Oppolite I xtremity ple, when he opposed the Litor of the Pelagrans, he leem d to advance too much towards that of the Ma-No idopt the Heiety of Pelagius An Irishman, whole Nime is Paulus Leonardus, cites (f) Genebrardus, Corne-In Multic, Bishop of B conto, Conctanus, and Sixtus Senen upon this But I ather Annat cites many others in the time Book (g) wherein he endeavours to prove that St Aurustin is not of Jursenius s Opinion See what lather Novie uniwer d to that great Cloud of Witnesses, produc d against that great Bishop of Hippo Some Protestants are not far from that I hought, that St Augustin over-strain'd Things I do not speak of the Philosophical Committary (b), do not speak of the Philosophical Communitary (b), (b) Party, wherein Father Adam's Judgment is approved in some properties of the manner, nor of the Universal Bibliotheque, (1) whereast of the St. Augustin is represented just as Father Adam Suppliment could have desired in I speak of Mr. Daill, who properties only (k) involves a Augustin in the General Accusations that he rules against the lathers, of (1) Tom teaming to fell into a Percentic when they their the same feeming to fall into a Precipice, when they fluin another, but who accuses him allo to have (1) treated 287.

Things too much after the floating manner of the Academical Philosophers. A little Book was published some time ago, entitled, An Important Advice of the Ule to M. Arnaud, which speaks of a Third Party that of the Fast forming, which shall neither be sameinist, nor thois p. Molinist, and that shall place at Angustin between m. 153. Heaven and Earth neither too high, not too low. That Medium would pacify the Lioubles, if Peo. (1) Ibid ple would be reasonable. By that means it would p. 39, be permitted to be Tansen for Molinist, as every body. Heart would give him. Ought it not to suffice. (m) In the Jesuits that a Angustin is not the Rule of Father 1653 for feeming to fall into a Precipice, when they shun athe Jefuits that St Augustin is not the Rule of I aith the Jeluits that St. Augustin is not the Rule of Faith: 1653 fee Did they require any more in the Booksout of which the History the Deputies of the Jansinists (m) took above an rical Me-hundred Propositions that attack the Authority of mrial that Inther .

(A) To persuade that St Paul run upon Extreams] the 5 Pro-There is a l'assage of Father Caussin (n) in the Cen-positions sure of (o) I their Adam's Cermon, where St Paul p m 820 and St Augustin are compar'd to two great Seas that [well in Such manner by an Impetuefity of Spirit in a Bank, (n) In the that they feem to leave the other dry for a while, but as Holy Court, tle Sea after having spread it self largely on one jide, re-turns into the Limits that God order'd it, so these affection of the Limits that God order'd it, so these affection of the having run on the Rebellions Spirits that rise against predestinathe Truth, return into a Peaceable Equality to edify the House of God I his is that Wheel that makes more to Turns than it is commanded, to which we have feen (p) that a Minister compared the Prophetick (o) P 17 Spirit St Paul and St Augustm overshow their Banks sometimes but like the Fide they return afterwards to the Bounds that God has see them What a fine way to austre all the Pallage of St. Rev. a fine way to answer all the Palinges of St Paul (p) Here that are incommedious! It is but to fry that he had above to then overflow'd all the Country, and that his Re-ward the turn must be waited into the Channel that God had end of the given him Sir Edward Sandis informs me of Thing Remark D given him Sir Edward Sanais into this me that comes too well here not to be inferred the that comes too well here not to be inferred to the second to the se

(b) Party.

concern ng

Ipift Suzň n, p 105 (i) 11 1 Wri ing arainst ENE SEITHON of Father Ádam, P 24 (f) Paulus conard Reipons ad expothulttiones contri Scientum mediam p 11 119 (g) En 111-Les Augu-Amus vindicatus à Baja-1 15 got some Perions (AA) that were no less considerable than divers of those he spoke of a Vid-The Lutherans are not a pleas'd with him, they find him too Partial, and will not have kong his Collection to serve for a Rule to judge c of the Learned Germany He died in the Year 1622 He made (A) other Works Confult Mr. Basller, in the 177 and 178 pa- 8 ges of the 2d Tome of the Judgment of the Learned

ADAM, a Joyner of Nevers and a French Poet Look for Billaut

ADAM, a Joyner of Thebers and a French Foet Look for Bluaut ADAMITES 7, a ridiculous Sect, which, according to some A Authors, was to Protect a Branch of the Carpocratians and of the Valentinians Theodoret e gives it (A) a certain Memor Prodices for Founder St Epiphanius & testifies that the Name of Adamians came to them Theolofrom a certain Adam, who liv'd in the time when they were so calld It is more likely gorum, from a certain Adam, who liv'd in the time when they were so calld It is more likely gorum, p 17, 8 that Adam the Stem of all Human kind was the Source of that Name, as St Augustin n 18 informs us, for those miserable People imitated the Nakedness in which our first Pa- 6 Monthsrents lived during the State of Innocency, and condemn d Marriage because Adam hus Podid not know Eve until after his Sin, and after his going out of Paradise. So that they like p 192 believ'd that if Man hid perfevered in his Innocency, there would have been no Mil- 2 or Auriage Therefore they made Profession so of Continency, and of a Monattick I ste gustin.

As for the Therefore they only observed it (B) when they were islembled for the I and Adams of the Language of the La Fire they kindled under the Chamber, they put off their Cloaths in going into it, and of Ip Men and Women It together, the Ministers is well as the I arry, in the same condi-phan us then as they came out of their Mothers Belly They feated themselves Pell-Mell on a well than as they came out of their Mothers Belly. tion as they came out of their Mothers Belly Benches that were above each other, and they perform'd their Devotions of the which perform their Cloaths again, and went home. If any committed a Finite, he was a vide (C) no more receiv'd into the Assembly They faid that having like ald m ent of the Danxum forbidden Fruit, he was to be driven like him out of Paradife, for to those People cell d in August fays, (a) I have it from very good hands, that in Italy they have such a lively Jealousy against some Parts of the Scripture, and chiefly against the Epistles of St Paul, that not long ago some Jesu t exalting St Peter as an Excellent Man, in their Publick Sermons, and among their Favourers in Private Conversations, censur d St Paul as a Person of a Petulant and Hot Brain, who in most of his a rerion of a returant and cool brain, who in most of his species had suffer a himself to be carried so immoderate-by the Sallies of his Leal, and the Arimony of his Spirit, That no great account was to be made of his Affertions, and that the reading of him is very dangerous, [avouring of Herefy in divers places, and perhaps it had been better that he had never writ. In conformity to which I have neard Roman Catholicks Jay divers times, that they have already often confulted among themselves, in some manner to confuse and reform St. Paul's Epistles. Although, to lay what I think of it. Leanner with a lay what I think of it. Leanner with a lay what I think of it. Leanner with a lay what I think of it. Leanner with a lay what I think of it. ner to cenjule and reform St Paul's Epistles Although, to jay what I think of it, I cannot give Credit to it, the Undertaking in it self being so blasphemous and abominable, and the Scandal would be despirate in these Times But, however, it is certain, that they esteem St Paul below all the Sacred Writers And I know of my own knowledge and hearing, that some of them teach in their Pulpits that that Holy Apostle had no other Assurance of his Preaching than the Conference he made of it with St Peter and that he durst not publish his Epistles he one present the conference be made of it with the Peter, and that he durst not publish his Epistles before St Peter had approved them. These ire very aukward Persons, for if the Epistles of St Paul were approv d by St Peter, they have all the Authenticity that can be defin'd

(AA) He forgot some Persons that were no less considerable] He acknowledges it himself, but he de-clares that there was no Affectation in it, and that a Defect of Memory was the only cause of it pos'd to himself to supply that forgetfulness in some other Volumes These are his Words, (b) Quadam mi-hi monendus a rogandus es, mi lettor Primum, ne prahi monendui a rogandus es, mi lettor Primum, ne prateritos aut omissos non paucos queraius, haud ndignos, qui boc in theatro appareant In eo mea, mi lettor, culpa nulla est sed penuria secit historia quam naucisci nullam uspiam potui Malui itaque prossus tacere de multu prastantibus viris quim, ut illo de Carthagine, pauca dicere or trita illa Natus est obiit, scribere Suppleri tamen poterit sic descitus, volente Deo, or muiuas operas tradentibus boiis patriaque amantibus si hujus Voluminus tomus secundus sucre sucre demunius quod idem desum volo, de resiguis vitus surisconsiultorum & Pohi monendus a rogandus es, mi lettor

Voluminus tomus secundus suerit adornatus Quod idem detum volo, de reliquis vitus Jurisconiultorum & Politicorum, Medicipum, ac Philotophorum

(A) He with the other Works of the With Apographum monumentum Heidelbergensium Nota in Orationem Julii Casaris Scaligeri pro M T Cicerone contra Ciceronianum Erasmi Parodia & Metaphrases Horatiana (c) It is not true, as it is assured in the Catalogue of Oxford, that he is the Author of an History logue of Oxford, that he is the Author of an Hiffe-

ris Ecclesiastics Ecclesia Hamburgensis & Bremensis It the Work of a Canon of Bremen, whose Name is that liv'd in the Eleventh Century Comingidate of Possevinus that plac'd him in the Tenth are taken See Mollerus at the 65th page of the first part of the Isagege ad Historiam Chersensis Cimbri-

(A) A certain Producus for Founder Bironius places doretllahim in the year 120, and makes him more incient than act fabul Valentinus, which moves him to centure in(d) inother place those that reckon him among the Disciples of ζI piphin Valentinus If that be true, Lambertus Danæus, whom in Synop-Investigation of the Credit I shall speak of that in tomi in the control of t Producus icparately

Products is parately

(B) They only observed it when they were all inblied p 397

Daness is in the wrong then when he places among a August their Errors, that the Christians of both Sexes ought de Hurei to go Naked in the Streets (c) Oportere Christianos C 31

bomines versar in PUBLICO, in carn Ecclesse, in pro- 3 See the cibis, nudos, five mares fint five famine

(C) He was no more received into the Affembly] St i Lpiph

Epiphanius testifics that those Persons protest Conti- haiel 52
nency and the Monastick Life, and that they con- (d) Baron denn d Marriage (f) Noi a Courtes to the experiment ad ann outes to factor and the last of the factor and and inflitute f stantur, nuprialgue condemnant of that it (i) Danumust not be questioned but that their Discipline us in Auscondemned I ornication and Adultery, and that gust deterefore they Excommunicated and drove those share Adembline that communicated and drove the factor. from their Allemblies that committed that Fiult fol m 83
And it is observable, that although that incient \(\Gamma\) (f) I pither will not agree to what the Adamies said, to phan in wir, that they stripp d themselves Naked, because Synopsi they were no more asham d of their Nakedness than to 1 lib Adam was, I say, it is remarkable that ilthough St 2 p 397 Epiphanius had rather attribute their (onduct to (g) (p) 'Evera an iniatiable Lasciviouinels, that would procure Baits & xopecs to the Sight, yet he does not say, that any impure indovis xe. Aftions were committed in their Assemblies So ears or that Baronius fallly imputes to him to have call d them Brothels, lupanaria He mide use of the term employees (b) panaria and of that of omnous sa ca the series werna, in the Signification of a Den, Cave, and Ca- Idinia invern, as appears by his Remarking that it is the talibidi-Name he would give to the Conventicles of Here-ni tribu-ticks Plainly he makes Allusion to what is faid in the unit qua-Gospel (1), that they had made the House of God a ejustinoda Den of Thieves The Notion of Corporal Impu-oculis ilrity, or carnal Commerce between both Sexes has lecebras no room here I ather Gaultier (k) is much in the object wrong then to say in citing St Epiphanius, That Epiphan the Adamstes leaving their Cloaths at the Door of her 52 their Assemblies, mix d themselves indifferently p 460 with the Women that fell into their haids, mulieri- (h) I piwith the Women that fell into their haids, mulieribus promiscue utentes. As for the Citation of Alphonphan har fus de Castro, which we see after that of St. Epiphasize of the Margin of Fither Gaultier, it only (1) Matth multiplies the Number of fille Accusers. Lambersize Danaus, who accuses the Adamites of the same (L) Gaul Impurity, does not cite St. Epiphanius, but Clemens ter I aAlexandrinus cited by Theodoret, (1) Extintus in sue bul Chro seetu succernis promiscue cocunt, quemadmodum ex Clemente Strom notat Theoporetus. It will soon appear culo 2 c mente Strom notat Theoporetus. It will soon appear culo 2 c that this Passage was not well alledg'd. It seetly strange that neither St. Epiphanius not sue. Augustin heard of such a thing, for are us ubit in Mangs pra

(a) Relation of Religion ch 26 p m

(b) Melch Adam Prefat 7 heolog Germaudi

(c) Ex D1ario Biogr Hen Witte refers to Henninp 17, & their de huici lıb 2 a Evagr Hist Eccllic & Linden Dubitantu Dial 2 P m y In the Remarks of the Article 11cards

(a) Ubi à nobis precin-dum & orandum

gant, quia Icit iple

effe ne-

Jupia
(b) Deum

their Church. This (D) is what St. Epiphanius reports of it, not for having read it in any Books, or having heard it of any body among them, but as he had heard several other People say. He does not know whether that Sect was wholly abolish'd in his time, or whether it was yet subsisting Evagrius a makes mention of some Monks of Palestine, who by an excels of Devotion, and to mortify their Bodies, went as well Men as Women into Solitary Places quite Naked, except the Parts that Modesty forbids to name, and there they expos'd themselves (E) in a very strange manner to the Rigors of Heat and Cold We shall speak of the Modern Adamstes under the word Picards. I see that both Catholicks and Protestants reproach (F) each other for having Adamstes in their Country Perhaps neither Party has Reason to reproach the other for it If I had no other Authority than that of Lindanis 6, I would not believe that in the year 1535 any Adamstes were seen in Amsterdam, Rich and of very good Families, to run stark Naked and that some of them were fanatical enough to climb up on I rees, where they waited in vain for Bread to fall from Heaven to them, until they fell half dead on the ground I shall cite y a Writer in another place that attests part of these Facts.

things that Fame fuffers not to be loft, when once it has leiz'd on them, unless the Lalsity of 'em becomes altogether palpable Yet it does not always happen that I me loses its hold in that case neither. See in the following Remark the means of reconciling those Two I where with Climins Alexandrinus

(D) This w what St Epiphanius reports of it] He does not say, that every Man fell on a Woman in their Assemblies This was handled in the pieceeding Remark Neither does he impute to them the Herelies of Producus that Tather (a) Gaultier gives the List of, and that Moreri imputes to them for the most part. But Moreri is not so much to blame in this, as in asserting, That St. Epiphanius calls their Temples infamous Places, because of the abominable Crimes that they committed in those Caves of Horior and Proflictation. That Author adds, That they rejected Prayer Danaus (b) fays it also on the Credit of Clemens Alexandrinus Yet St. Epiphanius and St Augustin try the contrary, lumvoi to we cae unred; — oved to raw, x, & ros rue a : 27 vosces x, do cae x, rav orisi or revisor They assemble as naked as they came out of their Mothers Billies, and in that Condition they ous of their Mothers Bellies, and in that Condition they read, and make their Prayers, and their other Exercises of Religion So speaks St Pophanius in the summary of the 2d Book of the 1st Iome And here are St Anoustin's Words (c) Nuclei taque mares for næque conveniunt, nucleictiones audient, nucleich ant secondary and the means of iconciling these I wo last I others with Clemens Al xandronius would be to tuppode the the antimus, would be to suppose that the Adam tes to whom the litter gives Products for Lounder, did not follow all the I riors of P od is: That Supposition has nothing extraordinary Sometimes there on his nothing extraordinary. Sometimes there needs but I hirty or I orty Years to make a Sectionary unlike him that founded it. I herefore an Author is not exact when he attributes all the Extriving mees of Producus to the Adamices—under pretence that he was their Lounder. In effect it is certain by the Lestimony of St. Friphamus, and of St. Aceastin, that they stript themselves quite Niked in their Al-Graphics. femblics, but Glimens Alexandrina to fit from hying any fuch thing of the Sections of Products, observes, that before they engiged with each other, they caus'd the Candles to be taken away that (d) might have made them alham do So that Danaes had no Reason to apply to the Adam to what that I other had sud of the Sections of Prosicus. In a word, when I consider the Calumnies of the Pagans against the Principle Christians, and those of the Catholicks against the Pretestants as to their Noctural Assemblies, I do not lightly believe all the Imputations of the prevailing Party (L) In a very firange minute 1 1 hey outdid the other Monks, of whom the inne I vagrius (c) makes mention, who not having a Gaiment of their own, freing the fame that one Monk work one diy, terv d'another the next day, had at lenst the use of fome Garment. The Solitaies, of whom I fpeak, were fatisfied with wearing only a Gridle, and as for the rest they renounced Huminity as much as they could, they would not eat of the I ood that serv'd other Men, but fed like Beasts, and eat but as much is would loop them flive. At last they became like Booss. Then I iguie alter'd, and their Sentiments and When they taw other Persons, they run away, and if they found themselves pursued, they sled as tast as they could, or into some inaccessible Hele Some appear'd in publick again, and pretended to be I ools to new a greater contempt of Glory. They went to eat in publick Houses, they enter'd into Publick Trau yu-Baths, they convers'd and wash'd themselves with iairas, t-the other Sex, but with so much Insensibility, that xarapag re neither the Sight, nor Touch, nor the Embiaces of a Womin, caus d them any Motion They (f) were Men with the Men, and Women with the Women, they would be of both Sexes It is likely they had not much trouble to counterfeit the I ools, and that they were to in reality, one may at letit apply to them what Rutilius Numatianus had no Reason to fry of all kind of Solitarians

Quenam (g) perversi rabies tam stulta cerebri saminæ

Dum mala formides, nec bona possi pati?

Finally their Nakedneis wis much contrary to the forminis, Principles of those Religious of whom I shall speak in the following Remark, neither could it agree well with the Doctrine of Father Sanchiz

well with the Doctrine of lather Santhiz

(F) Reproach each other] Mr Morei affures, that fimul lexthere are Adamises in England, where they hold their us effectively Night and teach only these Words, Swear, pount Id Forswear, and do not discover the Secret They were the in the right to tell him in the Edition of An sterdam, (g) Rutil that there is no such People in England, that the Cition of Sovernment is too good there to suffer an Insamy of that I v 445 Nature that could not remain hid, and that it is also werry unlikely that there are any in Poland, for he had faid that there are yet iome of those straid People there He could not detend himself by laying, that he does not pretend that those Persons shew themselves Naled in publick but only that they undress them-felves in their Nocturnal Conventicles, which a good Government may be ignorant of, I fig, he could not alledge that for his Justification, seeing he spoke just before of the Adamites of Bohemia that went ilways Naked, as is pretended. So that if Mr. Mo. men 1 rem understood what he faid, he must assure that c 13 there are yet People in England, both Men and Wo. (k) See in men, that go always Naked by a Principle of Reli- the Hiftogion Now this is what the Government would ria ludinot juffer, and cannot be ignorant of Here is then a Catholick that maintains, that there are Adamites in the Protestant Countries I say nothing of those nifacius, idle and ridiculous Stories concerning Helland, that p 181 are to be seen in the Sorberiana, page 17 But let us how S see on the other side, a Minister (h) who says there rome are Monks in Italy call'd Adamites, that go Naked in mainconsequence of the Vows they make, conformably to the most sacred Rules of their Order He says, Ac ne nune quidem nomen ejus (harelis Adamianorum) exteret, nist Monachi quidam qui si falso pietatis & vi-ta austeritatis prateutu commindaruni, horum hareticorum impudentes profus mores retinu fint, or uner fantissima ordinu & regula sua pracepta posu fint, quales is qui etiam nunc hodie Adamita dicuntur, v centque plurimum in Italia — Vivuut enim nudi, non necessistate qui dem adatis vel inopia vestimentorum, sed ex voti prossissima t wish he had been more eager to p ove that Fact, than to make an opposition between the Conduct of than to make an opposition between the Conduct of those People, and that of the ancient Monks (1) who never saw themselves naked (k), and who said that a Man of their Profession could not Contemplate his own Nudity, without doing a thing unworthy of him A (1) modern Casuss who is none of the most Rigid, counts it nevertheless for a venial Sin, propria verenda afpicere exquadam cur ofitate absque alia mala intentions & periculo And for a Mortal Sin, affilibus ut parum aspectius officer I o see a erion off a 28 different Sex iwim Naked, is according to him a (m) Ib Mortal Sin. Two Men of a grave Character, as 25, &

(f) Merei ardper o A D O- 30, μετα JUVALKOV OFE S X MIN माबंद Cum viris quidem viri funt. verò cum non enim unius fed utriufque

> (b) Lamb Danæus ınAugust. de hær c (i) Apud Socrat Hift Eccl 1 4 C 23 & Sozocra of Bal p 181 how St Je tain'd, S quoque apfam var ginem re debere nec fe fit nudam oftender and some Example upon thu prais'd b (1) San-

perfequi-bus egea mus Clemens hoc de illis tindit lib 7 Strom Din eus ubi lupi s (1) August de Hurel c (d) 18 xalast 20 100 av TWI THY עמאו זקסד דמט דאע של-KULO JUVIII EX TE SEV 770/HORLE I KS PASTI 38 YUXIR MELTEON N μης ιυθς Lumine amoto quod corum for-Dicatoriam hanc jufticiam pudore afficiebit avería lucerna coire C/m Alex S romit!, p m 4,0 (e) 1 1 gricsHift I colef 1

1 (21

A D O No. 8; a darling of the Goddels Venus was the 96st of Cinyras King (A) of a second of The a Poets have pretented that Myrrba & that King's Daughter became so deformer. The a Poets have pretented that Mayrroa 6 that King's Enguginer occame to de-formerly in Love with her Father, that she caus'd her felf to be introduced into his Bed, Myrrha. Some 2 sav she made use of the Art of Lor's Covid without his knowing who she was. Some γ say she made use of the Art of Lot's Covid Daughters. Adona was the Fruit of that Incest. He was exceeding Fair, and appear'd Metam fo lovely in the Eyes of Venus (B) that she carried him away by force, and forsook all 2 Hygin to be with him. Heaven it self seem'd an unpleasant Abode to her in Comparison of 5 164 to be with him. Heaven it less seemed an unpleasant Abode to her in Comparison of the Hills and Woods where she follow'd Adons, who was a (C) great Hunter. Judge whether the Poets of did not use all the Figures of their Art to represent the unexpressible Grief that seized the Heart of that Goddess, when (D) a wild Boar had kill done of the dear Adons. Never was a Grief more I amous and more immortalized than that Almost all the People in the World perpetuated the remembrance of it, by a great Train of (E) Anniversary Ceremonies. Some Authors say that it was not a wild Boar, but a God under the Form of that Beast that kill do Adons Some a say it was Mars, the Moderns of the safe of a God under the Form of that Beatt that Kill a Zaomis Sollie Lay it wis Ivalia, rollingaring & others that it was Apollo The first say, Mars did it to satisfy his Jealousy, and to be Mr Mereveng'd of Vinus who preserred that Rival before him The last say, That Apollo inclin'd to that excess of Violence to revenge his Son Erymanibus, who was struck Blind for having having the same same says to the same same says that the same same says that the same says that the same says that says the same says the same says that says the same says the same says that says the says that says the same says the same

(a) Ib n 27, & 28 (b) Apud la Mothe le Vayer, Hexam rust p 79 (c) SeePlurarch de Garrulit p 505 & Clemens Alexand Stromat p 568 (d)Athen 1 12 Pe m 530 (of See Meurfius de inful i Cypro, 1 2 C 9 (f) Apol-lor 1 3 p m 238 (g) Metam lib 10

(b) Pau-fan inBœ-

Oticis (1) Strabo ì iốp m

(k) Cap

34 (1) Vide

Muncke-

ri notas in Hygin c

(II) Plaut in Menechmis

aet i sc

(m) Ovid Metam I

· · · 5,2

Two (a) Prelates that look upon each other Naked commit, fays he, a Moital Sin Bernia (b) speaks of a Man that never handled his Privy Parts without his Glove Why might not a Casuist require that a Man should abstain from touching them Naked as well as from Contemplating them Naked An ancient Philosopher by an Affectation of Chastity never touch'd them with or without a Glove, he was in that respect very far from the Principle of Anacharsis (c) That ancient Philosopher was the severe Xenocrates (d) Ariftoteles irridens Chalcedonium Xenocratem quod mezendo virilibus non admoveret manum, inquit, pura quidem manus, at inquinata mens We shall say in the Remark N of the Article Hadrian VI, That la Mothe le Vayer ought not to have taken the Passage of Bernia in a literal Sense

ken the Passage of Bernia in a literal Sense

(A) The Son of Cinyras King of Cyprus] Almost all Authors agree (e) that Cinyras reign'd in that Island, although some have said (f) that he sirst reign'd in Asyria See the Article Byblus Ovid makes him (g) to be Born in the Island of Cyprus, but he says, That Myrrha slying from her I ather who would have kill dher, after he had known her Incest, travell'd through sirabia, and was deliver'd of Adonis, in the Country of the Sabai He would not have done ill to note in a few Words, that Ginyree had past from the Island of Cyprus to Arabia, or that Myrrha had embark'd in that Island When Adonis was Born, his Mother had been already Metamorphos'd into the Tree from whence the Myrih drops We understand from Poolemy the Son of Hephassian, That Venus seeking Adonis, of whose Death fhe had heard, found him at Argos, a (ity of Cyprus, in the Temple of Apollo Erithian So that some faid, that he was killd in that Island Propertiwe is of that Number, when he says in the 13th Elegy of the 2d Book,

Testus, qui niveum quondam percussit Adonim

Venantem Idalio vertice, durus aper There was (h) a Temple of Adonis and Venus at Amathis in the Island of Cyprus Strabe (1) fays that Biblus was the abode of King Cinyras, and that there were some Temples of Adona to be seen there Note, That Ansoninus Liberalus relates that Myrrba, whom he calls Smyrna (k), was Born on Mount Libanus, and that her Father's Name was Theias It is likely and that her Father's Name was Theis: It is likely that Panyasis had given him the same Name, and not (1) that of Those as we read at present in Apollodosus We read it also in Probus on the 10th Ecloque of Virgil, withthis Circumstance, that the said Those was King of Syria and of Arabia, Probus borrow'd it from Antimachus

(B) That she carried him away] That Fact was but little remark'd by the Ancient Writers I wonder at it, for it was known by every Body The Painters made it a Subject of their Pictures, like the Rape of Ganymeder This is what Plantas informs us of

ME Dic (11) wieht, numqua widifti tabulam pillam in pariete, Ubi aquila catamisum raperet, aus ubi Venus Adoneum ?

PE Sape

(C) An unpleasant Abo de to ber in comparison of the Woods where she fellow'd Adonis who was a great Himser] Read this Passage of Ovid Abstines (n) & cale cale prafertur Adonis .

Hunc tenet buic comes of : assurance sumper numbra

Indulgire fibi, formamque augere colindo, Per juga, po filvas dumejaque fax i vagatur I ngil represents Adons under another Idea than under that of a Hunter,

Nic (n) te paniteat peceris, divine poeta, Et formosus oves ad flumina pavit Adonis
It feems to me that few Persons have spoke of this Dailing of I cour is of a Shepherd Sovius relates certain things on that Passige that are no less different from the common I radition than that Some (e) have faid that that Inclination for Hunting was the work of the Muses I hey wish d Venus ill, because she hid inspir'd several of them with Love for Morrals To be revent d of her they fung divers Airs before Adones, that gave him a violent Passion for Hunting Perhaps he became odious to Diana (e) Tzet-because of that, for Perions of the time Trade sel-dom love one another much Some (p) have sud cophron that Diana's Anger was the cause that a wild Boar (p) Apol-

kill'd that Young Man

(D) When a wild Boar had kill'd her dear Adonis] Iheecritus (q) feigns, that Venus having caus d that wild Boar to be brought to her, us'd him roughly, but that he made his Lucuies on the violent Paifrom that had feiz'd him at the fight of fuch a fine.

Thigh He would kifs it, and did it in too paffionate a manner. He was fo displeas'd at it, that he nate a manner He was so displeas'd at it, that he thought his Tusks deferred to be cut, and that he burnt them himself. It is thus that a (r) Learned and Polite Writer explain'd the last Verie of that Idyl of Theoritus. The Editions bear sease two that Idyl of Theoritus. The Editions bear sease two that Idyl of Theoritus, but he believes it must be read obsitus, exussis among s, but he believes it must be read obsitus, dentes, instead of sports. That terrible Kiss puts me in mind of a Thought of the Cavalier Marini, he introduces the God Pan, who bousts that the Spots that are iden in the Moon are Impressions of the Kisses he gave it. He must need go about it with a great force What Cites' by adding Apes, who, it is faid, imother their little ones fometimes with Carefling them. What would Ho race have faid on all this, feeing for a much leffer Od 1, 1 thing he spoke (s) in this manner. thing he ipoke (s) in this minner

Sivi puer furens Impressit memorem dente labris notam Non fi me fat is audias Speres perpetuum dulcia barbare Ledentem ofiula, que V nus

Runta parte fui nellaris imbuit
Perhaps we shall speak of those kind of Bitings in the Article Flora

Note, that a very good Critick inform'd me that the Correction of brack for eportag is not necessary. He says, the true Explication of that I ers., is I hat the Boar to wood weoden Sur, casting himself into the Fir, that the state the species, burnt at the same time his I ove There ences two sportes, burnt at the same time his love there is not only Reason, but also some Wit to say, that this Roar being first burnt by his love, had in his turn sound the means to burn it Polici in made us of that Thought in the Epigram he made on Picus Mit andula who cast his Love Verses into the Fire Ald to all this, that it is very difficult to imagine how the Amorous Boar could have put his Teet's in the Fire and burnt thim, without burning himself also
(E) Great Irain of Anniversary Ceremonics

Rophanes in his Comedy of Peace, counts the Least of Admir for one of the chief Feasts of the Athenian Almost all the People of Greece celebrated it The Women isted the chief Part in it, in lamenting the

to other Editions (r) Mr de Longe-See bis on of Bion, & Ovidius

& Servius

in Lelog

17 Lirm

Matern p nus Dio-

nyi 1 41

ın Efaiam ζ Ptolem

Hephast

apud Pho-

472 (n)Virgil

(p) Apol-

FIGUX

lod 1 p 238 (q)Theoc

ັ 18

tium p

I clog

2. Non

ADONIS.

having feen Venus * while the was washing her self, being newly come of her Adonis The place of the Wound & seems to import some principle of Jealousy: But the Second Tradition does not agree with those that have reported & that Ado-A- mis was an Hermaphrodite, who enjoy'd Venus in the State of a Male, and as a Female gave himself to Apollo Others, without giving him both Sexes, have not scrupled to say Quodpost fures that Adones was beloved by Jupiter, and that Proferpina (G) fell in Love with him fum cum in Hell Yet she had some Compassion for her desolate Rival, who instantly desir'd the Refurrection of her I over: She was willing to be without him for Six Months in favour of Vinus It was faid then that Adonis should pals Six Months with Venus, and

Adonide Javantem Venerem ridiflet 11 april Death of that Gallant, or (a) Husband of Venus (b) Clius de per mi quitur,torolque ınguıne dentes Abdiait Ptolein Hephast uhi supra, P 485 seTheocritus in Svracuí tive endyl 1 . c . 1 p m 259 and beRemark 1 (a) Venus in the , 1st Idyl of Theori 1-

tus, calls him ber

Husband יסד אין טב

e di vivpercuil irli, Bion in the Idyl on th

acath of 1

donis ic-

r f nts Ven 5,

(0 W)

Liz ber

Hastand

de nat Deor 1 3

& Cicero

the 15 Idyl of Theo-

🏥 prof

14

TOUG CEINV A-

LANT THE

Lamina miscrabili planetu in primavo flore su cisam spem gentu solitis fletibus conclamabant, ut lacrymare cultices I eneru supespectantur in sollemnibus Adonidis sacris
I hey represented Funerals in Picture, as Plutarch tells us in the Life of Alcib ades, and in that of Nicias The Curtizans were not the least forward to celebrate that great Solemnity, as may be gather'd from a Passage of the Poet Diphilus reported by A-thenaur() They did not forget to make I wo Beds, on one of which they laid the I igure of Iwe learn of (d) Theoreties Witty Persons laugh of a religious Worship that consisted in Weeping Quid (c) assured queries of monies jam morte deletos reponere in Deos quorum omnis cultus esset statutus insluttus. St Augustin approves that Raillery, Juira Junt Fineris, A Augustin approves that Rathery, Just a jump of the Article of tys he, (f) ubi amatus cyus Adonis aprino dense extinitus denum de juvenus formossifimus plangitur. The People of Syria were Diss Syris yet more I oots in that regard than the Greeks, seeing the were not tatisfied with Sighing and Weeping, they were not fatisfied with Sighing and Weeping, but disciplind themselves also, and after having Whipp d themicives, and wept enough, they perform'd the Sacrifice of the dead for Adonis, and that d their Heads The Women that would not be shaved, were to Prostrute themselves a whole day to Strangers, and the Money they got by it was employ'd in a Sacrifice that was offer'd to Venus The Mourning ended with Joy, for they feign d that Adons was come to I see igain Lucian (g) who tells us those Circumstances, says also that the Syrians pretended that Adons was kill d by a Boar in their (ourse) See the Remark I where we shall say among other things, that that Feast was still (elebrited it devantria in St Cyril's time The Procession was pompous fince the Queen her self carother things of Adons in it Arfinos the Wife (b) of Ptolim) Proladelphus receives Printes for this from the Queen curried Howers and I ruits, and a hundred other things I'lls faid, that all that, and the Jun meumviin Inage it felt of Adons was to be cast into the Sea, or into I ountains See Hespelius, Lenobius, Suidar, the Scholiast of Theorrisus, cited by Fafoldus at the 75 and 76 Pages of his Icrology of the incient Greeks. The Gardens of Adenie were turn d into a Proverb, to fignify a thing pulling, and that is not of long continuance. It is plumly in that Senie that Plate, continuance It is plainly in that Senie that Plato, Plutarch, and the Imperor Julian made use of that Proverb, the Original whereof came from those Pots and Baslets of I lowers that were carried in Procession at the Iess of Adons See Erafrius at the day page of his Proverbs I assign it is likely that the Celebration of that Ieast lasted as long at the last at the analysis and the analysis and the provents. to 1 , calp m 639 Ipiaks of a Venus of Antioch as at Alexandria Julian the Apostate made his Lutiv into the fift of those Towns in the Year 362 when they Celebrated the Featt of Adonu there, Syriamarwhich was taken for a bad Omen (1) Evenerat an-tem is seem d chus annuo ursu completo Adonia ritu veteried to Adonis See ri celebrari, amato I encris, ut fabulæ fingunt, apri dente f rali deleto, quod in a iulto flore settarum est indicium frugum Et visum est triste quod amplam urbim Princi-pumque domicilium introcunti Imperatore nunc primum ultilabiles undique planitus & lugubris sonus audiebantur rntus, & fran Ma-ernus, de A like thing feem da bad Omen to the Athenians in I wo Occalions (k)

(I) Favourite of Venus and Bacchus] In the relig p A 21 (6) Amm Marcell 219 C 1 (c) Athen place where Athenaus (1) mentions some Examples of engmatick Expressions, he does not sorget the Oracle that was given to Cinyrar, here it is

lib 7 p 292 (d) Theorr Eidyl 15 (e) Cicer de Nat Deor l 1 (f) August de civit Dei 1 6 c 7 See alfo Lim Matern ubi supria (e' Lucian de Dei Syria (b) Theorrit Eidyl 15 5 cei Summary of that Idyl (1) Amm Marcell 1 22 c 9 fupia (e) Lucian de Dei Syria (b) The Scen Summary of that Idyl (1) Amm Mai (A. Plutar in Alcib p 200 in Nicit, p 532 (1) Athen lib C -- P 45

Ω Κινύες ζασιλού Κυπείων αι δρων δασυπεωκτων Ιίαι, σοι ναλλιε των έου θαυμα εστατος τε Ιίαι των ανθρωπωι, Αυο δ' αυτον δαιμοι' έχειτον Η μεν εκαυ ομενη καθεικε ερείμειε, ο δ' εκαυνωι

O Ginyra, rex Cypriorum quibus bierius podes eff Infans tibi genitus est formossssmus pulchritudinis Inter universos homines summopere admiranda Illum duo numina in potestate habibunt, Oc ultu & aviis callibus alterum ille subiget, illum vero alter Atlenaus adds that this fignifies Venus and Bacchus, for both lov d him Plate (II the Comick Poet had reported that Oracle He is not the only Poet that ipoke of thoic Amours of Bacchus We find Two Verses in Plutarch (m) which fay that Bacchus having feen the Fair Adonis in the Island of Cyprus, tell in Love with him, and carried him away What Plutaich adds is curious, and may ferve upon occasion for a Lesson to those that give us so many Oriental Genealogies of the Pagan Religion, and Mythology One of Plutarch's Interlocutors maintains very terroufly and giavely, That Adonu and Bae hus are the same Divinity, and that the Jews abstain'd from Poik because Adons was kill d by a wild Boar pretends that their Religion, their Feasts, their Cere-monies were much the same with what was practife in Greece for Bacchus, and he says likewise, what the Levites were calld to because of Aum or ful , Ly Lpig us, Evins, Two Names of that Divinity Aufonius (n) (o) Mandeclares that Bacebus, Ofiris, Adonis, &c were one crob Sa-and the same God (o) Macrobius goes yet sur- turnall x

(G) Proferpina fell in I ove with him in Hell] If we may believe Apollodorus (p), she did not tarry so long to I ove him, for she did not fray till he was out of the Cradle Vanus being charind with the Beauty of that Child put him in a strong Box, and p m 240. She would keep him Jupiter was obliged to decide the Difference, and sich here how he put an end to it That Adona should be tree the first I our Months of the year, and that he should go the next hour to the Year, and that he should go the next Four to Proserpina, and the other Four to Venus It had been better to have plac d Adones's Portion in the middle of the Year, and perhaps it was faid to before the Abbrevintors or the Copiers of Apollodorus had put his Book in the condition we find it in However it be, Admis would have none of the Vacations that Jupiter had given him, he renouned them in fa-Months Others (4) fay, 1 That the Muie Calliope being charg'd with the Decision of that Dispute by jupiter, order d that Adonis should belong Six Months to Venus, and Six Months to Profer pina 2 That Venus angry that she had only one half of what she would have wholly to her felf alone, inspired all the Women of Thracia with fuch a Love for Orpheus the Son of Calliope, that each endeavouring to take him from the other tore him in pieces. One of the Complaints that Venus makes of her Son in the (r) Complaints that Venus makes of her Son in the (r). Dialogues of Lucian, is, That he sends her sometimes to Mount Ida for Anchises, and sometimes to Mount Libanus for the Fair Asyrian; half of whom he took from her by the Care he hadraken to make him be below d by Proserpina Arman (r) and Clemens (t) Alexandrinus spoke of the Last Goddels for Adona, and it is thout Reason that Sylburgius would place in the Care Father Aidwei instead of 'Asavid, for if we should read 'Aidwei, we should make Clemens Alexandrinus speak a Falsity, to wit, that Proserpina's Love for Adona a Fallity, to wit, that Proferpina's Love for Adonas was an Adultery Meximae is the Author of this last Remark. See the 403d page of his Commentary on Ovid's Epistles Callings's Judgment puts me in Mind of these Two Verses

(18) In A. donide, apud Á then ib (m) Plut Sympof L

CS

(4) Hyginus, A fronom.

()Amob 1 4 p 145 (t) Clem. Alex protre

Bik Month's With Proferping. The Scholiast that I have cited contradicts (H) humself a see the upon this, and some do not speak so advantageously of a Proserpina's Complanance of weetne That division of Years has been allegoris'd, as it we must understand thereby either the time & that the Seeds are successively under or on the Earth, or the time 2 implied flex Theby the Sun to run the Meridional Signs of the Zodiack, and the Septentrional Signs of the Zodiack, and the Septentrional Signs of the Zodiack, and the Septentrional Signs of Microby turns. Those Explanations seem not so solid to me, as the Thought of those that bins s. Treduce the Fable of Adons to the History of Osiris The Ancients do not agree on timal the Country where the Scene of Adons was; some placed it in Syria, others in the 1- 1 to 21 fland of Cyprus, or in Egypt, as will appear in the Remarks Two things are faid of Hei- d' Sue the cules very opposite in relation to our Adons, one of them, that he was in love with him, how the and that Jealousy made Venus direct the Centaur Nessus how he might by Ambuscades Unive sal for Hercules The other, That that Hero seeing many People come out of a Temple in Bibliothes a City of Macedonia, had a mind to go into it to perform his Devotions, but he ring that Berkelius Adones was the Divinity that was worshipp d there, he laugh'd at it \(\zeta \) Somebody n removed in Stephaports that Adones was born of Jupiter, without the help of any Woman St Jerom benum Byliev'd that the Prophet Ezekiel spoke of the Feast (I) of Adones I aftly, It is difficult zent voto comprehend why the Ancients feign'd that Venus hid, or builed her Darling ander of (K) Lettices, seeing they observed that that Plant disables a Person in the Veneral AA Perhaps their Allegory might be understood, if they had meant thereby that Venus had Hephast exhausted her Favourite, and that she had distill'd him so, that he was only fit to be ipudi hocompar'd to the Terra Damnata, and to the Caput Mortuum of the Chymits But they

V 99 (a) "Aveu ชัช กัวเส-Sugaring ζιώς (6) Εξ piñvas emoinour cu મલોંડુ લેઝુ-મલે∆લાડુ મોડ 'Apeditus Jones 13 αγχαλαις The Ilegor-(c) Ch 8 make use of the Verfion of Geneva (d) Hieron, 1 3 Comment in Ezech (e) Cyril

28 bis

Notes on Bion,

2 45 (b) Pro-

¢ 18

Ad's zy

ovn side

zidias. याद्वारी

(aa) Vir-gil Ecl 3

Et (an) vitula tu dignus & hic, & quifquis amores

Aut metuet dulces, aut experietur amaros

(H) Contradicts himself upon this] He tells us on the one side, and with little likelihood, That Adonis abode Six Months with Proserpine, and Six Months with Venus, without (a) touching them, having each a Bed by themselves, and on the other side, that (b) he as many in the Arms of Proferpins Observe that something like this was faid concerning the Agreement of Ceres, and of Pluto, to wit, that it was agreed that Proferpins should remain six Months with him, and that she should go and finish the Year with Ceres The Ancients were not fertile Enough, they apply'd the unfolding of their Fables to too many Subjects Besides, Egypt, Phanicia, and the Island of Cyprus, that were the Scenes of Adons, are not distant enough from the Sun, from the Month of March of Marc of September to the Month of March, to make one fay, That Adonu is then in the Sepulchie, or in Hell And I cannot tell what Mr Morers meant with those Six Months that the Days are so short, and the Nights so long I or in the Countries which I speak of the difference of the longest and the shortest Day of the Year gives no room for that Expression Many more things might be corrected in the Adonu ofthat Author (1) That the Prophet Lzekiel spoke of the Feast of Adonis | St Jerom thought that the Tammuz of their (c) Words of Ezekiel, He made me go in by the Door of the Lord's House, which is towards the North, and be-(e) Cyril the Lord's House, which is towards the North, and bein Elaiam bold there were Women that sat weeping for lammuz, is

1 2 Adonis He did not forget to remark the Two I aces (f) Isaiah, of that Feast, first of all they bemoan d Adonis as dead, and afterwards they sung and praised him as v i & 2 returned into the World, Plangitur (d) a mulieri(g) I make bus quasi mortuus, & postea reviviscens canitur atque laudatur St Cyril tells us divers Particularities of Translation that Feast He says (e), That it was still celebrated of Mr de in Alexandria, and when he explains these Words Longe (f) Wo to the Land that sendeth Ambassadors by Pierre, the Sea, even in Vessels of Busins be woon the Waters; he who reports will have it to be understood of the Letters that thu Passage were sent to make known that Adonis was found awere fent to make known that Adoms was found again "They (g) took, fays he, an Earthen Vessel, and writing a Letter to the Women of Biblus, as "If Adoms was really found again, and putting it thuPa∬age "in that Vessel, they seal'd it up, and cast it in the Sea, after having used some Ceremonies That Vessel, as they afferted, came of it self to Biblus on certain Days of the Year, and some Women cop Gaz in Maiah, cherish'd by Venus, having received it there, ceas'd "from weeping after having open'd the Letter, as if Verus had found her Adonis again "Lucian" (1) 'Area fays, That he faw the Head of Pastboard at Biblus, ي و د دس that the Egyptians fent thither every Year, without any other Ceremony than to cast it into the Sea The Winds carry'd it directly to Biblus in seven PHS OR AS-Days, which was the usual Time to go from Egypt to that City Procopius Gazeus (b) relates this like St Cyril According to the latter the Greeks believed that Venus descended into Hell for the Recovery of Adons and, as they said, that it was known at her (1) Return that she had found him, the sad and Sudremon Read ign mournful beginnings of the Feast ended with great criti, ad

Rejoycings

(K) Under Lettices] Callimachies Said (L), That Venus hid Adonis under Lettices According to Cratinus fine did as much to Praon, for whom she had much love What had Athenaus done with his Wits, when he advanced that the Poets would fignify by that Allegory that Lettices crufe skind of Impotency to those that commonly cat them. Would Venus have made choice of them to cover her Darlings with, if they had that Virtue? Would the not have abhorr'd the very Name and Sight of them. Would the not have fear d that the only Touch of them would have caus'd an ill Effect ! Note a difference between Callimachus and Eubulus, the latter faid, (1) That after Adonis was dead, Venus buried him under Lettices; from whence he inters, that that Plant is only good for the Dead The Original of all those Stories might very well proceed from what was said, That Adonis having eat of a certain Lettice that grew in the Island of Cyprus, was kill d by a Wild Boar Those that shall ressect on the Place where the Boar wounded him, will enfily find the unravelling of all this Adonis was become impotent for having eaten too many of thole Lettices This is the Realon why it is feign d, I hat atter-wards he receiv'd a Mortal Wound in the Gioin So that the Word (m) ranguya must not be pic-ferr d before that of ranguyar, and it is much more reasonable to think that Nicander spoke of that Nicander Lettice as of an Aliment of Adonis, than to the imported by that he spoke of it as of an Asyle that Adonis sought Arhenangainst the Boar

I shall advertise my Reader that Mr de la Monnoie is not of that Opinion See a Remark here that he was pleas'd to communicate to me " The va razuyar of the Manuscripts is much to be prefeit d before the καταφαγων of the Printed Copies Nicander in the Place that Athenaus cites, ipeaks of a kind of Lettice, under which he says, Adonis took Refuge when the Boat kill'd him I his of the Manuicripts is much to be prefer d makes a very good Senie, whereas there would be little Senie in frying, That Adonis had eat too much of that Lettice when the Boar kill d hin, "much of that Lettice when the Boar kill d hin, "the Expression would not be clear, not coherent and it would only be a confus'd Mixture of Allemand Fable. Moreover notice must be ralen, that Beldaz being of the Feminine Gender, there "should be his or no narranagor, because is is then ide verbilly taken for quo" It is certain that Casaubon (n) preferred narrapuyous before narrapayor. He confirm'd his Opinion by the Words that we found in the same Pure of Atheneus. It nakes to identify in the same Pige of Athenaus, ev γαλαις & idani-vais (o) αποκρυψαι, in pulchis sufficient abdidiffe But he should have observed that Athenaus does not report them until having quoted a long Passage of a (p) Poet, who said, That it any one eats of those Lettices, he can do nothing with a Woman Observe well that this Poet's Words follow immediately what Nicander faid. Now it is a fign that Athona-us did not write is restricted, but n, or his research you. It is so much the clearer sign of it because we fee that that Author having cited Calimachus, who phis in tium, p do Chol. aft shenver 21 eidyll 5 Zenobius &Apostolicus in Probus in Ec1 10 Virgil ex Philofte-(k) Apud

> (n In he 1 1/1 1 of Nic inder, us, ibid

Athena-

Athen 1b

C 18 p 69 (1) Apud

(o) Cafaua bon say , KATU Y FU-Jan Whi b makes he Same Sense

a Lucian

neak of such an Explication All of them have not said that he There was a River near Biblus call d Adones, that descended is an Mount Lido not speak of such an Explication (L) of his banus, it became Red once a Year, because the Winds carry'd much Dust into it that was like Vermillion They did not fail to say then, that it was time to lament Adonis, that it was the Time when he received Wounds on Mount Libanus a, and when his Blood run into that River

ADRASTUS, King of Argos, the Son of Talams 8 and of Lysianassa, the Daughter of Polybins, King of Sicyon, acquir'd a great Reputation in the Famous War of Thebes, wherein he engaged himself to maintain the Rights (A) of his Son-in-Law Polynices, who was a excluded from the Crown of Thebes by his Brother Eteocles, notwithstanding the Agreement made between them Adrastus being sollowed by Polymices, and Tydeus his other Son in Law, by Capaneus, and by Hippomedon, his Sisters Sons, by Amphiaraus, his Brother in Law, and by Parthenopeus, & march d against the City of Thebes; and that is the Lypedition of the Seven Worthies, fo much lung by the Poets They all perish d there except Adrastus, whom his Horse sav'd. It was a Horse of consequence, whose Name was Arion, we must speak of him in his place. That first war was follow'd by some others, for Adrassus not having been able to obtain the addies of the Argians that were kill d before Thebes, had recourse to the Athenians to constrain'd the New & King of Thebes to do what Adrastus desir'd under the Conduct of Theseus That Satisfaction did not end the Wai, for the Sons of those that had succeeded so ill in the First Expedition, made a Second War Ten Years after, which was call'd the War of the (B) Fpigones, and which ended by the taking and plundering of Thebes None of the Chiefs n perish'd in it, except I gialeus, the Son of Adrastus It was a kind None of the Chicis " perish'd in it, except Agialeus, the Son of Adraftus It was a kind of Compensation & practised by Fortune That I ois touch'd Adrastus so sensibly, being moreover weakned by his Old Age, that he ided (C) with Grief at Megara, as he wallcading the Victorious Army back that had taken the City of Thebes It is a fign that de Dea Syria & Paulan Paulan 1 9 p 286 J Hygin C 70 Λ_{pollod} 1 3 Dio-doi Sicul 15 c 6 e Paufan l i p 37 Eteocles and Polynices had kill'd each n Hygin C 71 O See the Remark H a Paufan 11 p 41

> faid, That Venus hid Adonis under Lettices, observes that it is an Allegory design'd to shew that those who commonly ear of that Herb, become faint and invalid in relation to that Goddess Αλλη 20 ρεψτων των ποιητών οπ αθειοις εισι ωρος αφορδίσια οι συνεχως χεωμενοι δείδαξι Εα quidom allegoria Poetis innuentitus qui affidu. lattuca v seuntur ad Venerom effe invalidos It inust not be made a troublesome Business of the New Jewis of Second st, that Nicander should have mix d the Allegory very contuiedly with the Fable, for Poets are full of that Mixture Let us remark moreover that he of that Mixture. Let us remark moreover that he understood the Word that he would explain very ill (an) Βρεί Αντ λογάδζ φασί παρεί Κυπριοίς δειδαχη. Lastracam a Cypriis dicit vocari Brenthin. He took a (bb) Fir-Tree for a Lettice. That Fault directed him to alter the Tradition, for he was sensible that it would be ridiculous to suppose that Adenis fled under a lettice, and therefore he fays, That it ferv'd him to: I ood

(1) All of them have not faid that he died of his Wound] (onfult the third Volume of the (a) Universal Billiotheque We may add to the Remarks that we find there (b) a Passage of Prolony, the Son of Heplassion, it is that where it is faid that this

Verie of the Hyacinthus of Euphorion,

Koluti's Life To valore a lavi Adonim

13 200 Docytus fua valorea lavi Adonim was not understood It signifies quite another thing thin what is thought, for it tells us that a certain Cocytus, a Disciple of Chiron, had cur'd Adonis of his Wound received by the Wild Boar The Ceremonies of the Feast ought to persuade us that Aionis did not die of it. They afflicted themselves at the beginning, as if he had been dead, and atterwards they rejoic d, as if he was return d into the World again (e) "It is not difficult to conjecture that they form d that I able on some strong Exprei-"fions of the Egyptians, or of the Phanicians, who "full that those that were recover'd of a great Sick-"nets, or escaped from a great Danger, were rais'd again out of the Grave Divers Examples of it are found in the Pfalms" Add to this, "That (d) it " was the Custom of the Oriental Nations, to confe-"crate Golden Ligures of the Parts of the Body in which they had been incommoded We find an La-"which they had been incommoded We find an La"ample of it in the I Book of Samuel, c 6 v 4

"Adonis having been wounded in the Groin, and "being cur'd of his Wound, confectated a Gol"den Phallus" They had a very great respect "for that Figure in the Mysteries of Ossis" We find here the confirmation of the foregoing Remark, the Clouds vinish away, the Day begins to appear I enas thought she had lost for ever not the Liste, but the Sex of her Husband, whether it be that a Wild Boar had effectively abus'd that Part, or that a Magick Spell, or some other Principle that we know not, had cast a Fatal Mortification upon it, this was not, had cast a Fatal Mortification upon it, this was the Subject of her Tears But the Wound inving been confolidated, or the Charm taken away, Venus was perfuaded that her Husband reviv'd again, and that he return'd to her from the bottom of Hell, and that was the Subject of her Joy And in order to preserve the Memory of all this more mysteriously, and more honourably, it was faid that the I estival of Adenis should be celebrated every year in such and fuch a manner It would be easy to adapt the F plications of Macrobius to that Hypothelis, his S descending to the Interior Parts of the Fodiack, remounting afterwards to the Superior Parts, his Wild Boar the Image of Cold, and confequently of thole that belong to the Title De frigidis & maleficiof her Sun, and afterwards laughing at the return of that fair Sun that makes her teeming Livery body iees that it would not be difficult to make use of the Agreement between Venus and Profurpini, I mean Agreement between Venus and Projurpin, I mean those Seeds commented in the Bolom of the Larth for iome Montal, and of which they fpring afterwards for the projugation of the Species

(A) The Rights of his Son in Law Polynices] Pau-famias fays, (e) that Adrassus had married his Daugh (e) Piuter to Polymices before the Disputes for the Succession on of Thebes, but others pretend that Marriage P 286 was not made until Polymices excluded by his Brother retir d to Adrassus. They relate (f) the F. T. (f) Harrises retir d to Adrassus They relate (f) that Tydeus re-tir d thither also at the same time, and that the lat-ter of those two Refugees was cover'd with the Hide polloderus, 1, 20 ter of thole two Refugees was cover'd with the Hide of a Boar, and the first with the Hide of a Lyon, which was the cause that Adrastus made them mairy his Daughters, remembring an Oracle (g) which had commanded him to mairy them to a Boar, and to a Lyon The Supplement of Moreri says falsy, that Iydess being ask'd why he wore the Hide of a Wild Boar, answer'd, that it was because his Father Occasis was the Conqueror of the Wild Boar of Calydon Oeneus was the Conqueror of the Wild Boar of Calydonia He did not make that Answer, and it was not Oeneus, but Meleager that had kill'd that I unous Boar The Oracle that was given to Adrastus is also wrong reported in that Supplement

(B) The War of the Epigones] If they had observed in the composing of the 3d Volume of Morers, that that War was only ten Years posterior to the first, they would not have translated the Word Epi gones thus, they that were born after the first Thebes they would only have faid, the rviv'd their Fathers or they might have fail meral, the Descendants of the first Chiefs

(C) That he died with Grief The Supplement imputes to him to have cast himself into his Son's Funeral Pile, and cites Hyginus, Fab 242 and Herodotus, 1 5 Now it is to be remark d that Herodotus says nothing of Adrastus, that has been mention d in that Article of the Supplement The only thing that may be supplement at the only thing that the supplement of the only of rus, l. 78 Boar's Head on his

(g) It 1 Luri niff v 415 See State Theb 1 V 395 WART -

() Bibliotheq U-# 3 / 31

(AB) A-

ubi fupia

thh) See the Uni-

20/1/Bibliothe-

que, ulu inf p 28

(s) P 31

(b) Apud Photium,

P 472

() Ibid P 33

he was per tably (D) in the Second Expedition, of which, nevertheless, but sew Wilters have space. Those of Megara honour'd his Memory much, but it was nothing in 1 scarters great Place, and instituted Feasis and Sacrifices to him, which they celebrated files their great Place, and instituted Feasis and Sacrifices to him, which they celebrated files have a second with the same of the sam every Year pompoully. We may see in Herodotus a how Callishbenes, Tyrant of Si jon, Pullin abrogated those Things in hatred to the Argians You must understand that Adraslus 1 2 p. s was King of & Sieyon, by virtue of the Will of Polybius his Grandsather by the Mother's fide, to whom he fled once, being constrain'd (F) to go out of Argo, and that during printing his Reign he made the City of Siegon very samous y, by the Prob in A Games that he od 9 establish'd there Some Writers note that his Hereditary Kingdom was that of Sana, and that he obtain'd that of Argos by Election, the Mildness of his Nature having been Arhe singthe Cause that those of Argos (G) invited him to come and civilize their Barbarous Manners Homer does not say all this, but only that he reign d in the first place at Siejon invited in Servins fays it also on the 6th Book of the Aneid, and we read the same thing in Pinthium, darus ζ , and in his Old Scholiast They give him commonly but n two Daughters, t_{2p_36} Argia, the Wife of Polymers, and Despyla the Wife of Tydeus, but he had yet two Sons, in hac Egialeus and Gransppus, and a Daughter, whose Name was Agialea, who married her Nephew Diometric, the Son of Tydeus, and vex'd him forely by her I ewdness. Some start Theb say, that hawas the first that built a Temple to the Goddess Nemiss, and that Quiste South Parkers the Barbara the Name of Alartica. But I do not question has the School of the South Start the Parkers the Barbara the Name of Alartica. But I do not question has the School of the South Start the South Start the Barbara the Barbara the Barbara the Barbara the Barbara the South Start the Barbara the Barbara the South Start the Barbara the Barbara the Barbara the South Start the Barbara the Barbara the Barbara the Barbara the Barbara the South Start the Barbara the Barbara the Barbara the Barbara the South Start the Barbara the Barbara the South Start the Barbara the South Start the Barbara the Barbara the South Start the Barbara the Barbara the South Start the South st (H) was the Reason that she had the Name of Adrastea But I do not question but that soliosicythey confound him with another Adraftus He that built the first Altar to that Goddes, one aviter half and the River of Floris in Physics Was do not find that our Adraft and Lacitum built it 0 on the River Afepus in Phrygia We do not find that our Adrastus was inficens ever in Asia, and we find a King of that Name in Phrygia i, at the time of the Siege of compone-Troy. It is better then to attribute the Establishment of that Worship of Nemesis to an re legibus Affatick Prince, whose Name was Adrastus, than to a King of Argos of that Name. He-Argos Neiciat? redetus x speaks of an Adrastus who fled to the Court of Crasus, King of Lydia, and who kill'd that King's Son by an Accident The Article of that Adras lus is pretty (1) good Homer ın Moreri's Dictionary

A DR IANI (John Baptist) born at Florence in the Year 1511, of a Patrician Tami- v 79 ly, writ the History of what pass'd in his time in Italian His Work is a Continuation & Pindar

> Theb 1 r v 393

of ubitupia

chus apud Strabonem, 11, P 435 and Homer 11 1 2

l 1 c,5 & feq

(r) Buth

Cyon, who gave him a good reception, and his Daughter Amphitea in Narriage, but this does not agree with the Account of Herodotas, who fays that Polybius left his Kingdom by his Will to Adrastus his Daughter's Son See the following Remark The Citation of Hyginus is yet worse, to Hyginus does not speak of our Adrastus there, but of another that wis the I ither of Hipponous, and who cast himself into the File to obey an Order of Apollo Hipponous did as much by the same Principle The Author of the Index of Hyginus, in the Edition of Amsterdam 1681 gives

(G) These of Argos invited him] If Mr Moreri had known that, he would not have said I hat (1) Diod Adrastus quitted the (1) of Sicyon after four Years Sicul 1 5 Reign, without any body knowing the Resson of it and C 6 came to reign at Argos, where he had two (h) Daughters, the Burk however is he here is Matter for the Him (f) Apole &c But however it be, here is Matter for the Hiftorical Pyrronism, the Ancients don't agree about Ind 1 3 the Two Kingdoms of Adrastus, I mean about the p m 137 Order and the Title of the Possession. See the Ai-

(H) And that was the Reason that she had the Name in Stit of Adrastea 1 The Scholiast of Pindarus 1195, I hat t - P that Name was given to the Goddes Nem us, be by the first the Country of the Country cause of the Compensation that I spoke of Adraflus was the only Chief that did not perish at the first Siege of Thebes, and his Son was the only Chief that was kill d at the second The Counterposite is much more just according to the Hypothelis of those who give all the Conduct of the Second Was to the Loughuss, but those who present that Advances and three Epigones, but those who pietend that Atiastus went and two thither, and who give him the Glory to hive brought the Victorious Army bad again, must necessarily suppose that he commanded there. It was therefore his Turn to die there, to make the Ballance even between him and the Six Colleagues he had the first time fur Son of Gordin, instead of making him the Son of Midae, and Grandion of Gordins, conformably to the Latin Translation of Hoodetus. I know very well that the Greek Text bears that he was the Son (1) of Gordius, and Grandson of Mides, but I know (1) Herol also on the one side that Mr Morer, was not able to 1 1 c 35 that Adrastus, and that H poonus for the Sons of Hercules, and yet he pretends that the same Adiastus is the Father of Agialeus, of whom Hyginus speaks in the 7 ist Chapter, and whe is visibly the I ather-in-Law of Polynices, and the of Talaus He mi-stook the Sense of these with saa Hercules Jovis filius sple sels in squem mist Adrastus & Hipponous ojus silius sps se in squem secerunt ex responso A Hyg

pollinis

Thebes

Argos again

(D) That he was personally in the Second Expedition]
I can add a second Witness to Pausanias, to wit, Pindarus, who fays (a) positively that Adrastus having the way at Megara, as Pausan as does, but nevertheless here are two uniform Authorities on this Point, that Adrastus was at the Second War of

(E) In comparison of what those of Sicyon did] The drastus at Sicyon, and that his right Tomb was at Me-

(E) Being constrain'd to go out of Argos] It is said in the Supplement of Morers, that Adrastus was driven out of the Kingdom of Argos by his Brother in Law Amphiaraus, and oblig'd to retire to the City of Sicyon, but by almost an inexcuiable neglect, they have not cited any body that says it. This is to give a Reader a great deal of ground to run over to find Witnesses. Larch'd so long till at last I found a Source in Pinnesses, where I saw that Adrassus lett Argos, and remains o Sieyon, by reason of Amphiaraus's Attempts, and the overthrow of the Family of Talaus, which had no longer the Sovereign Power. That which had no longer the Sovereign Power That Poet adds that Adresses floop'd the Course of that Evil, and that the Marriage of Er phyle with Amphiaraus was the Bond that reunited the Minds by pacifying the Croubles Amphiaraus was not therefore the Brother I Law of Adrasses, when the latter was obliged to retire to Sieyem Pindarus does not say that that Future Prince married King Pinkey's Daughter, not

Bitive Prince married King Polybius's Daughter, nor

So that he does not make him die by Pyth taken up his Son's Bones, brought the Army lafe to

(b) Schol Scholast of Pindarus (b) reports that (c) Dieutuchi-Pindarum des maintains that they had only the Genotaph of A-Ōd 9 Nem

Dieu-nichides, 1 3 Hist Megaricæ

(d) Pindar Nem Od 9

that Talius was kill d by Amp'in in but both those in Stat Facts, whereof the first is to opposite to Hiodotus, Theb are in the Scholiast of Pintanus Dolorus Siculis (e) fays, I hat the Marriage of Amphiaraus with Fiphyle the Sister of Adaptus, did not appeare the Disse rences, feeing a little before the Wais of Thebes those two Bothers in Law were yet disputing who should reign. They were divided on another Point, Amphiaraus would not be of the Expedition, and Adraftrus wish'd him passionately to be of it Lryphile was chosen the Albiter of all their Quarrels, and gave the Cause on her Brother's side Apollodorus (f) siys pirtly the same Thing, although contustedly enough Barthius (f) reported wrong what Dodoous Siculus says, for he supposes that Employle was the Daughter of Adrastus The Latin Translation of a Herod thit Historian printed at Basil in 1548 says failly, That Eriphyle adjudged the Crown to her Hul-

ticle Talaus

(1) Is pretty good in Morers D Etonar) I only found these small I sults in it I He makes Adviof Guicciardin, and begins (Att) at the Year 1536 Judgment and Sincerky, Diligence and Exactness reign much in it; and it appears that Cosmo, Great Duke of Tuscany, & Prince of a vast Wit, and of a Consummated Prudence, had communicated his (A) Memoirs to the Author Mr. de Thou a of whom I borrow this, acknowledges ingenuously; that he took many things out of that History; and that none supply'd him with more Materials than it He thinks it strange that the Italians do not consider Adrians according to his Merit Besides that History, there are six & Speeches of that Author's making, to wit, the Funeral Oration of Charles the Vth that of the Emperor Ferdinand, that of Lleoner of Toledo, Wife of Cosmo, Duke of Florence; that of Isabella, Queen 'Thuan Hift 168. fub fin & Jacobo Rilli noof Spain, that of Cosmo, Great Duke of Tuscany, and that of Jane of Austria, the Wife of Francis de Medicis He died at Florence in the Year 1979 I believe him to be also the Author of a long Letter concerning Ancient Painters and Sculptors, that is at the tizie letterarie ed Istoriche intorno 1 head of the 3d Volume of Vasar: He was the Son of the Learned Marcellus Virgilius, gli Uominı illustri Secretary of State to the Republick of Florence, and Professor of Literature in that Unidell' Acaversity He succeeded him in the γ Place of Professor, and less a Son nam'd Marcello Adrians, who was very learned, and who exercis'd I the same Function, and took the Title of, Il Torbido, in the Academy of Gli Alteration. There are some People demiableientina P 44, 45 who find ζ our fohn Baptist a little partial against Pope Paul the III

A D R I A N U S, or Adrian, Emperor, Pope, &c Look for Hadrian

A D R I C H O M I A (Cornelia), a Nun of the Order of St. Augustin, in the 16th Century, the Daughter of a Dutch Gentleman, acquir'd much Reputation by the knowy Killi Ib p 253 J Id 1b P 255 Bocchi in the ift Book of ledge of Poetry, which she made use of conformably to her Profession; for she put David's Psalms in Verse, and compos'd divers other Sacred Poems fames Faber Stapulensis admir d that Maiden's Wit and Learning Cornelius Musius kept a strict and very honest Correspondence with her This is what Francis Swertsus n tells us of her I wonder that Vilerins Andreas, whose Collection of the Writers of the Netherlands is much ampler than that of Francis Swertius, says nothing of that Illustrious Dutch Maid He could not be ignorant of what the other had said of her

A D R I C HO M I U S (Christian) was born at Delft in Holland, in the Year 1533 He could

He was a Zealous Priest for his Religion, and apply'd himself to Study He was a confiderable time Director of the Nuns of St Barbara in the Place of his Birth, but the Civil Wars of Religion having conftrain'd him to exile himself, he retir'd first into (A) Brabant, and afterwards to Cologne, where he undertook a confiderable Work that was
(B) printed after his Death The Subject that he gave to his Studies, was the Description of the Holy-Land in general, and that of the City of ferusalem in particular, as we. may know by his Theatrum ierræ Sanctæ, printed with Geographical Maps at Cologne in 1593 in Folio It is pretty well esteem'd, and would be yet more, if the Author had not trusted too much to the Manethon, and Berosus, and such other Chimerical Writings of the Monk Annius of Viterbo He took sometimes the Title of Christianus Crucius, and under that Name he publish'd the & Life of Jesus Christ at Antwerp, with a Speech de Christiana beatstudine, that had been i made in a General Chapter. He died at

8 In 1578 of July, 1570

Elogies apud lacobum Rilli ubi

1upra

p 48 C Spon-dan An-n d id

ann 1545

n 18 p m 492 » Athen

Belgic

rectify the Translations by the Greek Originals; and on the other side, that there is a Greek Reading agreeable to the Translation II He should not have omitted that Crassus us'd some Expiatory Ceremonies in savour of Adrassus, that were us'd for the Purisication of Involuntary Homicides III It ought not to have been sud, That Adrassus kill'd himiels on the Body of the Son of Grassus, but on his Lomb, for Herodotus notes, That Grassus having excus d and comforted the Muitherer, caus d his Son to be buried IV Lastly, he ought not to have cited Glio, on h. The Names of the Muses, given to the Books of Herodotus are of no use in Citations, and chiefly when a French Book is made of such a Pochiefly when a French Book is made of fuch a Popular Use as Moreris Distionary, however he ought to have finish'd the Evaluation of Glio, by adding,

(AA) and begins at the Tear 1336] Not having it, Imust be contented with the Testimony of Mr de Thou, but I advertise my Reader, That according to (A) Spondanus, our Adriani begun his History at the Year 1537 and finish dit at the Year 1574 It comprehends 2 Books, and was printed at Florence by the Giunti, in the Year 1583 in Fol and at Vinice in Two Volumes in 4to in the Year 1527 Marcello Adrians, the Author's Son, publish'd that History, and dedicated it to Francis de Medicus, Great Duke of Iusiany It contains the space of 44 Years, if we believe (b) Bocchi

(A) Had communicated his Memoirs Mr de Thou had thready said in the 37th Book what he thought upon it on the occasion of the Private Conferences that Ca herine de Medicis had with the Duke of Alba, at the Interview of Basonne The Protestants, says he, who are a very (s) Mistrustful People, gave out, That the Extirpation of their Sect was contrived in these Conferences What happen'd afterwards will certainly inform our Posterity whether at was falle, or not. He adds, That John Boptif A-driani, a very Sincere and most Judicious Historian, and who, it is likely (d) the Memoirs of the Duke of Florence had supply'd with many things, ha reported, That according to the Advice of the King of Spain, explain'd by the Duke of Alba, it was concluded in that Interview, That the Chief Heads of the Part flores should be support and the according to the Part flores should be support and the according to the Part flores should be support and the according to the part of the Part flores should be support and the according to the part of t the Protestants should be cut off, and that afterwards they should fall upon them all after the manner of the Sieilian Vespers. I wish that d'Aubigne had not amplify'd the Author that serv'd him for an Original (e) Almost all Historians, says he, and among them John Baptist Adrian, who had the Cyphers and the Secrets of the Duke of Florence, say as with a Common Consent, that the Wars of the Netherlands, and the Massacres that follow'd afterwards were projected there It is not to be question'd but that Mr de Thou is the Original that I list t a' Aubigne copied, but does not the Copier give himself too much liberty? Does he not give for a certain Fact what Mr de Thon gave only as a likely Thing? Does he not speak of the Great Duke's Cyphers and Secrets, of which Mr de Thon had not phers and Secrets, of which Mr as Those had not faid any thing? For Commentaris does not fignify Cyphers and Secrets The more heinous an Accusation is, the more a Man ought to mind the Terms ler de Historicis, on is, the more a Man ought to mind the Terms of a Deposition, even when the Appearances are storicis, very favourable, as in this Case If Zeillerus had cast his Eyes on that Place of Mr de Thou, he durst not have said, (f) That the History of Adrians ended with the Death of Charles the Vth

(A) In Brabant The Author that Mr Morers and my self cite, expresses himself thus, (g) Inde a primus Geussio-Calvinistus pulsus, Machlinia, Trajesti & Calonia vixis I do not question in the least but that Mr Morers was finishen in taking Trajestimm here for P 132.

Mr Morers was mistaken in taking Trajestum here for P 132.

Utrecht, he had better have taken it for Mae-

(B) That was printed after hu Death] What Mr Morers affures, That Adrichemius publish'd that Çonnı Ducis commentariis ut vero fimele eft, multa hausit. Id (e) D' Au-1 4 c 5

(1)Spond ad ann 1,4 p 426

(v)Bocchi ubi lupi i P 49

(c) Genus hominum fulpicax 1 37 P 749 ad ann 1569

th of June 1585, being the thirteenth Year of his Exile, and was bit- a Ex Van ery of the Carionelles of the Nazareth, of which he had been Dire- fer An-Cologne in the ry'd in the 1 ctor for some Daughter of Adrastus, King of Argos Look for Egialea ÆGIALEA, s much of all the Names that begin in Latin with the Diphthong A, and which are C Luieb pronounced in French as if they begun with E, they may be found at the Letter E ac- Chron n.

cording to their Rank

ÆRODIUS, a Learned Civilian of the 16th Century Look for Ayrault AFER (Domitius) a famous Orator under Tiberius, and under the Three tollowing Emperors, was of 6 Nifmes Not finding himfelf in any great Preferment a little after a Nati his Pretorship y, and having a great Inclination to push himself forward in any man- quod ener whatsoever, he turn d'Accuser against Claudra Palchra, Cousin to Agrippina He tas extregin d'that Cause, and by that Success he found himself in the Number of the First O-tum etiagain d that Caule, and by that Success he found himself in the Number of the First Otum etian rators, and in the Favour of Tiberius who (C) haten Agrippina mortally. The Praises am elothat his Eloquence received of that Emperor made him relish that Trade, insoquentre much that he was seldom without having some Accusation, or some accused Persons dempstr, Cause in hand, which gave more Reputation to his Fongue than to his Honesty, till mente returned on the Glory even as to his Eloquence, when A Old Age (D) having times in the lost much of his Glory even as to his Eloquence, when A Old Age (D) having times in the first pould not nevertheless oblige him to leave off Pleading. The Accident impulation of Claude in the Year of Rome 779. The Year after a her Son Patientia Quintslius Varus was accused by the same Orator, and by Publius Dolabella. No body Id ib No body Id 1b wonder'd that Afer who had been a long time poor, and who had not well managed see in the the Gain of the foregoing Accusation, ictuin d to the Charge, but they wonder d that Remark B a Relation of Varus of fo great a Family as Publius Dolabella was, had affociated himself a passage with that Accused After died in the Reign of Niro &, in the Year of Rome 812 It is Chepter of find n that it was at Tible, for having eat too much Quintilian & who had (E) addicted the lith hrmself very much to him in his Youth, speaks often of him. He says that divers a Book of greeable Narrations appear d in his Pleadings, and that there were publick Collections Quintilisof his Jests, whereof he reports some. He speaks also of the Two Pooks which that an I had Otator had publish'd concerning Witnesses. It was well for him on a certain time that 66 he had both a present and a flattering Wit, or else he had been undone. It was s when & 1d Ann Caligula became his Antagonist, and pleaded & in Person against him Domitius instead 1 14 c 19

Donate,
non entire true horses himself, and that the Theatre of the Holyru horses is distinct from the Description of the Holycausa es, is the is distinct from the Description of the Holy-land, ore are Fallities

(C) Tiberius who hated Agrippina mortally] That Princess question'd so little that it was he who had occasioned that Process, that she shewed no Resentment for it to Domitius The latter meeting her one day in the Streets, turn d from her She thought that he had made that step out of shame, and having caused him to be call d, she bid him (an) fear nothing, who was the caute of all that It is a fign that the had read the Iliad

(D) Old Age having wore of the Mind, could not neverthelist of live him I had the test is but too common, few Perions know how to make their retieut in Season, few Perions can say with Horacc (a),

Est mili pingatam cribro qui personit aurem, Solve sinssicutem mature sanus equum, ne Peccet ad extremum idendur, O ilia duiat

Poets and Orstors ought to be most diligent to know the time when to withdraw themselves from Affairs, because they have more need of a great line of Imagination than others, yet it happens but too often that they keep in the career until the utmost declination of Age. They think the Publick is condemn d to drink the very Dregs of their pretended Netar But if formerly the Legislators (b) limited the time wherein People might Marry, (for they forbid the Women of 50 and the Men of 60 Years of Age to do it) and if they supposed that after a certain Age they should not think any more of getting Children, either because of the Extinction or the weakness of the Laculties, every one ought also to set bounds to himself for the Production of Books, which is a kind of Generation to which every Age is no ways proper. The Comparison that Horace makes use of, puts me in mind of

rison that Horace makes use of, puts me in mind of a Precept that Virgil left us, which old Poets ought to apply to the publication of the publica

Incassum furit by, Old Poets ought to make the best use of this on, and not to think to climb on Parnassus, when have become like that Horie that Pliny ipoke of after Arifotle (d) Generat mas ad annos triginta tres

- Opunte & ad quadragenta durasse tradunt ad- 🗢 Quin-Opunte & ad quadraginta aurasse tradunt adjustum modo in attollenda priore parte corporis. They til 1 5 c obscure their first Glory by it, in imitation of our 7 & 1 6 Domitius Afer. See what shall be said of John Dauce 3 See rat in his Article. Some confectate their Muses to also Plidevout Poems in their old Age, they are commonly only's Epist (c) insipid Fruits. I say commonly, for there are very excellent Works composed by old Men on all & ibi Cachineste.

tanœum (b) Had addiffed himself every much to him in his pag 121 20uth | Clarks Stephens, I loyd, and Hofman, in 1 Dion then Diction wies, Glandor pius at the 306 page of Caffil 69 his Chomosticon, and others Remark that Quin- ad annum tiliam into ims us of that particularity in the 5th 79? Bool (onfictur) nem Domitium sibi adolifertulo cul- x He r rd tum But they ill siy that he adds, that the Autho- h. Plea sity which Domitius hid was much diminished, / a priore autoritie mulum imminuta. I have not found this in thit place of Quint lian, he figs (f) fufficiant alloque librauo - Dometo, fro in hanc rem compositi, quem adolescentulus senem colui, ut non lista mich tintum ea, | d'pleraque pso sint cognita. He should hive quoted the 11th Chipter of the 12th Book of Quintilian. There is that we find the Decidency of the Authority of our Domitius, and we find it there as a Confirmation of a Precept, which the Author had given concerning the servers which Author had given, concerning the retreat which see also the Oritors ought to make, when then Age will what he not suffer them to maintain their first Glory (p) 17)

Non quia prodesse unquim satis sit, & illa mente, atq, of Wililla facultate praeato non convenat operis pulcherrime ting com guam longissimum tempis, sid qua decet loc quoque pro- pos din ou spicere, ne and pepus quam securit, faciat Neque en m Ap, t 1 frient a mono constat Orator , que augetur annis, fed voce, laterum firmitate, quibus fractis aut imminutes, us of etate, seu voletudine, Cavendum est, ne quid in Orato the seuned resummo desideretui, ne intersistat fatigatus, ne que d - page 389 cet pasum audiri sentiat, ne se queri tur piorem Vidi (f) Quinego long omnium quos mio. coan secre contigit, summum til lib 5 oratorem, Domitium Afrum value senem, quotidie aliquid exea quam meruerat autoritate pridentem, cum agente illo, quim Principem su se guondam soit non erat til 1 12 autorium, alii (quod ind gnum valutur) ridirent, alii crisscerent, qua, occasio suit illi di crisscerent, qua, occasio suit illi qualiacunque mala, sed pum ora Quare antequam in vast actatic avenue escasio. cet parum audiri sentiat, ne se queri tur priorem nim ora Quare antequam in was atatis veniat insidias receptui canit, & in portum intigra nave perveniet do not mak Moreri's great and capital Omissions, they may be well enough known only by comparing I shall only remark, that his Citation of Succession of Dien, n Caligula, 18 nothing worth For besides

I fiy Belg pig. 2 Tacit Ann 1 4 of Chion

> Ruller lude on Parts t 3 P -46 pos den out of the Vids (f)Quin-

The Dous-דוב צ אם שנעטו די-INV OLTI D es ain Bono fis animo

11) Od -- memnon Dion, 1 59 ad ann 792. p m 7#2 (a) Hor Fpift 1 1 (v) Quid est quare apud poe-tas Irlaciffimus Jupiter delierit liberos tollere ? Utrum 1exagenarius factus est, & illi

fibulim

1 6 16 Capiti P1pia Pop-ampoluit? Lattant l

Tiberio Capre, quali lexagenarii generare non pof-Sent, addito abro-Such in Claud c 23 6 161 *Atores

(c) Virg

Georg I.

Jib 8 C 42

56

of defending himself, repeated that Prince's Plea with (F) ligns of Admiration, and then Kneeled down and begg'd Pardon, declaring that he dreaded Calegula's Eloquence more than his Quality of Emperor. He was not only pardon'd, but was also rais'd to the Consulship, by the deposing of those that were then in Office. His Fault was very slight; he had erected a Statue to Calegula, and noted in the Inscription, that that Prince was Consul for the Second time, at the Age of 27 Years. He thought to make his Court by it; but the Emperor sued him for it, pretending that he reproach'd him for his Youth, and the infringing of the Laws a. Afer had some adoptive Children' Pliny the Younger will inform you so, and tell you (Fa) some curious Curcumstances of them cumstances of them

A FR A N I U S Quinctianus, a Roman Senator of a bad Reputation, by reason of his infamous Lewdness, enter'd into the great Conspiracy against Nero, that cost Seneca's Life in the Year of Rome 818. He had a personal Reason to hate that Prince, who had made a cruel Satyr in Verse against him He denied a long time to be a family and a cruel Satyr in Verse against him He denied a long time to be a family and have been expected. Considering the Life he had lead c a Dion ib

y Genesis 16 1

AGAR, or rather Hagar, the Servant, and afterwards the Concubine of the Patriarch Abrabam, was y an Egyptian There is some likelihood that he took her in his Service when he retuin d from Egypt, and after having recover'd his Wise that King Pha-

that it is not customary to citeDienotherwise than in relation to such or such a Book, and that it is only his Abbreviator Xiphilinus, who is cited in relation to such or such an Emperor, it is not true that Suctonius speaks of Domitius Afer, either in the Life of Caligula, or in any Book that we have remaining of So that when Scaliger advances in his Notes on the Chronicle of Euschius, that what has been faid of that Orator by St Jerom, was taken out of Suctionius, he must necessarily have regard to Books that are lost fince the Death of that Father Mr Hofman gives us two Domitius Afers instead of one, and makes use of the bad Citation for which we have censured Mr Moreri

(1) That Prince's Plea] Caligula was fo charm'd with that Piece, that when one of his freed Men who had con-libuted much to appeare him, would teproach him concerning the Process enter'd against Domissus He aniwered him, I ought not to have sup-prest a Discourse of that Importance It is as much as if he had said, What, should I have labour d in vain on that Plea, should I rather have renouned the Fraises that my Rhetorick deserved, than expose the life of Domitius. There are but too many great Men who would take it for a great Disorder, they think every thing ought to be facilified to their Passions. Those who faid that the Cardinal de Lorrain chose rather to expose the Carbolicism to all the dangers of the Conference of Possy, than deprive himself of the Glory of shewing his Learning and his Lloquence there, (a) knew him pretty well

(FA) And tell you curious Circumstances of them]

Domition adopted Two Brothers whose Names were

Domitius Tullus, and Domitius Lucanus, He caus'd afterwards their Father's Lstate to be confiscated, and left them his in some manner against his Will, for it is very likely that a surprize of Death hinder'd him from revoking the Will that he had made to their Advantage Domitius Lucanus the Son-in-Law of Curtius Mantia, made himself odious to his Father-In-Law He had a Daughter in whose Favour Man-tia would not make his Will but on condition that Incanus should fet her at Liberty, but when she was set at Liberty, Domitius Tullus adopted her It was a collusion of the Two Brothers They liv'd in Community of Liste, and therefore as soon as the Daughter was brought again under the paternal Power, by Reason of the Adoption, Domitius Luca-nus had a there in Mantia's Inheritance, though the latter had used many precautions to hinder him from it (b) Domitius Tullus was his Brother's Heir, preferably to the Daughter that was common to them He made many Persons hope for his Succession. fion, whereby he procur'd all the Careffes, all the Prefents, and all the officious Affiduities to himselt, that are used to rich old Men whose Inheritances are courted, but he deceiv'd them all The Maiden whom he had adopted was his Heirefs, and all his Legacies were given to his Relations. He remember d his Wite chiefly, for he left her a good Estate She had undervalued herself in marrying him, considering the pitiful Condition to which Age and Difeases had reduced him. He might have disgusted a Woman in that Condition, if she had been his Wife in his Youth and Vigor. With how much more

Reason ought he to appear disagreeable to a Spouse that begun her Commerce when he was so insirm Nevertheless that Woman bore all the disgusts of her Nevertheless that Woman bore all the disguits or ner Condition so patiently, and supported her Husband's infirm and decay'd Life with so much Charity, that she regain'd the good Opinion of the Publick That poor Man was so impotent in all his Members, that his Servants were oblig'd to wash and cleanse his Teeth, which caus'd him to complain of being every day obligid to lick his Slaves Lingers. Yet he Yet he ry day oblig'd to lick his Slaves Fingers had no mind to die (c) Pliny s words that teach us all this, and that contain so many Characters of Manners, deserve to be reported (d) Accepit (uxor) a Punger, manifimas villas, accepit magnam pecaniam uxor optima infra ma & patientissima ac tante melius de viro merita, (d) Plin quante magis est reprehensa, quòd nupsit Nam mulier Epist 18 natalibus clara, moribus proba, etate declivis, diu vin 18 p m dua, mater olim, parum decore sequita matrimonium vi 493, 494, debatua desire sequita estate declivis estate declivis sequita estate declivis estate declivis estate declivis estate declivis estate declivis estate estate declivis estate natalibus clara, moribus proba, etate declivis, diu vi... 18 p m dua, mater olim, parum decore siquuta matrimonium vi... 493, 494. debatur divity semi ita perditi morbo, ut esse tedio pos. (i) In one set uxori, quam juvenis, sanusque duxisse. Quippe of the Remomibus membris extortus & fractus tantas opes solus ocumarks of lisobibat ac ne in lectulo quidem, nist ab aliis movebat the Articla tur Quinetiam, fadum miserandumque detu, dentes of Mccolavandos, fricandosque præbebat. Au litum est frequenter has ab 1950, quum qui reretur de contumeliis debilitatis sua, (f) They se digitos servorum suorum quotidie lingere. Vivebat mere such tamen, & vivere volebat, sustenante maxime uxore, like Perque culpam inchoati matrimonii in gloriam per severantia. Sons who que culpam inchesti matrimonii in gloriam per scueratia sons who westerat Doubtless that Woman's Virtues would be got by those more to be admit'd, if she had foreseen the long conmore to be admi'd, if the had foreseen the long continuance of the Man's Infirmities whom she Married But after all, she deserves to be prais'd, for if the hopes of purchasing a most ample Dowry at the Dominus price of fome very vexatious but short Loathings deceiv'd her, yet she made no despiteful shew that her Condition displeas'd her, but did her Duty always with a good Grace What sine Descriptions are there in that Letter of Pliny! how well does that miserable impotent Person that sears Death, represent human Weakness to the Lise! A desect of which we shall speak (e) essentially than at present. Encas. in those times much more shameful than at present, Encas, for it was taken for a courageous and a resolute Action to put an end to too redious Sicknesses dulcior What disorder on the other side, to see a Man that has a Daughter, and Grand-children, give out that he looks for Heirs out of his Family, and that they need only lay a formal Siege to his Inheritance to take the Place? What sordid Traffick? What Cupung Part of the Place was hese that of the Place UNOT ami-Cunning? But if that Avarice was base, that of the Per- uxor amifons whom it cheated was not less forded They would cum have been less (f) blamable, if they had courted a wen a Man's Favour that had no Children, and if they had not counted a wen had not counted a wen a went to be a went to had not cried out against Domitius Tullus after his Death Their Complaints were laught at that discover'd their Shame, the deceased was prais'd, and his Conduct was thought good for such a corrupt Age as that Let us make use again of Pliny's Pen-Age astnat Let us make vie again of Plin's Pen-cil (g) Varii tota civitate sermones alsi stium, in-gratum, immemorim loquuntur, seque ipsos, dum in-sectantur illum, turpissimis consessionibus produnt, qui de illo uti de patre, avo, proavo, quasi orbi querantur alii contra hoc ipsum laudibus ferunt, quòd sit frustrasus improbas spes hominum, quos sic decipere pro moribus tem-porum prudentia est

(i) Fuit tratribus

(a) See the Article D of the Ar-

(Charles

illis quali fato datum ut divites fierent invitiffimis à quibus facti el-Plin ubi infia p 492 out of Plis ny the nec filia

ven Sat

5 v 137 (g) Phn

ubi fupra,

was that King's Daughter. Every body knows that Sarab finding her felf Barren (B) conclusit a long time, desired her Husband to try whether he could have Children by that SermeDomivant; and that Abraham overcome by those Sollicitations, and doing also an Act of O- nusnepabedience according (BA) to the Translation of some Interpreters, drew near to Hagar ierem, inwith all the Success that his Wise could have defired, I say, his Wise, for it was on her ad ancil-Account that the desir'd her Servant to have Children, and not being able to give her lammeam Husband any herself a, she desir'd at least to give him some by Proxy Those that shall si force think it little agreeable to the Practice of our Age, that great Instances were to be made to Abraham for such things, and chiefly that those Instances came from his own Wife, piam silia such ought seriously to think, that all Times and all the Nations of the World are not os That alike However it be, Hagar sinding herself with Child became as proud as if she had uto say done a very great Explore, but her Insolvence was soon sheetd. done a very great Exploit, but her Insolence was soon abated Sarah who could not according suffer to see herself so ill treated by her, abus'd her (() in such a manner that the objections fuffer to fee herself so ill treated by her, abus'd her (C) in such a manner that she obliged flation of her to lee herself to in treated by her, abus a her (c) in such a manner that the oblig d fation of her to leave the House Hagar did not come in again until she had humbled her self, Geneva, according to the order she had received for it from an Angel, who told her that she Behold should be delivered of a Son that should quarres (D) with every body. A little while after she was delivered of Islamael, who was Educated at his Father's until (E) he was at restrained least 15 or 16 Years of Age. It is not known whether these Two Women agreed very me from well all that time; but we know that at last Hagar was oblig'd to march off with her Son Sarab would absolutely have it so, because she had seen Ishmael mock at some (F) thing Abrabam sent the Mother and the Child away with a very small Viaticum. The Bottle of Water that he gave them being emptied, poor Hagar law the Hour that her Son must unto my

(A) As the Jews do] It is thought that the Chaldean Paraphraft is the first that publish'd that false

(a) R Joshua silves and the pretends that Pharash having taken Joshua silves Karcha in Servant, and that Sarah brought her along with her into the Land of Canaan It is also Rabbi Joshuah's Thought (a) Another (b) Rabbi relates the thing, as if Pharash having observed the Products that were done to his Person since he had taken away Sarah, apud Heidegg hast Patr t 2 Abraham for Eamily than Misses in another But Abraham (c) Zachuth does not make her of so good a p 192 Family, he says only that she was a Servant of Churia the Wise of Pharash, and that Churia gave her to Sarah after the Death of her Husband St Chrysolves single side of the servant share and the servant of Abraham The Scripture (e) observes indeed that among other Presents that he made him he

(c) In ligave him Servant-Maids If he gave him this, let gave him Servant-Maids If he gave him this, let us not question but that he chose her among Persons whose condition it was to serve I could willingly Mode condition it was to serve I could willingly believe what Philo says (f), That she embrac'd Abrabam's Religion, but as to what he adds, that that Patriarch ceas'd from enjoying hegas soon as he perceiv'd that she was with Child, I shall neither deny not of single in affirm it. They are Mysteries that we ought not to cenel pry into, it must be supposed that they past under the Vails of the Night, or behind the Curtain, and (i) Gene 171

(i) Gene
182 I says shaws soaring on Miracles attribute (g) Hagar's Jews always foaring on Miracles, attribute (g) Hagar's Conversion to the Prodigies that were done in Pharash's House because of Sarah's Rape

(c) In li-broJuchafin apud fis, 12 V

ezra in Genel 16

apud Heidegg 1b p 197

BBrrenness was known braham went out of bis Country

Haran See Genesis

(k) Gene-

fis, ch 16 υ 2 (1) Aug

de civit Der lib 16 c 25

brahamo had dwelt ten Years in the land of Canaan when he lay

(g) Apud with Hagar; from whence the Jows have(h) inferr'd

Cornel à that a Husband ought not to cohabit any more l ap 1b with his Wife, when he has found her Barren for

(b) Aben
czra 10 with his Wife, when he has found her Barren for the space of Ten Years An absurd Consequence, as well because Abraham (1) had been Married above Ten Years to Sarah when she propos'd her Servant-Maid to him, as because he thought on nothing less than to forsake her, when he had liv'd Ten Years with her in the Land of Cansan without procreation of Island. of Issue of Islue

(BA) Doing also an ast of Obedience according to the Translation of some interpreters. The Vulgar Translation says, Cumque ille acquiesceret deprecanti, and the Version of Geneva, (k) And Abraham obeyed the word of Sarah St Augustin gave this latter Sense to the words of the Senseture, for after having observed that Abraham had the complaisance by turns to addict himself to Hagar, and to leave her, according as Sarah alter'd her Desires, he makes this Exclamation, (l) O wirum viriliter usentem faminius, consuge tempe-Sarah alter'd her Desires, he makes this Excianation,
(1) O virum viriliter attention faminis, conjuge temperanter, ancilla OBTEMPERANTER, nulla intemperanter i He had already made use of this Expression,
(m) Usus est ea (concubina) non ad explendam libidinem, nec insultans, sed petius OBEDIENS conjugi
(C) Abus'd her in such a manner] Who would twee have thought that this would serve one day for an Apology to those that persecute Sects? Yet the copious and imaginative Mind of St Augustin found that Secret in it He maintain'd by Sarah's Conduct towards Hagar, that the true Church may inflict Chastilements on the false one, exile it, torment it, and what follows He was feverely taken up for it in the Philosophical (n) Commentary on the tame us words, Compel them to come in words, Compet them to come in

(D) That should quarrel with every body The philof

(a) Angel laid to her, He will be a wild Man, his part 3 p hand will be against every Man, and every Mans 62 hand against him If it were permitted to look for Types here, as St Augustin did, one would think sis 16 12 that Ismael was the Einblem of certain Misanthroppist Confroversists that do nothing but bite every sis 16 16 body, and who to declare War the better against (4) (innefitument kind, siy every Moment out of their Sphere. sis 21 5 body, and who to declare War the Detter against human kind, fly every Moment out of their Spheie, fix 215 writing on all kind of Matters right or wrong, and assume the Style of defaming Libels All Ages Hierony-and Countries produce those Copies of tsphmael mum cap Some of those Copies differ from the Original 21 in traint his, that though they cast Stones on every body, dit He-few Persons rake the trouble to cast them back again by a secsion of the property of the property by the Saon them, but let them quietly enjoy the miterable Vide Sa-Impunity that increases their Audacity and their lian t

Impunity that increases their Audacity and their Frenzy

(E) Until he was at least 15 or 16 Tears of Age | Coinclius Here is the proof of it Ishmael was 14 Years old when Isaac was born, for he was born when Abraham was (p) 86 Years of Age, and Abraham was (q) p 199 an hundred Years old when Sarah was delivered of Isaac Now the latter was weaned before Ishmael was put away, therefore, &c I do not amuse my that Isaac fuck'd Twelve or Five Years, for if I did rely on it, I would have given a longer time for Ishmael's abode with Abraham, than that which I have set down See the Remark G

(F) Had seen Ishmael mock at something | The Translation of the LXX bears, that Sarah's ill Hunour proceeded from her having seen Ishmael play with Isaac The Vulgar Translation followed them in it, Cum widsset Sara filium Hagar Egyptia ludentem and Pere-

with Isaac The Vulgar Translation followed them in it, Cum widisfet Sara flium Hagar Egyptia ladentem and Perecum flio suo. The Hebrew Text particularizes nothing, it leaves us to guess whether Hagar's Son langht at Sarah or at Isaa, or at the Feast that was Oi on made when Isaac was wean'd, or at such other thing, or essentially with, or Superior to Isaac, or lastly whether he pass would beat him. Some Interpreters have many frivolous Thoughts on this, for they believe that enterpreters have many frither Sarah saw Ismael Commit some Act, of Idolatry, or that he play'd some sewd Tricks, or that he pud Heisen in the sarah saw Ismael Commit some Act, of Idolatry, or that he play'd some sewd Tricks, or that he try, or that he play'd some lewd Tricks, or that he pud Hei-would beat Isaac (s) Hebrai nonnulli accipium de lu-su idololatria, quasi videlicet idola singeniem & colentem who cite Ismaelem widisset Sara _____ Alii venereum hunc a'so Bail suisse lusum statuum de detestionem turpitudi-Neque desunt qui Ismaèlem fratri necem melitum Fim ixistiment. He did much more, according to (x) I yra esse existiment iome, than go about to beat him, for they (1) pronus apid tend that he shot an Arrow to kill him. This said Perentum
(2) the Hebren Word irgnifies Four things in the in Gract Scripture, Passime, Idolatry, an Amorous Game, C 21 and a desperate Fight. To prove the 3d Signification, Childbearing, (G) die Maid, perhaps Î miy be e. diffied by her 16

> (n) Com (0) (sene-fis 16 12

a Targum Jonáthanis, Paraphra-fis Hierona.larchsus. R Lliezer degger Hist Patriarch t

2 p 136 6 Melo apud A-

Prep Ev

19 6 19

lexand Polyhift citante Eufeb

(G) die of Thirst For fear of being present at that sight, she went at the sheet from the place where she had laid Ishmael An Angel came to her Rehef, and discover du Well to her where she fill'd her Bottle, and by that means she sav'd her Son's Life. She Married him afterwards to an Egyptian Woman Thus farthe Scripure carries his History fince from Divers Rubbins a pretend without any Reason that Hagar is the same with Retbura, who was Abraham's Wise after the Death of Sarab But that Error is much more rolerable than the ridiculous Superstition of the Saracens, who honour'd (H) the Stone on which Hagar, as they said, granted Abraham the utmost Favour, as a Relick Their Writers do not mention that Reason, and acknowledge but a (I) very remote Relation between Hagar and that Stone An & Author cited by Eusebius meant doubtless Hagar, when he said that Abraham Married an Egyptian Servant-Maid, by whom he had a dozen of Children that feiz'd on Arabia, and divided it among themselves. The Rabbins have advanced another Fable, to wit, that Ishmael came to Life again before he was born, for, say they, the Mother loss her Fruit for a Punishment of her Vanity, and by the Farigues apud Heiof the Journey, but her deserence for the Angel who advis'd her to humble her self to her Misties, obliged God to reanimate her Child Cornelius à Lapide corses in the 17 ist Page of his Commentary on the Pentateuch, that Tostatus believ'd Calvin is wrongfully accus'd of having vomited base Injuries against Abraham and noplia.

Sarab concerning the Concubinage of Hagar But there is more Reason to say that the Apology of St Augustin for that Conduct of the Patriarch is very weak. See the Remarks H and I of the Article Sarab on, they make use of the 26th Chapter of Genesis, where it is faid, That Abimelech looking out at a Window, Jaw Isaac Sporting with Rebecca his Wife But this is to extend the Signification of that word beyond its due Limits, to pretend that it fignifies the work of the Flesh in that place It suffices to take it for a certain Privacy that proved that they were not Brother and Sister, but Husband and Wife, for that is the Conclusion Abimilech drew from it I should find nothing more plausible than this, that Ishmacl shewed some Airs of disclaim, that made Sarah sear that he would one discourse the Burthright. If it was not early preday dispute the Birthright, if it was not early pre-

(G) That her Son must die of Thirst] Supposing that the mocking that Sarah was offended at was on occasion of the Feast that was made when Isaac was wesned, Isaac was wesned, Isaac was wesned, Isaac being about 16 Years of Age If it be supposed that this Mockery was much posterior to the Feast, his Age will be so much the more increast at his going away from his I ather Butlet us take the thing at the let us give him but Sixteen Years Is it not very ftrange that his Mother was obligd to carry him on her Shoulders at that Age, to lay him under a little Tree, to take him up again, to take him in her hands, and to give him fome drink. Read that place of the Scripture concerning Ishmael, it represents a Child in Swadling Cloaths, or very near it. We cannot come out of that Abys, by supposing that there has the again to the transfer of the start was not mut right in its place. that that I act was not put right in its place, for it is expielly declaid that Sarah fent Ishmael away, because she would not have him share the Inheritance with Isaac And theieforeIshmael was not drove away till after Isaac was born, and consequently he was as fit to seek for Water as his Mother, he was no longer (a) old vii Beomi elow, a little Child to be carried on the Shoulders, Oc I foresee that I shall be told, that neather the Translation of the LXX nor the vulgar Translation say, That Ishmael was put on Hagar s back, and that it ought therefore to be concluded, that the Hebrew Text does not clearly favour my Supposition Well, let us leave it, the rest of the Narrative is sufficient for me, and I will refer it to Narrative is sufficient for me, and I will refer it so the Judgment of all the Readers that shall consider the thing without prejudice. Perhaps the best solution would be to say, that as they lived longer in those Ages, they did not come out of Childhood so soon as we. This would do very well, if it did not result from thence, that Ishmael was 20 Years old when he was thrust out of doors, for according to that Answer Isaac must have suck delonger than they suck'd in the time of the Maccabes. Now in that Age (b) they suck'd Three Years, we should believe then with St. Jerom, and with divers other Moderns, the old Hebrew Tradition which I spoke of, to wit, that Isaac was not weaned until Rive of, to wit, that I face was not weared until Five Years of Age I wonder that those (c) who follow (c) More- Years of Age I wonder that thole (c) who follow receive febrar at do not perceive the difficulty, for it does not cease to be great, though it be supposed, as I do, that Isaac did not suck so long as the Maccabees

(H) The Stone on which Higar] What Stories 1 as if Abraham who was a great I ord, and whose Retinue amounted to above Three hundred Domesticks able to bear Arms, had not a Bed to give to a Concubine of that kind He did not take her but at the Sollicitation of his Wife, it was Sarah that perform'd in some manner the Functions of a Paraform'd in some manner the Functions of a Paranapere nymph, it was more like a Wedding than any VideVothing else, and yet they tell us that such sum is a Marriage was Consummated on a Stone That 2 c 31 Story might be told, if it concern'd a parameter that was afraid of his Wife, and whom an Master that was afraid of his Wife, and whom an Master that was afraid of his Wife, and whom an Master that was afraid of his Wife, and whom an Master that was afraid of his Wife, and whom an Master that was afraid of his Wife, and whom an Master that was afraid of his Wife, and whom an Master that was afraid of his Wife, and whom an Master that was afraid of his Wife, and whom an Master that was afraid of his Wife, and whom an Master that was afraid of his Wife. hundred Reasons would have oblig'd to do the Table Stealth, where he could find an Opportunity it, lest if he let it escape to wait for a he aparate ter place, he should not find it igain in his his of the Lise time. However it be, we understand by Eu- what the thymius Zigabenus (a) that the Saracens honour'd and reapons, kiss d a Stone which they call'd Brachtan, and when they were ask'd the Reason of it, some aniwer'd, it was because Abraham had known Hagar on that Stone was because Abraham had known Hagar on that Stone, crum and others, that it was because he had tied his (1- tem est, mel to it in going to offer up Isaac. The same Au- pis niger, mel to it in going to offer up Isaac. The sime Aupis niger, thor says, That that Stone was the head of the Stitue of Venus, the Isaac of the Anathema sthat a Salam figuracen is to recent where membraces Christianity, confirms all that this Author says, for he notes that that Stone (e) is a Figure of Venus, and that the Saracens ben Sufpoke of it as of a thing that had serv'd Abrah in for what is said above. On this Occasion I shall by that Sa e a sine what is faid above On this Occasion I shall my that the Stone that was worshipp'd by the Arabians, and which they took for the God Mars, was all (f) black and rough Maximus Tyrius who had feen it, fays(b) bus prif-only that it was Squared The Mother of the Gods cis Perfas whom the Phryzians adored with a very particular fluvium Saracens honour'd is no icis community of it in Emeron ing to mention something of it in Emeron (1) But a very rimste Relation between Hagar and in 2150 that Stone I You must consult (1) Pocock to know (1) Pocock Stone cok Notice of Mecod. In a tis in special in a t their Religion exactly upon this The black Stone which they venerate is in the Temple of Mecoa, in Corner, two cubits and a third part of a cubit the Ground They suppose that it was one of the cious Stones of Paradife, and that it descende from thence with Adam, that it was carried mither orig adol.

A G A- 39 (c) 'Exté. appolite EXEN. effigiem VideVoffium ib 1 2 C 31.

De 2 5 14. Rideris tempo: !whom the Phrygians adored with a very particular fluvium Zeal, was only a plain Stone, and they gave but a coluisse Stone to the Roman Ambasiadors, that desir'd to establish the Worship of that Divinity at Rome, (b) MLM Is legator comiter acceptor Pessimintem in Phrygiam deduction, facramque is lapidem quem matrem Deum incola esse lapidem dicebant tradidit, ac deportare Roman justiff. How bad Arnobius soever was the Idolarry of those who worship'd the 1 6 pm Stone that Jacob (1) set up for a Monument, having Anointed and Consecrated it to God, it was yet more tolerable than that of the Saracens, for Jacob's Stone serv'd him for a Pillow in a Night that he had tius (e) Ma Stone serv'd him for a Pillow in a Night that he had rius pass, as one may say, with God, the Dreams and the services that entertain'd him, representing hearm 384 venly things so well to him. The Saracias durst (1) L vinot have said so much in relation to their pretended Stone of Hagar Scaliger (k) collected a try curious Erudition concerning that Stone of the try curious the Learned Pocock said concern which the Saraceus honour'd is no less constitution. I am gous 1 39 (1)Gei es cim Hi-ftor, Arab fequent p 113, &

Again

fuckled him Three

(Tkc Mother of the Macca-

bees rold

(a) That a co [a), as the World goes

Maccab (c) More-

AGATHON, a Tragick and a (A) Comick Poet, a Disciple of a Prodic a Plato in two, and of & Socrates, is very famous for his Beauty y in Plate's Dialogues, wherein Athey Piotago-aftribute moreover a Good Nature to him Some Authors report that he was a very ra, p m Good Man, and that his Table was magnificent Perhaps they ground themselves on & Scholi-] the Feasts he made after & his first Tragedy had obtained the Victory, and after he had after Aribeen crown'd (h) in the Presence of above 30 thousand Men, \(\theta\) in the 4th Year of the flophanis soth Olympiad Plato supposes that the Discourses that he relates on the Nature of I ove, aft I is 2. in one of his Books, were held the day after that Crowning, at the second Featt that 2 Plato Agathon made The Pieces of that Poet & were fo full of Antithesis, that he said to ib & in a Man who would take them away, You do not observe that you tear Agathon from Aga-convint, thon He was the Darling A of Pausans the Ceramian, and he followed him to the Protagora Court of Archelaus, King of Macedonia. He quarrell'd often with him, but it was to Protagora by their Reconcileuron. Thus he completed him. procure him a more sensible Pleasure by their Reconciliation Thus he explain'd him- p 220 self to that Prince, who ask'd him the Cause of their frequent Quarrels, as Alian in- 6'Apa 886 forms us in the 21 Chapter of the Second Book of his Various History I have find τοι στοπον elsewhere μ what is related of Euripides's Passion for Agathon The Answer of the first $\frac{1}{m_{\chi}^2 a \nu}$ is ill (B) reported in the Historical Dictionaries It seems that the Scholiss of Aristo- $\frac{1}{m_{\chi}^2 a \nu}$ phanes informs us that Agathon (C) died at the Court of Archelaus, and it might be con cluded from the Words of Aristophanes, that he was not living when (D) the Comedy of the Frogs was acted, that is in v the 2d Year of the 93d Olympiad There remains no-lautus thing of Agathon but what we find in Aristotle, in Athinaus, &c who

(an) Seethe Remark F of the Article Abraham

Wife of Ishmael

Ahmed

(d) In vita Itmaclis

(e) Sec the Article Abudhaher

again in the Time of the Deluge, that it was fent into the World again when Abraham (as) built the Temple, and that the Angel Gabriel put it into that Archi-It had been at first whiter than Snow, reel's Hands It had been at first whiter than Snow, and brighter than the Sun, but it turn'd black for having been touch'd by a Woman that had her Months Others say, That the Sins of Men made it lose its Whiteness and Brightness, others own that they fully'd it with much kissing and touching it What St John Damassenue and Euthymiu affert, That there St John Damascenus and Esthymius assert, That there is a Venus's Head engraven in it, would be very difficult to prove by the Books of the Arabians. There is another Stone which they esteem facred, and on which they pretend a Figure is to be seen, but it is a Bigure of Feet, and not of a Head; it is the Print of Abraham's Feet when he rested on that Stone either to shoulding the Temple, or while his (b) Daughter-in-Law (c) wash'd his Head when he made Ishmael a Visit That last Stone is shut up in an Iron Chest Ahmed Ebn Tuses boasts (d) to have seen and kis'd it, and to have drank Water there of the Well Zanzan, and to have taken notice that the Print of the Right and to have taken notice that the Print of the Right Foot is deeper than that of the Left, and that the Toes are as long as the lingers of the Hand hid that Stone in one of the Hills of Mecca, when Lbn Yusef the Karmatians committed (s) a Thousand Prophana-& Sasiod-tions in the Temple, and carry'd the Black-Stone a-dmo way Now seeing Euthymius, and the Catechian for the use of the Converted Saracens temark, That the Stone on which it was pretended that Abraham had to do with Hagar, or to which he had tied his Camel, was in the middle of the Oratory, in media oire me edoes, this must not be understood of the Black-Stone, for it is fix d in a Corner of the Temple, but of the Stone in which Abraham . I ootsteps are feen Moreover, although no Arabian Writer fays, That the Reason why they venerate that Stone is, because it supply d that Patriarch with the Uses that Euthymius spoke of, it is to be thought that the Tradition mention'd by Euthymius concerns rather the Stone in which Abraham's Feet are printed, than the Black Stone, from whence Two Things are to be concluded in That Euthymius and the Catechist be concluded 1 That Euthymius and the Catechist of the Saracens had but a little distinct knowledge of those Peoples Errors, as to the Worship of Stones 2 That the Arabian Writers did not acknowledge any near and direct relation between Hagar and the Venerable Stone of Mecca Hagar is no farther concern'd in it, than inafmuch as Abraham fet his Feet on it while Ifomael's Wife wash'd his Head There is a Third Confiderable Stone at Mecca, it is white and goes for Ifhmael's Sepulchre, it is in a kind of Incloiure, near the Foundations of the Temple From Incloiure, near the Foundations of the Temple From all these Things may be inserted. That it is very easily to deceive Man in Matters of Religion, and very difficult to undeceive him in it. He loves his Prejudices, and finds Leaders that indulge him in them, and that say in their Souls, quandoquiding popular vals decips, decipiatur. They find their Account in it, both as to their Authority, and their Profit. When the Disease is investerate, the most Illinerested apprehend that the Remedy is worse Uninterested apprehend that the Remedy is worse than the Disease. These dare not cure the Wound, and others would not cure it. Thus an Abuse is perpetuated: Dishonest Poxsons protect it, and Honeit Men tolerate it,

(A) ATragich and a Gemick Peer No body questions but that he made Tragedies, it suffices then to prove that he made Comedies For this I have to

Cite the Scholiast of Aristophanes on the 2d Scene of See also the 1st Act of the Frogs Ou tos o Amadou 12 made Suidas in words the Europeus sidus with His Agathon Comicus Amadou Socrate docente Note that he speaks of the sume Poet that is one of Plate's Interlocutors in the Teast, et that is one of Plato's Interlocutors in the leaft, convivio and who most certainly compos'd Trayedies I cite init p also these Words of Philostratus, (a) has 'Amadam 3 o 1174 ms reary who is mointly, on n κωρωθία στφοντε κλιαλίω n Id ib. επώ οιθε, πολλαχέ τῶν ιαμβείων μοναλίας Luimve- p 1176. ro etiam Agatho tragicus, quem Comadia Japienicm C b See Aelegantem agnovit in iambu suis sape Gorgia stylum imitatur I know very well that these Words may sig- 1 5 p nify that he was prais'd in Comedies, but they may also be taken in this Sense, That he shewed his Capacity and his Elegancy in the Comedies that he compos'd A Learned (b) Critick conjectures, That it is in favour of our Agashon, that Socrates says, That it belongs to one and the same Man to compose Fragedies and Comedies, and that if any body has the Art of Tragedies, he is from that Time a Comick Poet (c) The auri ardios sive xwapdian xi 7727 when the same argument with the same argument of the same argument with the same argument of t

It is what Vossius (d), Mose i, Hosman, & have done
(B) The Auswer of Lumpiles is ill reported in the Hflorical Diffionaries] I give it (e) cliewhere as it ought to be Heic it is in greit disorder (f) A-gatho Philosophus Pythagoricus, f equens as this, adhibitus quondam convivo Arche ao reg, cujus erat familiarissimus, interroga usqui ab eo, cum jim staniorum pm 80 strobur adhui uslum servatit Sanc inqui, non so-Alias lum Ver, sed autumnus solet bona & prosperitat m adfi 1 l re Let us count the laults I The Agailion that C 21 let us count the laults 1 The Agailon that C 21 lov d Antitheses, and that was in the Court of Arche- 1/1 In the laus, was no Pythagorean II He was (g) but about 1/2 Ac Years of Age when Archelaus gave occasion for 1/2 of the Aniwer in question III It was not Agathon 1/2 of Euriphea Aniwer in Aniwer IV In Question des Sees thou did not run on Strength, but on Beauty, and 3 holds he Aniwer did not run on the Goods of Former Anisothe Aniwer did not run on the Goods of Fortune V It would be an Absurdity to take the Age of opphines, Years for the Autumn of Life VI I do not think ubi suji rathat any Philosopher of the Sect of Pithigon as was a Sec Sicall'd Agathon All those I aults of Charles Stephens muel l'excelled Agathon and I describe the section of the sectio are to be found in the 2d Ldition of I loyd, na) we tit, Ause see(h) the pretended Testimony of Alian more exectly 1 : 614 noted in it That Exactness is prejudicial to the Author, P 50 for fince he was not ignorant in what Chapter the Thing might be found, he is more inexculible to (a) Philo-have copied all the Fallities of the Dictionary that fir de vihe corrected Mr Hofman followed him I etter for tisSophif.

Letter, and diftinguish'd from this A athon him that I i went to the Court of Archelaus Mi Moreri speaks (b) Kuhmwent to the Court of Archelaus Mi Moreri Ipeaks (b) cumulatio of a Pythagorean Philosopher Agathon, who at the Age of 80 Years aniwer d that Monarch, That the Jian vir Autumn gives Flowers and Iruits as well as the Hiff 12 Spring He speaks afterwards of Agathon a Tracinc Poet, and of Agathon a Comick Poet (1) Plato in convi (2) That Agathon died at the Court of Archelaus In convi (1) Agathag Tal Banks μέχει Τελευτησμέτα αλλ ν vio in fine manhay συίν συίν αν Μαπεδονία, That is to say, He pm 1207

N 2

N 2

N 2

La La La La La La La La Ramach Office Agath of Furrondes

dePoetGræcis, p 39 50 (e In th Remark O of the Art of Euripides (f) Carolus Stephanus in voce Agatho, p m 117 (g) See the Art of Euripides ubi iupr (h) Ælian var Hist 113 c 4 Lloyd, voce Agatho (i) Schol Aristophan in ran act i sc 2

Moubus Cited Schol A. him riftoph iba CONVIVIO, Cafaubon P 379 um x Ælian Var Hift. Athenœus 15 p 187 A Plato in Protago-Is paice Maximus Tyrius p m 106 1b 1 2 of the Art des Seethe Aufto-

mophori-ZZUZIS

(an) Arithoph in

III Panis

att i lc 2

f m 184 (1) (suftum anti-thetorum A gathonis dire pol-1umus

Kubnius in Elian 1 14 c 13 P 735 (b) Athen 15613 P 211

(c)Austot

I thic I ul (c 2 p m 182 (d) ld 1b

demini

p 50 (f Aga-

Athen

Poetic

J 1 p 16 (') Aga-thon apud Aust Rhetor

1 2 C 24

(1) Bal-

11 14

P 100 dis of Rouen,

1632 11

(k) Only

instead of

Note that cult pgnitus even (/ Cofter sign I of the D

f nee of Voiture

there are lome Gafconfins wh re n

Surely

Lac in his 's , co

1 5 mit (g) Vofhus Inflit thon apud

him. They are Sentences good enough, and that (E) confirm what, his Passion for Anistheses. I shall mention an Example of it, wherein fer laid of may see a Maxim (F) of very good Sense on the Deceit of Likelihoods. Aristophanes satyrizes him much about his Manners in a one of his Comedies. I believe we ought to diffinguish him from that Agathon whom (G) the Philosopher Plato lov'd so tenderly The Fault The Faule of Budaus was doubtless voluntary, when he said in the 27th Chapter of the Institution of the Prince, that Europedes kisi'd a Lady at Archelaus's Table, who was call d AG E the Lair Agatha livd with many others in Macedonia with King Ar-chelius until his Death This may either fignify until the Dearh of Aichelaus, or until the Dearh of A-gailon I or which Region I do not give those Words 15 a ceitain Proof

Bonus Poeta, & amicis optatissimus HE Quo abite miser BA ad beaterum conviviu HE Que abit mifer BA ad beaterum convinum

(E) That confirm what was faid of hu Passion for Antithes I Mr Kuhnius reports Three Sentences of Anathon (a), as a Specimen of his Faste. The Fwo first were c ted by Arisotle, and the other by Albenaus. The Sense of the Inter is, (b) If I sell you the Fruth, I shall not pl ase you, and if I please you, I shill not tell you the Truth. Those that Aristotle alledges, signify, the one (c) that the only Thing that is impossible to God, is that that which was mide. Should not been made. The other (d), that mide, should not been made. The other 1d), that I octure loves Art, and that Art loves Fortune I offur (c) magin d this thit last Sentence is of Aguthen the Comick, but he would have done better to have given it to the Fingick, and to take notice that the Spirit of Antitheses adjudges it to him. I say c 4 p 183 this without pretending that it is certain that Aga(i) Vostius de Po Poet Mr Moreri copied Vossius according to his Custom et Circis, I wonder that Mr Kubnius did not alledge this,

Γδ (f) μέν παρερρον έρρον ως αποικικεθα, Τδ σ' ερρον ως παρερρον ομπονάμεθα To d'agrov or magaprov ou movalue See in opere fatagimus ut accessorio

(E) A Maxim of very good Sinje on the Detect of Likelihoodi] Agethon observes, I hat it is likely that divers Things happen that are not likely Lixos justing thit Sentence, and he observes that Ariffele alledy dit in more than one Place. See here in what manrer that great Philosopher cited it in the 24th Chapter of the d Book of his Rhetorick

1 a x (b) at 71, elis, au to Tar est un Aspet Best in Ton a 103 x2 we we serve a lostoffe al ques veripmile id ipfum (fi dixerit, Morralibus multa coentre non verifimilia

Mr de Balzac reports that I hought to all, that of a very fine Maxim he makes an horrible Fallity (1), I wage the Affairs of the World, lays he, alter fometimes Tough the Affairs of the World, lays he, after sometimes the rounge, taking another way than their usual one, and tho this is only likely, as Agathon said, I hat many it ngs happen against likelihood, nevertheless, generally speaking, like Enterprizes produce like Events. The Adverb only produces a great Monster there, and if it was a kault (k) of Printing, I should wonder that a Corrector of a Piels was not slighted at it. I or what what is more enormous than to maintain, that it is what is more enormous than to maintain, that it is never likely that a Thing should hippen conformably to likelihood. This is the fine Axiom alcribed to our Agrilon in the Prince of Balzae, but the Sequel of the Discourse shews, that if the Thought of that Poet was spoild on the Paper, it was not to in the Mind of the Writer. It is certain that Mr de Balcae meant with Agathon, that this very Thing is late, that many Things happen against likelihood. Fine I kely, that many Things happen against likelihood Enit five times, for (1) he ended his Medea, his Alcestis, Andromacue, his Bacche, and his Helena with this Sen ence, (1) The Gods sport with the Foresight of Men, and equally deceive their Hopes and Fears Sometimes they divert the Events that every body experted and opening unknown Passages and Ways, make them is to fucceed that were likely impossible Sciness made very good use of that Thought, to encourage those that are associated at the likely and most available to the scines. most probable approaches of Ill Fortune How many Things, says he, have happen'd that no body expected How many others have never appear'd, although every body did expect them? Nothing is so fure imong those we tear, but that it is yet more certain that our fears and our Hopes prove sometimes groundless Senera's Words have more Porre; we had better copy them (m) Verifimile est aliquid (m) Sei e futurum mali? Non statim verum est Quem mulen ca, Lpist non expetitata venerunt, quam multa expetitata nun-quem empanyeunt? quam comparuerunt? multa interveniunt quibus 187 vicinum periculum vel prope admotam, aut subsiliat, aut definat, aut in alienum caput trauseat habet esta am mala fortuna levitatem Fertaffe erit, fortaffe non am mais jortuna sevisasem everage evis, jortage mon evis Interim dum non est meliora propone nihil tam certum est ex his qua timentum un non certius sis or formidata subsidere, or sperage Cardinal Palavicin is very passionate a pra-Paelo, who took the reception of the Dottage of Zuinghus by the Evangelical Courtage as a manifest Procedular the Evangelical Cuntons, as a manifest Proof that a higher Cause than Zuinglius was concern'd in it leave Palavitin's Reflections, but I copy what he borrows of Arifiele, That it happens sometimes that the most probable Things are falle, for if they were always separated from Falshood, they would be certain, and not probable You shall see that he grounds himself on that Maxim, to accuse these that concern themselves to judge of the Providence of God, of Rashness and Presuments. Such a Person is a Devout Christian, therefore he is predestinated to balvation: Such a Person is a Mahametan and wicked, therefore he is predestinated to Damnation Rash Consequences, seeing they deceive sometimes It is Cardinal Palavicia that remarks it See the whole Passage (n) Per tanto chi ascrive le pro- (n) Palasperità della miglior causa ad una violonta che vicina.

Dio habbiu di farla stabilmente preuniere alla rea, storica discorre con pieta probabile e saggia Quantunque salora, s'inganni, secondo l'insegnamento del Filoso Che taluna della colta il piu probabile è fasso, percièche se da fassa sossimità.

esente, non suria probabil, ma certo, quantunque dubitatino della Promuedenza dimina thumus prosono. della Promuidenza diuina thiamus presentuese, chiame-rassi presentuese chiun que dall hauerle. Die fatt en escere fra Christiane e viuer diuocamente, prende conghieceura che l'habbia destinate alla vita eterna, e'l contrarie s'au-

uila di chi nacqui Saraceno e vine scelerato Essendo marifisto poter succedere che il primo si danni, e i secondo sisalui Not only the Physicana, but alio the Newimongers ought to make the of the Sentence of Agathon A Profession of Leipsick exhoits Physicians (0) not to speak without much Precaution, if they will honour Physick. He would not have them promise too much, nor frighten excessively, but speak always conditionally, and with a perhaps. All this by virtue of Senece's Maxim that we have seen above. The like Advice maxim that we have seen above—the like Advice may be given to great Talkers of News—I speak of Talkers that have much Sagacity, and much Judgment—They guess right in a Thousand Occasions, it happens an hundred times in a Year to them not to have reason to repent of the decisive Tone, wherewith they laugh'd at the Hopes or Threats of the Gazetteers It makes them bolder to reject magisterially all the News that are against likelihood, but they are iometimes mistaken, for the Event confirms in some Occasions the most impertment and the most Entravagant News that can be reported, and which they had condemned as Chimera's, or as Things inconfiftent with the Wisdom that did fo much appear in the Council of a State. That Rule is not always fafe, and catches the Arguers that trust too much to it.
It is therefore a prudent Thing to act considerately, and not to pronounce Definitive Decrees, under pretence of having the most Plausible Appearances for one's felf But if in that very Cafe it is not reasonable one stell But it in that very case it is not reasonable to act the Dictator, what blame do not those deserve who promise the greatest successes against appearances, and publish those Promises against appearances, and publish those Promises (G) From short Agathon whom the Milesonable Plato levid so tenderly] That Philosopher made a very Tender District, and so full of Sense, that a Lasin

Tender Ditrich, and to full of Senie, that a Latin Poet found Matter in it for Seventeen Veries. Let (p) Aulus us fet down à whole Chapter of dulus Gillius bellius, here (p) Gélebrante dus isti Gracs versouls, multiplieus, rumque destorain boninum memorea dignantur, quod fulle lepidissent boninum memorea dignantur, quod fulle lepidissent beninum brevitates. Philosophi mant veteres striptores, qui ser Placents esse Philosophi mant, quibus ille adolescens luseres, quint tragadita queque codem rempere secrendis prasidieras.

(m) Sei eblioth t 4 p 80, 81 in the the Mis cellanes curiofa of Christianus Lana gius

P 406 न पुरम्भी भर xparen Sioi Kai יות פלנגו-

SEPT'86 ETT LEVIN. - Saist-X / T W # moveup v

AGE AUS, Ist. of that Name, King of Sparts, succeeded his Father Doryssus, a TheReign who was thich King since Eurys benes. The Reign of that Agestians was (A) very of Agesting, and yet it affords very little to an Author. The Histories of those Remote Times laws begins in the Year a have not been preserv'd. Pausaniai should not say, & that Lucurgus (B) made Laws at in the rear Lacedemon in that Reign Charles Stephens, Lloyd and Hosman contound that Agestians with Agestians the Ild. for they say of this last, that he was the bixth King of Lacede- 2992

A G ESILAUS, IId. of that Name, King of the Lacedemonians, was the Son of the Helvi-Archidamus. He had perhaps Ambition enough to desire to reign to the exclusion of his rears after Elder Brother Agis, but however, it was not perceiv'd till after the Death of Agis, that the Death he had a mind that the Order of the Succession should be troubled for his sake. That of Solohe had a mind that the Order of the Succession should be troubled for his sake. That before had all the Success that he could expect, for they did (A) Levtychides, Son of A-gis, the Injustice to exclude him from the common form the control of Agefilaus. The latter repaired by a great number of fine Actions what was irregular in that first step, and as the latter of same and lame, he justly acquired the Reputation of a happened, great Captain. He was brave, vigilant and quack, he managed his Advantages well, according to Calvilland and knew how the control of the Occurrences, he understood all the Slights of War, and a trar of the geth genes Laertius, 13 7 32 Says, men-

(aa) Note that Dio-

Service Co

made by Plato for

Agathon

They are thus translated in the Greek and Latin

Edition of

Diogenes

Laertius

Suayia

Verses, that they were

The (aa) dught, Andowed delaw, off Tolkens Eggs Hade 3d in Thuman de diaCampun Hot diffichon amidus meus cun djand G amlifcens in pluris versicules licentius liberiusque vertit qui queniami mibi quidem vist sunt non est memoratu indigni, subdidi

Dum semelules saves Meum puellum savior; Dulcemque florem speritus Duco ex aperto tramice Animula agra & faucia Cucarrit ad labias mihi, Ristumque in bris pervium. Et labra pueri mellia, Rimata itineri transitus, Ut transiliret nititur Tum si mora quid pluscula Imfet in caeu osculi Amoris igns percisa Transifict, & me linqueret Et mita prorfum tes foret, Ut ad me fierem mortuus, Ad puerum at intus viverem

Note that Place was but (a) 14 Years of Age when our Poet Againen obtain'd the Prize of the Tragedy, fo that it is not very likely that he figh'd for him, it was for an Agathon much younger was for an Againson much younger

(A) Was very long I In faying this, I rely more on the Authority of Eufebius, than on that of Pausanias.
The last assures that (b) Pausan and his Son Agestlans did but shew themselves the Throne, but Eusebius makes them reign 73 Tears. He gives 29 Years to the lather's Reign, and 44 to the Son's Reign, Calvisius quotes Pausanias for that Duration
The second of the core's Wisconsides very 19 This is to chuie one's Wirnefles very ill

(B) That Lycurgu. made Laws Meursius proves in his Antiquities of Lacedemon that Lycurgus publish d his Laws in the 30th Year of Archelaus, the Son and Successor of Agestans

(A) They did Leotychides the Injuffice] We cannot call the manner wherewith they treated him otherwise, if we examine well the Reasons of it Agefilans did not deny but that according to the Laws of the Country, the Crown belong'd to his Brother's Son, but he maintain d that Leotychides was not the Son of Agis, and made use of these Two Means to prove it He said in the first place, That limen, the Mother of Leerythides was so bewitch'd with Alcibiades, who had field to Lacedemon for refuge, that her Husband suspected that the Child which she had some time after, had no other Father than that Gallant This concern'd Leorychides It was of him that Times was deliver'd about that Time It him that Times was deliver'd about that Time It was he whom Ageflaus did not acknowledge for his Son but on his Death-bed Ageflaus alledged in the 2 place the Testimony of Neptune He said, That Agis was driven from his Wise's Bed by an Earthquake, and that Times was brought to Bed of Lestychides and that Times was brought to Bed of Lestychides and that Times was brought to Bed of Two Reaction from Months after (c) Those Two Reaction from worth any thing, the Maxim, Pater of all maptice demonstrant, ruins them from top to bottom If every Time that a Husband should take any Umbrage to see his Spouse pleased withto the Visits, or private Conversations of a Stranger, he must exclude the Children born about that Time, What a confusion would it be? Therefore although it should be true what an (d) Historifore although it should be true what an (a) Historian says, That Times call'd her Son by the Name of Michiades before her Women, without any Scruple, instead of Leavythider, nothing could be legally concluded from that Fast in sayour of Agifians. It apud Plut.

ought to have been known from Times (s) her felf Olympiad what the meant by that Language, and whether it was in earneft, or by way of froish Jesting, that she call'd him by that Name (s) According to of Alcibiades, if it had been true that he had (b) boasted to have had to do with Times, not by a Mosau of Gillanry him he way of Ambirion, to give the tave of Gallantry, but by way of Ambitton, to give Kings to Lacedemon An hundred Reasons like rhose Kings to Lacedemon An hundred Reasons like those ought not to have balanc'd the Act by which Ages had acknowledg'd Leavyemacs for his Son, in the presence of good Witnesses on his Deathbed The 1d Reason of Agestians was an idle Story, for let Neptune be hever so much the cause of Earthquakes, how could it have been prov'd that Ages durif not lie with Times since the Earthquakes in onesting? A Living Times fince the Earthquake in question? A Lying-m (c) Ten Months after the last Caresses of an Husm (c) Ten Months after the last Caresses of an Husband, is no Proof in Law, The Maxim, Pater of quam maptic demonstrant, and the Decksions of Physicians remove all those Suspicions So that it may be said that those of Lacedomen, a People that boasted of a very severe Morality, took away a Grown for Reasons that would be insufficient to take away the Succession of an Acre of Land in a well regulated Court But the Missortune of Leety-chides was, that Lysander, the most settings, the most deceitful, and the most factious of all Men, who had got a Name in the City proportionable to his Industry, and the Victories that he had obtain'd over the Enemies, put it into his Head (d) to cause Agessians to be crown'd No Fundamental Law can Agesslaus to be crown'd No Fundamental Law can hold against such Persons If you alledge the Divine Liw to them, they explain it their way This Lifander did, when he hear d that a Prophet of Laccedemon alledged an Oracle in favour of Leotychides, that forbad the Lacedemonians to suffer a Lame Person to reign That, tays Lysander, does not con-Person to reign That, tays Lifander, does not con-cern the Defects of the Feet, but the Defects of the Blood, and Leotychides would make your Kingedom halt, not being of the Race of your (e) Plut Kings

(B) As little as he was, of an all Look, and Lame]
He begun always first to jest (e) on his Lame I eg himself, as all Witty Persons do in the like Case, and by that means they disappoint all the Designs of and by that means they disappoint all the Deligns of Mockets (f) Materia patulantibus, & per contumeliam urbanis detrabitur, si ultro cliam & pior occupes Pientis Nemo aliis risum prabuit, qui ex se ocpit Vatinium to 17 p hominem natum & adrisum, & ad odium, scarram suisse suosipse plurima dicebat, & in fauces concisae Sicinic (g) Plur micorum, quos plures babebat quam morbes, & in primis ib coceronis urbanisatem esugit. The pleasantness of decolours and the Strength wherewith he endurd (h) A.M. Agefilans, and the Strength wherewith he endur d (h) 1.74the most painful Exercises, made amends for (g) all his Bodily Defects, for without it his Despicable (h) Outside would have done him much harm. The Ephore had fin'd his Father for having married a intelle Woman (1), from whence they concluded that sugalappine would get them but little Kings Cornelius Neper vill Dispeaks more expressly of Agestians Ill Looks than citur auplies and the survey of the s bers had fin'd his Father for having married a litclaudus altero pede, qua rei estam nemultam afterebat aspernandiformistatem, asque ignoti facion ejus cum inturemtur, da 1d 1b more true than with respect to him. Rame went before him into Agypt, and represented him there under the most Pompous Idea's As soon as they heard of his landing, they ran in Crowds to tee jus vite.

be 95tb

Law, the Witness that d Perlon bears #gainsthim. recest'd (b) Plut ıb (c) Note that the Antients Months for the Ten Matrilonga decem tulerunt fastidia menfee Virg Ecl & ibi Lacerda phon ubi iupra

ib p 559

ca de constantia fapientis.

Hereals x THE O THE him c 8.

those nimem ipie in labra tenebam Ægra etcprotanouam abitura (a) Athen P 217 -140 IT (q) yr opas 70 78 WY embolebre

Mors bre-

vi utrum-

que op-

 $l \, g \, p \, m$ preffit Pausamins,

Plut en P 597 & Xenoph. de reb Grac 13. p m 214 (#) Duris

ıbıdı

102 & Plut. inejus vita,p,617 & BId pag 605 Xe+ noph. de Grec.1 4 p m 224 y Cornel Nepos in ejus vita, C 2 ♪ Ex Cornelio Nepote ib s Plut p 611 B (Talem
fe imperatorem præbuit ut co tempore om-nibus apparuerit nısı ılle fuilet, Spartam futuram non fuille Corn Nepos ib c 6 n Plut p 616 B. Plut p. 617, 618 Cornel Nepos in Agefil

* Plut in ejus vita circa init See allo Cicero Ep 12 15 ad familiar p 260 Ldit

Grav A Diffidens toi-Apul 18 Apolog p m 282

(a) Plut ib p 616 Seethe Ar-Tachus (b) Cornel Nepos ubi iupra (c) Cornel Nepos, 1b c 3 See tarch im Agefilaus P 600 F (d) WICquef Memoses of Amba∬aders, p m (c) Xenophon Cyropæd 1 i circa fin p m 21 (f) In one of the Remarks of she Aroicle Simonide5 (g) Xenoph de rebusGræ cor 1 4

p m 225

and he had the Art of deceiving his Enemies, (BA) at the same time that he let them know his True Intentions. He was not well pleas'd a that they should be ignorant of the Trade of Arms, for he could not tell then how to get them in the Trap. He knew also how to deceive his own Soldiers, by substituting sto the Bad News he receiv'd, a supposed Relation of a great Triumph This deserves to be remark'd, to undeceive those that believe that it is only since the Invention of the Gazette that the Publick is deceiv'd As soon as Agesilaus was on the Throne, he γ advis'd the Lacedemonians to prevent the King of Persia, who made great Preparations for War, and to attack him in his Dominions He was chosen for that Expedition, and gain'd so many Advantages over the France which the Association and the Talenta which the Association are the Talenta which the Association and the Talenta which the Association are the Talenta which the over the Enemy, that if the League which the Athensans and the Thebans had form'd against Lacedemon had not cross'd his Enterprizes, he would have carried his Victorious Arms into the Center of the Persian Monarchy He quitted all those Triumphs honourably, to come to the affistance of his Country, and freed it very fortunately by the Battel that he (C) gain'd over the Allies in Busisa He gain'd another Battel near Corinth, A but he had afterwards the Displeasure to see the Thebans obtain Signal Victories against those of Lacedemon. Those Missinguise exposed him to the Murmure of many and seed to the many and seed to the Murmure of many and seed to the many and against those of Lacedemon. Those Missortunes expos'd him to the Murmurs of many Persons, but after all they did not obscure his Glory. He had been sick a during the first Advantages that the Enemy had obtain'd, and when he was in a Condition to act, by his Valour and his Prudence he stopp'd the Consequences of the last Victories of the Thebans, infomuch that it was thought, that if he had been in perfect Health in the beginning, they would not have had the worst, and that Zall would have been lost without him in the end. It cannot be deny'd that he lov'd War more than the Interest of his Subjects required, for if he could have liv'd in Peace, he would have faved his Country many Losses, and would not have engaged it in Undertakings that ended only with a very great Diminution of the Power of the Lacedemonians. That Insatiable Avidance of Wars, and of Combats, pushed him in his Old Days on a Thing that was a great dity of Wars and of Combats, push'd him in his Old Days on a Thing that was a generally disapprov'd He was above 80 Years of Age when he undertook to lead Troops into Egypt, to support Tachus, who had revolted against the Persians Not being satisfy'd with Tachus, he forsook him to take the part of Nectanabus, a Relation of Tachus, whom he did great Services, after which he design'd to return to Lacedemon, but he died of a Fit of Sickness by (D) the way, in the 3d Year of the 104 Olympiad. He was 84 Years of Age, whereof he had reigned 41: Mr Morers (E) committed some Faults here. We shall see in the Article of Conon, whether Cornelius Nopis and Justin did their part on the History of Agestians That Prince would never suffer his Effigies to be made either in Relievo, or in Flat-Painting z; nay he forbad it by his Last Will Some have been of Opinion, that he did so, because he knew a that he was an Ugly Man Never any Person liv d in a (F) greater Plainness than he But he knew very well how to lodge him Judge how they were surprized to see a lit-tle Man lye on the Grass in a bad and sloven-ly Garment They could not forbear to laugh, and to apply to him the Fable of a Mountain that was deliver'd of a Mouse (a) Their Disdain did not les-see here under the Ref eliments that the King sent him among the Ref eliments that the King sent him See hereunder the Remark F

(BD) He deceiv'd his Enemies at the same time that he let them know his True Intentions.] It was because they did not believe that a Captam so cunning as he was, would discover his Design (c) Vidit si que effet iter fasturus palam pronunciasset, hosten non creditures aliasque regiones occupaturos, nec dubitaturos aliad esse fasturum ac pronunciasset. It aque cum ille Sardis se iturum dixisset, Tissaphernes earndem Cariam desendendam putatus One could not make a right application here of this Thought of Mr Wicquesord (d) Sir George Downing, Ambassador of England, had not Probity nor Prudence enough to be persuaded, that no Minister denor Prudence enough to be persuaded, that no Minister decerves were securely nor more pleasingly, than he that never deceives, because in going the High-road, those that look for By-ways and Evasions do not meet him in their way. I'm Comparison between such a Minister and our Agesilans would be a lame one, for that King of our Agesilans would be a lame one, for that King of Lacedsman in publishing what he would do, deceiv'd his Linemies only, because in other Occasions he had hid his Designs. A General who has establish'd himself on that Foot, can seldom make use of a Stratagem more securely, than by spreading a sincere Repost of his Marches. The Device is then very good, because it is of a new Turn, and because the Linemies have not yet been catch'd with it. Read this Passage of Xenophon. It is Cambyset that speaks to Linemies have not yet been catch'd with it Read this Passage of Xenophon, it is Cambyses that speaks to his Son Cyrus, and who compares the new Devices of War to new Airs of Musick (e) Kai σφόδεα μὲν χ΄ ων τοις μασικοίς τὰ νοα κ΄ ανθωρά ευδοκιμεί, πολύ β΄ κ, ον τῶς τὰ λεμικοίς μάλλον τὰ κινικά μηχανηματα ἐυσοκιμεί ταυ τα γὸ μάλλον τὰ κινικά μηχανηματα ἐυσοκιμεί ταυ τα γὸ μάλλον τὰ ἐξαπαθέν δυνανίαι τὰς πολεμικός Ας sicus in Musics quaque novo con florida habentur plurimum in prese illustriora, quoniam hac magu quenta existimantur longe illustriora, quoniam hac magu quent bostes decipere We shall say eliewhere, (f) That there are some Men, who by heing great Fools. quenne holles decipere We shall say eliewhere, (f) That there age some Men, who by being great Fools, avoid being deceiv'd

(G) That he gain'd over the Allies in Bastia] The Battel was fought at Coronea Kenophon (g) who lerv'd

King Agefilaus in it, testifies the same, and Plutarch (h) fays it also Lambinus in his Commentary on these Words of Cornelius Nepos, apud coroneam quos emnes gravi pratio viest, would without necessity cor. (b) Plut rest the Word Xaipevenas of Plutarch, by that of P 605 Kopevenas Plutarch emade mention of those Two Places, without pretending that the Battel was given in the first But, says Lambinus, can Agestians going from Phocu advance into Bestia as far as Charones, if Cherones is in Phocis? No, doubtlefs, but this is false, and Lambinus shews by this, that he understood Geography but sittle See the Commentary of Kirchmaierus on Cornelius Nepos, at pag 722 Charles Stephens err'd yet more grolly, when he plac'd Charenes in Peloponnessus Lloyd and Hofman follow'd him in that Fault

(D) He died of a Fit of Sickness by the way, in the (1) Plut 2d Year of the 104 Olympiad] A Storm having op 618 blig'd him to put into an Harbour, he was carry d into a Desart Place call'd the Port of Menelaus, where (k) Corblig'd him to put into an Harbour, he was carry d into a Defart Place call'd the Port of Menelaus, where he died (1) His cum ex Egypto reverterstur venisser in pertur qui Menelai vocatur jacens inter Cyrenus & Egyptum, in merbum implicitus decessit (k) It was in the 3d Year of the 104 Olympiad, according to Calvisus. But we see by this that his Calculation is falle, for from the 3d Year of the 95th Olympiad, the beginning, as he says, of the Reign of Agistians, until the 3d Year of the 104th Olympiad, there are but 36 Years. And yet he gives 41 Years to that Reign Let us then place the beginning of it with Helvicus, in the 2d Year of the 93d Olympiad, and the end in the 3d Year of the 104th (E) Mr Moreri committed some Faults here. It is false that Leotychides was the Natural Son of King Agis. It That Lysander maintain'd Leotychides's Precensions with heat (1). It That Agislaus ever encamped near the City of Herence, (m) in Bassia. IV That he had a Noble (n) Presence, and full of Majesty. V That he said, That the Oracle that excluded the Lame from the Crown, ought to be understood of the Desects of the Soul, or of the Birth These Two last Faults belong to the Supplement of (n) See the Merer: I shall not remark that he gives the Egyptian a wrong Name, to whom Agissus did Service. His Name was not Nassenben.

(F) Livid in a greater Plainness. There was not (e) almost any Person in the Army worse cloathed.

(F) Liv'd in a greater Plainness There was not p 603. C.
(e) almost any Person in the Army worse cloathed

(I) See the .

the Soul, the Religion of a Sovereign under that outlide of Regularity, and order that philosophical Frugality. He had fuch a great Tenderness for his Children, that he would amuse himself with them in the most (H) childish Exercises, lake that of riding on a Hobby-home.

(s) Plut b) Cornel Nepos, c 7 (c) He had done better to bave Aritarch did, for Agelilaus did not descend from Eury-Ahenes, but from Procles, the Second Son of Aristode-272113 (4) Plus. ibid. p., 616. (r)Cornel. Nepos,1b (f) Plut ın Apophth P 210 See also Athenæus 1 14 P 657 (g) In Agelao, p 617 item in Alcibiade (h) See the

(h) Id in Agef p

Remark C

of the Arsicle Ariflides

· AA

(k) Id ib (b) d p (a) 7/2 Greeks Spake thus of the King of Perfia See the Remark of the Arti-

ele Arta

banus IV.

than her After his Expedition of Afia, wherein he had acquir'd fuch a high Reputation, which had receiv'd a new Splendor at the Barrel of Corones, he liv'd in Spares as a good Lacedemonian of the old times would have done He after d northing in his Garage liv'd in Sparis as a good Lacedemonian of the old times would have done. He alter d nothing in his Garments, in his Bathings, in his Meals, and that which was perhaps more difficult, he would not fuffer his Wife to be better drefs'd than before, nor that the should distinguish her Daughter in the Processions, by Ornaments that should out-do those of other Maidens. He made no Repair to the Gates of his House, although they were in such a bad Condition, that they seem'd to be the same that Aristodemous had put there (a) Note, That Aristodemous was one of the Herachda, to whose Share the City of Sparis fell, and of whom descended the Kings of Lacedemous, divided into Two Families, because of the Two Sons he left (b) In hoc (Agesilao) illud in pri-Two Sons he left (b) In hoc (Agefilao) illud in primus fuit admirabile, cum maxima munera vi ab regibus & dynastus contactibusque conferrenter nihil unquam in domum suam contulit, nihil de victu, nihil de vestitu Laconum mutavit Domo eadem fuit contentus qua Eury-fibenes (c) progenitor majorum suorum fuerat usus, quam qui intrarat nullum fignum libidinu, nullum luxuria vi-dere poterat contra plurima patientia atque abstinentia Sie enim erat instructa ut nulla in re disserret a cujusus imper acque privati. When it was known that Agestaus was arrived into Egyps, they sent him all sorts of Provisions. He choic (d) only the most common, and left the Perfumes, the Coinfits, and all that was found most delicious there to his Servants The Egyptians instead of admiring it, laugh'd at that Prince, and took him for a filly Man that did not Prince, and took him for a filly Man that did not what was good (e) the pracer viculina injustment genera observing qua prasens tempus anguena, nichi accepit, unguenta, corenas, secundamq, mensam servus dispertiit, catira rifuri justit suo satto eum barbari maga etiam contemscrumi, quo i sum ignorantia bonarum rorum illa potissimum sumpsise arbitra bantur. You will find in (f) Plutarch, i That that Prince behav'd himself in the iame manner when the Thracians sent him Presents 2 That he laugh'd at them when they offered him Divine Honours.

Prince behav'd himself in the same manner when the Thracians sent him Presents 2 That he laugh'd at them when they offer d him Divine Honours

(G) The Heart, the Soul, and the Religion of a Sovereign | Plutarch testifies (g) that the who govern'd in Lacedemon, acknowledged no that Which served for the good that the aggrandizing of the State It was among in the Rule and the Mediure of Liw and Honesty, if a thing was useful to the Publick it pass immediately to lawful ful to the Publick, it past immediately for lawful l believe that Plutarch lays the truth, but he ought not to bring the City of Sparta alone in play That of Athens (b), and that of Thebes, had no better Principles, they are generally speaking the Maxims of of all States I hey differ only more or less, some falve the Appearances better than others However, Agefilaus was full of that wicked Morality Seeing himself suspected to have induced Phebidas to surprize the Citadel of Thebes in a full Peace, and by prize the Citadel of Thebes in a full Peace, and by a Fraud that made all Greece cry out, he (1) represented, That before all things they ought to examine, whether that Aftion was profitable for the Countrey, and that every Person ought of his own Motion, to do what tended to the Advantage of the State He obtain'd that Phebides should be clear'd, and that a Castley Bould he fortune the Citadel and that a Garifon should be sent into the Citadel Did he not forsake Tachus in his Expedition of Egypt, who had taken him into his Pay, and did he not embrace the Interests of Nettanabus, for the only Reason that it was more important for the Lacedemonifon that it was more important for the Lacedemonisms to support the sast than the first? An Action which under the Mask of the Publick Good was a meer Treason Plutarch remark d it (λ) Απόπκ μ αλλοκοτε το βιατοκομμα το προφοροίο της πατείδ το δικαίστατον ονομα της προφοροστως αφαιρεδούα Το δικαίστατον ονομα της προφοροστως ματικ quando hoc quidem volumento detracto nomen istum fasti verissimum erat predictio. In Conversation Agesians (l) spoke only of Justice, his discourie was the finest in the World Hearing that a certain thing was pleasing to the great (m) King, a certain thing was pleasing to the great (m) King, be faid, Which way is he greater than I, if he u not more just? This is a fine Theory, but the Practice did not answer it, when it concern'd his Kingdom I am apt to believe that for particular Interests he would not easily have acted contrary to his Know. ledge, and that is the Reason why I pretend he had the Religion of a Sovereign. How many Kings and Princes are Zealous for their Religion, Just and Honest in themselves, but if their Grandeur, and the Publick Good require it, if it be necessary to prejudice their Enemies, most of them, if not all, follow the Maxims of Lacedemon . I believe a Book Entituled, The Religion of a Sovereign, would have a good Sale, it would cause the Religio Medici to be forgot-

Two days ago I heard a Person of Merit say, that an Halian Prince demanding too Advantageous Conditions in Negotiating a Treaty of Peace with a powerful Monarch, who had taken most of his Double of the Monarch and Taylor of that Monarch and minions from him, the Envoy of that Monarch an-fwer'd him, But what Security will you give the King my Master if he returns you all you ask? fure him, replied the Plince, that I engage my Word to him, not in the Quality of a Sovereign, for as fuch, I must Sacrifice all things to aggrandize my felf, and to the Glory and the Advantage of my my felf, and to the Glory and the Advantage or my Dominions, according as Conjunctures may happen, tell him then that I engage him my Word as a Gentleman, and an Honest Man Although this does not answer the Ideas of those who have introduc'd in the Style of the Chancery the set form, We promse upon the Faith and Word of a king, were the most support and most Resionable. yet it is most Sincere and most Reasonable

Let us make yet Two Remarks more First of all I distinguish between what Urban the VIIIth behev'd, and what Mapheus Barbarini believ'd. The Religion of a Sovereign as such, and Religion perionally speaking, are I we things Another Remark Agestiaus had a very great respect for his Gods, he would not suffer their Femples to be plunder'd nor proph in d, neither in Greece nor in the Country of the Barbarians, and he plac'd those among the Number of Sacrilegeous Persons who abus'd an knemy that took Refuge in a Temple (n) During the March of his (o) Troops he lodged always in the most Sacred Temples, to have the Gods Witnesses of his most private domestick Actions I his was his Personal Religion, but as ioon as he look d upon himself as a king, the Good and the Advantage of his Kingdom were his chief Divinity, to which he facilité Virtue and Justice, divine and human Laws I cinnot tell whether all those that cite this Sentence of Euripides (p),

Nam si violandem est jiu, regnandi gratia Violandum est jiu, regnanai gratia Violandum est alis rebus pietatem colas comprehend all the Energy of it One may see in it the Spirit of those that acquire Kingdoms, and of those that govern States, they fall sometimes into Superstition Look upon Areslaus's particular (onduct, it is very regular, alis rebus pietatem colas he does not swerve from Equity, but as he is a king, regnandi gratia violandum est. As a Man he will tell regnandi gratia violandum est you fincerely amicus usque ad aras, but if he speaks according to his Thought as a Sovereign, he will tell you, I will offerve the Treaty of Peace so long as the good of my Kingdom requires it, I will laugh at my Oath me soon as the Mixim of State will have it so It he would rather have the Persians to Violate the Truce than to begin to violate it himself, it is because he hoped for a great Profit from that Conduct of the hoped for a great Profit from that Conduct of the Persians Multum (q) in eo consequi se dicebat, quod Tessaphernes persunio suo E homines suis rebius abalicuaret, E Deos sibi iratos redderet

Our good Agesslaus, who would have thought it a Sin agrinst good Morality, it he had been well Cloathed, and if he had made good (heer, made no scruple to be the Usurper of a Kingdom Thus certain Casussts damn Women without Remission that dress themselves too delicately. They can neithat dress themselves too delicately They can neither fuffer their Ribbons, nor their Jewels, but they do not only permit Men to revolt, and to enthemselves a Complete themselves themselves themselves the selfthan the self-business of the self-business themselves the self-business themselves the self-business the self-business themselves the self-business the self gage themselves in a Civil War, but exhort them al-

(1) In the most Childish Exercises Being surprized Sat 3 1 2 one day riding with his Children on a Hobby-horse, be only fail to him that saw him in that Posture, V 247 (r) Forbear to Speak of it until you are a Father Verses of Horace must not be Cited here (1)

Adificare cafae, plostelle adjungere mures, nel Nepos c 4 (ο) Έσκή-สภาจสานอื่น אפר ל מנו דפו 4 TH TOIS 15els aun OF BOXX 21 NO. arbfamos कार्यमाणीबर ทยนั้ง, ระชา MOIEMEN GO ध्यावयीय में pudylvegs Tendebat enim cum iter faceret folus ın fanétiffimis delubris, ac quibus rebus pau-cos adhibemus arbitros ea-1 um Deos faciebat inspectores Plut p 603 (p) Cicer

Öffic 1 3

I

(9) Cor

nel Nepos c a in clus

1 12 6 15

Lude-

& Plut in Agefil p C Pausan lib 3 p 88 & 96 y In that of Minerva at Tegea Pau-ian lib 3 р 86 У Id 1b e Diod Siculus 1 14 c 90 ζ Xenophon ubi iupra n'O λ'θεòς επεσηpraties an-าน อ์ฮเอง લ જવા μમે Associato edixor u-TOD: COMEνας Cui Deus respondit fas es este inducias non rite oblatasrefpuere Xenoph de rebus gestis Græcor lib 4 P m 312 3 That u, of Apollo That is, of Jupiter x Taken out of Xenophon, ıbıd mova agras והס וולישדי TU BASOV UmspEal-Act treseãro Tanguam enim pentathlos omnino allum fuperare contendebat Id ib

μ Diodo-rus Sicul

iii p m

1 14 C

(a) Tom P 217

(b) Non erubuit

650

It will not be useless to remark the small Account he made of those that took great Glory in feeding and dreffing Horses for the Races of the Olympick Games. He would let them see that it was no great matter, and that it was an expensive thing, and not a proof of Merit and of Virtue, and for that purpose he perswaded his Sister to aspire to that Victory a That Lady having caus'd Horses sit for that Exercise to be dress, came into the Lists and gain'd the Prize She was the first Woman 6 that obtained that Honour Her Name was Cynisca. I do not believe that Dicaarchus (1) was Ignorant of it, he who complain'd that he could not find what the Name of Agestlaus's Daughter He might have (K) known it if he had done what Plutarch did.

AGESIPOLIS the Ist of that Name, King of Lacedemon, succeeded his Father Pausanias who was fled into y a Temple for Refuge, as soon as he heard that the Conduct which he had kept in concluding a Peace with the Thebans was disapprov'd of. They left him in that Asyle, and rais'd Agesipolis on the Throne, under the Tuition of Aristodemus & This was & in the Third Year of the 96 Olympiad He was of Age when the Lacedemonians resolv'd to attack the Athenians and the Thebans both at a time; but & as they did not judge it Prudent not to be assured of the Argians during such a War, they begun with them Agesipolis being order'd to Attack them, made a Scruple of it, because they desired a Truce He would first consult with Jupiter on such a Case of Consoence, and accordingly he went and confulted him in the Famous Temple of Olympia. He ask'd him whether he could reject the Proposals of a Truce that the Argians made, and whether he could not pretend that they took their time ill, seeing they had staid to speak of Peace until the Lacedemonian Troops were upon the point of attacking them. The Oracle answer d " that the Demands of the Argians were unjust, and that he might refuse them holily Agestpolis to go upon sure grounds, run presently to Delphi, to see if the Son's Opinion 3 would be conformable to that of the Father The Answer of Apollo was just like that of Jupiter, and then Agesipolis was satisfied, and caus'd his Army to March towards Argos The Argians sent two Heralds to desire Peace of him He answer'd them, That the Gods did not think fit he should accept those Offers, and con-There happen'd an Earthquake the first day he incamp'd in their tinu'd his March Dominions, and because Part of the Troops judg'd that it was a Sign that they should return, he removed their Superstition, by observing that that Prodigy happen'd after their Entrance into the Enemies Country. So that he marched forward, and drew near the City of Argos, and press'd it very hard He had perhaps taken it, if the Thunder-bolt that kill'd some of his Soldiers, and some other bad Presages had not oblig'd him to retire n I et us not forget his Emulation As soon as he was entred into the Country of the Argians, he inform'd himself how far Agesilans had ravag'd it some time before, and that Curiotity was only to outdo the Exploits of that Prince A, which he endeavour'd as if he had been an Athlete match'd with him The general Peace that the Lacedemonians procur'd to Greece μ by the Negotiations of Antalcides, their Ambassor at the Court of Persia the 2d Year of the 98 Olympiad, was soon follow'd by a particular War which they declar'd against the Inhabitants of Mantinea Agestlaus having desir'd to be dispens'd from the Command of the Troops, Agestpolus march'd against the Enemy 5 P (g) ld 6 P He

LONGA

Si quem delectet barbatum, amentia verset For that Poet does not mean to speak of those who in Complassance to their own Children, should amuse themselves with such things in their Houses La Mothele Vayer (a) is not exact when he says, that king Agesilaus as well as Alcibiates were surprized in playing wanton Tricks among little Boys, and that the Philosopher Scerates gloried in it He cites Se-neca in the last Chapter of the 1st Book de tranquilliplay'd only wanton Tricks with his own Children
The Treatife de tranquillitate contains but one Book 3 Nothing is faid either of Alcibiades, or of Agefilaus in the Chapter cited 4 It is not faid there that So rates gloried in playing with Children, it is only faid that he was not ashamed of it 5 Valerius Maximiu (b) and Elian (c) who mention the Play of Socraces, lay that Acibiades lurpriz'd him at It But I do not remember to have read that others iurpiiz'd Alcibiades at it 6 Those Two Authors observe that Socrates plaid with his own Children (1) I do not believe that Dickarchus was ignorant of it, he who complained] Conifes was not only the first Woman that obtain'd the Prize of the Horse-

Race at the Olympick Games, but also the most Illustrious of all the Women that obtain'd a like Victory afterwards (d) The Poet Simonides honous'd her with an Ipigram (e) She consecrated Horses of Brass for a Monument of her Victory, that were tunc cum intersellita arundine cruribus suis cum parvulis siliolis ludens ab Alcidede risus est Valer Maximus, 1 8 c 8 sub sin

(c) εκράπις ο κατελιφονι ποτί του Αλωδίαδα παίζων μετά Λαμπροκλους το νοιπιο Socrates etiam aliquando deprehensus

Δε Δε δε διαδικοί de ludere cum Lamprocle adhus infante. Ellan est ab Alcibiade ludere cum Lamprocle adhuc infante Ælian (e) Id ib (d) Pausan lib 3 p 88

Ludere par impar, EQUITARE IN ARUNDINE placed at the Entrance of the Temple of Jupiter O. lympian (f) Her Statue made by Apelles, and adorn'd with divers Inscriptions, was to be seen in the Temple of Juno at Elis (g) The Lacedemonians erected a Monument like that of a Hero, Howov, to her (b) So that it is not likely that the Name of her (h) So that it is not likely that the Name of Agefilaur's Sister was unknown to any Greek Histo-

(K) He might have known the Name of Agesilani's Daughter, if he had done what Plutarch did | This last Historian informs us that Dicaarchiu was (1) very last Historian informs us that Dicaarchia was (1) very Angry that neither the Name of Agessaw's Daughter, nor of Epaminomas's Mother was known. As for my self, continues he, I found in the Registers of the Lacedemonians, that Agessaw's Wise's Name was Cleara, and that the Name of one of his Two Daughters was Apolia, and the Name of the other was Prolyta. I don't wonder that Dicaarchia was vex d at the Negligence of the Historians, for we do naturally love to know the Family of great Men It was a little strange that the Names of Agestians's Wife and of his Daughters were only found in the Archives of Lacedemen

Archives of Lacedemon

(A) If the Opinion of Apollo would be conformable to Quun that of Jupiter] Let us infer a Truth from this profit which is otherwise plain enough, I mean that the transit Religion of the Pagans was grounded on Idea's of facisfic God as false as Athesim I do not speak of the Opinions of the common People, neither do I speak plant of the Abuses of some particular Man, but I speak enlant. pinions of the common People, neither do I speak of the Abuses of some particular Men, but I speak of the Publick Worship practised by the most eminent Persons, and supported by the Majesty of the rus present of the sacrifices, that were solemnly offer'd, and as the Preliminaries of an Expedition, and also after the favourable Answer of the greatest of the Gods, goes to consult another Divinity, being uncertain whether he will refute or consist that Answer. He presented the presented of the Gods, goes to consult another Divinity, being uncertain whether he will refute or consist that Answer. He presented the presented of the Gods, goes to consult another Divinity, being uncertain whether he will refute or consist that Answer. He presented the presented that the presented the presented that the presen

(1) 0 स्वर्धिकृ इस्राप्ट्या TRUEV Stom chatu Dicæ Plut fupra 606 (k) "E Carne Suous Jureio 'Ολύμ Somer(

 $(f)_{-}$

He ravag'd the Territory of Mantinea, and at last subdued that City The Device he a Ye made use of, is too Curious (B) not to be reported. It is likely that it was in that Wat noph in that Pelopidas and Epaminondas (C) were disengaged from the danger to which their courage and their Friendship exposed them. He was sent a some Years (D) after with Chem. a good Army against the Olinthians Amyntas King of Macedonia, and Derdis Prince of Thomas Elymes, affisted him vigorously He drew near to Olynthias, and seeing no P 32" Army appear that he could Fight, he ravaged the Country, and took the City of To- 12 mag rome. But as the great Heats of the Summer did not hinder him from fritiguing himself appear, appear that he country appear that he country are selected with a common of which he died in San and the selected appear. extreamly, he was taken with a continual Fever, of which he died in Seven γ days, l with it the Fourteenth Year of A his Reign. See the critical Remarks I make against l kill A to the fourteenth Year of A his Reign.

believed then that the decisions of Jupiter could not be always followed with a safe Conscience, and he supposed that the Light of Apollo was not always conformable to that of Jupiter Was is not to believe that all the Gods, without excepting the greatest, were limited in their Knowledge, and that they have been from Man 2 Arthur rate the target. differed but little from Men? At that rate, the tot capita tot seusiu, so many Heads so many Opinions, might have been applied to the gods as well as to Men I hey confulted Jupiter, as we confult the most famous Advocate of a Parliament, when we have a delign to engage in a Law Suit That Advocate's Aniwer does not fatif-Law Suit That Advocate's Answer does not satisfy a prudent Pleader, but he desires to have the Advice of some other Council, and some Men will consult the most able Doctors in all the Courts of the Kingdom The Pagans did fo with respect to their Oracles They consulted divers of them on the same Case, to see whether the Gods would contradict each other, and to take their Measures the better by com-paring their Answers Thus their Gods were as Chimerical as the Divinity of Spineza, for it is as impossible that a limited Nature should be God, as it is impossible that the World should be the Supream Being that governs all things by a wife Providence Let us confirm what I advance on the false Idea that the Pagans form'd to themselves of God They were not scandalized at the different Fate that the Victims had Those that were offer'd to one Divinity caus d Hopes, while those that were offer d to another caus'd Fears Apollo and Diana, Twins of Jupiter, contradicted themselves sometimes, the Brother rejected one Offering, the Sister admitted it Paganism tound nothing Scandalous in it The Heathens could have defined a greater Concord in the Promises of Good things, but in short they did not believe that the Divine Nature was free from Ignorance, Caprices, and Discord So that they acquiesced in that as to unavoidable Essets of the Nature of things Do not believe that Cicero's Objections of things Do not believe that Gizero's Objections undeceived many Persons (a) Quid quum pluribus Dissimmolatur, qui tandem exenit ut litetur aliu, aliis non litetur? Que autem inconstantia Deorum est, ut primis misentur exist, bene promittant secundus? Aut tanta inter cos d sinssipo, sepe etiam inter proximos, ut spollis is exta bona sint, Dia ie non bona?

A Modern Author made use of that Conduct of our Agesipolis, to shew that in relation to the our Agispolis, to shew that in relation to the Oracles, the greatest of the Gods of Paganism did not preserve his Advantage, nor his Superiority He tays (b), The Oracles of Jupiter, such as were those of Trophonius, of Dodone, and of Hammon, had not so much Credit as that of Delphi — For they never equal'd the last either in Esteem, or in Duration And this is prov'd, besides the consent of most Authors that have spoke of it, by what Kenophon reports of Agespolis (1), who after having consulted Jupiter Olympian, and received his Answer, went to ask Apollo of Delphi, as a Judge without Appeal, whether he was of the same Opinion as his Father Aristotle imputes that kind of devout Jest, to one Hegesppus in the Seof the same Opinion as his Father Aristotle imputes that kind of devout Jest, to one Hegesippus in the Second Book of his Retericks. This Passage supplies Matter for Two Notes The 1st, that the Idea's of the Gallican Church concerning the Council, and the Pope, though speaking exceptedra, may be compared to those of Passanssm concerning the Oracles of Jupiter, and that of Delphi. The Olympian Jupiter answering a Oracles of output of the Oracles of Jupiter, and that of Delphi. Jupiter, and that of Delphi The Olympian Jupiter answering a Question found much Respect in the Minds of the People, much Homage was given to his Authority, but in short, though his Judgment had been given excathedra, or rather excripode, it did not pass for Unreformable This is the Pope of the Gallican Church The Apollo of Delphi was the Judge without Appeal, that is the Council My ad Note is, That Agespolus proceeded in earnest in it; there was no devout Jest in his Fact. As for what concerns Hegespour, I answer nothing for him He was perhaps malicious enough to have a Mind to lay Traps for the Oracles, that he might infult them if they did not agree He might have full It is a lid it hame for you to answer Yes, and No (1 H3 1 σ τ P γ γ 9 σ Φ Δελφοις ε πηρω τα τον δελν , νεονομίες (τ π σ τ Die dor εον Ολυμπασιν, εί μπω ταυ το εδικα α τες τιδ τοτες, απο ταναντα εκσειν Ηερεμομο Delifit is terrogabat Deum, cum accepiffet prio Oraculum Ol, ηρ ε, ημπι της endem videre cur qua patri, quast tirpi effet l' γ γ γ contraria dicere. It out Agespolis had had any ill Defign against Apollo, in Imitation of that malicious Olymp Person of whom £sop (d) give the History, he would Person of whom Asop (d) give the History, he would 10

have been trapp d in it, to the Aniwer of Delphi was like that of Olympia

(B) The device he made use of, is too Curious not to be reported. He shope'd the Current of the River that run through the middle of the City. This caus days not not to the production that he washend the Love days and the law and t an Inundation that weaken d the I oundations of the Houses and the Wills in such a manner, that the Inhabitants fear d they would fall, and as they fore-faw that if any part of the Wall should fall, then City would be taken by Affault, they Capitulated They obtain d but very hard Conditions, for they were forced to grand live inthe Country being deviced. were forced to go and live inthe Country, being divided (1) \(\) flo into 4 Cantons, and their City wis difficulted to king. Their Magistrates would have been punished with too lib 2 Death, if Agespools's I ather had not interceded for them (e) Xenophon who relates all their things, does in 445 Front rough a Corpumbance that Brusser rough a Corpumbance that Brusser rough. not touch a Circumftance that Pausanias reports \nearrow (d) A togespolu turn d the Courie of the River tow trds the pus, tabu-Walls of the City Now the Bricks of those Walls is 16 cunot being Baked, melted in the Water, is Wix justifuments by the heat of the Sun The Reason why the lux large-Mantineans lind preferr d raw before baked Bricks is because they did not break not disorder when the Military Walls were Batterd Agestoola did not invent that has I Stratagem, but made use of it after he had heard a na Min that Cimon had employ dit to take the City of Kione who i and a

on the Strymon (f)

(C) That Pelopidas and Lpominandis were disengaged by hand, from the danger | Plutarch relates that the Thebani lent and who fomeSuccours to the Lacedemonians in the Lxpedition of ask d Mantinea, and that the Wing wherein those 2 blave Men Oracle fought giving way, they did not retire Pelopidasieceiv d Does 7 Wounds, and fell on a heap of dead Men 7 Wounds, and fell on a heap of dead Men Lps-what I minondas run to him, and opposed himself alone have in igainst many, fully resolved to die rather than formy hand sike his Friend. He was wounded in I wo Places, live or yet he desended himself vigorously, when Agellaus not his came at the head of some Troops of the other Wing design with of the Army, and disengaged them both (g). You to Jimself will tell me that Lenophon does not mention any Butthe Spantel, when he relates what past in that War of Man tinea, but I shall answer you that Pausanias observes Oracle bad (h), that Agesipolus had gain d a Battel before he laid answer d Siege to the City, and I shall add, that Xenophon It lives, himself remarks (1), that there were some Auxiliary &c Troops in the Army of Lacedemon Note, that the Event mention d by Plutarch (L) preceded the I raud wherewith Phebias made himself Master of the I ortress of the Thebans That Chronological Character agrees with the Expedition of Agesipolis against Man-

(D) He was fent some Years after] I only make this Remark to centure Paus mas, who reports that Agespolus leaving the War of Argos against his Will, turn'd all his Anger against the Olynthians (I) "Ουτω μεν δι οπ της Αργολιδος ανεζευζεν ακων, δελ ο Όλωντικ εποιείτο αυ τις εξαπαν πουτι staque ille ex Argivoi um sinibus castra εκραποτι πουτι, & contra Olynthios belli impetum convertit Who would not believe in reading this, that the Lx-Who would not believe in reading this, that the Lxpedition of Olynthus succeeded immediately that of $\nu u \chi n$, κ_1 args? Who would not imagine that Agesilaus going out of Argelia, took the way of Miscedonia, $\nu o \kappa_1 a \tau c$ Yet it is false. Some Years past between those two $\kappa \wedge c c \sigma c$ 785

Cum vero Agesipolis Mantinenses prælio superatos intia mania compulisset Pausan lib 8 pag 242 (1) henomia compulisset Pausan lib 8 pag 242 (1) henomia compulisset Pausan lib 8 pag 242 (1) Pausanias, lib. 2 p 86 Expeditions (1) Paulamas, hb.

てくなれい. Oracle, (e) Xenophon lib finias, I 8 p 242, in vitaPe-(b) Ds 3 έχρα.Τί σεν mohis Til

Ntar in sas

(a) Ciceio de diofol m 316 B

(6) La Vayer s I ctter 106 to 11 p 449 (1) L 4 histor a See the β Paulan l 2 p. 86

γ Id 1b σ Diod Sieul lib 15 c 60 e Plut in Apophtheg Lacon p 215 C He was five degrees of Genera bim Plut in Agide, р 796 и Еилеθεσμμενος MYRKILL K 26 10 01 5 THE TS /CH 7505 A7 11or egrus jupuuns Ajyalamas, a 777 (1 ,TC

> rant pecu nioliffi-1d

thus Cil-viiius ad ann mund13557 P ni 162

(b) Dind

ma P 797

(E) Mr Moreri Agesilaus was not pleas'd with that Loss (F) as it was ev'd he would have been, but wept and bemoan'd it a long time, as Kenophon says a Note, that Age fipolis lest c no Posterity, and that Cleombrotus his Brother and Successor, was the Father of Agespolis the IId, who reign'd but A one Year, and whose Apophthegms were more Memorable than his Actions, no body speaks of his Actions, and we find a in Plutarch a small Collection of his memorable sayings

A G I S, King of Lacedemon issued ζ from Agestlaus the 2d, in a direct Line, had a very unfortunate end He had in his Mind to reform his Kingdom by the re-establishing of I yeurgus's Laws, but he funk under the weight of an Undertaking that could not be but displeasing to those who possees'd great Estates, and who had so much accustomed themselves to the Sweets of a voluptuous Life, that they were no longer capable to relish the ancient Discipline of Lacedemon Agu in the Flower of his Age, conceiv'd the Design of that Reformation, by a refined (A) desire of Glory, and practic'd it first of all in his own Person His Cloaths and his Table were according to the manner of the old time, which deferv'd so much the more Admiration because his Mother Agesistrata, and his Grand-mother Archidamia had brought him up n effeminately Yen he founded the dispositions of his Subjects, he found young Persons less averse to Project, than those who had enjoy'd the Relaxation of the Discipline many Years. The greatest difficulty seem'd to be expected from the (B) Women They were in more Credit at that time than ever, for their Reign is never greater than when Luxury is in Fashion. The Mother of Agesslaus did in no wife find her account in this Reformation; she would have lost her Riches by it, which enabled her to have a hand in a thousand forts of Intrigues, and therefore she oppos'd immediately the Design of Agu, and call'd it a chimerical Project But her Brother Agefilaus whom agis had engaged in his Interests knew how to manage her in such a manner, that she promis'd to second the Enterprize.

The War of Mantinea, of which the fame Pausanias said something, sollowed that of Argos, and preceded that of Olynthus Six Years Let us note a Fault of Calvisus here. He (a) placed the War of Argos in the 4th Year of the 96th Olympiad, a little after the death of Pausanias King of Macedonia. Now Agesipplis came to the Throne (b) the same Year that the same Pausanias died, and because he was a Minor, (c) he was put under the Tunion of Aristodemia. So that if Calvisus was exact, the War of Argos must concur very near with the sistent and the was maninged by Aristodemia, for it is certain that under the Minority of Agesipolu, his I utor d) was placed at the head of the Aimy, when it fell to that King to take the Field. Calvisus (e) does not ful to observe, that Aristodemias went thither in the, d Year of the 96th Olympiad, because in the ,d Year of the 96th Olympiad, because Agestpolis was under Age. He is mistaken in placing the hrst Year of his Reign in the 2d Year of the 96th Olympad and the War of Argos too soon after the Death of Paul miss King of Macedonia

Death of Paul miss King of Macedonia

(E) See to Crisical Remarks I make against Mr Moreis J "Agespolis was surprized with a burning "I ever, and return deontinually to the Coolness" of the Waters of a certain Temple of Bacchus "that was at Aphitis, whither he caus'd himself to be "carried, and died the 7th day of his I ever, after "he was gone out of that Temple, not to desile at "by his Death" These are Mr Morei's Words It would be an Injustice to criticize the Expression. It would be an Injustice to criticize the Expression, return d continually to the Coolness, for it is easy to see that the Printers have put returned instead of (f) he ought to have expect himself thus, (g) Remember rg tie Temple of Buchus that he had seen at Aphy-(b) Diod bry the Temple of Buchus that he had seen at Aphylib

14

15, he d fired to enjoy the Shade and the Coolness of the 16 go p

18 cool of the Temple of the Temple the year dhither a 18 cool of the Suchus that he had seen at Aphylip

18 cool of the Temple of the Temple the year dhither a 18 cool of the Second place it is a chimerical Gloss to 18 cool of the Suchus the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple, he would not die in it

18 cool of the Temple of the Temple of the for 18 cool of the Sactor of the Temple of the for 19 cool of the that ieproach'd him with it, it is because Kings

19 cool of the that ieproach'd him with it, it is because Kings

10 cool of the that ieproach'd him with it, it is because Kings

10 cool of their subjects suffer for them Quidquid delirant

19 cool of the Youths of 12 chemin, but your Wives and your

10 cool of the Youths of 12 chemin, but your Wives and your

10 cool of the Youths of 12 chemin, but your Wives and your 10 cool of the Cool of the Youths of 12 chemin, but your Wives and your

10 cool of the Cool of th

Holland (g) See Xenophon lib 4 P 329, 330 (b) Horat Epist 2 b 1 V 14 (1) Plutarch in Apophth Laconic P 215 lib i V 14

answered he, that we should bear the Punishment of our own Faults our felves aniwered he, that we mould bear the Punishment of our own Faults our felves

(F) Agesilaus was not pleas'd with that Loss, as it was believe'd I Xenophon inclines us to believe that an Emulation reign'd between those two Princes very fit to produce Limity But Plutarch represents them to us as very well united. He (k) observes that Agesipolu was Mild and Modest, and intriguing himself but little in publick Affairs, and that he suffer himself to be gain'd by his Collegue, who knowing him to be of an Amorous Complection, spoke always (1) Id it to him of handsome Boys, and push him on that side, and serv'd him also in it (1) Lissus i ozov oration with a suffer was to suffer with the wind with the wind with the wind of Amours were not look'd upon as criminal in Lacedemon. He is a Gaeck Pussing which informs us that Agessauri lamented the Passige which informs us that Agrillaus lamented the Palinge which informs us that Agriphani lamining the lots of that Collegue (m) Αγισιλώ 9 3 τετι άχεσαμ, κ. κ. πις αι ω 10, εφιών ως αντιπάλφ, άλλά χ. εποροφού Αμεροσάν Αgestaut his auditus, non ut quidam existimassent, ob adversaticassum latatus cst, s. t humaniter mortem illius lachrymatus est, or conlib 5 p. suetudinem desideravit

(A) By a refined desire of Glory] Plutarch's Narrative (n) infinites plainly to us, that Agessfrata shewed her Son the prejudice he would do himself by his Plan of Reformation, considering the great Estate she possess, but he desired her to be willing to firste line polieit, but he delired her to be willing to facrifice her Riches to her Son's Glory For, faid he to her, I can never be equal with other Monarchs on the account of Riches The Servants of the Sati aps, the Servants of the Financiers of Seleucus, and Prolemy are richer than all the Kings of Lacedemon, but if by my Temperance, and by the Greatness of my Soul I raise my felf above the Luxury of those Princes, and if I can introduce the equality of Goods Princes, and if I can intro luce the equality of Goods in my Kingdom, I shall attain to a true Grandeur, I shall pass for a great Prince This is a refining of Self love You will be out done what progress soever you make in a certain Road, but take one quite ver you make in a certain Road, but take one quite contrary wherein you shall have no Rivals, and those that shall put you in a Ballance with others will maintain, that in its kind your that does not yield to that of others. But could such a thing be faid, if the dispute should run on Qualities of the same kind, some visibly Inferior, and others visibly Superior, as the Opulency of Agis, and that of the King of Syria would have been?

(B) seem's to be expected from the Wanes I Therefore communicated the Affairs of the Coansel (e) P wealth to their Wives, (e) much more than their Wives communicated their Houshold Affairs to them. At the time we speak of, almost all the Riches

33° (n) Plut in Agide

(e) Plut

She endeavour'd to gain the Women, but instead of suffering themselves to be perfusded, they address'd themselves to Leonidas, the other King of Lacedemon, and most humbly supplicated him to cause the Designs of his Collegue to miscarry I eon designs. durst not openly oppose it, for sear of exasperating the People, to whom the Retorm tion was pleasing, because it would be useful to them He only cross'd it by Intrigues, and foreading Suspicions, as if Agis aspir'd to them He only crois'd it by Intrigues, and spreading Suspicions, as if Agis aspir'd to the Tyranny by depicting Rich Mcr, and by raising the Poor Nevertheless Agis proposed his New Laws to the Sc nate, which contain'd the abolishment of Debts, and a new division of Lands Leonidas, supported by the Rich, opposed this Project so powerfully, that there was one Voice more for the Rejection than for the Admillion He paid dearly for the Success of his Affair 1y/inder, one of the 1 phore, who had been the great Promoter of the Resource, one of the Blood Royal, alledg'd the (C) Celestral Signs, and put a Prince of the Blood Royal, whose Name was Cleombrotus, and who was Son in I aw to I en lay, forward to secure the Kingdom to himself Leonidis, seiz'd with Feir, took Resuge in a Temple, where his Daughter, the Wise of Cleombrotus, came to him He was created, and because he did not appear, he was declared degraded from his Times. red, and because he did not appear, he was declared degraded from his Property, which was conferred on Cleombretus. He obtained leave to retric to Its gea. The New Ephors enter'd a Process of Innovation against I) and it and Mindroclidas. These Two Men persuaded the Two Kings to unite, and to turn those Ephors out of their Places. The Thing was done, but not without the City beautiful and the City beautiful an those Ephori out of their Places. The Thing was done, but not without the City's being in a great Trouble. Agishaus, one of the I phos, who succeeded those that were turned out, would have caus'd I cond is to have been kill d on the Road of Tegea, if Agis had not sent him a good Guard. The Resonation might have been established at that time, if Agishaus had not found the Means to clude the good Intention of the Two Kings. During these Translictions, the Achieuns desir'd assistance, it was granted them, and Agis had the command of the Troops. He acquired a great (D) Reputation in that Campaign. At his Return he found Things, so embroil'd by the ill Conduct of Agishaus, that it turn he found Things so embroil'd by the ill Conduct of Agestians, that it was impossible for him to maintain himself Leonidas was recalled to Lacelemen, Agus retird into a Temple, and Cleombrotus into another. The Wile of this lift behaved her felf in such a manner, as made her to be admired a Hr by every body Leonidas was satisfied with causing his Son in Law to be explicitly after which he apply'd himself wholly to the Ruin of Agis One of the Ephori that was not willing to restore what Agesstrate had lent him, was the chief Instrument of the Missortune of that Family Agis did not come out of his Place of Refuge but only to bathe himself. As he was returning one Day from the Bath to his Temple, that Ephorus seized on him, and drigged him to Prison. His Process was made, he was condemned to Death, and delivered to the Executioner. His Mother and Grandmother required extressly, that at least a King of Lacedemon might have leave to plead his Cause before the Pecture of ple But it was fear'd his Words would make too much Impression, and that very Hout they made haste to strangle Agis. The I phone, that was a Debtor Real of the Agis and that Very Hout they made haste to strangle Agis. The I phone, that was a Debtor Real of the Agistrata, suffered that Princess to come into the Prison. He suffered the Amphican one after another Agesistrata died in a very B glorious manner. The Spouse of Agis, a very rich Princess, and very wise, and one of the finest Women of Greece, and was pulled out of her House by King I conidar, and constrained to marry that Princesson Agistis. Ind.

(a) Plat 1h I make use of Amuot s Translati-

(t) Ibid

Pag 800

Riches of Lacedemon were fallen to the Distaff, they were at the disposil of the I emale Sex, which fruitrated the Design of the Prince The Ladies tear'd to lote then Riches, their Pleasures, and their Credit all at once, and perhaps they were not mistaken But let us hear Plutarch speak (a) Now it must be noted that most of the Riches of Lacedemon were at that time in at most of the Riches of Lacedemon were at that time in Womens hands, which made the Undertaking more afficult. For the Women not only were against it, because thereby they should lose their Delights, in which they constituted their Happiness, for want of knowledge of the true Good, but also because they saw that the Honour that was done them, and the Power and Authority which they had lecause of their Riches, should be taken from them essent was

them every way

(C) Alledged the Celefical Signs] The thing is this (b) Once in every Nine Years the Ephori contemplated Heaven in a Serene Night, and without Moon, and if they saw a Star fall, they judg'd that the Kings had sinn'd against God, and they were suspended from their Dignity, until an Oracle came from Delphi, or from Olympia, that resertled them again Lysander boasting to have seen that Phanomenon, entred a Process against the King, and produc'd Witnesses who declar'd that Leonidas had had two Children by an Asiatick Woman Now there was an Ancient Law that did (1) That forbid the (1) Historial to get Children by a set of 11, Toreign Woman Is it not a very odd thing that the D fuch a Government as that, wherein the Lor- fordats tune of kings depended on the Good Pleature of Heret of an Ephorus, who had feen a Star fall, insuld les, of of an Epherus, who have fublished fo long?

have subsisted so long?

(D) Acquired a great Reputation in that campaign.] Having join'd Aratia, General of the are the Acheans, near Corinth, his Advice was to give knee of the Enemy Battel on the other side of the I weekens. So printed this Judgment to that General's Opinion, who thought it more fit to give no Battel. Aratis owned it himself in his Book. Yet one Baton of Sinope published, that Agis dissuaded the Light, to which Aratis was (d) resolved. Is it not very strange, that an it still straight one of that General that are contradicted by the Relations of that General? Can it be credible that those Relations should be false, to the prejudice of their Author? That Boldness may be suffered for some Months, and for some Reason, but when the Events live pass'd that Term, great Actors ought no longer to be contradicted.

2 hich

a Taken out of Plutarch, in vita Ági-dis & Cleomenis B Meursius de regno Lacedæm

P 87 2 Sheis commonly call d so for bi coity's so was not of Age tourn of tlelern ubuntra f I the Da, of th Conception of the Firen in the Kalender (Inken out of the Journal of Incliarned of the 16th of Jan 1696 P 51,5. Ldit of

was dif 1-

(a) Plut p 8 4

Holland

(b) HI ftory of the Works of the Learned, November, 1696 p 140, 141

ral of the Lanel of toc 161% January, 1696 p

End was at least as tragical as that of Agu, whose Designs he had endeavour'd to execute His Name was Cleomenes a. Mr Morers (E) does not report right what Agus said to those who pitted his Fate Other Dictionaries are very (F) faulty on this Article Meursius B ought not to have said that that Agus reign'd 9 Years, for the Passage of the control of t Diodorus Siculus that he alledges, concerns another Agu. He whom I speak of here, lost his Life in the 135th Olympiad Plutarch's Considerations on that King's Punishment will appear in the Article of Amphares

AGREDA (Mary d') a Fanatick Nun, and famous for a Work that the Serbonne censur'd, liv'd in the 17th Century Francu Coronel, her Father, and Catherine & Arena, her Mother, who liv'd at Agreda, a Town of Spain, sounded a Convent in their House the 19th of January, 1619. A Particular Revelation moved them to it Our May took the Nun's Habit in it at the same time with her Mother and Sister, she pro-In a positive of the Nun's Habit in it at the same time with her Mother and Sister, she profess of in it with her Mother I the 2d of February, 1620. She was elected Superior in the Year 1627 and during the first Ten Years of her Superiority, she received divers Comber Family Name, it is only the Name of the Town shape of the Town selected for the Life of the Holy Virgin. She resisted the Gorders until the Year 1637 that she begun to write it. Having similarly, she burnt it with divers Writings that she had composed on other Subjects. She followed in this the Counstelled her in the absence of her Ordinary Confessor. Her Superiors and where the Monastery was, where of the first Confessor time. God and the Holy Virgin resterated the same Command to her She begun to obey the 8th of December, 1655. She divided that Work into three Parts, contained in eight Books, that have been printed at Lisbon, at Madrid, at Perpignan, and at Antwerp The first was translated out of Spanish into French, from the Edition of Perpignan, by Father Croset, a Recollect That Translation was printed at Marselles in the Year 1696, the Sister There are so many Follies in (A) that Work, yet so capable to please the Passionate There are so many Follies in (A) that Work, yet so capable to please the Passionate Votaries of the Holy Virgin, that the Faculty of Divinity of Paris judged it proper to (B) censure it. They attain'd their End in spite of the Oppositions, and of the horrible buftle

(E) Mr Moreri does not report right] Here is what Agis Ind, seeing one of the Serjeants weep, (a Weep no, for since they put me to death with such a crying Institute, I am of a greater Merit than the Authors of much Death Instead of this, Mr Moreri makes him say, Usep not, for these that weep are much more to be pitted than me It is not the only Fault of that Article Mr Moreriaus fally, 1 That in the beginning of Agis's Reign, an Ephorus, whole Name was Epitadens, caus'd an Order to be mide, That Fathers might disinherit their Children 2 I hat Agis rest field the Words of that Order, which peopled the City again in a little time, I hat the most Considerable lent a helping hand to the Delign of Ag r Read Plurarch, you will fee I hat Epicadem had caus d his Decree to be pais'd long time before 2 I hat Agis had not the good Fortune to alter the least Thing in it 3 That the Rich People opposed his Delign Is this to consult Originals? Is this to understand

(F) Very faulty on this Article] Charles Stephens confounds that zigis with another more ancient, and distinguishes him from him whom the Lacedimoniums hing d Mr Hofman has only committed the full of thole I wo laults, Lloyd corrects none of

(A) There are so many Follies in that Work] We find their, "That as soon (b) as the Virgin came in to the World, the Almighty order'd the Angels to carry that Lovely Child into the Empyreal Hearth of the Charles of ven, which they did divers times pointed an hundred of each of the Nine Choirs of "Angels, that is to fay, Nine hundred to ferve her "And that he appointed 12 others to ferve her in "1 Vitible and Corporeal Form, and 18 more of the " highest Rink, that descended on Jacob's Ladder, to make Embassies from the Queen to the Great King That to older that Invincible Squadron "King That to order that Invincione the Heavenly the better, St Michael the Prince of the Heavenly dar the head of it That the "Militin, was plue d at the head of it That the first Conception of the Body of the most Holy Vir-"gin was on a Sunday, correspondent to that of the Creation of Angels That if the Virgin did "Creation of Angels That it the virgin up "not speak as soon as she was born, it was not be"crute she could not, but because she would not
"That before she was three Years of Age, she swept "the House, and the Angels assisted her, & There
"the I know not how many such like Imaginations
"in it." These are the Extracts that a Protestame lournalist gave of it. Another Journalist who is Journalist gave of it Another Journalist who is a good Catholick, assures us, (c) that nothing is to be found in the six first Chapters, but Visions by which the Sister Mary of Jesus Says, That God discovered the My-steries of the Holy Virgin to her, and the Detrees he made to create all things That in the Twentieth Chapter, She (d) gives an account of what happen'd to the Holy Virgin in the Womb of St Anne, that she comes afterwards to the Birth of the Holy Virgin, to the Nasil that was given her, to the Angels that were charg'd in guard her, to the Occupations of the first Eighteen Months of her Childhood, to the Conversation she had with God at the end of those Eighteen Months, to her Conversations with St Joachim and St Anne, and to the Holy Exercises wherein she employ dher st fluntil she was put into the Temple of Jeruialem If any body should fancy that among so many Visions there is nothing that concerns St John s Revelations, he would be greatly miamong to many Vilions there is nothing that concerns at John's Revelations, he would be greatly mistaken, for our Mary not latisfy'd to have explain'd the 12th Chapter of the Revelations, enlarged very much on the 21st, (e) which she expounds of the Conception of the Holy what I twould be very surprizing that she should have rowed so many Years on that Sea, without touching on that Rock If you desire to know the Title of her Work in the Translation of Thomas Cross.

define to know the Title of her Work in the Iranslation of Thomas Grosit, read what follows The Mystical City of God, Miracle of the Almighty, Abyss of Grace, Divine History of the List of the most Holy Virgin Mary, Mother of God, our Queen and Mistrest, manifised in these last Ages by the Holy Virgin to Sister Mary of Jesus, Abbess of the Convent of the Immaculate Conception of the City of Agreda, of the Order of St. Francis, and written by that Jam. Sister by the Order of her Superiors, and of her Confessor

(B. The Faculty of Divinity at Paris judg d it proper to sensure it] The Censure that they published is only known to me by the Journal of the Learned, wherein I have seen, I That the Sixth Condemn'd Proposition contains, (f) That God gave the Holy Virgin all that he would, and would give her all that he could, and could give her all that he could, and could give her all those he would, and would give her force of Truth, and of the Light in which I see all those lnessable Mysteries, that all the Privileges, the Graces, the Prerogatives, the Favours, and the Gifts of the "Mysteries, that all the Privileges, the Graces, the Prerogatives, the Favours, and the Gifts of the most Pure Mary, comprehending the Dignity of the Mother of God in it, depend and take their Original from having been Immaculated full of Grace in her Conception, insome without that Privilege all the rest would appear faulty, or hike a Stately Building without a solid and proportionable Foundation "3 That (b) the Ninth Proposition explains literally of the Holy Virgin the (b) Ibic Words of the 8th Chapter of the Proverbs, and instinutional on the Three of the Bulleting are raised and maintained on the Three, Princes command, and the Rulers of the Bulletin Inches of Meas Eyes were penetrating enough to see the (i) Ibid

ber, 1

the (1) Ibid

(e) No e

fing the Scripture, as she did, infile of some (C) of the Doctors of that Society. How just sower that Censure is, it is thought that the foreseeing of the Light of the Hely Virgin, it would suffice to conduct them to a Blessed Eternity 5 That besides those Propositions, divers others are comprized under the Fourteenth Article, and which are respectively condemned as rash, contrary to the Wisdom of the Rules that the Church prescribes, to which a added, that most of them are like the Fables and Ravings of Apocryphal Authors, and expose the Catholick Religion to the Contempt of Impious Men and of Hereticks 6 That (a) finally the Faculty declares, that it does not pretend to approve divers other things contained in that Book, and chiefly the Passages where the Author abuses the Text of the Scripture, in applying it to her own Sense, and those wherein she assures that some Opinions that are meetly Scholastick, were revealed to her Let us make some small Resections Let us make some imall Reflections upon this

In the Ist place the Scholasticks teach generally that the distinctive Character of God and of the Creas is, that God has nothing that comes from elie-lete, and that the Creatures have nothing but what proceeds from eliewhere This is what they express by the Barbarous Words afeitas, and abalicitas, from whence they conclude that all the Attributes of God are communicable to the Creature except the Aferare communicable to the Creature except the Actions, and consequently that it is possible for a Creature to be eternal, (b) a parte ante, & a parte pest, and infinite as to Knowledge, Power, Local Presence, Goodness, Justice, & They commonly teach, that by the Obediential Power Creatures are suiceptible of the Faculty of operating all forts of Miracles, and also of the Power of creating. So that if God did effectually confer on the Holy Virgin all that he could confer upon here. ting So that if God did effectually confer on the Holy Virgin all that he could confer upon her, it follows, according to the Doctrines of the School which the Sifter Mary of Jefus valued much, that the Virgin existed from all Time, that she can do legs, that she knows all things, that she fills all lees, and that she is infinite in all regards. I need not suppose that our Abbels of Agreda followed the Doctrine of the Spanish Schoolmen, for I am not concern d whether she knew, or was ignorant of it. She teaches plainly, That God give the Holy Virgin all that he could give her, and that he could give her all his Attributes, except the Divine could give her all his Attributes, except the Divine Pilenie it felt. This suffices me to draw the Conclusion that I have drawn. Which being so, one may very well wonder that the Sorbania bould any only, That (a) that Proposition is falle, tout fevere enough. Ought they to have been contented with those weak Qualifications? Was it sufficient to assist of the first of the state of the feet of the state of t Wisa Rash Mistake to apply the I iteral Senie of these Words of Solomon, By me Kings Reign, and the Rulers of the Earth administer Justice, to the Holy Viigin

Here is my IId Reflection Those that have attentively examin'd all that has been faid of the Power of the Holy Virgin, and all the Share that is given liet in the Government of the Universe, have taken notice that the last Comers having a mind to outdo the foregoing Authors, have been the cause that at lift the utmost Bounds of Flattery have been found out But as the Realons of going always forward have never ceas d, for when the Peoples Devotion 15 to serve for a Revenue to many Persons that have a mind to live at ease, it must be quickned and rea-nimated from time to time with Relishes of a New Invention, Isay, considering this, there is reason to wonder that the Barriers have not been broke, and that among so many Monks and Nuns, who have been so great Resiners, no body has yet said that the Holy Virgin govern d the World alone How comes it that spain his not yet produc d Writers that have boasted to his not yet produc d Writers that have boafted to know by Revelation, that a long Experience having made God the for know the Infinite Capacity of the Holy Virgon had the good use she made of the Power where the he had invested her, had resolved to abdicate the simpire of the World, and that God the Son believing he could not follow a better Example, had follow'd the same Resolution, so that the Holy Ghost always conformable to the Wills of the Two Persons from whom he proceeds. approthe Two Perions from whom he proceeds, approving this Fine Design, the whole Trinity had remitted the Government of the World in the hands of the Holy Virgin, and that the Ceremony of the Abdistree Virgin and dication, and that of the Translation of the Empire was folemnly made in the presence of all the An-

geh; that an Act of it had been drawn up in the most Authentick I orm, that since that Day God concern'd himself with nothing, and relied altogether with the content with the c ther on the Vigilancy of Mary, that Orders were given to several Angels, to notify that Alteration of Government upon Earth, that Men might know to whom, and in what manner they ought to have recourse for the tuture in their Prayers, that it was no longer to God, fince he had declared himself was no longer to God, fince he had declared himfelt emeritus, & rude donatus, nor to the Holy Viigin, as to a Mediatrix, or to a Subordinate Queen, but as to the Sovereign and Absolute I impress of all things. How comes it, once again, that such an Extravagancy is yet to start? I was ask'd one day, if I had never heard of it? I answer'd no, but I would not swear these thee Thoughe did never appear and ver less. heard of it? I answer'd no, but I would not swear that that Thought did never appear, and yet less, that it will never be hatch'd in a Brain sick of Devotion, and perhaps if Mary d' Agreda had liv'd ten Years longer, she would have brought forth (e) that Monster, and given us a Copy of the Act of the Abdication, wherein we should have seen that the Tributy heard willing to live heareforth a Ower Life. dication, wherein we should have seen that the Trinity being willing to live henceforth a Quiet Life, and acknowledge their Obligations to the Holy Virgin, who since so many Ages sustain'd so wisely a considerable share of the Fatigues of the Regency of the World, thought they could do nothing more proper, nor pitch upon a Reward more surable to her, than to divest themselves in her Favour of the Absolute Authority of all Things. Vet is much her Absolute Authority of all Things Yet it must be confess d that theldes of the unalienable Action of Godisso clearly known in all the Christian Commumions, that there is no Reason to apprehend that that Monster of Abdication could live any Time, sup-posing it could be produc'd. We ought not to fear it in our Days. Let that suffice us. Let us not trouble our felves with what may be feen an hun dred Years hence, nostros maniat ea cura nepo-

true than the Remarks of the Sorlonne, that the Book of the Abbess of Agreda contains leveral Things that expole the Church of Rome to the contempt of Im pious Men, and of Hereis ks It was well for the Chin-ftian Religion, that fuch Persons as Cellus and Perply rise could not affault it with the Ainis, that fuch a great number of Writings can afford at present What would not a Pagan Author have faid against the Church in those I imes, who should have had the Son And Heat and the Character of Arnobius? It Hinry Stephens, in the if and Philip de Marnix should return into the World, what Supplements would they not make by the help thinns, of the Mystical City of our Mary of Agreda, the one to his Apology for Herodotus, and the other to his Description of the Distriction of Religion?

IV Lastly, I say, that our Pretended Inspired Authors laugh at the World I hey give us for a Revelation what they have learned by Reading I or here is the Abbess of Agreda, who affirms, (f) That some Opinions which are meerly Scholastick, were taught her by Inspiration.

her by Inspiration (C) In spite of the Oppositions of some of the Doctors of that Society] Here are some Extracts of a Printed Book, (g) entituled, The Cale of Mary d'Agreda, and the Manner how her Condemnation was caballed in the Sorbonne It is a Letter from an Anonymous Author to an Anonymous Person (b) The Reputation of Holiness in which that good Nun died, and the Canoni zation that is in agitation at the Court of Rome, gave me fuch an high Idea of her Person, that I was surprized to hear that the Faculty of Divinity of Paris met to con demn her Works So speaks the Author Afterwards he supposes, That (1) they were some Mircenary Souls, logne, in who at the Sollicitation of the Prelates, to whom they the Tear were devoted, pursued the Condemnation of them. Here is the whole Intrigue of it, continues he, "(k) My believe it "Lord Bishop being more addicted to the Opinions of St Thomas, than a Young Jacobine who ought only to sweat in verba Magistri, could not suffer him therto that the Faculty should fall with so much a Book in precipitation into the Immaculate Conception of Intelverof me Such an high Idea of her Person, that I was surprized precipitation into the Immaculate Conception of Iwelves of the Virgin The Hatred he bore to Brother The 40 Pages, "mas Croses, a Recollect and Translator of that Book, (h) Pag 3

"occasion d by the Report that was made him of what (1) P 12

"the Translator had said against him, after the Re- (k) P 13.

"fusal he had given him of a Station in his Diocess, and follow and the defire of indemnifying A the King's Printer, living here at prefent, for the confiderathe King s

I fay, in the IIId place, that there is nothing more (fic the Tournal of the bid pie 7-) the would not hirefail d to take advantage of what is landin St John, chap 5 U 22 The I 1ther judgeth no Man but mitted all Tudgment Son And of Corina 24 When Christ shall have deliver'd up the Kingdom to God even the Father (f) low nal of the Í carned, g) Altho down in

(a) Ibid

p 720

Beginning nor End

(b) That a to fay,

basnether

(c) Journ if the Learned. 1 717 (d) Ibid

P 718

a journal of the Learned

Ib p 51

that Scandal, oblig'd the Company to insert a Declaration (D) in their Act, that would have been very superfluous without it, seeing the Question did not concern the Things specify'd in that Declaration Let us not forget that the Father of Mary d' Agreda made himself a Monk in a Monastery of the Order of St Francis, wherein two of his Sons had already enter'd themselves Fryars, and that he liv'd there with a great Example, and dy'd holisy a Much less ought we to forget that they labour at Rome to cause Mary d' Agreda to be canoniz'd See the beginning of the Remark C AGRICOLA. Almost an infinite number of Authors bear that Name, but because there are but three or four of 'em, who are somewhat known to me, I shall only

Speak of them

AGRICOLA (George) a German Physician, excell'd in the knowledge of Metals, he was born at Glaucha in Misnia, the 24th of March, 1494 The Liscoveries he made in the Mountains of Bobemia, after his Travels in Italy, gave him fuch an ardent Passion to know to the bottom all that concerns Metals, that when by the Counsels of his Friends he had engaged himself in the Practice of Physick at B foachimstal, he gave the most time he could to the study of Fossile Matters. To satisfy that Passion the better, he went to Chemnits, where he employ'd himself wholly in that Study. He spent there not only the Pension that was obtain'd for him from Maurice Duke of Saxony, (k) Journ but also part of his own Estate, insomuch that he got much more Glory by of the

B Tlat 15 tolin the Valley of Joachim ty of Mis-his Labours than Profit He compos'd divers Works on the Matter he took Leanned.

(A) most 717 "ble Loss he had fustimed by his Works, and who had taken the Impression of that Book, printed by "H living at Marseilles, were the Foundation of the Trouble that is in the Faculty, for the fent to it The Work of the Syndic was read, and they (m) Note, were surprized that there were new and censured that in re-Propositions in it, which they had not heard of in the lation to Taculty, and that they had cut off Several condemn- the Votaed ones My Readers may judge as they please of these Ex- two Verses ries, these

of Mr De-

have been ble pie-qu il enbrau de m inder

(n) La-bente deinde pau velut de-mores fe-quatur a-numo de noftra nec

renicdia pati poslu

ventum eft Livin

ไ 1 เทีย

the Telu !

werp/ass

grice

Αu

tracts

(D) That the foreseeing of that Scandal oblig'd the ipreaux Company to insert a Dictaration in their Ast] (l) Between tore all Things they made a Solemn Protestation, apply d "That by that Centime they do not pretend to distance." That by that Centure they do not pretend to diminish any thing of the Lawful Worship that the Subject Catholick Church pays to the Holy Vingin, that Un Authey honour her as the Mother of God, that they teur age they honour her as the Mother of God, that they teur re-have a particular Confidence in her Intercession, noux dans that they hold the Sentiments of their Fathers conceining the Immaculite Conception, and that ble protection believe her Assumption into Heisen in Bofice, Ady, and in Soul "The Author of the Letter letteur whereof we have seen the Extracts in the foregoing Remark siys, (1) That the Censure wherein they acknowledged the Conception and the Assumption of the Fingin, was made by the Syndic and the Deputies after the Body of the Faculty had finish'd the Judgment This shews that they had not the Courage to publish the Centure of the Faculty, without adding tome Prefervatives to it, and thereby we may know to what Dingers they expose themselves when they disapprove the most palpable Errors that amplify the ciplina, Honours of the Holy Virgin. They do not only velut deexpose themselves to the Indignation of the People, sidentes, but illo to that of the Monks, and of divers other, Ecclefiafficks So that they ender your to wild off the Blow by (m) Studied Pietices What Servible! What Lavy ind (n, of the Republick of Rome, agrees at prefent with the Church of that Name It are reight endine the Diletie, nor the Cure The tude! and how it shews that the Disease is incura-It magis mi work of Mary d Agrida, is plainly full of I ables, and of AbturdDoctrines, yet lecause it savours the I also capeint the Unlimited Power of the Holy Virgin, they must make use of all forts of Means, to be able to cenfure it in Paris. The Author of the Letter does and hac more harm to his Church and Nation than he thinks, when he sets forth the Cabals that were made use of by those that would have the My stical City of the Spanner with by those that would have the My final City of the Spa-nish Abbess censurd. There would have been no need of Caballing, if the Minds of the People had not been prodigiously hardened. The Censure would have been made, and no body would have murmur'd at it. All the Courts of the Inquisition would have prevented the Faculty of Divinity of Paris, whereas they all remain'd filent hitherto, if I am not miflaken, though they are so ready to condemn the (0) The Works (0) that oppose never so little the most doubt Acta San ful Traditions, if they savour the Worship of the

Note, That there is a Particular Reason that may oblige the Sorbonne to be cautious, and expose werplay them to the Oppolitions of many Doctors Which been const, that so many Consequences have been drawn from the Epithete of Mether of God, that there is icaice the Inquany over-strain'd Thought concerning the Excellency tronof i

" right way to make a Book fell well, is to have it "condemn d, every body runs to it as to a House

"set on fire, and that Book thit was worth but 20

"Pence, A fells it for 10 Livres, besides what "Pence, A fells it for to Livres, besides what "Is told under hind of a Counterfeit Impressi"on Thit Pielite, to succeed the better in his "Design, prevented my Loid one of the most "moderate Pielates in the Kingdom both join'd
"moderate Pielates in the Kingdom both goin'd
"moderate Pielates in the Kingdom both goin'd "with my Lord a Man of a very mean Ge"nius, who may be easily preposses, and who is "fond of Ceremonies and Tristes, you must know
"that those Lords go hand in hand Those Trium-"vis spoke then to their Creatures, and gain'd
"vis spoke then to their Creatures, and gain'd
"Mi I Fevie," Synde of the Sorbonne, who proposed the Book of Mary d' Agreda to the Faculty the 20th of May Deputies were nominated to examine it They (a) reported 68 Propositions, which they call d horretical, rish, Seindalous, and that offended Class Ears They (b) were printed with the Quilifications of the Deputies, and differenced to the Deputies. the Deputies, and diffriented to the Dottors to give their Ofinion of them (c) at the first Assembly 1 Lither Me-Of mion of them (c) at the first Assembly I other Mo-ros a (ordelier, (1) of whom we have very fine Works, both of Philosephy and of Chronology, desir'd the Faculty not to precip tate the Condernation of a Book of which the so-vereign Pontiff I adrefere d the knowledge to himfelf, and had deputed Cardinals n ho examined it at prefent to lay, that if they went on nethout having regard to his Regiefishe appeal afromallthat was done against that Book to the Pope He declard nevertheless, That if that Appeal offended the Rights of the Callican Church in any Append offended the Rights of the Callican Church in any namer, he would defelf from it. I from that Day until the I ime of the Affembly, divers Intrigues were made use of (f) the Day of the Affembly hing come, Messeure du Saissoy and Collon condemn'd the Book. But Monitius le Caron shewed that 'there was nothing in it that deleved to be centured, which he supposted with good Reasons. Lach of 'em had his Pattians, who appeared in "29 successive Assembles. The Syndic gave "those of Monsieur le Carons Party the Name" of Agredians, a Name they retain yet." The Matter was concluded the 17th of September. (g) "of Agredians, a Name they retain yet" The Matter was concluded the 17th of September (g) Matter was concluded the 17th of September (g)
There was fuch a Noif in the Hall of the Affembly, as if they had been in a Market (h) The next Day Meifieurs du I los and du Mas formerly Counsellors in the Parliament of Pairs, made a Protest of Invalidity against the Censure, and caused their Processation to be not sy de to the Dean and Syndic of the Faculty, which is sulfsting, not having desired from it by any Ast Since till time, the Syndic and the Deputies assembled again, and made another Ginsure (i) which was read and made another Gingue (1) which was read the frst of October, but before the reading, the Syndic made known to the Faculty the opposition that was signified to him by those two Gentlemen. He said morrower, that my Lord of Paris having said them to come to his Palace, had convinced them with such Good Reasons, that the Abbot du Mas yielded to them, and that he was sure that when Monspeur du Flos same to bear the reading of the Consure, as it was, he would al-hear the reading of the Cenjure, as it was, he would aj-

(1) In the All mbly of the 2 lof July, Ib

(1) 11 wich mas to meet on the 14th of the fime Month

(b) Ibid

p 29

(a) Ib p 30

(e, Ib p ۱ ر

(f) Ib p 35, 36

(g) II P 37

(v) Ib b 38

() Ilid

P 39

and ledo

te, and some others on several Subjects He examin'd what Budays, a Bodin and Alesatus had observed concerning Weights and Measures, and sound in Menin' it. Alesatus undertook to defend himself, but he had the worst on the bad the worst on the had the worst of the had the worst on t Leonard Porta many Faults in it. Bodinas a maintains that in Comparison of Agricola, Aristotle and Pliny were blind for Sie Men about Metallick Questions It must not be forgot that when Duke Maurice, and mas Pope Duke Augustus went to joyn the Army of Charles the Vth in Bohemia, Agricola follow d Rhem to shew them his Fidelity, although he was to s forsake the Care of his Estate, Centura his Children, and his Wise who was with Child He died a very good Papist at Chimatis the 21st of November, 1555 The Zeal wherewith he opposed the Protestant Dominist the 21st of November, 1555 The Zeal wherewith he opposed the Protestant Dominist the 21st of November, 1555 The Zeal wherewith he opposed the Protestant Dominist the 21st of November, 1555 The Zeal wherewith he opposed the Protestant Dominist the 21st of November, 1555 The Zeal wherewith he opposed the Protestant Dominist the 21st of November, 1555 The Zeal wherewith he opposed the Protestant Dominist the 21st of November, 1555 The Zeal wherewith he opposed the Protestant Dominist the 21st of November, 1555 The Zeal wherewith he opposed the Protestant Dominist to Zeits, where he was buried in the 21st of Church These are her of vertical to the 11st of the 11st of the 21st of the 2 his Corps from Chemniti to Zeits, where he was buried in the yehief Church These are ber of very honourathe Fruits of a blind Zeal

A C P I C O I A (Fabre) 2 Savar Divine horn at A 10 he the north of a day of 1400.

AGRICOLA (John) a Saxon Divine, born at & Islabe the 20th of a April 1492 of Agriculture of Agriculture aus'd nothing but Disorders in the Protestant Religion that he embrac'd It has been cold faid that he follow'd the Elector of Saxony in the Quality of his Minister to the Diet of & Uxore Spire, in the Year 1526 and to that of Augsburg in the Year 1530 But it is certain that the commendation be made those Two Journeys only in the Quality of Minister of the Count of t feld It is true that the Count went with the Elector of Saxony, and that during that mis libetime his Minister Preach'd sometimes before the Elector, and this is the Original of its dome the mistake Agricola did not succeed ill in preaching, which made him believe that fortunis he was a great Man, and that he could raise himself above Melinethon For that Rea- erism omand the Power of the Virgin, but what may be maintained in some measure by the Arguments ad hominam, which those Consequences afford Your hominem, which those Consequences afford Your Adversaries lead you by degrees where they please, you are undone by the Subtilies of the Schoolmen If you recoil, they convince you of Inconsequence, from whence it comes that those who pretend to argue consequently, and to favour the Popular Devotion all at once, had rather advance more and more, than Recoil And yet their System is not of a regular Pigure, the Divinity of Mary is wanting in it in the case of Cooling the Mother of Cool ought the a Goddess of course, and of the self-same Nature with the Son She would be so if they would adopt the Imagination of the (a) Cavalier Borri, but adopt the Imagination of the (a) Cavalier Borri, but it has been condemned Perhaps a time will come that they will know the Necessity of it, and by that means square the Irregular Figure It is (b) thought that many wish for it Such a thing might be done under certain Circumstances, if there was a Combination of temporal and spiritual Interests Every thing passes when Princes concur with the Heads of an Ecclesiastical Paris, during certain Dispositions of general Affairs.

Let us end with faying, that if the Faculty of Di-vinity of Paris were in hopes that their Censure would remove a stumbling-Stone out of the way of those that are call'd New Reunited, they were de ceiv'd, for the Oppositions they were forced to overcome in their own Body, and the Discontent that broke out after the Publication of the Censure, have much more scand uiz d the Reunited, than the Censure could have Edified them Besides, their great Subject of Scandal remains entirely in the Pre-face of that Censure, a Preface that is a signal of the continuation of a Capital Controversy, I mean of a Worship whose Excesses (bb) have excited some curious Persons to philosophize, in order to discover the Original of it (A) Divers Works on the Matter fore Melchier Adam publish'd his Book See Merkli-

The Meliciner Adam published his Book See Merklinus in his Lindenius renevatus

(B) Seem'd not much averfeto it in the beginning]

He had not only disapprov'd the fordid Traffick of Indulgences, but also divers other things Here are Four Verses of his making that were affix'd in the Year 1519 in the Streets of (d) Zwickaw They concern the Indulgences of Reme

Si nos injects falvabit cifula nummo,

Men nummum insteller to much passer pris!

Meu nimium infelix tu mibi pauper eris! .

The three first of those Four Things wholly digusted Erasmus from the Protestint Puty A great Number of other Persons that had wish'd to: the Resonantion of the Church, stumbed at the same Share that Erasmus did And from thence it comes that Theodore Box and And from thence it comes that Theodorus Beza meets (a) with fo many Perions in his way that had at first relished the good Seed and afterwards plung d themselves ag un in the Mud When we speak of this to Men that are able to hearken to Resion, we hear them fay, that in the frate things were in at that time, there was no way to maintain one stelf, nor to advance with a meck Style, and by meer Patience, and that therefore the demn'd that Conduct with Realon, he says, (d Agricolam quo nibil dottius, Lutherani mortuum sepel re nolucrunt, quia manserat Pontificius Italus quidam scripst & horeatus est ut sepelirent homin m Christinnum, barbaries magna I dare not maintain that it is fulfe, that an Italian exhorted the Lutherans to that O.lice of Humanity by a Letter, but I fee no likelihood for it, Scaliger's Memory or that of his Boarders have likely contounded the Objects There is a Letter of Mattholus wherein he makes his Complaints, that fuch a venerable old Man as George Agri ola, could not find fo much Earth in his Country as would cover his Body (e) Id Matthiolus ad Caspar Nevium Med (lib 2 epist) queritur, hunc preclarum probumque (i) Takin senem in patria tantum terra non invenissi quo suum on - ou' of Melriretur cadaver From this they might have forg d, chioi Athat an Italian exhorted by a Letter those that had dam, in the Body to bury it Let no body wonder that I vit Medimake but a small account of what the great Scil gir corp 80 says here, for how can I rely on him concerning (1) See his Agricola, seeing he said (f' another time, that he H stry of was a very Impious Man, who scarce deterved to be the Chir-Non minus cruditus & in censenda metallorum ch s natura curiosus suit quam vere impius, nulli addicius (d) In Scareligioni, ut post mortem vix sepeliri meruerit ligeranis,

(D) These are the Fruits of a blind Zeal] There is p m 5 no Protestant at present that does not condemn the (1) Mel-

Conduct that was held towards that Corps, and chior A-I do not question but that at that time most dam ib

Lusbersus condemn'd it Melchier Adam seems to (f) Scaliscast all the Fault of it on the Minister of the Place gerana

It is more easy at present to see the Disorder of that prima, Pa

Si nos, Christe, tua serva os morte beafti, Jam nihil infelix tu mibi pauper eris posthabitis cum jusjuran-Melchior Adam thought that Four things hinder d the Conversion of Agricola 1 The rash Writings of some Divines 2 The scandilous Lite of some Reformed Sectaries 3 The breaking of Images, and the revolting of the Country People 4 The Inclination he had for the Pomp of Coremonies (6) dum, quo eis clat devinlo modo negligen dum puexercitu corum pene te-LIVIE Melch intra pag Providence of God whole ways are always Wife, permitted that Men should appear such as they are in the great Work of Reformation, to attem more naturally to his Design, which was, is Experience teaches us, to linder any of the I wo Religions to om quite ruining each other. It is well spoke. There are certain means which for that very thing that they are very fit to do half the Work, are uncapable to do it ill. Melchior dicor p 77 & leq 1 / Town mtl County of pable to do it ill (C) They left h m fou days unlured \ sale conknown by nex mili-

Adam ubi

Adam in field He was as well

of Illebius

« Melchior Adam

I heol p

false 80

(a) See the Article Borri (b) O fi angulus ille Proxi-THUS ACCCdat, qui nunc deformat agellum Horat Sat 6 1 2 v 8

(bb) Secthe Remark M, of the Article Nestori-

(ce) Printed at Bafil in the Nar 1538

(d) He aughe Greek there a It was concerning lary of the Ecclesiaftick Vifitation, by Me-lancthon Article Islebians yThe 30th of March, 1340 during the at Smalcalde SIn 1540 mark B Z Taken out of Seckendorf's an-Iwer to the Lutheranılm of Fat her Maimbourg,13 usque ad pag 310 commanly caufe be wa stituof Silon JIt was on the que Ecclel p ~33 edit 1679 x So the runs call flus that bave the 271/pc Et 1078 over di-21126 Chur ches fon he writ a against him in 1527. His unquiet and ambitious Humour engaged him? In 1536 to ask leave to go out of his Country, where he exercis'd the Ministry and was Principal of the College His Request was accompanied with Complaints, and seem'd so unreasonable to the Count of Mansfeld, that he did not obtain his leave without Reproaches of Ingratitude, Avarice, and Drunkenness, besides his being told that he had exercis'd his Office negligently, and disputed more against the Protestants than against the Catholicks. He went to Wittemberg, where he obtain'd a Protession and Mansfer's Place. He saught no edifying Dostrines concerning the well. Professor's and Minister's Place He taught no edifying Doctrines concerning the use of the Law under the Gospel, in a word, he became the Founder & of the Antinomian Sect Luther who had been (A) his good Friend, attack'd him very roughly, and oblig'd him to promise that he would retract his Errors, but while they labour'd to draw who have the Formulary that he was to Star Luther made now Books at which they up the Formulary that he was to Sign, Luther made new Books, at which Agricola was fo nettled, that he presented a very 2 abusive Petition to the Elector against his Antagonist, wherein he complain'd among other things, that they imputed Opinions to him that he had not. Luther answered him with all his Fire, and to clear himself from the Note of a Publick Calumniator, he sent for Attestations from Islebe, concerning some particular Conversations of Agricola The Divines of Wittemberg run to the Assistance of Luther, and said, That his Accusations were well-grounded The Elector of Saxony not knowing what to do, appointed some Judges for the Parties, and testified that he wish'd they might find ways of Reconciliation, and afterwards he made Agricola promise that he would not depart before the Process was ended That Promise was violated, Agricola retir'd privately so to Berlin, without waiting for the Answer to the Demandhe had made for his I eave The Elector of Brandenburg endeavour d to reconcile him with Luther, but there was nothing to be done in it except upon one of these Two Conditions, either that Agricola should return and prosecute the Process, or that he should give a Retractation of his Errors, and of the abusive Language that he had green Luther in writing He made choice (B) of the last, and publish'd a Book at Berlin, wherein he ask'd Pardon of those that he might have offended by his Errors, and of Luther by Name, and professed that he would Live and Die in the Faith that he had annually last and professed to those should be proceeded by the same of the had annually last and professed to those should be proceeded by the same of the had annually last and professed to those should be proceeded by the same of the had annually last and professed to the same of the last and professed to the had annually last and professed to the same of the last and professed to the had annually last and professed to the last and prof oppos d Luther did not trust to those fine Protestations, Agricola complain'd of it to the Llector of Savony, and testissed to him that he never had a greater displeasure s than that which his Quarrel with the Man of God had given him, and that feeing he gain'd donius, be nothing by the offering of his Oath, he remitted his Caufe to the Judge of the World; supplicating nevertheless the Elector most humbly to cause Three Months Wages to be paid that were due to him, of which he stood in need to feed his Wife and Nine Children \(\) I do not think that he could ever enter into Favour again with the Elector, nor with Martin Luther Doubtless he comforted himself by the Splendor that his Office of Prescher at the Court of Berlin gave him, and by the Choice that was made of his Per-Hon itout for the Composing of a Work that made great Noise I mean the Interim that he ring into the diew up with Julius Phlug, and with Michael Heldingus, in the Year 1548 It is pretended that the Emperor rewarded Agricola largely for the Pains he had taken on that Occision The War & that a ole some time after in Germany between the Protestant Divines made it appear that that Minister was a Man of a dangerous Spirit, and a great Shuffler. He made himself officious to pacify things, and did not spare the Gift of speaking that he was provided with in the Conferences that were held about those Matters, but he Composed no Differences He died at Birlin in 1566 He had been a Superintendent of the March of Brandenburg. It is faid that he would have brought in again the use of Holy Oyl for the Sick, and that he did not doubt but that miraculous false Zeal, time has calm d the Resentments, that like imperuous (a) Storms hid the fight of Heaven What will not Men do to use Reprisals, and when there is Reason to speak thus?

Res dura (b) & regni novitas me talia cogunt Moliri

Friberus remarks (c) that Agricola was so angry in a Dispute of Divinity, that he fell into a Fever of which he died. He cites only Melchier Adam who fave nothing of it. It is very likely that Agricola had anged the Luther and with the Marks of an excessive Aversion. Peter (d) Albinus represents him as an obstinate Roman Catholick. I desire you to compare this with the first Scaligerana

compare this with the first Scaligerans

(A) Luther who had been his good Friend] They

(1) Eriptunt tubito nubes to nubes columque diemque diemque diemque Teuterorum ex oculis ponto nox
incubat

Compare this with the first Scaligerans
(A) Luther who had been his good Friend] They were of the same City We find(e) that Agricola ferv d Luther for a Secretary in the Conference at lepsilo, in 1519 and that he was (f) fent to Francfort in 1525 with a Letter from Luther to the Maque diemque Teuthere The Author whom I cite (g) censures Mr
ex oculis considerable without Agricola This is to puth ponto nox
incubat

An 1 1 v 563 (c) Paul Freher. in Theat p 1238 (d) In the Chronicle of Milina (e) Seckendorf, hift Lusher 1 1 p 92 liter r (f) Ib p. 243. lit e. (g) Seckendorf ubi supra, 1 3 p. 306 n 1.

(B) He made choice of the last] There is some likelihood that he inclin'd to that Meanness for Two Reasons First of all he saw nothing to hope for from the Judgment of his Process, he could not gain it, without Luther was declar'd a Calumniator of his Brethren Now he must have been the most credulous of Men to hope to gain a Process in Saxony at that rate The People would have stoned the Judges that would have blemish'd the Reputation of a Reformer in that manner They would have said the Church has need of the good Fame of have faid the Church has need of the good Fame of Luther, the Papists would draw too much Advantage from his Difgrace Have we not feen some Men that are but Pigmies in comparison of Luther, escape by that means from the Canonical Punishments that they deserv'd? It is likely that Agricola's Second Reason was, that in not submitting, he fear'd to lose the Quarter's Wages that were due to him Read what follows (b) Neque tamen hot scripto statim, ut sperave— (h) Id rat, Luthero de vera conversione sua side sect, id qued P 310 195e Agricola litera d 19 Decemb apad Elestorem 16 Saxonia queritur, nihilque tota vita sibi gravius accidisse quam simultatem illam cum viro Dei quem 196e diffe quam simultatem illam cum viro Dei quem 196e pagrie loco veneratus sit. Se in cumo elescamo pagrie loco veneratus sit. patris loco veneratus sit, & in cujus obsequio mora velit, apud quem tamen nihil proficiat ne juramenti quidem oblatione, ideo se Deo causam committere Petit tamen ut sibi ad alendam uxorem novemque liberos trimestre, qued restare sibi dicit, salarium non denegetur, seenim ad diligenta lestione promeri-

Cures would have attended it as in ancient times a He writ (C) but few Books They overdo things when they say that he (D) return'd again to Popery

AGRICOLA (Michael) a Lutheran Minister at Abo in Finland, is the first that Translated the New Testament into the Language of the Country, which contributed much to the Propagation of Lutheranism &

AGRICOIA (Rodolphus) was one of the most Learned Men of the 15th Con-Adim in tury Italy which in those times call'd all that was beyond the Alps Bubarous, had no- vitis I hething to which Friesland could not compare its Agricola without fearing to be overcome That great Man (A) was of a mean Birth, he was Born about the Scar 1442 in the civilia Village of Bafflon, Two Miles from Groningen He showed when he was a School-boy what histor I could be the state of the state he would be one day, and he had scarce received the Degree of Master of Arts it chieft Lowvain but he might have had a Professor's Place if he hid had a mind to it, but his Inclination was rather to Travel He went from Louvain to Para, after having lived in the first of those Two Cities like an Athlet, (AA) I mean with great Sobriety, Chaflity, and Application to Labour From Paris he went to It il), and floppd Two Years (B) at Ferrara, where the Duke gratified him with many Benefits Theodo Gazi explain'd Ariffolie an that City Agricola who was one of his Auditors, made himfelf to be heard in his turn, and caus'd his Style to be no less admit'd than his Accent They were vext in that Country that fuch a Man was not born in Italy It was his fault when he was return'd into his native Country, that he did not possess considerable Offices there, but the love of Books hinder d him from minding that fort of Settlements, or made him foon leave them. He at last accepted an Office in Groningen, and follow'd the Court of Miximilian the Ist Six Months for the Assault of that City. He icquitted himself happily of his Commission, and had no great Reason to boast of the Gratitude of his Millers, therefore he left them and went to Travel again fuch a I over of his I iberty that he would not accept the Principality of a College which those of Antwerp offer d him, and I know not how he could have accepted it, seeing he had refus d to enter under very advantageous Conditions into the Service of the Emperor Maximilian ' He preferr'd Quiet and Independency before all things After having led an Ambulatory Life, he fixt himself in the Palatinate, where the Bishop of Worms whom he had taught Greek, found means to make him stay It was in the Year 1482 (Ba) a Melch ol pair

(e) Id lib

(d) Ib p 142 lit 6

(c) Melchior Adim in vit Theol p 411

(f) Seckendorf, 1 , p 234 & leq

(r) M1cralius, yntigm histor Ecclenæ p 733

(C) He writ but few Books | The Explication of Three hundred German Proverbs was one of the first He abus d (e) Uhick Duke of Wiscemberg much in it Complaints were made of it, which oblig'd the Authoi to acknowledge his I ault in a very fubmissive Letter Which did not hinder Duke (d) Ulrick from alledging among other Grievances at the Dietot Francfore in the Year 1536 that they protected John Agricola in the County of Mansfeld, by whom he hid been abus'd by publick Standers The Author increased his Work with above Four hundred Proverbs more in the ad Edition He wrote a Commentary on St I uke, he refuted the I xplication of the Ninetcenth Plalm publish d in the German Language by Tlomas Muncerus, Oc (e)

(D) I has he return'd again to Popery] It is certain, that leaving Sarony he retir'd to the Court of Bi indinhurg, and that the Llector feathim the 2d who (f) had established the Reformation in his Dominions in the Year 1539 received him honourably, and made him his Prencher It is as certain that he enjoy'd that Prince's I avour all his Life-time, fo that it is a Fallity to say as M l hior Adam and Paul Irchoun do, that Agricola was a Papist, tune Pontificial | le adjunerat, when Charles the Vth made use of him for the Construction of the Interim I confess he yielded many things in that Interim, but did not Phlug, and the Bishop of s don do the same? Were they therefore Lutherans? The Project of those I hree Persons did neither satisfy the of those three Persons did neither satisfy the Protestants nor the Catholicks, that is very certain But there is a great distinction to be made between those that for the good of Peace should leave out some part of the Reformation, and those that actually fortake the Protestant Communion, to enter into the Communion of Rome Agricula was doubtless one of that First (lass, but not having been of the Second, he ought not to pass for a Papist Find then a Fault in these Words of (g) Micrelius, 70h Agricula _______ noster primo, deinde suus, tandem Pontificiorum Cannot tell whether when he says three Lines after, hommin Education similarer quam too Agricola noster primo, deinde suus, tandem Pontificiorum I Cannot tell whether when he says three Lines after, homini Epicurae similitor quam pio Theologo, at scribit Ostander ad annum 1566 quo obiit Agricola, he means a voluptuous Man, or a Man that held the indifferency of Religions

(A) Was of a mean Birth] I know very well that in the Life of Agricola, among those of the Prosessors of Groningen, it is affirmed that he was of one of the most considerable Families of Iriestand, Ex Agricolarum familia apud Frifios inter honoratiores Jemper habita, our his incomparabilis oriundus. But as that Life is not different from that which we find in

Melch or Adam, it cannot balance the Testimony of Ubbo Emmius (b), who knew Priestand, his own (ountry, the best of any Man Obscur navallus apud I mm us Ensurement (Rodolphus Agricola) tantum (bi n t tilib 3 ris nomen paravit per omnem Luropam, ut & histor
I have been (1) shewed two Proofs of Luminis I in ad Opinion in Agricola's Letters The one is thin his ann 149 weerin Sister was sent to Groungest to have to n och.

uterin Sister was sent to Groningen to learn to work in the Skinners Trade, pellicea opera & cextus on pel-vinariam, the other is, that the lather of that Mild was Received of the Church of his Village. He was much disconsolated when one of his Sons robb d him of an hundred Florin of the Mone of that Regemen, & prope cum lacremes que flux est un hattus & gemen, & prope cum lacremes que flux est un hattus & cum fratrem nost um prede eque dece clam sir a studis centum storenos nostra mon ta expecunia si ra cast e curam, ut sis, elle gent Our Rodolphus being at Gonningen writt this to john his uterin Brother

(A2) Like an Athlet, I mean with great Soir e-, &c] The Ancients remark, that the Athletes ty, &c] I he Ancients remark, that the Athletes haden d themselves to Labour, and abstained from Winc and Women

Qui (k) fit det optatam eus su contingere me am, Mul a sulit fectque puer |udavit & alsit ABSTINUTT VLNERE ET VINO

That Abstinence was fignal in Agricola, and it was a very rare thing with respect to the first point, in the Country where he liv'd (!) Lovanii vixit honestissime ab omni compotatione ac commessatione contra gentissia morem alienissimus. Tantus erat in eo bonarum ! te narum amon, tam indefessum studium, ut turpis Veneris fornices & lustra ne noverit quidem It wis rise every fornices & lufra ne nove it quiden It wis rate every where, and is so still with respect to the other point For to the shame of Christianity and of Leanning be it faid, there appears almost nothing in Scholars but an horrible Inclination to Debuchery I hev were perhaps no better in ancient I imes, and in such a Case I should wonder that they did not make a Proverb of this, Sine Venere & Baccho trigint Muse, as they have done of this, Sine Gerere & Ba ho fr get Venus It feems that for a long time pair the Youths that study, behave themicives as if the first of those Maxims was true

(B) And stopt two (m) Tears at Ferrara] He learn'd (m) In (B) And stopt two (m) reast at retrara [Fie learn'd (m) In Greek, and taught Latin there. He disputed with 1476. & Guarin who should write best in Proie, and with the 1477 Strozza's who should make better Veiles, as for (n) ExVa-Philosophy, he discours'd of it with Theodolerio Andrew Gaza (n)

(B2) It was in the Year 1482 that he went to the Belg p Palatinate, when he staid the remainder of his Life] 798

P 457 de laMonnoie

(L)Hon de Aite Pout

(1) Mc'ch Adim in Dioph P

that he went to the Palatinate, where he stand the remainder of his Landometimes at Hesdelberg, and sometimes at Worms. The Elector Palatine was pleased to hear him discourse on Antiquity, and desir'd him to compose an Abridgment of ancient History, which Agricola performed learnedly. He read in publick at Worms, but his Auditors being more inclin'd to the Querks of Logick, than to good Literature, had not the turn a Erasmus Wit he desir'd He begun to study Divinity being about 40 Years of Age, and not was therehoping to succeed in it without understanding Hebrew, ne addicted initial to the that Language, and by the assistance of a few he begun (C) to make good Progress in it Death that seized him at Heidelberg the 28th of Ottober a 1485 did not give him time to continue. He resign'd himself Christian-like to the Orders from above, and was hoping to succeed in it without understanding Hebrew, he addicted himself to the Study of fore decerv'd when he heard Say that Agriburied in a Cordelier's Habit, in the Church of the Minor Friars of that City The Description that is made of his Character may easily persuade us that he was a very good Man, plain, without Malice, Moderate and of a good Humour He was never Married, although he had lov'd, or seem d sometimes to be in Love He had resolv'd to marry in his Youthful Years, but after having seriously examin'd what he was going to cola died before the Age of 40 Years Adag Chil 1 cent 4 n 39 do, he left off that delign, not so much for fear of Domestick Inconveniences, as for a C. Laken (D) certain natural Laziness he selt in himself that made him sink under the least Cares One would not think that a Person who div'd so much into the Stady of Antiquity as out of Melhe did, knew how to fing Songs on Instruments, that he had made himself, yet sometimes he entertain d (E) the Ladies with them. It is pretended that on the point of dam in vit Philosoph_p Religion, he had a Fore-taste of (F) the Light that appear'd in the following Age He 13 & leg lest his Books to Adolphus Occo, a Native of Friesland, and a Physician at Augsburg & Mr Morers (G) had no Reason to say that Erasmus and Agricola became Acquaintance at Ferra-

(f) Melch Adım in vit Philof p 16

(g) Note,

Melch

Adam does not [4) that Agricola ever tauel . Phi-losoply in Heidelberg Vof-

fius /uppo-

Ses that be saugh it

(bb)Cen-

tur Epift philolog

dafto edi-

m 55,56

Adam 1b

P 18

tuum p

there 3

Milibior Adam affures it (f) Cum hoc (Joanne Ci-merario Dalbuigio) ab anno 1482, partim Heidel-bergæ partim Wormatiæ ad ultimum vitæ attum ujque vixit conjunctissime But Mi de la Monnoie tound him in l'ault, for see here what he writes to me "Rodolphus Agricola says in a Letter that he writ facolo Barbiriano ill dated XCII instead of XXCII and in another of the same date to his Brother John, that in a Journey he took that fame Year to Heidilberg, he gave his Word to John of Alburg, Chancellor of the Count Palatine and Bishop of "Worms, to return to him again the following Year
"Yet we see by his other Letters that he did not return thither before the middle of the Year 1484 So that the Calculation of Vossius, pag 566 De Histor I at concerning the Three Years (g) of the Regency of Rodolphus at Heidelberg is not right Sigilmond of Foligni, otherwise Sigismudus Fulginas is also mistaken when he says, that Rodolphus died 'I y the way in his retuin from Rome to his own
'Gountry Rodolphus departed from Rome in 1480
"and died Tive Years after at Heidellerg It does "not appear by the reading of his Works, that he
"perform d the I unction of Professor at Worms"
There is a Letter from Pr. Schottus, died the 18th of Feb. 1484, in which he frys, I hit he was well pleated with Agricola's having begin to read Lectures to the Youth at Heidelberg, argentinum reversus cum intellexissim teHeidelberg e capissis purgare & linguas ju-vonum & aures nt illa nil scelerosum balbutiant, ha vero tuis tam peritir & dulcibus elegantiis deliba'æ omnes illos ficolorum infulfas & verbofas ineptias quafi magicas incantationes declinent tum ego vehementer jum gavi-

(1) Id 1b p 19 (k)De hifor lat p 566 (1) Gein an Bibl

(m) Apad Valer Andr ubi Supra Gesnerus af-Sures 18

(C) He begun to make good Progressin it] We know from himself that in the beginning that Study teem'd very difficult to him, Studia Hebraa(h)—primum ei plurimum negotii, ati scribi iffi, cxhibuerunt, ut sibi videretur cum Antæo lustari. Meeting atterwards with a Jew who understood that Language indifferently well, he attain'd in few Months to far that he could translate some of David's Psalms without I ault (1) Nachus Judæum ejus linguæ ut unque peritum paucis menseb i tantum proficit, ut aliquot Psalmos Davidicos in Latinam linguam citraculpam transfuleris. This is not sufficient to make one say with Vossius (k) that Agricola was very Learned in Hebriw, Hebraice dostissimus, we may degrade this Superlitive without any injustice, and tiest it like a Trooper that is dismounted to be incorporated in the Infantry Gesnerus (1) distinguish'd better than Vossius, the lat-Gesnerus (1) diffinguish'd better than Fossius, the latter bestowed a Superlative on Agricola's Latin, Greek, and Hebrew indifferently But see here how Gesnerus expiresh himself, Greek & Latin sermons peritus, & Hibraica lingua non ignarus He borrows the Words from Trithennius Konig outdoes Fossius, for himselves all patricul mus, See he makes use of the Superlative callentiff mus see Varillas's 3d Fault hereunder Let us remark also that Trithemius does not speak exactly, when he assures (m) that Agricola had made a Translation of the Plalter from the original Hebrew, for we do not place the I hemes that an Author makes in learning a

I anguage among his Works, but it is plain that the Translation which Agricola made of some of David's Psalms, was a I heme that his Jew Corrected for him That Jew was Converted to the Christian Religion John Dalburg Bishop (n) of Worms kept him in his House only for the sake of Agricola, if we believe Valerius Andieas (o) Primis exfulantes e Germania Gracas restituit litteras, quibus ataic provecti. as Bullart or etiam Hebraicai adjecit, praceptore usus suate provection of etiam Hebraicai adjecit, praceptore usus sudao quo dam ad fidem converso, quem Wormaticnsis Episcopai dem of Joannes Dalburgius solius Rodolphi causa, doma de tipo 76 (D) As for a certain natural Laziness he felt in the Andreas

alebat
(D) As for a certain natural Laziness he felt in himfelf] Because I cannot attain to the force of his Expressions, I shall set down the Greek Words that he made use of the state of the made use of the made use of the made use of the state of he made use of Uxorem nunquam duxit quamquam in priore etate dusturum destinarat Sed posteaquam in-cepit diligentius se ipse introspicere, aversus est ab eo conssilio non incommodis rei economica, sed deterruit ipsum genus vita sua & animus levissimis etiam curis impar, κ) φιλησυρόν τι της φίσεως (verba lunt ipsius epistola quadam ad Capuionem) της μαικλον απίση μοσυνή κ) ρα τυμέν τις παθίδε τε βίμε με

(E) Sometimes he executained the I adies with them] See what his Historiun says (b) Pucllas amare se non-nunquam simulahat, verum nunquam deperivat In carum gratiam vernacula lingua quedam carmina scripsit elegantissime que viiginibus primarisque amicis pre-sentibus voce & testudine modulatissime canebat He un-derstood all kind of Minisk (a) derstood all kind of Musick , (c) Canebat voce, flatu,

(F) A forctafte of the Light] Somebody (d) who heard Agricola and Wesselus discourse together, testifies that they deplor d the Darkness of the Church, and that they blam'd the Mass, Celibics, and the Doctrine of the Monks concerning Justification by Works

(G) Mr Moreri had no Reason] The Proof is (c) Id ib easy to be given for it Erasmus was born in the (d) Id ib Year 1467 He studied at Deventer at 12 of 1, Years in vita of Age Agricola was at Ferrara in the Year 1476, Professor and 1477 How could he then have controlled in rum Groaternal I rendship with Erasmus in that City If numerical Mr Moreis had read Agricola's Prognostick concerning Erasmus, he would not have faid that they came acquainted at Terrara Agricola was returned toom. acquainted at Ferrara Agricola was returned from Italy, when having read the Themes of Hegius's Scholars at Deventer, he found I know not whit in that of Erasmus that made him have a mind to see that Ch ld and having well considered him, he said he would be a great Man Frajmus was not to Years of Agruhen Agricola died, and he was not yet come out of the Darkneis wherein impertinger Tutors had detain'd him, so that there could not be that Friendship between him and Agricols that Mr Morei speaks of Here are some other Mistakes of that Author Agricola, says he, was learned in all kind of Laterature, and even in the Greek I anguage I his is as if one should say, Such a one is Learned in all the parts of Divinity, and even in the Questions about Grace Is not the Greek Tongue one of the noblest Parts of Literature? I do not know where Mr Morers has

And not of Heidelberg, Andreas,

(a)Meich Adam ubi fupra p 19 See al-Jo the L fo cola among those of the Piofellors of Groningen (6)Melch Adamus

h quis in a Paul Freberus did not understand (H) all that he transcribed out of Erafmus in praise of Agricola We understand from the same Erasmus & that Agricola died & Theatr for not having been timely enough affifted by Physicians Reuchlinus y spoke the Fune-virorum ral Oration of that Learned Man Mr. Varillas (I) will supply us with many Faults here, and give us an occasion to relate what concerns the publication of one of Agricola's Books, by Veluti entitled de inventione dialectica

AGRIPPA (Henry Cornelius), a great Magician, if we (A) believe many Perfons, was a very Learned Man in the 16th Century He was born at A Cologne the medicing medicing and Ancient Family. Being minded to followed the medicing med 14th of September, 1486 of a (B) Noble and Ancient Family Being minded to fol operatur low the Steps of his Ancestors, who for many Generations had exercis'd Offices with infignem the Princes of the House of Austria, he enter dearly into the Service of the Emperor put procut

(a) Adag

Chil r

Centur 4

n ,9 P 145

(4) Alexander

Hegius

(e) By A. lard of Amster. dam They comprehend Two Volumes in

(d) Vauldotes de Florence, P 184

miflus Melch Adam ubi Supra, pag

(f) Ibi Theodorum G1-cam Alifotelis

1cripta enarran tem, dılıgenter audivit Id 1b p 15

(z) See the

Remark C

add these Words of Lialmus

City of Groningen
(H) All that he transcribed out of Etasmus] He applies to our Agricola what Erasmus faid of another You must know that Erasmus having highly prais'd Agricola, (a) confesses that one of the Reasons that made him so inclined to praise him, was, that he had a Man for his (b) Master that had been a Scholar Hereupon he fets torth that Man s Merit, and he fays, among other Things, That Lnvy it felf could not criticize him, but for hiving too much delpis d Fame, for having car d too little to the I me to come, and for having writ nothing but by way of amulement Freherus reports that Remark as if it concern d Agricola, wherein he attri-mark as if it concern d Agricola, wherein he attributes a I allity to Erasmus, for Agricola's Works collected (c) in a Body, and printed at Cologne into the Year 1539 testify that he writ many I hings with Care, and with all his Industry (1) Mr Varillas will supply us with many Faults I I He says, (d) That Agricola had such a vast Memory, that he had never forgot any thing that he had learned This is an Hyperbole for which I find no ground in that great Min's History, although they have very much enlarged on his Talents Would they have forgot that, which is the most extraordinathey have forgot that, which is the most extraordinaty that can be seen? If He became learned to a Programmin ludum

The Hausehale and without a Mady, with Books that were borrow'd, and without a Mafier The Hyperbole is accompany'd here with a palpable Fility, for we read in his Life that he was lent (e) very early to the College, and that after the Study of the Grammar, he went to study at Louvain, where he lodg'd in the College of the Faulcon, and perform'd all the Functions of a Scholar of Philosophy, and addicted himself also to some Persons that had a gust for good Latinity He was also a diligent Auditor of Theodorus Gara at Ferrara (f) It is very true that he carried but sew Books with him in his Travels, and that leaving the rest of his him in his Travels, and that leaving the rest of his Library with his Friends, he made use of borrow'd Books according as he wanted them But besides that, there is no Learned Man that does not do the like in travelling, can it be faid that Agricola learned all in his Travels? III He begun hu Studies where others nfe to end them, that u to fay, with the Hebrew Tongue He had nonly a mind to know it in its purity, but also with all the Alterations that Time, and the refining of the Rabbies have produce din it He had the lame careto in-troduce himfelf into the Greek Tongue Lastly, he Lastly, he took to Latin, without any regard to the Remonstrances of those that pretended to diffusade him from it, because the Habit of Writing and Pronouncing the Hebrew, seem d to have introduced into his Mind an Incompatibility with the Roman Phrases and Expressions Where is above. and ty with the Roman Phrases and Expressions Where is the Man that can read this without astonishment, if he knows (g) that our Redelphus did not learn He-brew but few Years before his Death, and that the Progresses he made in it were but mean? I fancy that Mr Varillas was deceived by these LatinWords, (b) it is an Apostrophe to Agricola, Transisti enim Hebraicas, Gracasque literas, usque adeo stupenda celeritate, ut nequapma Gruningia in ultima Prisa, sed Hierosolymis Athenisque natus ac educatus a doctissimis crederere Latinasporre tanta felicitate didicisti, docustique ut, Ot It seems to me that this is the Reason why Mr Varillas imagin'd that Agricola first learn'd the Hebrew, then the Greek, and at last the Latin Tongues, and that he often compos'd, and spoke in Hebrew IV He made such a supergraph Proposition the Latin that France supergraphs.

made such a supprizing Progress in the Latin, that Eraimus, so little accustom'd to praise in others the Riches that he possiss, so could not be tir'd with admiring him, chi sty after he had publish'd his Commentaries, so politie, and so worthy of the Age of Augustus, on Aistotle's Rheterick and Logick Erasmus was so inconsiderable.

Man when Agusale died, they the Progratiss of his Man when Agricola died, that the Progresses of his Admiration ought not to be look'd for in the

read, that Agricola was Two Years Syndic of the City of Groningen

(II) All that he transcribed out of Erasmus] He Friezlander liv'd until the I ime that the possession numerous Proceedings of the Procedure of of good Literature hinder d Erasmus from prasing it tinkit Romoshers. Here are yet Two Observations, I he dolphum Commentaries on Aristotess Logick did not appear A viscotill after the Death of the Author. Evaluate (i) Iam, etc. informs us of it, and fays also that they were muti- nim duminated. lated Latitabant apud nestio quos commentarii Diale- cunel cune fices, nuper in publicum prodierunt, sed mutili (ei- medicus tainly it is not in this Work that Agricola's La in, or mois inthe Polite Manners of the Age of Augustus may be teveitit admired V 2he Elector Palatine caus d Agri- Eiasm cola to come to Heidelberg gave him the first Adag Prosessoria of Eloquence in the University and Clil madehim bisCounsellor of State The Lite of Agricocint la, neither among those of the Prosessor of Clinia. gen, nor in Melchier Adam, Liys nothing of all this 703 The Bishop of Werms is faid to have drawn Agricola ? Valer

Into the Palatinate Here is a Remaik that was communicated to me fince the first Edition "Rodolphus Agricola made p 798
"no Regular Commentaries on Aristotle's Logick or of Agiip"Rhetorick We have only his Three Books deinpa, Lipist
"ventione dialettica, that were first printed 1 617
"Louvain in the Year 1516 by the Care of Alard of p 141
"Amsterdam, who publish'd them in a bad order, I'd in 8vo fuch as he could find them Some time after, one I ugd
"James le Febure. at Doventer, gave out that he had & I'd epist into the Palatinate James le Febure, at Doventer, gave out that he had e Id epist a Manuscript de inventione dialestica, more ample 18 1 6 "by I hree Books than the Edition of Leuvain, but p 970 & it was false Alaid, who went on puipose to that Epist 21 the Februs at Deventer, having seen his Manuscript, 17 p 1021 found it neither more ample, not more correct Socials p than that on which the Ldition of Louvain was 7,6 made. He reproceded to Edition for it who are used. He reproach'd le Fel ver for it, who excus d himself as well as he could, though bad enough (1) Erasin Since the Year 1528 Pompey Octo having had Agricular sown Manuscript by the Succession of his United Agriculars own Manuscript by the Succession of his United Agriculars own Manuscript by the Succession of his United Agriculture and Agriculture cola's own Manuscript by the succession of his one (a) and cle Adolphus, gave it to Alard, who having found this man it very compleat, and well preferved, caused it to the true, all be printed at Cologne in 4to with long Commentation of the true in the Year 1539 Some Years before, John Work is "Ites in the Year 1539 Some Years before, John Working Marthew Prissemins, to whom Alard had communicated his Manuscript, had caused it to be printed from the in the tame City, commented by himself. That Politic Work, which is Rodolpha s Master-plece, was always generally esteemed for the existencis of the Arguments of the Arguments of Augustrom the same hand as the Observation contained in this, and the Remark R.

the Remark BA

the Remark BA

(A) A great Magician, if we believe many Persons quent than Paul Jovius, Thevet, and Martin Del Rio are his chiet Accusers. We shall see in the Remark N the Minevertheless a great number of Persons are still personaver the Adam in gripps was perfect in the Conjuring Book.

(B) Of a Noble and Ancient Family. Its Name was de Nettesheym. Mr. Teisser affures in the 99th Page of the 2d Volume of his Additions to the Llogies taken out of Thusans. That Agripps was born at Nettesheym, in the Country of Cologue. Melchier And Noticesheym, in the Country of Cologue. Melchier And Notesheym, whom he quotes, does not say so, he makes vet, History him to be born (1) in Cologne it self, and refers us to a letter of Agripps, wherein we read these very Words addressed to the Magistrates of Cologue, (m) Possem to P. 222 toobs horum verissima exempla referre, nisci vivium vostro.

Letter of Services and the services we show a constant of the services of the page of the services of the page of the services we should be served to the Magistrates of Cologue, (m) Possem to P. 222 toobs horum verissima exempla referre, nisci vivium vostro.

Edit of addressed to the Magistrates of Cologne, (m) Possim t 7 p 222

wobs horum verissima exempla referre, niscovium vestrorum pudori parcendum & patrix mea ra ionem habendam ducerem Sum enim & ego, storecenescit s, civitate vestra oriundus, & prima pueritia apud vos enutritus Thevet (n) says by a greater Fault, That Agrippa that born in the City of Nestra I know nothing of 18 16 our Agrippa's Father, but that he ferv'd the (o) House of Austria, and that he died about the beginning (p)

to straightful to the possible to perfect the straightful to straightful to straight to straight the straight the straight to straight the straight the straight the straight that the straight the stra of the Year 1518

Miaimilian dum, que

lefs cle-(C) He p 736

tremo vit r tempo ras Hebraicas totum appulerat E: afm Chil ad 1 cent 4 n 39 P # 145

(b) Paul Jovius elog c 32 a Epist 1 I r y Epift, of See the Expostulagrippa cum Joinne Catilinero Iratrum I rancife inorum per Buigundi im Provincialı Mınıftro Ope 1 2 p 508 Epifile Dedicatory of tl st Ircatife, lited at Antweipin Hestonb o April, ζ H, Γ. ontaluflog from London 1510 pi detent propoliti on p 96 91 x de fent propour p 596 4 Oper t 2 p 1 74 * I pift 2 31. 15 4 ' Speach, Oper t fit for the Maximilian. He had at first an Employ of Secretary; but as he was fit for the Sword as the Pen, he took up Arms afterwards, and servid (C) that Therefore Seven Years in the Army of Italy. He signalized himself in several Occasions, and for a reward of his Noble Actions, he obtained the Title of Knight He had a mind to add the (CA) Acidemical Honouis to the Military, fo that he caus'd himself to be received Doctor of I aw, and of Physick. It cannot be denied but that he was a very Great War, and that he had the knowledge of a great many Things, and (D) of divers Languages, but his too great Currelity, his too free Pen, and his Inconstant Humour made him unhappy. He left his Places continually the brought himself every where into I remaind I among the left his Places continually. unhappy He lest his Places continually, he brought himself every where into I rouble, and to compleat his Missortune, he drew the Hatred of the Clergy upon himself by his Writings We see by his Letters a that he had been in France before the Year 1507 that he travelled into & Spain in the Year 1508 and that he was y at Dole in 1509 He iead (1) Publick I ectures there, that fet him at odds with the Cerdelier Catilinet. The Monks in those Times suspected all that they did not understand of Error or Heresy, How could they have suffer'd that Agrippa should explain the Mysterious Works of Reuchl mis de verbo mirisco unpunish'd ? It was the Subject of the Lectures that he read at Dole in the Year 1509 with a very great Glory. The Counsellors of the Parliament Dole in the Year 1509 with a very great Glory The Counsellors of the Parliament themselves went to hear him To infinuate himself the better into the our of Margaret of Austria, Governess of the Netberlands, he made at that Time at teatise of the Excellency of Women , but the Persecution he suffer'd from the Monks, hinder'd him from publishing it He gave up the Cause, and went into & England, where he writ on the Lpiftles of St Pauln, although he had another very private Affair in hand return d to Colerne, he read Publick Lectures there on the Questions of Divinity, that tie call d Quad'ibet ler, after which he went to the Emperor Maximilian's Army in Italy and continued there till Cardinal de Sairte Cross fent for him to Pifa Agrippa would have shew d his Talents there as a Divine of the Council, if that Assembly had continu ed It would not have been the way to pleafe the Court of Rome, not to deferve the obliging Letter he received $(F\Delta)$ from $Ie\theta$ the Xth and from whence we may conclude that he alter d his Opinion Since that Time he taught Divinity publickly at Pavia, and His going away from that City the fime of the following Year, was more like a running away, than a Retreat 1 his appears by his 49th Letter of the first Book, compared with the I ifty Second. He had a Wife and Children (1) at that Time It appears by the Second Book of his I etters, that his I nends endeavour'd in divers Places to procure him some Honourable Settlement, either at Grenoble, Geneva, Avignon, or at Metz The preferr'd the Place that was offer d him in that last City, and I find a that in Year 1518 he exercis'd there the Employment of A Syndic, Advocate, and Fitter. The Perfecutions that the Monks rais'd against him, as well because he had refuted the Common Opinion concerning the Three Husbands of St. Anne, as because he

PICO

(C) He for d that Imperor Seven Years in his Army of Itily] Delow who ventures but feldom to go beyond the Bounds of those whom he transcribes, had a mind to it here like a Mister and to shew that he could by what Melebior Adm had not fud But he his been very unluckly in it, for he makes those Seven Yens to begin in the Year 1508 and end in the Yen 1518. If he had well known the History of Agrips 1, he would not have been ignorant that this Author was in Spain in the Year 1508 at Dole in the Year 15 9 and in England in the Year 1510 That Week of Years must have begun in 1511 and Agripp r must reeds have pretended to have pass'd in the Emperor's Service all the Fine he lived in Italy But he own Letters would have betray d him, if they had been counsed. We do not see that he had any Imployment in the Atmy after he was made Professor it Proja, in 1915 Februs in all the Professor it Proja, in 1915 From rus in all the rest of what he takes out of Michier Adam, contents himself with the Faults of that Author, and adds no others to it. See his Thestrum Page 1221

Add the Academical Honours to the Military It will do well to fee how he expresses himself Utrinique juris & Midicinarum Doctor evafi, antea etiam Ausatus Eques, quem ord nem non precasio m bisedemi, non itransmarina peregrinatione mu uno, non in Regum inthronistione impudenti insolentia surripui, s d in publicis præliis media acie bessica vir ute commerica

(D) And of Divers Languages He knew eight of them, and there were but I wo out of that great numbei, that he did not understand in perfection will tell it us himself without too much Modesty Let us not fear to do him wrong, by esteeming him a ording to the value he sets upon himself (b) Oto 1 , zum um mediocriter Doctus, fed illurum fex ades perstus, ut singulis non loque modo & intelligere, sed O eliganter orare, distare & transferre noverim, tum prater multimodam et sam al sirusarum rerum cognitionem, peritiam & erclicam conditionem, utriusque Juris &

Medicinarum dollor evafi He fought betimes the Phi-Medicinarum dollar evali. He lought betimes the Philosopher's Stone, and it appears (e) that he had been recommended to Princes, as an excellent Subject for that Which made him run the hazard of his Lib Tometimes. It is fure, that if a Man was thought to be able to make Gold, he might be afraid that some Prince would imprison him. They would make use of him themselves, and hander other Princes from dong it. hinder other Princes from doing it

(F) He read Publick I edures there] He seems to contradict himself on this Subject, for sometimes (d) Oper he says that he did it without Wages, and sometimes that he had Wages Publicis praled some uses ad honorem Illustressime Principis Margarete & unici fitte (e) In de dis Dolini fici GRATIS Thus he speaks in his sens pro (d) Complaint against the Cordelier Catilines But he posit p systematical selfewhere, (e) That he was admitted into the Body of the Prosessions of Divinity, and gratify d with a Pension In Dola Burgundia publication for the crass prosession, ob quam ab hugas studied Dosto-th, 8 no

cras literas professis sum, ob quam ab husta sudii Dotto- the 18 no ribus n Collegium receptus, insuper regentia & ST1- the 1st Book PENDIIS donatus sum. The way to reconcile arong these two I hings, is to say, That in the betwie two I hings, is to say, That in the betwie two I hings, is to say, That in the betwie donatus fum. Agripus (ED) The obliging (f) Letter be received from Pope Leo the Xth I It is dated from Rome the 12th of suly, (g) the string and signid Petrus Bembus. He was priesd in it Agricus for his Zeal for the Holy Apostolical See, on the good Character that the Nuncio had given of him (r) Exliters venerabilis statis knine knine vertaling numeri nostri, alignium see fermenibus de finetam () It will sedem Apostolicam devotione, deque two sides street incomplete street literature unda studio diligent sides melleximus fone in all muno magnepere commendamus, laudamus street is street in Direction. In such muno magnepere commendamus, laudamus street is street. mino magnepere commindamus, laudamul je istum animum aique virtuim Let us note, that that brief cannot (h) ferve to clear Agrippa from the Acculations of Necromancy, for it preceded that Man s Bad Reputation several Years

(F) He had a Wife and Children at that Time though I make use of the Plural Number, know 15 fire, inad Animid Philol & Tiffer art 2

P 14,

(b) Fpift 21 1 7 P 1921.

(a)Agrip-pi, Fpift or 1.7

D 0-1

Sua'fo p 737,977

25 Î ~

had protection Country Woman (G) that was accused of Witcherast, made 1 m fer-take the Country He was moved to write on the Monogamy of St dim, when a I pist he saw a that James Fiber Stapulensis his Friend was cried down by the Pieachers of Merz, for having maintain'd that Opinion Agrippa retir'd into his Country of Cel vine P 71/2 in the Year 1520 willingly for taking Ba City which the Seditious Inquifitors hid mide an Enemy of Learning, and of time Merit. It is the Fate of all Countries where fuch Persons grow powerful, of whatsoever Religion they be He less this Countries where such the Year 1521 and y went to Geneva, he got not much Money there, seeing he complained I that he was not rich enough to make a Journey to Chember, to solitente I, profit the Pension that he was made to hope for from the Duke of Sewey That Hope came of I that to nothing, and then Agrippa went from Geneva to a Iriburg sin Su fleria id, in the Year 1523 to practise Physick there, as he had done at Geneva The Year sollie wing he as I pull at the Lyans, and obtained a Pension of Iriburg the life He lived with that Prince's April 41 Mother in the Quality of Physician, but made no I ortune these printer deal by follows. Mother in the Quality of Physician, but made no I ortune there, neither did he follow that Princels " when she deputed from I year in the Month of August, 1525 to con the Tourses of Some I have been been a like the bound of the state of the Tourses of Some I have been a like the bound of the state of th duct her Daughter to the Frontiers of Spin. They lee him die continuation in I_J , in and implore the Credit of his briends in vain for the payment of his Wiges. Before he had in received them and the Vexition to be advertised 0 that he was crossed cit of the Alm Italian of his Diffrace was, that having received Order term has Miffrest to fearch by the Rule of Aftrology the Course that the Affaits of F_{rot} , were $\frac{I_J}{r_0}$. to take, he disapproved too freely that Princess would apply him to that V no Cu anosity, instead of making use of him in more important Mitters. The I idy a took of pan that Leffon very ill, but the was yet more angry when the knew that a supply Altrolo gy promis d the Constable of Bourbon (H) new Triumphs Zgriff. Seems, hin f It turn-know he had but one Son Crorf m, ques, intam suspectation pesta cunt sum uno especial le per l'aconfugissim, relité a Pani e Domo a suspected le per le sque ontre l'aconfugissim, relité a Pani e Domo a suspected le per l'aconfusion. Book He was very well fittisfied with his Wife, and iee what he tips of her in (a moth i place, I go quidem Decomnipo ent inium am laleo grain, qui uvorem mihi conjunt i lecundum cor neim, e in n mobilem bané moratam acole nodim fremosa, aucuta ad meam on teconsuctudium it ne contem liquim irpermit the circulation of the issummer of the internosinte circulation of the issummer of the circulation of the confirmation of the circulation of the circul ther she was rich or not, for otherwise he repre-fents her endowed with 'I be could define, handfome, young, virticus, ci a Noble I imily, ind of a constant Complaince He lost her in the Year 1521 and for what Reason I know not, he (10) would have be i bried at Metz, where he I va no Anniversaries should be procumed that he had founded for the Soul of the ten is a he p uses that jecond Wite as much as the single, he size, (a) Ante biennium hee found im unrem dan virg n m novilem pulcherem mque que a les ad m am vivit confueiud nem ur neferra istane priorem, anne bine ilit una alteram in amanto of sequendoque æquet n sup ret last was much more teeming than the suft, he had but one Son by the full, the second was brought to bed three times in two years, and y touth time the Year following, Du. (f) islamin files piperit, ambo superstitue, fil im see un un que veta cices?"

Unor men (g) sam partus provina est. He doe not tay whether the was rich, one of his Friends tive (b) that the was, but does not perfush me to, to Agrippa's Letters fince his fecond Manage are a full of his Poverty is before I he third Son that he had by his second Marriage, had (1) the Cudinal of Lorrain for his Godfither When he set out from Loriain for his Godfither Paris to go for Antw 1p, in the Month of July, 1528 he left (k) his Wite with Child at Par s She was brought to bed of (1) her fifth Son at shewerp, the strought to bed or (1) her tith Son at Antwerp, the 13th of March, 1529 and the died in Aurit 1579, it Autrop, extremly lamented by her Husband, a appears by the 81st Letter of the 5th Book, she wis new 26 Years of Age. I don't find that he misks mention of the hid Marriage in his latters, but we know the hid Marriage in his latters, but we know the marriage in his latters, but the high man trace and all the same trace and the same trace an John Harns (m) informsusof, who had been his Jomeic Magis, It 1b ser h d known all those things, flick Servant he would not have been fatisfied with telling us that Arrippa (n) married M. of Louyle I ysse, of a very No Cartily, a 2. Years of the and in the Year of our oninged he would at Lift save mention d the two Manninges in general Melch or Alam

w more of emilian There for he was not igno-

(1) Tpift

19 1 2 P 736 (b) I pist

(d) I pist

3, 1 4 p 800 V₁-p 800 vi-de etiam,

p 818 (f) Ibid (a) Lpift

+13

(n) re nunc degere (sebennis, illicque

proba.no-bili, tor-locuplere ducta uxo-re in utis experimentis clarere tingul u itei Epist

5 1 5 91,

fliq L (t)

Proti m) Witr

r t b m

'n Thetet ubi

lupra, p 222, rant that Arrippa had had two Waves Dum naorin maritue nolihum collyoning no maritue nolihum collyoning no process bur befides that he feems to be ignorant of the third Minuiage, he committed divers I aults of Chiorology, when he spoke of the first Here are his Words Mortuo Maximiliano f b d viefe & prin ipiuus & icatavu miz fratibus p i Italiam, Hispaniam, Angliam, Ceillium egit, multagu, egirria facinora deligna vit Iana m laborum terra mariaue examila orum fatur ac quietis & oth cupidie, duch uxore, - i ne nobil, I down in ellolog lus ficet, ne 1 ocul n cot is fi se music voi to Institus u em abin l, a Mediomatri-cum pub rinnu (Indice, adsocrati Corritor of is to) Note that the Imperia Maxin I'm died the 1 th of Adam in Taniary, 1919 and that Acrippa travell I into Span in 1508 and into England in 1510. Here is alice one Anachronism Alter his return from Ingland, he ft ud fome time it Colorne, and ifter wirds he went into It. I), where he was fill in the Year (p) 1517 He wis at Merz (q) in the Year 1518 he did not return (p) I pist into Italy fince he went from thence to Met, here is then mother Anachronism. Remirk also that he p 7.22 wis already married in the (r) Year 1515. Where are then those great 1 stigues he underwent by Sec., (q) I pill and by Land since the Doubl of the 1 inperior Mrs - 1 - 1 2 milian, to which he would put a flop by Marrice How could be fix himtelf with his Wife in the Countrey of the Allobroses, feeling he lived an imbulatory Life with her in Italy? Add to this, that he had not iertied himfelf in the Country of the Ado- 1 is broger before his lamper to At broges before his journey to Meta, and that he was Syndic of Mass before M sem han died. Made of Adam is tull of the like Failts. Put of those which I have observed, are so much the more excussible be cause they are commuted often Agripp rainfell, who for want of Memory on otherway toll Mira. Queen of Hungary, That he had made fuch and fuch I true to the Death of Miranulan, e.e. See hi ous Thing to ice ion-body go a our to a con me Melebror Adam with Hevet According to the lift Agrippa mained it 23 Years of Age, according to the lift the fift, he did not many till after a greation I ravels and Bulinefles being wenty of Libour, minimized in 1 ft to live a Quiet Life.

(G) A Country Woman the was at used of H cerast! The D minican, N cholas Stoin Inquities of the Lath at Mers, would have cost the Verm stobe put to the Losture upon a meet Preposition, grounded on her being the Dinghter of Witch p 5, that was buint Ag ipps d d whit he could to cause all the Proceedings to be ex. the observed, and (1 Fp if yet he could not hinder the Woman from being apply d to the Torture, but he live ground to know that the was not pully. The Accusers were con-vited demned to a line (t). The Penalty was too mild, and p.76 stemmed to a line (t, I he Penalty was too mild, int p.76 and too wide from Retalition
(H) Promis dith Conflable of Bourbon new Triumphi] (u) Agrip-

The Complaints of being employ d in the follies et profit Aftrology were very displeading (u) to him Screph up to the hour amouses 1 "am no and tam and grum artificium to the cd p sa item, p > vit Me dic pi

-) ՐըւՈ

a Epist 51 1 5 p 932 β Conipeaudito nomine meo præcipiti ira repente dirupit papyrum totam. inquiens, fe nequaquam fignatufavorem divinatoris Lpist 30 15 p 920 2 Lpift 84 1 5 p 951 1 Lpist 15 1 6 p 969 Epift 20 1 6 14 1 6 p 968 n See the Remark O 9 I pilt p 975 Lpilt 12 1 7 pag pist 21 17 pag 4 Epift 23 16 p 980 n l pilt 6 17 Alpift 1 1 7 µ 1 pift 21 1 7 1024 v John Wierus de Migis, c 5 p m 111 E Naude Apolog for Great Min p m P 427 (Id Lpift 62 j + p 88c (b) See the 62d Letter of the 4th Book , pag 881 (c) Id L-pift 6 15 p 900 ter was written from Lyons the 30th of Murch, 1527

ed out, (1) murmur'd, storm'd, threaten'd, writ and did all that his Impatient Humour suggested to him, but, in short, he must think on another Settlement mour suggested to him, but, in short, he must think on another Settlement. He cast his Eyes on the Netherlands, and having after a very long time obtain'd the necessary Passes, he came to Answerp a in the Month of July, 1528. One of the Causes of those Delays, was the rough Proceeding of the Duke of Vendome, who instead of signing the Pass, tore it, saying, He would not sign & for a Diviner. In the Year 1529 Agrippa found himself invited all at one time γ by the King of England, by the Emperor's Chancellor, by an Italian Marques, and by Margaret of Austria, Governess of the Netherlands: He made choice of the last, and accepted the Office of the Emperor's Historiographer, which that Princess caus'd to be given him. He publish'd as a Prelude the History of the Coronation of Charles the Fifth, and soon after he was obliged to make that Lady's Funeral Oration, whose Death was in some manner the Life of our Agrippa, for of the Coronation of Charles the Fifth, and ioon after he was obliged to make that Lady's Funeral Oration, whose Death was in some manner the Life of our Agrippa, for they had terribly preposses'd the Mind (K) of that Princess against him They did him the same ill Offices to I his Imperial Majesty The Treatise of the Vanity of Sciences, which he caus'd to be printed in 1530 a exasperated his Enemies surrously That which he publish'd soon ζ after at Antwerp, of the Occult Philosophy, supply'd them yet with more pretence to desame him. It was well that θ Cardinal Campege, the Pope's Legate, and Cardinal de la Mark, Bishop of Liege, spoke for him. Their Good Offices did not make him receive one Penny of his Pension of Historiographer, and did not hinder him from being put a into Prison at Brullels. In the Year 1821 but he did not hinder him from being put ϵ into Prison at Brullels, in the Year 1531 but he did not stay long in it. The following κ Year he made a Visit to the Archbishop of Cologne, to whom he had dedicated his Occult Philosophy, κ and had received a Letter full of Civilities from him. The fear of his Creditors μ made him stay longer in the Countrey of Cologne than he defired He oppos'd the Inquisitors vigorously who had pur a stop to the printing of his Occult Philosophy, when he made a new Edition of it, corrected and augmented at Cologne See the 26th and the following Letters of his Seventh Book In spite of them the Impression was sinished, which is that of the Year 1533 He tarried at Bonn until the Year 1535 and then he had a mind to return to Lyons. He was imprison'd in France for something that he had writ against the Mother of France was imprisoned in France for something that he had writ against the Mother of France the Ist but he was released at the Request of some Persons, and went to Grenoble, where he died the same Year v 1535 Some say, That he died in the Hospital, but according to E Gabriel Naude, it was at the House of the Receiver General of the Province of Dauphine, whose Son was first President of Grenoble Mr Allard, p 4 of the Bibliotheque of Dauphine, says that Agrippa died at Grenoble, in the House that belongs to the Family of Ferrand, in the Clerks Street, that belong'd then to the President Vachon, and that he was haved in the Congress of the Dominicans. He liv'd always in the Roman Communion, there? buried in the Convent of the Dominicans. He liv'd always in the Roman Communion, theres ingenio meo diutius abutatur, nec in has nugas ulterius impingerecogas, qui multo falicioribus studius illi inservere queam But the worst of it was, that those Follies dicover'd Prosperities to the hated Party (a) Reduit in mintem seriplise me Sensiballo, compensation in Resident mention seriplise me Sensiballo, compensation in Resident mention in seriplise me sensiballo and series regulation has illum fausti and feme in Borbonii natalitiis revolutionibus illum frustratis veste s exercitibus ciiam in hunc annum victorem fore disique intra me, o infelix propheta hoc vatilino fam omnem Principu tua gratlam concacasti. Hoc est ulcus, hie antiax, hie carbo, hie cancer ille quem noli me tangere dicunt, quem tu imprudens tetigisti etiam cauterio. Those that know the History of those Times, see very well that our Associates could not make terio Those that know the History of those Times, see very well that our Astrologer could not make his Court worse to the Mother of Francis the I than by promising a good Success to that Constable From that Time Agrippa was look'd upon as a Bourbonist (b). To retute that Reproach, he represented the Service he had done to France, by distinging Four Thousand ootSoldierstrom following the Emperor sparty, and by engaging them to that of France the I He alledged the retuial of the great Advantages that were and by engaging them to that of Fran is the I He alledged the retulal of the great Advantages that were promis'd him at his going out of Friburg, if he would have enter'd into the Constable s Service It appears by the Fourth and the Sixth Letter of the 5th Book, that he had a strict Correspondence with that Prince in the beginning of the Year 1527 He advis d and counsell'd him, yet refusing to go and join him, and promis'd him the Victory He assu'd him that the Walls of Rome would fall down at the first Attacks, he only forgot the chief Point, which is, that the he only forgot the chief Point, which is, that the Constable should be kill'd there (c) Jam fata illis propinguam fragen suamque pernitiem denunciant Mox illa superbamenta vix oppugnata corrucre videbis Eja ergo nunc strenussime Princeps, quem tanta victoria duergo nunc strenussime Princeps, quem tanta victoria duergo nunc strenussime Princeps, quem tanta victoria duergo nunc strenussime Princeps, quem tanta victoria dueconstit prosperé, aggredere forti er, pugna constanter, habei elettissimorum militum armatas acies. Adest calorum savor, aderit & susti belli vindex Desu, nihil formidaveiss, ingens siquidem te manet gloria triumphus. The Deuth of the Constable, which happen d before Agrippa went out of Eyons, puts me in mind of three I aults of Melchier Adam. He says that Agrippa being invited first by the Constable, and afterwards by the Chancellor, went to the Court of Bargandy, and a little while after sound himself very unfortunate by the death of those two Patrons. This is to fall three times into Anaghronism. 1 The Constable was dead times into Anachronium 1 The Confiable was dead before Agrippa left France, and he had never thought of inviting him to the (A) Court of the Princess Margaret 2 The Chancellor Gattinara did indeed invite him, but it was to the Court of Charles the Vth and it was an Invitation that Agrip-

Charles the Vth and it was an invitation that Agripps (c) diffinguish d very plainly from that which was proposed to him in relation to the Court of Margaret 3 He was already in the Netherlands, when the Chancellor caus'd Proposals to be made to him
(1) Agrippa sceng himself turn'd out, murmur'd, form d, threatned 1 He had used Menaces before his Pension was taken away from him, the Spite of not having his Wages piid, and of seeing himself detips d, made him say that he would do some wicked thing. He writ to a Friend (f), we se inclinant res ipis d, made him fay that he would do some wicked thing He writ to a Friend (f), so se inclinant resource auxilio, malo aliquo utar consilio, siquiden & malo artibus unununquam bona fortuna parata est When he knew that he was put out, he writ (g) divers thundering Letters, and threatned to make Books, wherein he would discover all the Faults of the Courtiers that had ruin'd him. He was so brutish as to say, That for the future he would take the Princess, whose had ruin'd him He was so brutish as to say, That for the future he would take the Princess, whose of the 5th Counsellor and Physician he had beeen, for a cruel Book, full Counsellor and Physician he had beeen, for a cruel and persidious Texebel (b) Necultra illamego pro principe mea (jamenim esse desirt) sed pro atrocissima & persida quadam Jesabele misi habendam decrevi. What would he not have done in such a Rage, and in such a desire of Revenge, if he had had so much Power overthe Devils as they pretended he had? I do not know that any body said, That that Indignation of that Principles was fatal to any Person of the Court of Iranee Costs would be very ill the Court of Charles the Fifth. He presented a Petithe Court of Charles the Fifth He presented a Petition to that Prince's Privy Council, wherein he represented what Harm and Good he could do His him into Menaces were the most intelligible in the World, her Serbut the Council were insensible to them without wice again. but the Council were intentione to them without suffering for't (1) Cogeretu me acceptam ea repulsa injuriam ad novarum rerum licentiar transferre, & malique consilio (ceu quale Hermocies acait Pausanie) uti oportere Quin & malia artibus sapisime bona fortuna parta est Sed inverca memineritis inter Espi Apologos esse murum aliquando subvenisse leoni, & searabean artipuralle aquilam pologos effe marum anyments ;

um expugnasse aquilam

(K) Preposses of the Mind of that Princess against bim] See here what he tells us about it, after having

Court by that of Burgun dy. ... ( (e) Epist.
8 1 5 p 951 (f) Epift 25 1 4 p 850 (g) See the the 62d of (b) Epift. 52d Letter be very ill advis'd, if (i) Epist

P 979

(d) We

fore it of the hot to have been faid that (L) he was a Lutheran I do not believe that he wrote for (M) the Divorce of Henry the Eighth As to the Magick Art wherewith he is accused, let every body think of it as he pleases One thing I know very well, which is, that the Letters he wrote to his intimate Friends, without pretending that they should one day be printed, have all the Marks of a Man used to religious Restlections.

and ()) pat 36 1 0

929 to frour

Ett of

Min

4/10

(1) In A-

Luftosti

us Chi

puliu

and m 1/20/ C'

Pritmus

Luftarli

gupo

dam

22 /

(!) That is to say, Charles the Vth (a) Agrippa, 1 pilt 15 11b 6 p 968

> (6) Sixtus Senenf Bibligth mnot. 73 apud Quenstedt de pitrus il-lustr vi-

10r p 144

Delrio lib

2 QU 16

rus ad 1

7 homæ tract de potentia angelogrippa #

etium,

parte 3

p 616

rum quæst 3 make A-

having complained that they starv'd him with Hun-Quod ad te scribam non habeo aliud nisi quod ego bi egregic csurio, ab istis aulicis dits totis præteritus Quid magnus (l) ille supiter suspicari nequeo Ego quanto fuerim in periculo, jam primum rescivi, tantum enim, dictum est mihi, prævaluerant cucultiones illi apud Domi-nam, sed muliebreter relegiosam principem, ut nisi illa mox pertiffet, jam ego, quod maximum crimen eft, monachalis majestatis sacraque cuculta reus tanquam in re-ligionem Christianam impius periturus suissem (a) (ommonly a Militels is more to be tear d than a Ma-fter, when a Person is accused of Irreligion

(L) It ought not to have been faid that he was a Lutheran 1 Confeis that I have not observed in his Letters, that when he speaks of Luther or his Sectaties he wies injurious Worlds or Reslections, I confels also that he inform d I infelt curroutly cnough of what Luther, or his Sectators publish d on Matters of Controverly, but that does not shew that he approved of that Reformer's Doctrine May not the most rigid Protestants of the Confession of Gineva give order to buy for them ill the Books which the Sectaries of Transilvinia caule to be printed, and would it not be very ridiculous to pretend therefore that they are of those Hereticks Opinion? I hose that embrac d the Reformation of Luther, did not treat that Doctor with that Indifferency that we ice in Agrippa's Letters, I mean without praising or blaming him It Agrippa was the Author of the 82d Letter of the 3d Book, it could be no longer doubted but although they have put in the Title of the Letter, Agrippa ad amicum, it is certain that it was not written by Agrippa. Here is the Demonstration of it. He that writ that Letter notes that his Wife was brought to hid of a Son in the Month of Newas brought to bed of a Son in the Month of November, 1525 Now Agrippa s Wife was brought to bed of a Son in the foregoing Month of July, this is plain by the 76th Letter of the 3d Book, wherein it appears also that the Cardinal of Lorrain was Godfather to that Child It is incontestable then that Agrippa did not write the Letter in question I forbear to fay that he was not at Straiburg, but at Lyons, at the time when that Letter was written from Straiburg So that those that would procure such a Proof to Sixtus Senensis, who said (b) that Agrippa was a Lutheran, would not supply him with any thing that is of value Quensted confuted Sixtus Senensis by the 6th Chapter of the Ireatile of the Vanity of Sciences, wherein Agrippa calls Luther an Arch Heretick That Confutation is infinitely an Arch Heretick That Constitution is infinitely more Solid than that which a (c) Divine of Utretche made use of, by alledging the Professioning of Divinity to which Agrippa was preferred at Dole and at Pavia, and the Employ he had with Cardinal de Saintee apud Vo-Croix for the Council of Pi/a This proves nothing at all, because all those Honours of Agrippa preceded Luther's first preaching against the Pope If any body should ask me why Agrippa speaks haider of Luther in his Book of the Vanity of Sciences, than in his Letters, I shall not aniwer, that it is a Work wherein he proposes to himself to criticize every body. I would tather make use of another Reason. When he compos'd that Treatise, it is likely he had loft the Hopes he had at first conceiv d of Luther I believe that at the beginning he as well as Erasmus look'd upon that Reformer as a Hero, who would put a ftop to the Tyranny which the mendicunt Friars and the rest of the Clergy exercised on the Minds and Consciences of Men Being ignorant and voluptuous, they fomented a thouland mean Surger trons, and could not suffer that any body she and good Literature, they would neither come and of the Barbarity, nor suffer others to leave it. So that whoever was a fine Wit, a Learned and Polite Man, became the Object of their wollent Uselland trons.

violent Declamations Agrippa, Erasmu, and some other great Genius's were glad that Luther had hioke the Lee, they expected a Crisis from it that should deliver good People from Oppression, but when they saw that things did not take such a course as they would have, they were the full to cast a Store at Luther. Let us my nevertheless that Agripps was subject to divers Alternatives He protested to E-

(c) Vocbidi ama rasmu in sending him his Declimation on the Inty of Sciences, that he had no other Scittime to than those of the Catholick Church (1) Illud a rmon-tum volo, me de bis que ad Ke'g or in atonen notification of the Catholick Church and the scitting of the quam secus sentine quam so Eccles a Catholics. He wish dees in dedicating the Apol 53 of that Declimition to the Pope's Legate, that God would purge his Church from the Impicty of Hereticls, and a Bool p little after he writ to Milanchthon in a most civil manner (f), and defir d him to give his Silutition to H for fmanner (f), and dear a nim to give his distribution to the invincible Heretick Mirtin Inth - Salitabum - to froom be invincioum illum benci cum Martinum In I cum qui ut in Allibus air Paulus, fervit Deo Jeandam (find the New I clim on guam barefin vocant, and testified to him that wish d to come out of Babylon I or speaking of the last bush of wish d to come out of Babylon. For speaking of Charles the Vth he says, (g) Usinam lie N biclosons for aliquando ex bestia rediret in homin m ti core-linquere possimistud Ur Chaldworum. There was a sook time when the (h) Brethren were recommended to him, thus what we have feen that he writ to Melanchrhon, was a return of certain sust Motions which his Disgraces, and the unjust Proceedings of the Catholick Divines intend him with. However it is very certain that he lived and dream the Roman Communion. We shall touch some of his Optimal Constitutions in the Remark R. ons in the Remark R

pift r (M) That he write for the Divorce of Henry tleFi / / | could he have read in the Work (i) of every I cained Min but that Crammer hiving "travell d into German, there (i) II flow he acquired the Acquaintance of the famous Cor nelus Agrippa, discoussed with him about the formation Affair of the Divorce, and represented the New of Engcessity of it so well to him, that this great Man land /y eagerly defending the Prosecutions of Hm), was Dr Burvery ill treated by the Linperor, and died in Pil-ion. He that (k) criticis d that Work, annet (210m ion 12e that (k) criticised that Work, and R shop of iwered among other things, 1 1 it R Walcheld, Salisbu-who wrote at that time for Henry rie Eigh full porty in place of the is shop of Rocheffer, and another that is believed to be of Vives, or of Agrippa 2 That Agrippa ded in Lines and in 15. ry) 1 - p of Agrippa 2 That Agrippe ded in Lince and was no was: Presoner in Germany 1 find some things in Agrippa's Letters, which persuade me that he was not of Crammer's Opinion His (1) Imperial Majesty's Ambassador at London where (n) to Agrippa the 26th of June, 15,1 to exhort him to maintain the Queen's Interest and put him in mind maintain the Queen's Interest and put him in minus of a passing of the Lanity of Science whereight ne; the of Lighth is centured s(n) Hodic addition science in Phone Massing and in the scient that he would willingly engage himself in that undertaking, provided the Imperor would send him his Orders, or his Permission. He showed very proposed that he detected those cowardly Divises (1) who approved that Divorce. Here is what he says grant and the same and concerning the Sorbonne Non oft militation im ques artibus res hac apud Paristorum Sorbonam trila ta est, que cercus tanti sceleris ausim i reciario porrexit exemple I'v me continue quoquin in titu po rexit exemplo Ix me continue quo quin imititu po tam illum exclamem. Dicite Sorbonici in I reolor a activalet aurum exclamem pictatis er fishe illor im pe lore claujum putabimu quorum venal maris quin l'i cera confeientia est, qui extimeficindas univerlo oil Christiano determ nationes auro venales siccount, ac fir-Christiano determ nationes auro vinales ficerinit, no first lustathi vatam tot annis fidei & finceritatis op monem nim tri us Chadim extrema avaritie infamia corinquinit (a) & Nepulius vertheless he represents the Dinger to who his corist pulius vertheless he represents the Dinger to who his corist pulius vertheless he represents the Dinger to who his he, possible that so many Divines hid approved, who first he, possible that so many Divines hid approved, who first he, possible that so many Divines hid approved, who first he, possible that the many labeled that the Queen of England would write to the Limitation of the Outen of Hungary concerning the 6, possible vertical divisions and the first hid approved to the Outen of Hungary concerning the 6, possible vertical divisions and the first hid approved to the Outen of Hungary concerning the 6, possible vertical divisions and the first hid approved to the Outen of Hungary concerning the 6, possible vertical divisions and the first hid approved to the first hid approved that the Queen of England would write to the Lmperor or to the Queen of Hungary concerning the 6, p m Order to write on that Matter, a d explaind to 14 him why Erajmus, Piver, and other good Pens of 12 Ag ip that time ought not to be choisen before him Agripemit pa reckoned himself engaged in that Work, for in 1, p e 14 the Letter that he wrote to the Queen of Hings 1 1 it ria after he retird to Bonn, he represented how he 2, 1 o p applied himself altogether to his Office of Historiographer, ilthough he had not yet reapt any Picit mepifit by it 1 collect Memoirs, fays he, for the Hflow of the War of Italy and Hungary, and I have A greater a greater

(1) Epist 21 lib 7 P 1044 (d) Mr L Grand, tip 249 fays that that Hork is Fntit i-Led, (ot-1ci Now accord no tot'L C1 t form of Oword, P -46 I truted at I ondon 111/17 0 15. (i) 5 mder hil S h m $\Delta n = 1$ (f) Pu lus fevi usinclo () VII Licur in literis c (111i cidigo I quethus cidinis dignitite cohone ft itus 11 16 (1) See the (A also (2) lo \V1er de Mi-(1) Jour-11 111 hoc Andicis m bl to cx inplo-111 1 1) t Gen ril n tic bric of Linco Hefro'd 1 51 6 A1-Comming arr toe 1 enud) cir n r Piutuch icle w of us s H n l of at Geinil (1) I he-Act Hillory of Illufirious Men t 7 p 221 of 1 115 and to the Language of Christianity His Accusers (N) have not been well informed of his Adventures, which enervates their Testimony There will be Reason to be surprized at their Oversights, and the Effects they have produced, notwithstanding the Negligence wherewith they enquired into those Matters of Fact After all, if he was a Magician, he is a strong Proof of the Impotency of Magick, for never any Man The miscairied more times than he, nor was ever oftner in fear of wanting Bread. The I mancies of Francis the lit and those of Charles the Vth were doubtless very well perfuaded of his Innocency in that Regard, if we confider how they plaid upon him when a gicater delign in my Heid besides that, which is to write tor your Aunt Queen Catherine Sed (c) longe may be his negotium pro vestri saugunus decore, pro tua, in pram, materiera Anglia celebritissima Regina meis humeris impositum suscepi, in quo licet multi ha-Elenko operam suam collocarunt, nullus adhuc nodum rei difficult I believe that Delign was never perform d, the Author being in D f, race it the Imperial Court, doubtless thought it not proper to expose himself to the Ir dignation of the King of England It Crammer gund him he must hive made that Conquest it soonest in the Year 15, and it Kol 11 Hakif ld publish d his Book (d) before the Year 173- it is certain the the I realife which he confutes, and which was neribed to lives or to Arrippr is no ways of A, 1 pa Note, that Sandous (c) a no Lames divers Authors that wrote against the I worse, doe for speak of the latter

(17) H . det fers I ad not feen well informed of his Ad-Inevet and Martin del Rio are his chief Accusers, and I promised to shew them I aults, here they are then

Prul lovi a makes lum (f) dye atlyons in a poor Tivein and harge him with the ir famous Sulpi-cion of Migick for a Reason that you shall see Arrips, syshe, had always a levil with him, in the the Log's Neck trimmed with Nails, that form d lone Necromantick Inferitors, and faid to him, Go unlappy Berft, who are the Caufi of no to al kinn. That Dop rin immediately towards the storm of the him of no to al kinn. That Dop rin immediately towards the storm of the him of the hid given and never come our norm. I hat Author had given accept given Process for his Wit and Science, for for is to fry that has Learning had procur'd him the I is ney of a Knight that the Imperor had beflowed

It is certain by the Leftmony (b) of Aerippa, this his Order of Kinghthood wis the Reward of his Mil tay I ploits Refides, he did not die it I fin and Liftly, 10/10 Wieturs his Doniestick testifies, that the black Dog was a true Dog, and that he often led him with chair String (i) S lenter into ti, toys he a utine ob veritatis prarogativam non it ir qued in dwerfix (1) al anot foriptoribus legerim, D sholum forma canis ad extremum Agrippe laliting comit m iffi fuisse, & posternescio quiens modis evanuisse Str equiaem morari lie neques tarte constimationis con tam is sulse alignando logu, fintire & scribere a imisso vuleir imore. Ganem hunc nigrum meatoer s flatte, gill co som ne Mont ur (q od Dominum for it nuncupitum ron coft quisal us familiarisme, quin nuncupitum non i aro u i Agrispam darei loro extils concumato alligatim dux at vere niveralis erat fil s concinnato alligatim du at vire n vuralis eras em mif alus, cui alias famillam for colore O il qui corro s constitutione finilem quam Gallice Madamoi felle (Don nam) api llabat, me presente, adjunate. That Author idds, that Aerippa was very fond of that Dog, that he laised him often, that he made him est innetime, it his I ible, that he had him in his Bed and that when Hierar and Agrippa studied at the time I ible, that Dog Ity always between them imong a heip of Parcis Now because Agrippa vis whole Weeks without going out of his Stove, and knew for all that almost all that past in divers Countries of the World, some filly People and that his Dog was a Devil that told him all It is not In 1 190 that a Soldier who is a Trench Refugee told the very feriously, that when Mi (*) de Melac had his long with him, he always return'd Victorious He illuid me that in the general Opinion of the Soldier, that Dog was a familian Spain that reveal d Soldier, that Dog was a familiar Spirit that reveal dail the I nemies Poths, their Numbers, Defigns, Octohis Mafter Perhaps Mr de Melac was not displeted (1) that it was to believ'd That Opinion might make the Soldiers fear nothing under his Conduct thus you the on what fort of Reports Paul Jov us grounded himtelf

II Let us go on to There He fays (1), It cannot be denied but that Agripps was miserably bewitch'd with the most cunning and exerable Magick that can be in agin'd, and of which he made luch eviden Prefession in the Sight and to the Knowledge of every body (as the present Discourse shall justify) that it is impossible to demy the Proofs that this present to Strong are the Proofs that this present to Strong are reduced to In the first place Antony de Levi (m) low d that Mm some of this link and proud Underce he compass this link and proud Undercakings, which made some Pussons, who were jealous of that Spaniard's Victories 113, 11 at ly Marick Art he griped on his Enomies with his crooked and goury Hands in such a manner, that many valuant Caprains could not do the like with the clash ny of their Ams, and a furous fighting. In the Second Place Aerippa's Infructions (n) (n) Id ib are so unseasonable, lat Dostor John Wicking, although P 225 to praise and exalts him greatly in divers. Places of his their archives and wastern as to see the great Mass of the second Ma Work as his good Mast r, jet is sometimes o lg'd to e we him a kick with his Fost and to disown him I w) I reters us to the (0) 44th Chapter of the 2d Book (+ 1 mi no the Illusions and Apparitions of Spirits, to find there f rea that John Wierus liughs (with Cardan in the 18th Book of Subtilty,) at Agrippa's Fancy who forg'd Juch a I-more than reduculous Appar tions In the Third Place the or such (p) his Book of Occult Philosophy was condemnd and a Division In the I ourth Place, he darkened Burgundy in such a manner, with the Smoaks and Mists of his black Science, that if he had not run away, it is to be scar'd they would have lighted him with Fire nearer than he would have desired In the Fifth Place he went to Lyons in a metched Condition and diffi ute of Money, he trye tall the neans he could to Subset, and go so little that he died in a pitiful Tavern, albor d by every body, who ditested him as a cursed and execuable Magician, because he had always whereever he went a Dev l in the Shape of a Dog Thevet adds to this the remaining put of the Story that Paul Jovius inferred in his Llogies Theort adds to this the remaining would be easy to shew the Invalidity of those

In e Proofs It is not necessary to refute the 1st feeing Thever acknowledged (q) that Antony de Leve did not addicis himself to Agrippa for any prestigious and wiked Charms, lut rather for the wonderful Rarity of his (1) Wit, and that the Emperoi did not take I'm into I s Service by the intercession of Antony de I ve, but for the Affurance he had, that by his mature and Jettled Judgment h might put an end to the great Thou, Affairs that were fallen on his hands So that the ac- 2 p g cuied Person is clear d by the very Confession of the See about Accuser himself It is much more distinct to clear Letter the latter of very grois Ignorance I have not obferv d any 1 ootsteps in Agrippa's Letters, of his Correspondence with Antony de Leve, and I wonder that so many (a) learned Persons have reported on the Credit of fuch an Author as Thevet, that Agrippa was a Favourite of Antony de Leve, and a Captain in his Troops He was never in the Spaniards Service, but serv'd only in the Troops of the Emperor Maximilian, and I do not think that he clapt an Armour on his Back fince the Speech he made at Pavia in cendi the Year 1515 Here are some Words of that Deum, Speech (b) Neque mireris Marchio Illustru, Joannes to him in Gonzaga strenus militum dun, quod cum me proximu the Yar bis annu falicissimu Calareis castris Prafectum cognosce- 15:6 res, nunc me facrarum literarum præpositum pulpito cer- the 2d nas He made also some stry in Italy, his Patron Iome of there was (c) William Paleologus Marquis of Monfer- Works, P rat, he taught at Turin, and repais'd the Alps towards the (d) beginning of the Year 1518 Let any body 718 shew me that Antony de Leve serv'd the Emperor (d) See for Maximilian But here is yet a more gross Ignorance Letters, Varippa did not obtain the Title of Councellor and 728, 750

(m)Id 1b P 223

"" 710£ Book with (p) Thevet 1b p 226

(q) Id 1b P 223 (r) Id rb P 225 (a) Naude Apolog for great Men P 405 See also Teiffier. Flog taken out of Mr de Thou, t 2 P 99 Letter E (b) Agrip Oper t 2 p 1005 (1) He di dicated b de triplici rations cognof-480, & 718 (d) See Int he came to them for his Wages. There are some (0) Errors of Fact in the means that Historiographer of Charles the Vth but by the help of some Friends that he met with at the Court of the Princels Margaret, Governels of the Netherlands Charles the Vth was not at that time in the Low Countries, but came thither some time after, so pre-Countries, but came thither tome time after, to preposites's against Agrippa, that is it had not been for the good Offices of Cardinal Campege, and of Cardinal de la Mark, he would have (e) caus'd him to be put in a Dungeon He did not see Agrippa, neither did he order him his Wages, so far was he from making use of his Counsels to dise trangle himsels from the great Affores that were fallen on his hands. It Clavigni from the great Affairs that were fallen on his hands It de Sainte is a pleasant Pioof of Agrippa's great I earning in Honorine the Civil Law, to (f) lay that Charles Vth admitted him p, 106 of into the Number of his Counfellors Is it not well the use of known that the Litle of the king's Counfellor is the use of suspected given to a great many Persons, as to Phylicians, Historiographers, and Authors, who enter as little into the Prince's Council as the meanest of all the Citizens? The 2d Reason of Thevet does not prove any thing Aerippa spoke of some Apparitions to mould have been at least as that of Lucilius Vanishing in the Demongraphers, if such a way of inguing was of Lucilius Vanishing in the Jambers, such a Profession is not so mildly Pusible Circlinal nius, if of Handers, fuch a Profession is not so mildly Punish d He was never in Italy since the Censules of his Occult Philosophy I hat Work did not appear till the Year 1531 If Agrippa had pour'd out the Posion of his Magick in such abundance in Italy, would Cardin dide Sainte Croix have chosen him for Campege and Antony de Leve bis Protectors, one of the Divines of the Council of Pifat Would had not d the Pope have writ such a (g) civil Brief to him in the Year 1513? It is to far from Truth that our Agrippa being driven out of Italy, retir'd to Dole, that he did not go into Italy till after he had left Dole. The 4th Reason is grounded upon a lastity, Agrippa brought himself into I rouble at Dole, to having approved the Hypothetis of Capnio, whose Book De virbo m rifico he explain'd The long Quartels between the Monks and Capnio are well known. The Cooks' er Catilinis desiring rather to preach in the Vth from canfine bim to be punish d tained to The Corde or Catilines defiring rather to preach i-cainst Agrippa before the Princess Margares, than to Tropol de dispute or clear the Matter with him at Dole, went and detamed him at Ghene in the Pulpit of Truth But he does not accuse him of Magick, he accuses him only of additing himself to the Temish Cabal, of the Civil I am trat (1) and of perverting the Scripture by cabalifical Ixplications (b) The ill placed Declamations of that Condition, who instead of preposeeling the Court and the People ignish in about Professor, ought to In cabous r Empi-, Vth hive actifed him formally before the Academical Judges, did not hinder (1) the famous John Collifiom lodging Agrippa in his House at Iondon, nor the Imperor Maximilian, Grandfurher of the Princess Margaret, from employing him in Italy. The 6th Reason of Thewit has already been refuted, he his only copied Paul Jovius, and both of them have been so imprudent as to speak of Agrippa & Poverty A fine means to persuade a judicious Reader that he was a great Magician! A fine Method to persuade the People of it, when they know on the other side, that as soon as Fortune (k) smiles on a Prince or Iord, it is presently cast in his dish that he courts Agrippa. III As for Martin del Rio he relates these Three or Iour things. I When Agrippa travell d he paid his Expences in (1) Money that seem'd very good, but uter some divs they perceiv'd that he had given them have accided him formally before the Academical receiv 1 I m in the Number of h + Coun-Ihevet Inid n the fur croing ngrippa wa. 10 well recelv dat

(e) The Sieur

Charles

(f) He had at-hiveri-mirk t

ce Hors

P ~~3 Hi had

Lxpences in (1) Money that feem'd very good, but the Court of that I mpetor that he was made one of his Councellors

(a) I piff Agrippa (b) Lxpences in (1) Money that feem'd very good, but the form of Shells 2 Charles Vth (m) expell d him from his Court and Dominio is, and with him I wo other Persons of Quality, who had promised him great Treasures by the means of Magick 3. The same Emperor (n) did not forgive Agrippa the Punishment of Death, but condemn'd him to Banishment after he heard that he was fled 4 Agrippa (n) had a Boarder in Louvain who was very prying One day as he was going out of Town, he order dhis Wife not to let any body go into his Closet. Nevertheless the Boarder obtain'd the Key of it, he went into it, and read a Conjuring Book, he heard. I wo or three times knock at the Door without in-

Agripps in the 2d Part of his Works, p 508 (1) Oper Agripp t 2 p, 596 (k) Thever pag 224 (1) Disquist, Magicar 1 2 quastr 12 n 10 (m) Ibid (n) Ibid 1 5 sect 2 (1) Ibid 1 2 quastr 29 sect 1

terrupting his Reading, the Devil defired to know who call dhim, and for what and because the Reader did not know what to inswer him, he Strang led him Ago ppa returning home, sees the Spritts leaping on his House, he calls them, and they tell him what had happen d, he orders the Murdere to enter into the Body and to walk to ne Turns in the place where the Scholaut tream and post and then place where the Scholus frequented most and then to be gone. Which was done. The Box is historiang wilk dithree or four turns fell down study dead, it was thought a love while the state of the scholus frequency. it was thought a long while that he died tuildenly but certain mals of Stringling mide the thing suffered at the beginning at erwards time discover dall, and Am ppa being fled into Ioriain, begun to utter the Herches that he had retund in his

Agrippa's Poverty, and the lea he difes is to many times in his I pilles not to hive my thing to ent, refutes the first of those Store fully Win a Munhas such is short vay to pay his Cueltan, to ought not to trouble himself for few of win in a Bread It is not true that G/ m/ othe Via did ever expel Agrippa out of his Dominion, he was to a great a Politiciant of a uth in such a range in Magician that was a distributer of Tre sure, he would have tear d that other Princes might have no de ute of the Secrets of such a banish d Perior to I add triment Dil Rorefute the Se ond stay by the Third, for he pretends in the third has he supper a Magilla would have our frozen to 100% had il Majesty would have put to prito Decide he he had him in his Power and that the Least of Banishment came out after that Magica a Hall far Banishment come out after that Mag con 111 str. These are more Stones. A proposity presented the rail Petitions to that Imperors (ounce the force of the conformal petitions to that Imperors (ounce the force of the conformal petitions) to the Imperors (ounce the force of the conformal petitions) to the Imperors (ounce the force of the conformal petitions) the was third with obtaining nothing, he were the force of the f who had avoided Death only by flight. As on the section of the strong, I arter you to Galai like it, whose query word are there is on ny more and it like it, it, and it is proposed in the property of a Book In are at the North of the I then the of Nature pullification of a Book In are at the I tenned and Spanish make the Nature pullification of North of Nature pullification of North of N to the Bourder was afterwards a pudated by a pr Ir must be then the third Wale of that 11; and Now the Second did not die till the seconds. So that the Advent ne of the bonder must have hap not after the Year is 9 Arr pp a must there are have had towards Lorrain finee the Year 15, or there is to the real towards Lorrain finee the Year 15, or there is to the must install and the Office of Historiographic of Charles the Listh, to keep Boarders but noting is more false than this For ist, he did not go into Lorrain as a Fugitive, he went thither to exercise a Lorrain as a Fugitive, he went thither to exercise a noble Office at Mir, that was offered to him () with () Foill all possible Conveniences, whilst they at its dione of & 1 honourable I imployments to him ellowhere at the first did not go into I origin till 1818 and then he had a sall, yet his first Wife of the Dobrines that he made that the first did not the Countrey, for which he was expected to the Vexations of tome Monks, were neither Monkey to the Vexations of tome Monks, were neither Monkey to the Western Stander, they did run on this Quality is not whether St. Anne, the Mother of the Holy and the Mother of the Holy and the Life phad I hee Husbands, and a Child by one of 197 whether the had but one Husband and one is the term Arrivage (a) maintain d the life Opinion visible. whether the had but one Husband and one 1 had the had but one Husband and one 1 had the Agrippa (a) maintain d the late Opinion visch is infinitely more florious to St. Am 5 1 nory 4. It does not appear that he lived cry where else than at Antwerp and at Mechlen lines in wis made the Emperor's Hilderiographer till he refir d to the Elector of Cologne, and I do not think that ever he had any Boarders at Lourain. So that one ringht he dispensed from answering Mr. n. a l. Rio and his Conforts, till they had a little better order d. the C. i. forts, till they had a little better order d the Ca Cumitances of time and place
I wonder that the I amous Naude had not the fore fight to object to the Accusers of Arrippa the great Number of Instorical Lalities, of which I have convilled them

(O) There are some Errors of Fatin to mean. | I p 42 (1)Qurft mi tol 157

(b) Naude P 4 9 (c) Lpift

16 p 975 & alıbı

See the 2d

Lolume of hu Works. P 251, 447, 584 AN IN STANCE

of the un

just Beliafalle I of a-

(d I x cius libri (de

ranitate

Colemina-

rum) qualicunque

rehendi

dentis in-genn, vain lecti-oms & memori-

mulræ

tunen

copia

maicic

quam deaiftiore

t ii tultu-

us quan

compoli-

10 1 11 11 11 11

toperat

dat bon i

Sed funt

gui nihil

iliud luflinent

1 27 P m

HISTORY

lotophy

(e) See the 13 ვ, I p. 8 ის

cile ar-wiour of paffim

stify Agrippa among other Reasons, (b) by the Favour of Two Emperors and as many Kings Which is to suppose that Charles the Vrh had a Kindness for Agrippa, but one needs only read the Complaints (6) of that Author to fee the contrary plainly Moieovei Nande supposes that they did not think of Moseover Nande supposes that they did not think of crying down the Occult Philosophy till a long time after it was published, he pietends that they exclaimed against that Book only to be reveng d of the Injuries they believed to have received in that of the Vanity of Sciences. It is very true that this last Book anger d divers Persons mightily. The Monks, the Manchers of the Universities the Preschess and Book anger d divers Persons mightily The Monks, the Members of the Universities, the Preachers, and the Divines faw themselves in it Agrippa (d) was too ardent a Man, his Pictures were too ftrong, his Colours too black, and his ftrokes too well maik'd I hey were therefore vext at it I own it, but it is not true that that Anger had a retroactive effect on a Book that had been let alone many Years Naudwould have done better if he had kept that Thought would have done better if he had kept that Thought for another Application, he would have found room for it fooner or later, though he should not have had so much Reading as he had. I explain my self It is no rue thing for Jealots to let a Book and the Author of it be a long time quiet, let the Book be whit it will, provided that Book does not personally attack those Jealots. But if after 10, 15, 20 Years they quarrel with the Author, if some new Work comes out containing some Descriptions that diftney quariel with the Author, if iome new Work comes out containing iome Descriptions that discover what they carefully endcavour to conceal from the People, the first Book becomes heretical, improus, sit to be buint. They begin then to be eaten up with the Zeal of the House of God, they make good People believe it. But those that are no Cullies do well perceive what shameful Passion they cover under the tair Mask of the Interest of Pierry. cover under the fair Mask of the Interest of Piety cover under the fair Mask of the Interest of Piety I ct us do Justice to the Divines of Louvain, they do not deserve the blemish which the Apologist of Apippa casts upon them upon such an Account I he Occult Pholophy was not printed till after the Declamation of the Vainty of Sciences, it is sufficient to reproach them that they us'd a thousand Cavils, to find some condemnable Propositions in that Declamation. See the thous Answer that was hominem that Declamation See the strong Answer that was made to them It is in the Second Volume of Agrippa, pig 25.

have Gabriel Naude in view He endeavours to ju-

a. alıcubi Let us in 1 few Words describe the History of that Occult Philosophy Agrippa made that Work in his (1) Youth, and thewed it to the Abbot Trithemi-Agrippa made that Work s, of whom he had (f) learn'd many things Tri-tocmius was chaim d with it, as appears by the (g) lectu , ic Letter that he writ to him the 8th of April, 151 but he advis'd him to shew it only to thole that he could trust I know not whether the Author communicated it to too many Persons, or whether the first that had a Copy of it wanted Discretion. The I ruth is that several Manuscript Copies of it, were dispersed almost all over Europ. It is not necessary to that the post of them were fairly in the pages to be ti lnom-113, that most of them were faulty, which never fails to happen in the like Cales. They were preparing to Print it from one of those bid Copies, which made the Author relolve to publish it himself, with the Additions and the Alterations wherewith he had embelish dit, since he had shew dit (h) to the Abbot Inthemius He had refuted his Occult Philosophy in his Book of the I anney of Sciences, and neverthelis he publish dut to hinder others from Printing quam lauit full of I tults and (1) Mutilated He caus'd it to be approv'd by some Doctors of Divinity, and by some Persons whom the I mperor's Council appointed for darı kıalm is epistel that rending (k) I ion ille jam nuper per aliquos Ec-clessa Pralatos & doctores sacrarum humanarumque liteof the Book ratum eruditi simor, & ex Cajaris corjilio ad boc speciali-of the Oc- ter deputatos commissarios examinatus & probatus suerit, cult Phi- deinde estam totius Casaret consiste assense admissus, & (11 |dem Cafarea Majestatis authentico diplomate & appenja in inbra cera Cafaris aquila privilegiasus, insuper Profine Antverpe & postes eteam Parisis sine contradictione im-(f) I pist pesses opposite venditus & distraction sit Upon that 3, 13 Approbation he obtain'd a License from his Imperial Majesty, he caus'd his Book to be printed at Ant-

(g) It i in the beginning of the Book, and at the 704th pag of the 2d part

(b) Mel hior Adam is missaken, when he jays that Agrippa having Corrected and Augmented that Book in a more advanced Age, show dit to the Abbot Trithemius

(i) See the Preface (+) Lpift 26 1 7 p 1033 See also pag 1045

merp, and dedicated it to (1) the Elector of Cologne That Book was published in the Year 1531. It was presently reprinted at Paris Those I wo Editions were sold without any obstacle The Author caused a third to be made at Cologne Father Comead of Ulm, Inquisitor of the Faith, had notice of it, and caused the printing of it to be stopped, but the vigorous Petition of Agrippa to the Magistrates had doubtless its effect, seeing there is an Edition of Cologne of the Occult Philosophy, in 1533 It contains I hree Books, whereas the former Editions contains
(m) only the first After the Death of Agrippa a Fourth was added to it that is not of the same Author Optimo jure his slibits magicis annumeretur abominabilis libellius nuper in lucem alastica bomine emissius, iributusque Henr Corn Agrippa elim hospiti Or praceptori honorando, ultra anne adraginta jam morsuo, ut hine salso esiis manibius sam inserios sperem, sub titulo quarti libri de Occulta Philosophia, sen de Ce-Jubtitulo quarti libri de Occulta Philosophia, sen de Ceremoniss magicis qui insuper clavis librorum trium de Occulta Philosophia omniumque magicarum uporationum jastatur (n) I hus speaks John Wierus I have seen an Edition in Folio of the Occult Philosophy, 1533 without the place where it was printed The Pri without the place where it was printed. The Privilege of Charles Vth is prefixed to it, dated from Mechlen the 12th of January, 1529 if I am not ınıstaken

I et us fee now the l'alfities that are contained in thefe Words of Naude, " (e) The Divines of Louvain cenfur'd his Declamation against the Sciences rigoroufly John Catilinet a Cordelier declaim d publickly against the Explication that he had made de verbo mirifico at Dole I he Dominicans of the City of Metz wrote against the Propositions that he had divulg'd, to maintain the Opinion of Faber Stapulenfis, concerning the Monogamy of St Anne, and yet not one of those Centurers could find any thing to fay, or to remark on the two first Books of his Occult Pinlosophy, that were printed LON

(p) BEFORE all those Pieces, as well at Paris at Antwerp and eliewhere -- (9) Avarice of the Bookfellers and the Vanity of fome Men-wrong that Author's Memory by attributing a lourth Book to him full of magical, vain, and superfittious and abominable Ceremonies, and by publishing it with the Three Books of the Occule teen (s) above, may perplex the Matter, but to clear it, it suffices to take notice of the several Lditions of John Wierus He revis d and enlarged his Work fix times Naud had doubtless an Edition There were at that time 27 Years past since the Death of Agrippa My Edition wis made ready 1, or 14 Years after, this is the Region why the Author makes use of this Phrase in it, uliva annor quantered to the property of the second of the Phrase in it, uliva annor quantered to the phrase in it, uliva annor quantered to the phrase in the phrase of the phrase and the party of the phrase of the draginta jam mortuo He always retained his nuper, and is to blame for it, for thereby he deceives his Readers He makes them believe that the I ourth Book Philosophia occulta was not printed till 27 or 40 Years after the Death of Agrippa, which is falle. It feldom happens, that those who enlarge their Books feveral times, take care to alter every where the Particles that note the date of the Time

In favour of those that have not Agrippa's Works, I shall say here how it is prov'd that the Declamation against the Sciences was printed in the Year 1530 and the Occule Philosophy in the Year 1531 By (a) a Letter printed with those of Agrippa, and dated the 10th of January, 1531, we understand that the Liestor of Cologne had received a Copy of the Vanity of Sciences, and seen some Sheets the Occule Liector of Cologne had received a Copy of the Vanity of Sciences, and seen some Sheeps the Occult Philosophy that was printing at Animologian the Author of the Bibliothique of Dauphine has taken a very useless Trouble in his Errasa. He caus'd 1567 to be put in it instead of 1467. His Book says that the I reatise of the Vanity of Sciences was Compos'd at Grenoble in the Year 1467. If you correct according to the Errasa, you must suppose that that Book was Compos'd 32 Years after the Death of its Author It had been as good to make no Correction at all It had been as good to make no Correction at all I think there would be a mistake, what Year soever should be put there, for I do not believe that that

(i) m _ pistle dedicatory is dated from Mechlen in the Month of January, and is the 1 ,th Let-6th Book (m) Sec the Epifle Dia dicatory of the 2d and of the ,d Book to the Same 🚛 ttor ! logiania (n) Wierus, de Magis, mic8 (o) Naude Apolog P 411 (p) He 1 cpeats those Same words P 416
To appre-

that Catilinet declaim'd M the Year nicans of wrote on St Anne in the and that the Diclamation on of Scien-Les appear'd in .he Year 1530, 4 Year before the Occult Philosophy (q) Naude 1b p 413, (r) Ibid, p 414 (1) L de pri

ftig

(s) Letter

14th of the 6th Books

p 968

AGRIKPA"

not to be expected from him His Faults (P) are not many in this Article I have already mention'd the chief Books of Agrippa, and Itali speak more particularly of them in the Remarks. It will be sufficient to add, that he made a Commentary on the Art of Reymundus Lulleus, and a Differention on the Original of Sin, wherein he reaches, that the Fall of our First Parents proceeded from their unchaste Love He promised a (C) Work against the Dominicans, which would have pleased many Persons, both within and without the Church of Rome He had some uncommon (R) Opinions, and never any Processant spoke with greater force against the Audacionsness of the Legendaries and without the Charles of the Legendaries a Section any Protestant spoke with greater force against the a Audaciousness of the Legendaries of the Legendaries than he did

We must not forget the Key of his Occult Philosophy He kept it only for his tife of the Friends of the first Rank, and he explain'd it in a manner that differs (5) but little from Monogamy the Speculations of our Quietists Let us say also that the Edition of his Works made Oper t at p 10,3

Author did ever make any confiderable stay at Gre-

Author did ever make any considerable stay at Grehoble, when he went to die there

(P) Moreri's Faults are not many in this Artiele I He says Cobori instead of Gobori, Gattinaria instead of Gattinara, Rauclin instead of Reuchlin, Carniletus instead of Catilinatus II He says, That Agrippa obtain d a Professor at Padua, which is false, he ought to have said Pavis Mr Teisser was also deceived by the Resemblance of the Words, he put Parus for Pavis Perhaps it is a Fault of the Press, however the Reader ought to be advertised that he ought not to believe what he finds in Mr Teisser (a). however the Reader ought to be advertised that he ought not to believe what he finds in Mr Teiffier (a), to wit, that Agrappa was Professor of Holy Writ as Dole, and at Paris It is to be fear'd that some Compiler will gather all that he finds dispers d in several Books, and will come and tell us some time or other, that Agrippa profess'd Holy Writ at Dole, Paris, Pavia, Turin, Padus, Cologne, &c. Doubtless it has happen'd more than once, by a like Cause, that the Offices of a Man have been falsy multiply'd, with many Resections to his advantage on the exwith many Reflections to his advantage on the extent of his Merit III These Words make a confusion, Cardinal de Sainte Croix would have engaged him to sellow him to the Council that was to be assembled at Pisa, and at the same time the King of England, Margaret of Austria, and Gatinaria, Chancellor of the same Charles the Fisth, invited him to their Service The Rules of our Grammar will have all this to be referred to one and the same Time, and at that rate Merical same that the same Time, and at that rate Merical same that the same Time, and at that rate Merical same time, and at that rate Merical same time. red to one and the same Time, and at that rate Mored to one and the lame 1 lime, and at that rate Morers would have set forth a great Falsity, for it was in 1529 a long time after the Affair of Pisa, that Agrippa was invited by Henry the VIIIth, by Margaret of Austria, and by the Chancellor of Charles the Vth But, if a Man will cavil, he'll deny that the Offers of all those Employs have been apply d to one and the same Year. A Reader foresees ply d to one and the same Year A Reader foresees the possibility of those Cavils, and therefore he knows not what to stick to IV There is no Cavil to be found out in favour of what follows But Agrippa, who low'd Liberty extreamly, preferr d the Plea-fure of Travelling before those Advantages, and after having spent some time at Friburg, at Geneva, and elsewhere, he retir'd to Lyons A pitiful Anachronism, complicated with other Falsities Moren pretends then that none of those Offers were accepted, yet that of the Princels Margares was, and when it was offer'd, Agrippa thought no more of travelling, he had fatisfied his Defire, he had been at Geneva, at Friburg, and at Lyon: V It is not true that Paul Jovin, Del Rio, Theves and some others, maintain that Agrippa had two Spirits in the form of two little Dogs, and that he call'd one of them Monsieur, and the other Mademoiselle Paul Jouiss and Theuet, &c speak Mademoitelle Paul Jovins and Thevet, Or ipeak only of one Dog, without faying what Name he had VI He ought not to have distinguish'd the Book of the Vanity of Sciences from the other Works of Agripps that make up two Volumes, for that Book is at the beginning of the Second Vol I say nothing of the Disorder that reigns in Moreri's Natistive with research to Chronology.

Narrative, with respect to Chronology

(R) He premis'd a Work against the Dominicans]

They were the chief Directors of the Inquisition, and therefore the no wonder that he was more incens'd against them than against others. His Patience fail'd him when he saw them so indulgent for the Errors of their Brethren, and so hard against the the Errors of their Brethren, and fo hard against the Equivocal Propositions of other Persons That Indulgence would have been less scandalous, if none but they had been guilty of it, but the mischief is, that People are such Fools, that whilst they prasse the Zeal of an Inquisitor that finds Heresies whereever he thinks fit, they will not fuffer any Recrimination to be us'd against him, and that his Pernicious Decerines should be discover'd to the Publick Agrippa design'd to speak roundly to the Deminicans about it, and concerning other Things also Nique tamen putern, fays he (b) to the Magistrates of Cologne, hunc solum articulum apud illum reperiri hareticum, sed alii multi, quos cum hie nimu longum vobisque i acio Jed alis multi, quos cum nie nimus longum vobifque taaio sum foret reserve enuverabo alibi, in eo silicet libro quem de Fratrum Pradicatorum sceleribus & haresibus inscrip, ubi insecta sapius veneno sacramenta, emintita sap simu miracula, interemptos veneno Reges & principis, proai tas urbes & respublicas seductos populos, assistasque e e- reses, & catera ejusmodi heroum illorum sacinora singit ue in varias transfusa linguas, omn que populo expest a dilucide narrabo

(R) Some Uncommon Opinions | I have already touch'd that which concerns the Fall of Adam The rest were not so dangerous, and there was no other harm in them besides their being agreeable to the Doctrines of the Reformers His Dissertation concerning Marriage, dedicated to Louise of Savo, Mother of Francis the Ist strikes hard it the Law of Celibacy, and shews plainly enough, that Adultery the Ist breaks the Conjugal Engagement One of his See Agriphad displeased the Court, and that at first they durit terr, pages and the Princess See what he inswerd not present it to the Princess See whit he inswer d He did not approve the use of Images (a, ind with all his Heart he would have consented to a Resource tion that would not have produc d the raising of Altar against Altar (S) That differs but little from the Speculations of our Quietists 1 shall fet down another Observation of Naude, design'd to shew, that under pretence of that Key, it cannot be maintain'd that Agrippa is the true Author of the 4th Book of the Occult Philosophy Nor must it be objected, fays he (e), that the lame Agrippa says in some places of his (f) Epistles, that le reserve d the key of the Three Books, that he had (g) published, to himself for besides that it might be answerd lish'd, to himself For besides that it might be answer d with much probability, that he mention d that K; to make himself courted by the Curious, as (h) James co-hory and (i) Vigenere say, that he hoasted with his m Defign, to know the Practice of the Mirror of Pythagoras, and the Secret of extracting the Spir t of Goldfi om its Bedy, to convert Silver and Copper into fine Gold, only to the weight of that from which it was separated, and no more I say, besides that Reason, he explans enough what he meant by such a Key, when he says in the tyeh Epist of the 5th Book Hac est illa wera O m rabilium operum occultissima Philosophia, Clavis eyus intelle twest, quanto enimaltiora intelligimus, tanto sublimiores induinius virtutes tantoq, & majora, & facilius & efficacius opei amur Naude stopt there, but Mr de la Monnoie went fai-ther, he did me the favour to acquaint me that A grippa's Thoughts agree well enough with those of examine what I am going to fay Agrippa makes mention of that Key in two Letters, which he wrote to a (k) Religious, who addicted himfeli very much to the Occult Sciences. He represents to the Margel. Afterplays and All the large the Virgin of Margel. Afterplays and All the ing the Virtue of Magick, Aftrology, and A' many, is false and decentral when it is literally under stood, that a Mystical Sense is to be look'd for in them, a Sense that none of the Masters had yet found out, and that it was almost impossible to discover it without the affiftance of a good Interpretes, unless one be (m) illuminated by the Spirit of God, which happens but to very few Persons (1) O quant /mappens but to very tew Perions (1) O quant /ganter feripta de inexpugnibili magica artis potentei, de prodigiosis astrologorum imaginibus, de monstris alchimistarum metamorphosi, deque lapide illo binedi to, quo, Mida instar, contasta ana mon omnis in adium ani en tumve permitentur. Qua omnis in adium ani en na, sista & salfa, quoties ad literam prasticint in We must not, adds he, look for the Principle of those great Operations out of our selves. It is w hO 2 Q_2

(b) Agripa tom 2

(c) Capellanus, Physician of I rancis (a) Vile Gefnerum in Bibbverto (e) Nauda ubi fupra, p 414, 415 (f) Lpift 56 1 4 (1) Naude is mistamere not yet printed (a) Lib de Myfl not (omment in Paracell longa f 61 (1) In b s Cyphers, f 16, and (L) Aurelius ab Aquapendente Au gustinianus (I) Nift rit dimine illuffritus quod daciffimis Agripp3. Lpift 14 5 P (m) Id.1b4

(a) Teiffier Elog taken out f Mo de Thou, to trecht, 1692 at Lyons in 2. Volumes in 8vo. 15 muri Churchmen.

n a (7) place that might the displeased

& Ex Bibliotheca Scriptorum Hıfpanıæ, t 2 pag B The Edition of all the Counin Spain

Churchmen.

A G UIRRE. The Bibliother Spanish Writers affords Five or Six Author of that Name It Ieems to me that the first considerable of them all is Michael he A guirre, born at Aspestia, in the Dioceless Pampelane, in the Province of Guipuscaa. He was a Civilian, who whilst he was a Member of St. Glement's College at Bologna, write for the Pretentions (AA) of the King of Spain, Philip the IId, to the Crown of Portugal. He exercised the Office of a Judge in divers Courts of the Kingdom of Maples, and afterwards he had a Counfellor's Place in the Council of Granada in Spain He diverse. ed in 1588 a Those that shall continue the Work of Don Nicolas Autonio, will have an AGUIRRE infinitely more famous to place in it. I mean Joseph Saena, de AGUIRRE, a Benediction, one of the Learned Men of the XVII. Century He was Censor and Secretary of the Supream Council of the Inquisition of Spain, First Interpreter of the Scripture in the University of Salamana and he had been made and he was constant. in the University of Salamanca, and he had been more than once Abbot of the College of St Vincent, when in 1686 he was honoured with a Cardinal's Hat by Pope Innocent XI He had undertaken a very great & Work, and he did not forbear to apply himfelf earnestly to it since his Cardinalship. Those that have a mind to a right Idea of in us, it is an Inward Spirit that can very innocently perform all that the Magicians and the Alchymists promife I shall not write to you about it, for they are not Things that are to be trusted to Paper The Spirit communicates it to the Spirit in a few Configuration of the Spirit in a few Configurat Spirit communicates it to the spirit in a few confecrated Words, (b) Atque hos est, quod te nunc scire volo, qu a nobes ipsis est omnium mirabilium esfectuum operator Qui, quicquid portentosi Mathematici, quicquid prodigiosi Magi, quicquid invidentes Natura persecutores Alchimista, quicquid damonibus deteriores malessici necromantes promittere audent, ipse novit discernere & efficere, idque sine omni erimine, sine Dei offensa, sine religionis iujuria In nobis, inquam, est ille mirandorum

oper ator

Nos habitat, non tartara fed nec fydera coch Spiritus in nobis qui viget, illa facit Verum de his nobis quam latissime secum conferendum es-sct, & coram Non enim commissantur bac literis, nec fer, Green Non enim commission we be literis, neefer ibuntur calamo, sed spiritu spiritus paucis sacrisque verbis infunduntur, idque, se quando nos ad tevenire contigerat

I take this out of 1 Letter dated from Lyons the 24th of September, 15.7 The other Letter was written in the same City the 19th of November following Agrippa opens his Mystery in it He says, That true and solid Philosophy consists in being united with God by an Lisensial and Immediate Contact that may transform us into God He adds, The Understranding is the Key of that Philosophy, but to be united with God, it ought to be freed from Matter, and de id to the World, to the Flesh, to all the Senses, and to the whole Natural Man His Latin will expreis this I ustian better (c) Quod ad postulatam philosophiam attinet, te scirc volo, quod omnium rerum cognoscerc opisicem ipsum Deum, & in illum tota similitudinis imagine ceu essentiali quodam contastu sive vinculo transite, que ipse transformeris, efficiareque Deus, ea detransitic, quo ipsi transformeris, efficiareque Deus, ea demum wera solidaque philosophia sit Quemadmodum de Mosse ait Dominus, inquiens Ecce ego constitui te De um Pharaonis Hac est illa wera & summa mirabilium operum occultissima Philosophia Clawis esus Intellectus est Quinto cuim altora intelligimus, tauto subsimiores induimus virtutes, tantoquemajora & facilius & efficacius operamus Verum intellectus noster cani inclusus corruptibili, nisiviam carnus superaverit, fueritque propriam naturam sortitus, diumus illis virtutibus mon poterit uniri (non enim, nist sibi quam similibus congrediuntur) ac pervidendis illis occultissimus Dei & Natura secretis omnino inessicax est. Atque Hoc opus, hic labor est, iuperas evadere ad auras

More enem oportet, more, inquam, mundo & carns, ac fensibus omnibus, ac toto homini animali, qui velit ad hæc secretorum penetralia ingredi. Non, quòd corpus separetur ab anima Sed, quod anima relinquat corpus. De qua morte Paulus seribit Colossensibus, Mortiu estu, & vita vestra abscondita est cum Christo. tui estus, & vita vestra abscondita est cum Christo & alibi clarius de seipso ait, Scio hominem, in corpore, electra corpus, nescio (Deus seit) raptum usque ad ter ium calum Et qua reliqua sequuntur That precious Death, continues he, is granted but to i smill number of People belov'd by God, or gratity d with is vourable Institute of the Star, or supported by ear Merits, and the Secret of the Art (c) Hac, ingiam, preciosa in conspettu Domini morte monoportet, quod contingit paucissimus, & forte non semper Namis pauci, quos aquus amaurit.

Tupitei, aut ardens evenir ad athera virtus.

Jupitei, aut ardens evexit ad a thera virtus diu geniti potuere Primum, qui non ex carne & fangui-ne, sed ex Deo nati sunt Proxime, qui Natura benesicio ac calorum genethliaco dono ad id dignificati funt ceteri meritunitunity Carte, de quibus viva vonte certifore redat.

He acknowledges ingenuously that he is none of those Favourites of Heaven, and also that he does not hope to attain to that high degree of Happiness, for he had always found himself in the Whitings of Matter as South Matter. Matter, a Sensual Man, addicted to a Wife, to the Flesh, to the World, and to Domestick Cares, &c he desires only to be considered as a (e) Door-keeper that shews others the Way they must go (f) Verum hoc te admonstum volo, ne circa me decipiaris, ac si ego aliquando divina passus, tibi ista pradicem, aut tale quid mihi arrogare velim, vel concedi posse sperem, qui hattenus humano sanguine sacratus miles, semper ferd aulicus, tum carnu vinculo charistima uxori alligatus, omnibusque instabilis fortuna flatibus expositus, totusque a sarne, à domosticis curis transversum actus, tam subli-mia immortalium deorum dona non sum adsecutus, Sed accipi me volo velut indicem, qui inse sempera præ foribus manens, aliis, quod iter ingrediendum se,

oftendo

(T) Mutilated in a Place that might have displeased ing, Oct Churchmen 1 The Author exclaims in that Place apgainst the Law of Celibacy, and says, That perhaps those that are the Protectors of it, suffer Fornication rather than the Marriage of Priests, because they say diaw a great Revenue from the Permission they give (f) Id is them to keep Constitutes. He adds, That he had read that a certain late boasted at Table to have Eleven Thousand controlled the controlled that a certain late boasted at Table to have Pooples, who gave him each a Crown a Year This is a Passage that is not in the Edition of Lyons Mr a Passage that is not in the Edition of Lyons a Passage that is not in the Edition of Lyons Mr Crenius, who made that Discovery, complain'd much of that Fraud Here are his Words (g) Mala fide per Beringos fratres Lugduni anno MDC in 800 edita Junt Henrics Cornelis Agrippa Opera, uspote in qua multa omissa sunt editione, que in prioribus erant Atque ne hoc gratus dixisse videar, capias exemplum e trastatu de incertitudine & Vanitate Scientiai um atque Artium, in cujus C LXIIII pm 189 de Lenoma, sequentia hac, que ex optima, recognita, plena, & scholius marginatiis (retineo vocem in titulo libri possitam) illustrata cditione, sine loci adjectione, anno tam) illustrata cditione, sine loci adjestione, anno M D XXXVI in 8vo. excusa, admodum rara, daturus sum, in Lugdunensi planè dempta sunt Jam verò etiam lenocinus militant leges atque canones, cum in potentum favorem pro iniquis nup-tus pugnant, & justa matrimonia dirimunt Sacer-dotesque sublatis sionessis nuptus turpiter scortari compellunt Malueruntque illi legislatores sacerdo-tes suos cum infamia habere concubinas, quam cum honesta fama uxores, fortè quia ex concubinis pro-ventus illis est amplior De quo legimus gloriatum in convivio quendam Episcopum, habere se undecim millia facerdotum concubinariorum, qui in fingulos annos illi aureum pendant He omnia, & alia forte plura, neque enim integrum caus contuli, pro more eraferunt Adversarii relinquentes documentum illorum quid can tribuenaum

(AD) Writ for the Protensions of the King of Spain]
His Book was printed at Vanice in the Year 1581 with this Title, Responsion, prosuccessione right Portugallia pro Philippo Hispaniarum rige adversion Bononiensium, Patavinorum, & Perusinorum collegia Belefinatierted it in his Collection of Counsels let Stritla Гол whereof the Steur Parifor bis Book of Faith unvail'd by Reason There are Some Extradit of to ne Rep of Learn ber 1685 and follow-(f) Id ib.

(g) Thomas Crenius, Animadveif Philolog Hiftor parte 2 P 13, 14

(a) Id. 1b

(c) Id I pift 19

(A) The

of it to the elves, ought to read the (A) Property that he published at Salamania in the Year root, or if they have it not, the Ab they sat that the (B) Journalitis gave of it He was thought for some time to be the Author of a very Learned Work (C) again the Decisions of the Clergy of France, in the was 1682 but a at last the contrary was known. Those Conjectures were not unlakely, considering that Cardinal's Application on to the Doctrines of the Ultramountains, and the Ardour he shewed to hinder the Agree-Born's ment of the Court of Rame with France, which was nevertheless concluded in the ment of the Court of Rome with France, which was nevertheless concluded in the Month of October 1693. The Expence he was at for the printing of two Volumes of his Ancient Friend Don Nicolas Antonio, is very praise-worthy I shall speak of it in the Article Antonio.

A J A X, the Son of Oileus, was one of the Chief Lords that went to the Siege of Troy. As he was the Son of a Prince, whose Dominions extended very far in the Countrey of the Locrsans, it was easy for him to fit out Forty & Ships for that Famous Expe- & Homer Hardward himself on divers Occasions, and it is a pretended that there are dition He fignalized himself on divers Occasions, and it is p pretended that there are Three Verses in the 2d Book of the Iliad that are not of Homer, because they give a icript Signal Superiority to Ajax, the Son of Telamon, over the Ajax of this Aiticle, which a solution of them in another Place It is certain that our Ajax be compared with any other Prince that was in the Gracim Army liast in t for Courage, Boldness, and (D) Activity As for Judgment and Conduct, that so was another thing, he did not excel in them. The Poets have made him so undaunted, descript that they have said, That the Gods salling on him with their Thunder and Storms, could be thousand the said, That the Gods salling on him with their Thunder and Storms, could be those that they have said, That the Gods salling on him with their Thunder and Storms, could be the said.

41 in denot III 1, s Philoffi

(A) The Prodromus that he pulish'd] Here is the Title of it, Notitia Conciliorum Hispania atque no-vi Orbis, Epistolarum decretalium & aliorum monumen-torum sacra antiquitatis ad ipsam spectantium, magna ex parte hactenus ineditorum, quorum editio paratur Salmantica cum notus & dissertationibus, sub auspiciis Ca-tholici Monarcha Caroli II Studio & vigiliis M Fr Josephi Saenz de Aguirre Salmanticæ apud Lu-cam Percz, Universitatis Typographum, 1686 in

NOT E that this Cardinal did not follow the dea's of his Project in all Things in the Perforance of it Those that have not the four Parts in Collectio maxima Conciliorum omnium Hispania & Novi Orbis, & need only read the Abstracts that the Journalists of Leipsick give of them in their Atta eruditorum of the Year 1696 that he publish'd at Rome, under the Title of

(A) The Abstracts that the Journalists gave of it] The Gentlemen of Lespsiek spoke of it in their Acta of the Month of February 1688 The Abbot de la Reque gave an Abstract of it in his Journal of the 13th of January 1687 I wonder that Journal did not appear in the Editions of the Article that concerns the Work of the Article that the conditional de Aguirre, on his declaring that he would warrant divers Decretals for good, that all the Learned judge to be suppositious

(C) Of a very (a) Learned Work against the Decists ons | Here is the Title of it, Tractatus de libertatibus Ecclesta Gallicana continens amplam discussionem Declarationis facta ab Idustrissimis Archiepiscopis & Episcopis Parifus mandato regio congregatis anno 1682. Au-efore M. G. S. Theolog. Doestore Leodii apud Matthiam Housum 1684 Supersorum permissu I have read a (b) Preface of the Abbot Faydit, wherein among other Things he promises the Refutation of the Principal Maxims of the Treatife, de libertatibus Ecclesiæ Gallicanæ adve sus quatuor propositiones Cleri, printed at Liege, and attributed to Cardinal de Aguirre, and to Monsienor Cazzoni See here how he speaks in the 148th Page The Author of the Treatise de Libertati-bus Iccleiiæ Ciallicanæ, or rather the Authors, for I un-derstand that divers Persons have had a hand in that Work, and that all the Roman Detters have enhausted all their state all the Roman Deters have enhanted all their Science in it, although it be a very mean Work, those Author, Isay, maintain, &c But let us see a little what says the Author of the Letter of an Abbot to a Prelate of the Court of Rome, on the Deeree of the Inquisition of the 7th of December 1690 against 31 Propositions. "We out is the same (s) our Assembles have not the liberty to see what we might judge advantageous for the Course You know whose tault it." Is Which is the reason that one of the Books. "which ought to have been more strongly contuted which ought to have been more firongly contuted "by our Divines, and also difgrac'd by an Episcopal Censure, runs all over France with impunity, and that those who follow the Opinions contain'd and that those who ionow the opinions.

In it, disperse it and praise it every where, boasting at we dare not answer it. He presently nam'd me the Book de libertatibus Eulesta Gallicana, which is a thick Book in 400 the Author whereof is not so unknown as he thinks. It is a shametal

"Thing, continues he, that the Clergy of France in Heroic fuffer without faying a Word, that that Author who is a French Monk, should teach a Doctrine which we all hold as heretical, for he maintains "openly, that we have not our Episcop il Jurisdicti"on by Divine Right" But if Cardinal d Aguirre is not the Author of that Treatise, it is however true that he writ against the Decisions of the Assembly of 1682 The Letter I have quoted informs me of it in a manner that descrives to be mention d here, that my Reader may know what Judgment they (1) make of that Cardinal's Book in France "Out (d) 56 4 Articles were scarce come out, but a Crowd of Writers appear d to oppose them, and there was fcarce any body found in France that took Pen in Hand to defend them I do not say that the Works that oppose them are formidable, they are most of 'em pitiful, but yet they do haim in the Countries where People are already disposed in fivour of the Doctrines which they defend vour of the Doctrines which they defend Lastly, The Noble Rewards wherewith the Court of Rom knows how to pay the Zeal of those that declare for her, give a Lustre to the least considerable, and the most obscure Works. Is it not by this means that Cardinal d' Aguirre is become what he is from a Spanish Monk that he was before?

Was not the Abbut of St. Gall proposated to the Was not the Abbot of St Gall nominated to a Bi- His Name fhoprick, with a defign to make him a (c) Cardinal, with Ston-for the Reward of a Work made against the 4 dritte in a Articles, as well as that of Cardinal d Againse h died Lastly, (f) Publick Complaints were mide three for time Years before the printing of the Letter out of which after this Passage is taken, that the Pensioners of the Cleigy left the tractatus de libertatibus Ecelific Callicana unanswered The History of the Works of the Learned (g) has inform'd us, that the Author of that Trails- mus, pub-tus is a French Priest, whose Name is Antony Charlus, lish d at who fled to Rome because of the Regale Perhaps he Cologne, ought to be call'd Charles, for it is likely that he is of in the light the same Tamily with a Monk of that Name, Native 1689 of le Ile (b) en Jourdain, who died in his Exile, if pics ter having juffer d several Difgraces for the Affairs of (g) Month the Bishop (1) of Pamiers

the Bishop (1) of Pamiers
(D) And Astro y | Homer (k) commonly gives him the Lpithete 1206, velox. The three Hands that others hive given him, signified only his Quickness in a light A multis (1) listoress tertiam manum dicitur post tergum habuistic quod ideo est shitum quan su celeriter utebatur in practice. manibus, re tertiam habere putaretur Several Inter-preters understand these Words of Hora e of him, (m) & celerem feque Ajacem Mr Hofman adopts (i) Souther Explication, for he confirms by those Words chiefly the the Olan and the original and the Olan and the confirming by those of Honer I did not know last I will what he meant, in confirming by those Greek Words et the E4th what the Compiler of his Dictionary had faid con-Book of the Certains the Swiftness of Ajax's ext. Quad autom the last cerning the Swiftness of Ajax's et, Quod aurem Hand Supra, Ajacem pedibus volocim fuisse pribit hujuse D - (1) Se 11-Fromatti compilator, Homerum hanet authorem, I thought us in A it strange, and meomprehensible, that Mi Hibrara mod 1 i should speak of the Compiler of his Dictionary as of v 41 in Author diffing from himfelf, but at 1 ft I met (17) Hot t with the Solution of that Enigm Mr Hof nim had Od 18 tiken Word for Word when I have a first of the Od 18 tiken Word for Word what Thave just now cited 1 i

(1) P 55,

(1) H wa made one in the lear 1696 (f) In the Scutiments of Traiof May 1696 p 426 (b) In the Diocele of (1) Frm-Cis de

(a) See what was frid of it in the N ws from the Con monwealth of Learnng, in the Mont's of July 1685 Ari I (b) \cu to Al-Arast of a sermon d ly carpus s Dry at S.

John s in argenis, Line,e 1689 It 11 A (hop 1 100 is Sup-

Pif 1 to

" 1k, p

a Paufan l 10 P 347 & Id 1b P 343 2 Pulostr anHeroic & See the R emark D of the Arsicle A-Chillea P 62 Philostr in Heroic ζ See in theRemark A of the Art Telamon, the Genealogy of Ajax, both on the Fither s ana on the n His Father reigned in that Island He gave Ajax 22 5 hips Hom 11 0 Sophocles in Alac Quintus (alaber,

(a) See the Rimark G of the Atticle Achillea towards the end (a) hou ru KEN EKOUJE KIICA, KJ or, Admin, 1 1 pm zarepola-A01 17 6 excar, x) μγααών Itiane effugillet mortem vis invilus Palladi. rigin ilin um dictum protulisset, & grave facinus patrailer Homer Odyff 14 (b) 4ñ p & 8 x 11 77 SEWV QU-2 8111 MEγα λαΐτια حمد محمداد

Dixit vel

MINITES

maris

Id 1b

dus fore ut effuge-ret ingentes fluctus

(1) Quint Calaber 114 V 564

(d) Hy-

i nc 116

1 I 1 39

A neid

not conquer his Audaciousness; so that it was easier for them (E) to destroy him, than to humble him The Action that experd him to that Anger of the Gods, was infamous and bruitish to the utmost degree. He had violated Cassandra, the Daughter of Priamus, in the Temple of Mineroa, where she thought to have found a Refuge The Greeks themselves were offended at such a Prophane Violence, and Utysses a advis'd to stone him It appears by some Passages of Ancient Authors, that Ajak dislown'd the Fact, and that he s would purge himself of it by Oath. He confess'd indeed y that he took that Maid in the Temple of Mineroa, and that he pull'd her away from the Image of that Goddess, which she had embrac d, but he maintain'd that he did not violate her, and that Agamemnon spread that Ill Report, that he might keep Cassandra whom he had seiz'd, and whom Ajax claim'd as the first Possessor We shall see in the Remarks how Minerva (F) reveng'd her self for that Injury. The Body of Ajax was cast by the Waves of the Sea on the Island of Delos, (G) where There buried it Some Authors say, that he escaped from the Storm, and got (H) safely home The Locrians Is had a singular Veneration for his Memory We shall say in the Article of Cossandra how they were obliged to expiate his Crime He tam'd a Serpent 15 Foot long, 1 in such a manner of the mode it follows here like a Done and the same as a series of the same and the same as a series of the same as fuch a manner, that he made it follow him like a Dog, and made it eat at his Table.

AJAX, the Son of Telamon, & was next to Achilles, (A) the most Valiant Greek Mother's side Captain that was at the Siege of Troy, where he commanded n the Troops of Salamu, and performed divers Noble Exploits that are to be read in the Iliad, in Dittys Cretenfis, in Quintus Calaber, and in the XIIIth Book of the Metamorphoses, in the Speech he made about the Dispute concerning the Arms of Achilles He lost his Cause, for they were awarded to his Competitor Ulysses He was so enraged at it, 8 that he became distracted He fell foul on the Herds, and made a great Slaughter among them, fancying that he kill'd those who had offended him by contending for the Arms of Achilles with him, or by giving them to another but Cattle, he became yet more furious, and kill'd himself It is said, That his Fury $(A\Delta)$ did out of Lloyd's Dictionary The Thing has no difficulty in Lloyd, because that Author gave his Dictioneutry in Lloya, because that Author gave his Dictionary only as an Addition, and a Correction of that of another. There are a great many Obscurities in Books that proceed from the same Principle as that of this Passage of Mr Hosman. They do not alter (aa) what they ought to ilter, when they abildge, or transplant the Passages of an Author.

(E) Eassage to them to destroy how that the banks.

(E) Easter to them to destroy him than to humble him] Minerva had in some manner us'd her last Shifts to Minerva had in some manner us'd her last Shifts to punish him, she had rais d a furious Stoim, he had teen his Ship sink, and yet (a) he made his escape to a Rock. At that Time he utter'd an horrible Blaiphemy in a triumphing manner, In spight of (b) the Gods, iaid he, I am safe. Neptume being angry at that Audacity, split the Rock in two pieces with his I rident, and the Piece on which Ajax sat fell into the Sea. Thus Homer relates it in the 4th Book of the Odyssey. Quintus Galaber is a great deal more the Odyssey Quintus Calaber is a great deal more particular on this Subject, and so prolix, that that only Place shews he was not a very good Writer However, he informs us, that Minerus not being fatisfy d with the Thunderbolts that Jupiter had given her, would have Neptune also lend her all his Storms It was the most dreadful Tempest that can be imagin d, Minerva cast her Thunderbolts every Moment, and burnt and split Ajax s Ship, yet that Furnous Man sav d himself through the most agitated Waves, and brav'd all the Gods on the Rock whereon he was got שוו (כ) או בו עמ'אם שוו ופר פאינושוו מו בי ווצטין מו Χωομινοι, κ) πάσαν αναςνισωσι θαλασσαν,

Jactavit autem, etiamsi cuncti Calites in unum convenirent

Irati, & totum ex imo cruerent mare , Effugiturum fe

To make an end of him, they were forc'd to crush him by the I all of a Mountain, as they had formerly us'd Enceladus Seneca in the Tragedy of Agamemon agrees to this, read the First Scene of the Third Act, you will there see the Description of a Resi-Rance, and of a Fierceness carried to the highest degree The Feast of Peter is nothing to it Poets would not be permitted at present to carry their Fictions io far on the Stage Thus here are a Latin and two Greek Poets who ascribe the Death of Ajan 20 Nething his Found (d) House the Stage all the to Neptune, but Virgil and (d) Hyginus give all the Glory of it to Minerus

--- (*) Pallasne exurere classem Argivum, asque ipsos potuis submergere ponto Unius ob noxam o furiae Ajacis Oiles? Ipfa 30 ли з apidum jaculata è nubibus ignem Disjectique rates, evertitque aquera ventu Ilum expirantem transfixo pellore flammas Turbine corripuit, scopuloque infinit acute

(F) How Minerva reveng'd her felf for that Injury] See the foregoing Remark I shall only add here, that the Storm she rais'd cast a great many Ships away near the Rocks of Caphareum, in the Neighbour-hood of the Island of Euboca, that is called at pre-fent Negropont The Greek Poets cannot be confent Negropont The Greek Poets cannot be condemn'd without an extream Imprudence, and without supposing a False Principle, for having said that a whole Nation was punish'd by that Goddess (f) for the Crime of a particular Person, Unius ob noxam & furious Assess Oile: The Objection would prove too much, and might be retorted against the History of David It is not only true in Prophane, but also in Sacred Writers that

Quidand (g) delirant reges p'essuntur Achivi

Quidquid (g) delirant reges p'elluntur Achivi (G) The Island of Delos, where Thetis buried it] Lycophron informs us off that Particularity (h), since the interpreters have found it out among his Enigms See what Canterus and Meursius have faid upon it, but do not believe all they iny, for they are mista-ken about the Passage of Pausanias, which they make use of to confirm their Cours thus. use of to confirm their Conjectures Pausanias (1) does not speak of the Tomb of the Son of Oileus, but of that of Ajax, the Son of Telamon Meursius's Criticism on the Greek of Paulanias is not right, instead ticism on the Greek of Paujanias is not right, instead of reading την ένοδον ανέος το μνημα ε χαλετών ποινσαι, he reads την ένοδον ανέος το μι ήμα οι χαλετών ανεινσαι Αccording to that Correction, the Mysian, who spoke to Paujanias, told him, That the Sea had made the coming to that Tomb difficult to him, but on the contiary he related to Paujanias, That the Sea had been the cause that the largeness of one of Ajax's Bones had been seen there Wherefore the meaning of it is, That the Sea having wash'd part of the Land away, had made that Place more accessible, less steep, of

(H) And that he got safely home Mr Lloyd has cited these Words of Timaus Logrus, Hist lib 2 Meru της Τορίας αλωσιν Φολλοι του Λοκρών αθεί τας είναι είναι του Λοκρών αθεί τας είναι είναι του Λοκρών αθεί τας είναι είνα είναι είνα Mera The Total acknown wonder the house well the suppose with the suppose with the suppose with the suppose that is, After the taking of Troy, many Loctians were supposed d, and perish a near the (k) Gerean Rocks, the rest hardly say'd themselves with Ajax, and returned into the Country There is some likelihood that instead of Timans Locrus, he ought to have cited Timaus Tauromenisa

(A) Was west to Achilles, the most valuant 1 It is on the Testimony of divers Poets that I make this Restriction

(1) HO'Ardρων (1) δ αδ μόρ' άεις & Υνν Τελαμώνι & Aiaς, mer Iliad
''Ope' 'Anasis univer (ο ηδ πολύ φερπί] & Hir) 1 2 ver Virorum verò longe prafantissimus erat Telamonius 275

Interen dum Achilles in odio permanebat, (nam u multo fortiffinus eret)

(f) Quicquid Oiomnibus unus Peccavit Danais, omnibus ira nocens Sabinus ın Epist Ulyî (g) Horat Lpift 2 (b) Lychophron, v 400 (1)Paulan Ì 1 p 34

(L) Rocks gæan Ses See the Pi-Etures of Philoftratus

(1) Ho-

(Ab) did the Benegers much good. According a he was not condemn'd by the Votes of the Greek Princes, but by the Decili the Trojans, of whom it was k'd who had done them more hurt, Ayax or Ul expressly contain'd in the Eleventh Book of the many things; he was passionate B and impatient The ground of that Opinion expressly contain'd in the Eleventh Book of the filer As resembled Achilles an many things; he was passionate B and impatient him, and Invulnerable (B) over the whole Body except in one part. Those would be little acquainted with Mythology, who should believe that the Causes and Circumstances of his Death have not been and the expressed in different Manners, and so as to destroy. reported in different Manners, and so as to destroy (C) each other. One of Agaz's Scholing Characters was (D) Impiety, not but that he believ'd that the Gods had a great Power, in Odyst I ib 11 but he imagin'd that the greatest Cowards being able to conquer by their Assistance, Scholiast there was no Glory to conquer in that manner. He would only be indebted for Victory Aristoto his Courage It is feign'dythat hisSoul having the liberty to chuse a body to return into phan in I quit the World, preferr'd that of a Lion before that of a Man such was his Detectation for Mankind, remembring the Injustice that was done him concerning the Aims of Achilles SymposiWe shall say something in A another place, of the Posterity he left, from whence proac 1 1 ceeded the Family of Militades The Poets have given Ajas the same Elogy that the sub-fin p Holy Scripture and Latin The Lamous Comedian a standard poet of also Cice-Holy Scripture and Latin The I amous Comedian of Jop n did not cue ro de Ofto Act them The Greeks 3 honoured that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in ficus, 1 in They continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in the continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in the continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in the continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in the continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in the continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in the continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in the continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in the continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in the continued that brave Captain very much after his Death in the continued that brave Captain very much after his Dea

(n) Pindarus calls Ajax (m) upansov, Ajake atte, madar Nein Xa, frenuissimum, excepto Achille, in pugna Sophocles (n) fays as much of him And Hince no less, (o) Ajax Heros ab Achille secundus Plutarch (p) reports as a Tradition which admits of no Difficulty, That Ajace (o) Horat and the Greeks next to Achilles This is built and the Greeks next to Achilles This is built on these Words of Homer

i chiele vv olus ist stomer Aïai θ (q) os τει μεν είδ Φ τει δ ε γα τεπικτο Τῶν ἄλλων Δανα εν μετ' αμυμονα Ππλοιωνα Asacem qui eximius & forma & rebiu gestis fuit Inter alios Gracos post Achillem, in quo nibil desiderabatur

Plutarch grounds on this the Objection he makes against Plate, who seign'd that the Soul of Arax was the twentieth that was enroll'd 11 sv (el Tev) and the tweether that was enroll'd 11 sv (el Tev) and the tree are plate to Alas rankes if my en si and phase als organization and organization and organization and the property of the tree are tree are the tree are tre nonne Ajax semper ab Achille secundus habetur pulchritudine of fortitudine? Moreri relates this Passage quite sallssed, these are his Words, Plutarch remarks in his Lable Talk Iable Talk, for what Reason Plato gives but the 22d place after Achilles to the Soul of Ajax, who was effected the first in Beauty, Strength and Courage, and I mikes it appear that that Philosopher plated with the different Signification of Names different Signification of Names

(A2) That his Fury did the Beauty much good] Neverthelets we should be much the wrong to conclude from the neet that true Course needs such an Assistance. The usefulness of Vices does not hinder them from being bad. I refer you to this sine Passing of Ciciro (a) Non desiderat fortitudo advocatam tracundiam, satis est instructa, parata, armata per se Namisto modo quidem licet dicercutilem vinsientiam ad for itudinem, utilem etiam dementiam, aud ér tian ad for itudinem, utilem etiam dementiam, quod & infini & chrii multa faciunt sape weh mentius Semper Ajax fortis, fortissimus tamen in furore

Nam facinus first maximum, quum Danais inclinantibius

Summam rem perfect manus, pralium quum restituit ınsanıens

D camus igitur utilim infaniam

(B) Invulnerable over the whole Body except one part] Here is the Origin of that Singularity Hercules(b) seeing I clamon troubl'd because he had no Children, pray'd to Jupiter to give him a Son that should have as hard a Skin as that of the Nemean Lion, and as much Courage as that Lion had He saw an Eagle after Courage as that Lion had He saw an Eagle after he had ceas'd to pray, and taking it for a good Omen, he promis'd to Telamon such a Son as he had wish'd him, and ordered that the Child should be named Ajax, because of the Eagle (c) that had given the Presage He return'd to see Telamon after the Birth of Ajax, and (d) caused that Child to be given him Naked, he wapp'd him up in the Skin of his Normean Lion, made the whole Body of Ajax Invulnerables the part that happen'd to be under the holes was in that Skin, at the place where Hercules arrived his Quiver. Authors do not agree concerning the part that was under that hole. agree concerning the part that was under that hole, fome (e) place it under the Armpit, others (f) in the Neck, others (g) in the Side, others in the Breast Treizes on Lycophron is of the last Opinion Which items likewise to be that of Ovid in the 13th Book of the Metamorphofes Dinit, & in pettus sum denique vulnera passum, Qua pasuis ferre lesalem condidis ensem.

(C) So as to define cach other] Some Authors I to fay that he kill d himself in the Fury that transported him after having lost his Cause concerning the Aims of Achilles, others say that he had no difference with Ulysses about those Arms, but about the of Technology when the Palladium that was carried away from Troy when the Place was plunder'd Thole two Nariations are incompatible, feeing the Arms of Achilles were awarded to Ulyff's before the tiking of Troy, and iecing Ajax fell into despair a little after the adjudging of an However it he Diffy Crotensis (b) relates of em However it be, Distys Cretensis (b) relites that Ulysses carried the Palladium away from Aix by the Judgment of the Chiefs, and that Aiaa transported with Anger threaten d to kill those who had was found dead in his Tent iun through with a system of the Murmurings of the Army, went on de offic board and fail'd away as speedily as he could surface (1) and Cedrenus do own indeed that Afax and when Seet it also before any thing was found in fivour of either of them. They fay that they separated before any thing was continued to the state of them. They fay that they separated before any thing was Calaber, I decided, and that Apar was found dead the Night of Dictys following some will have it that his Combat with Cret 1 Pres was as fatal to him as to his Advertary, that he receiv'd (k) a Wound in it of which he died, and that he kill d Paris (l) Others (m) hay that the Trojans being told by an Oracle that Iron could not hart his Body, and that if they would kill him, they must over-burthen him with Dirt, they put him to Death in that manner
(D) Wu Impiety] When he went to the Army

(n) his Father recommended to him to add always the Affistance of God to his Courage Ajax answei d him, That Cowards are often Victorious with fuch an Affistance, but as for him, he had no need of it, and that he was fure to Conquer without it

Τεκνον, δορί Βέλε κράβειν μεν, σύν ઉરહે δ' αει κρατείν ם בי שלואמן אונים אמל בפינים אוגבו למדם, υ ο υγκομπυς καφεονώς πικε ματο, Πάτες, Θοοις μεν χάν ο μεθεν ών ομέ κεατ & κατακή ήταιτ ι γω ή κ) οίχα Κάνων, πεποίδα τάτ όπο πασκι κλεψ

riam

Mi fili, inquit, virtute
Velu vincere, sid auxiliante Deo, semper velu vincere Ipse vero superbe ac stulte respondebat, Adjuvante Deo, inquit, etiam ignavi Vincere solent Ego vero vel absque Auxilio divino, consido me istam attracturam esse gli

Minerva (e) would one day give him Advice, but he fillage in answer'd her haughtily, Do not trouble your self with P 51 my Post, I shall give a good account of it, you may keep F is no your good Offices for the other Greeks Another (p) Sav with a time she offer'd to manage Ajax s Chariot in the Battelle But he would not suffer it, may be caused the pay at Owl that was painted (q) on his Shield to be detacted to you at the likely he fear'd that that Picture might be tare two reposes keep for an Act of Devotion to Minerva, and for a sove ken for an Act of Devotion to Minerus, and for a sove distrust of his own Strength I should not be equi- Sed cum table if I did not inform the Readers here that he is Deus ad-tune etiam ignavi effugiunt è manibus virorum fortium (p) Scholast Sophocl (0) Ibid pag 81. (9) Idem.

y Plato de repuli meffa & Sec the itus had begun one Sec Suetonius, in Remakl Calaber, 1

> (b) Dist (i Suidas TOWN CE 1 OF (1) Dates after Sophoel in argum Ajac > (1) Dares > Phryg
> (m) Apud Schol Sophocl 1b (n) Sophocl in Ajic p m 8-,81 " other versatur.

not du Isthm Od 6 See alls Apollogorus,l) The t cels yle us Tes Sa dae in a pasathe s rollaft of So-I hoclevin Ajicem, Mionici III 1 1 23 Co Teat copbe. () Suidas 11 d 12dda a (f) Apud l jergen , School 10meri in Il 1 23 (g) Scholinft So. phoel in Ajacem

Sat 3 1 2

ympoli-

(p) Plut

ac 1 9 quæst 5

n 740

(7) 10 mer. 10 ayıl 1 11 p m 352 Sec allo

p ,46 (a) Cice-16 Tul-cul lio 4

10 -69

11 (b) Pinbone 1 .4

p m 462

They rais'd him (E) a flately Monnment on the Promontory Rhoeteum. Some miraculous (F) Adventures have been related concerning that Sepulchre. The Fault that Ronfard (G) believ'd to have committed concerning A_{jan} , was corrected in a new Edition

AJAX, the Son of Teucer, caus'd a Temple to be built to Jupiter in Olbus a Town of Cilicia The Priest of that Temple was Lord of the Country call'd Tracheotus Several Tyrants endeavoured to invade that Country, and to maintain themselves in it, so that it became a true Theatre of Robberies After those Tyrants were destroy'd, it was call d the Countrey of Teucer, and the Priesthood Those are the Names it had in Strabo's time, who adds, that most of the Pontists that had been seen there had boile the Name of Teucer, or that of Ajax, and that Aba the Daughter of Zenophanes, one of the Tyrants, being enter'd into that Family by Marriage, made her self Mistress of the Country, after her Father had govern d x under the Title of Tutor She was confirm'd in the Possessian of it, by Marc Antony and Cleopatra, to whom she had made her Court with great Art Aster her Death the Country return d into the Power of those who ought to be the lawful Possessor it at I et us inter show thence that the Supplement to Marca is Distributed.

Supplement to Morer's Dictionary is (A) full of Faults in this Airicle

A J A X, a Cleigyman recommendable for his Piety and Lxemplary Life in the Reign of Theodosius. He had a Brother whose Name was Zeno, who was as good a Man as he. They shewed their Virtue at first not in a Solitude, but in the City of Gazza, afterwards they addicted themselves to a Monastick I is. They were often very ill treated, because they maintained the Orthodox Firth courageously against the Par-

gans

Cr Ho mer Iliad 1 7 v 194 (1) Refte Ajax apud Home rum qui Deos invocat fefe ad arma componens, neque enim putit fibi rei bene perenda rufpicium capere posie anim d mvocatione numinis Comment in untl n 177 Aluat p m 5 = 7 1 is toreport In Lil 23 2 0211 flePiffic of the Iliad 1 645 15 of no 1 fc

(a) Diodoi Sicul 1 17 (b) In the Komarkk of b Aiil Achilles (Horat 5 atn 3 1

not fe ureligious in Homer, for if he does (r) not pray to fupite there in pieparing himself to fight the Viliant Hestor, he desires at least that others should pray to that God, either very low for sear the Irojans should hear it, or even aloud, for, add the, I fear no Body. This is not sufficient to fet him to a Model of Devotion, as'tis done in the Commentuy (s) on the Emblems of Alciatus He will not have the Trojans to know that the Greeks pray to God for the good Success of his Arms This may receive Two Explications, he fear'd perhaps that the Irojans would take that Invocation of God for a Sign that he mistrusted his Courage, or else he fear'd that the Irojans hearing of the Vows that the Greeks should make for him, would do so likewise, and even more tervently for their Hestor. The sirst of and even more tervently for their Histor. The lift of those I wo I aplications makes him guilty of aVanity very Injurious to God the second represents him very much persuaded of the heavenly Power. But what signifies this, seeing he consents they should pray aloud, I say, he consents to it, by the Considence he places in his Strength and Dexterity, in a world, for the Reason that he search not whether the Irigan make counterhe cares not whether the Irojans make counter-Prayers or not Is that an Example of Prety that the Commentator of Alcia is ought to propose? A cerain Person was faying tother day that the Catholick Princes do very ill to fuffer the Pilgrimages of Loretto, the Offerings, the Vows, the Privers of I only Hours, which they appoint in order to obtain a closious Campugn, to be put in the Gazetter, for as toon as their Linemies know it, they order the time thing it home, and make yet larger Promifes to the Stints of both Sexes Answer was made him, that it shewed the plan dealing of those Prin-I hey will not furprize the Decrees of Heaven, they will not like Air hide the knowledge of their Requests from their I nemies, and the means to provide themselves against it. It would be as if one thould require that Judgment should be given with-out hearing both Parties

(E) Iles raised by me a stately Monument on the Promoneory Rhoetcum 1 It was one of those (a) that Alexander would see and honour. I have sud essentially accused of being agnorant of the true Situation of that Sepulchie But if it be true, that the Greeks rused that Monument, what means Horace when he censures Agamemnon for having left Ajax without Sepulture?

Cur (c) Ajax heros ab Achille fecundus Putrefeit, toties fervatis clarus Achivis, Gaudeat ut populus Priami, Priamufque inhumato, Prquem tot juvenes patrio carucre fepuliro?

Pr quem tot juvenes patrio carutre sepuliro?

I inswer, that that Poet makes use only of one of the incidents of the Tragedy of Ajax, it is that wherein sophocles seigns that Agamemnon would not content that Ajax should enjoy the honour of Sepulture. He yielded at last to the pressing Instances of sencer. Observe that some Authors say that the Body of Ajax was not burnt, and that others say it was burnt Distyr Gretensis and Quentus Calaber are of the last Opinion, Philostratus is of the first.

(d) that Calebas declar'd that Religion would not permit those to be burnt that kill'd themselves See in the same Philostratus, how the Athenians distinguish'd themselves in honouring that Hero Pausanias informs us (i) that one of their Tilbes bose the Name of Ajax, and that the (f) Honours they decreed to him and his Son Eurysacis, were still profitted to him and his Son Eurysacis, were still profitted to him and his Son Eurysacis, were still profitted to him and his Son Eurysacis, were still profitted to him one of Salamis had built a Temple to Ajax Shepol the Greek Nation (b) invoked him some time before the Battel of Salamis, and (i) afterwards Confectated to him one of the Ships that they had taken from the Persians in that memorable Day, as being part of the First kruits appointed for the Gods

(F) Some miraculous Adventures—— concerning that Sepulchre] Ulffles having fuffer d shipwrack on the Coasts of Sicily, lost among other things the Arms of Achilles The Shield was atterwards cast by the Waves near the Sepulchre of Ajax, where it hung, but the next day the Thunder struck it This is what Ptolemy the Son of Hephastion reports (k) Paus miss (l) says in general, that the Storm carried the Arms of Achilles on As ix s Tomb after the Shipwrack of Ulffles. The Mitter was too curious, and afforded too many Moral Resections not to be taken up by the Poets. See in the Anthologia (m) what the Greeks have sung on that Subject. Aleiatus took one (n) of his Emblems out of it. As for the Prodigies or the Wonders that mide Ajax to Le spoken of after his Death, see Pussan n, it the Thirty sourth Page of the shift Book. Before I end this Remark I shall add, (o) that the Waves having his open'd the Tomb of Asia, People were curious to look into it, and they observed that one Kice Bone was as big as one of those Discuss or Quoits which were mide use of in the Prize Games (p). The Man who related it to Pausanae would have him judge by that of Asax s Stature. Homer says that he was very tall.

Was very tall

'Athip (q) no, τε μέγα, τ,

"Εξοχ G- 'Αργειων κεται η πο' ευρέας ωμι,

Vir latusque magnusque,

Procerissimus Argivorum tum capite tum latis humeris

(G) The Fault that Ronfard believed to Lave committed. He had placed Ajax among the Braves that took Troy, but he left him out in the second Edition on of his Franciade, hiving been told by Floring the foregoing Article (a) How in that according to some Authors, that great Captain that according to some Authors, that great Captain that he was not ignorant of what Homer, Sopholes, Ovid, and some others have related, but that he knew also what others had faid, and that he would rather conform himself to Distys Cretins than to Homer, and so he would not have owned that he had committed a Fault. It is a Confession very unpleasant to a Poet, and even to other Authors

fant to a Poet, and even to other Authors

(A) It full of Faults] After having well considered the matter, I find the shortes way is to set down the whole Article of the Supplement Here it is Ajax the Son of Teucer, King of Silamia, n

(d) Philofti in Horoic (e)Paulin l p ç See Plut Simpor la quest 10 p 6 8 20 21 C (f) Pau-Ian ib p (g) Id ib (h) Herodot 1 (i Id ib C 121
(k) Apud Photium P 484 (/) Paui hb i p (m) An thol 15 (n) I tle 28th (e) Pui fupra
(p) o i [cmeF u] concring elis pal fage of Paulanias flinnus's Stetes of Sopto

Article of

Alax had Married a very handsome Woman, but it is said he knew her but Three a Sozotimes, from whence proceeded Three Sons, after which he separated himself from her is menus, 1 to the Conjugal Commerce, and govern'd the Church of Betolium wifely He brought for a grant up Two of his Sons to the Study of Divine Things and to Celibacy, and Mirried the of March Third &

AIGUILLON, a small Town of Guienne, on the Confluence of the Rivers of May Lot and Garonne, Four Leagues below (A) Agen, was erested into a Dutchy Pecidom for the Duke of Masenne in the Year 1599 The Patents of it were verified in Pulliment in Vigneroi the Year & following, but the Posterity of that Duke stilling, the Licction of it was (Mary renewed in the Reign of Lewis the XIIIth in the Year 1638 by Pitents that were verified to fied the same Year y Cardinal Rubelieu caus dat to be done in Favour of his Niece the Sate of Lady de Combalet, who was fince so well known by the Name of DUTC 11155 OI France, t AIGUILLON We shall speak of her in A a proper place She left that Dutchy by 2 p 85, her Will to her Niece Mary Magdalen Terela de l'ignerod, Sitter to the Di ke of Relevene Nothing is more fingular (B) in History than the Relistance made by the Town of diguillon in 1346 against the Duke of Normandy, who was afterwards King Jol 1 They Kommit B are ashamed to read it at present, and our Warriors cannot sufficiently admine that the a Dunile Art of War should have been at that time so inconsiderable to what it is now that it Duke of Normandy, eldest Son to the King of France, had taken arounden after four teen Months Siege, he would have made himself worthy of a great Triumph, and it is this time such a Town as that was then, would almost do no honour to a Colonel that Petrus ac should take it at the first Onset The Romins made almost the same Restection, wher Allico, or they (C) compar d the first Conquests of their City with the Conquests they made i co, and Mezeray does very much & peoplex the Butiness I speak of had not altogether the sime Advantage against the Inglish as against the Duke of Note Allicen mandy, for when they Belieg'd it in 1430, " they did not take the Caffle, but only the his, or Al Town and plunder dat

AILII 6 (Peter d) Bishop of a Cambray and Cardinal, was boin at 6 mpicane (1) in Picardy, in the Year 1350. His Family was very obscure, some kity that he was at 1

the Island of Cyprus, having succeeded his Father, Con secrated a Temple to Jupiter in the Iown of Olbus Ho against ain d hims If in the Post ssion of that Kingdom against several Princes that would mak themselves Ma-stere of it, and less it to his Postericy who most of them ferce of it, and left it to his Positivity who most of them bose the Name of Ajax or of Seuces Strabo, l 14. I observe against this, I That there is no Reades but is tempted to believe by virtue of this Narrative, that the Town of Olbus was in the Island of Cyprus 2 That it is not true that strabo says Ajax fucceeded his Father in the Kingdom of Salamis The indefitigible M ur/pis, who took to much pains to discover the Names of all those that reign d in the Island of Cyprus, did not (*) find one Ajre 3 That it is not true that several Princes endeavour d to take the Kingdom of Salamis from Ajax I heir Attempts concern d the Irachiotis, the Pitrimony or the Demain of the Church of Jupiter Olbian, in Cil cia, and Strato does not try that they endervour d to disposles Ajax of it, nor that Ajax was in Possician of it. A Man may build a Temple without being the Pontiff of it, and without enjoying the I inds that are bestowed upon it 4. That suppose 21re had been both Prince and Priest of Trackette, it would be talle that he kept the Possession of it, and that he left it to his Descendants, it is plain by the relation of Strabo, that the Series of the lawful Successions was sometimes interrupted

(A) Below Agen I It I had been willing to observe in the middle of what Towns Aiguillon is Situated, I would not have pitched upon Agen and Nerac as Mr Movers did, for they are Three Places that make a Triangle, but I would have pitched upon Agen and Jonness, the one above, and the other below Aigullon on the Garonne I his Fault is to much the more considerable, because there is no Reader but will conclude from it that Nerae is on the same Ri-

(B) Is more fingular .than the resistance] Pipiris Masso siys that the Siege continued 14 Months Acilionem (a) urbem irrita Joannis, postea Regis Francorum, Ortune Ducis Normannia, quatuord cim mensium of sidione memorabilem (b) The numerous Army of the Duke of Normandy is no less to be co-sider'd than the length of the Siege That Duke came to (c) Toulouse in the beginning of January with an Hundred thousand Men bearing Arms All that dreadful Multitude did nothing in Three Months but take of Angouleme, from whence they fell on Tonneins, and thenothey came and befieg d Anguillon very well for d and fortified for those they fell on The manner of the manner o () It was the Attack is a third thing to be consider'd (d) In this Age (e) there is not a more memorable Siege either for the Attacks or the Defence. They made Three Attacks in a day for a whole Week together, alt in n ds they made use of the Artillery and Machines ly 1 and and in the reference is a Citation that takes in the I wo Pullges of Mezera: I take it out of (it l (j) limit field in the 121st Chapter of the Inft Islum (iye, 1/1) when the Duke of Normandy besieved with a Hinti t thousand French the City of Arguillon post so the Luglish, he sent to Coulouse for Fight of the greatest Li gines that were in the faid (by, and when the Inhit is increased on a transfer of Alguillon were upon the point of lens attached in the distance of Alguillon were upon the point of lens attached in the distance of the point of the point of lens at the point of Carcaflonne and Beaucaire should a tal them n / So the Morning till Noon, and those of Roueigue (this and Kemink A Agenois from Noontill the Evening Morit mike the Three Alfaults in a day list but a Week, which I more wherein he had put his Reader, for what is a Week in 14 Months. It must not be doubted but that he strutens the right Idea he should have given of those Attacks He has moreover committed it full of Chronology According to his account, the Duke of Normandy came to Prulouf in the Month of January 1346 he ipent Three Months in taking iome pattern Lowing afterwards he send to make the send to the sen patry lowns, afterwards he took amoulem then return d towards the Garonn took Ionn ins belieged Area lon and raifed the Siege of it by Reason of the Battel of Crees. That Battel was Reason of the Bittel of Creci. That Bittel wis fought the 26th of Angull 1,46. According to this Nirrative of Mizerai, it is not only impossible that the Siege of A muillon should have lasted 14 Months, but also that considering the Custom of those times, that Siege should have been very long. And it is to speak improperly to say that the Duke of Normand was obstinate in it (g. He ought to have plue d the was obstinate in it (g He ought to have placed the coming of that Prince to loulous, in the rear

(C) When the y compar'd the first Conquests of their Ci-See Horus and his Style, full of I xelamations (h) Sora (quis credat?) & Algidum terrori ferin Satricum acque Corniculum provinca De Frule (Bovilus, pudet, sed triumphavimus Tivur nin lu in banum & astiva Praneste delicia, nuncupitis in (1) tolio votis petebantur I lem tune fælulæ, quod Carræ Chifter of nuper, idem nemus Arienum, quod II reznus saltus the 1 Book Fregellæ, quod Gesoriacum Tiberis quod suphrates Corielus quoque (prò pudor) victus, adeo gloria fu t, u cap-tum oppidum Cajus Marcius Coriolanus quisi Numantiam aut Africam nomen inducrit But what shime soever it was for the French not to be able to take Aguilion with fo many Men Commanded by their King's II dest Son, it was a great Honour for the English to have defended that Post so long

(A) Born at Compagne in Picardy | This appears by the (1) publick Registers of the Church of Navarr p

Cambray, so that we may place in the List of Tor
R

Aillineus, de Hiftor 1 it pig. Mathem p 18, Lilbup of 111 st (11 200 11 I myuc-

() Muzu-

(1) Horus in the 11th

(a) Beudeand all it Agualli-0.1193 (Papyr MaffoDL-1 upt flim Gil-(c) Megerai, 'A. bieg (hron ad amum 1346 t 3 land 167,

(a) Id 1b

Century

() See his

Dir lede (ypro,l _

OJ 9

Antipope Clement she VIIth. who had his Seat at Avignon B He was an Arragonois, and hus Name was John de ion, who denied the ımınacuecption of the I irgin y Accord ing to Morerist was the Bilhop-A Morcus In itwe but be is m Itakou e likin out of the flory of th College of Nivalic done to M de Launoi,p 46" and follon Dictiti hujulmodi danda 111101113 temi ous. funt navus in

(k) The-

vet ubi

inta, p

notum ib

p 469 n Mr de

Launoi/c-

1 cues that

C. was t. I tle of a book

Peter d Allh, ic

Rota de enore,

(1) Sec Ter S I althoods what he fays concerning Peter d' Al-Cefner Is Country Homactoin frysher (k), in a very ob-fewel illige of Germany, ci'ld Ailly, from which he al-forced his D nomination, to auf of the Vilencis of his Promis Hamfo Poor teat he was obliged to ferve as Bibl tol 54, VLI-(") Wesan Unice-Porter in the College of Navarie, to have where the orphib limfelf to the Study of Learning I old criant (1) had dividy published that Peter d'Ailli telus de potest ite lapt c9 1pud L1uwas 16 iman

(1) b) some Ireatises of Logick] He understood it perfectly, and was indebted to it for the Strength and the Skill wherewith he maintain'd his and overthrew those of others mous Hellelus of Gron ngen ipeaks of him in this manner (m) Q is unquim at illum apicem Theologia, quo
Petrus ac 2 co cor fe n it, al fque definitionibus, divifionities, regumenta on bu, inflantiis logicalibus perve-nir te In d |pu a ionibus lico ubi discussione diserta opus est Quomo 10 Petrus Joannem de Montesono in Rota ae errore quatuo inclin llarum conclusionum concussissis inf distinctione multipli i, aut clincli ignorantia antecedinte vel confequent e delujam docu sset Copus igitur Inecon state state in inspection information in us ple lie logues si por accuratifimam illam suam in the logues accuratifimam illam suam in the logues accuration in the locus accuration in the logues accuration in the locus accuration in the logues acc (1) 29 (3-1) inciæ atque aberrantium a scritate malleus

(La) moner of Charles VI | See du Peyrar Page 34° of the Antiquities of the king's Chap-10. He observes there that Peter d Andi never had Qual's of g at Almons of France, no of the Kin veret Almo er 11, were I tles unknown at that time, and they aid not come in fashion till the Reign of Charles the VIII. b and of I rancis Ist whatever the Author of (1) the Gallia Christiana may Say, in which the Continuator of the Annals of Baronius is likewise mıstakın

(C) He died in the Year 1425] It is a strange thing that a Person of that Rank and Distinction thing that a Person of that Rank and Distinction should die without our knowing certainly where, or in what Year Some say that he died in Germany in the Year 1516 Others, that he died at Augnon the 8th of August, 1425 being b) the Pope's Legate in France Others say that he died at Augnon (c), but they place his Death in the Year 146 Mr de Launoy marks it only in the Year 1425, in the 479th Page of his Book, but he had said, Page 129, that Peter d Alli died being Legate of the Holy See in Germany, in (d) the Year 1423 The Registers of the Church of Cambray (c) say that he died the 9th of Ottober, 1425 being Legate of the Holy See in the Lower Germany, and that on the 9th of fully following, his Body was carried to Cambray, where it was buried behind the great Altar The difference of 1416, and of 1426, proceeds from a Fault of Impression, the Figure 1 being by mistake plac'd instead of the Figure 2, occasion of the World and the Second of The Founder of 126 in Plates 126 in Plates 126 in Plates 126 in Plates 136 in Plates 13

He caus'd the House of the Divines to be built, but not the Library Spindaniu who affirms it, is mistaken, it is the Work of Charles VIII (g Seandaniu in annalibiu Ecclesiastis prodicts ab eo exesses sed aberras, id est opus Care vi l. gis, cujus & nomen μονόγεαμμον in Biblios ce ties depingutur, o fiatua in occidentali turbinati parietis cono eretta conspicitur. It is true indeed that Peter d'Ailli would have part of what he left to that

It is the Under-Porter of the College of Navarre, but they are mistaken H d not enter into that College till about the Year 1372. He was admitted a Pening there among the Students in Divinity. He was at that time Sollicitor of the French Nation in the University of Pars, and able to set up for a good Author, as he made it appear by some Treatises (B) of Logick according to the Hypotheses of the Nominals, and by some Treatises concerning the Nature of the Soul, and that of Meteors. He shewed so much Penetration and Nearness in his Works, that he had the salve the Foundation fo much Penetration and Neatness in his Works, that he laid thereby the Foundation of that high Reputation to which he raised himself He had as good a Success in his Explication of Peter Lombard, in the Year 1375 That happy Application to Scholastick Learning did not hinder him from being a good Pleacher He took his Doctor's Degree in 1282 and had a Consession to Scholastick Learning and had a Consession to Scholast Degree in 1380 and had a Canonship bestowed upon him at Noion He was recall'd to Paris Four Years after, to exercise the Office of great Master of the College of Nawarre He had a great Number of Scholars there, and among others John Gerson, and Nicolas de Clemangis. He pleaded with so much Force in 1387, before the a Pope, against a Dominican & who had appealed from the Judgment which the Faculty of Divinity of Paris had pronounc'd against him, that he obtain'd the Confirmation of that Judgment He writ also a Treatise against the same Dominican The wave him such a great Reputation, that in 1389, he was made Consessor and Almoner (BA) of Charles VIth and Chancellor of the University Five Years after, the first Dignity of the Horick of Bul- ly Chappel of Para was conferr d upon him, which is that of Treasurer So many diflei, but he ferent Employments did not hinder him from applying himself earnestly to find out is missaken most effectual me ins to cause the Schism that divided the Church of Rome to cease went from the King to the Antipope Benedict XIII in 1394, and give such an advantageous Character of him at his return, that it was resolved in the King's Council to acknowledge him for a lawful Pope He obtain d the Bishoprick y of Puy in Vellar, at the end of the Year 1395, and that of Cambray, in the beginning of the Year following He was very much consider d by Ben face IX and he made use of that Favour to cause a Doctor of Divinity to be established in all the Fpiscopal Churches of the Kingdom He preached it Genoa in the Year 1405, on the Mystery of the Trinity, before Benedid XIII and perfused that Pope to cause all the Churches to celebrate the Teast of the Trinity He caus d his I carning and his Prudence to be admir'd in the Council of Pi/1 in the Year 1 109 He maintained in all the Assemblies of Paris, wherein they had deliberated about the Remedies for the Schism, that the only way to suppress it was the Convocation of a General Council Two Years after, he was promoted to the A Council nalship, he went into Gumany in the Year 1414 in the Quality of the Pope's I egate He presided it the 3d Session of the Council of Constance, he Composed Three Pieces during the sitting of the Council One, De emendanda Ecclesia, another, De duodecim benot bus beatt Josephi, another, de modo & forma eligendi Papæ And no body had a greater share than he in the Assairs of that great Assembly, which lasted Three Years wis in candidifficated in the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was mo pettoite I aunor to P 480

(k) The
The died (C in the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was for I aunor to the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was buried in his Cathedral of Cambray He was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was no pettoite I aunor who find the Year 1425, and was no pettoite would have it to be imputed to the Misfortune of the times, but I wonder that he forgot be, de Scuptor Fcclei 1 2 P 17 (c) Voff us deHi L_tt p > um,p 1, ibid pa 134, 47 (g) Id pag 47

1418

(e) Apui

ler un te laste Rot e tl 1/ . Pit Leard the Dilautanis (o) Launoius ubi iupr p 1, 1, 476 got another Fault of that Doctor, I mean (E) his Fondness of Judicial Association I askly; our Peter d' Aille, who submitted Scepters and Crowns to the Ecclesiastical Power, who endeavoured to multiply Festival Days, who founded such a great number of Masses for the repose of his Soul, and who condemn'd John (F) Hus to Death, does nevertheless appear in the (G) Catalogue of the It inesses of the Truth, as a Forerunner of Luther and of Calvin The Cartifians place him also

College (b) to serve to buy Books, and that he often gave Books I cannot tell whether he gave his own Library to it, as Aubertus Miræus sets forth (c) Alliacus, says he, anno 1425 Avenione moviens billiothecam suam legavit Navarrao Panssiu Collegio, quamibi magna cum voluptate aliquando vidimus I don't find that Mr Launoy says it, his Silence alone would be sufficient to refute the Flemish Writer (b) Hu sondnis (d) of Judicial Astrology Bellarmin has not forgot that Blot Unum est, says he, (c) in quo reprehenditur hic auttor, quod videlicet sensis videatur Christi nativitatem prænosci potusse ex genethliacus observationibus, asque ad hoc adduxerit appari ionem stellæ quæ apparuit Magis Others (f) ob-(b) 1b p 134, 135 (c) Mirens in Ai aio, c 454 p 265 (1) Sc th end of videatur Christi nativitatem prenosci potulse ex genethliacis observationibus, atque ad hoc adduxerit appari ioment H nem selle que apparut Magis Others (f) obleive, that Piter d'Ailli maintain'd in his Book de Corces sia Historie & Astrologie D vinatire, thit

Noah's Ilood, the Birth of ff to US CHRIST, and such other Miracles and all Produgies, might have been sovetold by Astrology, and that he is referred to Births, Changes and Ruins of Senentis, list on of the Hab Pianets Bodn adds, That John Bil Sinlei an of Peter (h) d Arline for certain, without ennet is & gurm any finter after the Truth, although out a of T' by Si preat Conjunctions, which that Cardi list in the Hab Pianet such that Cardi not is defined since its Years after the Greation of the Horlt till the Tear of our Lord 13ts not Si of them proved time. That Pallage of Bodin wa (f) Vos
this altered is the Latin I dition, Mirum min sus de visuant of granific for pudento in calestium or the horize for quinto usque ad annum Christi 13ts
(g) Bodin, timing fee source of que down that of the very lounhere lick, for the Hab can of our loca ac tempore dehere lick, for the live of que down that the very lountick -* (1) Bul-1 4 of the a x timen illis so quo doint loso ac tempore de-kepilick, fo two. The fine Bod n ittach the very Loun-P 448 of divided of those Hypothetes (1) Candral d Ai-lic, fivs he, lectus n the the great Conjunctions dition at the line of the Greation of the Morld, suppo-(p) He (1.45 him ther fore it is an unlift rable Error to suppose the creat Conjunt on of the timee High Hancts in the () Id ib 2 car of the Crea on 320 and to lay down that there are at point 7118 2 cars, that is to lay, Twelve Is mane of one of fore the Cration of the World That manner of one one percond All cannot be de-P 549 manner of opposing Peter d'Aill cannot be decrive at pret at confidering that leveral Learnel Men preter the Calculation of the Grak Bible, concerning the Duration of the World, before the Calculation of the Hebrew Fext Islie, concerning the Duration of the World, before the Calculation of the Hebrew Fext Islie (a) has more reason to insult him on the late of Arius's Herety, than on the Duration of the World Here are Vossus's Words, we find in them that our Astrologer placed the beginning of that Heresy Seven Hundred Years after JESUS CHRIST, which is a very giols Ignorance Valde etiam furile est fundamentum quod artissis ponit Ait ab initio mundi usign ad diluvium sturisses (1) annos 2 42 a diluvio ad natalem Christis 3102 His sta constitutis, totus est in cour oftendat quandocunque mirandum aliquid cont 3 t in terris, etiam illustrem aliquam stellarum conjunctionem apparuisses in calis Atqui falsissimum est quod sibi sumit de anno vel distuvii vel natalis Domini. Nac levis est crror sed spississems, in priori quidem numero aunorum pene seventiorum, vin altero autem (m) paulo pasiciorum Quid mirum? omnino Cameracensis suit Chronologiae imperitissimus, ut vel arguit quad Arrianam Haresim capisse dicat anno Christiseptingintessimosquam verissmilius tumpene extindam dixisses Ortam vero constat fere initio seculi quarti It Ibevet had writ with Judgment, would he have spoke of Peter d'Ailli in these sollowing Terms? "(n) I could wish that all those who set up for (k) Vofiubi fupra (1) Voffiusmeant. (m) Voffius according FO 1 1 17)cs, et to hr e frind ere an Erabove Sin Handred Years (n) Thevet's History of Illustrious Men, tom 7 p 89 Edit in 120.

"Aftrologies, would enefully read his Books, "they would not lote then I about For beitles the lingular Observations that I have "tence driver up as inflictions that under the control of free Artiol 2, take delight to be inflatured with the fille Mish of Africolory, and introducing an Idelity of the Planets, altogether abominable." That Pretended Idelity was no more to be feared in 1/2 is 1 mic, that if Peter d'Aillis Bools were only good to convert that fort of Ideliters, they were almost uteless. But as on the oner fide they were fit to keep up the Creat of Africolosy, were fit to keep up the Cient of Affrology, by reason of the Virtues, which that Author attributes to the Conjunction of the Planets things of which Theoretays in very World their reading was much more projudical than profit i-

(F) IV's condemn'd John Hus to Dr was not without exhorting him to luom without telling him that i with with he could take Examina do the piper cutatis articulus erroneis in Parin on it (not it formem Huff Envilorence) is to proper for animem Huff Envilorence on the could be added to the proper for the country warm authority on the country of the puenare malu to compute, qu'un uf que a leo falabre Cri- d'in i li-mounts Allia i confil um fequi (G) Dies neverth I appear in the Citilorue pud Blow of the Witherles of the Truth | "(n) if vium id "wis delegated by the De et muition of the unit 1415 "Council of the Irenth Church, to declire to no the Two Popes who quincilid for the Popel" cy, that they should rengal the Pipil See IIe (1) Theward in guilty of Schitm, but the the Irin in supil, "Pielites were Schitmiticks denginedly IIe possible with a thermolecular to the Airice of the Council held at Pri, with "the Sieur Io'n Muniter, Must if de Isin crua, who afterwards stooke roundly of the Airice of the Council held at Pri, with the Sieur Io'n Muniter, Must if de Isin crua, who afterwards tooke roundly of the Airice of the Council held at Pri, with the Sieur Io'n Muniter, Must if de Isin crua, who afterwards tooke roundly of the Airice in the him to some paragraph of the air that (1) So time cried out, and with in the Airice of the Council held with the International that (1) So time cried out, and with infinite Airice of the International the Airice of the Council him to the International that (1) So time cried out, and with infinite Airice of the International the Airice of the Council him to the International the Airice of the Council him the Airice of the International the International Internat din'il s Allia i confil um fequi to put him in the Lift of thole vary at that (1) & e

time cried out, and writ is and the Ambi mitt du

"time cried out, and writ is and the Ambi mitt du

"ton of the Popes, the Corruption of the Pleffis

"Church, and the Schitms and Divinors which Mointi

"were then very common, figing, I i ene e

"writ a Book, entituled, Of the k forms on e ficilitud

"the Church, which yet is not to be found in entited, in

"the Catalogue of his Books that are in giest minter, in

"number both in Divinity and in Mathemi- | Mystory

"ticks" Nothing is more true that what of Init (1), Pantaleon affirms concerning that Book of Petrop 4 to d Ailli As to the Catalogue of the Winnesses of Init of the Truth, collected by I mis lay was, Flir in we find Peter d'Ailli in it condemning the I of 1611

Doctrine of (s) Translubstantiation, and gi ving the Council of Confeance a Project of (c) See the

R 2

Re-Diff retation of Office in the Confeance of Office in the Confean

'up i,

Allix at the Head of the Determinatio Fr Joannis Purportis Printed or London 1686 p 71, 72

Petrum Aliacenfem Cameracen fis civitas Lpifcopum ejecit. Roma ex exule dinalem Frasm de ratione conferib Ppsftolarum,epist contolat / Infliad of I ruffart, to r hom he refer read y John Berry

Pidi Chimiller & Horit de Ait Poct elerianus in (atal Santtori n ad 7 14nt ir ČSu Vatu Diff ut p 508

(a) See du Pleiles

May of

Iniqu'y,

Hoft Luxcmburgh

in de-

P 3 (1 Pinted t - p 5-2 ('Thevet ubi tupi i, p 89 1 Celuci, to 14, i R i 11 1404 ., (e ' A noit of Ale de Lunoi, $ 476 & leq # trom Fatho I abbe, ubr lupra, 28. 18in the (GA) Number of their Forerunners, in the Question about Accide turned out of his Episcopal Church, if we believe Erasmu a, who adds, That his Exile procur'd him a Cardinal's Hat He compos'd (H) many Books, whereof fome were never (I) printed He made also fome (K) Verses in the Vulgar Language. Consult, the Authors & cited by Morers AIMON, Prince of the Ardennes, was, as it is faid γ , the Father of those Four Worthies, whom our Old Romances have so much celebrated They are commonly call'd, The Four Sons of Aimon They had but one Horse among them Four, that was call'd Bayard I would not speak of a Thing that passes only for a Story of a Tale of a Tub, were it not that I must observe that those Idle Fancies of our Old Romancers, and the Fables they writ concerning our Paladins, have crept into the Sanctuary. The Superfition of the People hath introduced them into Religion, and if any body had faid to those Impertinent Writers, He nuge of ferra ducent in mala, he would not have been a False Prophet The History of Luxemburg, compos'd by John Bertels, Abbot of Fpternach, informs us, that Renauld, the Eldest of those Four Brothers, was martyr'd for the Name of JESUS CHRIT, that he was canonized, that the Church celebiates his Festival, and that Churches were consecrated to him, and the Church of St Renauld, in the Country of Cologne, to which a Namery is annexed. There is also a Church of that Church of that Church of the Country of Cologne, to which a Namery is annexed. There is also a Church of that same Saint at Cologne, near that of St Maurice, and the Image of the Four Biothers is on the Wall in that Church They are on one Hoise, and Renauld the Eldest has a Diadem round his Head, as a Mark of his Saintship e pretended, that after having been a great Warrior under Charlemagne, he turn'd Monk at Celeone, that he died a Martyr, and that because he wrought Miracles, after his Death, 1 Church was built to him (

AYRAULT

Reformst on, according to which the Court of Rome Means of heaping up Money, the Prelates would have been deprived of to many Ways and Means of heaping up Money, the Prelates would have been oblig d to live well, and to discharge their Dute, and Pomp of Cere ionies, the needless Holidis, the Abute of Lasts, and the Canonical Number of Mo 1s, Image and Temples would have been abolish d, and the Number of Mo 1s, Image and Temples would have been leder 1 (1) We may certainly believe that all the Writings of Peter d Ailli are not sit to please the Court of Kome, time three or four of them (1) have been inferted in the Appendix of the Faferculus raim experendarum or fugiendarum Orthumus Gratii I il aliendy inferted in that Fasciculus, that Cardinals lacitife de emendatione Leeles e What I have find concerning the diminution of the Monks, does not agree with what Theret (a) had heard tay, That P to a Alle hid composed a Book entituled, a 1 ondon Hi Lu klr of Poverty, wherein he made the Apology it the Tar of the Mendicint Livis

(1) It Cutchins place kim also in the Number of the set the rio runner. A P of of of Lon an, one of ubi supri the most continue to Mi D serves, became (d) one of P 9

(d) Bullet, and or cours and approved by the Church, his Opinion

I the of concounter traduction attent, which was almost the only

Deleastes, there is the first dar. Some time after he inferted in In It olo I at I if s, an Alstract of a Book, which Cardired Allie, B floop of Cambras made on the Mafter of the Sertinee, to flew that "at Cara na 'proposes Mr Delcutes Opinions concerning the Accidents of the Inchieft and reconcils it with ne Definition of the O in in al Countil of Conftance (11) Hompord many Rooks His Commentaries on the Miller of the Sentences, and the Lour Freatiles that have been inferted in the Appendix of the Fafin 140 A Volume of his Treatiles and Sermons was junted in the fime Place at the fame Time Pur of his Tienties was reprinted at Dougi, in the &cur 16 4 by the Cue of Leander de St Martin, Heto a Protession or Doin Thevet (e) says, That he had a book of P ter d Aills, that was printed in the 2 1 Or Houling Town hundred and Ien, the Twelfth of August, n/ nti zot of Prin ing began to be in use in I tince, in which there is a great number of Mathemat 1/ From I his cannot be, for Printing was not invented till about the Year 1445. He might have find, that in 1487 the bacramentale of that Author us printed at Iouvain, and that his Questions in it im mundi fearmis de Sacrebojco cum commentariis in Caveli Daronens Hispani, were printed at Paris in 11158 His Meteors were reprinted at Strafthe Year 1504 and at Vienna in Austria, in the Year 1504 and at Vienna in Austria, in the Year 15 9 His Life of Pope Gilistin V was pinted at Provin the Year 15,9 (g) and 1s to be found in the Lives of the Saints compiled by Sulling Title of that Book is somewhat puzzling. tee the given from Book is ionic time per ing, tee the thirty of Contellion of Contles V but it is much better to suppose that Charles V is put there instead of Charles VI than to say, that there was another Piter d' Ailli Possev n, who believed it, is much mistaken I do not find any Matter that was to dear to that Cardinal as Aftrology, for belides that he prefented a Writing to the Council of Constance, on the Reiormation of the Catendar, he compos'd the following Books, Trastatus de vero cyclo lunare Vigintilogium dantia Aftronomica veritatis cum Theologia dantia Astronomica veritatis cum Incologia de (h) convordia Astronomica verstatis o narration storica Trastatus elucidarum Astronomica concordia b Theologia & cum Historica Nariatione Apologetica (i) definite Astronomica verstatis Alia secunda (k) Apologetica defensio equidem Tractatus de concordia discordantium Astronomorum

Du Peyrat lays (1), That Bodin in his Preface to the Demonomania of Sorcerers, makes mention of a Book compos d by Cardinal d' Ailli, wherein he maintain'd, that there is not one necessary Demonstration in Aristotle, one God There are Two little Things to be reproved in this s, for adin does not fay, as du Peyrat intinates, That would made a Particular Treatife on that Subject, and he fays, (m) that that Author observed form other Demonstrates and Market thor observed some other Demonstrations in Aristotle, tho' but in a small Number

(1) Some more never printed] They are in the Li-(1) Some wire never printed] They are in the Library of the (n) College of Navarre, Mr de Launoi gives a List of them Some of them contain an Aniwer to iome very Curious Questions, as, Urium essertial supposita unius natura sit perfectios. Urium libertas criatura rationalis ante & post lassum internsece sit aqualis. Urium Creatura rationalis eonscientia erronea ejus attumexcusare possit This last Question puts me eque attumexcufare posses. This last Question puts me in mind of some Writings that came out in Holland some time ago, about the Rights of an Erroneous Conscience, wherein it is provid in such a demon-firative manner, that every Action committed against the Light of Conscience, is essentially evil, and that it must necessarily and indispensibly be a-voided, that those who had a mind to oppose that Doctrine, fell into this dreadful Opinion, That a Man must not always ast according to the Light of his Conscience From whence it follows, that a Man does formetimes a Good Action, in acting against the Light of his Conscience A monstrous Doctrine, that overthrows all Morality, and in comparison of which the rankest Probabilism is an Innocess Opinion. That which is remarkable is, that they are Fanaticks who have thrown themselves that they are Fanaticks who have thrown themselves that Precipice, the they are more concerned than any body else to affert the Rights of Conscience

(K) He made also some Verses in the Valgar Longuage. I quote my Author in the Margin, (e) who fays, That Peter d'Ailin wrote many French Verses in such Rhôme as was used in his Teme, which were put into Latin Verses by Nicolas de Chemangis. I have seen fome of them, lays he, that were printed above a hundred Years ago He adds, That the same Author writ a Book in French, entituled, The Seven Steps

IF at Cologne, m ber, rest (k)Done at Cologne, in the Month of October, 1418 (/) DuPa-Yat, Antithe Chap-pel of the Ling of France P 345 (m)Bodin, Pref of nom of Sorcerers, P M 14. (n) Parest Ondin's Supplem p 699

(0) La Croix de Maine Biblioth Franc P 381.

AYPOLT (Peter,) in Latin Erodius, Lieutenant Criminal in the Presidual of Angers, his wave Country, was born in the Year 1536. He learned Classical I earning and Philosophy at Para; afterwards he went to study the Civil Law at Toulouse, trom thence he went to Bourges to improve himself by the Lectures of Duarenus, Cujas, and Doneau, three of the most Excellent Civilians of that Time Having taken his Batchelor's Degree at Bourges, he return'd into his Country, where he read some Publick Lectures on the Civil Law, and pleaded some Causes He was then 22 Years of Age Some time after he return'd to Paru, where he became one of the most (A) Famous Advocates of the Parliament In the Year 1563 he publish'd the Declamations of Quintilian there, which he corrected in divers Places, and added Notes to them The Year following he caus'd a Treatise of the Power of Redemption, composed by Francis Grimiudet, the King's Advocate at Angers, to be printed in the same City, and he added a Preface to it, concerning the Nature, Variety, and Alteration of the Laws In the Year 1567 he publish'd a Book entituled Decretorum rerumve apud diversos pipulos ab omni Antiqui inte Judicatarum Libri duo —— Accedit trastatus de origine & austoritate rerum Judicatarum He added much to it in (A) the other Fditions, He lest Paris the Year following, to exercise the Office of Lieutenant Criminal in his Countrey Which he did with so much exactness, that like another Cassius he was call'd the Rock of the Accused During the Disorders of the League, he exercised in the (C) Interim the Office of Piesident in the same Court of which he acquitted himself with the same Integrity. The City of angoing expressed their Esteem for him in divers manners, and chiefly by the Oslice of Peperual Feberum, which they conferr d upon him He fell out with Philip Gourreau, Master of Requests, his Countryman, and published an Apologetick Letter ig unst him in 1577 He stood firm in the good Party against the League, and he was obliged to do so, not only by reason of the Office he had in the Presidual, but also because he was Master of Requests of the Duke of Angou, a Place which he had jointly with the Civilian Baudouin, Angers, before that Prince came to the Throne The Speech which he made to that Duke at the Second his Entry into Angers, the 7th of January, 1570 was printed (D) with the Discourses that he address'd to him in praise of his Victories, and of the Restoration of the United That Versity of Angers That Discourse runs chiesly on Baudouin's having dedicated two Anci-Piece is in ent Panegyricks to that Prince, that which Fumenius made upon Constantius, and that Latin which Pacatus made upon Theodesius. The Discourse that Agrault publish d in the Year on the Death of Henry III and on the Scandal that the Church received by it, this ship Adherence to that Monarch's Party III neither put his own, not the Princer's Name to it Thumus & speaks of it with Praise The Latin I rinstitute that the & Thum. Luthor made of it, was found among his Papers He writ a Discourse at the me, Inft 105

two Edi 1-Ons of it A Whichell

a) Laun ubi tupi i P 479

of the Ladder of Penitence, on the Seven Penitential Pfalms, printed a Paris I fear that La Croix du Maine decrives us as to this last Work, for Mr de Lainoi (a) says positively, That Antony Belard made a Irin b Granslation of the Lasin Treatife of Peter d Ailli, on the Seven Penitential Pfalms, and that Dinys de Harss printed that inflation at Lions, in the Year 1544 in 1600

II L R E is a Supplement "The French Verses" of Peter d' Ailli that la Croix du Maine spoke of, "are only a in number, and contain a Short De-

" are only 3 in number, and contain a Short De"icription of a Tyrant's Life Nicolas de Clemangis "nade a Prinphiale of em in Latin, Hexameter Verses, printed with the French Verses of Peter d" Ailli, at the end of the Book entituled, The Con- Ailli, at the end of the Book entituled, The Contempt of the Court, translated from the Spanish of Gu var vinto Irene's, Italian, and High Dutel, at Geneva, in 16to by John de Tou wes 16.5 The Paraphiase of Clemangis is also to be found at the end of his Lpistles, p 355 of the Edition of Leiden As for the Franslation of Antony Belard, Antony du berdier says. Page 51 of his Riblind bequetony du Verdier frys, Page 51 of his Bibliotheque, that it was printed in 1542 by Denys de Harse, in 16to at Lions (b)"

(A) One of the most Famous Advocat s of the Parlia-ent mitting Lossel in his Dialogue of the Advoment I inteny Lossel in his Dialogue of the Advo-cates of the Parliament of Piris, places our Asiauli in the Lift of the most I amous, and gives him the Preeminence over Bodin It is true that he remarks, that Bodin had no Success at the Bar Their are Loisel's Words (c) Peter Ayrault was also provided with the Place of I tenten int Criminal at Angers, where he was born, and i tired thither about the latter end of the extraarth is ordinary Sissions of Poitiers, in the Tear 1567 although that which he pleaded moltand learnedly enough, and much better than John for Angers, notwithstanding his great and Exquire theirne, for he never had any Success in any of Priests were printed at Paris in the Year 1568 They were against the reprinted at Romen in 1614 with the Notes and AdIssuits, in ditions of a Young Civilian Mr Menage, who says 1564
(c) Ither the printed at Paris in the Year 1568 They were printed at this in 1598 in 8vo with some other small Pieces to Peter Appaule. Peter syrault The Priests of Paris chose him in 1564, to plead their Cause against the Jesuit; yet he did not plead it, perhaps because it was not thought fit that the Interests of the Priests should be feparited from those of the Bishop of Laris It be, the Conjecture of du Bouln (f) However it be the Conjecture of du Boulai (f) his Plea was made publick, as I have just now faid

in a Marginal Note

(P) He added much to it in the other Editions] The Second Edition is of Paris 1573 in 800 and contains Six Books The Third is in Fol and the Title of it is, Rerum ab omni antiquitate judicatarum Pande tæ It is also a Paris I dition, 1588 After the Death of the Author, the same Pandells were printed at Paris in the Year 1615 with the small I leatife de Patrio Twe. He had revised and corrected them. Mr Me-Tune He had revised and corrected them Mr Menage had promised (g a New Ldition of them, with Short Marginal Norcs, wherein he design d to shew from whence A raul had taken his Examples. That Work is very learned, Continet (h) enimines ab omni antiquitate apud Indos, sudaess, Graeos, Romanos, Francos, alios, judicatas. That which he wrote in French, Artificial and control of the words of the statement of the of the Judiciary Order and Instruction, which the Ancient P 27 Greeks and Romans made use of in Publick Acculations, compared with the use of our I rance, is good and cuitous It was printed the first time at Paris, in 1575 in 800. The Second Edition, which is of Paris 1588 in 410 was enlarged with Iwo Books. The I had was enlarged with one Book (1) at Paris, in the (1)So these Year 1598 in 4to So that this Work contains 10 in It wids of Books The Fourth Book that Treats of the Proc |- Mr Me-Books The Fourth Book that Trents of the Proc |- Mr Men |
fis made against Deal Bodies, Ashes, Memory, Brute |
Beasts, and things Inanimate, was printed at Paris in | 1591 I forgot to fry, that his Treatrice de decreti | 1- translated | business printed at Fran fort in the Year 1580 from the | Tirst Ldition The Abbreviators of Gessia did not |
Know our Peter Arrault but by that Ldition of Gerduous |
1538 duobus |
many They believed wrong that his Name was | 1658 |
1658 |
1659 |
17 must be |
18 anno |

(C) In the Interim J Mr Menage makes that In:

rim to continue two Years, (k) Eo Pratura munera per biennium functius Arodius eff., and yet he fays, (i) That in eadem Ayrault was not nominated to that Office till the Eurbe publeventh of May, 1589 and that Henry the Great pro-licavit vided another with it, in the beginning of the Year (k) Id ib.

1590 incunte Anno 1590

(D) Was printed with the Discourse that he address d (1) lb p to him] Mr Menage did not well note the Time 23

(f) In Historia Acidem Parifienf t 6 p 966 pud Menig in telfim P 77 (r) Ubi (h) Mena-

anno1598

noi s Remarks MSS (c) Loisel, apud Me-

$1 19 H1 Mitim de

Æro-

(b) Mr de la Mon-io, p 26 (d) There are 22 of ta Peta Ærodn, P 26.

134 See the ellowing Article & The 19th of May, 1586 y They are dated the 18166f Marthe 15 milakin Avrault. gives him but 637 cars 1) vita Petii 4. rodn ib zi idio Merigio cjux ex h In Nepote fuipta, & typis fus 16 75 in 4to Мп tune ipic 1111111 $\xi \mid_{\Pi(1) \to 1}$ Qui Co ocur Ando 1vu i v ib i lem libe eli qual olun Ilp,s 14. " (Asseult, Brok of his in liciary Oir to re the to one 1 ic he

10 112 1 () 1 was 0/ 1/15 1574

1 1 11 E -

(c) Menng ubi tupia, P 25 () Ibid Por

(1) $ (1) 1 7 ~ ter c of Piquier wherein he exhorted Henry the IVth to become a Catholick. But of all his Works, that which made him most known in Foreign Countries, and chiefly among the Protefants, is the Treatise (E) of the Paternal Power He compos'd it while he was at Law with the Jesuits, on the account of his Eldest Son a, who had taken the Habit of their Order He had sent him to their College at Pars, to make him more capable to succeed him one Day, and some time after, he had the Vexation to hear that they had perswaded him to enter himself into their Order He made his & Complaints of it to the July, 1586 Parliament of Para, and when he knew that they had got him away, he presented a Petition to the Pope, and obtain d 2 Letters from Henry the III to Cardinal d Est, Protector of the Affeirs of France, and to the Marquis de Pisani, Ambassador of that missaken Crown, by which Letters the King defired very instantly, that an Older of the Pope gy of Perer should be sollicited for the I iberty of that Youth But all was in vain The Treatise of the Piternal Power, which he addiess d three Years after to that Disobedient Son, did not prove more effectual Although Agricult had other Sons, yet he was excellively vex d at the loss of him He had married Anne des-fardins at Paris, in the Year 1564. She was the Daughter of John des-fardins, Physician to Francis the I by whom he (F) hid 15 Children, whereof Ton were living when he died it Angers the 21st of fuly, 1601 aged 65 Years of I borrow this Article from Mr Minage

AYRAUIT (Ren) Fldest Son of the foregoing, caused his Father a great deal of Trouble. He was born at Paris & the eleventh of November, 1567 and was given to the J fuits to be inflructed by them Peter sprault had a great effect for them " it that time, and loved them, and would not then have pleaded against them for the Curives of Paris, is he would do in the Year 1564 Perceiving a very Quick Wit in his Lldest Son a creat Memo y, and many other good Qualities, he defired the Provincial of the I fire and the Rector of the College of Clermont most carnelly, when he put that Child to them, not to follicit him in any manner to enter into their Order, and told them that he had other Children to confectate to the Church, but that he design d him to succeed in his Office, and would make him the Support of his I amily They promisd! i'll it he defired. Nevertheless that Young Man's great Talents made the I have moisto hive a Subject of that importance in their Society, fo that after he I I radic ! Rh toral I wo Years under Lather fames S an nd they give him the Halit of their Order in 1586. His I itl er, without whole Confent of Privacy this was done, made a good noise. He accase them of Plagrandm, and fummon d them to give him h or sun. They inswered, That they knew not white we become of him in ult counted a Decree of Pulliment, whereby the Jesuits of the College of Climent we condesed not to secesive I ene xyr ult into their Order, and to notify that Prohibition to the other Coll res. That Decree was not obeyd, the Young Man was remove 1 from Place to Place, his Name was changed, he was fent into Lorrein, (21) (remain) and I I, II m) III caus d his Ambass idor, I and the Protector of his Affairs, to follicit the Pope, in wit to his Holiness about it, the Pope caused the I ist of all the Jefur s in the World to be showed him, Rene Agrault having another Name, did not appear in that I all I like Years of Trouble and Linquiry having produced nothing, the I other had recourse to he Pen, and wrote a Book concerning the Paternal Power, and ad-Rem made an Answer to it, but his Superiors did not think dicis dat to his son Rene wherein those two Pieces vere printed, he figs it w m 1577 and that the Prince who is praised in them, we sthe I into of Ic' / and Duke of Angen. Which is to fix plands enough that he was not ling reveithelets the Dule of Anjon was con to the second of the Dule of Anjou was conferred at Kermin the Month of Ich 1575 and he were puted ker, of Ir meethe very Dry (a) that Gert IV died You ray be fine that the Speech and Discourse in question came out in 157 and consequently when he that we prosed in them was not yet kine of to 11

(1) I Day of the Parant Power] The Author writ it in Irenel and in I is a one of his Countreymen whole Name was I est Dulert trinflitted of it, ('ic in figure of o tanguam cum absente reo, ho eft an io flanco i Opreci ni nate, (u' ppeles na ni pletometa fub umbra An flos ni citur fits

Erque con in no un nontele cormon est Talis Petres Ironia in form flum infolabiliter in for ptu fuis un r tur I 'encle que quos pf questin fundat
'roterto Orieni jude ann, moao fratrem Johanr, commente en general and compellans. Quis n fire to friese of our com querelas esus legat lover o, & tor 's eviles a Stephano Paleasto m ae patrio ius ad fugitivum filium pfit, a gem u & lacrim s temperare ion folus A rod us fatum fuum remui, lere Stephani Pascasu & Johannis #17 11 L noce pro
It is a large stephant Pajcafu & Johannis

1 Bo
Anton Arrall a net : Parthers Controller and Petrum Evaluam epistolas Lege

a net : Parthers Controller ful large no lal mir senatu Parthers contra Jesu large no last large

Remarks who Remarks what Antony Ar and diad upon it, and what was answer'd him by Piter Barni, Attoiney to the was antwel'd him by Peter Barni, Attoiney to the Joints of the College of Clement. The Aniwer innsthus, I hat the Icle is would never receive the name of the Icle is would never receive the name of the Icle is would never receive the name of the Icle is thought in the art I all is a receive the name of the following Arrive is a Section Remark A of the following Arrive is We defight a Particular Art cle for his Fldeft Son. His Second Son. Proc. ATRAULT, succeeded his latter in

Son P to ATR AULT, succeeded his I when in his Virtues and Office, and we President in the Sencetchal's Jurisdiction of Augus, Counsellor of the neichal's Junidiction of Angers, Counfellor of the City, and Mayor. He produced in the Year 16-3 a Profession of the Civil Law in the University of Angers, to William Barclai. The Speech he made to Mary de Medicer, the Mother of 1 mis XIII at Angers, the 16th of October, 1619 may be seen in the 6th Tome of the French Mires. He was deputed to the Assembly of the No abl. Men who met a Polem, in 1617. He lett Posterity. His Brother, John ATRAUIT, was Advocate in the Parliment of Paris. Their Brother, Il lliam A2 R JULT, 2B - nediction Monk. Doctor of Sorbonne was well belov'd nedictin Monk, Doctor of sorbonne was well belov'd by Lewis Servin, Advocate General in the Pailiament of Paris Gyomo ATR AULT, one of their Sifters, married William Menage, the King's Advocate in the Prefidial of Angers From that Marriage proceeded the late Mr Menage (g), one of the most Learned Men of France

Learned Men of France
(A) Into Lorrain, Germany, and Italy] Antony Avauld let forth in his Plea of the Year 1594 that the Jesuits had drawn away Rene Ayrault when he was but 14 Tears of Age, and that they kept him in Italy and Spain It does not appear that they ever tent (b) him into Spain, and he wanted but little

(c) Ex Ægid Menagiano in vita Petia Æ rodn

(h) Hi-Ípaniam quoque petuille falfo cieditum est Menage, P

They thought it better (AA) that Richeome, Provincial of the Jesuits of Paris, should refute Peter Ayrault's Book Here follow Rene s Adventures He enter d into the Order at Triers, the 12th of June, 1586 he went afterwards to Fulde, where he repeated his Study of Rhetorick He went through Germany, and was taken there by the Protestants, he went to Rome, where he studied Philosophy a Year, under Ministry Vitelleschia. He continued that Study the Year following at Milan, and finish dist A circuit at Dijon Having taught the Classes in the same City four Years with much success, he the lest it, when the Jesuits were banish'd from divers Cities of the Kingdom, in the Year CA that 1594 and went into Piemont, where he raught time Veet 1594 and went into Piemont, where he taught two Years He came afterwards to Aviguon, where he studied Divinity four Years Afterwards he returned to Rome, from Pl 'clep, y whence he was sent to Milan to teach Rhetorick He did it some Years, and return'd it- lasted 3 terwards into France, he went there through the most illustrious I imployments of his 7 and Order He taught Philosophy, he Preach'd, he was Present of a College He was Petri 4 Rector at Reims, Dijon, Sens, Dole and Bezancon, he was the Provincial's Affiffint, and rod i a Procurator of the Province of Champagne, and afterwards of that of Lions at Reme Menaging Lastly, he died at la Fleche the 18th of December, 1644 y His I ither by in Act part contempbefore a Notary and Witnesses, deprived him of his Blessing in the Year 15,7 but he did not persevere in his Anger till his Death, for a Writing (ADA) was found among his Papers wherein he gave him his Bleffing

AITZEMA (Leo d') a Frieslander Gentleman, born at Deccum in the Year 1600 was Counsellor of the Hans-Towns, and their Resident at the Higue He compiled a History of the United Provinces that fold very well, and is of great use to those that are employ d in Politick Affairs, for it contains Word for Word the I reaufes of Peace, Bele p the Instructions and the Memoirs of Ambassadors, the Letters and Answers of Sovereigns, the Capitulations of Towns and other Publick Acts, each in its Original Language, and then Translated into Dutch, in which Language that History is written in tressed Two (A) Editions have been made of it Although it is chiefly considerable for the at that Authentick Pieces that the Author Collected with much Patience and Application, I time is would not judge of the rest as (B) Mr de Wiequefort did I have heard fig that that Historian speaks in an impartial Manner of what concerns the Disputes of Religion Mr field state. Arnaud quoted him & for a thing that is not very Advantageous to the Protest ints 1 1- Harlin-Inter Andreas e speaks of one Leo Aetsma a Frieslander, who caus d his Youthful I tim gen to be printed at Francker in the Year 1617 Some & believe that this Poet does the first the Hague the 23d of February 1669 after having exercis'd there about 40 Years the Office of Resident so the Hamf-Towns, which was procured him by (BD) Toppius d AIT- 1685 the ZEMA his Uncle, Resident of Holland at Himburg Oui Leo was a very good Man, second in Ossicious, Assable, Liberal to the Poor, and very well vers d in Politicks He spoke the third several Languages, German, French, Italian, and English His Father was Secretary of in 1698 the Admiralty not Friesland It will not be useless to observe that they have published already Three & Volumes in Folio of the Continuation of Autzema, the full reaches from 1669 to 1679 the Second from 1679 to 1687 the Third from 1687 to 16)2 Minister whose Name is ITZEMA, writ a Dutch Book concerning the Sabyls

Menigio Part of 1 In the p 267 &Biblioth of his 19th Year when he took the Jesuits Ha-

(AD) They thought it better that Richeome should resure | His Answer was not Printed (b) Quia indecorum visum est adversus parentes scribere filios, probibitis est a Rectoribus sua Responsionem vulgare Igitur id aggressus cst Ludovicus Richeomus quod me docuit privata ipsius Renati Ærodii ad ipsum Richeomum epistola, cujus exemplar que sua est humanitas, mi-sit ad me Roma Petrus Possinus presbyter Societatis Jesu doctissimus, idemque Jesustice Historie scriptor celeberri-Scaneque Responsionem suam vulgavit Richeomus qua de causa nescio

 $(A\triangle \triangle)$ A Writing wherein he gave his Bleffing] It was fign'd with his own hand, and contain'd what follows (c) God give his Peace, his Love, and his Grace, to my Son René Ayrault I give him my Bleffing in the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost And I forgive him every thing meren he may have offended me And I pray God to affift him with his Bleffed Holy Spirit whatever Condition or Calling

he may andertake

(A) Two Editions have been made of it] The first contains 15 Volumer an 4to that were printed after each other The first at 57 and the last in 1671 The first begins at the Cellation of the Truce that was concluded by the Care of Henry the Great between Spain and the United Provinces, and extends from the Year 1621 to the Year 1625 The last contains the History of the Year 1668 The Second Edition is in 7 Volumes in Folio, that were printed in 1669 and in 1671 The last of those Volumes contains a general Table of the other Six, with the Relation of the Peace of Muniser, and a Treatise entitled. The of the Peace of Munster, and a Treatise entitled, The Lion re-establish'd, and which is the Narrative of the things that pass'd in the United Provinces in 1650 and 1651 in relation to some considerable Offices that were fill'd up. That Treatise had already up pear'd in 410 in the Year 1652. I he Relation of the Peace of Munster had been printed in Latin in the

Year 1654
(B A Mr de Wicquefort did) He speaks of Attzema in the following Words (d) "The Histo- (d) Inci
"ry, or the Account of the Assarts of State and of Wm, til of the
"that was written in Holland, in Fourteen or Ist- Am it is "the Wolfers Contains divers Treaties, Resolution dos April teen Volumes, contains divers Treaties, Resolutions, and other Authentick Pieces, so that it 1 p 1/ may ferve for an Inventory to those that have no sic also access to the Archives of the State But what pag 446 the Author added to it of his own, is not worth the Gazette, in what manner foever it be taken He has no Style, his Language is altogether Bar-He has no Style, his Language is altogether Bar-barous, and all the Composure of his Work is but a meer Chaos. This is common to him with most of those, who in that Country go about to write History without Order and Permission, and most times without Judgment and Sinceit-ty. It must be confess'd that this Judgment is very fevere, and very difadvantageous, and that it offends many Persons

fends many Persons

(BA) Foppius d'AITZFMA be Uncle, Rest dent of Holland] I have found a Passage concerning him in one of Pussendors's Volumes (as I have seen there, that in 1636, that Foppius, Envoy of the United directions to the Emperor, affirmed in Ratisbon, that rebu Suesalvius had writ to him, That the Swedes would be citels his gin to negotiate a Peace at the Court of Vienna Salvius denied it Nevertheless Foppius was very busy in 5, ad about negotiating the Peace, but Sweden did not amn 1637, think him sit for such a Work, and it was thought ridiculous for him to concern himself in such a Design, especially considering that since he was gone fign, especially considering that since he was gone

∦⇔ Me-

(b) Me-

nag p 39

a René Moreau in vita Briffoti

AKAKIA (Martin) Professor of Physick in the University of Paris in the XVIth Century, was of (A) Chalons in Champagne. His Name was Sansmalice, (without Mulice) but according to the Custom of those times he chang'd it (A) into that of Akakia, which fignifies the same thing in Greek as Sansmalice in French. He transmitted it to his Posterity, that have always bore it to this present time. He made considerable progresses at Paris, under the Prosessor Peter Brissor, and learn'd a most of the things of him that he publish'd $(A\triangle \triangle)$ afterwards on Galen. He was made Doctor of the Faculty of Physick of Paris in the Year 1526 Francis Ist one of whose chief Physicians he was, had a great esteem for him I cannot say in what Year he became Professor of Physick, but he was so when Gesner publish'd his Bibliotheca, that is, in the Year 1545 He died in the Year 1551 He had taken for his Coat of Arms, Gules and a Cross Or, with Four Cubes of the same, with this Motto, Quacunque ferat fortuna, ferenda est He took to Wise Mary Chauveau, Widow of Silvan de Monthelon, by whom he had a Son who was Professor of Physick, as we shall see Most of his Descendants have followed the same profession, but one among them concern'd himself with other things (B) than Physick Those that place (() the Death of our Martin Akakia in the Year 1605 are strangely mistaken Marot spoke of him with praise What he said of him Menage has been cited by Mr & Menage

Orig of theFrench

AKAKIA (Martin) a Paristan, Son of the foregoing, was made Doctor of Phylongue p sick of the Faculty of Paris, in the Year 1572 Triftun de Rostaing Knight of the Order, over to the Roman Communion, he made use of all forts of means to infinuate himfelt into the Emperoi s I avour (b) Nec Aizema idoneus tanta rei autor (b) Id It good fuccesta facta Romana gratia Cafaris omnibus mos interpretations

(b) Id The quod if the clear fe ingerere non dub taret, quem prafertime poil fuscepta facta Romana gratia Cafaris omnibus modernical control of the co

dis adripere constabat
(A) Was of (halons | Morer not knowing what Catalauninsis meant, thought in good earnest that Akaka was a Catalar Hi mas of Catalonia, thys he,

(c)Quenf de patriis vuor p

(a) In the Leaf O III (e) At the 4th Page of the tdition of Puis, 1694 (f)Labbe, Etymologies of the Holdi, P

(g) (lef get in Biblioth

tol con

Akakia was a Catalar He was of Cataloma, Trys he, and he refers us to Quenfledt, who noted (c) politively, that that Physician was of Calons, a City the Bifop whereof calls himfelf Count and Peer of France (AD) His Name was Sinfimalice, but This is what Rine Moreau testifies in the Life of Sylvius, and Gabriel Naud. in his Judgment (d) on Augustin Niphus See la Mothe le Vaier also, at the 277 page of the 12th Tome of his Works, and Mr Menage in his Origines (e' of the French Language 1 ather Labbe (f) believes that all this is but an exposit fee o, or a pretty Allusion which was made afterwards, or a Nickname that Allufion which was made afterwards, or a Nickname that was given him and that pill afterwards into a family Name. He prounds himself on I wo Reasons, the fift is that a garia does not lignify a Man free from Malice, but the receding from Malice. The second is, that the Phylician of Fancis Ist would have writ Acaera on the light of the half of the Name Management of the Name of or Akika, if he had tiken a Name Metimorphofed from the Greek Longue. He idds to confirm the first, that this Physician of it be true that Its Name war Sanimalice lefore, would have done better to leave that Feminine Name arraia, to take one more manly, and il at should have fome relation to arraid. Acacius, would not laugh at the Simplicity or Ignorance of him, who laving the Name of Bald of Vituous for a lamily Name, would call himself a carence or again the Residual to the form of Bald of Vituous for a lamily Name, would call himself a carence or again. I hole Residual the sery weak. As for the second it may be own d that he should have writ macra, or Akakia, and I think that learned Physician fign'd after the list minner As for the other Reason, it is easy to fee that I other Laobe fays nothing that is worth any thing, for the Maiculine Name a gase does not fo fully univer the French word Sansmalice, as the I eminine a rake a does. The Comparison of Bald or Intuous is improper, since it is certain that Sansmalice has not the Nature of an Adjective Name, and that it a Man whole Name had been Averpeleure, (with Baldness) would have turned it into Greek, he should rather have taken that of Synalopecia then that of Synalopecius (ADD) That he publish'd .

(ADD) That he published on Gaich I in 1996 he published a Latin I ranslation of Galen's Two Books, De ratione curands, (g) and added a Commentary to it Afterwards he translated the Ars Medica quater of ar parva, of the same Galin That Work was C' ar parva, of the same Galin That Work was printed at Lyons in 1548 He is also the Author of a Book printed at Paris in the Year 1555, with the Litle of Synopsi equum que quinque prioribiu librus Galeni di facultatibus simplicium medicamentorum con

(B) With other things than Physick] A Letter of Guy Patin dated the 22d of July, 1664 contains these Words, "The king has caus'd the Brother of " M Acakia our Collegue, to be clapp'd up in the

" baffile, for having writ fomething that displeased "the Prince It is not long ago since he was employed about the Mairinge of the Duke of Enguin, " and had been Secretary of the limbuly of Prince Inches "and had been Secretary of the Embally of Po"land" Every body knows the Complaints that a I riend of the House of Austria, disguised under the Name of Stanislaus Lysimachus I ques Polonus, publish d in 1683 against the Intelligence that Iranic entertain d with Count Tekeli, by the means of Akakia and du Irnai-Boucauld I have just now read in a Book (h) Littled, The Journal of Amsterdam, that the same Akakia had a gient share in the Intigues that tended to cause the Crown of Polind to fail on the Head of the Duke of Longuezille his the depositor that tended to cause the Crown of Polind to far on in the Head of the Duke of Longueville by the deposing of King Michael It is affirmed in that Journal, that Septembre Emperor had caused Complaints to be made of it but, 1693 to the King of France, and that among others he had named Mr. Acakin as one of the chief Management of the chief the named Mr Acakia as one of the chief Managers of that Affair, that Mi Acakia was put in the Baltile, out that he was the more Attentive ly it to the Intrigie that le had begun, and had more leifure to keep up the Correspon-dences which he had contracted that his Letters and his Negotiat on continued their Courfe, notwithstanding that Imprisonment, and that the Business was so far advaned that nothing but the Death of the Duke of Vanc d that nothing but the Death of the Duke of Longueville (1) hinder'd the Execution of it. The Medals were already prepared. That tecond Imprisonment of Mr. Akakia lafted but five or its Months, (1) He wise it a Perion may be believed whom I have confulted fince the reading of that Journal. That Perion told pass receipt me moreover, that Mr. Akakia was so oversooy d to the Rhine for himself chosen to go and sometimes. tee himself choten to go and foment the Froubles of 1/61-Hung 174, that although he was very fick, yet he June, found himfelf immediately well enough to fet out Not daring to go by the way of Germany, he went into England, where he took Shipping to Sweden, from whence he went by Sea to Riga, and from thence to Poland, where he died He was an intriguing Man, and he acted vigorously for the Con-clusion of the Peace of Ol on

(C) Those that plac'd the Death - in he Year 1605 This the Author(k) of the Diarium B ographicum did here are his words under that Year, Martinus A- (1) Hen kakia, Gallus CAI AI AUNENSIS, Measure Do- Witte Hor & Professor Lutetiæ Paris Atten which he men- professor tons the I tiles of some Books, of which Akakia of Riga in a Chalons is the true Author It he had known that Briss. fot, whose Disciple our Akakia was, was no more in France in the Year 1519 he would not have prolonged the Life of that Disciple to the Year 1605 or he should have said something of such an extraordinary old Age, as that would have been That which might have deceived him, is, that a Physician died in the Year 1605 whose (1) Patin, Name was Akabia He was a Grand-Child of Brij. Letter 8 for s Disciple Guy Patin (1) ipeaks of him in this of the 1st manner with his Cynick Liberty, Iwo Doctors of our Lite Society concerned themselves in the Apology of Theodorus Mayerne Turquet to with Samue and Indiana. Society concerned themsilves in the Apology of Ticodo-rus Mayerne Turquet, to wit, Seguin who always lup-ported the Quacks, and its Brother in-law Acakia, who died in the Year 1605, of the Pox that he brought from Italy whither he went with M de Bethune Ambassader at Rome If our Martin Akakia could have got such a Disease in the time of that Embassy, he would without any contradiction have been the old off Whoremonger in Europe and Amiot Bishop of Auxerre became his (A) Patrons, and at their Solicitation Charles

+/ 61_t/16

KAKIA.

IX. gave him the Office of first Reader and Professor Royal of Chirurgery in the Year

1574. Four a Years after he was made Second Physician of Henry III As he loved of mark A to bring elaborate Lectures into the Royal Schools, which took up a great deal of time, he fear'd that the visiting of Patients, and the Functions that he was oblig'd to perform at Court, would be too heavy a Burthen for him So that to preferve himself from finking under so many Labours, he resigned his Professorship with the King's leave to John Martin, a Person very capable of that Office, as his Writings (B) testify. But Martin having well consider'd that it would be incompatible with his other Business, if he would discharge it honestly, return'd it to Martin Akakia, who dispos'd of that Lmployment in favour of his Son-in-Law Peter Seguin, and died very soon after in the Year 1588 being about Forty nine Years of Age He lest Two Sons, of whom I am going to speak, and a Daughter who was Married to Peter Seguin, one of the most learned Physicians of the Faculty of Paris, and who exercis'd his Father-in-I aws Profession in the Royal-College from the Year 1588, to the Year 1599 The Treatise de morbis and the Confiles Medica of our Martin are scarce known to any body but under the false Supposition that they come from the same hand as the Treatises of Martin Akaksa of Chalons I have not seen a Bibliographer that distinguishes the Tather's Writings from those of the Son, both are ascribed to Martin Akakia Catalaunensi 1 should have been deceiv'd in it as well as Morers, had I not consulted (C) some Friends The Two Books de morbis muliebribus were inferted in the Collection that a Physician, whose Name is Ifrael Spachsus, caus'd to be printed at Strasburg in 1597, of divers Treauses concerning the Diseases of Women, and as for the Confilia Medica, they are to be found in a Collection of the like Works which Scholzius caus d to be printed at Franckfort in 1598 It is very likely that Israel Spachius believ d that the Two Books de morbis muliebribus were a Work of the Disciple of Brissot It was doubtless he that put in the Title, Martini Akakiæ Medici Regii & in Universitate Paristensi Professoris Medicinæ doctissimi, &c That Work had never been printed, but there were many Minuscript Copies of it Spachius knew in general that Martin cikakia had made it, and he believ'd that that Akakia was the same who had publish'd some Books already, thus he place, gave him the Qualities of the Akakia of Chalons, and not that of Royal Professor, having which the Author would have taken upon him, if he had published his Book him-been made felf

KAKIA (Martin)Son of the foregoing, took his Degree of Doctor of Physick fick the AParis, in 1598 He was made Professor Royal of Chirurgery the Year after, by the 10th of resigning of Peter Seguin 6 his Brother-in-Law He took a Journey to Rome, and died of September 1599 Sickness at Paris in the Year 1605 without leaving any Posterity He is buried with his Father at St Germain de l Auxerrois His Brother John AKAKIA, promoted to the Do- finning of Ctorship of Physick in the Year 1612 was Physician to Lewis XIII And died in Savoy John Du-

in the Year 1630 He left (D) many Children

Ro, 1/1 11-

AK I-

(A) Became his Patrons] A more proper Proof cannot be given of it than the Words that I am going to cite out of a Panegyrick of Henry the Third Mntin Akakia speaks, Vix dum igitur in publica prof flone, qua nos Carolus Rex Christianissimus, Tristando Rossamio Equite Iorquato sortissimo, & Jacobo Amyoto Alrissiodorcussum Episcopo de noba referentibus, cohonestavorat, quadriennium compleveramus, cum Tu nos intertuos Medicos allegisti & conscripsisti. That Panegyrick was printed it Paris in the Year 1578 and this was the Title of it Martini Akakia Regii & Medici & Prossissimo di sum in ordinem Regiorum Medicorum cooptationem Panegyricus, Henrico Valesso Regi Christianissimo di su mo dictus

(B) As bu Writings testify | Rene Moreau took care to cause Two of that Author's Works to be printed, Prelectiones in librum Hippocratis Coi de morbu internis, Paris 1637 Pralectiones in librum Hippocratis Coi de aere, aquis & locis, Paris, 1646 He prefixed the Author's Elogy to the first There are also some Latin Verses of Antony Mornac prefixed to the Second in praise of the said Martin, who was one of the Commissioners at the famous Conterence of

du Perron, and du Plessis

(C) Had I not consulted some Friends] The Profession Dreimcours was pleased to inform me that Martin Akakia, Author of the Treatise de morbis muliebribus, does not only cite Fernel and Amatus Lusitanus, but also Scaliger's Work against Cardan, and the Cosmocretice of Cornelius Gemma Fernel dedicated his Books to Henry II who did not begin to Reign till the Year 1547 Amaius Lusiamus composid his 2d (c) Century at Rome (d) in the Year 1552 I fay at Rome, whither Pope Julius III had invited him Scaliger's Book against Cardon was not printed till 1553 That of Cornelius Gomms was written on occasion of the Star of the Year 1572 and was not printed till 1575 So that this Marsin Akakia was living in the Year 1575 M Drelincoure's Remarks prove it plainly Now as I had read (e) that Martin Akakia was Royal Professor of Physick in the Year Akakis was Royal Professor of Physick in the Year 1577, and that Peter Seguin succeeded him the 20th of September, 1594, I desired to know what William Du Val said upon it in his Catalogue of the Professor of the Royal College I knew it by means of Mr (f) Pinsson de Riolles, who took the pains in a most obliging manner to send me several particulars concerning the Akakie's He instrumed me 568 lars concerning the Akakia's He informed me among other things, 1 That Martin Akakia of Chalons, Physician to Francis the Tirst, died in the Year 1551 From this Fact and the Remarks of Mr Drelincourt it must necessarily result, that the Author of the Pools de market mulichribut. Is not Martin Akakia the Book de morbis mulichribus, is not Marsin Akukia Catalaunensis 2 That it is true indeed that Piter Seguin was provided in the Year 1588 with the place of Royal Lecturer in Chirusgery, by the refiguing of Marsin Akakia his Father-in-Law, but that he was obliged to take new Letters in the Year And the Reason of it is this During the Civil Wars, the Number of Royal Lecturers increased much more than the Foundation bore, se veral Persons had surreptitiously obtain'd the trovifions of that place Henry the Fourth turn dout part of those Lecturers in 1594 and gave new Letters again to those that were retain'd Pere Siguin was one of the latter And for that Reidon his Promotion was noted in the Year 1594 by the Author of the Antiquities of Paris, but it that Author had been exact, he would not have been contented to fay that Peter Seguin was put into Marsin Akakia's place the 20th of September, 1594. He would have been afraid to make his Readers think that the second of the land of that the Year and the Peters. would have been afraid to make his recaused that Peter for all casy that Martin Akakia died that same Year and that Peter for all casy when Will Segum begun at that time to be Royal Professor Now whoever should say so, would tell two great Fal-

(D) He left many Children] 1 Martin AKAKIA, hijh d his Royal Professor (a) in Chirurgery, who refigned his Ca aloru place

(e) In the

(a) He was liam du Vil pui n 1644

(c) It 15 t at which Akıkıa au tes wit hout naming 1t, but what he quotes Curar 39 P 187 (d' He says so bimself, P 236

a That word sigm-fies in Hebrew, Son of the Star Vide Joh à Lent Schedias ricoPhilologicum de Judæ-Pfendo-Meffus. pag 9 Vld Lent, p 14 J 16 p 9 & 15 e Ib p 14 ex Tra-Etatu I almudico Lrut, fol (lb p 15 mudico Berachos, fol 61 nIb pis libelli de Cippis ab gerol diti & Latine Translati

> (/)Hiftor litern prodro-mo p 53 apudPlaccium de Picudonymis pag 1 4 (c) Plac-

AKIBA, a famous Rabbin, flourish'd a little after Titus had ruin'd the City of Je-AKIBA, a ramous Kabbin, mourning a little after Titus had ruin'd the City of Terusalem He was only a Jew by the Mother's side, and it is pretended that his Father descended from Sisera, General of the Army of Jabin King of Typestaleba hv'd sin the Country till he was 40 Years of Age, where he had not a very Honourable Employment, for he kept the Flocks of Calba Sebwa, a rich Citizen of Jerusalem. At last he undertook to Study at the Instigation of his Master's Daughter, who promis'd to Marry him if he made great Progresses in the Sciences. He applied himself so earnestly to Study for 24 Years in the Academies, that afterwards he found himself surrounded with a Crowd of Disciples, as one of the greatest Masters that were in Israel He ed with a Crowd of Disciples, as one of the greatest Masters that were in Israel He had 24 Thousand Scholars He declar'd for the Impostor a Barcochebas, and mairtain'd that these Words of Balaam, A Star shall come out of Jacob, were to be understood of him, and that he was the true Messias B He was not contented to do to him what Samuel did to the two first Kings of the Jews, I mean, to Anoint him y, but besides he would be his Querry J The Forces that the Emperor Hadrian sent against the Jews, who under the Conduct of that false Messas had committed horrible Massacres, exterminated that Faction Akiba e was taken, and punish'd with a Cruel Death His Flesh was tore with ζ Iron Combs, but in such a manner, that they lengthen'd the Torture, and put him to Death as it were with a flow Fire He liv'd 120 Years, and was Buried with his Wife in a Cave, on a Mountain that is not far from Tiberias 24 Thousand Disciples were Buried below him in that same Mountain 1 I mention these things without pretending they should all be believ'd It is thought that he publish'd a Supposititious Book under the Name of (A) the Patriarch Abraham Some attribute to him posititious Book under the Name of (A) the Fathantin accommoder that the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that, which is to have (B) alter'd the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that, which is to have (B) alter'd the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that, which is to have (B) alter'd the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that, which is to have (B) alter'd the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that, which is to have (B) alter'd the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that, which is to have (B) alter'd the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that, which is to have (B) alter'd the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that, which is to have (B) alter'd the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that, which is to have (B) alter'd the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that, which is to have (B) alter'd the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt than that the Hebrew To a more condemnable Attempt the Hebrew To a m ttatu I'il. of the Bible, that he (C) might answer an Objection of the Christians (D) praise him very much, and look upon him as a Man, who taught them (L) all the unwrit-

Place to Mathurin Denyau, and died some Years after 10 1677 leaving a Son who was Clerk to the Comptroler-General of the Finances, and a Daughter Marand had so much Cre. ptroler-General of the Finances, and a Daughter Married to Mr. le Vayer de Boutigni, Couniellor in the Parliament of Paris a Roger AKAKIA He is the Intriguing Man of whom I spoke in the Remark B of the first Akakis 3 Charles AKAKIA, a very Pious Clergy-man, addicted to Port-Royal 4 Simon AKAKIA du Plassis, Agent of the Ladies of Port-Royal 5 N AKAKIA, known by the Name of Mr du Iac. He tikes care of the Edition of the late Mr de Sacis Books on the Scripture There have been other Children of John Akakis, besides those I ive kakia, besides those I ive

(A) That he writ a Suppositious Book under the Name of the Patriorch Abraham | That Book is entitled, Sepher Jezuah, that is, The Book of the Greation See the Remark E of the Atticle of Abraham, and add this Supplement to it Lambecius ought not to have faid (/) that this Book of the Creation was printed the first time at Minitua, for the Edition of Mantua in 410 with the Commentary of Abraham Ben Dior, in 410 with the Commentary of Abraham Ben Dior, and of feveral other Ribbs, whose Names you may find in the 536thPage of the Critical History of the Old Testamen had been preceded by the Paraledition, in 800 1552. The tame Book was printed at Basil in Folio, in the Yen 1587, with several others of the tame Stamp It is of great weight with the Cabalists, they say (c) they make use of it to work Miracles.

(B) To law alter the Hebrew Fext of the Bible]
That Alteration concerns the Age that the Patriarchs had, when Children were born to them No Body is ignorant that in that Year they were older, Body is ignorant that in that Year they were older, according to the Bible of the LXX, than according to the Hebrew Bible For Example, if we follow the Hebrew Text, Adam was 130 Years old when his Wife was brought to Bed of Seth, but according to the Translation of the LXX, he was at that time in his I wo hundred and thirtieth Year Most Divines will have the Hebrew Text to be preferred before the Greek. Those that are for the Greek, are but a small Number, but then they are commonly choice the Greek. Those that are for the Greek, are but a small Number, but then they are commonly choice Learned Men. Father Paul Pauron, a Monk of the Strict Observance of Giegua, and Doctor in Divinity of the Ficulty of Paris, is one of that small Number. He says among other things, that the Jews alter'd the Hebrew I ext in the time that past from the Destruction of Jerusalem under Tiem, till the 12th Year of the Limperor Hadrian (d) He the 12th Year of the Imperor Hadrian (d) He proves it by the Translation of Aguila, publish'd in the 12th Year of that Emperor, which agrees well enough with the Hebrem Text at this present time

nough with the Hebrew Text at this present time Now as Aquila passing from the Christian to the Jewish Religion, put himself under the Discipline of Akiba, it seems very likely to Father Pezron, that that Alteration of the Scripture must be imputed to that Rabbi It is certain that Akiba was (e) at that time in great esseem among the Jews, and chiefly among those of Palestine, for he was about 40 Years Master of the College they had at Jahne, or at Tiberras, near the Lake of Genezareth He (f) had many Disci-ples, he pass'd for the most Learned among the Jews, and had so much Credit with them, that it was he who

"frongly against the Jews than in those Times, and tuse never opposed them more effectually. For they che were contented to shew them the Godding the 66 one side, and on the other side the Russian the russian that were before their Eyes, the side one side, and on the other side the Russian them that JESUS GHRIST, who side them that JESUS GHRIST, who side them that JESUS GHRIST, who side them that Moses had promised _______ But they press described them close with their own Traditions, which imported, That the CHRISI should manifest fer thin she that the side of about Singthon Tears, by the side she she should be side them strangely, and of that is doubtless the Resson why it is said in the Time Talimud, that Akiba (b) and Samsa computed the (n) Years out of which such powerful Arguments (o) were drawn to she side them in the Six thousand Tears, if the Bible was such as we vid have it at present, for it wants much of that Num- (p) have it at present, for it wants much of that Number of Years, from Adam to JFSUS CHRIST Jews pre-(D) The Jews praise him very much J They call'd tend tish him (1) Sethumtaah, that is, The Authentick One Ribit Ju(k) of them fays, it would fill a whole Volume to da, m/o speak of him according to his Worth His Name, compled says another, ran all over the Universe, and we it, was have received all the Oral Law from his Mouth, (1) Boin the Hujus nomen (inquit autor libri Zemach David) exiit (ame Dis ab uno extremo mundi usque ad aliud, atque totam legem oralem ex estes ore accepimus

(E) Who taught them all the unwritten Law | See the Passage just now quoted, and the Book (m) which Father Paul Pezron published at Paris in the Year 1691 We find (n) there that Rabbe Akila, the Son of Joseph, is the first Compiler of the Din- quo obust teroses, or Jewish Traditions, and the chief of the R Alaba, Traditioners, that he Collected the Traditions which de quo obust ted, simeon, and other ancient Doctors had invented, that he added others of his own Invention to exorus ted, that he added others of his own Invention to exortis them, that they were entertained till the end of eff & fol the Vth Century, at which time others were added occidit to them, of which the Talmud was composed, that Person, Akeba made (e) use of Rabbi Meir, the most famous of all his Disciples, to commit part at these Traditions (q) Nerse Writing, of which the Missian was these Traditions (q) Nerse Writing, of which the Missian was to composed (p), that he was (q) the Patrick of Missian, and the Master (r) of Aquila, and will sole, who is Jews, that he became the Head of the Jews of the Jews, chust a Pitthat he became the Head of the Jews becomes their hat the fame Year that Jasephow similar dhis Antiquities, their hat that he continued in that Place 40 Years, that he is toom often cited in the Pirke-Elienar, and that he wissed (r) Ex Eternal Dammation to all those that should readers. Hierony-Works of the Christians.

declared that Barochebas was the Messias (C) That he might answer an Objection of the Christians] "The (g) Christians never disputed more strongly against the Jews than in those Times, and ftians]

zlar Alı princep marus cft P 7 , (q) Ner-

(a) Pez-Antiquity of the Imes chap 16 p 189 Elit of Paris 289 1687, IN 4to pag 290.

unwritten Law. The Remark that we make upon this, shall contain some Particulars of his Life. If we were to judge of his Lectures by his Precepts relating to the (F) Close-Scool, there would be reason to call them ridiculous.

A L A B A S T E R (William) an English Divine, was born at Hadley in Suffolk He was one of the Doctors of Trinity College at Cambridge, and he accompanied the Larl of Essex, as his Chaplain, in his Expedition of Cadiz, in the Reign of Queen Esseabeth It is said, that the first Thoughts of changing his Religion, came by suffering himself to be dazzl'd with the Pomp of the Churches of the Roman Communion, and with the Respect wherewith it seem'd to him that the Priests are honour'd in it, and that as he was wavering, some Persons manag'd those Dispositions, and took advantage of the Complaints he made of being little advanc'd in England, so that he did not hesitate to turn Papis, when he came to consider that his Hopes of a better Preferment were not well grounded However it be, he affociated himself to the Church of Rome, but he did not find in it what he hop'd for He was foon disgusted with it, he did not like a Discipline, which did not admit any of the Degrees to which he had been already promoted, and it is likely that he did not like better the Worship of the Creatures which the Protestants are used to look upon with Horror, therefore he returned into England to take up his first Religion again. He obtain'd a Canonship in St. Paul's Church, and afterwards a Living at Tharfield in Hertfordshire. He understood the Hebrew Tongue ve- of Ix Li ry well, but spoil'd himself with the Study of the Cabal, of which he was very fond He gave some Proofs of it in the Sermon he preach'd when he was made Doctor of tulus Divinity at Cambridge He took for his Text the beginning of the First Book of the Worl is Chronicles, Adam, Seth, Enoch, and after having touch'd upon the Literal Sense, he fell of Inginto the Mystical, and maintain d that Adam signified Unhappiness and Misery, and fo with the others a His Method of explaining the Scriptures did not please (A) the Roman Catholicks I shall say in the Remarks what they thought of it, and how he kernal A clear'd himself & of the Objection that is made on the Three Days and Three Nights that JESUS (HRIST was to be in the Belly of the Latth, is Jonas was in the I ought not to forget that his Verses were very much esteemed. He made a y Latin Tragedy, entitled Rox ama, at the Representation whereof, in a College the Cataof Cambridge, there happen'd a very remarkable Accident A Lady was so frighted liquid of the with the Last Word of the Tragedy, Sequar, Sequar, which was pronounced with a very furious Air, that she was distracted all her Life time after Alabaster was yet living L brand to finally 1071630 His Apparatus in Revelutionem Jesu Christs, was printed at Antwerp in the Year be Penta-1607 As for the Spiraculum tubarum, seu sons spiritualium expositionum exaquivocis teuchi Pentaglotti & significationibus, and his Ecce sponsus venst, seu tuba pulcritudinus, hoc est demonstratio quod non sit illicitum nec impossibile computare durationem mundi & tempus secundi & See the adventus Christi, they were printed at London & From those Titles we may judge of of the the Author's Taste, but we may judge better of it by the Words of Andrew Rights the Author's Taste, but we may judge better of it by the Words of Andrew River, bedlesan bio I ulice 11 Cui ti-

& So Says It (hould

(B that Library

(F) By his Precepts relating to the Close-Stool] The femily Nation was delivered up to a Spirit of such Childish and Chimerical Observances, that their gravest Doctors have extended the Ritual to the most Michinal Actions, as that of going to the Privy Wo to him that cannot face well to the East, for the Four Cardinal Points of the Horizon are not equally favourable I cannot well mention their other Ridiculous Superstitions but in Latin, Dixit R Akiba, ingressus sum aliquando post Rabbi Josuam in sedis secreta locum & tria ab eo didici. Didici i quod non versus Orientem & Occidentem sed versus Septentrionim & Au-jut Ad hæc objects ibi Ben Hasas, usque adeo vere per-fricuisti frontem erga magistrum tuum ut cacantem obser-vares? Responditille, Legis hæc arcana sunt ad que dis-cenda id necissario mihi agendum suis (g) Behold a won-derful Doctor, who explain'd the Mysteries of the Law on his Close-Stool, without speaking a Word (A) Did not please the Roman Catholicks Francis Garasse, a Jesuit, having mention'd a (h) Comical Opinion of Isidorus Pelusiota, goes on thus (i) "A-"labaster's Exposition is yet farther from Common Ad hec objects the Ben Hasas, usque adeo vere perprinsiple, a Jesuit, having mention'd a (h) Comical opinion of Isiderus Pelusiota, goes on thus (i) "Alabaster's Exposition is yet farther from Common Sense, for he patches up some Rabbinical Fancies, that are indeed pleasant, if they were as solidly grounded as they are subtilly invented. He says in his Apparatus, Chap 9 That Jonas and our baviour remain'd punctually three Days and three Nights, the one in the Belly of the Earth, and the other in the Whale's Belly, in the following manner Jonas, sayshe, was carried to the very Center of the World, as he himself acknowledges, Addienterus mentium descendi, terra wetter circumdederus; extrema montium descendi, terra velles circumdederunt me Now being in that place, he had both Day and Night at one time, for looking towards our Hemisphere, he had the Day before, and the Night behind him, and then the next Day quite contraty, so that having remain'd there but one Day; and a half, he remain'd there three whole Days; forasmuch as the Space must be doubled, because he "had all at once what we have fuccessively. Thus our Lord being in the Belly of the Little had like "Jonas, Day and Night both at one time, for a funch as his Soul went to the Center of the Little, to have the Day on one fide, and the Night on the other, and thereby to shorten the Term of his abode, without wresting Truth, io impatient he was to leave his Disciples disconsidere. Hay, that this Invention wrongs the Holy Scripture, because it is too much strain'd and tophisticated, and is just the table to the Polyher and the return to like the Fancies of the Rubbins, and therefore it is not without Reason that Alabaster's Book was con-demn'd at Rome But he was to excessively fond of his Inventions, that he did worse than Heliodorus, "for he forfook his Religion not to have his dange"rous and Idle Fancies on the Holy Scriptures I shall add the Judgment of a Flemish Jesuit to that of this French Jesuit Bonfrerius (k) having condemned those, who by the help of the Cabil, find my thing in every Paslage of the Holy Scripture, goes on this, Quod nuper feest in sulferments & irreligiofe Guilielmus Alabaster, qui in illo suo Apparatu ex inanibus equími li fundamentis, ne dicam quifyuiliss, conatis est nobis sum fundamentis, ne dicam quifyuiliss, conatis est nobis sum Myssicam Theologiam, o (ita ipsevocat) interiorember p tura sensum ac medullam (re ipsa aliud nihil quam delramenta o somnia) exprimere Qui ex remale and it or Roma consoriam Ecclesia virgulam merito expertis est Quis enim ferat quempiamin re tam seria, Seria ura interpretationa, pra probatis mercibus vendere que quam interpretatione, pro probatis mercibus wendere que apse parum sano cerebro delirarit? He gives afterwaids fome Examples of that Man's Chimerical Explicati-

I shall quote by and by a Protestant, who reproach es the Roman Catholicks for having tolerated the Idle Fancies of Alabofter

I have heen inform'd by a Learned Person, that Readers do not love to be told, in general, that such, or such an Author advanc'd a Chimerical Opinion or tuch an Author advance a a Chinestest Opinion It does but fir up their Curiofity, they would have it immediately fatisfy'd, and even fometimes without being oblig'd to reach another Book which they have in their Closer. That Learned Person wished tl . Pro 01/25 6071 Tichtati) on printed in (*) Fx Birijethi in Massech Bernchos, f 62 pud Lent,p 10

> (h) You will find it at ile

(9) Garaf-Se, Curious Doffrine, P 593 Printed in she Year 1623

d His Anfwer is entitled, An Anfwer to W Alabaster's Motives Lond 1599 Plln 14 c 17 and not C 2 as in Morcu y Joseph de bello Jud 1 7 C 29 ex Vefna fini libe-115 depoposciller, omni ope contendi potiffimum mit-Sucton in Domit c 2 • Corde moi, Hi-Frince in the 1 rrs tlat I note ¿ Amm Marcell 4.

(B) that I shall quote. We must not forget his Lexicon Hebraicum, in Foliage have not spoken of the Motives of his Conversion, which he published after having maibrac'd the Catholick Religion, we know well enough that it is the Custom of these that change their Religion Nay that Custom was more in vogue at that Time than at present The Publick had not yet had time to be clogg'd with those fort of Books That of

Alabaster was refuted by Roger Fenton a

A L A I N S, or, A L A N I, a Barbarous People that contributed much to the Ruin of the Roman Empire Pliny & places them in Europe, beyond the Mouths of the Danube, but fosephus marks their Situation more precisely, for he places them near the Lake Maotu, and the Tanau He describes a furious Eruption they made into Midia, and into Armenia in the Reign of Vespasian It was at that time that & Vologeses, King of the Parthians, desir'd that Emperor's Assistance against the Alani, and to send him one of his Sons for a General, whereupon Domitian us'd his Endeavours to obtain that Com This might have engag'd Morers to tell us, in confounding the Times a little, that those Barbarsans bad already made themselves known from the Time of Domitian But Vologeses this want of Chronological Exactness is but a small matter, if compar'd with the rest this want of Chronological Exactness is but a small matter, if compar'd with the rest this want of Chronological Exactness is but a small matter, if compar'd with the rest wards with the Alans join'd themselves with the Vandals, with the Sacry, and afterwards with the Goths, in the beginning of the Fifth Century, that themselves galus, was their Chief, that towards the Year 509, they passed into Spain, where they ducemque settled themselves, and that they were deseated there by Vallia, King of the Goths, in alterum alternative set of the settled themselves, and that they were defeated there by Vallia, King of the Reader's the Vesta set of the settled themselves, and that they were defeated there by Vallia, King of the Reader's the vesta set of the settled themselves and that they were defeated there by Vallia, King of the Reader's the vesta settled themselves with the Vandals, with the Sacry, and afterwards with the Goths, in the beginning of the Fifth Century, that themselves, the settled themselves and that they were defeated there by Vallia, King of the Reader's the Vesta settled themselves and that they were defeated there by Vallia, King of the Reader's the vesta settled themselves and that they were defeated there by Vallia, king of the Reader's the vesta settled themselves and that they were defeated there by Vallia, king of the Reader's the vesta settled themselves and the vesta settled themselves are settled themselves and the vesta settled themselves and the vesta settled themselves are settled themselves and the vesta settled themselves are settled themselves and the vesta settled themselves are settled themselves are settled themselves are settled themselves and the vesta settle Face, for in short, People that are conquer'd in 418, in a Country into which they came about the Year 509 ought to awaken the most languishing Attention The truth is, that Morers made an Anachronism of an Hundred Years The Alam advanced 111 406 from the Banks of the Danube to the Rhine, without meeting with any Refiit ince, and having been join'd by the Vandals, who had escaped from a lost Battel against the Frinks, they entered into Gaul Their King's Name was Respendials, the King of the Vandals's Name was Gunderscus, the Son of Gondigifilms, who had been kill d in th late Battel Divers other Barbarous Nations join d with those two, and made a prod gious Desolution in all the Country of the Gauls. Part of the Alans under the Cor duct of Utacus, who had succeeded Respendialis, pass'd into Spain in the Year 409 an settled in the Province of Carthagena, and in Lustrania, the other part kept their Groun in Gaul, under the conduct of Two Kings The Alani of Spain, deseated by Valley of the Goths, near Merida, in 418 were forced to submit to Honorius Their Kings lost his Lase in the Battel We find some Alam still in the Year 464 who threw of the Yoke of the Hone street the Double of Ann. the Yoke of the Huns after the Death of Attili, and enter'd into Italy to fettle there but Ricimo marching against them with the Forces of the Empire, defeated them 1 fuch a manner near Bergamo, that but very few of them escaped, and that their Kin Bargo was also kill d in the Battel. The Huns having committed a great Ravage and Staughter in the Country of the Alans, had a long time before associated themselves with This we read in Ammianus Marcellinus & He mikes n those that escaped then Fury a pretty long Description of the Manners of the Alam, and say they were the same Pco-

Opinion is comical, I should have reported it, especivily considering that Lather Garafic's Book is but seldom found in the Closets of Private Men I make use of that Advice, and I know the Grounds of it by experience, for which Reason I have rather cho-fen tomake some Additions to my Commentaries in several other Occasions, than to excite the Currosity of retal other Occasions, than to excite the Curiosity of Readers in vain. In order to find the Number compleat listoria fuppos'd, That the Darkness in the Lime of the Passion, ought to be taken for one Night, and that the retuin of the Light till Sun-set, ought to be taken for a Day. Read what follows (a) "I answer, I hat it is true, this (b) Passage has " given much trouble to make it agree with the " Truth of History, and that it was one of the chief "Arguments where with Tulian the Apostate endea-Arguments where with Julian the Apostate endea-your d to overthrow the Truth of the Gospel, but " it is not so desperate, but that a True and Natural Exposition may be given of it, without having recourse to Fancies As some have done, without any ill Defign, as we have feen above, concerning the Hour of the Refurrection Isidorus Pelusiona in the 114th Epistle of the First Book of his Epistles, relates a new Exposition of it in these Words Sie Labe o, leta hora Parajceves in crucem attus eft Dominui, ab hac hera usque ad nonam tenebra extiterunt, his tu noctem intellige. Rursus bora nona lux, hac tu pro d. labi. Nex rursum Parasicvas. Tum dies Sabbathi. Ium non Sabbathi. Dominici Dies. It is true, that according to that Exposition, that JESUS CHRISI remain'd three Days, and three Nights in the Bowels of the Earth, but they are Days and Nights reduced to a small compass

(B) The Words of Andrew Rivet, that I shall quote I have they fays he. 10) gooden Remissions Andrew Christians

Anno May fays he, (c) quidam Pontificins Anglus Gutherefore, either that I had find nothing of Isidorus Pelufista, or that having observed in general that his lielmus Alabastrus, edidit Antverpie librum eui titulum secit, Apparatus in revelationem Christi, in quo prostetur se novam & admirabilem rationem afferre investigandi Prophetiarum mysteria ex Scripturi se ip-sam interpretante Ibi novam Cabbalari instituit ex fam interpretante Ibi novam Gabbalari inflituit ex qua quidlibet ex quolibet educit, & mutatis vel inversis aut separatu & disjunctis Ebraorum vocabulorum literis aut separatu & disjunctis Ebraorum vocabulorum literis aut separatu & disjunctis Ebraorum vocabulorum numerorum ratione excogitata, novis etiam significationibus contra grammaticar rationem assignatis, diversis nominibus aut verbis omnia pervettit, & ipsi adeo commentum places ut quamvis sape excipiat se nolle prajudicare Lacina versioni, cum tamen videat ex ea mullis sidiculis sinsum quim sibi proponic posse erui non veretur dicese, pas 61 Denim fibs proponit poffe erui, non veretur dicere, pag 61 Deum Christi & Religionis Christiana mysteria per illam verborum formam in Ebræo legis codice expressiste, quæ sensum carnalem & à divina mente alienum lectori prima fronte offerret, atque ita voluisse ut in Le-clesia Christiana nulla passim legeretur versio quam quæ fecundum Ebræorum verborum corticem conciperetur, ut hoc modo sapientia divina non esset cui-vis profano obvia Sed postea idem, per toium illud opus ita sapientiam illum divinam ex Seripture, si Dei places, penetralibus haurit, ut ne ulli quidem hattenus ex Patribus sanctissimis, vel unius loci talis interpretatio in mentem unquan venerit, ne ipsis quiden omussisse Pontificibus. Rivet having given Iwo Examples (d) of the Chimerical Notions of that Man, continues his Discourse thus, Alia bujus farina multiples 57 & seqq afferuntur a nugatore blasphemo, quitus syllabas unius nominis o verbi seorsim accipiens, o a sua raacie divelens omnis sursus unius sursus Pontificio toleratur hac novitas, ubi simplex Scriptura ac o her on the 1986 Scriptura interpretatio hereses insimulatur ac o her on the de his hattenus Videant Pontificii an suo Alabastico de transcriptura prasigere theta. Nos hominis insolvant Chapter of mam audaciam desessamen, essi cum sesuta Poscuinus de the same is on the sta 3716 Chap-

(a) Ga rasse, ubi lupr 1, pag 592, 593 (') 1bit of the 12th Chapter of St Matthew 20/11/21 15 fry sit Jeius Chuil was to cmain and three N . itrin the Hent of the Easth (c) Rivet Itagoge ad Scripturam Šacram.c 15

Oper, t 2 P 9.7

ty (A) had call'd Missigner; he will have them to have dwelt in the vast ple that I Solitudes they subdued them, and to have spread that Name as far as the River Ganges Altho' he represents them (AA) Cruel and Savage, yet he does not make them so brutish as "ExBander and he remarks that they everyied their Robberges as far as the Police Admin the Huns, and he remarks, that they exercis'd their Robberies as far as the Palus Maotis, and as far as Media and Armenia.

A L A I S, a City of France, in the Cevennes, in the Diocese of Nimes, five a Leagues Giffendis from Usez, is the Capital of an Ancient Lordship that was erected into a County, and specific day Charles de Valors Duke of Angewless a Natural Son of Charles day Valors Duke of Angewless a Natural Son of Charles day Valors Duke of Angewless a Natural Son of Charles day Valors Duke of Angewless and Specific day of the Natural Son of Charles day Valors Duke of Angewless and Specific day of the Natural Son of Charles day Valors Duke of Angewless and Specific day of the Natural Son of Charles day Valors Duke of Angewless and Specific day of the Natural Son of Charles day Valors Duke of Angewless and Specific day of the Natural Son of Charles day Valors Duke of Angewless and Specific day of the Natural Specific day of the Na possess d by Charles de Valors, Duke of Angouleme, a Natural Son of Charles IX Lewis Emanuel de Valors was known a long time by the Name of Count d' Alas B, he was Colonel writ jo General of the Light Horse of France, Governor of Provence, and Son of that Duke of many Lerangeuleme, and Father of Frances Mary de Valois, Wise of Lewis of Lorrain, Duke of Jeyangeuleme, and Father of Frances Mary de Valois, Wise of Lewis of Lorrain, Duke of Jeyangeuleme, and Father of Evances Mary de Valois, Wise of Lewis of Lorrain, Duke of Jeyangeuleme, and Father Country of Alais fell to the House of Iorrain settled in Valcino France, for from the Marriage of the Duke of Joyeuse with Frances Mary de Valois, came 2 lather Lewis-Joseph of Lorrain, Duke of Guise, who died at Paris of the Small Pox, the 30th of Antelnis July 1671 aged 21 Years The City of Alais is become Episcopal (ADD) since the Genealocy of the Edith of Martin. Some will have it to be the Alais described by Staling of the Edith of Martin. Revocation of the Edict of Nantes Some will have it to be the Alifia described by Julius of It ince, o made a Dissertation on that Subject See the Journal of the Learned, of the 9th of Alig, 1695 at the 321st Page of the Edition of Holland

ALALCOMENIUM, a small Town of Baotia It was called so because yof and was called so because yof Alalcom neus, who was the Nursing Father of Minerva, according to some, or because who Pun-

61 is be nus By-is Catholicis siriptoribus inseruerit, Appar Sacri Tomo primo Note; That the Work out of which this is prime Note : taken, was published the first time in 1626 and that the Edition in Folio, printed in the Year 1652, of which I make use, had been revised, corrected, and enlarged by the Author 2 That Alabaster's Book enlarged by the Author 2 That Alabaster's Book had I cen condemn dat Rome the 30th of Junuary, 1610 and that the Author was return dinto the Bolom of the Church of England a good while before the first Ldition of Rivet s Book Here are the Terms which Ldition of Rivit's Book Here are the Terms which the Congregation of the Index made use of, I set 'em the Asparatus of Alabaster was reprinted at Rome, h some Alterations and Corrections (aa) Appara-India tui in Revelationem Jefu Christi Auctore Gulielmo Alabrotum prohibitorum, printed a

Rome in plant of Alexander
Alexander

Tus in Revelationem Jeju Christi Auctore Gulielmo Alabatico Anglo, Antverpiæ 1607 Et Autithesis Benedictis
Alexander

The second of the se Alexander VII pag their Works, and cause them to be printed at Rome, with the Approbation of the Master of the Sacred Palace, that then it would be permitted to read that new Edition. I believe this remarks the true Sense Samuel Andreas, a German Divine, made a Book (bb) against the Cabala of Dr. Henry Moor, wherein he gives some Examples of Alabasters Chimers.

(A) The People that Antiquity had call'd Massageta] There we two Passages upon this in (a) Ammianus Marcellinia, the first is in the 5th Chipter of the 2, d Book, and will admit of no difficulty, Lucullus per Albanos & Massagetas quos Alanos nunc appellanus, hac quoque natione perrupta vidit Caspios Leus The other is in the 2d Chapter of the 31st Book, in a place where the Manuscripts are so confounded, that it was necessary to have recourse to Critical Conjectures, to find in it what I attribute here to Murcellinus So that it is but according to the Conjecture of the Learned Valefius, that that Historian faid there, adufque Alanos pervenit, veteres Massagetas Now as the first Prisage proves plainly that Marcellinus plac d the Alani in Asia, it seems to me that we might contest with that Learned Commentator the Explication he gives to these Words of the Text (b) Hister advena-ium magnitudine fluente Sauromatas praterment adusque amnem Tanaim pertinentes qui Asiam terminat ab Euro-pa Hoc transito in immensum extentae Seythia solitudi-nes Alani inhabitant Valesus will have hoc transito to ielate to the Danube, and not to the Tanais, and hereon he alledges Pliny, Dionysius Characenus, Orosius, and seczetzes, whe place the Alam in Sarmatia, and beyond the Panals, but the Question is not to know what security have said of it, but only what Marcellinus's Carnion was, and on that foot it seems to me, that hoe sransite ought to relate to the Tanais, for besides that the Massages add not inhabit between the Transit and the Daniele was seen that a lively while after this Historian places the Alani in the Neighbourhood of the Amazons, and makes

(c) Id ib makes for run like Robbers on the one fide as far as Mep 619 tween the Tanais and the Danube, we see that a little and Armenia, and on the other lide as far as the Massin, and the Bosperus Commercias. (c) Parte alia prope Amazonum sedes Alani sunt Orienti adel nes, diffusi per populosas gentes & amplas, Alisticos vergent s in tractus quos dilatari ad usque (ingen a cepi fluvi im

(d) latrocinando & vinando a lisque Maotica flagna & Cimmerium Bosponin itidenque Aim nios discurrentes & Mediam All their Things show that he has not follow'd the Opinion of the Authors, p 620 who plac'd the Alani in the Lurop an Saimat a, for who would relate as a no able thing, that Robbers fituated in that place, did not only ivige Media and Armenia, but also the I ake Massis Marcellinus would not be the only Person that places those Barbarians in Afia, Does not Valefius (e) cite Procopiwhere Lithuania is at present? Doubtless he means, p 618 that the Sarmatia of the Ancients is falle, for I thuania is but a small Part of the Ancient Europe in Sarmatia. Sarmatia Observe that Ptolemy acknowledges two forts of Alani, some in Europe, the others in Ana (A2) He represents them Cruel and sevene 1 they had no other Houses but their Wiggons, in the n they begot and brought up their Children and railthey begot and brought up their Children and rained no longer in a Place than their Passive Listed Their and Milk were then only Food, and they did not not nure the Gound (f) Nicen n ulla funt il'is tigir aut versandi vomeris cura. Sed evine & e grave t in lattis, plauttris supersidentes — alsumpt spice pied lis velut carpentis evvitates impos as reliant, mirelat supra cum seminis covunt, & nascum ur in b & edu antur nfantes They us d themselves to ride a horf lick early, and look d upon it as imennets to go on I out They lov'd Wir fo well, that they thought them happy that died in it, and loaded those with Injurie and Reproaches of Cowardise, that died of Age in the of Sickness. They took pride in nothing more than of Sickness. They took pride in nothing more than to have kill'd a Man, they cut off the Heids of the they kill d, they flip d them, and made all of them Skins to adorn their Hories, they had no Temp! and worshipp'd nothing but a Naked Sword study in the Ground. It was their God Narr, the Pet on of the Countries which they inhabited. They so cold the Countries which they inhabited. They so cold the countries which they inhabited. the Countries which they inhabited. They folded a Things to come, by means of some Winds child with Enchantments. (g) Judicatur is teatus and in (g) Illust praise profuderit animar. Sereficiates enim of fire in mortibus mundo digresses, at a general of ignature consideration and festional animals. The guidenam of quoditation of the series of the seri jattent, quam homine ouolibet occiso. Proque ex v s glo-riosis, interfettorum avulsis capitibu, detrata p l'es pro phaleris jumeutis accommodant bell storis. Nec templum apud ees visitur aut delubrum, & It is not improper to represent to those who see none but civilized Nations, that there are others so fix age, that there is more reason to take them for Brute Beasts, than for part of Human Kind This may afford many Reslections both Physical and Moral, and make us admire the infinite number of Plies of which our Nature is fusceptible, and whereof for one that is good, we may reckon above a Hundred Thousand bad ones

(ADA) The City of Alais is become Ep scopal since the (h) In.'

(h) Revocation of the Edit of Nantes] It is not with Year 1685 out

(e) Henr

Murcill p 615 626

206

(b/) Exa men Cab

balkHenr

Mori, pag

(a) More-

Ti quores the fift Book, which was loft

p 619

a Pausaaccording tothe Interpretation of Scaliger in Luseb n 219 & Strabo, 19 p.85 2 Paulin ubi lupra J'A TOF SH-7 OraH J12/823081 11 TO A 15 TO Stav merlis a # H SV 70 net ons Nunquam vastata est ob reve-Dez omnibus omnein vini +bftmentibus Strabo ubi

Homer

11 · v 8

5 1/10 Stitius Theb 17

V 330 ζ Plut

quell Care 10301

11 Sec 16 10 16 11-* H + Di of N 27 6 115 1 11.48 Salvic lides flis Lati leenus Concilia x Prudent inclus mi nope mend c bint, qui licet Oiig ne effet Gallieus Italos ta men hic die tum-1 14 homi-

(a) lournal of the I carned, of the 9th of May, 1695 prg of Holland 11 229 pm 213 nes affurra i ij er isset Id ib

Id 1 2 p ld ib

II a vn II r n

11 01 1 1

K

of Alalcomensa, one of the Daughters of Ogyges, (B) that a nurs'd Mineras, according to others That Goddess was a born in that Place, and had a Temple there, and a Statue y of Ivory very much respected by the People That Respect was the Cause, as Strabo says A, that Alalcomensum, although easy to be taken, was never plunder'd, and that every body abstain'd from using Violence against that Place But Pausansas fays, That the Statue of Minerua was carried from thence by Sylla, and that the Temple begun afterwards to be neglected. He adds, That in his Time the Walls of it were split, because a great Stump of Ivy had shot forth its Branches between the Stones. Among the Epithets of Minerva, that of Alalcomenian, analysis, which Homer is gives her, is not the least worthy of Consideration Plutarch & reports, That Ulyses being boin in Alalcomenium, would have a City of Ithaca call'd by that Name, the better to preserve the Memory of the Place where his Mother was brought to Bed of him Stephanus Byzantinus says nothing of this, when he speaks of Alalcomenium, and he calls the City of the Island Ithaca, Alcomensum What Morers says, That Alalcomensum was considerable for the Tomb of Tiresias, and, that according to Plutarch it was afterwards call d Ithaca, is false n Hosman is still more faulty (C) than Morers

ALAMANDUS (Lewis) in French Aleman, Archbishop of Arles, and Cardinal of the Title of Santa Cecilia, was one of the greatest Men of the XVth Century Those that speak of the Assaus wherein he was concern'd, call him commonly the Cardinal of Arles He was no Burgundian as some Authors have said, but he wanted but little of beingso, for the Country of Buger gave him Birth This is what Guichenon shewed in his History of Bresse, as Morers observes. Not to repeat what he says of him, I shall mention some other things The Cudinal of Arles presided in the Council of Basil, which deposed Eugenius IV and elected the Anti Pope Olelia V He was much praised by Aneas Silvius 1, as a Man altogether sit to preside in such Assemblies, firm and vigorous, illustrious by his Virtue, le uned, and of an Admuable Memory to recapitulate all that the Orators and the Disput ints had said. As he was one Day haranguing against the Pope's Superiority over the Council, he was so much admird, that many kis'd him, and others crowded to kis his Robe They extelled his Ability & to the Heavens An Ability, which though he w is a Irenelim in, made him outdo the Italians, how cunning foever they were. He knew very well how to make use of the Tricks of Devotion, for upon a Session Day he caused all the Relicks that were to be found in Basil, to be brought into the Assembly by the Priests, and to be plac'd in the room of the absent Bishops This produc'd such in Lifect, that when, according to Custom, they came to invoke the Holy Ghost, every one began to weep. He made the Assistants weep likewise, when a he officiated on another Day of a Seffion, and when with his Naked Bald Head, he distributed the Commumion to all those that presented themselves, and gave them the Kiss of Peace, and exhorted them to communicate worthily. He appear'd inflexible during the Plague that most in the City, neither the Death of part of his Domesticks, nor any Intreaties could oblige him to go out of it, he chose rather to save the Council, at the peril of his Life by his Prefence, than to fave his Life at the peril of the Council by his Absence \(\mu \) He was very laborious, and to fober, that fome of the Conclavists could not fuffer, that whill their Expences were retrenched, that Cardinal's Example should be represented to Ine Answer which a Pole (A) made upon it, deferves to be read Pope Fu-out reason that I note this Period of Time, for it is the Creation of that New Bishoprick 1 hat Country was full of Protestante, who were forced by a Million of Diagoons, to fign a Popish I o mulity therefore thought expedient not to keep them so far distant from their Pielate, as they would have been if they had been submitted to the Dioceie of Nimes. That new 1 piscopal Church (a) s composed of two Col-That new I piscopal Church (a) s composed of two Collegia e Churches, of the if Plalmodi, and of that of the City of Alex, and it has 23 (anone and 12 Prebindaries Ite field by I rances Clevalies de Saulx, Abbot of Plalmodi, and Doffer if Sorbonne, was confectated by Cara and de Bonzi, carcheistop of Natbonne, in the Club of the Nuns of the Uit it or of Montpelier, the 29th of August, 1694. He is adjected from one of the most cancent and Novel st Families of Poitou (b) See the Letter that Mi Ponter with to him, and which he published at Paris in 1695. The Journal of the Learned makes mention of it Learned makes mention of it

(B) That nurs d Minerva] Scaliger (c) pretends
I hat Parfamas owns that iome have airribed the I ducation of Manerva to Alalcomenia, the Daughter of Ogjger But this is rather to gueis what one belove, that Paufamas should, or would have faid, than to keep close to his Text, as all those will acknowledge that shall examine the Original 2 That Steep plan B) continue makes mention of that Daughter of Ogygas, this is what is not to be found in the Place where that Author speaks of the City of adalesme-

(C) No Hofmin is fill more faulty] He fays, 1 That Alakomonium was a City of Baston, which had its

(b) Ibid. (c) Scaliger in Eufeb.

Name a Bestorum Alalcomines 'Tis most certain that he does not take this last Word for the Name of 'Tis most certain a Man, but for that of a rown, as Lloyd did (d)
Lloyd is in the right, here are his Words, Alal omena with Ithaca denominata a Bacterum Alalcomena o ut Plut in Hellen refert pag 537 Edit Steph afferens simul sometimes causam nominis All this is true, but because Hof- of the Neuman instead of these Words of Lloyd, Urbs Ithaca, puts ter Gender Urbs Baotia, and goes on without any Alteration, he a'lalke-Urbs Bastia, and goes on without any Alteration, he a'hahkeis fillen into a double Mistake On the one side he helpoon, says, That a Town of Bastia took its Name from it fometimes felf, and on the other, that Plutarch says it 2 He of the Fiimputes fallly to Plutarch, to have advanc'd, Page 537 minne, in That the Sepulches of Tirestan, and the Temple of the Sepul That the Sepulchre of Tirestas, and the Temple of the Singu-Minerva, made that Town of Baseis famous, from lar Num-whence it came that the Poet said 'Anannagonis' A. ber, anan-Suru Lloyd ascribes all those same things to Plutarch, no popula, except that which concerns the Tomb of Tirefias fome3 Hofman takes for another Town that which he times in names Alalcomenium, op Bæotie ad lacum Copaidem inter Haliarium & Coronaam, Templo Minerva clarum, this Number is to multiply Beings without necessity I do not αλαλκιthink that any of the Authors quoted by Moreri, says μθαι, that Prince Alakonemus plac'd the Statue of Venus in See Berketters.

that Prince Alalcomenus plac'd the Statue of Venus in See Berkethe Town of Alalcomenum

(A) That a Pole made upon it, deserves to be phanus.

read I What a Comparison you make, said he, when they propos'd the Liample of Lewis Alamandus to p 89 he him! You tell me of a Sober Frenchman, who has no forget to Belly, or rather, who is no Man, I can see all that say that he does through the Curtain that is between us, I never yet saw him eat or drink, he neither sleeps in Quæst the Night, nor in the Day, he either reads, or negotiates perpetually, he thinks on nothing less than 301 casts his Belly, he is not my Man, I have nothing to do it alaman with

(d) That City is the Plural with xoutheror wiss did not fail to thunder against the President of a Council wherein he had been a See that that (C) Lewis Alamandus died with the Reputation of Holiness, and notum, sposed. Yet: f working to many Miracles after his Death, that at the Request of the Canons, and the Celestins of Awignon, and at the Sollicitation of Cardinal de Clermont, Legate a part i tere of Clement VII, he was beatified a by that Pope in the Year 1527 Odoricus Rayno Proof can be given of that Repentance, nor can this Matter of Fact be denied, at 2 a Year before his Death he was one of those who in the Council of Laulanne spoke of the Council of Basil, A as of a Holy and Sacred Assembly He died at 60 Years of Age, the 16th of September, 1450 Some n say it was in Savoy, at the Abby of Hautecombe, where the Monks built him a Chappel, and invoked him in the Celebration of the Mass, others & say, that he died at Salon His Body is at Arles The Bull of Clement VII permits the Removal of it from the Moist Places under Ground, to any other more convenient in that Church Some affirm, after i James Philip de Bergafix mo, that Lewis Alamandus publish'd several small Books, worthy of him, but I do not in find that any body mentions the Titles of those small Books, nor the Libiaries where they are

ep / 18

The Jansenists, who criticiz'd Odoricus Raynaldus about the Pietended Repentance of our Lewis Alamanus, have expos'd (D) themselves to Censure

ALA-

de Gestis Rafileenfis (oncilu, 1 2

(6) Id 1b

(c) Vide

Launoium

epulfol (1

(d) See Mr

Chude s

D f nec of tleRefor-, m : on,

3d part,

(e)Re marks on th 18th

Tonu of the E definit - e l Annals.

Ibole Re-

2 yils are with a Col-1 ition of a ers Pieces for the a tince of trice nlures of the La-culty of

Divinity at

Patis, no gainst a man f and a hard A-

1 makeuse o, the Edition of Gereval ship

hamie mut en sau Title, at Munster

by Bernard,

Raesfeldi 1667 in 8vo

, ited towards the

with fuch Persons Quos inter (a), (they are the Words of Eneas Silvius, concerning the Diet of those that were in the Conclave) Gracowiensis Archidiaconus diminutionem (Cibariorum) tulit Cui cum aves & arietine carnes afferrentur substracte avicula sunt, orante in porta famulo ut quod plus effet, il Domino dimitteretur , Sperabat namqui ex ariite partem, ex avibus autem non Sperabat Dominus tamen aviculam praoptaffet Ideoque cum spolium sinsit utique conquestus est publiceque testatus, nunquam se diem postquam Sacerdos fuit, tulisse pejorem Accum rogaretur ne admiratio-nem haberet, quoniam idobtigisse Cardinal, (Aiclitensi) Proh, inquit, Cardinalem mihi aquiparas, hominem Gallicum, parcum, eventrem, aut ut verius loquar non homi-Ego apud cum meo infortunio sum lecatus, emnia qua facit, perlustris mihi cortina indicat, nec adhuc bibem, aut comedere vidi, & quod mihi molestius est, necessation, set comedere vidi, & quod mihi molestius est, necessation notes insomnesque dies du t (quamquam nulla npud nos dies) aut legit semper, aut nigotiatur Nullt et minor quam ventris est cura, miss nissil cum es com-mu te ist Such is the Condition of those that are able to furmount the ilrongest Obstacles in the greatest Affirs It requires Laborious Men, fiee from Sen-fual Pleasures, and intrepid Here is a Testimony of Lewis Alamandus's firmnels against the fear of Plague (b) Neque illum preces neque domesticorum sune-ra sictiere potuerunt, volentem potius cum vitae periculo sal-vare Concilium, quam cum pericula Concilii salvare vi-tam, sciebat enim, quoniam procedente pauci reman-sissent, facileque committi stam, que esus absentia potu-Hit

(B) And call d him the Son of Iniquity] In a Bull given at Florence in the Year 1442 he calls him Iniq itat s filium, rebellionum & facinorum multorum reum, and he lays that the Council of Ierrara, and Florence had condemned him to be stript of all his Dignities, a Ferrancensi & Florentino Concilus damnatum & univer-

a Ferrancense & Florentino Concilies damnatum & universits dignitatibus privatum fuisse (c)

(C) Tet for all that Lewis Alamandus died with the Reputation of Holiness] I his Example, and that of Peter of Luxemburg, (d) beatissed by the same Bull of Clement VII are a little puzzling for the Controversists of the Romish Party, for, in short, if according to their Pretensions, every Person that is not united to the Pope, is out of the Church, how comes it that not only they were saved in the Two Obediences, but also that they have deserved the Degree of Saints? The best Answer they can make, is to say, That the distinction of the True and of the False Pope being above the Capacity of Private Persons, and a meer Question of Fact, the Erior was invincible, and consequently ought not to prejudice those that were sin-

Question of Fact, the Erior was invincible, and confequently ought not to prejudice those that were sincere, as to the Question of Right. But have a care of the Replies, and of the Consequences that proceed from thence in favour of other Errors.

(D) The Jupisuists that criticized have exposed themselves Gensure. They alledge first of all the Injuries which with that Continuator of Baronius loaded the Cartinal of Arles, and they observe ofterwards, (c) that he was forced to confess in two several place, to wit, in the Tear 1426 n 26 and in the Year 1450 n 20 that God made the Holinest of that Cardinal known by such wishbe and well attested Miracles, that dinal known by Juch wishble and well attested Miracles, that then VII placed him in the number of the Blef-The manner how that Author sudeawours to come off, continue they, is most horrible, "and " cannot be founded but on a most Pernicious Maxim, which is, That Persons guilty of Publick Crimes, may become Sunts, and be acknowledged as fuch by the Church, without hiving given any Testimony of repenting of their Crimes, and though all Things on the contrary make it appear that they perfevered in them. I or if the Cardi-nal of Arles committed fome Crimes, and ought to be esteemed a very wicked Man for doing what he did in the Council of Basil, never was a Man more constant in his Crimes, leeing when the Fathers of the Council of Balil, wherein he presided, reunited themselves with Nicolas V it was not by acreunited themselves with Nicolas V it wis not by acknowleding in any manner that they hid done all, either in opposing Eugenius, or in deposing of him, or in electing Amedeus, but they on the contrary, protested that they had done nothing but for the good of the Church, and that they did not unite the nselves with Nicolas V but by electing him again after the voluntary resignation of Fel x, and the Union was made without obliging them to disown any thing that they had done, but on to disown any thing that they had done, but on the contrary Nicolas V confirm'd all that had been done at Basil So that if all that the Cardinal of Arles did in that Council was criminal, never any Man could have shew'd more Obstinacy in his Crimes I rom whence it follows, that if this did not hinder him from becoming a Saint, it must be said, that Perseverance in the greatest Crimes, doth not hinder a Man from being a Saint, which is horrible And yet it is a necessary consequence from this Discourse of Raynaldus, in the Year 145 n 20 " Hoe Anno Ludovicum Alamandum Archiepiscopum

Arelatensem — vita cessisti tradunt, atque miraculus post mortem corus asse assirimant, cumque Clemens VII veluti Beatum coli permisit exarato d plomate Pontificio 9 Apr an 1527 Itaque adoi and a sid di ona miscricordia, que exiguo temporis sluvu I udo oi im plum misandi est particossissimo sobiente australia. ipsum nifandi & perniciosissum schijmatis austorim propagatorem hæreseos, qui ex irronea conscientia inni-mera in Dei Ecclessam mala invexerat, ac tot annos im cursu in pertinacia obfiimatus profanaverai Sacr im nea, panitentem ac reversum in gremium Leclifia ad | in fi-

tatis culmen brews evense
" If that Author had only faid, that the great 7c d of that HolyMin for the Reform ition of the Chur h had carried him to too violent Actions, although he did them by a good Motive, it would have been fufferable, and would not be so contrary to the restriction that God gave of his Sanchity But to make him pass for a Wicked Man, for an Obstinate Heretick and Schismatick, who had prophand the Sacraments by a great many Sacraleges, and to fay, that in a Year or two afterwards he became a Saint, who deferv'd to be canoniz'd, without hiving given any Proof of his Repentince for fo many Crimes that are imputed to him, is to have a strange Idea of Holiness, or rather it is to join Malice with Holiness, that one may not own that a Pope was mistaken, in declaring a Man Wicked, when God himself declar'd him a 6 Liunos us, ib p 81 2 It was in the Year 1449 Banleenfis Conci-Diploma Concilii Laufanen-fis apud Raynaldum ad ann 1449 & See the Bull of the Filth apud L'iun ib P 79, 8-Lpitaphio n Petius Monodus in Amedeo Pacifico, c 86 (10 fheuld le 76) apud Launoiսու սեւ fupra p 81 # Moteri I Jacobus Philippus Bergom (hroni-

cor

A L A M O S (Bultbazar) was born at Medina-del-Campo in Cafisle. Having study'd the Civil-Law at Salamanca, he enter'd into the Service of Antony Perez, Secretary of State in the Reign of King Philip II. and had a great share in his Master's Esteem and Confidence, which was the Reason that they secured his Person after that Minister's Disgrace. He was kept Eleven Years in Prison. Philip III being come to the Crown, set him at liberty, according to the Orders his Father lest him in his Will. Alamos led a Private Life, till the Count and Duke of Ohvarez, Favourite of Philip IV admitted him. to Publick Employments They gave him the Place of Attorney General in the Court of Criminal Causes, and in the Council of War, afterwards he was Counsellor in the Council of the Indies, and since in the Council of the Royal Patrimony. He was Knight of St James, a Man of Wit and Judgment, and his Pen was better than his Tongue He liv'd 88 Years, and left only some Daughters He acquired a great Reputation by his Spanish Translation of Tacitus, and by the Political Aphorisms which he inserted in the Margins, but there are different (A) Opinions about that Work It was published at Madrid in the Year 1614. and was to have been follow'd (B) by a Commentary which was never printed, that I know of The Author had compos'd those Two Works duting his Confinement, and endeavour'd (C) in that Condition to obtain a License for the Impression He left some other Works that were not printed Advertimientes al gewierno, directed to the Duke of Lerme, about the beginning of the Reign of Philip III El Conquistador, they were Advices concerning the Conquests to be made in the New World Puntos politicos o de Estado Dom Garsias Tellode de Sandoval, Knight of Calatrava, Son-in-Law to Alamos gave notice of these Manuscripts to Dom Nicolas a Antonio, from whom I have taken the greatest part of this Article

a See the Bibliotheca Scripspan t 1 P 141

" But the Bull of Clement VII about the Beatifica-"tion of that Holy Man, reported by Ciaconius, suf-fices to confound that Writer, seeing the Pope does "not testify that he performed a great Penance for the Crimes he had committed, but that he yielded up his most pure Soul to God, after having liv'd "6 Years'

Those Gentlemen censure Raynaldus very just-ly for the Boldness wherewith he affirms the Repentance of Alamandus, and they refute his Pre-rention in a demonstrative manner, but they are in the wrong to accuse him of that horrible Doctrine which they display so pompously It is not true that he joins Holine's and Impenitency together, for he supposes on the contrary, that that Cardinal did resupposes on the contrary, that that Cardinal did repent, and he acknowledges therein the Adorable

Mercy of God

If I fly here that Mr Claude (a) has reproach'd

Contains the Inconfiftencies concerning Odoricus

Contains the Inconfiftencies conc the Jansenists with Inconsistencies concerning Odoricus Raynal lus, it is only to shew that the Remarks which I attribute to them, have been ascribed to them by others

(A) Bit there are different Opinions about that Work]
The Opinions differ much more about the Aphorisms, than about the Tianslation, as will appear by the following Citations "As concerning the Apho-" risms (1) of Alamos, they are not so considerable as they are thought to be, for you will find almost "nothing in them that is like an Aphorism or them." nothing in them that is like an Aphorism, or that nothing in them that is like an Aphorism, or that comes near the force of what is express d in the Text of the Translation. Whereas Aphorisms ought to be more sententious than the Text, the Words of the Text are always more sententious than his Aphorisms. Lastly, To be short, his Aphorisms are most times a meer Paraphras'd Translation of the Translation it self, an inspired and tendence that there are the Paraders when the Translation. dious thing to the Readers that have any Under-flinding ind Tafte This being fuppos'd, I don't firiple to fry, That Alamos's Trinflition is much better than his Aphorisms And it is a Judgment that the Author of the Historical and Political Bibliography made before me in the Article of the Latin Historians Tacitus illustrated, fays he, Latin Historians Tacitus illustrated, fays he, (this is the Title of Alamos s Translation) is much efteem d by our Travellers, but to judge rationally of it, the Notes are not better than the Impertinent New Thoughts of Lemu d'Orleans on that Author, and the Aulick and Politick Remarks of "Author, and the Aulick and Politick Remarks of "Count Hamilbal Stot of Piacenza, which Lipsus calls "inghtly Leaden Notes" Yet a certain Spanish Secretily, whose Name is Juan Onate, took the pains to place those Aphonisms under particular Titles, in "in Alphabetical Order, and made no Difficulty to "entitle them, Alma de Cornelio Taeito Moreover, "one Terom Canini translated them into Italian, and "incorporated them into Italian, and "incorporated them into the Italian Translation of " incorporated them into the Italian Translation of "Advision Politi, as fomething very excellent,
"witness this Title, Opera di Corn Vacito illustrate con NOTABILLISSIMI AFORIS"MI del Signor D Baldassar Alamo Here are already two Authors that speak disdainfully of those Aphorisms, and two that value them much This difference of Opinion will be no great wonder, if we remember that in the Year 1683 Mr Amelor had not the same Opinion of them which he had in 1686, and in 1690. Let us confult the Preface of his Tiberius (c), "It is very true, fays he, "that Alamos has not only translated Tucitus" but n all the Margins, most of which are properly mas mo-mento de-Paraphrases and Versions of the Sentences of Tacitus, and the rest Moral or Political Conclusions are fo many small Pieces and Scraps, and, as the Proverb says, Sandwithout Lime or Gement, whereas in my Chapters, I make a continued Discourse of all the Latin Citations that are in the Margins,

"and even an Uniform Body of all those different

"Pieces Lipsius says (2) a Man must undertake

"fuch a Thing, to know how difficult it is

(B) Was to have been followed by a Commentary

The King's License makes express mention of that Commentary Aniony Covarravias speaks of it as of a Book that he has read, and he tells us also the Form and principal Parts of it. It is in the Approbation that he gave to the Work of Alamos, printed before the Translation Another Approbator speaks of the Commentary by Name Alamos speaks severaltimes of it in his Prefaces, and promises to clear the Obfernities of Tacitus in it Yet Nicolas Antonio says fcurities of Tacitus in it Yet Nicolas Antonio fays not one Word of it, and what is more stilling, he does not so much as speak of the Translation, he says only, That Alamos wrote some Aphorisms on Tacitus

(C) And endeavour'd I I don't observe this to lengthen the Article, as some Readers that precipitate their Judgments might imagine I propose to my felf the clearing of a small Process enter'd against Don Nicolas Antonio, with a great appearance of Reafon He pretends (d) that Emanuel Sueiro translated Tacitus's Works into Spanish, after Antony de Herrera had translated part of em, and after Balthafar de Alamos, and Carlos Coloma had wholly translated them, Post imus on nostro-

es la prinsta Obra

vero nufparfas fententias dene diffluerent. & effet,quod dicitur, arena fine calce ied eas aut inter fe haud in- o decemen aut inte dum verum ver-

(2) Nec

(a)Cliude, Preface of the Answer to the Porpetuits of the Luth p 28, 29

(v) Amelot de la Houffaye, Defe before bus to anflation of Ta Citus s Annals, printed in the Year 1697 That Critical Difcour le had appeared Letore 1 s Morateof Licitus m 1686 It 25 + 1 + the ent n a

in the bution of 11 All

ALBERTUS MAGNUS, a Dominican, Bishop of Rutishon, and one of the most famous Doctors of the XIIIth Century, was Born at Lawingen on the Danube in Suahia, in the Year 1193, (A) or in the Year 1205 a Morer's Dictionary shews the a Sec also divers Offices that were conferr'd upon him, and the Success wherewith he taught in Bullium, feveral Towns I shall particularly mention some Fassities that have been reported a formular of bout him It has been said $\beta$, that he delivered Women, and it was taken very ill that to p 145 and the The Ground of this Story and the is, That there went a Book under the Name of Albertus Magnus, containing several Infiructions for Midwives, and so much Knowledge of their Art, that it seem'd he could not have been so well Skill d in that Trade, if he had not Exercis'd it But the Apoophiaus logists of Albertus maintain that he (B) is not the Author of that Book, nor of that (C) Ray naud de secretis mulierum, wherein are many Things that could not be express'd but in obscene Hoploch and filthy Terms, which caus'd a great Noise against him that pass'd for the Author of Sect 2 Set 3 chap 10 fome Questions in his Commentary on the Master of the Sentences (D) concerning p 361 the Practice of Conjugal Duty, wherein he was oblig d to make use of Words that offend chaste Ears, but they alledge what he observes himself for his Justification, that so many monstrous. Things are heard in Confession, that it is impossible not to touch on those Questions it is certain that Albertus was the most Curious of all Men. He gave occasion upon that account for other Accusations It has been said that (E) he

1) td ib P 140 (f) Y aurque a_oriav a filido otio Lacito raduzido poi ManuclSueyro no quiie que dexisse de cl mio (g) Critial Difcourse be-to e Taci-tir's Moral, and b fore the Irmfitti-

Post Antonii de Herrera aliqualem, Balthasaru de Alamos & Caroli Coloma illustrium virorum integram opemos & Garoli Coloma itustrium virorum integram operam in hujusmet autoris interpretatione positam Now, he acknowledges that Sueiro's Translation was printed at Antwerp in 161, and it is certain, that that of Alamos was printed at Madrid in 1614. It is the Date that Don Nicolas Antonio gave (e) to the Aphonisms of Alamos Moreover Alamos set down (f) in his Preface the Reasons that did not hinder than from Publishing by Leasure Supples Supples Frances (f) in his Preface the Realons that did not hinder him from Publishing his Iac tus, since Sueiro's Franslition came out It does not seem then to be possible to answer for Don Nicolas Antonio this Objection of Mi Imelot de (g) la Houssaie; which shews, says he, citing what I have just now cited, I hat Don Nicolas Antonio missook, when he made the Translation of Eminuel Sueiro posterior to that of Alasos I know but one thing that can Excuse him, which is to say, that perhaps Sueiro was not Ignowhich is to say, that perhaps Sueero was not Ignorant when he undertook his Work, that Alamor had already obtain'd a License to Publish one like his, which had been feen and approv'd by Antony Covarrunas I he News of it might have come to him at Antwerp, for in the Year 1594 King Philip III had order'd Covarruvias to examine the whole Work of Alamos, and in the Year 1603 Philip II had granted a Permission to Print it Alamos relates all this in his Advertisment to the Pender whether this in his Advertisement to the Reader, which, to say to by the by, overthrows the Gonjecture of those,

this in his Advertisement to the Reader, which, to lay to by the by, overthrows the Gonjecture of those, who should fancy (b) that he fill'd the Margins of his Translation with Aphorisms, only to our vy that of Sueiro. The Aphorisms were one of the chief parts of his Work, from the time that it was approved by Antony Covarruvias.

(A) In he Year 1193, or in the Year 1205] Vossius is in the right to Censure Nicolas Riusnerm, who placed the Birth of Albertus in the Year 1293, and his Death in the Year 1,82, and thus he began his Book with a Mistake (a) Que magna est aussippints peccantis in 1950 opera ingress, well cantherius in porta, ut diei solet, nam ab hoc Alberto icones & closia sua ausspic atur. This is what Vossius says, without remembring that by as great a Fault as that, he had, page 6, placed Albertus's Flourishing Condition in the Year 1,68, and his Death at 87 Years of Age in the Year 1,68, and that he had made him contemporary with Urban IV and the Emperor Rodolphus (B) That he is not the Author of that Book. That Work is entitled, De Natura resum, and treats at large of the Trade of Midwives destroys many because the Ignorance of Midwives destroys many large of the Trade of Midwives The Author maintains that a Monk may write upon that Matter, because the Ignorance of Midwives destroys many Children, and deprives them for ever of Heavenly Bliss Peter de Prussa (b) a Monk of the Order of St Dominick, maintains that that Book, De Natura rerum, was compos'd by Thomas de Cantopre, a Disciple of Albertus, and he do's not deny that several Precepts are found in it about the manner of procuring a happy Delivery, which cannot be express'd without obicene Words But it is not Nature, but Human Sensuality that sullies those Objects (c) Admodum succenses in blaterones illos qui Alberto imposurunt quad egistet obsetricem Fassus tamen Cantipratanum ad instructionem obsetricum in Opere perperam supposite praceptori ejus Alberto tradidisse modos O vias falicis obsetricationus, cujus precepta chartis committi nece voce tradi possunt absque empressione multorum qua libido voce tradi possunt absque expressione multorum qua libido non natura fadavit It would have been a very finguthing to Ice Albertus Magnus undertake to deliver Woman, and fet his Hand to the Work See the

a Woman, and fet his Hand to the Work See the Remark C of the Aiticle Hierophilus

(C) Nor of that de Secretis mulicium | Noud
(d) makes use of these Two Proofs | Albertus did not name himself in the beginning of that Work | de Aipehe that Commented upon it, tells a Falsiry, when he maintains the contrary | 2 Albertus Authority | ever M i, is often made use of in this Book | and therefore | p 5 4 the Author live d some time after here. I hose two Proofs are not worth any thing | and the Consequence that is drawn from the Second, is of no weight. Many Ressons can oblige a Man not to pur weight Many Reasons can oblige a Man not to put his Name to a Book, no Authors cite themselves more willingly, than those who suppress their Names; nothing is more common, that to cite

Contemporary Authors See the Remark K

(D) Some Questions—concerning the Practice of Conjugal Duty | Peter de Prussa being not able to deny the I act, is contented to maintain the Law fuldeny the lact, is contented to in untuin the Lawruiness of it, and shews in the 18th Chapter (1) of his Book, That it is advantageous and necessary to know Natural Ihings, without excepting the Obscere, and that therefore Albertus and some other Caluists, were in the right to treat of Subjects full of Obscenities, for suchous it the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors would not be up a Conditional to the Contestors when the Contestors were contested to the Contestors when the Co without it, the Contessors would not be in a Conditi on to remedy the Diforders of their Penitents (f Qualis item mi lia ab Alberto de ulu conjugii in 4 \ d , 1 fub finem, scripto comprehensa fatetur, iliud ex ipso Alberto ibidem prafatus [dicendum primo, quod hujusmodi turpes quastionei nunquim tristari deberent, nistilli cogerent monstra que his tempor ibus in confessione audiun ur] ne ergo Conf staris rudes sint medicis a quam facere dibent adeo frequencious morbis, sustain census Alb rtus in illud olecum stylum demittere. We are told, that it were to be wish'd that none but Contessors should concern themselves with such Obscenities, but there must be Books wherein one may find the Resolution of Cases of Conscience relating to that Filthy Subject Necessarium (g) est enodationem solidam atque legitimam dubiorum circa seditates illas emergentium prostare al ubi apud probatos Dollores, cujusmodi suit Alvertus qui proinde reprehensione vacat, etiamsi illum veluti scriptionis putorem suis commentarius immiser: But it would be yet more necessary, to abolish that which miles those fort of Writings necessary, for how good inever an Author's Intention may be, it is to Books of that Nature that the pacare do inter histories (la

ever an Author's Intention may be, it is to Books of that Nature that the peccare do enter histories (1) (1) Homay be better applied than to an Hundred others (2) It (2) That he fought the Philosophers Stone | Niu' | 1 (1) informs us that Mayer, the great I avoured of Alchymists, was not as immed to affirm in his symbol (1) Apology of the Golden Iable of the Twelve Nations, that S Diminick was the first who had the knowledge of the Min, p Philosophers Stone, and that those to whom held it, so sommunicated it to Albertus Magnus, who by that mean, (1) I ib 6 clear dall the Debts of his Bisprick of Ratisbon in less than three Years Mayer grounds himself on Thice Books of Chymistry, which he attributes to Albertus Magnus. Naudi aniwers, (k) that he is in the wrong (k) Audo to attribute them to him, and proves it, because not p 5 0 to attribute them to him, and proves it, because not p 50 one of them has been inserted among h s. Works, or specified by Trithemius, and because that of the Quintiffence was failly attributed to him by Francis P ii

(1) To prove this last Fast, he does not in attempt de aux

Little of that Chapfene naturalia utile fit & (f Iheoph Ray

(c) Idem

()1 55 qe sa 🛣

(b) Petrus de Prussia ın Alberti Magni vita, cap 18

Amals () Amelot, ibid

(a) Volli-

ent Math

P ,62

(r) Th Raynaud Hoploth Sect 2 Ser 3 P 361

A Non post eum vir fimilis ei qui in omnibus 1 iteris, ficientiis & rebus tam doćiur, eiuditus. & e ci errus Litten d Suiptor the so the Brovius's An-21 1/6

(3) I b,

Phyl -(4) N cionim-P 15111 2 ètitu 1 cy o (1 Stude de pra not (-) 120 Mag lib (")Niude p1, 5 5 de libris ਬੀਸ਼ ਹੋਰਕ non toleringis. propolit, (9) In èpistolis (1) Lib , de Piz-(1) N unde pig 5 -Pur qualt 2 disput c C 4 In Lincip (o) Naude 1 1g , 6 Fig 5 8 (12 \Apud Immuch C Alouis 411 15 (9)N inde Decad Cup 2 qu 3 cian, and explain'd fought the Philosophers Stone, and even that he (F) was a notoriou that he had made a Machine like a Man which ferv'd him for an Occupant explain'd all the Difficulties that he propos'd to it. I could easily believe that as he understood the Mithematicks, he had made a Head, the Springs whereof might form some articulate Sounds, but what a folly to ground an Acculation of Magick upon this! Some pretend that a great (G) Miracle spoke for his Justification Altho' he was as capable as any Body else to invent Artillery, there is some Reason to believe that those who ascribe (11) the Invention of it to him are mistaken. It is said a that he had natu-

externs
therit Quotaution (,), and Guillertus (4), who maintain'd that Albertus laughs a Alchymifts, and their pretended to industry
to industry
that the Author of the Book of the Quinte-effence qualifies himself Monk of the Order of St Francis, and tys that he compos'd it when he was in Prison These two Circumstances ought undoubtedly to relate to John de Rupeicissa to John de Rupeicissa (F) 1/at he was a Notorious Magician] Naude pretends that this Accufation can only be grounded on two Works, that went under the Name of Albertin Mirius, and on the Androi So that here the two Proofs Let us see what he says of cich

I The first of those two Books is Entituled, () it me ab libut, the other is the Mirrour of Aftroanti on that Science (6) Francis Picus and Martin () Dehio egree, that they do Albertus Magnus a recat deal of wrong, who believe him to be the Author of the Book de mitabilibus, and therefore the latter clears him in these very I crms, Alberto Magno tributus liber de mitabilibus, vanitate & superstitione reseitus est, fed magno Doctori partus fuppolitatius rout of Astrology was (m) condemn'd by Gerson (8) and Agrippa (9), as superstitious to the highest degree, and 1) kinners Pieus (11) and many others, because the suttor of it afforts a very erroneous Opinion, in facous of the Books of Magick, which he maintains, out arcfully to be preserved, because the Time draws now that for costain Causes, which he does not specify, Non will be clief d to perufe and confute them on the Occasions. It feems then that if our Albertus hid composed such a Book, he must be taken for a Migician, but Naude (n) does not grant that Confiquence, seeing the Jesust Vasquez (11) says form vib that Books of Magick are necessary, and that Macics serve tolerasted by God, that the Libertines may in some neasure be reclaimed from Athersia. Besides, 1 (o) takes it for granted that Roger Bacon is the Author of that Work, as Franc's Picus maintain in his first Book against Astrologies. So much for the suffernment of the Frost of the Accusation. Let us see at present what is answered to the second.

If Some Persons (p) have believed that brazen the set could be made under cut to a Constitutions.

Herd could be made under certa n Constellations, and that one raight draw Answers from them that serv'd for a Guide in all the Affairs a Man had 2 for relates (1) that Henry de Villeme had made one at Ma / 1, that was broke by the Command of John II King of Cast le Virgil, Pope Silvester, Robert of Vincoln, and Roger Bacon had the like Heads, if we believe certain Writters Albertus Magnus was wall at the poor Investment for the silvester. juded to be more Ingenious, for it is pretended in that he had composed a whole Man of that fort, laving lacour d Ti rey Years without discontinuation to force In under doors Apells and Confiellations, as for Example 1c Free when the Sun was in a Sign of tranple (c f) et when the Sun was in a Sign of 1 (20) ich con sponsent with Juch a part, which he cifi will Mital mix diogether, and mark'd with the C11 actors of t' sime Signs and Planets, and of their a rese and need in Japacts, and so the Haad, Neck, Sloulders, Tlighs and Legs saftion d in divers Times, and it ais a and fast it degether in the Form of a Man, I add at I suffer to reveal to the Said Albertus the Soin the manifest of the faith Albertus the So-inen of all I chief Difficulties. This is what is all the Anarois of Albertus Magnus. It was licke, as they by the new Aguinas, who could not bear its great Tittle tattle with Patience (r) pig 529 Herry de Affia and Barsholomew Schylla say, that it was 5, mine up of Flesh and Bones, but by Art and not by Na(1) Idem two ber el leing however judged impossible by modern pig 5,1 at 10, and the wirthe of Images, and Planetary Rings He cites and Scal be gin great Vogue, it was always believed fince that such Figures were made of Brass, or Qu 3 of some ohr Mital, which was wrought on with the Decad fatour of Heavin, and of the Planets. Thus Naude 12 results Albertus Accuses, that is, he supposes that refutes Albertius Accusers, that is, he supposes that the pretended Androis was made up of Metal He shews by very strong Reasons that it could neither hear, nor speak, nor serve the Devil as an Instru-ment for Speech, and that if the Devil had spoke through that Machine, he would have done it without the help of the metallick Organs of which it So that it would not have been newas made up ceffary to employ fo much Time, and fo many Ceremonies to forge that Machine, a Bottle or a Trumpet would have been the Difficulties of Albertus Larry, Naud' remarks that those who speak of that Andrews bring no Proof of the Fact Toffarm notwithstanding all his Wit and Learning, was very Credulous, therefore his, Authority proves nothing If any Body will maintain that fuch a Tradition ought to have fome Ground, Naudé (s) gives a very plaufible. One for it, which is, that Albertus might have had a Head in his Closet, or a Statue of a Man like those Machines of Boethius, of which Cassionus (13) said Metalla mugiunt, Diomedis in are grues buccinant, aneus ang is insibilat, aves simulata fritinniunt, & qua propram vocem nesciunt ab are dulcedinem probantur emittere can-

(G) A great Miracle Spoke for his Justification] According to Father Theophilus Raynaud the Accusers of Albertus fay, that on I welf-day he treated Wil-liam I arl of Holland, and king of the Romans, who past by the City of Cologue, and that to make his Euferam-Treat the more remarkable, he chang'd the Winter, the esta-into a Summer full of Flowers and Fruits (t) The term ver-themius relates it They add to this the speaking tit, ut Head, the Book de mirabilibus, and that de secret scribit mulierum Father Theophilus does not refute those Trithe-Accusations by the Elogies that several Historians mus in bestow upon the Virtue of the accus'd He has Chron to the Holiness of Albertus by divers miraculous Operations, and by preserving his Body from all Corruption to this Day Testimonium quod ejus sanctitatis Deus perhibus peratis in ejus gratiam miris plansfus albertus perhibus peratis in ejus gratiam miris plansfus albertus albertus corpore ad hunc usque diem a tabe of publicatione exempto. That Apologist adds, that the Mesamorphosis of the Winter into Summer, and the speaking Head, are two great Falses. Summer, and the speaking Head, are two great Falfities, and that the two Books in Question are fully attributed to Albertus Magnus, and that St Thomas (14) does not say that he formerly broke that speaking Head in his Master's House (u) Hyems in veru amanitatem versa, & caput ancum articulate loquens ad Deum Fabulinum sunt ab'eganda tanquam conficta & falso jactata de tanto viro autem Magici qui Alberto affingebantur sunt supposititi See what that Jesuit relates of some Machines that ry of the give very harmonious Sounds He will allow that Learned, Albertus might have a Head so ingeniously composed, that the Air that was blown into it might 87 receive the requisite Modifications to form a human Voice As to the Exemption from Putrefaction, fee here what I have read of it in (x) Thever, "Oui "Albertus, having liv'd 87 Yeus, died in the Year of our Redemption 1280 at Cologne, whither $2 piets he had retird to Study, and there his Body is measure bury'd in the middle of the Quire of the Con-thems and his Entrails were (2) That is vent of the Dominicans, and his Entrails weie (2) That is carry d to Ratisbon, his Body was yet intire in to fay of the Time of the Emperor Charles V and was taken Aristotle up by his Command, and afterwards plac'd again (15) L du in its first Monument "The Jesuit Raderus rerum in ada some Latin Verses (1) on the Intervention of Verses (2) "in its first Monument "The Jesuit Raderus made some Latin Verses (y) on the Incorruption of that Body They end thus,

Illius (z) dostas mirentur sacula mirer ego salvas post tria sacula mus.

Moreri says but Two Hundred Years instead of Three Hundred. It is not his Corpus to

Morers 1248 but Two Hundred Years instead of Three ? 518 of Hundred It is not his Custom nor his Genius to his Apology lessen Thomas of the North Manual Property lessen Things of that Nature

(H) That attribute the Invention of the Artillery to Men print-him, are mistaken | "John (15) Matthew de Luna, ed at Paris "who liv'd (a) above Sixscore Years ago, main. in the Teer who liv'd (a) above Sixicore 10413 per tains, though against the Opinion of Pelyderus, "Magius,

(s) Naude pag 539, (13) Lib Variat epift 45

(#) Horrıdam hyemem in florigeram fiu-Anno 1254 Th Rayn Ser 1 c 14 pag 149 (14) 3 Contra Gent c (u) Ibid pag 150 (x) Thevet Hifto-2 pag, lart Aca-Aristotle (15) L de rerum m-Fol (a) N Speaks here for great hally a very Bull Wit, and that he was about leaving the Cloister, because he despair'd to learn what his Fryar's Habit requir'd of him; but that the Holy Virgin appear'd to him, and ask'd him wherein he would rather excel, either in Philosophy, or in Divinity, that he made choice of Philosophy, that the Holy Virgin assur'd him that he would be an Incomparable Man in that Science, and that he should fall again into his first Stupidity before his Death, to punish him for not having made choice of Divinity add also, That after that Apparition he had abundance of Wir, and improved in all Sciences with a Quickness at which all his Masters were astonish'd, but that Three Years before his Death, he forgot what he knew all at once, and that being at a stand in a I e-Aure of Divinity at Cologne, and endeavouring in vain to recal his Idea s, he was sensible that it was the Accomplishment of the Prediction So that it has been said, That by Miraculous Means he was metamorphos'd from an Ass into a Philosopher, and afterwards from a Philosopher into an Ass. It were needless to observe that this is a meer Story, those that will believe me in it, have no need of my Advice, and would make that Judgment without expecting it, and as for those that judge otherwise of it, they would not change their Opinion in reading here that I am not of their Mind Our Albertus was (1) a very little Man He died at Cologne the 15th of November 1280 being 87, or 75 Years old. He writ such a prodigious number of Books, that they amount to 21 Volumes in Folio, in the Edition of Lions, 1651 A Dominican of Grenoble, call'd Peter fammy, procur'd it.

1625

Two or Three Particularities have been communicated a to me, that shall (K) be a By Mr de la Mon-

seen hereunder

ALBRET, a Family It was for some Ages one of the most Illustrious of France, for the Great Men it produc'd, whose Merit shin'd in the most Eminent Dignities of the Kingdom Every body knows that it possess d Navarre and Bearn Morers speaks of that Family at large, I refer my Readers to him, and I do not examine if all that he faid of it is right. I shall only observe one Thing that he does not say, which is, That there remains no Male Issue of that Great House, since the B Marquiss d'Albret was B His kill d in Picardy, in the House of the Marquis de Bussi-Lamet He had married the on-Charles ly Daughter of his Uncle the Mareschal d Albret, in the Year 1662 but that Marriage Amanjeu produc'd no Children It is likely that the Marshal consulted the Interests of his House d' Albret more than the Inclination of the Two Cousins, for it is said, that there was but little Good Understanding between the Husband and the Wife She married again with the 120th Live Count de Marsan, one of the Sons of the Count d' Harcourt Her first Husband, the ter of Marquiss d' Albret, was like to be promoted to the Chief Military Offices He was albustin-Raready Mareschal de Camp, and was to end the Campaign of 1678 under Mareschal Schomburin 1st berg, who was sent to the Frontiers of Champagne, in the beginning of the Month of Aupart page gust Whilst his Flying Camp drew near Charleville, the Marquiss d' Albret ask'd him of Holadevester is her he was kill'd at the above-mention'd Gentleman's House who was y However it be, he was kill'd at the above-mention'd Gentleman's House, who was clear'd by proving that he was not then at home This is the Bed of Honour wherein the only Person that remain'd of so many Heroes, ended his Life His Family deserved Priolus de The Marshal d Albret died Governor of Guierne rebus Galto end in a more Glorious Occasion I wo Years before He flad obtain'd the Staff of Mareschal of France in 1653 Those who less, 1 6 fay that he deserv'd it for having seiz'd the Prince of Conde, are ignorant of the Mat- 63 It was not he, (but Mr de Guitaud &) that soil'd him, he only conducted the

(a) More Il inflead of this Speaks only of Gunpow-der, of which Naude ∫sys noa thing

(b) See Bullart, ubi supra, and follow

" Magins, Mayer, Pancirolus, Flurence Rivault, Bixoldus, and all the Authors that have writ concerning due, and all the Authors that have writ concerning the Invention of Fire-Staves, that Albertus Magnus found out the Use of Great Guns, Arquebures, and Pistols (a), but I could not find in all those Authors any thing that comes near that Opinion, except that such Machines were put in practice in his Time, by a German Monk, whom they call berthold Schunartz, or by a Chymist, who, in the Judgment of Cornazanus, a pretty Ancient Author, liv d in the City of Cologne, in which it is certain that Albertus always liv'd since he took the Habit of a Dominican "Thus Naude resutes John Matthew de Luna The last Thing he afferns is false, Matthew de Luna The last Thing he affrms is false, for those that have writ (b) the History of Albertus, say, That he enter'd into the Order of St Dominick in the Year 1222 That after his Superiors had sent him to Cologne, to teach Divinity and Philosophy, and he had acquitted hunfelf of that Employment, to the astonishment of his Auditors, he made himself admir'd at Hildesheim, at Friburg, at Ratisbon, and at Strasburg, that he return'd to Gologne in the Year 1240 that a-mong other Disciples, he had Thomas Aquinas there, to whom he left his Place when he went to profess in the City of Para, that having taught Three Years in Para, he teturn'd to Cologne, that he was made Provincial of his Oider in the Year 1254 that ne perform'd the Visits of the Provinces on Foot, that he went to Rome by the Order of Alexander IV where he was made Master of the Sacred Palace, and read Divinity Lectures, that he return'd into Germany in the Year 1260 that he was elected Bishop of Ratishm there, that at Three Years end he obtain'd leave to quit his Bishoprick, that he return'd to his Cell at Cologno, that the Pope commanded him a little while after to preach the Crusade all over Germany and Bowenia, that in 1274 he affished at the Council of Lyons; that he had the Character of the Emperor's Ambuscher and that we left he resumed to Cologno. baffador there, and that at last he return'd to Cologne How could Naude, who had read so much, be ignorant of their Ramblings of Albertus Magnus?

rant of these Ramblings of Albertus Magnus?

(1) Our Albertus was a very Little Man] (c) "Some (i) Bus"

"write, That kissing His Holiness Feet when he lart, ubt "was come to Rome, the Pope commanded him to, supra, "rise, thinking him to be yet on his Knees, altho he was standing "The same Thing is related of some other Persons See the Remark H of the Article Andre (john) And remember the Logicians there Order Distinction between quantitas molus, and quantitas the non virtutus The Little Albertus Magnus puts me in mind of it (d)

- that shall be seen here-(K) Particularities that shall be sein here-under] "The Book De secritis mulierum, wrongful-"Iy ascribed to Albertus, is the Work of one of his Disciples, who is call d Henricus de Saxonia, with "whose Name it has been printed more than once findion

"Here are Simler's Words (e) Henrici de Saxonia Al
"berti Magni discipuli liber de secretii mulierum, impres
"sus Augusta anno D 1498 pir Antonium Sorg And ler epit in the Catalogue of Thuanus & Library you will Biblioth find, (f) Hinrici de Saxonia de secretu mulierum, de Cesta p

"opprutious berbarum. lapidum. auorundam animalium in ..." ourtutious herbarum, lapidum, quorundam animalium m ,,2 aliorumque in 12 Francof 1615 It is plain that Albertus Name, more famous than that of Henry, (f) In the gave occasion for that Supposition 70hn 156thPage gave occasion for that Supposition ______ John 156thPag P cus Mirandula says, That Albertus condemn'd in of the 2d T 2 his Par.

ca falis holds the Same Di-

148 & Sce St Lvremont's Miscellan Works, tom 2 P 71 77 and follow Edit of Holland, Ldit 1693 B See Father Anselme, t 2 pag 285 y At pre-lent Tivo-& Sueton de chi Rhetor сар б s Seneca, Præfat 13 Controverf & alıbı pasfim ¿ Albutius non obfcurus proteffor itque autor, fcientirm bend dicende elic confentit (Rhetoricam) Quint Inft/ 12 ii Cicero in Biuto de finib 1 ld 1 1 de Nat Deorum x Id in Bruto A Ibid # Ibid Id de Provinc

() Sine c: Prat , contiov

Confuler & in Pitonem

Ciccio

I utcal 5

() Sucton de tor c 6

(c) Quin-til I 9

(d) Cicuro de finib

Prince to the Boir de Vincennes He commanded at that Time the General He Guard He had learn'd the Trade of War in Holland, and was call'd the Count de mes of the Misssens It is under that Name that he receiv'd many Elogies in one of Mr de a St Evremont's Writings He was made Knight of the King's Order the 1st of January, 1662. and Governor of Guienne in the Month of November, 1670 In 1645, he married Magdalen de Guenegaud, Youngest Daughter of Gabriel de Guenegaud, the King's Treasure. rer & He was one of Scarron's Heroes, as appears plainly by that Writer's Works

A L B U N E A, a Famous Place near & Tibur in Italy See the last Remark of the Article Tibur ALBUTIUS SILUS (Carus) a Famous Orator in Augustus's Time, was born at Novara, and had rais'd himself there to the Office of an Addie; but he quitted it, because he was insulted by some Persons who had lost their Cause. He was their Judge, and gave Sentence against them, and they pull'd him from his Tribunal by the Legs That Affront made him leave his Country immediately, and go to Rome, where he associated himself with the Orator Munacius Plancus Their Emulation and e'em fall out, and then he set up an Auditory by himself, and at last he venture to blead Causes He had some Missortunes (A) at the Bar, that oblig'd him to leave it Being old, and troubl'd with an Impossibility he returned to National Where having called the Tourist and the set of the se and troubl'd with an Imposthume, he return'd to Novara, where having call'd the People together, he represented to them in a long Speech the Reasons that made him weary of his Life, and starv d himself to death Seneca the Father, who had hear d him sometimes, speaks a amply of him, and gives several Abstracts of his Speeches. He praises him as a Man who could neither endure, nor do any Injury, and this he calls a great Problem. Here summer problems are facere interior necessary.

Probity, Homo Jummæ probitatis, qui nec facere injuriam nec pati sciret Seneca the Philosopher would have defin'd the Nature of Probity better Albutius compos'd a Rhetorich, as it may be easily inferr'd from a Passage of Suintilian

A I B U T I U S (Titus) a Philosopher of the Epicurean Sect, went " in his Youth from Rome to Athens, and took so much delight in the Manners of the Greeks, that he was more willing to pass for a Greek than for a Roman, which occasion da Jest (B) of Scævola, which Lucilius turn'd very maliciously in one of his Satyrs, as we learn 6 from Greero We learn from the same Author, I. That Albutius was a Zealous Epicurean, and that he would have been a better Oratora, if he had been less addicted to the Figurean Sect 2 That he understood a the Greek Erudition well, and that he \(\mu\) published some Harangues 3 That he had been in the Offices of the Republick, that he govern'd, Sardima in the Quality of a Pro-Pretor, and that he could not obtain (C) from the Senate the Procession which he had desired to be made, to thank the Gods for his Exploits, that he was accused (D) of Concussion, and (E) banish'd, and o that he

" his tiper Years the Books of Magick that he had " composed in his Youth _____ Andreis is not the "Name that is made use of, when they speak of the "Attificial Man of Albertin Magnus It is a Word absolutely unknown, and invented by Naude, who " boldly made use of it as if it had been generally " teceiv d

(") Some Misfortunes thought one Day to have only made use of a fine Common-Place, when he said to his Adverse Party, Swear in Africa and by the Memory of your Fathers and you shall sain your Cause. After he had adorned that I hought as well as he could, the opposite Advocate find to him, We accept that Condition Albutius reply d That he had only offer'd it as a Rhetorical figure, and that all I igures would be excluded, if I hings were taken literally The other Advocate reply d, That Men could live without those Figures, in that he did not care for them. The Judges gave it for the Oath, and so Alburius lost his Cause for a Rhetorical Hourish. He was so vex'd at it, that he left his Profession (a) Let us see what Succonius says of it, Cum in lite quadameentum virali ab adversances with the seed of t rio quim ut impium erg i parentes ncessebat, jusqurandum quasi per figuram sic obtul sict, Jura per patris matrif-que cineris qui inconditi juient & alia in hunc modum arripiente co conditionem nec judicibus afpernantibus, non fine magna fur in ordia negotium officie (b) I ver fince that I ame the Mafters recommended to their Diferples(c)not to make use ofthese I igures out of sexion

(B) A Test of Scavoli] It consisted in this, that with he received a Visit from Albutius at Athens, he filuted him in Greek, and made all his People falute him in the fame Language. The ridiculousness of it come to be perceived without thinking on the Action it felt. See here how Gieere (d) expresses himteit, Kirving longs virbis elettis graviter ernateque distatas See here how Gieere (d) expresses himself, auis non lica nisi que se plane Gracum dici velis, ut a S. a cola es Prator salutatus Athenis Albutius, quem qudem locum cum multa venustate & omni fale idem Lucit -

us apua quem præctire Scævola, Græcum te, Albuti, quan Romanum atque Sabinum Manicipem Ponti, Titii, Anni, Genturionum Praclarorum hominum ac primorum signiferumque, Waluiti die G accorgo Prator Atlenis

It quod maluisti, te, cum ad me accedi saluto

Xaipe, inquam, Tite Listores, turmaomni, cohorsq,

Xaipe Hinc hostis Man albutius, hinc inimicus

That Albutius was at that time Prator at Athenia, that yet the Verses of Lucilius Brutum testify that Albutius making Visits to Scavola, was saluted in Greek, and in a bantering manner, which he pi89 was offended at, and made him Scavola's Enemy Is will have it not a plain Thing, that according to Lucilius, it it corrected was Scavola, and not Albutius, who exercised the Pretorship? It Albutius had been Prator, he would have ther Crie received, and not made Visits, if he had made any, ticks are of they would not have received him with Nipping Jests the same they would not have received him with Nipping Jests the same I wonder therefore either that Cicero should say that Opinion Albutius was Pretor, or if he said that it was Scarola, See the as it is very likely he did, that the Fault which crept Cicero of into the Editions has not been corrected. It ought Mr Groto be read, (e) ut a Scevola est Pretor falutatus Athenis novius Albutius, and not, ut a Scevola est Pretor falutatus Athenis novius themis Albutius Mr Dacier (f) cites these Verses cier on of Lucilius, and translates them in such a manner, horace, that he declares that Scavola was Prator at Albens, Satyr 2 when he laugh'd at Albutius, who went to make his 1 2 p 121. Court to him Corradus (g) thinks that Albutius stu Edit of died at Athens, and that Scavola pass'd through it in Holland, his Travels to Rhodes, mentioned in the First Book (g) during the Cratore

(C) That he could not obtain from the Senate the Procession] Cicero speaks of it to deprive Gabinius's and (b) Cicero Piso s Friends of the Consolation they drew from it the shews them that Things were not alke (b) Has consolatione utuntur etiam T Albutio supplicationem hunc consolatione utuntur etiam T Albutio supplicationem hunc consolatione utuntur etiam T Albutio supplicationem hunc consolationem denegase, quod est primum distriction una cohortic auxiliaria gesta, & bellum cum maxima soria gentibus ac tyrannus consulari exercitu imperioque consestum Deinde Albutius, quod a Senatu petebas, ipse sibi in Sardinia ante in usum decreverat Constabat cnim, Grecum i oninem ac levem in Delphini, ipsa provincia quasi triumphasse Itaque hani cius temce ritatem Senatus supplicatione denegata notavis It is thought (1) that Albutius commanded in Sardinia in Veur of Rome 649

(D) That he was accused of Concussion] One cannot to in doubt of it, after having read these Words, (k) Mustinians in Augur, quod pro se opus crat, ipse diebs, at Cicero speaks of it to deprive Gabinius's and (b) Cicero riends of the Consolution they drew from it de Procession] went to phize at Athens. Scavola's Jest was (F) a Seed of Discord between them. The Dictionaries (G) are not free from Faults upon this Subject I do not be-

(1) Fathon

(aa) Corradus in Brutum Ciceronis, pag 189 Douza in Luculum, (68) 62 ro in Ver-rem divi-

(cc) Id

(a) Apul Apolog 2

(b) Ciceroin Lx-

64 Gravius, notis in Ocer de Offic. 1 2 C 14 (d) He gives bis Acculation Against Verres for an Example Thirefore he did not pretend to cite only thole who had been Accusers. ın their first Youth de posumess repetandes contra T Albutium Is pratorum in numero non fuit, juris civilis intelligentia, asque omni prudentia genere prastitit. It is not so certain that Mutius Scavola was the Accuser I had rather say that he was only concern'd in that Cause, and oblig'd to clear, or to maintain femething that concern'd him, and wherewith the Accused Person was charged He had Eloquence enough for a Thing of that nature, but otherwise he was no Orator, which plain-ly appears from the Words that I have quoted Some Criticks (as) prefer this Reading, Mutius au-tem sugar, quod pour erat, per se ipse dicebet, I am not against it, for in seading thus, there is yet Reason to conjecture that seavels did only intervene in that Cause, and speak on some Incident. That Conjecture, of which I shall speak again in the Remark F, as strongly confirmed by a Reason which Coerce alledged against the Person who contended with him for the Commission of accusing Verres. He says, (bb) That Casus Julius having a like Dispute against Cheius Pompey in the Business of Alburius, made use of Two Means, the one was, that this Pompey had been Quaffor to Alburius; the other, that the Inhabitants of Sardings had defir'd him to accuse Albuius here, by the by, that the Romans did not approve that a Superior Magistrate should be accused by his Subaltern (cc) Neque fere unquam vents in contentionem de accusande qui Quattor fuisses, quin repudiaretur Itaque neque L Philoni in C Servilium nominis deserendi que neque L'Philoni in C Servilium nominis deferendi posefias est data, neque M Aurelio Scauro in L Flactum, neque Cn Pompejo in T Albutium Quorum nemo propter indiguitatem repudiatus eft, Jed ne libido violanda neceffisudans autoritate judicum comprobaretur Apuleius The sto confute what I have endeavour'd to prove; the fays in his Second Apology, That C Musius accus'd A Albutius But it is an easy thing to answer that Objection, for on the one side, the Persons of whom Apuleius speaks, have different Names from those of whom I speak here; and on the other side, what Apuleius fays of his C Mutius, cannot be apply'd to Scavela in question It is certain that our Albuttus s Name was Titus, and not Aulus, and that our Scavola was call d Quintus Mucius, and as he was Augur, he was often denoted by that Office, Quintus Mucius Scavola Augur The Augur, whom Apuleius speaks of, was a Young Man, who was endeavouring to come into the World, and to make himself known at the Bar; (a) Neque autom gloria causu me accusat ut M Antonius Gn Carbonem, C Mutius, A Alburum..... quippe homines eruditissimi juvenes laudu gratia primum hoc rudimentum forents opera subibant, ut aliquo insigni judicio civibus suis noscerentur, qui mos incipientibus adolescentibus ad illustrandum ingenis forem apud antiques concessus, dise exolevit This does not agree with our Mutins Scavola He was Consul in the Year 636 of Rome, he was old when Gicero (b) was but 18 Years of Age, that is to say, in the Year of Rome 665 and Albutius was not accused till after his return from Sardinia, where he was Pro-Prater in the Year 649 See the following Remark Perhaps the Transcribers of Apuleius have by degrees chang'd C Julius into It is certain that C Julius was the Accufer of Albutius, and if Apuleius had nam'd him, he would be exact in that respect, but he cannot be justified in what he advances, that all the Accusers he names were young Adventurers, who endeavour'd to fignalize their coming into the World by fom famous the borrows all those Examples from the He borrows all those Examples from as the Illustrious Mr Gravius (c) has judicious Mr Gravius (c) has judicious Mr Gravius (c) has judicious Mr Gravius (d) has judicious Mr Gravius (d) made divers Classes of them a continuous they would not have been useful to the fallification of Facts When Authors don't them fuch as they wish them to be, they give 'em what turn they stand in need of, when they alledge them when they alledge them

(E) And banifo'd | We do not find this in the fame Places of Cicero, where Albanius's Tryal is ipoken of, and it must not be wonder'd at, for when an Author foes not write the Life of a Man, he only says of the present Subject of the Circuit has a concerns the present Subject of the Circuit has a concerns the present Subject of the Circuit has a concerns the present Subject of the Circuit has a concerns the present Subject of the Circuit has a concerns the present subject of the circuit has a concerns the present subject of the circuit has a concerns the present subject of the circuit has a concerns the present subject of the circuit has a concerns the present subject of the circuit has a concerns the present subject of the circuit has a concerns the present subject of the circuit has a concerns the present subject of the circuit has a concerns the circuit subject of the circuit has a concerns the circuit subject of the circuit

cere faid fomething concerning Albatias's Trial, he aim'd only at the Persons who had spoken, or would speak against the accused Person, it was not therefore necessary that he should mention the Issue of that Caufe When he spoke of Albutius & Banthment, his only aim was to shew the good use that may be mide of Banishment, so that it was not necessary to icmark for what Cause Albanus was exil'd It is our business to make a Contexture of those different Pafages, and by that means we shall find that Alvuin having been accused of Concussion at the Request of the Inhabitants of Sardinia, was condemn'd and bi- (e) Cicero nish d (e) Albustus C U M in Sardinia triumphosser in Piso nish d (e) Albutius C U M in Sardinia triumph-fler in Piso Rome damnatus est (f) Quid F Albutius, nonne anima aquissimo Athenis exul philosophabatur? Gui tamen il- (f) Id 15 lud ipsum non accidisset, si n republica quiesceni Epicuri Tusculan legibus paruisset Gassendus (g) cited this Passage very ill, for instead of si in republica requisser should be that desire a Proot of what I have ind, that Albuti vita I in mass accusive at the request of the Inhabitium of the side of the side of the Inhabitium of the side of the Inhabitium of the side was accused at the request of the Inhabitants of ont- 12 c5 dinia, need only read these Words (b) su'us so p 188 m secum autoritatis ad accusandum afference and need to where fecum autoritatis ad accujandum afferent anor ne ic 10° wi re tempere nos ab Sieulus, se tum ille ab Sardis rogatus ad cau tree tatifam accessorae. To which you may add these Words of interout the 14th Chap of the 2d Book de Ossuris surgetrocsnio, ut nos pro Sieulis, pro Sardis Julius So ver ir il must read with Lambinus, or pro Sardis, contra A' - i secon unifulus, with Manueius Consult su tonius (i) divin in Ard was a cast of Enfoard hermon tree. This is Verien unifications, with Monucius Confult Su tomus (1) divin in (1) Was a Seed of Discord between view This is Venium what Lucilius remaiked in his Satyr, Hine losses Mu (1) Suction albutius, hime immices. A Learned Man behaves that they offen this aircle ach other, and that they did to 65 particularly in the Caule of Granius, accured by 1/2 (1) Co rabutius, and defended by Micross He flys That at least Mutius was very glad of Granius & Absolution He proves this by a Passage of Granius, to which he correspondences that others give a different Explication, to p. 189 confesses that others give a different Explication, to priso wit, That Alburius accused Musius of Concussion (L) (1) Cicero, Sape inter se diffentirent & contenderent, ut quim Alen- 12 de sus Granium oppugnabat, & Mutius eum desendebat, c ?- Oi it se illo absoluto gaudobat, ut libro secundo de Oratore foi p- (m) Suc sum videbis, quamves aliter alit verba illa fint interpreta- I ere und r 21, O putarent splum Scavelan ab albusio de pecun s re- the kemark pesundis accusatum fueste, qued us nes de viso tali creda- H mus abduce non possumu. I neither like the Senie which (n Proust that Critick rejects, nor that which he approves I comment should rather think Givero meant that Scarols was con-in Cicci de cern d in the Process of Concussion enter dagainst Olar 1 1 Alburius, and so much concern d, that the Justification of 2 in on of Albutius was to refult from his Condemnation with tel-I suppose, according to that Conjecture, that Savoli plane pleaded his Cause against Allusis, and that from (1) to nethence it came that he pass d for Albusius Accuses now the I suppose that he came off gloriously, which served is a line for the conviction of Albusius I suppose beindes, as a tabi, that the latter made use of the Citer Granus & Region on his sters to convince Scavola, and that his Proof was cuiquim judg dinfufficient Granius was very glad of Scave- pucet ala's Absolution, and was jested upon as if he had rejouc'd that the Judges had no regard to his Books, or Horar hat to his Verbal Processes. Here are Gicero's Words, 4/1 (1) Bella ctiam est familiaris reprehensio quasi crran ii, ut quum objurgavit Albim Granium qued quum ejus tabu lis quidaam Albutio probatum videretus, & valde a felico Scavola gauderet, neque int lligeret contra Juas tabulas hon o u esse judicatum. It any other Proofs were desired for fettis) apothe Enmity of Albusius and Scarola, I could fay that print documents introduced Scavola (m, linghing at Albusius a cours, ca-Style I would willingly know from whence.

Prouft (n) had it, that Lucilius s Anger against our Scavola proceeded from the Affection he had for Aibin-I would willingly know from whence lather jus Luci(n) had it, that Lucilius s Anger against our 1 and hetim, against whom Scavola had pleaded If I u ilian funt libel-was albutius s Friend, he verified the Mixim (0), li, dicehat That a Jefter would rather lose his Friend than mis Jest for we have feen how this Satyrical Poet diverted fundum himself at the cost of albutius

(G) The Dictionaries are not free from Failts] I Charles Rionilas Stephens pretends that Varro ipoke of our Titus Albutius femper as of a Poet, who had made Satyrs after Lucilius's vincia manner, Luciliano Stylo But when we consult Vano, villa we find that he speaks (p) of one Lucius albusius agrum II It is not true that Lucilius laugh d at Albusius as at enim mi-Man that mix'd Greek with his Latin Words, Charles nus dena Seephens did not take that Poet & Sense, he fancied that milliared the xaips belongs to Albutius, but it belongs to Sca- dere, vil wole, and to his Men Lloyd and Hofman have not him plus corrected those Two Faults Take notice that I don't vicen i pretend to deny that Albatim mix d Gr .k with his I a- Varco ae sin III What Charles Stephens, Lloyd and Hofman Rerufts a suppose, is very uncertain, to wit, I fat the Lather 1 3 6 2

A icero, (p) Norme item I in Albano fuum 1 aB They

& Portu-

velation

P 557 & Bishop of Meiux Pref of the Revelation, p 33

Edit of Holland 4 Idem Ibid

CAlegam-be had g wen him 63 Years

Fault

n In the tınum, Barbite, carmen Lesbio primum modulate

CIVI Hor Od 32 11

Chron

in Sar i

1 2 P 40

(I) Horst 5 IC 2

tis Paj-

/age

(a) 1 be

O'l Commintator, nus (ru lieve that our Titus Albutius is the same (H) of whom Horace speaks in the 2d Satyr of the 2d Book. We find nothing concerning the Phylician A LB UTIUS, whom Plany places a among the most Famous.

A L C A S A R (Lewis de) a Spanish Jesuit 8, was born at Seville in the Year

1554 He enter'd among the Jesuits in the Year 1569 in spite of the Oppositions of guese in 1554 He enter'd among the Jesuits in the Year 1569 in ipite of the Oppositions of the supply that had great Possessions. After having taught Philosophy, he taught Distribution of Meaux, vinity above Twenty Years at Corduba, and at Seville. He apply'd himself chiesty to the Explication discovery of the Mysteries contain'd in St. John's Revelation, and employ'd near Twenty of the Re-Years in that Labour 2. The Work that he composed upon it is one of the best (A) that the Roman Catholicks have produc'd on the Revelation It is entituled, Vestigation Arcani Sensus in Apocalypsi, and has been printed (B) several times. It is pretended a Biblioth Script So- that Grotius took many Things from it. The Author maintains a that the Revelation is percust Jesu, sectly sulfill'd as far as the 20th Chapter, and finds the Two Witnesses in it, without Posts speaking of Elias or Enoch He makes no difficulty to forsake the Ancient Fathers, and is substant of the Revelation of the Rev because all his Chief Studies tended only to the Explication of that Book, the other Work that we have of him is but a Commentary on the Places of the Old Testament, that have some relation to St John's Revelation It was printed after his Death with this Title, In eas Veterss Testaments partes quas respects Apocalypsis, nempe Cantica Canticorum, Psalmos complures, multa Danielis, aliorumque librorum capita, libris V So that here are Two Volumes in Folio, that are, properly speaking, but a Commentary on the Revelation but there is an Appendix to each: That of the First Volume is a Treatise de Sacris ponderibus & mensurus, and that of the Second a Treatise de malis medicis. Alcasar died at Se ville the 16th of June, 1613 aged 60 Years &. You will find the Examination of some of his Apocalyptick Hypotheses in the Work " that Mr Heidegger published at Leyden in Tribir So- the Year 1687. entituled, Mysterium Babylonis magnae

tuel corretuel correted that Lyrick Poets of Antiquity Some say, That he the was the Inventor of that kind of Fault Poetry. He flourish d' in the 44th Olympiad, at the same time with Sappho, who was ist and in the d Disof the Poisoner Canidia, is the same Albatius that is spoken of in the 2d Satyr of the Second Book of Horace Mr Dacier (a) believes that they are Two Albatius's IV Those Three Authors of Dictionaries are mistaken, when they take the Albatius of the 2d Satyr of the 2d Book of Horace for a very Covetous Man We shall soon see the contrary V Moreri is mistaken, when he fances that the Albatius of whom Cisero spoke, in the beginning of the First Book de Finibus, is the same with that whom he mentions in the 1st Book of the Nature of the Gods, and in the 5th Luich in 1st Book of the Nature of the Gods, and in the 5th Book of the Tusculan Questions VI It is not true that Horace says, That there was an Albutius, the most covictous of all Min, that us d to correct his Servants before (a) Dacier, they did what he commanded them, for fear, faid he, he should forget to do it, if they forgot to acquit themselves well of what he commanded them Morers, who alcribes all this Discourse to Horace, was deceived by Charles Stephens, although the latter does not formally afcribe this little Story to Horace See here all that Horace lays on this Subject

Mundus (b) erit, qui non offendet fordidus, atque In neutram partem cultus miser his neque servus Albuti seus exemplo, dum munia didit Savus erit neque, sicut simplex Navius unstam

Con vivus præbebst aguam
He lays, I hat True Neatness is not strain'd, and that it keeps a Medium between Nastiness and s (c) too (c) See Mr ferupulous, and too far fotch d Exatiness and the had feen the excessive and servile Case that is taken for the Cleanness of Houses in some parts of Holland, he would have call dit a False Neatness Albutius and Navius are the Two Examples he brings of Vicious Lxtremities, the First is the Example of too much I ormality, the last is the Example of too little Formality Some Interpreters (d) have mistaken Newistora Produgal, and Albutius for a Covetous Man But perhaps the Words of Horace do not concern Covetousness and Produgality, but only Neatness and Slovenliness The last Defect is sometimes attended with superfluous Expences Some Persons are prodigal in Cloaths, in Houshold Goods, and in their Meats, and yer they have not the Reputation of being well dress'd, of putting the Ornaments of their Chambers in a good Order, and of keeping a good Table However it be, Albatian is not an Example of Covetouiness here. I shall conclude by observing quius, &c that Albutius's Barbarity to his Slaves, is not a Thing () Charles he did not know that this is to be found originally Stephens in an Ancient Scholiast (f). After in exigende a fingulis impensione casting and aque, aded ut fervoi non-numquam casting aret prius & caderet quam peccassent, dictor in Horization.

(H) Is the same of whom Horace speaks] We have seen that Albusius mention d by Horace was a Man of too great an Exactness, that he did never torgive his Domeflicks, that he would have one do precisely this, and another that, and that he descended into Particulars in a pedantick manner. He of whom Lucilius speaks, (g) who affested so much a Greek Politeness and Elegancy, shat he would pass for a Greek, was just cut out for the Example that Horse stood in need of, for every Person that affects the Manners of Foreign Countries, supra mixes with them I know not what, that is forced and exorbitant, which turns the Thing into Ridicule See what certain Provincials do that are so often ridicul'd by Moliere, as to the New Fashions which they can never keep in a Medium I can hardly believe that Horace brought Albutius the Greek, Albutius mention'd by Lucilius on the Stage, but I do not think it so strange that Torretus believ'd it Mr Dacter had the Language chiefly; we know besides by Lucilius at the Language chiefly; we know besides by Lucilius the Language chiefly; we know besides by Lucilius at Lefts, that he studied too much his Words (b) Collegations of Securior and Lefts, that he studied too much his Words (c) Jests, that he studied too much his Words (b) Collocationia est componere & struere werba, sic ut newe asper corum concursus neque biulcus sit, sed quodammodo coagmentatus & levis In quo lepide soceri mei (i) persona lustis squi elegantissme id facere potust, hucilius, Quam lepide lexeis composta, ut tesserula omnes Arte, pavimente, atque emblemate vermiculato Qua cum dissiste iu Albutium illudens, & These Verses of Lucilius represent a fort of Writing that might be call d an Inland Work, and a Mosaick Work (A) Of the best that the Roman Casholicks have produced on the Revelation. See here what Nicelai Antonio due d on the Revelation See here what Nicelas Antonio fays of it Insignem possiti operam in adornando aique illus made strando Apocaly pis libro obscurissimo Edidit namque liumbrationes suas ad ipsum ingeniosae quidem, eruditas, sometimas claboratasque, us censet Cornelius a lapide Sed quisnam in bie Sa spensor erit, telo eum quamvis acuto & sorti scopum tetr-gisse (k) I am sure there is no Bankrupt, nor Prison-er tor Debts, but would sooner find Security, than the Explainers of the Revelation, if there was a Tribunal on Earth that should tax with great Sums those Bibliots that give Bail for Fasse Explications Whilst a Man Script slatters his Passions by believing wishout hazarding Hispan any Thing, he is credulous, but you would require tom 2 in vain such Securities as Don Nicolas Antonio would p 14 have

(B) Printed several simes] Father Alegambe mentions only the Edition of Antwerp by John Keerberge, in 1614 and immediately after, he says that the other Volume was posshumous If the first had been printed but in 1614 it would have been Posshumous, and so there would be no Reason to distinguish the one from the other We must believe then, as Don

(g) See Mr Dacıde Orat 1 3 See us the Auwhence we understand that Lucilius made

(k) Nicol Biblioth

also of Manney The (C) Scandalous a Chronicle says that Alexus ask'd one day I know a a le what of Says and that Sappho who was not at that time in so good a Humour es shou if Fever to be, refus d him what she offer'd him perhaps the next day. However he concern d him to so with other things besides Verses; he had a mind to give Proofs of his Courige in the last had a way, and left his Arms behind him, if the says are day and a Bartel against those of Lester Rut he found some Company of Heist when the Athensans gain d a Battel against those of Lesbos But he found some Comfort in that Disgrace, because the Conquerors caus'd his Aims to be hung up in the Temple of His Moreover, at Security which they would not have done with such a District on had they Minerva at Sigeum, which they would not have done with such a Distinction, had they a sign not thought it would be a very glorious Monument of their Victory. Alcans did not have forget that Circumstance in the Verses γ he mide (D) on the Missortune that happen'd the sign of the proper'd the sign of the His Muse whom he employ'd in the midst of Wirs, either in Danking Songs, the or in Love Songs, and in praise of the Person whom he lov d, who was but too much a to the (E) help like him, His Muse, I say, was not filent on the Detect of the Levinis It se is well known that she was not always wanton, and that she could treat (1) the gravest 1 " つれいん Subjects nobly, and chiefly a fine Common-place against Tyrants where toole we distribute Subjects nobly, and chiefly a fine Common-place against Tyrants who is followed atthem time an Inclination, which was grown stronger by his own Adventures, and by particular try, and particularly (G)Pittacins, who became an Usurper, though he was one of the fetter try, and particularly (G)Pittacins, who became an Usurper, though he was one of the fetter try, and particularly (G)Pittacins, who became an Usurper, though he was one of the fetter try, and particularly (G)Pittacins, who became an Usurper, though he was one of the fetter try, and particularly that the remission of a Crime is better than the punishing of it. Some say the try is that the remission of a Crime is better than the punishing of it. Some say the try is the try and of the color, and the same are the same try is the same try in the Inhabitants of Mitzlene elected Pittacins for their General against the Lort when the and has Adherents who had been banish'd. Others say that having this distribution is the same and the same try is the same try in the same try in the Inhabitants of Mitzlene elected Pittacins for their General against the Lort when the same try is the Inhabitants of Mitzlene banish'd. Others say that having this distribution is the same try in the Inhabitants of Mitzlene banish'd. and his Adherents who had been banish'd. Others say, that having abus d I stract 1 20 c

Nicolas Antonio observes , that the first was printed at Antwerp by John Keerberge in the Year 1604 Besides that Edition Nicolas Antonio speaks of that of 1619 Antwerpie apud Nutios, and of that of Lions, 1616 Draudius (b) quotes these Two last Fditions, and besides them one of Antwerp by Keerberge in 1611 hather Sotul besides the Edition of 1614 mentions only the Two last of Nicolas Antonio, and says also that the other Volume is Posthumous So that his walion of Alegambe is not to exact as it ought to Mr le Feure's own Words, and I am very much mistaken, if he found that little Story any where else but in Arisotle's Rhetorick Aristotle (1) cites these Words of Ακαω, Θελω πι εἰπειν ἀλλά με κωλύσε

Aldbic

Aid this Answer of Sappho,

At S' sui o' eshan sung o, i rahar,

Kai mi ti diter y has exure reno,

At los re no o ex ex experiment,

"And exerce of to the week."

Here is the Sense of the weeks alcans declares the would reallingly by something but that Mo-

that he would willingly fay fomething, but that Modesty hinders him, Sappho answers him, that if he had desired good and honest things, and if his Tongue had not been ready to speak some immodest Words, shame would not have appear'd in his Face, and he would make a reasonable Proposal Those, who can judge of Mr le Feure's Books, Men, as he who can judge of Mr le Feure's Books, Men, as he fays in his first Journaline, whose Souls are capable of divers Forms, and who understand in half a word where in the Beauty of Thoughts and Expressions consists, do very well perceive that these Words of Alcaus are one of those Declarations of Love, that require the Lovers Hour, and that Sappho apprehended perfectly what he meant Her Answer is wise, but it is perhaps too serious according to this Supposition

(D) The Verses he made on the Missortune 1 He of all the Latin Poets that is most like Alcaus consesses as well as he in his Poems, that he fled from the Bat-

all the Latin Poets that is most like Alcaus confesses as well as he in his Poems, that he fied from the Battel, and threw away his Arms, as being useless in a light

(a) How Tecum (a) Philippos & celerem fugam

Tecum (a) Philippos & celerem fugan

Odi 1 2

Tecum (a) Printppos & cesterm jagam

Odi 1 2

Telesta non benè parmula,

(b) See the fratta virtus & minaces

Remark H

of his Ar
The fame A the happen'd to (b) Archilochus benicle fore Alceus, and the happen'd to (b) Archilochus benicle

(c) Cha Horace would not have been so ingenuous, if he had have in the happen of the not had those great Examples before him mistaken (c) when he maintains that Plutareh refutes Herodotus about Alcaus's Flight Plutarch says only (d) that Herodotus suppress a fine Action of Pittaeus, but not the bad Action of Alcaus

(E) Was but too much a help like him.] Horace informs us that the Mistress of Alcaus was a Boy, whose Name was Lycus, and who had black Byes and black Lycus. and black Hair

Qui (e) ferox bello tamen inter arma, bive jastatam religarat udo Littore navim, Liberum & Musas, Veneremau & illi Semper hærentem puerum canebat, Et Lycum nigris oculu, nigroque Crine decorum It is probably the fame, who had a natural Speck in his Finger, which terv'd him for a charming Oinsment Ode 3according to that Poet s I ancy, (1) Navus mart is like lopuers delet at Alexum, ac est corporis macula navus, silis (1) (nearmen hoc lumen vid batur. C cero fays in another place (g) that although Alexus had shewed much Decourage, he had fill d his Verses with an excessive Pe derafy, Forth vir in fua republica copin us que d ju venum amore seriplit Alexus? He was to Am ton that he compares himself to a Hog, who whill he eats one Acron, devours another with his the As for me, styshe, just so when I enjoy one suit, I am wishing for another () A vs the land to a more series and walk of the very suit of very aux alexis. () Signal and series and very suit of very aux alexis and the series and very suit of very aux alexis. This made in the series and the series are series are

(F) Treat the gravest Subjects nobly | This made int h sprace fay,

Horace fay,

Et (h) to fonantem plenius auros,

Alcae, plostro, dura navis, Dura fuge mala, dura belli Utrumque sacro digna filentio M rantur umbræ dicere fil magis Pugnas & exactos tyrannos

Densum humeris bibit aure vulcus

Mr Dacier remarks on these Words, 1 1 hat Alcaus s Style was noble and strong, and that he treated more lostly Subjects, than those that Sappho treated, who says of him m Ovid.

Nec plus Alcaus confors patriaque Lyraque Laudis habet, quamvis grandius ille fonct That Horace gives him a Gold Plectium, becaufe he speaks of that part of his Works, wherein he defected a the Civil Wars that happen'd at Mitylene, and the divers Factions of the Tyrants Pittacus, Myrsilus, Me i- (1) Se lagyrus, and some others (1), and that those Power we strate, 1 call d strategy are grant and parts of (k) Quintil an Alexes (1) Quint parts opens a sure opens on the settion (1) Quint parts opens a sure opens a sure of the setting and the setting as the setting and the brevus & magnificus, & diligens, plerumque Hom 10 fmilu, sed in lusus & amores descendit, majoribus tann n aptior Add to this the Epithet of Threaming that was given to his Muses, & Alicei MINACE, (1) otischorique graves Camana chorique graves Camana Od 9 14

(G) And particularly with Pittacus] He ruled very grofly at him, he call'd him Pitiful Fellow, great Paunch, &cc as we learn of Suidas under the word ougganes, and of Diogenes Laertius in the Life of Pittacus. The Moderation of the latter was very praiseworthy, and feem'd such to Valcrius Maximus (m) Pittaci gwoque moderatione petitus instruction, qui Alcaum poetam & amaritudine odii & viribus ingi qui Alcaum poetam & amaritudine odii & viribus ingi lib. 4 c 1 mis adversus se pertinacissime usum, tyrannidem a civ bus dila-

/ Hom

Hi cun An 19 Ron I 5

стр в

(" (1)! (") (")13 los, p (h) Horit Od 1,

lib -

(1) Hajar 01914

(b)Draud Biblio-Claff. P. 22 (1) Ariftor Rhet lib 1 c 9 Note that 1 read and Accent *hofe Greek Words as Scaliger did in Eufeb p 85 Edit 1658 > bot inHo-rat Od. 13 l 2 i (d) Plut de malign He-rodoti p 858

```
a Vide Dionvi Silvagnium Boelfiumcom-
```

ment in Ibid p 103 edit in 4to

ALTO S VAL Safdwr TH TEL8-TO: ISATE ειτμῶν Ne ipfe quidem parus fru-da ejulmodi nov uidarum icium otrabo 1 13 P 4 5 2 Suides d Mittern-TEL OL THE

lucm Scholi-Acphanis,

P 373 Prap Ivang 1 10 c, p poet drd

ex coVol- ds tius de Scent Mithem

P ,54, & plant d ur ils lib 16 Naude Apolicy Men, p

354 am-philes Cirdan's 1 citimo-IIV TOO much (*) Plutuch in 1 lamin p 377 (a) Haic Voffius in (atullum,p 42 (b) Catull I pigr 15 See Parthenius,

Clemency, and continuing to cabal and inveigh against him, a he was no longer favour'd, which Ovid express'a in these Words;

Utque lyra vates fertur perisse severa, Causa sit exitit dextera lasa tui.

This is the more likely, because Alcaus past for a Man that did not oppose Innovations because they were such s, but because others than himself had introduc'd them. It is a There are only fome small Fragments of his Poems re-Fault that is very common

ALC # US an Athenian y, and a Tragick Poet, was the first, according to some, that compos'd Tragedies If we believe Suidas, he differs from the Comick Poet ALC US, the Fifth of the Ancient Comedy, and the Son of Miccus It seems A, he renounced his Countrey which was the City of Mitylene, and call d himself an Athenian IIc lest 10 Pieces, whereof one was Entituled Passphae It was that which he produced when he disputed with Aristophanes in the Fourth Year of the Ninety seventh Athenieus cites some others. It is not certainly known whether Olympiad the Endymson cited by Pollux belongs to Alcaus the Tragick, or to Alcaus the Comick But it is likely that the Piece Entitled Calum, was written by the first, seeing Macrobius & cites it as a Tragedy I find in Plutarch n a Poet ALC AUS, that differs from all the foregoing, and who is perhaps the fame whom Porphirius & mention'd as a Maker of Satyrical Iambick Verses and Epigrams, and who had made a Poem concerning the Thefts of the Historian Ephorus That Alcaus of Plutarck liv'd in the 145th Olympi d, in the Year of Rome 555 as appears by the Song he made on the Battel that Philip King of Macedonia lost in Thessaly That Song made Philip run faster than a Stag, and amplified the Number of the Slain to cause more spite to him Nevertheless Pluturch flys, that Titus Flaminius, who had gain'd that Battel, thought himself more offended by Aliceus's Verses than Philip, because the Song named the Atolians before the Romans, and seem d thereby to give the Atolians the chief Honour of that Victory frephinis, and reem a thereby to give the Existing the Chief Honour of that Victory

Philip defended himself against Alexus's Song with (A) another Song. It must be con fest that Plutareb gives the Roman Consul a very great Sensibility. They speak also of another ALC of U.S., a Messenan, who i lived in the Reign of Vespasian and in that of Ithis Sonic of his Epigrams are in the Anthologia. I cannot tell which of all those Plut in Alexus s suffer d a very (B) singular kind of Death for his Lewdness. Vossius at the 42d. Humino, Page of his Notes on Catullus, believes it was he that fatyriz'd Philip King of Macedonia He takes him for the Comick, and is mistaken, for that Comick Poet was contempophys spud rary with Aristophanes

A L CHABITIUS, an Arabian Astrologer, compos'd an Introduction to the knowledge (1) of the Celestial Influences. He writ also about the Conjunction of the Planets, and a Treatise of Opticks that was found in a Convent of Germany, and brought to the Author of the Book de lumine anima. His Works of Astrology translated by Fretres John & of Sewille, were printed at Venice in 1491 with the Exposition of John of Saxony, in Lyco- and in 1521 with the Corrections of Antony de Fants, a Physician of Trewise in Italy &

phi spud It is not well known in what time Alchabitius liv'd

Gyrild de poet drif A I C H I N D U S, a Physician and Astrologer among the Arabians Cardan μ 10 P 5 12 reckoned him among the Twelve Sublime Wits, whom he look'd upon as the first of all edit 1696 those that excell dan Sciences This is to go beyond Albohazen Haly, and Haly Rodoan, Who call him the great Astrologer, and beyond Rasis and Mesue, who call him the most Learned and most Experienc'd Physician, and beyond Averroes and Wimpina, who call him a subtil Philosopher One may judge of his Parts and Learning by his Two prints in Bibl & ed Books, De temporum mutationibus, and De gradibus medicinarum compositarum investigan-We find many others that are very often cited by Authors, under the Titles, De

delatam adeptus, tautummedo quid in opprimendo poffet admonust

(1) With another Song] We find these Two Veries in Plutarch about it Apλοι(+ (*) is αφυλλ . odos τός ε, τω δ' οπ νωτφ Αλναιφ συνελε πάγνυται ηλίζα . Ifac Vossius (B) A very [inzular kind of Death] Ifac Vossius (1) relites this Lpitaph taken out of an Anthology,

(1) relates this Lpitaph taken out of an Anthology, which has not been printed

Annua Tup of &T or Extures in The Lipunco Lipunco or Extures in The Lipunco Lipunco or Extures in The Lipunco of This lignifies that Alexand died of the Punishment of Adulterers, which consists in a certain manner of impaling They thrust one of the largest Radishes they could find into the Adulterer's Fundament, and for want of Radishes they took a Fish that had a very great Head, as the Scholiast of Juvenal informs us on these Words of the 10th Satyr, questam than not of mugilis intrat. This helps us to undersigned this Menace of Catallin (b) f and this Menace of Catallius (b)

Als sum te miserum malique fati Quem attractis pedibus patente porta

I corrent raphanque mugilesque
Luc an speaks of that fort of Punishment, but does not by whether the Criminal died of it, and does not a little differ from his Scholiast They say both that the Adulterer was soundly beat, but the Scho-

Muretus, and Achalles Statius on the Paffege. 1 liast says that they did not thrust the Radish into his liast fays that they did not thrust the Radish into his backside, till he was ready to expire under the Blows had received Lucian infinuates the quite contrary for the Lecher, of whom he speaks, having been soundly beat, leap'd down from the Roof, and ran away with the Radish that stopp'd his backside Kata το το το μορω αλόμωω δίσουχο ραφαιίδι το ποττάθεω γήν εεξυσμόμω (c) De tello dessilens aufugit natibus raphano oppletis Vossius ought not to have concluded from this passage of Lucian, that this Punishment was not Mortal, for it is very likely that if the Patient had not run away, it would have cost the Patient had not run away, it would have cost his Life soon or late. The I'wo Verses that Vossius See all cites, (d) and which he takes for the Discourse of m. Adulteress, who said to her Cossin characteristics. Adulteress, who said to her Gossip, that if the Punishment of the Cross was used against them Galants instead of the Radish, no body would come any more near them, are a better Proof than the Words of Lucian The Commentators of Diogenes Lucrium have very well apprehended what Menedemus aim'd at when he said to an insolent Adulterer, that the Lucre of Redishes was notified. aim d at when he laid to an iniolent Adulterer, that the Juice of Radishes was useful Πεδς ή τον θεφσυνδιμόνου μοιγόν, άγνοεῖς, ἔρη, ότι ε μόνου πράμετη γυλδυ έχει χεικτον, άλλα τι ραφαντίδις (ε) Audaster exultants num 8 adulters, ignoras, support, non mode brassica succum inesse uni

(C) To the Knowledge of the _____ Influences] The Tirle of the Rook in Gestion and an Similar is Islands.

Title of the Book in Gefner and in Simler is, Ifagoge ad magisterium judicioium aftrorum, vel ad serutanda Stellarum

See alfo the " Scholiast of Aristophanes 18 ทนbเbรเธ (e) Diog Laert In 2 n 128 Vide ibi Menagirations fex quantitatum: De quinque essentiis De mota diurno De vegetabilibus, and De a Naude Theorica magicarum artium. This last Work has given all the Demonographers occasion is & seq to speak of Alchindus as of a permicious Magician Francis Picus and Conrad Wimping & See the Remark I have amply discours'd of the Heresies, Blasphemies and Absurdities that are to be found Panzi-The famous John Pieus does not feem to have judg'd so disadvantageously rol in that Book of him, fince he says that he knew but Three Men who glanc'd at the natural and law- claris leful Magick, to wit, Alchindus, Roger Bacon, and William Bishop of Paris That which terpret is most certain, according to Gabriel a Naude, of whom I borrow this Article, is I That lib 2 cap thit Work is full of Superstitions, and Doctrines quite contrary to our Faith, and such 169 as are to be expected from a Mahometan, who writes his Thoughts very freely 2 That & Minos he cannot be accused of Magick, fince he was so far from minding the countries. Theurgick or Goesick Magick, that he had no other design than to refer to Nature all that eMi I established. is attributed to good or bad Angels, which Petrus de Apono and Pomponatius have fier Elog done after him Those Men to find their Account suppose that Sublunary things depend wholly on the Heavens, and that they receive all their Properties from each other, I hou ti and that each receives them from the whole by means of certain Corporeal Beams, p 35 which passing from the least to the greatest, are the Cause, as they say, of all that is quoting done in Nature We cannot certainly say when Alchindus lived, but he cannot be placed Claudius Minor under the XII Century, fince Aversees makes mention of him There is a Jacobus Minos, ALKINDUS, whom some (B) consound with him of whom I speak

ALCIATUS (Andrew) a great Civilian, flourish'd in the XVI Century He fludied at was the Son of a rich (C) Merchant of Milan, and was Born in the Month of May B, Veront 1492 It is pretended y that his Mother felt almost no Pains when she was brought to I have not found that Bed of him After having studied Philological Learning A, under Janus Parrhassus who found that taught it at Milan, he went to study the Civil Law at Pavia and at Bologna e, and mind-rol ibid ed chiefly the Lectures of Jajon in the first of those Universities, and those of Charles in Minos Ruinus in the Second & After his Promotion to the Doctorship he apply'd himself in ibid to the Bar in the City of Milan, till he was (D) call'd to the Professorship of the Civil Law by the University of August He fill'd that place with so much Capacity, that Francis I thought him a fit Man to make the Civil Law flourish in the University of fiellarum magisteria Fossius (f) gives it in another manner, but it comes to the same Sense, Isagogo ad forutands afterium indicia I believe my Irench Translation comes up also to it, but Morer having taken one Word for another in Vossius, initia for indicia, gave us an incomprehensible Title, An Institution to know the beginning of the Stars It appears the Vossius have and indicarum, where that Poffius thought to have read indiciorum, where Gestier and Simles have put sudiciorum NOTE, That Alchabitius & Treatise of the Conjunction of the Planets was translated into French (g) by Oroneus Finaus, and that Mr de la Mare in his Pre-face to the Works of the Four Brothers Guions, quotes the Manuscript Notes of Peter Saumaife, Counsellor in the Parliament of Dison, on Alchabitius de immicitus Planetarum I have this from Mi de la Mon-

1B) Whom some confound with him of whom I spenk] Wolfgang Justus (a) tays that tacobus Alkindus lived under Pope Eugenius the Third, in 1145 contemporary with Averoes and Avicenna He tays that he was an Arabian Physician and Philosophe that he was an Arabian Phylician and Philosopher I he Bibliographers attribute the same Books to Alchindus, and to Jacobia Alkindus Vossius (b) stems to distinguish them, for when he speaks of Alchindus he gives him only the Treatise de sex quantitatibus, and does not mention his Age, but he places jacobia Alkindus in 12,5 and ascribes to him among other Books a Steatife, de radiis stellarum. It is doubtless the same Book that Gesner alledges under the Title de radio stelliers, and which he believes to be a Work of James Alkindus though the Name of James is not join'd there to that of Alkindus One would think by the Finle alone that it belongs to him that was suspected of Magick

(C) He was the Son of a rich Merchant] I have follow d Panzirolu, the only Author that I have confulted, who (c) makes him the Son of a Man of that Profission Others male him rather the Son of a Mail of that Profission Others male him rather the Son of a Gentleman of an ancient Family, Andreas Alcia of Alcia of Ju Alzato Mediolanensi natus e note la Alcia of familia So 1238 Claudius Minos (a) It cannot be objected to me that in certain places the quality of Merchant and that of Gentleman are not incompatible, for when they are joyn'd, an Historian ipeaks isldom of the least without speaking of the most considerable. Wherefore since Panzirolus spoke only of Alciatus's Father's Trade, it teems that he was not of Claudius Mines's Opinion

(D) Till be was call'd by the University of Avignon 1 I shall have a care not to follow the Nagrative of Panzirelus If I should follow it, I must say that Alians having been made Doctor of the Civil and Canon Law in the Year 1587 being a little above 22 Years of Age, taught fust at Pania, and afterwards at Avignon, (c) Primum staque Tieni

Bourges
professus, poster Avenioni docuit It I should say so I should give the sie to Alciatu himself, who declares in a Speech that he made at Pavia, that when he obtain'd soo Crowns Salary it Avignon, he had never appeared in a Chair (f) Avenioni cum nunquam ad eam diem cathedram ascendissem stipendium secentorum mererer Panzirolus 3 Account (f) see is moreover suspected of Falshood, he shews an extrem Negligence, we find there that Alciatus was not yet 23 Years of Age in 1517 and yet his Epitaph related by Panzirolus Three Pages after, shews that he was near 59 Years of Age in the Month of p 61. that he was near 59 Years of Age in the Month of p 61. January 1550 he was therefore 25 in 1517 What of the P. Panzarolus aftirms, that Alciatus publish d his Pria- dua Edidoxes and his Dispunctiones about the Year 1517 can- tion, 1661 not be cleated by Claudius Minos, for there never in 410 was a Chaos of a Book more abjurd than the place (g) Minos where this last Witter spoke of the Edition of Alexa ubi supra where this last Wister spoke of the Edition of Alcia ubs super tuss Paradoxes Duodecim post annos, says he (g), cum civilus & pontifici juris profesoriis insignibus donatus essential of pontifici juris profesoriis insignibus donatus essential of pontifici juris profesoriis insignibus donatus essential of pur primisen opus ut ipse dicit elaboratum horis succission. & a candidato adbuc & tirone One cannot apprehend to what the Word duodecim relates, for all that goes before is an account of Alciatus's divers Stitions, and of his way of teaching the Civil Law. It those Words of Minos meant, that Alciatus publish'd his Paradoxes. Twelve Years after his Promotion to the Doctorship, all this Chaos would be cleated, but then what yoldowing would become of Pananolus, who places the Ldition. would become of Pananolus, who places the Edition Julhors of that Book dout the time of the Doctorling, that guote's is, about the Year 1517. What would become of Chilin Tiraquellus (b), who lays that Alciatus made a confiderable Work "(1) before he was I wenty Years of I heart "Age It is that which we have under the Fitle of proceedings." Paradoxis of the Civil Law, which he divided into Six Books, and dedicated to the Chancellor du Prit "being at Bourges in 1529 Twelve Years after his Milin p ing publish dit in his Country when he took his 26, 28 Doctor's Degree, but Seventeen of Lighteen Years () Pull after hiving Composed it. The Work that I let ibid cite informs me that Aleiatur's first Lstay was the La plication and Correction of the Greek Terms that a probable of the Boat was published 66.8 are in the Digests, that that Book was published first Recher in Italy, and some time after at Strasburg in 1515 cheel 9 I have read (k) somewhere, that the first Dedication cheel 9 Alciatus made of his Works, is of the Vacantain I have read (k) iomewhere, that the fuft Dedication Alciatus made of his Works, is of the Year 1513 and that it is that of the Three last Books of the and that it is that of the Three last Books of the (1) Sutleade That which is certain, is that he published his Preface to Paradoxes dedicated to the Chancellor Antony du Prat the Pina about (1) the Year 1517. He published his done pre-Dispunsions about the same time, dedicated to John fixed to the Selve President of the Senate of Milan, and his Praternista dedicated to James de Minus Councelloi in the same Senate, and ancient Professor of the Civil Law at Orleans. He was Professor at Arignor in the Year.

Athen ch 39 p

tius de Scient Mathem p 369 (g) See du Verdier, p 20 of his Bibliotheque (a) Apud Meiklinum in Lindenio tenovato (/) Voffins whe fuprip 61, & 179 (1.1 x Joanne penegotiatore Menu lo b fore mullo puentis doir ie nat 5 & Ccatus Luit Panzir de claus legum Interpr 1 2 c 169 p 19 353 (4) Minos III Vita Andrew Alciati Ghilini Lore 1/0 Cial o, Paul I reherusBullart, &c 1 ndid 0971 a 20-1 14 antien Iam ly () Pinzir ubi

(f) Vof-

1 17 FC s an nJa nunv (n) I pist

Cudn,&c r of Had i ig 78

pig 96 (", Ibid (i) Ibid

pag 106 (He fays in He page of his I Hory of in Berii,

tus read houses. A, (21 1

Mo id 1 t' , 19t/ of Amil (Panzn ubi fuj ia

(1) Sec CI

Minos ulu fupra

Bourges He invited him thither in (E) 1529, and the Year following he bled his Pention, which was at first of Six hundred Crowns Alciatus profess'd wil Law Five Years at Bourges, and acquir'd Honour there But he made use a slight to (EA' obtain an Increase of his Salary He mix'd a great deal of Literature with the Explication of the Laws, and took away the barbarousness of Language which had prevail d till then in the Lectures and Writings of the Civilians Thuanus praises him

Year 15.1 for he says in the Ipistle Dedicatory of his Treitise de verborum significatione, dated from Bourges the 1st of May, 15.9 that he had dedicated it to his Scholars & Years ago

In Brn-

I HAVI been informed just now, that Budeus in a letter written to Christopher Longuest in the Month of February (n) 1500 mentions a Visit that Alciatus had made him fome time before at Avignon Mr de la Monnoie informed me of this particular I add that some Letters of our Ale atus were publish'd and that tome Letters of our sit attrawere published at Urreschit, which shew (n) that he was Protessor of the Civil Liw at Augnon in the Year 1518 that his Sidily amounted to I we hundred Crowns, and that he had Seven hundred Auditors. Two Years after he writ (o) that they give him Six hundred Crowns and some other Cratisscritions, and that his Auditory was composed of above 800 Persons, among whom there were some Prelates, Abbots, and Counts He left that Protessos since Prelates, Abots, and Counts He left that Protessos since Tree Among other things that enging d him to that Retreat, this was the chief, that they did not pay him his Salary speedily enough, because the City of Augnon was indebted by Reason of the Contagious Disease Besides, they let him know that if the Plague return d, he must expect to have a lesser Salary. But he rejected those Terms (p). He apply'd himself to the Bar in his own Country, and found that Employment more genful than he hoped for (g) He stay d in Italy until he hid accepted the Professor of the Salary of Bourges (r). at Utratalit, which shew (n) that he was Protessor of Cals nitin 11 1 AILIA-1 sp fl 1 1-til he hid accepted the Professorship that was offer'd him in the University of Bourges (r)

(f) Invited him the there in the Tear 1-29] I rather tollow Minos and Mr (s) Catherinot than Panzeolus I he latter inticipates that Vocation by a Your (t) Deside auno 1528 Biturges quo magna flud offerum nult tudo at esuis fimam confluxit, ample 1200 a victim filip ndio a Rige Francisco est condictus. I don't object against Panziolus that the Pension was only at sist of 18 hundred Livres, and that being doubled the next year it amounted to the Sum that he sets down. He has committed greater Faults which with the Conflication of ill his Goods in case of Dioledience 2 that Ale atus being return'd home, tiught some Years at Prain, till he went to Isologia in the Year 15,2 because of the Wars It is certain that Aleintus livid Live Years at Bourges the appearance of the Wars at Bourges. This appears by the Veiles he made when he left it Urbs (a) Burry, invitus amans to difero amantem,

Ou ngu per afta externa labitata mibi And therefore fince according to Panzirolus he was invited thither in the Yeu 1928 he must not have left it till 15., How could be then have trught fore Years at Pav a fince his going from Bourges, and go afterwards to Bologna in the Year 15., ? His Differtation concerning Duels, dedicated to France I is dated from Arignon the first of March, 1529. The Pieface to his Paiadoxes is dated from Bourges the 24th of Argust 15.9. This is peremptory against Panzirola. There remain yet Two Falstres to be taken notice of The one of Morers, the other of Part Field our. The 1st says that the Liberality of Itancis I arew Alciatus not France, where le saught at Avignon, according to the last (a) Alciatus went to teach in that City, being just come out of Part I offus 5 School. It is an absurd I alsty to say that the I iberality of a King of France causes a Proleft it till is,, How could be then have trught that the Laberality of a King of France coufes a Pro-fessor to come into another Prince's Country, and who does not know, that tince Alcin us had lett Parriajus's School, he went to study at Pare a and at Bologna, and that he took his Dostor's Degree in 1517 and that he publish'd some Books before he was a

Proteflor at Auguen

Protessor at Avignon'

(1) Vossible his Si'are) He contrived the matter to by his Interest epist triques, that a Protessors spirit your padum f'ssi'are, who informs me 92 It is of this fear d that by deferring to answer those who offered him a Protessorship in the University of Cambridge, he had made himself suspected of a like Trick, for, adds he, most People do so (b) Quistine, rerum measum ignarus, alind fibs persuadere possit, quam a usinam hanc in respondendo cossarionem inde duntanat, aut potissimum saltem, promanere, ut I orat one Anglicana aliquid mihi agud Batavos lucedi acquiram? Scimus id plerisque moris ese. Nec notam hanc essugis summus Jurisconsultus, Andreas Alciatus, cum Biturigibus Patavium vocaretur. Mihi, ut scit, ne per somnum tale quid cogitanti sponte apud vos prosesso oblata est. Illa item, immane quantum autio stipendio, apud Biturigas remansit. Ego, ut boc nunquam egi, ita nec quicquam accessionis (quam quidem scio mihi minime invideres) consequar remanendo, nis simul axcesso st Contience, is I should feel some Remortes of Contience, is I did not declare here that Mr de la Monnose has acif I did not declare here that Mr dela Monnose has acquainted me with this Passage of Vossila Besides, he has imparted to me the following Particulars "It" appears by the 12th Letter of the 2d Book of Sadolerus's Letters, that Alciatus from the first Year of his Abode at Bourges, had, or pretended to have a Design to profess the Law at Bologna Two I- talian Letters (c) of Bembus, one of the 7th of July, 1532 and the other of the 23d of February, 645, 1533 contain many Particulars concerning the Design that the Republick of Venice had to get Pages of Alciatus at Padua. The Profession of that Line versity were in a mortal apprehension for it. A. High. "Alciatus at Padua The Professors of that Uni"versity were in a mortal apprehension for it A"mong others Franceschin da Corte, in Latin Fran"ciscus Curtina, who to prevent the coming of such "a Collegue, spread a Report, That the Duke of "Milan, Prancis Sforza, wrongfully call'd Francu Ma"ria by Panzirolus, had forbid him on very severe islustin,

"Sotto pena di confiscatione" Not to find some Intricacy here, it seems to me that we must suppose that the 2,d of February, 1533 in the Letter of Pathaman, is of the Year 1534 beginning the Year Bembus, is of the Year 1534 beginning the Year apprehend that Alciatus was at Pavia when that ter was dated, he who had profess d Five Years at Bourges, and who had not begun to profess there be-Bourges, and who had not begun to profess there before 1529 In confulting the Latin Letters of the same Bimbus, I find that he writ to our Alciatus on the 15th of July, 1532 to exhort him to come and take possession of the Professorship which was offer'd to him in the University of Padua. He removes the Objection which there him in inspence, which was, that the Republick of Venice would not promite him. the fame fort of Money which he demanded (d) Bembus flows him that he should not disengue himfelf from his Promise on so trivial an account, and if you come, fays he, I will undertake that you shall lares peti-have in very little time all the Money which you ris, illa ti-desire, and other Advantages too He writ to him bi tantum again on the 21st of April, 1834 Aleiatus was then aureos est at Pavia, but discontented Bembus declares, that as for his part he was very well latisfyed with his Exevery cuses, but that the Curators of the University of Bembus

Padua were not, and that they were persuaded that Epis 29 the request which he had made of the Professorship lib 6 p of the Civil Law among them, was grounded on a m 634 Motive of Interest, that is to say, That Alciatus would not have been Protessor in the University of Padua, but in order to make use of that l'lace to get a greater Salary from the Duke of Milan (†) Utinam tam equi in te Judices presenti ludi Patavini essent, Lpist neque tibi pirsuassissimum haberent, te propterea proseendi lib Jus Civile hac in urbe locum postulavisse, ut eo tradito Padua, but in order to make use of that Place to get apudDucem rstum tuum utercre, ad largius atque uberius a apudDucem is um tuem utercre, ad largius atque uberius at eo sipendium promerendum

Alciatus had already made use of the same to his briends to order it to that he might be to his briends to order it to that he might be to his briends to order it to that he might be to his briends to order it to that he might be to his cept those Offers, but he hop'd to get the accept those Offers, but he hop'd to get the accept that Means This appears from the active she writ at that Time, and which were that at Utrecht in the Year 1697 (b) Si mille mini sure: Frrance constitution that one is non irem Et set is non possum non mirari, qui tibi in mentem venerit, hanc conventionen cum co traffare, cum de Patavino, aut Bononiens Gymnasso folum tibs mandata dederim Quamvis nic mish displiceant tuas is constita. Non quod in has Academias venturus sim, sed quod Avenionenses, si sciverint ab aliis quoque me folicitari, ne cos deseram, timebunt, & augebunt sipendia. Quare cum eis potissmum velim hac disemines, quos conjettabis idoncos est, ut in Avenionensem Academiam literasi

Lettere di XIII hu-

(d)Cumtu nummos aureos fo-

(a) Call d her in 126

Theatr p

very nobly for it, I say, (F) Thuanns, who was otherwise ill inform'd of his History That Professor's Extemporary Speech to Francis I who was come (G) into his Auditory, pleased that Monarch very well Francis Sforza, Duke of Milan, thought himself obiged to recall into his Country so eminent a Man, and compass'd his Design by giving him the Dignity of a Senator, besides a great Salaiy. So that Alciatus went to teach the Civil Law at Pavia, but he went a little after to the University of Bologna a, where he bei, 1537 stay'd Four Years. Afterwards he returned to Pavia, from whence he went to Ferrar as, being invited thither by Duke Hercules d Est, who endeavour'd to make his University samous. It regain'd its Splendor under a Professor that was so much followed, there is his Inaugue ral speech that Four Years and Alciatus less it to return to Pavia, where at last he found the title 154. but at Four Years end Alcianus left it to return to Pavir, where at last he found the true 154, Remedy for his (H) Inconstant Humour, I mean Death, the 12th Dry of Jenuary, Panzir 1550 y He was not yet full 58 Years of Age Paul III gave him an honourable Sec 1001-Reception going through Ferrara, and offer'd to advance him to Ecclefiaftical Dignities Alciatus was contented with that of Protonotary, and would not tenounce the the I me of $(H\Delta)$ Profession of the Civil Law The Emperor created him a Count Palatine, and a his D ail, Philip King of Spun passing through Pavia, presented him with a Gold the Ke mark 1 Chain It is thought that Alciains died of a Surfeit which he got by I cating too much, at il cond

· (c] Ibid P 78

(d) Ghilim, Thea-

tı part I

(e) Dou-

jat præ-not Canon pag

619 (f) Im-

Mufro

Histor

p 52 (g) For-ther Hi-civil 1 3

Gauricus

fol m 73

in iche-

matib

at Padus, to oblige the German Scholars to defire the Republick of Venice to fend for Algiatus The latter defir'd him not to trouble himself with it, since he was engag'd for Two Years in the City of Avignon His Latter is dated the 26th of September, 1520 What Meanness What Soidid Love of

(F) Thuanus — who z is otherwise ill inform'd]
He supposes, I That Alciarus, after having taught a long time at Bourges, was Professor at Avignon, it is the quite contrary H That Alciatus left France in his declining Age He was but I orty Years of Age, more or less III That Alciatus being return d into Italy, read first at Bilogna, and afterwards at Ferrara. He read at Pavia, before he went to Belogna IV That Alciatus died in the Year 1551 but his Efiderable as that of Forficrus, adopted by M1 (e) Doujot, and that of Imperialis 1 he litter (f) places the Death of Alciatus in the Year 1559 Forfierus (g) places it in the Year 1548 But let us chiefly observe the didicit literas Gracas a Pemponio Gaurico Patavii obiit Firraria anno 1545 ix Saturno in oppositione horo-Jiopi, & Sole Martis tetragono studiato. In convensione annua non solum dirictiones Aphetarun sed annua conver-siones penitus commacalata interimunt. This is what stor Juris c 41 P m 542 (b) Lucas

> Mines reports this Fact Panzirolus lays nothing of it, but instead of it he tells us, That the Dauphin having affisted at one of Alciatus's Lectures, presented him with a Medal of the Value of Four hundred Crowns It was the same that the Inhabitants had Crowns It was the same that the Inhabitants had gwen the Dauphin I have already said on other Occions, That as soon as a I hing of this nature is valually reported by Authors, or does not appear in most to those that make a Man's Llogy, one cannot be sure of the Yet that Fact ought to be excepted from this Rule, for we find (k) among Alexanu's Works the Discourse he made when Francu I alfisted at one of the Lectures
>
> (H) The true Remode for his Installant Vernant I. I. I.

> (H) The true Remeal for hu Inconftant Humour] If I would have taken the advantage of all that I have met with in Authors about Aleiatur's divers Removings and Shiftings, I might have made him appear more inconstant than he was, but I should have scrupled to do it. It is enough for him to have gone from Avignon to Bourges, from Bourges to Pavia, from Pavia to Bologna, from Bologna to Pavia, from Pavia to Ferrara, from Firrara to Pavia, and all this before 60 Years of Age. Theres orders to ill what he fays of that Learned Civilian, that any Reader would infer from it, that Alciatus return'd into France itter the Duke of Milan hid recall d him from Burge We have feen that Panzirolus makes him go from Pav a to Avignon Moreri lends him for Bourg i to Orleans, and from Orleans to Padua Mr Triffir (1) makes him Professor at Milm He cites Pague or in the 9th Chapter of the 9th Book of his Recleveles He should that the goth Chapter, but M lan is not to be found there. These are Paguers Worlds. I lead three or four of Alciatus i Lestures nel. Cety of Pavil Coming from thence to Bologni, who Minimus Socious, the Nephew of Butholomew, real Lesture, all the Italian Scholars made more account of the trun of the to make use of Socious, became (1nd they) in never lost any Time in the study of Horan Learning as Ale itu did. Mr Tossier eiting this Pattern. left any Time in the fludy of Horin Learning as Ale itu did. Mr Teiffer citing this Padine, 1138, 1 x Billion tholomew Sociaus taught the Civil Law at Boloma, in Let when Aleiatus was Profiler at Milin. Those two lacts are not to be found in Piquir. If I would have made a general Heap of all this, what a Weither cock should I not hive made of our lickle i rofessor. but I should have been a thousand times more con-demnable than the Authors of those I alshoods, if I had made an advantage of them to his prejudice was not ignorant that he was blam'd for all those frequent Changes of Universities, and among other Reasons he would justify himself by this, (w) That no body finds fault with the Sun saumning round the Larth, to animate all Things by its Hear, and its Beams. He added, I hat when any Body pizzles the fixed Stars, he does not deligh to condenin the Pla There was an untufferable Vanity in thoic kind of Companions, it was to look upon himfelr as a Source of Tight that was to tun fuccefively over all the Republic of Learning, that the Dail neis of Ignorance might be excelled from all Places by his Prefence. But let us grant him his Comparison, and tell him, that he should have do it as the Sun of Copernicus, he should have kept in his Center and illuminated from thence all those that came near him. It is much more honourable to cause a great number of Scholars to come to the Place where one lives, as the Plinloiopher Abelard did (a), then to go to the 1 cwns where there are many Scholars. And doubt'eff if the love of Glory did only possess a Soul, without being mix'd with the love of Gain, or with a Fantistical Humour of being soon disgusted with the same Things, we should not see so many Persons for the with alerating s Distemper. The Idea of Noble Glo-1y would inspire a Man with a Resolution not to go and feek great Stages, but to convert the Place where he is fettled into one, how finall foever it be lie would fee that it is much more glorious to do a 1 h ng gritis, than to do it for Money, and that the neutral Man comes to the liee Gife, that is, to a Protection without a Salary, the nearer he come to what is present and noble, whereas he goes from it, and becomes a Man of a mean and Mercenary Sprint, proportiona-Man of a mean and Mercenary Spriit, proportionably as he increases the Wages which he extra This is to reduce the Profession of Learning to the Nature of the most Mechanick Arts A Shoemaker or a Hatter that will be better paid for his Work than nother, gains the Reputation of an Excellent Workman by it. To pretend that if People increase your pension for what you shall say in the Chair, it is a Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed a greater Preacher of the Proof that you are esteemed as the Proof that y ras harum rerum indices dent His Friend (c) caballed Gain 1 pitaph fays it was the 1-th of lanuary, 1550. It is true that some Authors report, That Alciatus's Epitaph mentions 58 Years, 8 Months, and 4 Days, which would prove that he died the 12 of January, 1551 but others report (d) that it gives him but 57 Years, 8 Months, and 4 Days Phuanus 8 Mistake is not so con-I allity of an Aftrologer, who having faid that Alcia-tus died at Ferrara in the Year 1545 adds that it was of aWoundfion Saturn and the Sun (h) Andreas Alciatus annua non jolum directiones Aphetarun sed annua conversiones penitus commaculata interimunt. This is what Luke Gaurie notes under the Ligure of the Nativity of our Civilian. He makes him to be boin the 8th of May, 1492 at one Hour, 30 Minutes after Sunrising. Is not this a fine Art. He has Rules according to which a Man must die several Years before his Death. I have seen one of Alciatus's Letters, dated the 3d of September, 1830 wherein he says, that he is just got into his 37th Year, or that he is but little above 37 Years of Age. (1) Vix trigessmum & Septimum annum attingenti. This would prove that he was born in 1494, or 1493 born in 1494, or 1493 (G) Francis I who was come into his Auditory (1) Epist Gudii,&c Po 106

1 iorem lumere La moibam con Id 1b

(1) Te 1 $l \phi m$ P 395 East of Genera 161, () 50

proxim a au Cludius Minus za bis Perark A of the Arti-

1 m na me niline of eren y_ 10 /k, laid le 010 X 01 107501 17 a dia co TIPES, a 0 0 01 5 ITL BUTIS I CHE DA fed locum vun caha-711 P This Reflecti-

(k) In the 4th tom p 870 of fort Edi-#ien, 1617

tus, pio-ceræ fintuix Id Mr Teiffier, t 2 P 394 a Man of a Law middle P It is not therefore tiue that there was at Naples, 121 1688 A Cri and son of the Great Al-Ciatus See Dr Burnet s Iravels, belides h been very old y Moreri firs be Nephew & listhe 17th of the 2d Iome See lalfo Bodin, Meth III-p m 85 nos ubi 1upra (M. Matth cus, Profiffer of the Civil Law at Leiden n See the Lpiftle Dedicatory of Mo Matthrus

ftor c 4

Kemark A of the Arricle Ac-(a) Alciat epift ad Paulum Jovium It is pre-fix d to the If Folume 🎻 Jovius's Histories, and da cd from Pavia the 7th of October, 1549

(e) Puffici clog edit (6), &ti 1696 1696

Vir fuit for he was not only (1) very Covetous, but also a great Eater He Corpulent lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother, who was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother, who was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother, who was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother, who was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother, who was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother, who was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother, who was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother, who was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother, who was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother was much a lent and Tall Man After the Death of his Mother was much a lent and the lent and a Corpunced in Years, he had a mind to lay out his Estate in founding a College, but having receiv'd an Affront from some Insolent Scholars, he gave over that Design, and made choice of Francis ALCIATUS & for his Heir, a Young Man of great Hopes, whom he had educated, though he was not y nearly related to him That Francis Alciatus succeeded to Andrew's Estate and Professos ship, and made himself famous at Pavia by his I estures of Law Cardinal Borromeo, who had been his Disciple, invited him to Rome, and was so good a Patron to him with Pius IV that he got him a Bishoprick, the Office of a Datary, and a Cardinals Hat & There are some Treatises of Jurisprudence of that Cardinal Alciatus, who died at Rome in the Month of April, 1580 being somewhat above 50 Years of Age See Nicius Frythraus, in the 47th Chapter of the Second Pinacorheca. I hose who say that our Alciatus sive d always (ID) a Single Life, are mistaken. He set up for an Author betimes, as I have observed in the Remark D. He published many I aw Books, and some Notes on Tacitus, (K) whose Style seemed very harsh to him Muretus in a one of his Speeches, did very much inveigh against his Niceness. Alciatus was not sensible of it, for he was already dead, but other Citticker and namely Floridus Sabinus, who attack'd him in his Life-time, made him feel their Teeth and (Nails 111s Emblems (L) were very much esteemed, and three or four Learned Perions have adoin d them with Commentaries His Poems were praised too much, as Mr Buillet does ingeniously observe in the Third Volume of his Jugemens Jur les would have Poetes, n 1286

A I etter n was printed at Leiden, in 1695 which Andrew Alciatus did not write to mike it publick, for it contains a Lively Description of the Abuses of a Monastick Life He writ that Letter to Bernard Mattius, who had been his Collegue, and who turn d 1 I 1 yar of the Order of St Francis all on a sudden, and without consulting his I riend. He represented to him his Imprudence learnedly and elequently That Piece

Tride as Men judge of a Shoemaker, or of a Hatter? This is the right way to cry down Learning, and to cause those that profess it to be slighted, for a false Tafte of Glory join d with Covetouineis, is commonly the crule of the I jult for which Alciatus was blamed I mean the violent desire of running speedily through all the Universities, of which I have spoken already in another (c) Place Surely it is to put one's Learning to a Publick Sale, and to declare to the Publick, That he who bids most shall have it

(H) And would not renounce the Profession of the Civil I am | He congritulites himself for it in a Letter he writ to Paul Jovins, whom Pope Paul III had amus da long time with deceitful Promites I am very r long time with deceitful Promiles I am very glad, lays he, that I did not fuffer my felt to be deceived by that Pontit, who invited me to go to Rome under the Promise of great Rewards. Upon this he sets torth the solid Advantages of his Protession, in opposition to the Imiginary Hopes of a Cardinalihip (d) Mihi gratulor, quot ab eo (inveterati astus sene Principe) me decipi non sim passus, quum me, uti sene magnis propositis pramiis sicino, ferraria, atque Bononia, in Unhim acceptant. Tunn enim ex jure mee magis cau in Urbim accirlist. Tum enim ex jure mee mazis cau tus fui, quamitu ex [ap. ntiæ præcipis prudens Philosophus Gurenim pro inani aut incesta spe purpuræ, hos tantes primi Juegestus honores relinquerem, opimis prafer-tim sirmatos stipendiis? Cur las tantas contemnerem circun fula juventutis falutationes? & hanc denique tot conjutionibus januam pulfantibus existimationem luro, O non objeura cum laude quessitam, inepte stulte-aue desercient Note by the by that this contutes those who say (e), that he retus d a Cardinal's Hat which the Pope offer'd him I his Story is the truit of an Hyperbole, the Darling Figure of many People The whole Truth of the Matter confifts in this, That the Pope the better to perfuade Andrew Alciatus to go to Rome, gave him to understand that it would be a ineans to open his way to the Sacred College Such a Discourie is very fur from offering a Cardinal's Hat

(1) For he was not only very covetous] Panzirolus expresses himself thus, avarior habitus est, & cibi 300 Crowns for a Consultation, and hearing that they had given more to Marianus Socious for the same Aftur fund, I hey had found a better Merchant, but not a better Lawyer. Take this, by the by, for a confirmation of whit has been quoted out of Paqui-11c is taxed with Two Things The one is, That his Method favours of I know not what Doctoral Oftentition _____ The other is, That Cove-" touineis commanded him in fuch a manner, that " it feem d his I ongue, Pen and Doctine were at those Lords Wages that paid him best Nay, I remember that speaking of Josen, in his Paraga, he feems to preach up Money, for he prufes him because his Salary had been augmented. Of which Alciatus knew very well how to make his advan-Alciatus knew very well how to make his agvantage, having drawn I welve Hundred Crowns from the University of Bourges, besides his Licenfes and Doctorships, which he caus d to be trebled following the Steps of Dr fason, who was first that took hifty, and an Hundred Crowns the Degrees and Honours he gave to the Civilians, where is before him they us d to pay but I hree or Four Crowns And therefore, says he, he himself Decius. Ruinus, and the other Doctors may enrich Decius, Ruinus, and the other Doctors may enrich themselves by those Gratuities that Scholars pay, without being liable to reprehension I rom whence it is not difficult to gather, that he did not fail to alledge Jajon against those who found stult with him for being to given to Morey, that they who would receive a Doctor, Buchelors, or Licentiate's Degree from him, were to pay down many a Crown That which makes me perfift the more in this Opinion, is, that in the last Chipter of the Fifth Book of his Parerga, taking up his Discourse of Jason again, he complains of Princes and Lords that set such a mean value on Learnest and Knowing Men, whereas in former Times, and and Knowing Men, whereas in former Times, and even in Vespalian's Time (according to the Report of Sustanius) that Emperor caus'd Fisteen Hundred Crowns of the Publick Money to be given to the Greek and Latin Orntors and Rhetoricians He also adds the Authority of the Rhetorician Eumenius, who exercis'd his Profession at sutum, to whom Isteen Thousand Crowns of the Publick Money were given yearly by order of the Emperors Dis-cletian and Maximian " These are Thever's Words in the 279th Page of the 7th I ome of the History of Illustrious Men

(IA) Always a Single Life arc mistaken] See here his later which he writ to his I riend as Francis Calvus, after he came from Milan to Avignon, (a) Vice versa & ego to rerum meanum admoneo, many assather s Francis Calvus, after he came Home admoneo, me (a) Vice versa & ego te rerum menum admoneo, me (a) Vice versa & ego te rerum menum admoneo o, me affectum me arumnis patria excessifie. Uxorem vivus jospitim ibi reliquiste, cattros (b) plerisque amissis, virtuti seli imme dist. Libros & Bibliothecam omnem con sentia ius Civile Avenione profiteer icet theire Words of Mr Teisfier Single Life
(K) I acitus's Style seem'd va. jh to him] He let fall this Complaint in writing to Paul Jovius (d) Alicatus non dubitat affirmere distinguing in praisus parasila Paul Alciatus non dubitat affirmare diffionem ejus pra illa Pau-Alciatus non dubitat affirmare diffionem ejus pra illa Pau-li Jovis este senticeta. In another Occasion he spoke quite atherwise (e) Certas in Tacito sermans gravitus cum elegentia. I refer the discussion of this to

(L) Hu Emblems were very much esteem'd] the Father, who was not produgal of his Platies,

(a) Lpift Gudii,&c P 75 (6) Novers belifs he Jays, 1-- bid pos IN A Letter written in 1522 this living pre- er addit en cor- aux elog (d) V us de la Lat I's Canonho ru dife politic in of Alciain compos'd in four Days; and was found a in Scriverius's Closet It is a Seetle dated the (M) 7th of June, 1553

ALCIATUS (John Paul) a Gentleman of Milan, was one of those Italians that dicatory of left their Country in the XVIth Century, to embrace the Protistant Religion, and who afterwards did so much retine the Mystery of the Trinity, that they form'd a New Pai- 1 See Arety, equally odious to the Protestants and Catholicks Alciatus had bore Arms, he besides in the Indianal According together & with a Physician whose Name was Rivided. History of gun his Innovations at Geneva, together & with a Physician, whose Name was Bl india-Gentilis ta, and with an Advocate, whose Name was Gribaud, with whom Valentinus Gentilie if- Gondermasociated himself The Precautions that were taken against them, and the Severe Pro- rion ceedings that were is a against the latter, made the others more timorous, and y mov'd y Berain them colook for another Stage. They made choice of Poland, where Plantage and VitaCalvi them to look for another Stage They made choice of Poland, where Bl. ndrota and Alciatus sow'd their Heresies with indifferent success They allur'd (A) Gentilis, who old ib did not A sail to go to them. He was oblig'd to Alciatus e, because at his Request the Histo Baylist of Genhad (B) releas'd him out of Prison It is pretended that they went Reformat from Poland into Moravia. We shall say in its proper Place what Gentilis's Fate was As for Alciatus he went to Dantzick, where he (C) died in the Sociation Opinions, for it is Antitimit not p 27

(f)Jul Cæfir Scalig 1 6 de poetic ın Peplo Bibliotheque rant These Emblems were translated into French, Italian and Spanish (g) There are at least Three French Translations (h), that of Bartholomew Aneau, that of John le levre, and that of Claudius Mines The latter did not only translate, but comment upon them also One of the most Learned (1) Humanists of Spain thought them worthy of a Commentary of his own making Pignorius, a Learned Italian, made the firme Judgment of them, and after them a Professor (k) of Friburg publish'd them with theirs and his own Notes, and added those of Frederick Morel at the end I hat Ldition is very good 'Tis Pitty we cannot distinguish the state of the Commentator. It came in it what belongs to each Commentator It came out at Padua in the Year 1661 in 4to I do not mention Sebastian Stockhamerus, whose Labour is not much time d (1) Sebastianum Stockhamerum vix Commentatoris nomine dignor, quia in sola ipigrammatis resolutione occupatur, paucissimis, iisque satis vulgatis sententiis & fabulis additis, ad hac vix mediam emblematum partem hoc suo more explicat Neither do I ipeak of that Jeiut (m) who explain'd those same Emblems publickly at Paris, but I think the Reader will not be displeas'd to see the Title that Bartholomem Ancau (Bartholomem Ancau (Bart tholoneus Anulus) made use of Here it is Andrew Alciatus's Emblims conflated Verse for Verse, according to the I atin, and a that into Common Places, with Summanic, Inscriptions, James, and Brief Epimy-> of I'ullus, which I make the of, I am therefore surprised that Paul (n) Ireherus should say, I shat that Book contains but 100 Emblems

>
> (M) Dated the 7th of June, 1553 If that Date wis good, we must reject all the Authors that place Alciatus's Death (o) on the 12th of January, 1550 or 1551 and who alledge his Epitaph But there 152 Mistake in the Date of that Writing, and I think it was composed before the Year 1520 and that it is the same Piece, that Alciatus fear of Erassame would the same Piece that Alciatus fear d Erasmus would have caused to be printed (p) Quod ut facias te quo-que ipse oro Nec minus ut de unguibus Erasmi reglutines erationem illam meam ad Matthiam Minoritam, cum id quaso, ne si in cinerariorum istorum manus inciderit, parata sint mibi cum eis aterna bella. This iis what he Writ to his I riend Francis Calvus the 26th of Septemb 1520 Some of that Civilian's Letters were publish'd thick Expositions, according to the Natural, Moral or In-florical All gory The Editions of that Work of Al-

More than 1697 which inform us of many partiman's Letters were published at Utiletchi in 1697 which inform us of many partiman's lai Things, and chiefly of the Praises he gave himblike a Bragandochio

When the History of Gentiles's Gentiles's Condemnation of the Bills of the Bills of the Bills went into Poland together about the Year 1852 Staniflaus Lubiemietzky lays, almost the same thing Valentinus iste & Paulus Alcietus Pedemontanus cum Geneva ob odia Calvini acerracentus Pedemontanus cum Geneva ob odia Calvini acerrspa subsiste non possent anno 1563 in Poloniam vene-tre But those Authors are not exact enough to de-ve the Preserve Hornius deserves it less still, no says, I hat George Blandrata, and Paul Alciatus, both Physicians, (he is mistaken in regard of Alciatus) fled from Swiserland into Poland, being frighted at the Punishment of Servetus and Gentilis. In the same Page of his Ecclesiastical History he affirms that they fol- (a) Thefa low'd the Tritheism of Valentinus Gent lis But it is Mistakes certain that Alciatus's Herefy was meer Soumanifm (a) Hornius Chronology cannot be better confuted found in than by a Letter of Peter Martyr, written at Zurich, the Editithe 11th of July, 15.8 He informs Calvin in that one of 1687 Letter, that he had feen Gregory the Physician, and enlarged John Paul the Piemon.ou, that they were exhorted Lyydecform themselves to the Formulary of the Italian Church of Gen va, that they could not prevul with them, and that by Bullingerius Opinion they were advised to leave the City, that they did it, that the advis'd to leave the City, that they did it, that the Physician faid he was going into Transilvania, and that John Paul went to Chi wenne We must not read Gregorium Medicum in Peter Martyr, but Georgium Mid cum, who is no other thin George Llandiata, as tohannes Paulus Pedemontanus is no other than our Al atus If Calvin did not fry expressly, that all those Heterodox Italians, and namely foln Paul Ale a us sign'd the Formulary, I should be much tempted to think that those whom Peter Martyr speak, of, refus'd to subscribe to it. However it be, they were not at Geneva a little after they had subscribed, for they did it the 18th of May, 1558 and they were it Zurich the 11th of July following Gentilis was not executed till 1566 He left Geneva some Months after the Subscription, and went into the Country of Ger, where he conferr d with Alciatus, which shews either that Alciatus did not go to Chian inne when he left Zurich or that he did not tarry there. See the left Zurich Article Blandra a, where I endeavour to clear the Oi-

Article Blandra a, where I chacavour to conder of Time concerning those Persons

(B) Had releas d him out of Prison | 'Tis not known Autition whether it was done by a meer Request, Sandius (v) mit p 6 whether was Money in the Cite, In oppida (i) at the nomine Gajum in carcerem conficieur, (Cientilis) unde shoult be, cum evadere non posset quod esset pauper, a socio suo Paulo and not Aleatoredimitur Quem utpote locupletem, praterea vero Martin nobili gen re ortum, immo & militem simili modo non au- Buccius, debant aggreds

(C) Where he died in the Sociation Opin ons] This bliotheca cannot reasonably be question'd, after the Proofs that Antitimi-Martin Rustur (c) has given of it. He says, That tar, p 27 that Man having lived some Years at Dantzick as a (d) lin a good Chiistian, when he was dying, recommended Letter his Soul to JESUS CHRISI his Saviour, and wil tento then he adds, (d) "Catherine Wemera, my Wites Cilovius, "Grandmother, who knew him tamiharly, and who and as ed affisted at his Death, told it often to he i Husband, "m Dant "The Market and M "affished at his Death, told it often to her Husband, I in Dant"David Werner Buttel, who is yet living, and she did nick, a d
"ed but Three Years ago My Mother in-Lav told it. Non "me but yesterday, that she had often seen Alia Aut 164
"tur's Widow in this City, who survived be Hust"band some Years" He adds occisionally, that At the he heard Andrew Woodovius say, That At natus being livit Cerin danger of being knock'd on the head by the Scholars of Cracow, because they took him for in Anian, (e) Velo eluded their bad Intentions, by telling him, that he circi est helieved in TESILS CHR IST to on of the nonnuneluded their bad Intentions, by telling hem, that he believed in JESUS GHRISTthe on of the nonnunturing God, and of Mary, that Name of Mary sived quain to him Ridiculo schemate evasisse cum se non Arianum sed lucinvo-Marianum esse diceret, quod cum illi quid sibi vellet quae cotto neverent respondisse, credere se sessum Christum Dei vivi or imme some sessum subjects, audito venerando Miria nomine incolumem dim seniore sunt. This is a Case in which the Maxim of the Onomine verzealous Votaries of the Holy Virgin was found Jesus of to be true, that a Person (e) is sometimes more speedity selmus de savid by invocating the Name of Mary, than by invocating the Name of Mary, than by invocating the Name of Mary, than by invocating the Name of Jesus (D) It c 6 as every body knows, speaks thus of that Work (f) Alciati prater emblemata nihil mihi videre contigit Ea vero talia sunt ut cum quovis ingenio certare possint Dul-cia sunt, pura sunt, elegantia sunt, sed non sinenervis, sen entia vero tales ut etiam ad usus civilis vita conse-Tofcanus Italia, 13 (b) See the of la Croix du Maine (1) Sanctius Brocennes I huiline Marinus Life. Phil & Med D tque olim in Archid Triburg Brifgoiæ tate Human liter Professor ordinarius (1)Thuiliusın Præf florical All gory The Editions of that Work of Alciat is the numberless, there are 21. Emblems in that of I wil us, which I make the of, I am therefore (laudi us Minos, g ces much the fare Judement alout it in his Preface (m)Minos (n) Paul Freher in I heat (o) See the Remark F (p) Lpift udii,&c 0 |ee

elle the

(r) Pag

26, and 27 Lubieniec Hifton Reform Polon pag

x 58 a Bibl Antitrin & In the Fistion of bis Dittiemary, 1692 Vinter quos pi in-ceps fuit Toannes quidam Paulus Al-Ciatus, liomo non itoliditantumne vainn inge-nu, fed plinephrerabiem uip m 650 Iratt Theolne quidam Álciatus Mediolanentis, hotea planč I hienctiĉus & vcitiginolus Be inft el v Bibliotheci Scriptoe atisfelu, f: Hont i pift _ (b) Mumb Hill de 1 Ann t , P 344 Dutch () Tis the 81/

Autore Nathanac-

le Sotuelfaln te it in the 2 4 169, (i) Viet Dilpur

t, p. 81 (t) Jo Latus, (ompend Hist univ pm 436 not true that he turn'd (D) Mahometon He had writ Two Letters to Gregory Pauli, the one in 1564 and the other in 1565, dated from Husteriks, wherein he maintain'd that FESUS CHRIST had no Being before he was born of the Holy Virgin There was Reason then to β blame Morers, who made him an Arian, and afterwards a Mibomet in It may be, that before he went to Dantzick, he had taken a turn into Turkey, without any design to make himself a Renegado, but only to secure himself from (E) Persecution, which perhaps occasion'd the Report of his pretended Mabometanism Calvin and Beza spoke of him as of a Madman. The first says, That on the Diy they proposed a Formulary to be fign'd by the Italians that were suspected of Heterodoxy, Alciatus behav'd himself in a furious manner, the other says, & That he was troubled with a Vertigo, and that he was a Frentick

A I CIAT US (Terence) an Italian Jesuit, descended from the same Family as Alciatus the Civilian, was born at Rome in the Year 1570 He studied the Civil Law sive Years before he turn'd Jesuit, and enter'd into that Society in the Month of March, The Employments he had in it, testify that they look d upon him as a conside-Table Man He was thirteen Years Prefect of the College of Rome, he taught five Years Philosophy, and seventeen Years Divinity there Afterwards he was Director of the Penitentiary of the Vatican, and Sub-Superior of the Professed House -He assisted at 9, Cal in the Ninth General Congregation of the Jesuits, as Deputy of the Province of Rome, lent Gentil and when he died of an Apoplexy the 12th of November, 1651 he was Sub-Provincial He was not less consider'd out of the Society, for besides that he was a long time Qualificator of the Congregation of the Holy Office, and Consultor of the Congregation of the Rites he was chosen by Pope Urban VIII to refute Father Paul He prepard an Edition of the Acts of the Council of Trent, which would have been the Apology of that Assembly against all kind of Adversaries, and namely against that Formidable Venetian He had already gather d a great number of Materials for that Important and I abortous Work, when Death made him leave this World &, but although he had spent several Years upon that Work, he had scarce begun to form it Fither Palavicini, who was charg'd with the same Design, informs us why Father Alciatus was

(D) It is not true that he turn'd Mihometan] We have just now seen the Proofs of it, and who can follen laying upon this occasion, that it were to be with d, that those who maintain the good Cause, were not he bicst to certain I aults, that prevail among the Persecutors of Orthodoxy An Licess of Credultry, an Ill Hatred, I mean a Hatred that comprehends the Person of in Heretick, as well as his Herefy, makes us Iwallow all the Stories that are reported to the difidvantage of an Herefisich. It a Report runs, that he killd himfelf, that the Devil curried him athat he kill d himfelf, that the Devil carried him away, that he died in ad, and blitpheming, it is believed without witting till the Thing be verifyed, People will write it to their I riends whereever they have any Conjected inay, what is worse, they print it and they sow is lastify, the Seed whereof is never less it talks into tach a limitful Soil. And the shift is not long the only Person that published it. Care is taken to convey it sim Book to Book, as a great Motive of Zeil, or is a Subject soil Respections. The Protestants have been is much miltaken as the Catho-Protestants have been is much militaken as the Cathoheks in the pretended Malometism of John Paul Aleia13 Both have been areful enough to report it Ilit os (a) invia musos feccatur & extra Spondanus in-ferted it in his Lee'cuistical Annals, and doubless I ather Maimbear (v) had it from him, although he did not cite that Author as Moreri does The Famous Colorius has published it, Russus writ to him what we have seen His Letter had been printed two Yens, when a New Edition wis made of Micralius's I celestrifical History, yet he that took the pains to add many Things to it, did not take away the I alisty for which I didn't away seen fired. for which Calov us was centured I cannot tell whether Russus did lightly discover the original of that He believes that a Letter from Theodorus (c) Bina was the foundation of it That Letter contains, that I alon it us Gentilu being interrogated about his Comrade Alerstus, had answer d, He is turn'd Maho-Comrade Alleritus, had answer d, He is turn'd Mahometin, and I have had not ling to do with him this long time. The I wo Conjectures of Russus are not bad, i Gentil's thought this would please the Judges by whom he was tryed. We see daily (d) the ething like it in our Gazettes, to wit, That the custoff those who ask em Questions. 2 Gentiles a thousand news very fit to tickle the rus of those who ask em Questions. 2 Gentiles the this or mole who ask elli Quertons 2 Gent-li who icknowledged a very fingulia Generation or Inlation in our ford, was well enough disposed to place and Simofatenians and the Mahometans in the fame Crossis I wo Sectiones that quirel, hate each other more in the beginning than they hate the Stem from whence they are separated So that Gent is was a bal Witness concerning Alexatur, after the violent Disputes that disjuncted them in Poland Vocriss (e 1 id Letus (f) cited only that Letter of Theedorus B zs, when they laid that Alciatus turn'd Ma-Hermus cites no body, though he reports hometan it with the utmost Confidence, (m) Alciatus, lays he, transist ad Turcas, ac Muhammedilmum amplixus, inter cos vitam finis Hornto k cites no body neither in the Apparatus of his Disputes against the So cini ms, where he says Two or three times that Alcistus embrac'd Mal ometism (n) Dignam panam dedit (n) Hornb quando eum Deus ad Muhammedanos prolabi sivit, nimpe Appar ne alibi quam inter Infideles istos nomen suum ultra prose peretur. It might be iuspected that this Story was not meerly grounded on Beza's Letter, if one did but lightly consider the History of the Polish Repair programment of the Polish Repair of but lightly consider the History of the Polisin Reformation, for when we see there that the Author having spoke of a certain Adam Neussers, who at last found himself obliged to fly to Constantinople, adds that Alciatus had a like I ate, we can scarce doubt of the truth of it since such an Historian reports it. But it that Author's Words be narrowly but that examined it will be found that his Testimony comes. examin'd, it will be found that his Testimony comes to nothing See how he speaks, Page 200 Exaste trimestri necessic habebat (Adamus Nousserus) pericule sibi ab exploratoribus Casareis imminente solum vertere, & Constantinopolim (quam & Alciati fortunam fuisse supra vidimus, adeo Turca ante Christianos aquitate & humanitate longe sunt) confugire These words rehumanitate longe funt') confugire. These words refer us to a foregoing place, I think it is to page 109. Now if on the one side we find in that Page that fome have writ that Alciatus turn'd Mahomeran, we find also on the other lide that they were his Ene-mies that forg'd that Imposture This is doubtless what the Sieur Stanislaus Lubienietzi meant The what the Sieur Stanislaus Lubienietzi meant. The Reader is sentible of it, notwithstanding the Faults of Impression that dissigure his Book miserably De Alciato, says he, scriptum accept eum in epistelis ad Gregorium Pauli anno 1564, & 1565. Husterlitzii dutis dissussification quad Christus extiterit antequam ex Maria nescretur, & accerrince dogmati vulgari de Trinitate restitisse, ita ut Mahometismum consilii in primulationale accentic se ancienti de arduna example. mordio reformationis sat ancipeti & arduoignarus ei pra-tulisse scribatur, sed a Calvino (p) & inventurum ejus (p) I think amulis, odio internecino iri eum & alios arisatis anna-tessagrantibus (calvino) tesflagrantibus (

(E) To secure himself from Persecution] This puts me in mind of Peter Abelard, who was on the point of going to seek for an Alyle in the Country of the Instidels, against the Agents or Promoters of Orthodoxy He had been very ill treated, and was more alarm'd than another, for as soon as he heard that there would be speedily an Assembly of Ecclesiasticks, he imagin'd it was to condemn him Moreover he knew by Experience the great Credit of over he knew by Experience the great Credit of thoie Agents, and it was not easy to escape them under i rinces of their Party They write every where, and before their Enemy comes into a Town, the Description of his Errors makes the Inhabitants

(m)Hornb Histor Eccle Con vs : Edie printed BookNeuf-Book is full of Faults, especially Proper Names

it should be à Calvino effe inventum & ejus æmulis ternecino ın, &c

(A) so backy his Performance If Morers had but cast his Eyes on the Preface of he would not have put the Acts of the Council of Trent among Fa-ks There is but one Sermon on the Passion, preach'd before Pope Cardinal Pales h Clement VIII in 1602, and the Life of Peter Fabri a Companion of St Ignatius Loyola, to be put among them. Father Alciatus disguis'd under the Name of Eminius a Tacitus, a Ico translated it into Italian from the Latin of Nicolas Orlandino & That Translation was Allatius printed at Rome in 1629 The Latin was printed at Lions in 1617. Morers observes in Apithat Pope Urban VIII, said that Father Alciatus deserv'd a Cardinal's Hat. Nicims Erythe en y reports it. If it be ask'd what hinder'd that Jesuit then from having what he & Aledeferv'd (Was not Urban VIII the distributer of those Hats? The Answer is very eagambe, fy, that Dignity is to be conferred on so many Persons for Politick Regions, that those Liminius who are thought worthy of it, cannot always be admired to the

ALCINOE, the Daughter of Polybius the Corinthian, and the Wife of Amphilochus, became mad for the Love of one Xanthus, of the Illand of Samos, that lodg d at Trythr her House This was not the strangest thing to her Advances, that lodg d at Trythr her House This was not the strangest thing in her Adventure, the greatest Reason Pinacoth of Suiprize is to see that Minerva inspir'd her with that Disease of Love, to punish her for not having paid all that she had promis'd to a Woman who had wrought for her That Woman pray'd to Minerva to revenge her, and thus her Prayers were heard Alcinoe fell so surrously in Love with her Lodger, by the care of that Goddels, that she forfook her House and her little Children, and shipp d her self with him. But being it Sea the reflected on her Conduct, the wept for it, the remembred her young Husband and her Children with Cries and Fears, lastly, all the good Words of Xinchis who premis'd to marry her, being too weak a Comfort, she cast heiself into the Sea A. A. great Exploit, and very worthy of the Goddels Minova! See the Remark C of the nius Lrot Article Egialea, and the Remark D of the Article Myrrba

AI CINOUS, King of the Pheaces, in the Island that is at present call d Cirfu, was the Son of Nausithous &, and Grandson (A) of N piune and of Periboea. He Married his Neece Arete the only Daughter of Rhizenor the Son of Nausithous, and had sive n Sons by her, and a Daughter whole Name was Nausicaa, whom Homer praises very Nasitous, much He praises the Mother much more and makes a Heroin of her He makes at Morealso very long Descriptions of Alcinous's Palace and Gardens By what he says there view most excellent Finits in those Gardens, and without any vicissitude of Winter Odys 16 and Summer, but every Month in the Year It was doubtless by his Gardens that 18 v 62

n16,p 238 lus 1b

& Parthe e Homer Odysi 1

(4) Quo abo a fpiritu tuo, & quo a facie tua fugiam ? fumplero meas di luculo & habitavero in exmaris . alluc tenebit me dextera (c) Abæ lard Oper p 32 (d)Virgil An lib 2

penass

tremis

tua

V. #05

(e) Lallavic Intro. duzione, cap 5 time when those who had the Popes har, might make the best part of Europe an uninhabitable Country for a Man, whom they were relolved to cry down as an Heretick, and that poor Man might in some manner have applied to them some places of the (b) 139th Plalm Theretore 'tis no wonder that Peter Acclard had a mind to retire among the Mahometans or Pagans. He was in hopes that by paying a Tribute he might have the Liberty to profits. Thriftianity one of the Sphere of the odium Theologism, and he fear d that unless he did so, he should always find himself inclosed in that Sphere. These are his Words Deus (1) spfe mibi tiftis est quotiens aliquem Ecclifiafticarum perfonarum conventum adunari noveram, hoc in damnationim meam agi credibam Stupefactus ill co quasi supervenientis ictum fulguris expectabam, ut quasi haticus ant profanus in Confilius traberer aut Synagoris Sepe autem (Deus seit) in tantam lapsus sum desperationem us Christianorum finibus excessis ad Gentes transire disponerem, atque ibi quiete subquacumque tributi pactione inter inimicos Christichristiane vivere. Now because Alciatus had yet more to fear from Popery than Abe-Alciatus had yet more to tear from Popery than Abilard, and that he tound but little Safety in the Countries where other Christians were Masters, Iement Danai qua discit ignu (d), his Whims and his Caprices might very well create in him a desire of trying the I oleration of the Iurks, and then he might have changed his Mind, and resolved to go to Danizick Let us learn to mistrust several Stories, although considerable Authors adopt them

(d) Father Alciarus was so backward in his perfor-

(A) Tather Alciatus was so backward in his perfor-(A) Father Alciarus was so backward in his performance. He was molved to deny nothing without maging Proofs that denying of it, so that he spent wanty Year and the softs Cardinal Palavicini pretends that the soft Supererogation, because no I away get who denies, to prove what he denies. The sast to prove what he advances, and it he does that the deserves the Punishment of Retaliation. But the accused Person may content himself with saying, I deny it. That is sufficient to acquit him, whilst nothing is provid against ficient to acquit him, whilst nothing is prov'd against him La dove (e) questi s'era fatto lecito d'accusare sen-na provare, il che dalle leggi e punito colla pena deltalio-ne, quigli non volle negare senza haver la prova della fassa, dal che ogni legge il di obligava Quindi su che spese moltissimi anni in cercar memorie certe di que' suc-cessi Rv. chat Cardinal's leave. I do port balleva that Cardinal's leave, I do not believe that in such a case it had been enough to deny what Father Paul affirm d When we have the Banteiers against us, we must heap proof upon proof, if we will gain our Cause I hat Cardinal adds, that I to ther Alexans composed very flowly, because he did not pardon himself any thing that was not perfect Old Age, and the Affairs of the Society were new Obstacles Dapper (f) la fredddezza dell cir discipita, (f) ld ib la natura perplessa, la penna altrettanto lenta quanto esaustita, le occupazioni de nostri coverni domestici hanno cresonato ch' egli fia morto con lasciar seo quille ve-ft eso dell'opera conceputa in idei. We may learn from this that fome Perions by taking too much pains to be good Authors, remain always deprived of the Quality of an Author

(A) Grandson of Neptune] Britannic is (a) siys (1) Bitthat Alcinous was the Son of Powax and that Phase tunn in was the Son of Neptune and of Corcyr: I see indeed Javenal the last of those Two Facts in Stephanus Byzantinus, Sat 5 but not that this Son of N ptune and of Corcyra was 151 the Father of Alcinous

(B) Ihat Alcinous chiefly i nmortalized his Memory]
All the Poets strive to out do each other in speaking of his Gaidens Lloyd cites many Pailingers them, let us content our felves with that of junc-

(b Illa jubcbit Poma dari, quorum folo pasi tris odore, Qualia perpetuus Phaacum autumnus h thehat And let us add to it this Testimony of an Author who wrote in prote (c) Antiquitas nih l prius mira-ta est quam Hesperidum bortos, at regum Adonis (d) & Alcinos I loyd cites Theophilus, Patitarch of Antioil who spoke of those Gardens in his third Book, ad ought to be changed into Alcinous He cites also Lad read, theie Words of St Gregory Nazianzen, concerning the Gar-

Autolicum, but he fays that the reading Animous

Jeparote n Tua Alcinoi mensa est jacundior 'orio domis

I have not observed that the Poets seign d that this 7 by were Prince was the Keeper of the Orchards, as Mereri will have it Charles Steplens led him into that I troi hi takes for in his Dictionary we find an Alcinous different from the King of the Pheaces, and characterized by the Office of Hostorum custos, Which the Author proves by the 2d Book of Firgil's Georgicks, and by some Verses of Ovid and Statius, which don't caim ad speak of that, but only of Alcinous's Gaidens It Vitalian Tua Alcinoi mensa est jacundior forro tun m Invenal Sat 5 1

> (1) Javen Sat 5 () Plin 1 19 C 4 Lnow ros t/ , Plmy a arigh ly under fl and n bat be concernit L dens of Adonis

Alesmous chiefly immortalized his Memory. He received (C) Ulysses with much Civility, whom the Storm had cast on the Coast of the Phances, he offered him his Daughter, and caused him to be brought to Ithaia loaded with Presents. Now as Ulysses told the Company an hundred old Women's Stories during the Feast to which he was admitted, it is thought (D) that it occasioned some Proverbs that were in use among the Ancients. However it be, Alcinous's Kingdom was a plentiful Country, where they lov'd (E) good Cheer, and the Conveniences of Life, which did not hinder the People from being a Active, and very good Seamen, and Alcinous β from being a very just Prince ALCYONIUS (Peter) was one of those learned Italians that cultivated good Literature in the XVI Century He acquir'd a considerable Knowledge of the Greek and Latin Tongues, and made some Pieces of Eloquence that deserv'd the Approbation of good Judges. He was (A) a long time Corrector of the Press at Venice, in the House of Aldus Manutius, and ought consequently to have a share in the Praises that are given to the Editions of that Learned Printer. He translated divers y Treatises of Aristotle into Latin, and succeeded but little in them. Sepulveda writ against those Translations, and observed so many Faults in them (AA) that Alcyonius found no better Remedy for his Disgrace, than to buy up so many Copies of Sepulveda's Writings as he could find to burn them Paul Jovius accuses him of a Second Fault which is more Disgraceful than the first, that is, of having been an (B) impudent Parasite, who made no difficulty to cat two or three times a day out of his own House. I cannot tell whether we ought to believe Paul Journs altogether about it, for he quartel'd with Aleyenius as foon as the (n) Cog.

92 Verso 15 lilely that this mistake owes its first Original to the lault of tome Frankcriber, or Printer, who put cufter in stead of cultor

He receiv'd Ulyfles with much Civility | Divers Authors, as Rawifine Textor (f), and Decimi or (g), attribute that Reception to Nauficaa the (f) In L
Daughter of Alcinous, without giving the Father pithet my thare in it. They do not confider that the only

(g) In Syl vi voca and that the had a Father and Mother who per bul & in form d all the Honours of the Reception and of the turn. Helpitality. See the Article Naulican.

Hospitality See the Article Nausscan

(D) It is it ought that it occasioned some Proverbs]

Moreri lays, that Ulyfir related the Fable of the Cyclopes, of the Lwstingones, and others, as the faying is leaning with his kibow on the Table, which gave occafion for that Provide of the Ancients, which Laslinus did not forget, Alcinous's Table, or as Plato expression, Must I relate the Fable of Alcinous to you? All this is worth nothing. The Proverb of Alcinous's Table does not come from those Stories of Ulyfic, but from the good I necessarily and that alcino-Ulyffis, but from the good I ntestainment that alesmous commonly made See the following Remark Moreover it is not true that Place expresses himself by an Interrogation He declares (h) only that he will not tell the Fable of Aleinous It is yet more false that what he says is in other Terms the same thing as Aleinous Table It is certain that we find in the Index of Erasmus & Adagia, Alcinoi Mensa & Alcinoi Apologus, as Two different Proverbs. The first is not a Title in the body of the Book; it is only mention'd as an accessory to the Proverb (1) Sybaritica Minsa, and is taken from these Words of Sybaritica Minja, and is taken from these Words of Gregory Nation, Our we have the attention, And we are never graving anymon ad Lotophagorum information of Madrian Junius who made a Collection of Proverbs after Leasmus, wherein he places Alcino Horts as a Capital Proverb, cites in the Lyplication of it this other Passage of the same Lather concerning the Table of Alcinous cerning the Table of Alemous ,

Neu de por ary Anertu n' ar nivoto yeath av Nen si marmoreum dederis lectum Alcino que

Menjam I los d cites another Passage, wherein that holy Doctor makes use of the same Phrase As for the Alemes apologus, Erasmus hath it Twice Inst he underflands it (k) of an old Woman's Story, de longs: & anilibus fabulamentis, and grounds himielf on the Fables that Ulyfis told at the Table of Alcinous Piedigiofas ac devidiculas fiebulas & portenius famendacia de Lotophagis, Lastrygonibus, Circe, Cyclopibus acque id general de la company de la co Lotophagus, Lestrygonibus, Circe, Cyelopibus atque id gemus aliis plurimis miraculis, fretus videlices Pheacum inscitia barbarieque But eliewhere (1) he tells us that he found another Signification of the same Proverb in the 4th Book of (m) Aristotle's Rhetorick, and that he will suspend his Decision till he sees more clearly into the Matter, either by the Commentaries (*) of St Gregory Nazianzen on those Books of Aristotle, or by some other means I scarce see any body that minds this last Passage of Erasmus They stop that minds this last Passage of Erasimum They stop at the first, as if the true Sense was to be found there But it is far from being to be met with in that place, for if we consider never so little what Erafmu iny, on Ariftotle's Words, we shall whosly mistrust the Explication he had given in another n 210 he place I own that this Passage of Aristotle is obquotes, as icure, that it is differently read, and that perhaps Lrasmus there is fomething left out in it, but there is no likelihood that by the Apologue of Alcinous, we ought to understand a Tale of a Tub Yet Gilbert Cousin who made a Colletion of Proverbs after Ersj. Yet Gilbert of the Rhemus, fancies to, though he confiders the thing only according to Ariforle's Citation (n) There is a var Hist Passage of Elian (e) where Alcinor apology Admir 2011 1, c 1, 2021, can only be taken for the Discourses of Ulys- (p) Aich d' fer to that Prince in the Ody fly

(E) Where they low'd good Cheer, and the Conveniences of Life] Alcinous made no Mystery of it to Ulyster We (p) love, faid he to him, Feasts, Musick, Dancing, change of Apparel, Bathing, and the Bed

Horace expresses it in this manner

- (#) Alcinoique In case curanda plus aquo operata juventus, Cui pulcrum fuit in medios dornire dies, & Ad streptum cithare cessatum ducere curam

I need not say that by Aleinei juveneus, must be understood the Young People of Aleineus's Kingdom Athenaus speaks tometimes of the voluptuous Life of the Phaaces

(A) Along time Correttor of the Pics in the House of Aldus Manutius] Paul Jovius (b) does not lay so much of it, Cum diu in Chalcographorum Officinis, says he, corrigendus erroribus menstrua mercede operam navas-Jet, multa observatione ad pracedentem scribends faculta-tem pervents. I take what I say concerning Aldia Manutime from Farillas, and I confess that I do it trembling, confidering the great Number of Faults tim, lava-which that Writer committed about the learned Men craque whereof he spoke in his Anecdotes de Florence The Publick, says he (c), is oblig'd to him for the exafiness of Aldus Manutius in printing the best Greek and Latin Authors that we admire at prefent, for he was all his Life-time Corrector of that Famous Printing House. This last Particular is falle, for Alexania, was Professor

List-time Corrector of that kamous krinning knows last Particular is falle, for Alcyonin was Professor (a) Hoiat at Florence, under the Pontificate of Hadrian VI

Lpist - (AD) Sepulveda — observed so many Faults in I is them that Alcyonius found no better Remedy | Paul (b) Paul Jovius remarks this (d) Quum aliqua ex Aristotele perperam infolenteque vertiset, in eum Sepulveda vir ubi insta Hispanus, egregio de literus meritus, edito volumine perfecto gregio de literus meritus, edito volumine perfecto applanju, ut Alcyonius ignominia dolore misere conferendo dot puatus, Hispanu hossu litros in tabans, ut concemaret, 168 gravi pretio coemere cogeretur. See the aiddes of Princes collected by Ruscelli, and translated by Belleforet, lus Jovius 1019, See also the 27th and the last Letter of the 3dBook of Longol us (c) is bene so more instale for the denunciabus, that is to say, that sepulved s Work was printed, ut hominis ad tanta contumelia nuncium, vultam videas. Epist ultima libit quod unum sane spectaculum tibi magnopere invideo Nunquam enim is ex oculis laborabit qui eum esis frontem Spettarit

(B) An impudent Parasite] Let us set down so Paul Jounus's Words, (f) Cum nulla ex parte ingenuis, (f) Paul set plane plebeis & fordidis moribus fadaretur, erat enim Jovius fed plane plebeis & sordidis moribus fadaretur, erat enim Jovius impudeus gula mancepium, ita ut codem sape die bis & clog c ter aliena tamen quadra caustaret, wee in ea fædicate 12, P malus omnino medicus, quod domi demum in lelis limine, 265

nat in proverb do b. the 4th Book torick () Elian मधी। विशः संदेशिभ मा-Jueis 78, LIMATA T JEnecola 6a, 100 3 a TE SEPLE n) edia, Semper autem nobis conque gratum. CItharaque, chorique > alternacalida & cubilia Homer Odyff 18 V 248 > (a) Hoist

vestefque,

ad permu-tima libii 3 tol m

elog c

256 VEI-

a Odyll'i 6 v 270 1 7 v 35 107 1 8 ♥ 247, 253 & 253 & paffim ali-bi y'Axxivo@ npax-VETRE SI T @ Ba01-Orpheus y See the in Geineaus's Bib-

Listbeque

I pitres

ces, tal

& See the

des Prin-

Thefuro rum

(1) Plito de Rep 1 10

() Tirthe 6. sh of the a Cent in the d Chi-

(1) Firsim

n 32 Cent 4 Chil 2 p m 469 (/) Id n 82 (entui r Chil s pag 10 47 (m) It 15 21 e 16th Chapter of Book in the Fdition of Genevi,

(*) I never heard of 11 ofe Com-

he heard that he was his Rival in the Commission (C) of writing History. The Treatise that Aleyonim caus'd to be printed concerning Exile, contain'd so many fine Passages among other mean ones, that it was thought he had stirched divers Pieces of a (D) Treatile of Cicero de gloria to his Thoughts, and that afterwards he threw into the Fire that Manuscript of Cicero, which was the only one in the a World, lest he should a Jovius be convicted of that filching The Two Speeches he made after the taking of Rome, in elog c which he very eloquently represented the Injustice of Charles Vth and the Barbanty of his Soldiers, removed in some measure the Suspicions that were form d against him by I bid They are Two very good Pieces They talk of a Speech y that he made upon the princer, Knights who died at the Siege of Rhodes He was Professor at Florence in the Pontisi- of Princer, cate of Hadrian VI and besides his Pension he had Ten Ducats per Month of Cardinal tol 93 de Medicie for Translating & a Work of Galen Having heard that that Cardinal was street De de Medicis, for Translating Sa Work of Galen Having heard that that Cardinal was created Pope, he desired his Leave of the Florentines, and not having obtain'd it, he went nevertheless to Rome full of hopes to raise himself there. He lost all his Listate um in the Troubles that the Colonna's excited in Rome, and some time after when the Emperor's & Letters Forces took the City in the Year 1527 he received a Wound as he was making his Refol 95 treat to the Caftle of St Angelo, into which he got to Pope Clement VII notwithstandTherefore ing the Soldiers who pursued him He made himself guilty of a base Ungratefulness valeriatowards that Pope, for as soon as the Siege was rais d, he went over to Caidinal Pomnus de pey Colonna, at whose House he fell sick and died in few Months? His Vanity hinder d

(E) him few for p m per vomitum ipso crapula onere levaretur Varillas ipeaks only of Al yonius's Drunkenness, he accuses hm only of maling limself Drunk as often as he found an Opportunity for it Latomus, whole Verses Paul Jovius alledges, makes mention of Two of that Man's Lucelles, to wit, That of Drinking, and

Man's Excess, to wit, I was that of Lating

(C) A Rival in the Commission of writing History]

(g' I etters He who(g) informs us of this, adds, That it was not of Princes, true that Alcyonius was to compose an History, and that Paul Journs was told fo only to make them quarrel together Cardinal de Medicu diverted himfelf with those Quarrels of the Learned, he took delight in disquieting Alegonius by protecting Sepulveda (h)
Note, that Alegonius praised mightily the first Decad of Paul Towns & History in the 2d part of his Treafol 9,

(b) Ibid

(z) Cice

Epist 27 Atticum

(D) Of a Trestife of Cicero de gloria] Paul Towns is not the only Perion that mentions that fatal Paul Manutius in his Commentary on these Words of Cicero (1), librum tibi celeriter mittam de gloria, speaks of it thus Libros duos signissiant, quos de gloria scripst qui usque ad patrum nostrorum atatem pervenerunt. Nam Bernardus sussimianus in indice librorum suorum nominat Ciceronem de Gloria Is liber postea, cum universam bobliothecam Bernardus monacharum monafterio legaffet, magna conquisitus cura, neutiquam est inventus Nemini dubium fuit, quin Petrus Alcyonius, cui monacha medico suo ejus iractanda bibliotheix potestatem secerant, homo improbus furto aver-terit Et sanc in ejus opusculo de Ersulio, adspersa nonrest Et Jane in ejus opusculo de Exquito, auspersa non nulla deprehenduntur, que non olere Aleyonium auctorem sed aliquanto pressantiorem artissem videantur. We understand by this Passage that Aleyonius was a Physician by Protession See the Remark I Now innee he was a Physician to a Convent of Nuns, it ieems to me, that it cannot be true that he was all his Life time in Manutius's Printing-House is a new Proof of Varillas's Error I have Two things to remark against that Histori-

R F-MARKS against Varillas

The 1st is that in the I ragment of his Lewis XI he imputed the Plagiarism and the Destruction of the Treatile degloria to Philelphus, and cited the small Flogies of Paul Jovius He was (k) told that there was no such thing in it Doubtlets he made here Advanced from A land the Paul Toubtlets he made (k) News there was no such thing in it Doubtless he made his Advantage of that Advice, in publishing his Lewis XI; for after having observed the same things concerning Philesphus, he adds (1) Nevertheless it is not certain that he was guilty of that Crime, which paffer for one of the qualifit that can be committed in point of Literature and some Authors impute it to a learned Person of the same time, whose Name is Alcyonius, and maintain than he appropriated that Book of Cicero to himself, after having chang'd the Title of it, which was of Glory, interhanof Exile To this latter Fact he applies the Citation of Paul Jovius If he had from the wealth of Learning, Tune 1685 Article 1 towards the (1) Varilof Glory, interhon of Exile To this latter Fact he applies the Citation of Paul Jovius If he had wholly suppress what concerns Philesphus, he would have come off better, for where coul i he find that Philesphus was accused of that I raud? Besides Aleyonius is not accused of having published Givero's Book and of having only changed the Title of it, his Vanifu would easily have been forgiven him, if he had las, Hift of Lewis XI Book 1 P 39 of she Dutch nity would eatily have been forgiven him, if he had only been guilty of that, the pleasure of having that Work of Giver would make one forget the Trick, but he is accus'd of having taken a rich Em-flory of Ilorence (n), he attributes nothing to him concerning the Book e'e glor a, he accules Alegonius only of that Fault. He is s (o) that that needed Plaguary was oblived to comfort the Proveditor Coinsio In the Exile, to which he was condemn'd for Laving been defeated in the War against the Furks, although two norths Fault. Algorius (p) font him the Book, Entire printed ad De fortite toleranda exili fortuna. And because that along in Treatise was only composed of very ill ord i d Sinten is of the 1 interest Book de glori, it was much esteem d, although on of the their off judicious observed well that there was no coherene. Algorius being a could be the soft judicious observed well that there was no coherene. in it Algionus being ravished with the Success of 1, tes Work alter d his design of causing that piece of (10010 to be printed. And knowing very well that ro body bil z. Copy of it, he threw it into the five for fear it should be found fometime or other among by P personal by 2) for should be difeoured by that means. It we should compute this Relation with that which is an the Life of Leme W. W. thould change here are a life to the same of th Lewis XI we should admire how one and the sime Man could relate the fame I let which for may inconsistent Virieties. Having not that Frentile of Alexander, I cannot determine whether Varieties has well observed the Subject and Occasion of it. I can only fix that the Litle he mention, does not agree with that which Gefner fet down, Medicas Lagatus, five del exilio liber, and that a Piffige of that (a) Read Book (a) discovered to me, that John de Medicas, who it (i is vewas Pope Leo X speaks in it. But what I can of recurous,) determine by my felt, I can affirm on the word of in Colo-a (b) I riend of mine, whole Exactness and Capacity revery well known to me Heie is what he observed put to me "The I egatus Medices, seu de existe of Petrus Al) - "onur, is so for she Combine in the second party with some than the observed of the contraction of the contracti onus, is so fir from being writ for the Comfort of 11) the pretended Proveditor Cornaro, that it is dedicated 11 by the Author ad Nicolaum (c Slombergum Pon cem Campanum, and there is not one word in the acrit whole Book that can either directly or indirectly full to concern Cornaro. That Work printed in Bife in tent of whole Book that can either directly or indirectly concern Gernaro That Work printed at Bife in 1546 is divided into 2 Books, whereof the 1 the runs thus , Petri Alcionis Medices Legatus feu ac estruns thus, Petri Alcionis Medices Legatus feu activitio ad Nicolaum Shombergum Pontificem Campan no SchomIt is written by way of Dislogue, and folm de beig (NiMedicus, who was afterward Pope I to V Juliu de colts) Medicus, and I aurence de Medicus in the Interlotors. This is the Reason why Medicus is put in the Title, and becaute the Author supposes in line, Ailite while after Pope Julius Second had fent John di Medicus as his Legate at the head of the Army, that was to retake Bologna, the word Legatus was added to that of Medices. Here tollows certainly a great Fault Nevertheles he (d) re-"Legatus was added to that of Medices" Here tollows certainly a great Fault Nevertheless he (d) repented of it before his Death, (to wit, Aliyonius) and made a kind of a Reparation prifixed to the Two Speeches, that he had composed at Venice on the Desulation of Rome by the Lutherans There is no doubt that I arillar went about to translate these Words of broidery from it to put it on his Rigs, and afterwards of having buint that whole Work of Cicero

(m) Ex libro de Gloria Ciceronis,quem nefaita malignita-te aboleverat, multorum judicio confectum cred retur. In eo enim tanquam vario contone præclara excellentis purpu-ræ filad inguentibus cæteru coloribus, in crtesta notaban tur My fecond Remark is, that when I irilias makes mention of Francis Philelphus in his fecret Hi-

(1/1) Tovaus elog (n' Pag 160

In it the Schoin-

(F) him from growing more learned, and his Slanders (F) drew many Enemies upon The Supplement to Morers & Dictionary is not worth any thing (G) as to this Article For it is only a faithful Copy of Varillas's Enormous Faults Some learned Men (H) have very much prais'd Aleyonius, and his Translations

We find something concerning him in (1) the Letters of Longolius, that is not to his

(a) Pier Valerian de Litte rat infelicit p 76 He (f)means the Army of Legatus the runof the Seroud is. Medices His Ireapientia, unt de Confola-63 (Ibic (harles \ that plundered Rome in 15 27 (g) 1he unning Litle of the fuft is, Medices prior, and ning little Legatus posterior (') Viz t f s deSatior e (b) Pier Viletian ib pig pu me 11 211 114 11 15 Chudius du Veidies p = , onius has ollerzed  * I sults in Apulci-. Book de mun-I rratifiys it Should ve Alcic-fure, in omnes pene iu-ctores (4) s that I ctrus Avi-

mus infield of A-Vionius Neverthe-4 / AVIOmius has b en que I am the rum fyll :bus pro Amfterdam ın 1694 with M Almeloveen / Amoenitites Theologico-Philolo-

Paul Jouius Verum non multo post confirmate suspiciones invidiam duabiu splendidissimis orationibus peregregie mitigavit, quum in clade urbis vehementissime invettus in Gasarim, populi Romani injurias & barbarorum im-nauitatem summa perfecti Oratorus eloquentia deplorassis Is there any thing concerning the Luchard in this passinge? Is there any thing in it that looks like Repentance? Is there any fign of a Reparation con-cerning the Boo! de Gleria : Has Jovim any other delign than to shew that Alcyonim's Speeches were so much admired, that People were more inclined to believe that he might be the Author of the fine Passages of the Book, Entitled, De Exilio ' I don't think that those Speeches were composed at tenice.

I wonder that Pierius Valerianus who was sorry for the Suppression of a Work of which he accused Aleyonius, iaid nothing of the Suppression of the Ficatise de gloria. Having related that Peter Martellus could not finish some Books by Reason of his Sicknesses. he adds. (c) Quatuor tamen libros exactis. Sicknesses, he adds (e) Quatuor tamen libros exactif-sime interpretations in Mathematicas disciplinas Braccius ejus filius ab interitu vindicarat, vel ipļius auctoris de le testimonio absolutos, atque ii (f) Barbarorum manus effugerant, Braccie ipsius deligentia in Arcom Aliam asportate. Sed enim in Petri Alcyonii manus eum incidiffint, ita suppressi sunt ut nusquam amplius apparuc-

SINCL the first Edition of this Dictionary Dr Bourdelot, Physician to the King, and to the Dutchess of Burgundy, did me the Favour to send me his Copy of the Treatise of Aleyonius. It is a small Book in 4to printed at Vinice in the Year 1522 in adibus Aldi & Anarea Asilam Soceri. The Title of it is, Petri Alejonii Medicus legatus de exsilio, it contains Two (g) Parts that are both Dedicated ad Neolaum Schonbergium Pontiscem Campanum I found the Information that Mr de I arroque had sent me concerning that Workvery right. It does not contain any thing that relates to the Exile of the Vinita in Proveditor. The Three Interlocutors consider only their own Condition. They were all of the House of Acares, and continued still under the Missortane of Burishment. Join de Medicus comforts SINCL the first Edition of this Dictionary Mistortane of Buildment foliad Medica comforts himfelf ind them too. He is the chief Actor of that P ece, and alledges the Renfons and I samples, in a word, the Author bestows upon him his I rudition, and his pietry elegant Style. Note, that that Book of Alizonius was reprinted at Geneva, in the Year 16-4, in 8 vo. with Two (*) Treatises of Cardin.

(E) His I ansty hinder d him from growing more learned] It is the Opinion of Pierius Valerianus, (h) Non displicussed in this, trys he, Aleyonius, fi quantum stylo profecerat, amicorum consilium de rebus adhibere wolussict, qui niscipsimet sibi tantum arrogasset suturus om-nino surat e prinoribus, multam cuim Gracis, Latinisque si eris operam impenderat, O disciplinus variu ob-leta us erat

(I) And his Slanders drew many Enemies upon him \(\) Let us heat the time Withols again. Is to primum infelicit it sincommodo flagellature oft, quod dum de litteratis omnibus male [intit, dicacifima omnes obtre \(^1\) tione Incerabit, und commum tam declorum quam impo torum in se odium concitarat See the Remark I hereunder

(G) The Supplement to Moters Dictionary is not worth any thing as to this Article | I I hey have not taken notice that the Ali onus (of Farillas's Secret Memons is a Chimera of the Transcribers Doubtless there was Alconiu in the Original of those Memoirs, and consequently they should not have distinguished the pretended Aig onus from Peter Al your, whom Mores had very well placed in the XVI Century II They should have considered that according to Fairles, that pretended Algionus having deployed the Rayages that Charles the Little Alms made at Room in the Pontificate of Constitution. Fifth Aimy made at Rome in the Pontificate of General VII should have been placed in the XVI (entury III That which was taken out of the Secret Memons is not purg d from any Errors

(H) Learned M n 1 1 1 much praised Alcyonius]

Thall only mension when we were to Frederic by

I shall only mention whit was writ to Erasmus by Ambrojus Leo Nolanus in the Year 1518 That I riend, who was an able Physician, infoimed him, that the Senate of tente had caus'd to be proclaim'd by found of Trumpet, that all those who aspired to the Professorship of the Greek Tongue, vacant by the Death of Mark Musurus, should present them-selves, and that Two Months should be appointed selves, and that Two Months should be appointed to take their Names, and to see what they were able to do on Greek Authors (k) Statutum est tempus duorum mensium quo competitores on nomina dent, or legendo or aperiendo Gracos autores ostendant qui viri sint, or quantum lingua or ingenio policant. Leo adds, that several of Musurus's Disciples prepar'd themselves to dispute his Succession, and that aleyonius one of the most polite among them, made himself known by admirable Translations. It is better to express the thing according to the Original, (l) Inter borum elegantistes usus Petrus Alcyonius multa e Graco in Romanum sermonem elegantissime vertit. Nam Orationes plerasque Isocratis ac Demosthenis tanta Arpinitante expressi, ut Ciceronem is sum nicioninus legere visit te expressit, ut Ciceronem ipsum nibilominus legere vist dearis Aristotelisque muita vertis tam candid ut Latium gloriabundum dicere possit, en Aristotelem nostrum habemus Idem ipse juvenis, ut est literarum optimarum utrarumque maximus alumnus ita tui quoque amantissimus, ac studiorum tuorum laudator summus Era|mus answering that Letter the 15th of October of the Year tollowing, caus'd Peter Alcyonius to be Complimented in his Name, and confeis'd that he had never heard of him It were to be wish d fince there are different Opinions about Aleyonius & Tranflations, that the Learned Mr Huet had done him the Honour to take notice of him, when he composed his Dialogues de interpretatione

I SHALL add at present the Testimony of another to that of Ico Nolanus I find that Gabral Naudans plaises Alyonius's Translations very much, in his Treatile de fato & vita termino He itys that that Translator having examined These Objections that many have made account to the tay that the same have many have a professions. that may be made against those, who say that the Treatise de mundo is a work of Aristotle, does after-wards all that he can not to be oblig d to contess that {a} Gabri it is a suppositious Piece (a) Difficultates ejusmodi el Nauamolisi tentet atque ne supposititum hunc fatum, quem da us de una cum ligitimis aliis ELEGANIISSIME de Graco fato & Latinum feterat, agnologie evigeretur, vertit se in omnes vita tetpartes, tandimque ha versas concludit Sed moroitetem mino p ejus generis quastionum Grammaticis relinquamus (1) Concerning him in the Letters of Longolius, that u not to his advantage we have already tech (b) that (v) In the

in the Opinion of Longolius, Aleyonius's Countenarce would be a diverting Object at the News of the publication of Sepulveda's Book Here is formething Alcyonius having pullionately defind to carry one of Longolius's I etters to Mark Antony Flimmius, went away without taking it with him whiteupon this Reflection was made (1) Nofit hominis inginum Ille enim & cane quam ci opiparam h c dederamus, O laudum quibus a nobis ornatissimus dis esserti, & literarum quas summa contentione ut sestimanter seriberem pervice-rat, oblitus, prosectus esse dicitur. Luod vos ideireo seire volus, us mess verbis hac de inhumanisate cum eo expostu-lesis. Longolius adds, That it was a Lucky Chance, because he had said some Things in that Letter which he detir d Alcyonius should be ignorant of as much as any other Is not this to infinuate that he was look'd upon as a Man who would not icruple to open a Letter ? (d) Quanquam id ipsum de que queror non omn no im-commo de nobis cecidisse videri posti, en enim iis literis commode monis ceciaisse videri posse, ca acum iis interisate (f) Me caute commissem qua illum in primis celatim esse cuntin monis per person de la Monisor de la Monisor qua manus qua manus qua manus qua manus cui literas daturus essem satis meminissem per to him so the so him so hi might make one doubt that Longelius speaks of him in (g) Lilius that Place, is, that a little after he names Alcyonius, Ciegori-without seeming to be ill afferted to him, but above us Gyral Reason of doubting, is not a convincing Proof dus de that Picture agrees with that which another According to the form Agranut of Alconomy Consideration

(k) Fpift Eraf 28 1

(1) Ibid p

daus de VITA tet-

Ronark

(c) Chiaflopher Longoli us epist 203 verfo (d) Id ib fol 204 (c) 'Tur Mr delaMonam obliged

A L C M A N, a Lyrsck Poet, flourish'd in the 27th Olympiad a Lacedemonian, and others, that he was born at Sander, the Chief City of Lydia That AARHAY & AARHAY Some fay he was a Suidasia which is certain, is, that he was a (A) Froeman of Sparts, and that the (B) Lacedemo- is prove mians thought it was a glorious Thing for them to have supply'd Greece with such a Wit in the He made many Verses, whereof there are but few extant that are cited by sitheness, or evenues by some other Ancient Authors He was a Man of a very Amorous Temper, and he had to be some is look d upon as & the Father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the father of Gallant Poetry Nay, set seems that it has been said, matories and the set seems that it has been said the set seems that the set seems that it has been said the seems that t > that he was the first who introduced the Custom of Singing Amorous Verses in Com- versibis panies One of his A Mistresses Name was Megalostrata, who would also make Verses condendis If he had gone no farther, there would not have been so much Reason to complain of him, but it is said, that he was also in love with one Chaeran Aleman was \(\ceit\) one of \(\ceit\) duc em the greatest Eaters of his Age, that Quality would have been attended with great In- Alcma conveniences, if Poetry had been in those Times upon the same I oot that it has often nem fuisse been, I mean, very unfit to maintain a Poet He died of avery singular Disease, for or chitas he was n eaten up with Lice. He must not be distinguish d from (C) the Poet Alemaon, and I see no necessity to acknowledge (D) Two Alemans, one of Lacedemon, and the Chamaleother of Messena

A L C M E N A, the Daughter (A) of Electryon, King of Mycenæ, was the Athen l Wife of Amphitryon, and the Mother of Hercules She was delivered of that Son whilst Vide etiher Husband was living, and yet Hercules was not the Son of Ampbitryon, but of Jupi-ter, who pretending to be (B) Alemena's Husband, was admitted without any scru ple to the Matrimonial Functions. The Sport pleas d him so well, that he made supia

(C) that

(b) Id 1b

(1) Oper Moral p m 599

(k) Amiot has comm ttcd the Same Fault

(1) Salmas Exercit Plinian p 885

Says be was Lorn at Messoa. which was a part of Lacedemon, according to Strabo, as heiscorre Eted by Salmasius. ubi iupra

(n) Apud Suidam in Αλκμαι

(o) Alcmana Lacones falfofil i vindicant Pater l 1 Sub fin

(p) Ælian 112 0500

(q) Scalig Animady ın Luseb n 1360

(r) Pauian 1 3 P 96

mitte de hoc nebulone pluia, qui bellum bonis omnibus indixit, flagris & fusto coercendus. Note that the same Author owns (h) that he had made good Lyrick and Iambick Verses, and that he boasted to have compos'd an Excellent Tragedy on the Death of JESUS CHRIST

(A) A Freeman of Sparta This appears by an Epigram that Pluiarch inserted in his Treatise of (i) Exile The Author of that Epigram makes Alemansay, I hat if he had been educated in Sardes, the Country of his Ancestors, he would be a poor Priest of the Goddes Cybels, deprived of his Manly Parts, but that he is at present a Citizen of Lacedemon, well instructed in the Greek Learning, which makes him superior to the Kings of Lydia The Latin Interpreter has ill translated the first Verse of that Epigram, >assets perior to the Kings of Lydia The Latin Interpreter has ill translated the first Verse of that Epigram, 24;ones apxai nation vous one of the majorumque meerum patria Sardes, (k) for it must be concluded from that Translation, that Aleman was born at Sardes, which cannot be concluded from the Greek Thus it happens that a Translator is some times a fower of Diffention when he thinks least of it He that turn'd that Greek Epigram into Latin, did not think that by adding the Word mes, he should be the cause that many Authors would obstinately maintain, that Aleman was not born at Lacedemon How many Authors arethere, who confult only the Versions, and who make use of all the Proofs that the Verisons supply them with, whether the Greek Original will permit it or not? Salmasius has (1) learnedly corrected that Epigram, but I don't fee very well what those mean who refer us to him, as to a Judge who has put an end to the Dispute about Aleman's Coun-The Question is, whether that Poet was born at Lacedemon, or at Sardes in Lydia Suidas (m) maintains the first Opinion Grates (n) maintains the first Opinion Grates (n) maintains the iecond Velleius (o) Paterculus, and (p) Elian deny what Suidas affirms Of what use is the Epigram to end this Dispute, since it does not inform us where Aliman was boin, but only that he was not educated in Sardes, the Country of his Ancestors, that he was edu cated after the Greek manner, and that he enjoy d the Freedom of Lacedemon. This may equally fignify these I wo Things, either that Alemen was carry d into Greece, being a Child, or that his Father went and settled there before that Boy was born In this latter Cale, Aleman might have been born in the this latter Cale, Aleman might have been born in the City of Lacidimon Scaliger was of that Opinion, but he grounded it on a bad Reason Ego, lays he, (q) Laconem suffe arbitror, quim Laconica dialette asis set. If he had thought on the Lpigram mention d by Autureh, he would have seen the falsity of thit Reason, Aleman not having been educated in Lydia, but a Greece, and living at Lacedemon, must need have since use of the Dorick Dialett, which was that of Sparia How harsh soever it was, yet he made use of it to compose good Poems (r) O Tolnowill asignator, user is not with with the part of Aukara no passage of the made use of it to compose good Poems (r) O Tolnowill asignator, user is not sure mara page of the control of the contro nica lingua obfuit, etfinibil ea in vocibus appelland s hahet Sunvitatis,

(B) The Lacedemonians thought it a glorious thing for them | The Passage of Paterculus that I have cited proves it, these Words of Statius (s), G-tetricis Alcman cantatus Amyelis, proves it also Add to this the Sepulchre they rais d to Aleman (s) near the Temple of Helena

(G) He must not be distinguished from the Poet Alc-macon] St Jerom in the Chronicle of Eusebius having spoke of Aleman in the 30th Olympiad, ipeaks of Aleman in the 42d, and uses this Circumspection, ut quibuldam videtur Scaliger reads Aleman in the ift Passage instead of Aleman It is plain by the Reign of Ardys, King of Lydia, in whose Reign Grates plac'd Aleman, that that Poet sourched about the 30th Olympiad, which is the Time wherein Alema-Sylla, pon is placed in the Chronicle of Eufebius It that 474 Reason is not sufficient to shew that those Two Names belong to one and the same Person, it will (s) Star be undeniably prov'd that Alemaon, ARRAGION, and Silv 3 Aleman, Arragic, differ only in the Dialect, and 15 v 153 that the first ought to be chang'd into the second, by (t) Pauthe Rules of the Dorick Dialect See the Commen- Ian ib tary of Salmasius on Solinus, pag 885 Aleman of the 42d Olympiad is a Chimerical one Eusebiu placed him there, because he had read some Au thors that were mistaken about Aleman's Age

(D) Io acknowledge two Alemans 1 I think Suidse is the only Author that does it But his Authority is not very confiderable, when he quotes no body, and mentions no Circumfances This is the Cate and mentions no Circumstances. This is the Case of his Alcman of Messena, he says nothing of him Let us remember that he said, I hat the I sue Alcman was born at Messen, own Messena. That Place being not famous, some I ranscribers (a) Scalig thought it should be and Massiving, in the Authors Animady that had reported the same Thing as Suida. Their in I used who had reported the same Thing as Suidas Their pretended Correction brought forth a New Aleman, who was stitch'd to Suidas s Rhapsodies That Conjecture feems more likely to me than that of Lilius Gyraldus He acknowledges but one Aleman, but he will have him to be born at Meffens, and changes and Messous in Suides into earn Messenine Scaliger (a) rejects that Conjecture with Region

(A) The Daughter of Electryon] The Poet (b)
Apus tays the was born of Amphiaraus, and of Eriphyle Others fay indeed, That Electryon was her phyle Others fay indeed, That Electryon was not Father, but (e) according to them, her Mother was Masso, the Daughter of Alcaus, the Son of Persus, and not (d) Lysidice, the Daughter of Pelops and of Hippedamia The Scholiast (e) on Pindar is for 1,-

(B) Pretending to be the Husband of Alcmena] Diodorus Siculus (f) observes, that Jupiter took that way, because he would not use any violent means, and be-cause by the way of Perswasion he could not hope cause by the way of Perswasion he could not hope any thing from so Chast a Woman as Alemena was the Mother The same Historian observes, that on that occasion her Mother Japiter was not moved with that Laservious Passion which he had felt so often for other Women, and that he only designed to beget an Illustrious Child for which Reason he did it not in haste, he took speech time for it, to wit, Three Nights successive.

X 2

Iy

that Lysidace was the Lysidace was her Mother (c) In Olympia the Odd 7

(f) Dood Sicul 1 5

C 2

onte apud damubi bidi ♪ Idem ibid eld l ic P 416 Cld ib & Ælian var histor 1 1 6 27 tel de hiftoi anim 1 5 c 31 Plin 1 11 c 33 Plu-tarch, in Sylla, pag

in I useb n 1360 (b) Apud Paulani am, 1 5 p 165 (c) Apollodor Bibl 1 2 p 96 Scoluft Homeri ın Ilrad EV 323

(d)Charles Stephens, Lloyd, Hotman, &cc fays, that Lysi-

e Hyginus, 6 29 Says, That he lay no more with Speaks only of tiercules É Lx Apollodoro, Bibl 1 2 m 97 & sequent

~ ~~

(C) that Night last three times longer than ordinary From thence proceeded Hireules Most Modern Authors say, that Alemena was already with Child but Apollo dorus infinuates clearly enough that she was yet (D) a Maid, with the Maid of The Maid is to this the Thing better to the Honour of Jupiter. However it be, Amphinyen returned home the same Day that succeeded the Long Night which that God had pass'd with Alemena He was not so well received by his Wife as he might have expected after an Absence and he soon knew the Reason of it, by the Story she told him of the foregoing Night Those that shall put themselves in his Room, may tell us the Thoughts he had upon u He went immediately to the Diviner, and he knew from Tirefias, that Jupiter, in the I orm of Amphitryon, had enjoy'd Alemena. He was obliged to comfort himself, and it does not feem that his Chagrin continued very long; for the a Night following he got his Wife with Child, who was already so by a God & June by an Effect of her usual Jealousy, thwarted the Delivery of that Woman as much as she could, and it

(g) Plaut in Ainphitr lub nnem (b) See the new I etters against Mumbourg . Hiltory of (ulvi nilm, pag icq nere i pon Philoftr Tom 2 fol 17 cdit in 4to (k) Hy-gin (29 ur èn pua 79162WVa1 a Siaru Igitur una necte abfolvi non potell Dial Mirc C~ Solis See Diodorus Sici-(m Ovid Metam 19 (n) ld Amor Li Propert cleg (1pcl-1 1. C39 Alexandi 1 Protrep c Ainobius 1 elep 1,

4 P 145 14344 1 20 lunt wirks Quis illum in Alcinena novem noctibus fecit per-vigilaffe Continuis ? (p) Dindor Sicul

(q)Hygin ub iupra (r) See the Remark B eunt de de Moret, Henry toe Greats Mistrils) Amphier act

ly Our Physicians would laugh at that Reason I cannot tell why Plantus makes Jupiser speak thus to Amphitryon

Amphityon

Fu (g) cum Alcumena uxore antiquam in gritiam

Redi haud promeruit quamobrem visio verteres,

Mea vi fubatis est facere

For tince Jupiter had rut on the Form of the Husband, it was not necessary to use any Violence, and we have just now icen that he took that sigure on ly because he would not use any Violent Means. A Modern Auchor (f) alledges that I would not alleges that I would not Modern Author (/) alledges that I x imple of Alemena, to prove that a sincere Ignorance may excuse a Man and quotes very fine Veries of Molicre A I hour and Things might be said upon this Subject, it affords Matter for many Reflections

NOII that ionse Pertons will have Plantus's Thought Alimena was forced to let me enjoy her, because I had the Power to take your Resem-blance It it be so, it must be fait, that the Intention of that Poet was much better than his Ex-

(C) That he made that Night last three times longer than oranary] Jupiter (1) was fo well pleased with the Ludy, that he made that Night last all the Day, and the Night following, which moved I ycophron to sall Hercules meriomet hear, the Lyon of Three Nigh s, as I uctan did likewif Perhaps Viginere alluded to thele Words (1) Qui cam livens cum en concubuit, ut unum diem ujurparet, tuas notice congemenaret I he Dialogue of Lu ian, which 'peaks of the long Night Dialogue of Lu ian, which 'peaks of the long Night that Jupiter spent with Alemena, informs us, that Mercury went to carry Orders to the Sun to fland still I hree Days, that Jupiter might have the necessary I ime to pioduce Herculer, one (1) Night not being sufficient for the production of 10 great a Warrior It seems Jupiter did his best, for the Weight of the (ill had like to have built the Mother I and that (in) products in the mother I and that (in) products in the mother I and that (in)

lendebat (m) gravitas uterum mihs , quodq ie

Lantum crat, ut possis auttorem dicere test

Ponders effe Joven Many Authors tay, I hat that Night was not trebled, but only doubled (n). Others tay, I hat it lasted nine times longer than usual. It Jerom, who might have read this in the Writings of I wo (e) kathers of the flower has made no sile of it, and kent to the of the Church, made no use of it, and kept to the Tridition of the Double Night, In Alimina adultario and noffer Jupiter copularit At that I ime Jupiter took his leave of Women, Alimina was the last that he had to do with Niebe was the first, Sixteen Generations pais d between the one and the other (p)
Now as his Discrison with Alemena was in that kind the last he was to take in the World, was it not reasonible that it should last longer - Alemena (4) admir d the length of that Night it seem d therefore long to the length of that Night it form d therefore long to her, this makes for her Honour And indeed the was a very Virtuous Woman (r), and one that would not have deserved to have had such a Distich as this made against her, it she had lost her Sight,

Cum longas noctes Moreta (1) ab amore rogares, Cum longer notice Moreta (1) ab amore rogares, Favis amore voiss, perpetualque dedit Sonas, a Servant of Amphiryon, made an Observation worthy of him, when he perceived that the Night was longer than it used to be, he wish'd the Gallants Joy that paid dear for their Prey

Ubi (1) sum ist fortastores qui soli invite cubant?

Hereway social amorementa secondasse male

(b) (r) funt ifit feorestores qui jou inviti enoans?

Hecnex seta st enercendo serte condusto male (D) That she was yet a Maid] Apollodorus relates.
(v), That Fle-Tryen going to revenge the Death of his bons, put his Kingdom and his Daughter Assurantion the Hands of Amphieryon, after having made him swear that he would coutain himself with respect to Alemena till his Return Amphieryon having hall'd him by inadvertancy a little while after, was oblig'd him by inadvertancy a little while arter, was oblig a to feek a Retreat He went with Alemens into Bassia, and because she declar'd(x) that she would marry him that should revenge the Death of her Brothers, he engaged to purious rhat Revenge, and issociating himself with others, he made War with the Teleboes who had kill d Alemens's Brothers Being return'd to Theber victorious and triumphant, he understood that enough that enough that another himself had enough that I adm. If we to Thebes victorious and triumphant, he understood that another himself had enjoy'd that Lady It is plain that he had not the first I wour, doubtless Alcmens had put off the Ceremony of the Wedding, or at least the Consumpation of her Marriage, till Amphistryen had conquer'd the Telebes Jupiter knowing that Amphistryen was upon his return, and that there was no other time to gather that I lower of Virginia. was no other time to gather that I lower of Virginity but whilft Amplittyon was on his Journey, pre-vented him, and did what was to be done before the Husband's coming, Apellodorus adds, That Amphitryon having enjoy d Alemena, got her with Child, (γ) Id that Child was a Night younger than Hersules (γ) Aλχμανη δε δυο ερβυνησε παίδας Δεί μου Hegantea P 103 μοῦ νυκπ πρεσ ζ. Τες ον Αμφιτου ανοι Ισμικά Alemena vero duos peperit filios Jour quidem Hersulem una noste grandierem, atque Amphitryoni Iphielem This is a further confirmation of whit I am to prove The Scholiast upon Hemer (a) is more precise than Apolloderus. He five plainly, That the Mariage was not performed till after the return of amph tyon. In Plantur's Comedy Things go otherwise Amphitryon leaves (a) his Wife with Child in going to the War. A great Enticement for Jupiter! It would be much worse it Plantus had observed the Unity of Time, as Mrs le Feure will have it. In such a Case it must be said, I hat Jupiter interrupted the whole Course of Nature by stooping the Sun. to divert himselflong. Nature by stopping the Sun, to divert himself long-er with a Woman big with I wo Children, and to hear her Time, that if he had tarried a little longer, v 34 the Midwite must have been obliged to fay to him, grayed m. Tield me your Place Lither Plantus & Piece must last several Months, or he makes a Woman ready to he deliver d of I wo I wins, a very delightful Thing deliver d of I wo I wins, a very delightful Thing to the greatest of all Monarchs, and this by supposing that that King of the Gods and of Men has already produced one of those I wins I ake notice that this Poet does not feight that Jupiter disguised Meicury himself in the Shape of Amphitryon, to come like a good Husband to the assistance of Alemina during her Labour, it was the Visit of a very Amorous firm'd the same thing in the Pre

Et meus Pater nunc intus hic cum illa cuvat. Et hac ob eam remnox est faita longior, Dum ille qua cum vult volupiatem capit

And as for these Words of Sofias, (1) has now festails (v) Ali exercendo feorse conducto male, he aniwers them fill

Meus Pater nunc pro hujus verous refe & Sapienter facit, Qui complexus cum Alcurrena cubat amans animo

He congratulates himself for having an over all that might interrupt Jupiter's Joy, and the harmonic himself to continue his good Offices till the alliant be fatisfied

obsequens

Bene (c) & profpero hoc hedre g Amovi a foribiu maximam m Patri ut liceret tuto illam amp

Erroru ambo ego illos de dementia Completo, atque omnem Amphitruonis familiam Adeo, usque satietacem dum capies Paser Illius quam amas

(a) Gravi-It cum te plenam

(v) Apollod: Biblioth lib a pag 99 was only the Dexterity of a Servant Maid that (E) cluded the Ill Intentions of Incina a, "S'e must be more from being delivered. She was brought to Bed of Two Boys, the Godd he of white Inference was Father, was call'd Herenles, and he that was the Son of Ambients phintypen was call'd Iphicles B It is faid, y That the married Rhadamanthus after the Death P Apol of American and that her Tomb was to be feen with he that of Phedamanthus account to the Apol of the American and that her Tomb was to be feen with he that of Phedamanthus account to the Apol of the American and that her Tomb was to be feen with he that of Phedamanthus account to the Apol of the American and that her Tomb was to be feen with he that the County the county the same and the county that the county the county the county that the county the county the county that the county that the county that the county the county that the county the county that the county that the county the county that th of Amphirryon, and that her Tomb was to be seen just by that of Rhadamanthus, near Halisod 36 martes in Baotia. Others say, A That she was buried at Megara, and that the Otacle of Property der'd it so when Hercules's Children consulted it on the Difference there was among tarch them, some being willing that she should be carried to Argos, and the others maintainLysindro ing that she ought to be brought to Thebes. She died on the Frontiers of Megara, as P 449 she was returning from Argos to Thebes. Hercules was already dead, she survived him to her great Grief; but on the other hand she had the Satisfaction to hold the Head (F) and to pluck out his I very larged that her China of Hercules's Persocutor in her Hands, and to pluck out his Lyes It is related that her Corps ¿disappear'd in the Ceremony of the Funeral, and that a Stone was found in her Romulo, Bed Which made Pausan say, n That she was converted into a Stone Diodorus Si- Pausan says only, That she disappear'd, and that the Theban says has Didorus Si- Pausan Bandan 6 culus says only, That she disappear'd, and that the Thebans gave her Divine Honouis 19 p 294

They shewed her Chamber still in Pausanas's Time Her Altar was seen at Athens a 6 Diod The Present she receiv'd from Jupiter for the Long Night's Lodg- Sic 1 5 in the same Time ing he had with her, was shewed many Ages after in Lacedemon A, as a Singular Railty. Very wonderful Things have been related concerning (G) her Fomb Consult 19 p 290, the Article of Amphitryon.

A L C M Æ O N Many Persons have been call'd by that Name The last Perpetual Archon of Athens was call'd A L C M & O N After him other Archonies were creased, whose Office continued but Ten Years That Alteration happen d (μ) in the 6th Olympiad, a little before Romulus built the City of Rome Herodoins speaks of an ALC M&O N that lived at Athens in Crassus's Time, and who perform'd many good Offices to the Ambassadors whom that King sent to Delphi Crassus having heard of it, invited him to his Court, and gave him leave to take as much Gold out of his Remark D Treasury as he could carry We read in Herodotus the Expedients that $AL \in \mathcal{MA}_{-}$ used on N made use of to carry a heavy Load of it Crass made him many other Piesents, Chron fo that he put him in a Condition to give a very great Lustre to his I amily at Athens, where it was one of the most considerable. The ALCMAONIDE (so they call'd ALC MAEO N's Posterity) distinguish'd themselves there on divers Occasions, and in Solone, chiefly by opposing stoutly the Tyranny that Pififratus and his Sons endeavour'd in viin P I believe that this ALCMA ON was the same that was Geneto perpetuate there of the Athenians in v the War that was undertaken for the protection of the Temple find subscripts, at the Sollicitation of Solon. I find an ALCMAON in EPlutarch who was a fin page great Enemy of Themsftocles There are (A) many Faults in Morers 5 Dictionary 334 F concerning the Word Alemaon I am going to speak separately of Two Persons that bore that Name.

AIC

(E) The Dexterity of a Servant Maid eluded the Ill Intentions of Lucina] I follow Ovid's Natrative Alemena had been Seven Days in Labour with Horrible Pains Galanthus, one of her Winen, went out and went in, and fearing fome Garas when the faw a Woman muttering and fitting at the Dooi, with her Hands join don her Knees, the told her, that alemens was delivered Lucine (for it was the that was fitting in that Posture) had no sooner heard those Words, but she disjoin'd her Hands, and rose up, which caus'd Alemena to be deliver'd

(d) Subsidit in illa Ante fores ara, dextroque a poplite levum Pressa genu, digitis inter se petitine juntis Sustinuit partus, tacita quoque carmina voce Dixit, & inceptostenucrunt carmina partus

Una ministrarum media de plibe Galanthis Flava comas aderat , faciendis strenua jussis Officiis dilecta suis Ea sinsit iniqua Nescio quid Junone geri, dumque exit & intrat Sape fores, Divam r sidentem vidit in ara, Brachiaque in genibus digitis connexa tenentem, Et quaeunque, es, ait, domina gratare,, levata est Argolis Alemene, potiturque puerpera voto ides, vel cum remedium alicui adhivetur, digitis pellinatim inter fe implexes v neheium eft idque eumpertum tradunt slemena Herculem pariente. Petus fi irea unum ambove genua item poplites ilternis gen busin poni (i) We shall see ellewheir (l) the liberty that Plantus took to suppose that Almus was deliver dwithout any Pains

(F) The Head of Ifercules (") fautor] Apollodorus informs us that the Sons of that Hero found a good of the A Place of refuge in Achors against Fury stheur and that Hyllus, one of them having kill dhim cut off his Head, and gave it to Alemina, how the Me rezodno Anorte μων Αλκμαια διθιστι 11) νερκιστ του το θαιμάς Εξοιρύζεν αυτά (l) Fjulgi caput amputation alemena (l) Apoll didit. Hae automilli textoris sad is oculos effodit.

(G) Very wonderful things -- concerning the (G) Very monderful things—concerning the Tomb of Alement | Agella i King of Sparta being minded to cause the Relicks of Alemena to be brought to Laced mon sent some People to Ital artu, who open d that Woman's Iomb They found in it I wo I arther Vessels, a Brass Braceler, and a Copper Table whereon some Letters were engraved that no body understood. As they were inke the Egyptian Writing, Ageillaur caus d them to be transcribed, and ient the Copy to the King of Egypt, deliring him to cause his Priests to explain it, if they could (m) "lut wich idds, that Agriculus, Ageillaur's Deputy, went to Mamp' is where the Prophet Closup's decypher d that Interprion It contain'd an Order directed to the Greeke to live in Peace, to honour the Mules, and to compete their Differences according to the Rules of I justy The Letters of the Interprion were like the Writing that Hi ules learnt in the Peign of king Process The most singular thing is, that the Inhabitants of Hallarius having had a very bid Haivest, and great Innundations, believed that those Evils proceeded from having permitted the moving of Alemena's Tomb We read the same Reslection in divers Legends, concerning the dismembring or in divers Legends, concerning the diffmeinbring of translating of the Bodies of Saints

(A) Many Taules in Morer's Diff one; I It is not true that Aleman the last perpetual Archan I d

Tens at Chuff rld l P 17 > Sec Ic. leboes 1 Herod

(1) Plin

libro de SOCI ITIS (senio, P -6 be

(g) Her Historis

(d) Ovid

(c) Paufan 19

U would call them

Metamorph 1 9

(h) Vigenere ubi

a Hygi-nus Jays, C 73. That Adrastus gave the Collar, and that I riphyle discover'd the Place where Amphiaraus Sconded h msclf rning that Remark 1 of the Arcle Cilli-1 hoc y Diodo-rusSiculus a rather to c believ d, n'o fays, Ibat Therfinder rive only plum, he could not give 1/ Collan , fri co Luphyle had it al re tly & Call d n Greet אר פונ · Prufini-1 / 8 calls ber

Alphen-

(a) n 10

11 faz 1 fo

Dutch Ia tion of

Morens

Did onary

16 Supple-

mat Dietionus lit only, This

this Alc-

inority lelides that of Apollodorus

Amphilo-

ne Phogid i lemper unaret

Callithoo fecit parte recepta ton Ovid de remed

annor (c) Plut de exilio P 642 mronist / # 12 1 ath Archon of Athens (b) Ho 15 another Au-

111 1/16

who is cited for it, places the end of the perpetual Archonics before the Loundation of Rome II Be-Year of the World 330c, but the Year 3530, or thereabouts, according to I there Petau, or the Year 1495 according to Sethus Cale four III Alement the peracutal delegation as a second of the second o meon the perpetual Archon is not the time (a) Alimaon who received for many Prefents from Crasus He preceded the first Year of that King's Reign about 190 Years IV The last Year of that Reign answers the 26 Year of Rome V Herodotus, who is cited, does not say, that Alemaon succeeded his Lather Megacles in the Office of Yearly Archon, nor that the Ambassacies in the Office of Yearly Archon, nor that the Ambassacies of Grassa ask a Alemeon, whether he would soyn with their Master to go to Delphi, nor that after he had promised them to not, that as much Gold as he could carry, not that having perceived that Alemeon had loaded himself with Gold beyond is Strength recaused himself with Gold beyond is Strength recaused himself with that Burthen to he Honse because he could not will within 1 cannot imprise for what be carried with that Burthen to his House because he could not wilk with it. I cannot imagine for what Realon Herosom is quoted, when his Narrative is so strangely fillify d. VI Alemson, the Son of Amphiaram, did not mirry Callirhoe after the Death of Alphessica his sust Wife, the latter was yet living (b) during the second Muriage. VI Plutarch does not say that the Iable of Alemson signifies that he kill d his Mother, it at is to say, his part, to go and I we in the Country, which is express de the River his Farherin Law. One would think that Morers read in Plutarch, that Alemson castrated himself, which seems to be the Natural Sense of these Words, he kill d his tarch, that Alemaon castrated hunself, which seems to be the Natural Senie of their Words, he kill'd his Nother, that is to say his part. I am willing to believe that instead of partie (part) the Author had sad pattie, (native Country), but that does not clear him, for Plutaich does not iny that Alemaon kill d his Native Country, or that he abused it. He says on the contrary (c), that Alemaon shunning Magistraces, Seditions, I actions and Calumnies, made choice of a small Retreat to live quietly, and that thus he sted from the Furies. VIII The Chronicle of Fusions is still cited more improperly, to explain what the Lable says of Alemaon, for of what the of Fusenus is still cited more improperly, to explain what the Fable says of Aleman, for of what use is it for the Explication of that Fable to say, That the City of Thebes has plunder'd, that Tiessay was taken Priloner, that his Daughter Mante was confectated to the Service of Apolo? IX It is not true that Lul va relates those Things in the Tear 187,

A L C M E O N, the Son of Amphieram and of Eriphyle, the Sifter of Adragua, kill'd his Mother to obey his Father's Command You half fee the Reason of such a strange Command Amphieram look'd upon Eriphyle as the cause of his Death had would not go to the War against the Thebans; for being a great Soothsayer, he had foreseen that if he went, he should die there Moreover, he had promis'd with an Oath That if he should have any Disputes with Alaska he would after the with the stranger of the s Oath, That if he should have any Disputes with Adrassm, he would refer the whole Matter to the Decision of his Wife They dister'd about the Expedition of Thebes Adrastms would have Amphiaraus engage himself in it, but Amphiaraus would not, and diverted others from it Friphyle decided the Matter as Adrastus would have it, having been gain'd by a Fine a Collar that Polynices & offer'd her, and which she accepted, without having any regard to herHusband's Command not to take anyThing of Polymices By that means the has afforded many Topicks and Moral Thoughts to the Cenfors of the Fair Sex It is well known that Amphiaraus flying when the Army was routed, was swallowed up by an Abyss that a Clap of Thunder opened in his Way. He had order'd his Sons before he march d against Thebes, to kill Eripbyle as soon as their Age would permit. All the Generals, except Adrastus, perished in that War. Ten Years after, their Sons resolved to revenge that Affront, and made choice of Alemaon for their Generalissimo Eriphyle being bib'd again with Presents, solicited them to that War Ther-funder, the Son of Polynices, had given her a 2 Collar and a & Gown Tho' Alemaon had a great mind to kill his Mother before he accepted the Generalship, yet he marched against Thebes without having executed Amphiaraus's Order That Expedition proved very sortunate, the Thebans, by the Advice of Tiresias, abandon'd their City; it was plunder d and ruin'd Alemaonbeing transported with a new Anger after having heard that I riphyle had suffered her self to be corrupted by Presents against him also, did no longer scruple to kill her when he had consulted the Oracle Some maintain that his Prother Amphilochus assisted him in that Parricide, but most Authors deny it Alemaon being persecuted by the Furies for that Action, retired to Psophie in Arcadia, where he experted his Crime in the Hands of Phegeus, according to the usual Ceremonies in like Cases, and married Arsinoc e, the Daughter of the same Phegeus, to whom he made a Present of the Collar and of the Gown that were given to Eriphyle. A great Famine ariling, recourse was had to the Oracle, which order'd Alemaon to fly to Achelous He went to him after many rambling Courses, where he receiv'd again the Ceremonies of the Laplition, and mirried Callirhee, the Daughter of Achelous, and fettled himfelf in a

> of Abraham He says nothing of that plundering of Thebes, he speaks in general of the Seven Captains who attack'd that Town, and of their Posterity that renewed the War, I say, he speaks of the first of those I wo Expeditions in the Year 784, and of the last in the Year 82, X Neither Eulebius, nor any other Historian observes that (d) Alemeon's Expedition against Thebes was unfortunate, for it was at that I ime that the Epigones plunder'd the City, Gr. XI they did not carry away the Poor Blind Man Tiresias He had fled with the other Thebans before the Enemies enter'd the City XII They did not make a great Booty to revenge the Dishonour of their Fathers, they undertook a Second Expedition XIII It is not true that the Philosopher alconour on XIII It is not true that the Philosopher aleman made it appear that the Moon has a peculiar Property that never ends, he supposed the Eternity of that Planet It is a Thing that can only be supposed, and it is a more unpardonable Negligence in a Priest, than in any other Author, to say, I hat it has been made appear any other Author, to lay, I hat it has been made appear that the Moon is eternal, and that the Immortal Soul turns continually as the Sun XIV Eufebius does not speak of Alemeon the Philosopher, doubtless he meant the Poet, when he said, Alemeon clarus habesur, & Lesches Lesbius qui parvam sect 1' adem XV He said this in the 3 ist Olympiad, and not in the Sixty ninth XVI It is not true that Plutarch cites an Historian whose Name is also as a section of the Lesbius qui part and not in the Sixty ninth XVI It is not true that Plutarch cites an Historian whose Name is also as a section of the Lesbius qui part and the last a whose Name is Alemaon, in the Life of Solon Here are Plutarih's Words, they will serve to shew how hasty Transcribers fall into the greatest Mistakes (e) Ou word seam is on the or and the constant of the co ος λεγκι φισι Ερμππο Lours το Σαμι: Ουτε ο Αισμυπεβο ρητώς το τις πικει, έντε τίς τη Λελφών P 84 υτομνηματιν Αλκμαίων, ε Σολων, 'Αθηναίωι εξατημές αναγίγεση αι Non fust ille tamen ad bellum hoc defignatus dux, ut tradere Samium Euchobem Hermippus ait natus dux, ut tradere Samium Euchobem Hermippus ait Neque enim id orator product Aschines, in in Delphoium commentariis Aleman, non Solon, est Asseniensium dux Lloyd and Hosman sound the pretended Historian Aleman in this Passage of Plutarchoum Delphorum commentariis, say they, e tativ a Plasarcho in Solone. It is plain that those Commentaries of Delphi, are the Work which they ascribe to Aleman, and which they pretend to have been cited by Plutarch. I wonder that Vossim sell into such a Mistake. Aleman, says he, (f) in Delphorum commentariis, Alkuain en Tois is aleman, citatur a Plutarcho in Solone.

are More-Ti's Word . both in the Lyons E dition 1688. and Holland, After his Unfortu-

(e) Plut in Solore

(f) Voffins de

(X) In

Piece (A) of Ground, which that River had form'd by heaping up a great deal of a Taken Sand Callirboe declar'd to him that she would not lye with him, if he did not make from Apolher a Present of Eriphyle's Collar and Gown This obliged him to return to Phegens, 1 odorus, 1 her a Present of Eriphyle's Collar and Gown This obliged him to return to Phegens, 3 p. m. of whom he obtain d the Collar, having made him believe that he had heard from the 187 Diacle, that the Furies would not cease to persecute him till he had offer d that Collar ieq to Apollo Phegens was afterwards inform'd that Alemaon had defign'd that Present for also Dio doing Signal where fore he order'd his Two Sons to pursue him and so kell him which doing Signal Callirhoe, wherefore he order'd his Two Sons to pursue him, and to kill him, which culus, I they did And because Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Alexander and Alexander Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Alexander Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Alexander Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Alexander Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Alexander Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Alexander Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Alexander Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Alexander Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a Trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it, they carried her in a trunk to 5 cap of Arsinoe was offended at it. legea, and imputed that Murther to her Some lay that Alemaon during his Fury had B Alema-See the Sequel of all this in the Article of Callinboe Alemaens rum pul-Turies made a great Noise on the Stage of Ancient Greece 6, but we have none (B) of pits laffathose Tragedies extant What has been said (C) of his Tomb, deserves to be consider d The Oropians, who before all other Nations placed Amphiaraus among the Gods, excluded Alemeon from the Divine Honours which they conferr'd on his I ather and on his ? Brother, because of his Parricide It is observed that a Persian call d Oronics decommon for nominal fabrically.

Some Historians say a that after the second War of Thebes, Alemaen went to a training him habet Buthus.

Buthus

being invited thither by Diomedes, and that he affifted him to conquer that Country, in State and Acarrania, and that having been summond to be at the Expedition of 1703, 2000 medes went to it, but that Alemson tarried in Acarrania, and built a City there which 449 he call'd Argos of Amphilochus, to honour his & Brother Note, that he Prophesied n in 3 Plus in 4 Plus in 4 Plus in 4 Plus in 5 Plus in 5 Plus in 5 Plus in 6 Plus in 6 Plus in 6 Plus in 7 Plus in 7 Plus in 7 Plus in 8 Plus i fays of him Cicero represents that Philosopher's System better, for is it not a great Negligence, to chuse among all the Planets to which Aleman attributed an eternal Nature, Malibre that whose Alterations are most sensible, I near the Moon . Lacrtius should therefore P ,18 have faid, as Cicero did n, that that Philosopher attributed a Divine Nature to all the have faid, as Cicero did n, that that Philosopher attributed a Divine Nature to all the have Amphilosopher and the property of false Systems to philosopher attributed by the level configuration. have nothing that is coherent, we see that our Aimain signed but little consequently, thus see when he made a great distinction between the knowledge of the Gods, and that of the Re-Men. He & said that the Gods knew things evidently, and that Men do but Conjecture This may be said by those who acknowledge One only True God, but they the who take the Planets, and Human Souls for so many Gods, make themselves afterwards in Clem ridiculous, if they pretend that Human Knowledge and Divine Knowledge do effentially Alexandr differ It is not true that Alemaon died (A) of a pedicular Disease

ALDRINGLR, a Famous General in the Reign of the Emperor Fordinand II hb 1 P raised himself only by his Merit He was of the Country of Luxemburg, and of a ve- in his raised himself only by his Merit He was of the Country of Luxemburg, and of a ve- in his raised himself only by his Merit He was of the Country of Luxemburg, and of a ve- in his raised himself only by his Merit He was of the Country of Luxemburg, and of a ve- in his raised himself only by his Merit He was of the Country of Luxemburg, and of a ve- in his raised himself only by his Merit He was of the Country of Luxemburg, and of a ve- in his raised himself only by his Merit He was of the Country of Luxemburg, and of a ve- in his raised himself only by his Merit He was of the Country of Luxemburg, and of a ve- in his raised himself only by his Merit He was of the Country of Luxemburg, and of a ve- in his raised himself only by his Merit He was of the Country of Luxemburg, and of a ve- in his raised himself on himse Gentlemen that went into France, he apply d himself with them to Study, and made a minode great Progress in it Berry come into Italy he was made Chancellor of Count AI drucci had been the went afterwards to Trent where he had an honourable Employment in the Charles and the country of the large of the l but the jealoufy of his Collegues, and their Conduct, caus'd fuch a great spite in him, motions

(1) In a piece of Ground which that River had form d] It will not be amils to clear Apollodorus by a Passage of Paulanias (a), which imports that after Alemaon had kill'd his Mother, he fled from Arges to Psephis, where he mairied Alphesibes the Daughter of Phogesus His Marriage did not cure him of his Fury, 10 that he ran to the Oracle, which order'd him to tire into a new Land, that was made since the Mur-der of Eriphyl He was assured that the Furies would not purtue him there Meeting then with a Land that the Waves had cast up at the entrance of the River Achelous, he settld there, and Married Callirboc

(B) We have none of those Tragedies extant] I don't question but that the Two Verses mention d by Plutarch in one of his Books are taken out of some those Pieces The Common-place that Plutarch thole Pieces The Common-place that Pluta-ch touches upon there is of greater Importance than is thought of It emissions a Fault that is to be found every where the state of a Vice they themselves have, or that is less than a Vice they themselves have, or that is less than a Vice they themselves have, or that is less than a Vice they themselves have, or that is less than a Vice they themselves have have the for being the than answers, And you have kill d your own Mother than a Censorious Man 'Our v (b) unde uo. you doldensus, au tos an mardenanus Mind a σω του αυίτος ων ανελού τερω;

Ανθροκτόνε γυνακος όμογει ε ερυς

Το πορείτες ο Αλκμαίων Τὶ ἐν εκείνω, ακ αλλές

το πορείτες ο Αλκμαίων Τὶ ἐν εκείνω, ακ αλλές

το πορείτες ο Επικρός ε σε εγείνατο

Νου staque adulterium objice alteri, speinfano puerorum amore flagrans, ucque produgalitatem speinfano puerorum mass Advation has maldelle sucche.

maon Adrastum boc maledisto incessit,

Tibi qua maritum fuum n ific t flive Quid Adraftus? Non alienum fed preprinm e , por top probrium, Matrem necafti the mant that the Matrem necestive mant run trant am

(C) What has been sind of his loom less to be con fider d. I that Tomb was it Psophis in Arcadia, it was hur indifferently adorned but it was furrounded with such high Cypicsics that they covered with their shide the Hill that commanded the Coultility of the control of ty. They were not cut because it was thou he they were confecrated to Alemann, and they were call I

the Virgins (c)

(A) Died of a pedicular Difease] Antigonus Cariff i

(a) took the one for the other when he find that Aleman the Philosopher had that Disease, he took Aleman the Disciple of Pythagoras for Aleman the Poet Charles Stephens does not only say that the Philosopher Alemson died of a pedicular Diferie but also that he was the first that died of it for which he alledges Ælian Both these things are falle, "lian does not ipeak of our Alemann, but he observes feveral things concerning Aleman the Poet Having faid (b) that the Philosopher Pharmade died of the Disease in question here, he would doubtless have given him the priority over Alemaon if he had spoke of the latter in Relation to that kind of Disease Charles Stephens's Errors are allo to be found in Father Lescalopier (c).

(A) Of a very offcure B rib] Mr de Puffendorf (c) Id fays, Humili apud Lucenburgicos loco ortus, and adds Paulin that (d) he was at first a kootman of some French abid (a) Hist merab cap 95 Meursius took notice of that Fault in his Notes (b) Ælian var Histor 1 4 c 28 (c) In Cicei de Nat Deor p 41 (d) Puffendors, Rerum Succicai 1 6 p. 157

pud 1 ithat one Clem Alex Stromut l r I be odo-

(a) Pau 1 in 1 8 p 4)

(b) Plut

inimic utilit p. 88.

de cap ex

a in 1630 B Taken from Galeazzo Gualdo

Priorato in the 9th Rook of the History of the Wars of Germany 3 In 163 1 J Id 1 2

ad annn 1631

· Blanc, Hiftory of

Bivaria, t 4 P 374

that he left his Office, being angry with Fortune, and resolv'd to follow the Profession of the first Man he should meet with in his way He took the way of Inspruck, and meeting a Soldier near the Bridge that was returning into Italy, he enter'd himself a meeting a Soldier near the Bridge that was returning into Italy, he enter a himlest a common Soldier. He became a Sergeant soon after, and because he could handle a Pen very well, he was employ'd to draw up all the Accounts of the Company, and to write the Answers that the Captain was to make. He gave that Captain such insights as opened the way to him for a greater Employment. That Advancement was the cause that the Lieutenant of the Company was made a Captain, and that Aldringer obtain'd the Lieutenant's place. He desended himself so well with 50 Men in a bad. Post, that he preserved at norwighstanding all the Arracks of the Enemies. From these Post, that he preserv'd it notwithstanding all the Attacks of the Enemies From that time the Reputation of his Courage was as much spread as that of his Capacity veral Colonels offer'd him a Company, the Nephew of the Archbishop of Saltzburg was one of 'em Because of his Youth he had occasion for such a Man in his Regiment, he obtain'd him, and acquir'd so much Honour by Aldringer's good Counsels, that to testify his Acknowledgment, he made him his Sergeant-Major Aldringer was afterwards I neutenant-Colonel, and then a Colonel, and made at so well appear that he understood his Profession thoroughly, that he was thought worthy to Command in Chief a in the Lapedition of Mantua 8 He joyn'd the y broken Remains of the Battel Chief a in the Lapedition of Mantua 8 He joyn'd the p broken Remains of the Battel of Leipsick very opportunely with the Troops that he brought from Italy, and perhaps if Count Iilly had waited to give Battel till the Arrival of those Troops, as he was advis'd to do, the Event would not have been fo fatal to the Imperialists. Aldringer lest Tilly some time after to retire into Bohemia, by reason of the Jealousies that the ill State of Affairs sowed between the Imperialists and the Bavarians A, but that disunion did not continue long. He was in the Month of March 1632 with Tilly on the Binks of the Leck, to dispute the Passage of that River with the King of Sweden. He was at that time a Great Master of the Artillery. The Wound he received in his Head contributed much to the Advantage the Enemies had in passing that River, but did not hinder him from serving the same Campaign, he join'd Count Wallestein in Bobemis, notwithstanding the Efforts of the Enemy to hinder that Conjunction He was obliged to return speedily into Bavaria to oppose General Horn's Troops The Successes were virious on both sides in those Parts all the remainder of the Year, and in the beginning of the following The most glorious Exploit of Aldringer during that time was to have contributed in 1633 to the raising of the Siege of the City of Constance He march d afterwards to join the Duke of Feria, who had brought some Spanish Troops from Italy It has been thought that Walestein (B) had given Aldringer private Orders to frustrate that Duke's Defigns, and that it was the true Reason and the secret Motive why Aldringer would never consent to give Battel Nevertheless it must not be thought, that he was privy to all the Plots of Walleston, he had only a certain Complaisance for him, which without ruining the Affairs of their common Master, did very much advance the private Interests of that General The like Intelligences are practised in most Armies He was kill'd in the Year 1634, at I and shut a Town of Bavaria, and it was never known whether it was by his own Soldiers, or by the Swedes He had been made ζ a Count He was a Man of (C) excellent Qualities, 'tis pity they were attended Such a commonly the I are of Man He's with an (D) excessive Avance and Cruelty Descen- like those Lands that produce both good and bad Herbs

A L D R O V A N D U S n (Ulysses) Professor of Philosophy and Physick at Bologna, his Native Country, was one of the most curious Men in the World with respect to Natural History His Cares, his Labours, and his Expences on that Account are incredible He travell'd into the remotest Countries, without any other Motive than < Blanc, ibid p 436 ded from the Coun s of that Aubertus Mıræus fay de Scriptor 120 16 P 154

(c) Lux-

emburgi tenui fed

Joco editus pri-mun ætatem literis dedir Joh Clu-verus [pit histor I 11 ap-pend to Natural History to inform himself of the things that Nature produc d there Minerals, Metals, Plants. and Animals were the Objects of his Enquiries, and of his Curiofity. But he applied himfelf chiefly to the knowledge of Birds, and in order to have very exact and lively Figures of Barons, and afterwards Secretary According to another Historian, his condition wis not (e) fo mean, he makes him study first, then go to the War, then ferve as a Secretary, and afterwards take up Arms again. He fays he was (f) naturally a Water-dinker, which was a very bad and very prejudicial

Quality in a Soldier in Germany

(b) I hat Wallestein, had given Aldringer private Orders 1 The Historian (g) of Bavaria whom I have cited, fays, that the Swedes defind no better than to come to a general Battel, although they did not find them-ledves so well posted as the Catholicks. The Duke of Fe-tia, continues he, seeing a fair Occasion, made useless Hearts to oblige Aldringer to engage the Enemy, but he pend (f) Ingecould rever obtain any thing from a Man, who was under prompto atque acri, & nacri, & nacura vini abltinens Id ibid
(g) Blanc,
Historian had faid in the toregoing Page, that Aldig Blanc, Orders, and that a Picce was published at that time which imported, that whilf Wallestein wrote to the Emperor that he was lending Aldringer to the Duke of Bavaria to dispose wholly of him, he gave him private

Orders to serve him only for the Defence of the little Suc-cours he Commanded Which Aldringer not having pun-Elually performed, Galas told him from Wallestein, that

Hually performed, Galas told him from Wallestein, that he would never forgive him that Disobedience

(C) Of excellent Qualities] He had a very quick and penetrating Wit, much Skill, a refined Understanding, and a great Courage, he made himself admir'd in a Council of War by the force of his Reatons, and by the likelyhood of his Conjectures, he was besides a good Writer, he Tooke several Languages, and had taken the Quintessence of the Maxims of several Countries. The Politicks of an Italiana de Council of the Maxims of several Countries. lianiz'd Spaniard did not out-do his, the da lui prati-cate varie nationi, l'offervate divers massime, e gli in-vestigati genii e inclinationi di monti popoli lo reserve cost accorto nelle attioni, che alcuno Spagnuolo Italianato non lo avanzava (a)

(D) An excessive Avarice and Cruelty] He had no (a) Prio-Mercy on the People, and exacted Contributions rate, H st Mercy on the People, and exacted Contributions rato, H st with the utmost Rigour, he had no regard to the of the Wars Necessity of the Soldiers, so that he was neither belov'd by the People nor by the Army He got a ny, 1 9 p great deal at the Sacking of Mantus, and no Officer in the Imperial Army had so much Booty as he (b) It was believ'd that his own Men had kill'd him on (b) Id the Bridge of Landshut, the Opportunity of doing abid

he employ'd the most excellent (A) Artists of Europe for above 30 Years at his own a Bullart Charges. Those Expences ruin'd him, he found himself at last reduc'd to the utmost Acad der Necessity; and it is said that he died in the Hospital of Bolognal orded a with Years, and Saimes to Blind, in the Year 1605 B. It is a figural Instance of the Ingratitude of the Publick, 2 P 110 Blind, in the Year 1605 B. It is a figural Instance of the Ingratitude of the Publick, 2 P 110 Blind, in the Year 1605 B. It is a figural Instance of the Ingratitude of the Publick, 2 P 110 Blind, in the Year 1605 B. It is a figural Instance of the Ingratitude of the Publick, 2 P 110 Blind, in the Year 1605 B. It is a figural Instance of the Ingratitude of the Publick, 2 P 110 Blind, in the Year 1605 B. It is a figural Instance of the Ingratitude of the Publick, 2 P 110 Blind, 2 P (Aa) and even of the excessive Curiosity of private Persons A thousand Restrictions $\frac{\int_{0}^{\pi} \int_{0}^{\pi} \pi dt}{b}$ might be made on this Adventure, but I leave them to others, and shall only content old my felf with this small Observation, That Antiquity does not afford any Examples of the fuch a large and laborious Design as that of our Uhsser in regard of Natural History Micros I confess that Pliny treats of more Subjects, but he only glances upon them and says and but little on each, whereas Aldrovandus gather'd γ all he could meet with His Compilianovato, lation comprehends many great Volumes in Folio, but all the Glory of it (h) must not properly be attributed to him, for some Volumes appear'd after his Death, in which it is thought to he had no other share than that (C) of having given the Model, or at most some improvements. he had no other share than that (C) of having given the Model, or at most some im-I explain this in the Remarks It does not feem possible that he fee histoperfect Memoirs shou'd have made the prodigious Number of Books that Imperialis A gave a Catalogue rico of, and it is not strange that being taken up with so many searches, which require the also Pau greatest Attention, he often gave for Verses e what was most contrary to the Rules of russ The Poetry, and that he did not understand \(\zeta \) much Greek A Poet (D) who has been a strum, p

Pope prais'd him in a most ingenious manner

A L E A N D E R (Ferom) Archbishop of Brindisi and Cardinal in the XVIth Century

Alexander VI (A) desir'd to have him in his Service, and would give him to his son for a Secretary

He changed his Mind soon after, and sent him to negotiate in 3 c 91 Hungary, but Alcander happen'd to be fick at that time, and could not go from Venice P m 1227 where & kzech Sprinkern

it without being known, being very fivourable Fu colpito i fatto cad r morto, non finza suspetto cio divenisse dalla parte de suoi per vendetta d'alcune ingiurie satte loro, essindo egli per la sua securita piu temuto che amato dalla militia (i)

(A) The most excellent Artists of Europe] See here what Aubertus M raus lays on that Subject (d) Pittori cuidam ea in arte unico triginta & amplius annos Pittori cuidam ea in arte unico triginta & amplius annos annuum aureorum ducentorum stipendium persolvit Delineatores celeberrimos, Laurentium Benninum Florentinum, & Cornelium Suintum Francosustensim ari suo condunit, nec non Jacobi Ligotii Serenissimi Etturia ducis Pittoris evimii opera in hac eadim provincia Flornita quandoque usus est, ut quo maximo steri posit artiscio aves ea designarentur Tandem Sculptorem habuit insignem Christophorum Coriolanum Norimbergensem, actue iius nevoteni, qui eas adio venuste adeoque elegan-Scriptoribus facuatque cjus nepotem, qui ess adco venuste adeoque elegan-ter exsculpsicat, u non in ligno sed in ære factæ videantur not be imagin d that no body affished that Naturalist in the Expences he was at (e) The Senate of Bologna, Cardinal Montalte, I rance Maria Duke of Urbino, and some others of the enter Persons of Italy contributed joyfully to it, by supplying the Painters and the Engriver it a. Aldrovandus had under him with Money for their Maintenance——after having d dicated Iwelve Books of the Ornithologia or History of Birds to Pope Clement VIII and some others to those who had savour'd his Labour with their Liberalities, he configned the rest by his Will to the magnificent Sanate of Bologna——who assign'd a confiderable Sum of Money to John Cornelius Utervenius, Born at Delst in Holland, Prosessor in that University, and since to Tho-Holland, Professor in that University, and since to Thomas Demster a Scotch Gintleman, also Professor in the same place, to collist and cause those Books to be printed to at deserved so much to be published

(B) All the Glory of it must not be attributed to him]

It appears by the Catalogue (f) of the Books of Phylick, that most of the Volumes of the Natural It appears by the Catalogue (f) of the Books of Phylick, that most of the Volumes of the Natural History of Aldrovandus were printed after his Death I he Ornithology in Three Volumes in Folio, and the Seven Books of Insects in one Volume of the same size, are the only Books that he published. The Volume of Serpents, the three Volumes of Fourfooted Beasts, the Volume of Fishes, that of Animals that have no Blood, the History of Monsters, with the Supplements to that of Animals, in Twelve Volumes, the Treatise of Metals, and the Dendrology, carge out at several times, by the Care of different Persons since the Death of Aldrovandus In effect, the Volume of Serpents was put in order and into the Press by Bartholomew (1) Ambrosin, that of Quadrupedes with Cloven Feet was first put in order by John Cornelius Uterverius, and afterwards by Thomas Demsserus, and published by Mark Antony Bernia, and by Jerom Tamburin. That of Quadrupedes with close Feet, and that of Fishes, were prepared for the Press by Uterverius, and published by Tamburin. That of Quadrupedes with Fingers or Claws, was compiled by Ambrosia. The History of Monsters, and the Supplements were collected by mg, Bibl the same, and publish d at the Expences of Mark Antony Bernia The Dendrology is the work of Ovid Montalbanus (k)

(C) Than that of having given the model | The Abbot Galois (1) has 10 well represented the Judgment that must be made of that great Work, that I believe I must be made of that great Work, that I believe I shall do a thing acceptable to the Reader to set down what he said about it "Aldrovandue is not the Author of that Book (m), nor of immy others that were new vertheless published in his Name. But it hip— "pend to the Collection of the Natural History "whereof those Books make up a part, as to those great "Rivers that preserve the Name they had at their "Source, during all their Course, though it sast the "greatest part of the Waters they carry to the Sea "do not belong to them, but to other Rivers that "they icceive—I or because the Six still Volumes of that great Work were of Aldrovanaus, altho "the others were composed by different Authors fince his Death, yet they are deribed to him, either because it was the Continuation of his Definition, or because they made use of his Mein in fign, or because they made use of his Memori or because they had followed his Method, or par haps to the end that those last Volumes, should be " better receiv d under fuch at mous Name who have a mind to know the Plan of that Compilation, need only cast their I yes on the following Words, the Abbot Galois goes on thus 'There is "almost nothing written about those I rees but" what has been collected in that Volume I or this "Author is not contented to mention all that he read in the Naturalists concerning them, but he observes also, according to the Method of Aldrowandus, what the Historius have writ, what the Legislators have order'd, and what the Poet have "Legislators have order'd, and what the Poet have feight d about them. Moreover he explains the different uses those Trees are put to in Octono micks, in Physick, in Architecture, and in other Arts. Lastly, he speaks of the Moralities, Pro verbs, Devices, Lnigms, Theroglyphicks, and of a great many other things that concern his Sub "ject". He did not neglect to consult Mead and to take out of them what might be useful to him (x).

(D) A Poet who has been a Pope prais a h m] I in an Mapheo Barberini, or Urban VIII Here is one of the Lpigrams that he made in praise of Al roan

Multiplices rerum formas, quis pontus & e her Exhibet, & quidquid prom to abd t humus, Mins haurit, spectant oculi, dim cuntra sagair Aldobrande tuus digerit arti liber Miratur proprios folers induferia fatus Quamque tulit mol se negat of parem (1) I e Obstupet ipsa simul resum sucunda creatria, (1) dio Et cupit esse sum quod videt Artis opis elog d
There is another in Lorenzo Crasso (a) together with huom

(A) Alexander VI desir'd to have him in his 2 roice 1 tom 1 p I make use of this Expression, because the Author 1,7, 1,8

Merckli apud Ko

> renovato. ubi furpa (1) journal I earned of 10c 12th of Novemb 1668 h 97 (m) V 12

(f) Mercklinus in Lindenio renovato, P 1047

(c) Idem

bert Mi-raus de li 16 p 144

() but last, Academ des 1171 3 t

P 110

p 289 (1) Au-

(1) In patrioBononia Archygymnatio Simpl Med Piofeifor Ordinarius, Musai illuftriff Senatus Bonon & horts publici Præfeaus

(1) See Sp inhem ar birt. numim Di cit, iub ii i p a Who mas Pope Clement Bl x Pallavicini Hift (onc Trid It was in the Year 1521 y See Seckendorf Histona Lutheran I i P 149 Palavic 1 1 C 28

(1) Io

where he lived Lewis XII sent for him into France in the Year 1508, to be Professor of Philology in the University of Paris Aleander was then 28 that of Age. He enter'd into the Service of Everard de la Mark Bishop of Liege, who sent him to Rome to facilitate his Promotion to the Cardinalship against the Oppositions of France Leo X found him a Man of so good Parts, that he desired to retain him, to which the Bishop of Liege consented Aleander was at first plac'd with the Cardinal de Medicis e, whom he serv'd as a Secretary. After the Death of Accussols he was made Library-Keeper of the Vatican But the great Stage on which he began to appear with great Glory was Germany, at the beginning of the Troubles that the Reformation rais'd there He was fent thither as the Pope's Nuncio, in the Year 1519 He acted the part of an Ambassador and of a Doctor as occafion ferv'd. He spoke Three Hours successively at the Diet of Worms against the Doctor as occafrine of Luther B, but it is said that he did not report it faithfully \(\gamma\) He could not hinder Luther from being heard in that Diet, and he refus'd to dispute with him, but he obtain'd that his Books should be burnt, and that his Person should be proscrib'd, and he diew up the \mathcal{L} Edict that profcrib'd him He was the Pope's Nuncio to Francis I before Pavia in the Year 1525, and he fell into the hards $(B\Delta)$ of fome Soldiers who abus'd him He was fent a fecond time Germany in the Year 1531 where he found a confiderable Alteration, if we may believe what we are told that he write The People in the Protestant Towns had in some measure lost these Animality around the Pope have the Catholick Towns the Germany in their Animosity against the Pope, but in the Catholick Towns they shewed an extream desire to shake off the Yoke of Rome, and to enrich themselves with the Treasures of the Church, is the Protestants had done The Alteration of the latter came from this, that having hoped for a great I iberty, provided they should shake off the Pope's Yoke, they found that the Yoke of the Secular Power under which they lived was not easier Aleander did what he could to hinder Charles the Fifth from making a Truce with the Protestants of Germany, but without any Success He was created Cardinal by Paul III Protestants of Germany, but without any Success rie was created and design'd to preside in the Council with Two other a Legates. In the mean time time to the Pope's Legate in the Year 1538. That Legation continued he went into Germany as the Pope's Legate in the Year 1538 That Legation continued a Year Ilis Death happening the first day of February 1542 hinder d him from presiding in the Council Some say that he died (C) by the Ignorance of his Physician I have not mention'd all his Nunciatures Morers will supply what I have omitted Aleander (D) publish'd some Books He understood Hebrew and Greek very well

Campege, and Cardinerta

(1) Seckendort de

I uther in lipis

In Nomenelito-ndum p m ...

& m Illo

ria Po-

Lorenzo Craflo p

(d)Oldoi-

thenao

Rom mo, P 317

11 3

whom I follow reduces the thing to a meet Dewhom I follow reduces the thing to a meet De-tign that was never put in I xecution. As he speaks of it, Aleander was never actually in the Service of that wacked Pope. It it be so, all those Reselections signify nothing that were made to the disadvantage of Alexander, by Viitue of the pernicious School of Alexander VI and of Casar Borgia, wherein it is pre-tended that he was Educated. I decide nothing, and leave the Reader the trouble to examine the thing (b) Al andrum (qui prulo ante Cancellarius I codientis, & olim famoliffim Casaris illius Borgia liu Divis Vilentini Secretarius fuerat, famulus bere dignus, O pars aulæ Romanæ sub Alexandro VI) pessime d scribit l'otherus

d forbit I retherus

(B) In the Year 1508 | Pallavicini does not mention that Year, but because he says that Alcander was ient for to Paris at 2b Years of Age, I did not think my felt mistaken in it, Seeing belides, Aleander s I pit ph imports that he (c) died in the Year 1542 Aged 62 Years within 13 days. He was therefore Boin the 13th of Iebruary, 1480 | I or those that take notice of the day of his Death, (d) place it on the sissence of the Authors of his I pit ph. They say that he was boin in Carniola, in the Year 1449, and that he died it Rome in the Year 1542 being within 13 days of 62 Years. This cannot be true, except in the Supposition, that the Year 1542 being within 13 days of 62 Years. This cannot be true, except in the Supposition, that the Year 1542 begun with it. Now it is ridiculous to suppose in an Epitaph a manner of reckoning the time so desitute of Uniformity. I wonder that the Author of the Nomenclasor did not perceive that salse Supposition He says a thing that is inconsistent with Tather Pallavicini, to wit, That Aleander was but 20 Years of Ace, when he are the Hangersea. lavicini, to wit, That Aleander was but 20 Years of Age when he taught in the University of Paris

(BD) Into the lands of some Soldiers who abus d him]
Here is what we find upon this in a Letter of Jerom Nigro to Mark Antony Michieli, dited from Rome the 20th of March, 1525 (1) "The Archbishop of Capus has related to us a strange Thing of Aleander, Bishop Elect of Brindssi, and Nuncio of his Holineis to the Most Christian King Which is, "that in the greatest Fury of the Light, and in itch a Consusion as you may imagine, the poor Gentleman running away dress in a manner becoming his Episcopal State, fell into the hands of Three Spaniards, who not knowing him, forc'd him with Threits and Biavado's to set himself at 3000Ducats Ransom, and led him in that Equipage through the Camp, turning sometimes back, and (BA) Into the lands of some Soldiers who abus d him] "through the Camp, turning fometimes back, and bidding him with very sharp Words to follow

"them The frighted Bishop ran after them 14 "them The frighted Bishop ran after them like in Footman, without daring to tell them that is was an Apostolical Nuncio But being come to "Pavia he was known by the Viceroy of Naples, and by the Marquis of Pescara, who deliver d him with great Trouble and Difficulty from that Prifon and Servitude Nevertheless to be clear from his Oath he was oblig'd to give each of the abovefaid Soldiers 200 Ducats, to fatisfy them I understand he is going to Venice, he will tell you the Story of his Misfortunes

"Story of his Misfortunes
(C) Some Jay (f) that he died by the Ignorance of his Phylician] This dos are well agree with his Epitaph, which testifies that a languishing Disease contracted by the Toils of his Fmbassies, kill'd him, Mor diversis legationibus pro Jummis Pontificious adomnes fore Christianos Principes fideliter & diligenter perfuncts, & IDEO IN TABEM DELAPSO Perhaps a Pislage of Paul Jovius ill understood at first, and afterwards Metamorphos'd from hand to hand into different Senses, occasion'd what has been find of different Senses, occasion'd what has been faid of the Ignorance of Aleander's Physician However it be, we learn from Paul Joveus that Aleander ruin'd his Health by taking too much care of it, and that he was a very bad Physician to himself, for having made use of 100 many unnecessary Remedies. Letatus est en propura per annes (g) quinque, pervasurus haud dubie as exastam ætatem, nije nimia suendæ valetudins folicitudine intempessivis medicamen is, sibilarde intames or intempessivis medicamen is, sibilarde intames or intempessivis medicamen. hercle infanus & infilix medicus, Visicera corrupis-

(D) Alcander published some Works] Mr dela Rochepoza; (a) gives me a new Renson to complain of his Carelesses. He says that Aleander though very capable to treat the most sublime Subjects, have not distained to write on Human Learning, and to not distained to write on Human Learning, and to not distained to write on Human Learning. publish some small Pieces the Subject whereor was very inconfiderable, (b) De re -– literar a licet very inconfiderable, (b) De re literar a licet inferiori bene mereri non dedignatus et erolis argumen'i operulis editis, que tamen autoris famam nec elevant neque inminutum eunt lody that ieads this will expect to find nothing sole intile Books in the Catalogue of Aleander Waits, that follows those Words of the Nomenclass Yet the next Words run thus. Words run thus Scripsit vasium opus adversus singu-los discipl narum professores, in quos censuram accresus & felicem exercuit calamum Tabulas in Grammaticam O felisem exercuit catamum Tabutas in Grammaticam in im Gracam, seu potius Grammaticam ad literas Gracas ticle Dialogos duos festivissimos (c), quorum alter Cicero relega-tus inferibitur, alter vero Cicero revocatus Carmina quadam illustrium poetarum Italorum carminibus indita Episvlas multas quarum 4 habes inter opistolas Federici Sano

(f) See ment of th Poets, t , n 1 73 P 194 (g) It Should be concluded that he was made a Cardinil in 1537 (h) Paulus Jovius elog c 98 P 231
(a) Bifting of Profin tions, who Mumen-Cardinalıum menclator Cardinal P 131

(c) I fac= in the Ar. ticle Lando (Hortenlio) that this

(c) Letters Is an Rated ay Belle ioret, fol and they attribute (E) a surprizing Memory to him. I do not believe there was any reason to say that the Hebrew was his Mother-Tongue, or, to express my self more plainly, (F) that he was born a Jew There was more reason to accuse him a of being Passionate. He made his own Epitaph (G), which shews that he was not angry

a See the end of the Reriail

(k) It 1

Isid in la Epitapo

ail indid c Comit

dri in Cuma

l eti a pi

Hatti

(1) Omnem addiligenti-am, omne

idhibebo ftudium.

con char-

que, ut qui turo-ie, amen-

tia & inia

gravis icquitate

ceffifti.

Vita 111a-

nis hine efferaris

Neque e

nım ex-spetta dum adhuc tibi los docto-rum hic

virorum fed futurum cietium gla

dus confodiare

Hutten

ın Ale-

(w) Id

(1) Lib Forth 8 ad Nau

rus feri;

tarum pag 353

Suppli-

ment come frem Mr

Monnoi

de la andı

abid (u) Jovius ubi fupr omnia

lof

L an-

Nausca, & alias in quibus de rebus Ecclessasticis agis Annotationes item quassam in Bibliotheca Cardinalus Sirleti asservatas. If the Reader is offended to see a great and immense Work where he expected to find but a small Differtation, he does not lose that disgust when he finds no Note in the Catalogue of the Writings of a Man, that makes a distinction between what is Privated and what is not. This is a defast what is Printed, and what is not This is a defect that prevails in the Nomenclator, in the Athenaum of Oldoini, and in feveral other Bibliographers Aleander's great Work, wherein he censured all forts of Professors was never Printed It is said (d) that he was simishing it when he died This swat Morer; meant by these Words, He died the first of February 1542 when he was going to Publish a considerable Work Paul Jouins has been the Original of many Writers upon this point Quum vastum, says he, (e) opus vasta illa memoria adversus singulos disciplinarum professores agitaret, Rome interit The Continuators of Gester and Konig knew only the Tables of the Greek Grammar among Aleanders Works Draudius did not know so much The Catalogue of Oxford contains but a small Poem of that Author Poem of that Author (E) They attribute a surprixing Memory to him I I can only take what Paul Jovius said of it as a Poetick Sally, tho' he said it in Prose Which is that Aleander iemember'd all that he read, and that he could recite it a long time after, without mistaking in Things or in a long time after, without miltaking in Things or in Words (f) Ditur hoc incomparabili inustiate memorie felicitati que in Hieronymo Alcandro supra cujusque vel antiqui sceuli captum admiranter excelluit, ut ejus en vero depitta facies vel in pudenda ingenii sterilitate inter facundissimas imagines conspiciatur, quando nihil eum cunsta volumina cupide perlegentem vel rerum vel verbocunita volumina cupide perlegentem vel rerum vel verbo-rum omnino subterfugerit, quin singula memoriter vel à multis annis longo sepulta silentio recitaret. It is hard to believe this without seeing it but as a Memory does not cease to be very good, although it does not come to the degree that Paul Javius mentions, I do not question the perfect Knowledge of divers Lan-guages that alegador's sinceph appropriate so have guages that Alcander's Epitaph attributes to him, Hebraica, Graca, Latina, aliquotque aliarum linguarum exoticarum ita exaste dosto, ut cas reste & apte loqueretur

6 Scriberes

(F) That there was any reason to say _____ That he was born a Jew] Luther and his Disciples gave it out for a certain truth during Aleander's first Nunciature in Germany, and here is what we read in (g) Luther's Works Venit his diebus Hieronymus Aleander vir sua opinione longe maximus non folum proprer linguas quas eximic callet, siquidem Ebraa illi vernacula est, Graca à pue-ro illi cealuit, Latinam autem didicit diutina professione, sed etiam mirabilis suis videtur ob antiquitatem generis Nam Judeu natus est, que gens immodice gloriatur de Alvahem vesustissimo se originem ducere An vero bap-tisatus sit nescisur Certum est cum non esse Pheniseum, quia non credit resurrection mortuorum, quoniam vivit perinde atque cum corpore sit totus periturus, adeo nullum à se pravum affectum abstinces. Usque ad insaniam ira-cundus est, quavis occasione surens. Impotentis arrogancundus est, quavis occasione furens Impotentis arrogan-tia, avaritia inexplebilis, nefandalibidinis & immodica, fummum gloriæ mancipium, quamquam mollior quam qui possit elaborato (h) stylo gloriam parare, & pejor quam qui vel conetur in argumento honesto. At ne nesciamus, cessit felicissime simulata desettio ad Christianos. This Picture does not only represent Aleander as a Jew who would feem to be a Christian, and whose Baptism was doubtful, but also as a Man who did not believe the Immortality of the Soul, and who plung'd himself into the most infamous Pleasures, as a Man furiously Passionate, Covetous, and Proud to the highest degree He answer'd the Accusation to the highest degree He answer'd the Accusation of being born a few, and declar'd before the Diet of Worms, that his Ancestors had the Dignity of Marquis in Ifria, and that he had given good Proofs of his Noble and Illustrious Extraction when he was made Canon of Liege He took divers Perions to witness who heard him, and knew his Family Mr Seckendorf informs us of this Particular He found it in the Archives of the Duke of Weimar, where the Acts of the Diet of Worms are kept among other Manuscripts of that time Aleander's long Speech is abbreviated in those Acts, and it is from thence that that illustrious Lutheran took the following Words which he has translated into Latin (1) "Tandem queftus eft à Liutero spargs quaft

Aleander gente Judous effet Deum immortalem dizze, multi hie funt boni viri quibus notus fum ego & familia mea, & afferere ego veie poi fum fum, majores meos Marchiones (k) in Istria fuisse quod vero parentes mei ad inopiam redacti iunt, tato tribui debet. Natales meos ita legiti mavi ut in Canonicum Leodiensem receptus sim, quod factum non foret, nisi ortus essem ex tami-lia illustri vel spectabili." That which makes me That which makes me believe that this Reproach of a Jewish Birth was unjust, is no small teason Hulric Hutten publish d an Investive against Aleander, wherein he was so Angry that he threaten d to kill him (1). He was not ignorant that that Nuncio had rejuted the Re proach of Judassm before the Diet, and had bousted to be descended from a most illustrious I unity, but he is so far from engaging himself to maintain that Reproach, that he denies that it was made him It does not concern me whether he was in the wrong to deny it or not, the proof I draw from his filence is not the worse for it, for if he had icen any ground for that Accusation, he would at least have maintain d that Aleander denied his Jewish Latraction fally Does he not maintain that the Counts to whom he said he was related, did not acknowledge him for their Kinfman? Nihil intillexifti proxima auditione cum multisquidem excusares judaicam originem, nemo objiceret Nam esse malum qua unque etiam gente edi-tum sciebant omnes Itaque nemo magnopere putabat ge-neris pravitatem tibi objiciendam adversum mores fre-mebant infense multi Et poterat sentiri jam manisesse qua effet animorum commotio tu tamen quali illic po-tissimum expurgatione opus esfet, multis trattabas locum eum ad fastidium usque audientium sed tanta cum si lu-cia ut plane certus tibi isse videreris neminem intelligire, quam impudenter ibi mentireris omnia Illo en m post multa erupisti, ut ad nobilist Comitum qui te penitus igno ant, & quos iu haud satis nosti, genus, originem tuam reserves (m) Now as the least thing that passes from Mouth to Mouth becomes at last considerable, I would not deny that the Slander that was spread against that Nuncio, was grounded upon what Paul Jovius fays, that the Jews admir'd Aleander's Skill in the Hebrew Fongue, and that they were much inclin'd to believe that he was of their Nation (n), Lating Gracaque litera quum sape alacriter jastabundo pro vernaculis haberentur, Hebrai as admirantibus sudais & sua stirpis eum facile credentibus solertissime didicit. Those that shall endeavour to criticize me, are desired to observe that I do not pretend that Paul Jovius's Book occasion'd that Slander, my meaning is, that others might have said that before Paul jovius said to is, that others might have faid that before Paul Jovius faid it

"What Luther says, that Alcander was very Chole"rick is very true We may believe Josse Gentin,
"that Cardinal's Secretary in a Letter (1) to Nau"fea Bishop of Vienna He tells him with the greatest Simplicity, after having inform'd him of the "Death of Aleander, that he knows not where to "go after the Death of his Master, for fear of finding one more Passionate still Hattenus, says he, alium Mecenatem Roma non quasivi, eo quod in"modestia & furor hujus mei dessund; inculcat miss simorem ne faciam Glauci cum Diom-de permutationem morem ne faciam Glauci cum Diomede permutationem

See the Remark (p)

(G) His Epitaph, which shews] It consists in two

Greek Verses, importing that he died willingly, because he should cease to be a Witness of many Things, the fight whereof was more unfufferable than Death

Κατθανον εκ αεκων, δη παί στριαι αν δημιαρτυς Πορρών, ώνσε εδείν αλ ,ιον ην θανατέ This would be the Disposition of all Men, if Re- (q) Inte flection, Reason and Sense were capable to surmount rist fato the machinal Impressions that make us love Life suoveling assistant profound Morality, I say it is very strange that Paul Jevius should produce such a formal Witness against himself as that Epitaph He had said that Aleander, angry with his Fate (q) that took him away before his climasterical Year, died complaining of that Anticipation, and immediate climasterical.

fuo vehe indignatus, quum mactericum inter anxia supremaque suspiria quereretur tovius. ubi supra Fu assalto in Roma dalla morte contro la quile monstrossi anche negli ultimi sospiri sdegnato Lor Grasso ubi Supra Y a

(d) Mentre andava compiendo una va-Hillima Opera contra 1 Profestori di tutte le fcienze,fu Roma dalla morte Lor Craffo Istor de Poeti Greci pag 277 (c) Jovius ın elog cap 98 pag 231 (f) Idub

pag 230

(g) Tom 1 fol 496 apud Seckendorf de Luther 1 r P 125

(b) Paul Jovius Says that Aleander learn'd only to Speak well, and that when bout to write, he perceived bis weak jide too late

(1) Sec kend ubi fupra, P1g 149

diate v

ALEANDER.

172 a Habet fratrem pernicio-fiorem quod omre, id quod non Fraim ep p 1/11 B 1b y are distanguisht by the Names of Aleander and Ale-under Ju-

(n) Ibid P 78

tracus lib

17 fol 458 1 -lares et apud Seckendorf I

r p 1.8 lit b

(c) I rafm

epift 4

intle 4th

16 -51h

Book,

(d) IJ

with his Fate, as he has been accus'd of it. Erasmus (H) mentions the frem in his I etters a, and speaks ill of him most times. He complains among other mings of the rll Offices he had done him with the Bishop of Liege, with whom Aleander had a 8 Brother who was a much greater Master than he in the Art of Dissembling

A L E A N D E R (Jerom) of the same Family as the foregoing, and Grandson of Jerom Amaltheus by his Mother's side, was one of the Learned Men of the seventeenth ma potest Century As soon as he had lest Frioul, his Native Country, to go to Rome, he was dissimulated in made Secretary to Cardinal Octavio Bandini, which place he exercised Honourably near re, id quod non Twenty Years He begun betimes to undergo the hazard of appearing in Print, for porest A- he had scarce taken his degree of Civilian, before he published a Commentary on the leander Institutes of Casus He did not suffer his Pen to be idle at Rome, for being one of the first training that was admitted into the rising Academy of the Humorists, he had always some Composure to shew them, and made also a very learned Treatise in Italian, on the Device of that Assembly. The fertility of his Genius, and of his Studies, appear'd by several Writings

dirtely after he adds, that Aleander order'd by his Will that a Greek Distich of his own making, should be put in his Lpitaph containing this Thought Excessi e vita erumnis facilisque lubenjque,

Ne pejora ipla morte debine videam He foretells, fivs Paul jouins, new Misfortunes ready to fell on our fleads, novas clades imminere nobis ominato, but nothing is more falle than that Ale-anair lookt upon the time to come only by Acci-dent, ill his Thoughts were bent on what was past, he only fancied that the time to come would not be better in this World So that here is a fecond Lrne only fancied that the time to come would not be better in this World So that here is a fecond Lerror of I and Journ As to the first, he cannot be justified without being moreover charg'd with an horible Slander, which is to have represented Aleander as a dying Cheat, who order'd by his Will that all Posterity should be made to believe a great Falsity to with that he did not div now all only. ty to wit, that he did not die unwillingly Crass (a) tays, that Scraderus inferted the Sepulcral Inscription of Alcandor, in his Monuments of Italy, with the I atin Translation of the two Grack Verses I hat Translation is the same that Piul Jovius mentions, it is but little work than this (b) Non invitus ohi, qui qui el, test s mi torum que videre pejus est mor This is what People get by making use of a mor I his is what People get by making use of a Language that is but little known, all the force and grace of the Greek Distich have escap'd the Transla-

Let us put a Remark here that was communicated to me by a learned Person Josse Gentin says in his Letter to Nausen, that Aleander having set all things in order three days before he deed, fervitoribus & alis præfentibus pionunciavit suum quod sieri cupiebat epi-taphium, quod soc disticho chusit xur Sarov, & c Tii shens that the Lpi aph did not consist altogether in tiof two lerfes, but that they were only the conclusion of the Friends 1 am not of that Opinion I believe General meant that his Master shut up in that Di-stich all the Inscription that should be put on his Tomb (H) Mertions him often in his Letters, and speaks ill of him most times] Aleander being initurally siery, and being moreover concern d in the ruin of Lutherabeing moreover milm by his Quality of Nuncio fent into Germany to fliffe that Pury in its Birth, could not fuffer the Moderation of Erssmus I his was not all, Erasmus s I nemies did not cease to detame him as a favourer of Lutheranism Thus the reciprocal Friendship and Lifeem that was between him and the Nuncio, fuf-fer d a great diminution it Aleander's first coming into German, (i) Hieronymum Alcandrum Nuncium apostolicum hominim apprime dollum, mihique wetere ac jucund ssima necessiturine conjunctum, miris mendaciis in mum me sonati sunt iristare Quid multis? persuase-Nam ipse rant hom ni, ut acri simplie que ingenio pradito, ita cre-Leodien dulo, m parum amice de 1910 Co sentire Co loqui Nec desuevunt que co descentem amiertiam novois subinde dela-t onibus disconterent. This is to speak very weakly of Aleanuer's ill Dispositions, if it be true, as it is but Intele to be question d, that it is he who is denoted elsewhere (d) by the Title of Bearer of Bulls, βπιαιαποφόρ , for that Bearer of Bulls did his utmost endeavours to ruin Erasmus, and it was well for the litter that the Linperor would not do all that he defin d of him, Me quo minus oppressers per illum non state periorat Erasmus si pronas aures Prin ipum reporte A letter (c) that Erasmus hid writ to Lutir and which the Friends of the latter had made publick, example ited Aleander to that degree, that he endeavour'd to rum his ancient Friend both with the Pope and with the Bishop of Liege. He affected to say that the Hereticks had found the Foundation of all their false Doctrines in Erosmus & Works (f)

Jam audio multis persuasum empersus priptis extitissi toam hanc ecclesia procellam Camb manisimi rumoris pracipuut auter fuit Hieronymus Aleander, homo, ut nihil aliud dicam, non superstitisse verax He did not only find fault with Erasmus Religion, but he reslected This appears by a Letter (g) that Erasmus writ to him in the Year 1524 wherein he discharges his Heart IIe lookt upon him as such an angry Lnemy, that he took him for one of the chief Promoters of the Censures that the Sorbonne had publish agunst his Books, and for the true Author of the Invective that run under the name of Julius Casur Scaliger Non (h) tamen crant proditure Censure nist quidam oleun camino addidistint Lutetie su t Eccius, & ut suspicor Aleander, quem suspicor hac ae causa precipue venisse, ut Erastro moliatur caitium Julii Scaligeri libellum tam scio illius esse quam scio me vieve id tamen dissimulandum est, ne magis insaniat prodito suco I have shewed essewhere (1) that Erastrome was mustaken about this last light. mus was mistaken about this last back, Scaliger's Oration was the Work of him whose Name it bears, and to fay that in the Year 1531, Alcander went to Paris chiefly to contrive Erasmus s ruin, 15 to think one s selt too considerable a Man, and to be ignorant of the nature of the Employments that the Pope gave to that Nuncio We shall see (k) elsewhere, whether to that Nuncio We shall see (k) elsewhere, whether Erasmus had reason to attribute a Book that bore the name of Doles to Alcanaer He meant that Nuncio in the 24th Letter of the 25th Book Aleander's Passion must therefore have been extream, for he whom Erasmus complains of, had dispersed a (1) Writing at the Court of Rome, wherein he told the Pope, that he worder'd that so many thousands Men having perish'd in Germany in the War of of Men having petished in Germany in the War of the Peasants, Erasmus the Author of that furious Tumult was yet living. We cannot be ignorant who the Author is that Erasmus denotes, feeing we find these Words in another Letter (m). In me impudentissimis arguments causam agis (Albertus Pius). Or agis hostiliser, docere laborans, me suisse occasionem, causam, autorem or principem toisus hujus negotis. Quod idem agis Aleander in suo Racha, dem rans me adhu surare, quum in Germania tes homisuum millia sint tru form agir Aleander in Juo Racha, dem rans me adhu spirare, quum in Geimania tot hominum millia sint trucidata. In another place he (n) denotes him under the name of Verpus, which shews that he believed still that Aleander was born a Jew If Aleander made that Book, he had a very strict Correspondence with Erasmus, the same Table, the same Chamber, and also the same Bed with him, and had also received good Offices from him, for hera in also received good Offices from him, for here is what Erasmus tells us (0) Cum altero suit milis olim non tessum modo ac mensa, verum etiam cubiculum & lessus teltum modo ac mensa, verum etiam cubiculum o lectus Manuel, (p) communis adeoque d me nulla lasus est injuria, ut quum illi res essent angustioies, commendatricibus literia meis nonnihil etiam adjutus sit, nei usquam illius sit The scriptis meis nis konorisca mensio. We must need 8th Letunderstand this of elegander, when we remember are understand this of Aleander, when we remember another Letter (9) wherein we find these Words of video, tibi propernodum persuasti (Aleander), at ego qui e domestico convistu ac lessus quoque contabernio totum intus or in cute novi, tam scio est in ilius, qui m siio me vivere Let us end the Evantageous Relation with a Passage that concerns aleander's Moials If we believe Erasmus, he liv'd at Venice like an Epicurean in the Year 1523 Nunc (1) Venetic plane If we believe Erasmus, he is a at venice like an Lyinger's curean in the Year 1533 Nunc (s) Venetia plane Oration vivit Epicurcum, non sine dignitate tames. Doubtless (s) Epist he means by that Dignity the doubte Mitre, which 62 1 30 he had mention'd in the 60th Letter Alcandents of P 1949 gemina mitra infignitus, nam Brundusinus & Online off, apud Casarem agit legatum inglicum Word is equivocal, and perhaps Erasmus has not Writ Anglieum but Angelieum, to denote the Office 53d of the 18th Book (b) Id ep 1 30 Remark M of the Armus. Ibid (/) In quo docebar quid fig-Hebrais racha epist 99 lib 20 D 1052 from Basil, the 22 do 1528 (n) In the 44th Letter of the 30th Book 1931 74thLester of the Same Rosk (o) Lpiff 24 1 25 P 1379 (p) I w obablı at Venice wher Erai. work a. Aldus ter of the 30th Book mus,  1944 P 1949 (1) Epilk

1379 () Hrc dedit anfim Aledeni miquo in ut me perditt m iret cor atus I coms m mum 11me fimul I codienfist pifcoprius pene depeiti loquar ın Fı ilfis oftenliteras quis id eum c Roma 1ci ipferat

Aleander

fatis odio-

fe me attingentes Id epift

113 1 19

P 949 (f) Id cp

84 1 20

A L E A N D E R. A L E G A M B E.

Writings of different Subjects. He explain'd (A) some Anticks, he writ on the Question of the subjects. He explain'd (A) some Anticks, he writ on the Question of the subjects, and publish'd a Book against that which in a Anonymous Author had compos'd on that Subject, in savour of the Prote-aries lants. A Volume of his Verses was publish'd, and was followed by an Apology or the Adonis of the Cavalier Marini, against the hard Attacks of the Cavalier Itiliani. Urban VIII. express'd his Esteem for him advantageously; for he labour described to the Service of Cardinal Randing, to say him in that of the Barberini's o get him out of the Service of Cardinal Bandini, to fix him in that of the Barberini's o that Aleander became Secretary to Cardinal Francis Barberini, the Pope's Neshew He went with that Caidinal into France, when he was fent thither with he Character of Legate a latere He did not fink under the Fatigues of that long he Character of Legate a latere He did not fink under the Fatigues of that long ourney, but he bore them courageously, notwithstanding the weakness of his Temper and his want of Health He had not the same force in regard of good Cheer He had agreed with some of his intimate I tiends, to treat one another every three Days by turns Seeing so many good Messes, he could not sorbear to cat more than he ought, considering his weak Stomach, so that he fell Sick, and could not recover of his Illness B The Cardinal, his Master, B Mr made him a magnificent Funeral in the Academy of the Humorists, and his Bressellet, thren the Academists carry'd his Body to the Grave y Gaspar de Simeonibus shade on spoke the Funeral Oration there, the 31st of December 1631. It was printed at Paris in the Year 1636. Aleander had such a (B) neat and siee way of Writting, that the Compliment one of his Friends made him upon it, deserves a in his Dianalium Bi-Reflection

A L E G A M B L (Philip) a Flimish Jesuit, was born at Brussels the 22d ogr of fanuar, 1592 He studied Classical Learning in his own Country, after pag 40 which he went into Spain, and enterd into the Duke of Ossura's House, whom place his which he went into Spain, and enterd into the Duke of Office whom place his he followed into Sicily when he went to exercise the Office of Viceroy there death in Finding a Call to a Religious Life within himself, he took the Habit of a the year Jesuit at Palermo the 7th day of September 1613. He performed his Noviciate and his Witte Course of Philosophy in the same City, and his Studies of Divinity at Rome, calls him from whence he was sent into Stiria to teach Philosophy at Gratz. Having discharged the Duties of that Function to the satisfaction of his Masters, he was and solemply promoted to the Doctorshy and solemply promoted to th made Professor of School-Divinity, and solemnly promoted to the Doctorship in from Nicithe Year 1629 During those Transactions the Prince of Eggemberg, Tavourite of us Erythe Emperor Ferdinand II had a mind to fend his Son to Travel, and to give thraus him a prudent and learned Jesuit to be his Confessor in his Travels Father Alegambe was 1 Sec a thought fit for that Employ, so he was taken out of the Schools to travel with Allatius that young Lord He was five Years with him, and saw Germany, France, Spain, in Apibus Portugal and Italy Being return'd to Gratz he taught Moral Divinity there, and was the spiritual Father of the Youth In the Year 1638 the young Prince whom he had accompanied in his Travels, was nominated by the Emperor Ferdinand III, for the Embassy of Obedience to Pope Urban VIII He would have Father Alegambe with him, and so that Jesust travelld to Rome in the Quality of the Ambassador's Confessor When that Function was over, the General of the Jesust retained him to be his Secretary of the Latin Dispatches that concern'd Germany Alegambe having perform'd the Duties of that laborious I unction Four Years successively, was obligd to leave it, because the continual application to Writing weakened his Sight too much I hen they gave him the Presecture of spiritual Things, and the Office of Consessing in the Church, of which it is said he acquitted himself admirably

11um Bi-

(a) Mr very right, that Anwas put,

pag 814 (c) It was of Apostolical Nuncio, which Aleander had at that de la time in Germany However, it had not been amis Monnoie to Advertise in a marginal Note, that he was not has guest d the King of England's Ambassador to the Emperor very right, Charles V for the Readers will understand it so

See the Margin (a)
The Reader must at least see a Passage of Frasmus to the advantage of Aleander Etiamsi (b) nominasses issum, qui Aleandrum Erasmo prasert in omnibus, nihil

Examus

Leandro presertim in literi, puto si doctior est, quam quod ditior

Absorbia

The I etter wherein Erasmus speaks thus, is the 3 ith of August 1524

(A) He explain d some Ansieks] They were two

Apostosic

Anibles, a Table and a Statue The Table contain d the Figure and the Symbols of the Sun, the Statue was surrounded with a Girdle full of Carvings This is the Title of that Work of Aleander,

This is in Quarte, printed in the Year Vings I have the Title of that Work of Alcander, Explicatio authority figillorum zona veterem fiatuam marmorea vingularis. It is in Quareo, printed at Rome in the Year 1016 and at Paris in the Year 1617 I do not question but that he came to be ac-(c) It was 1617 I do not question but that he came to be acPrin ed at quanted with Father Morin by that means It apLordo 1

In 1682 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1682 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1683 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1682 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1683 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1682 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1683 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1683 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1684 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1685 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1684 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1685 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1686 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1687 the Book entitled Ecclesiae (c) Orientalisantiin 1688 the Boo

Writers that pretend to Floquence, I find my self ver, Ignorant, for I understand nothing in them. How few Latin Authors are there at present, to whom this Compliment may be made! I do not speak of those that write in a Chancery or in a Scholastick Style, but of those who write like Orators, and who labour their Phrases They are only fit most times to mortifie the Presumption of their Readers, who find themselves at every moment stopt by some Allusion, or by some Metaphor so consusedly express, that they are altogether in the dark. The worst of all is, that the Readers are seldom mostified by that means, feeing Self love prompts them not to lay the cause of those Obscurities on their Ignorance, but on the Nonsense of the Author However it be, I fancy the Reader will be glad to fee Nicius Erythraus's Thought in its Original (d) Scribendi ejusdem ratio tum in soluta oratione tum in versibus adeo erat pura, adeo perspicua, ut sepe ex me audiret tum demum me mihimet doctum eruditumque videri, cum sua legerem, cum autem in aliorum scripta qui se eloquentes dici vellent incurrerem, tum plane me que se eloquentes dici vellent incurrerem, omn production omnium que verum rudem agnoscere, eo quod verindostum omnium que verum rudem liserem. This ought (i) Section bum profus in illis nulum int ligerem. This ought (c) Section to have been a powerful Motive for him, not to leave any Obscurities in his Elogies, and yet they are not altogether free from it. Some (e) do not learned find that he average clearly in the second clear in the sec are not altogether free from it some (e) do not from the find that he express clearly, whether it was it Rome on the or at Paris that good Cheer was fatal to Aleander, Poets, they believe it was at Paris As for me, I do not tom 4 question the contrary; the agreement of Treating in 1420 one pag 54

(d) Nic Pinacoth 1 p 46

a. Taken from So-tuel, Bique of the Writers of the Society 1675 pag 706 707 B Sotuel well. He died at Rome of a Dropsy the 6th day of September 165a. a He did not (A) write many Books, and yet he deserves the Elogy of a very good Author; for the Bibliotheque of the Writers of his Order is a good Book in its kind, and excels by much all the Works of that nature that were made till that time. He must needs have taken a great deal of Pains to gather the Materials; this requires two Talents that are feldom to be found together, a great Patience, and a great Ardour. He was obliged afterwards to put those Materials in order, and that was the most laborious part of his Work, because a Man is no longer supported by the eagerness wherewith he seeks the Materials that he wants It was at Rome & that Alegambe composed the Bibliotheque, for which he had Collected so many Memoirs, and it was Printed at Antwerp in the Year 1643. He enlarged so much the Book which the Jesuit (B) Ribadeneira had begun on that Subject, that whereas the Work of the latter is but a very small Ottavo, his is a pretty large Folio I shall mention in the Remarks what has been (C) said for or against it. He was thinking of a new Edition, and during the Nine Years that he outliv'd the sirst, he Collected many Things that might serve for Corrections or Additions. Father Societ made use of them, he publish'd a New Edition of that Bibliotheque at Rome in the Year 1675 γ It cannot be denied that there are many mean Authors in that Book, and many Authors of the first Rank But some Persons pretend that if it be continued, there (c) Baillet, will be a very sensible Disproportion in it, that is to say, great Men will be incompa- Judgmen rably more rare in the Continuation, than in what has hitherto appear'd. This gives Learned. This gives Learned, one another two or three times a Week by turns, more like People that are quiet at Home, than Irwellers Beides, the Journey which the Legate Francis Barberms made into France in the Year 1625 lasted but few Months, and Aleander did not die till the Year 1631

(A) H did not write many Books] These are all the Books that he writ, according to Father Sociel Biblioca scriptorum soc e atis fesu, Antwerpiæ 1643 in Fokoma 1649 in 12° Heroes & Within charitatis Societic felu, Roma 1658 in 4to Mortes illustres & gesta corum de Societate Jesu qui in odium fides ab Hareties

(B) The Book which the Jefus Ribadeneira had begun in this Subject] Fo the end that the Reader who dewhich we iperk, may not have the trouble to turn to another Volume, I shall say here that Peter Ribadenina begun in the Year 160, the Catalogue of the Jesuits who have wire Books That Catalogue of the Jesuits who have writ Books That Catalogue contain'd but few Sheets, he enlarg'd it since, and published it at Animorp in the Year 1608 It was Printed at Lyons the Year following with some Additions and Corrections about some Things that were not well known to the Author, concerning the Finch Jesuits Father fulius Nigrons percesv'd that that Work stood in need of being mended in many other places, chiefly with respect to the Italian Je-suits, so that a New Edition was made in the Year 1613 at Animers Father Andrew School took care of and it was confiderably enlarged (a) but it was ftill a very detective Work, which was the reason why alegambe undertook to put it in a better Condition, and to make it more fit to give an advantageous Opinion of the Erudition of the Society He publisht it in the Year 1643 It was yet much enlarged by the Jeiuit soquel, whose Edition was publisht at Rome in the Year 1675 and doubtless it must be enlarged again, both because the Society of the be enlarged again, both because the Society of the Jesuits affords new Authors continually, and because many Things escaped the last Continuator that might make the Bibliotheque of the Order more perfect. The second (b) Tome of the Roman Bibliotheque informs us, that the Jesuit Bonannus is writing the Catalogue of the Writers of his Society, who have publish any thing since the Year 1675. The exactness of Alegambi is doubtless wonderful; but yet there are still some Faults and some Omissions in his Book. He did not always mention the ons in his Book He did not always mention the first Edition of Books, which is a considerable Fault to be found in all the Compilations that have been made hitherto No body has yet thought to publish an exact Collection of all the Editions, and carefully to observe the first Gesuer and his Continuatois hive been very negligent in that respect Fa-thei Societ being willing to avoid the minute Parti-culars on which Aligambe does sometimes enlarge a little too much, is too short and too barren lie was not so well qualified for this Work as Alexambe. The Curious, and even those who excuse him on the Orders that he might have receiv'd from his Superiors, in relation to the Anonymous, or Pieudonymous Writers, place his Work in that respect much below the foregoing, wherein we find the (d) Pixf Discovery of so many hidden Writers

(c) When so we have the foregoing, wherein we find the Biblioth

(G) What has been said for or against it Mr Bail- Script let will supply us wherewith to comment the Hispan Text of this Remark Let us begin with the fair (e) In /u/2 fide all those of that Nature, and that it ought to be considered as one of the most perfect of that kind. That acdemns coording (d) to Nicolas Antonio, the Jesuits have those who shewed by that Work how Curious and Industrious they are conare in the Things that concern them, and that having terred to built on the Foundations of Ribadeneita, they rais'd that express a great Edifice, the Beauty whereof consists particularly in Man's the exactiness and proportion of its Parts, and whereof all Qualities the Glory is due to Alegambe, a Writer so sure and so in fine exact, that one needs not fear of being deceived by him, Phrases, because he is not only free from Consuston, and never takes with one Author for another, but also because he does not attribute any Books to the sesuits which they have not made, tiec of his and because he is exact and faithful in representing those Country, that truly come from the Society. Mr Bailles adds that Family, it is no mean Praise—to have avoided a Fault and Emit is no mean Praise—to have avoided a Fauls and Em-with so much care, which most of the other Regulars, ployments, who have given an Account of the illustrious Men of their and where Order, who thinking to do Honour to their Commonal- h. fay, ties, are guilty of, by increasing the number of their That one Learned Men and Saints indifferently and without choice, cannot have plac'd a great many Authors among their Brethren read the that did not belong to them, whereas there is scarce one to Lives of be seen in the Bibliotheque of the Society that has not several been a Jesus Nay, that the Wisters who lest their Roman Society, as Papyrius Masso, Gaspar Scioppius, Mark Linpe-Antony de Dominis, Christian Francken, & do not 10rs, appear in it Or that if they are seen there, it is on- without appear in it. Or that if they are seen there, it is only in relation to the Books that preceded their going away, that in that manner we find there Francis de Macedo a Portuguese, who from a Jesus became a Cordelier, and Claudius Dausquey a Heming, who less the out comsociety for a Canenship at Tournay Lastly Mr Baillet observes that according to the Author (s) of the

of the News from the Republick of Learning, Alegambe "did Careles."
"very well observe the Taste of our Age, that is, of of all Persons of good Sense, that this Faste confishs in observing a Chronological Exactness in all that concerns History, that it is this which occamention foon'd the Approbation that was given to the neither fion'd the Approbation that was given to the neither Praises bestowed upon Alegambe, who takes no-tice every where of the Time and Place of the where Birth of the Authors, the Age when they became they Jesuits, their Employments and their chief Actions according to the Series of Time, and that born, nor this Order has I know not what that pleases extreamly Lastly, continues Mr Baillet (f), as the mily, nor Society of the Jesuits has been hitherto the most their Age, Learned of all Regular Societies, that is to say at nor by least the most abundant in all forts of Writers what (except on Physick)—we ought to judge means thereby of the advantage that may be drawn from they raisten, without any affectation of a particular Style, felves and without too far-fetch'd Ornaments—

(f) Baillet dispos'd in a very fine Method, and embellisht ibid

(a) Ix prætit A legim

(b) Printed · Rome IN 169 4) di Nam 1 Protper Mandome tom 2 II II II Biblioth (f) Baillet

with pag 137

me an Opposition to communicate to the publick what pass'd(D) in a Conversation of some tearned priors in the Year 1697.

A L E S I Line (Alenander) a famous Divine of the Consession of Augsburg, and Author of a divers Books, was born at Edinburg in Sciented the 23d of April, 1500 He made admirable Progresses in School Divinity; and he entred early into the Lists against Luther. It was at that time the Controversy in fashion, and the great Field of Remark Battel wherein young and old Authors endeavour'd to give Proofs of their Merit. He Add has share a little while after in the verbal Dispute that Patrick'(A) Hamilton maintained against the Ecclesiasticks, about the new Doctrine that he had relish'd at Marpurg. He endeavour'd to bring him back to the Catholick Religion, but could gain nothing upon him, and he himself begun to doubt of his own Religion by that Gentleman's Discourse, but much more by the Constancy he shewed on the Wood-pile, where David Beton Archbishop of St Andrews caused him to be burnt. The doubts of our Alesius would perhaps have had no Consequence, if they had let him quietly enjoy the Canonship that he possess in the Metropolitan Church of St. Andrews, but he was persecuted

"with a very great Number of laborious and use"ful Tables" Let us now proceed to the Imper-

(c) id ib. pag. 13.

(:) Id 1b P 135

Remark (

fections of that Bibliotheque

Mr Baillet fays, that (g) " as the most perfect Bo" dies are not always free from Spots and Defects, "when their Beauty confifts only in the Stature and "Proportion of the Parts, it will be no surprize to hear that this fine Bibliotheque has met with its "Censors as well as others, that some think to have " found in it a little of that Love for the Society, that moves one commonly to represent the Writers only on the fair side, that they add, that in estect there is nothing to be seen in that great Volume but "Llogies, and that in such a great number of "Authors and Books it does not appear that Alegambe and Setuel acknowledge one that is bad, except it "be perhaps those who have been put into the In"quistion, or into the Index, that others have observed, that there is scarce one Writer in all that "Eibliotheque, that is not represented to us as a Saint It is the that reasonable Persons sught to be satisfaction." If is 'rue that reasonable revious sugar to be latinis find to see a solemn Protestation at the beginning and at it is end of the Book, that he does not pretend to "warrant what is faid of the Holiness and Vir"tues that are attributed to his Brethren, nor to "make good the other Encomiums that are bestowed
"the protestation in the secondary to Mr. upon them " It is more diffiult according to Mr Baillet, "(a) to answer I wo other Accusations, the "first is, that Alegambe being deceived by some falle "Memoirs that ill affected Persons sent thus, trilles "Mr Marion, Mr Servin, and some other him, strilles "Mr Marion, Mr Servin, and some other him, strilles "Mr Marion, Mr Servin, and some other him, strilles "The base of the service of the ser "Magisti ates and good Catholicks, Hereticks The Se"cond is, that he was too indiferent to reveal cer"tain things that it was most important for the So"ciety to keep private and to suppress, as for Lx"ample, when he affirms that the Amphibeatre of "Honour, written against the Royal Authority, by one call d Bonarscius, is the Work of a famous Je-" fuit, though lather Coton had assured King Hen-" ry the Great, of the contrary, and that fome other Books written against Episcopacy and Hierarchy in general, and against the Clergy of France, and the orbonne in particular, were compos'd by fome Fa-"thers of the Society, although the chief among the Jefuits of France, who govern'd the Houses of "Paris, having been call'd for that Liftett, had pro"tested even under their own hands, that the Jesu"its were not the Authors of thoseLibels" Mr Baillet adds, that "Social was more discreet in that "point than Alegambe, for in his Edition we do not "find the Writings of the false Smith, and of the "talse Of-Jesu is at have caus'd so much Scandal, nor "the Books of Guimenius, of Vernant, and of the "Apologist for the Casuists, nay, he took care to tell
"sus beforehand, that his silence about those Books
"enght to pass for a dissoning and a private Con-' Paris, having been call'd for that Liffest, had proeught to pass for a dissuming and a private Condemnation that the Society makes of them But it cannot be denied on the other fide that he has " left Alegambe's Faults in many other places, and of the Article Annat, at the end

Remark (

WHFTHIR
fons | Some Generation with fome performed as learned as learned Jefuits now as formerly.

When the plenipotentiaries of France, being one day of the Country, according to the Custom of Men of Letters, spoke much of Books and Learned Men Most of them acknowledged the decay of Learning, and they observed more than once, with great joy, that the Society of the Jesuits has almost no

Learned Men at this time The Bellarmins, the Surcessors, their places and those of many other less famous Men are still vacant Mr * * was almost the only Person that did not approve of that Reproach, and who defired the Company to confider, that those who take delight in such Discourses are guilty of Two I sults, for in the first place, faid he, they lightly touch upon what concerns the other Orders, and the other Communities, but they infift much on that of the Jesuits That Respect of Persons is very unjust Have the Universities of France any Professors of Physick that make so much Noise as Fernel and Sylvins Or any Professors of the Civil Law that come near Deneau, Duaren, Hornald Law that come near Deneau, Company of Company man, and Cujas? Shew us if you can a Casaubon, a Scaliger, or a Salmasius in the Protestant Party Shew us a Grotius, an Heinsius or a Vossius in Holland Did not those Men die without leaving any Successions? Have they left Places that are fill'd up? Let us confess then that the Defect which you affect to appropriate to the Jesuits, is common to all the Paities and Communities of Europe, it is the defect of the Age, and not of their Society Do not believe, faid he, (which was his Second Reflection) that I pretend that that part of the XVIIth Century, in which we have liv'd, is interior to the other part, or to the foregoing Age. I believe on the contrary that when all comes to all, it ought to have the Advantage, and that it is the Alteration of the Falte that is the only Realon of what you call decay of Learning. The study of Critical Learning is fallen, Men have applied themselves to the Reatoning Part, they have improved their Minds much more than their Memory, they were delitous to think micely, and to express themselves politely. I hat Application does not produce those great Volumes that im pose on the Publick, and that raile a Man to a great Reputation, but really it creates more Light, and a Capacity more valuable than the great Learning of the Grammarians, or of the Philologers I he Jefuits have followed this new I afte, and that is the Reason why their Learned Men are not of the fame stamp with those who lived formerly Have you observ'd, as I have done, continued he, the considerable Number of Illustrious Men that are at present in their College at Paru Father Benier is so confummate in Languages, that all the Strangers of Europe and Asia desire his Company, and converse with him as if he was their Countryman Can a visiter the 4 Literature be seen than that of 1 ithe Hardouin Box of the Is not Father Commire one of the best Latin Poets 11/ci/e that are at present in the World Is there my Wil-Mi s, ter, who exceeds Father Boulders in the Purity of Luc us the French Language, and in the Beauty of his Com ou of positions, or Father Jouven y in point of Philology, P or Father de la B aune in a fine Liein Style, by whole Hor dort Care Father S rmond's Works have been lately pub- Pic inpt lish'd? Is there better Pens in France than Lather he p 64 Ju-Tellier, Father Daniel, Farher Doncin, &c. I name this de Ayou fome of them, but without pietending to wrong cader in, many others whom I do not Name I his was the P 45 Discourie of Mr  it the Person who informed place it as me of this Conversation, related it faithfully

the Readers judge of it as they think fit

(A) Patrick Hamilton] Bera (d) made in a few Words the Elogy of that Protestant Marryr, who was of a Family related to the Kings of Scotland He places his Martyrdom in the Year 1530 Bucha-de Alexan places it in the Year 1528 (e), and fays the Farl of Aran's Brother was his Father, and that the Duke of Alexan's Sifter was his Mother He observes in Iconirmed place it as Let Buch man does, apud

a Melanchthon in hu 290 Camerarius. docs not know mbether Alchus mistrusted bis Friendship He owns in the 288th Letter that he had ob-Served (ome fits and | purts in him, A46 X 700ζαλοχες opuas

(f) Buchin ier

Scotic

1 14
(g) I xpofit inPful 37 fol 164 See also bis

answer to Cochleus, P 9

with (Aa) so much Violence, that he was forced to retire into Germany, where he acquir'd at last a fulness of Light At first he waver'd a little between the Two Rehgions, as may be seen by his answers to Cochleur: But at last he embrac'd Lutherans in, and persever d in it to his Death. It is true that in the divers Parties that form'd themselves in it he was sometimes on the side of those who seem'd less Orthodox. Thus in 1560, in it he was sometimes on the side of those who seem'd less Orthodox he maintain'd (ADA) the Doctrine of George Major concerning the Necessity of Good Works I forgot to fay that the Alteration that was made in England with respect to Religion, after the Marriage of Henry VIII with Anne Bullen, was the cause that Alestwent to London in 1535 He was very much consider'd there by Cranmer Archbishop of Canterbury, by Latimer, and by Thomas Cromwel, who was at that time in great Credit with the King, and he taught publickly. The Fall of those Favourites oblig'd him to return into Germany, where the Elector of Brandenburg made him Professor of Divinity at Francfort on the Oder in the Year 1940. Alesso had a quarrel there Two Years after, about the Question (ADDA), Whether the Magistrates may and ought to punish Fornication He was for the Aftirmative with Melanchthon I cannot tell whether he took it ill that the Decision of that Dispute should be put off, and whether that Discontent was the cause that he lest Francfort with so much precipitation, but it is certain that the Court of Brandenburg complain'd of him, and that they writ to the University of Wittenburg to have him punish'd. The Affection he had for Melanchthon made People believe that he had retired to Wittemberg, but he chose rather to go a to Lespsick, where he refus d in 1543 a Professorship in the University which Albert Duke of Prussia delign'd that a little after his Execution, the Death of a Dominican who had been his Accuser caus'd a great Confernation in People's Minds That Dominican's Name was Alexander Cambel, he was a Young Man who had a great Genius, and great Learning He had often discours'd with Hamilton about the Interpretation of the Scripture, and had confest to him that he acknowledged most of the Doctrines for true that past at that time for Paradoxes Hamilton remembring that Confession, call'd him a wicked Man, when he found him his Accuser, and cited him before the I hrone of God Those Words troubl'd him in such a manner, that he lost his Senses, and died mad some time after (f) Alesius (g) relates many things concerning the execution of Patrick Hamilton. Which Rabia suferred in his Garman relates many things concerning the execution of Patrick Hamilton, which Rabia injected in his German History of Martyrs

(AD) He was perfected with so much Violence that he was forced 1 I hat Perfection was raised against him, because he had stoutly preach'd before a Provincial Synod in 1529 against 1 ornicating Priests. The Provost of Si Andrews, whose lascivious Commerce was known to every body, knew himself in that Sermon, and fancied it was preached on purpose to make him about a contract of the whole Auditory. He reto make him a Spectacle to the whole Auditory folv d to be reveng d of it on the first Opportunity, and as he was of a Temper a thousand times more fit tor a Soldier than a Canon, he only made choice of violent means. Having heard that the whole Chapter was allembled to fend Complaints igainst him to king fam: V he came to the Assembly with Men very well aim d, and order d Alef w to be feir d, who exhorted him to moderate his Anger, nay, he drew his Sword upon him to answer his just Remonstrance. The poor Canon was struck with fuch a fear, that he threw himself at the Provost's leet, and very humbly begged his Life of him He came off with a kick on the Stomach, which made him tall into a Swoon After which he was made him tall into a Swoon. After which he was carried to Prifon. All the other Canons were also carried thither, but the king having heard the thing caus d them to be set at Liberty. Only Alsjum was not released, but on the contrary, he was clapped into a dreadful Dungeon, where he remain'd one and awants day. Her I there all not continue long. twenty days His Liberty did not continue long he thought he ought to acquaint the Magistrates with the ill Treatment he had suffer'd Whereupon the Provost who had torbid him to tell them of it, caus d him to be imprison d again, and represented to the Archbishop that he was a Man who had made his Herefy appear in the Synodal Sermon, and that he deferved to be punished. He was so vext because Alefine was let out of Prison while he was on a Journey, fines was let out of Prison while he was on a Journey, that he would by all means send him thither again, without suffering him to make an end of a Mass that he had begun But at last the Intreaties of the Cuons pacified him, he waited till the end of the Miss to send him back to Prison Now as they knew that he would put him again into the Dungeon the next day, they advised the Prisoner to make his escape in the night time, and to leave Sessional He follow d that Advice, and went into Germany in the Year 1532 (a) the Year 1532 (a) jor] The Title of his Book, is De necessitate & merito benorum operum disputatio proposita in celebri Academia Lipsica ad XXIX diem Novemb 1560 That difpute is the fifth inter Anti-Tapperianas, and thus here is an Anti to be added to Mr Baillei & Collecti-Now that I am upon it, I shall fet down the Titles of his chief Works Commentarii in Evangelium Jeannu, & in utramque Epistolam ad Iimotheum Expositio in Psalmos Davidu De justificatione, contra Ossandrum De santia Trinitate, cum consutatione errors: Valentini Gentilu Responsio ad 32 articulos Theologorum Lovaniessium, & (AAA) Whether the Magistrates may and ought to punish Fornication J That Dispute did not run of Adulery, but on man Lovaniessium, for all fornication of the Magistrates was and ought to punish Fornication.

Adultery, but on meet Fornication, for although the Punishment of Adultery is as rare a thing as that Crime is frequent, yet it is accounted lawful among Christian Doctors So who Alessus had only an Antagonist to oppose who maintain d against him, that the Magnifrates neither can not ought to punish Fornication. The final Judgment about this Diipute was put off, and it is very likely that Alejius being angry at that delay, would live no longer among People that appear'd io favourable to the limpunity of Fornicators (h) Cum A 1542 interipfum (v) Thomasium quendam Exorta effet controversia de quassione, mis ubr possit ne ac debeat Magistratus Politicus scortationem pur surre s queramque (intentiam, hoc est assumantem, ac Phin nire (veramque sententiam, hoc est affirmantem, ac Phi-lippi quoque Melanchthonis calculo approbatam (1), de lippi quoque Melanchthonis calculo approtatam (1), de fendente Alesso, nihilominus hujus disputationis decisso pitola juberetur disterri ostensus, ut apparet, hac bonz causa Responsoreastinatione Alessus, non inspecta o Principis adventu discessis (2) Such an Indignation did not become an Academial a Professo of Divinity who had seen the rise of the Reformation, and who could naturally hope charles be should not live long enough to see Morelley that he should not live long enough to see Morshity nam, return to its fift relaxation. Nothing could do more honour to the Protestant Religion than the Severity of the Maxims that relate to Chassity, for the Observation of those Maxims is the most difficult Vices that can be obtained over Nature, and that Paul Mel which helf shews that we belong to God by the recipility. which best shews that we belong to God by the reciwhich best shews that we belong to God by the reciprocal ties of his Protestion and of his Love. It (_) Vid was therefore a great Subject of Scandal that in the Phil Mes Year 1542 a Protestant Divine, who maintain'd that Epist ad Magistrates may and ought to Punish I ornicators, Camer should meet with any Oppositions about it, and in potione measure sink under them Now that People 414 are us'd to the Toleration of that Crime, scarce any are us'd to the Toleration of that Crime, scarce any body is offended at it. A very honeit Man assur'd me lately, that the Migistrates of Strasburg have such an Indulgence for a Maid that suffers her soll to be got with Child, that provided she pays the Fine to which those kind of Faults are taxed, they restore her to her first Reputation, and set Penalties on those that should dare to Reproach her in the least for the future. This is doubtless a more signilar Privilege than that of giving Parents. least for the future. This is doubtless a more figular Privilege than that of giving Patents of Rehabitation to fuch Families as have derogated from their Nobility, and if one wis allowed to jest about a thing of io great Importance, it might be faid that the Magistrates of Straiburg should have should that the preservation of that Privilege, when they Capatalated with France, and when after the they Capitulated with France, and when after the

(a) Jacob Thomasius in ora tione de

Joh. Ale-

110

(ALA) He maintain'd the Delirine of George Ma-fupra pag 3 18 (1) In e to orect at Kniggibus, and which was erected there the following Year It is not well known whether he had a Professorship in the University of Lespick at that time, or whether they only made him hope for the Professorship of Davinity which he exercised there afterwards

(c) See the Mercure Histo-11que of June, 1698 (d) I have been assured that they them-felves make a jest of it I is litely they think to imitate thule, who rail at them selves to weaken the Raillerics of (c) Ovidius lib 2 Fastor

Peace of Rysmich they demanded the (c) renewing of their Capitulation. I know very well that by their Prerogative they do not pretend to shew the salies of this ancient and undemable Axiom, Nulla reparability arte lass pudicities est, departs allo some They do not pretend, Physically speaking, to restore a lost Virginity, this would be to oppose the true Sense of the Axiom but morally speaking, they pretend to restore it, seeing they take the Fame of a Distancest Maid under their Protection, and secure her from Slanders, so that she may go any where as her from Slanders, so that the may go any where as boldly as an honest Maid Nay, 'tis said that the Efficacy of their Sentence is such, that Maids who have had Children, and who by paying their Fine have obtain'd their Re-habilitation, are as soon market have obtain'd their Re-habilitation, are as soon married, and almost as advantageously as if they had not committed that Fault But I would rather ascribe this to the weakness of the Men (a) who marry them, than to their persuasion of the Efficacy of the Sentence However, we might say to those who suppose that the Payment of a Fine makes amends for Crimes of that Nature, what was faid to those who sancied that a little fair Water wash'd away the stain of an Homicide way the stain of an Homicide

Ab (e) nimum faciles, qui trifica crimina cadu Fluminea telli posseputatis aqua
That same honest Man assured me that he was certainly inform'd of that (uftom of Strasburg, and he had been told that the same was practifed in some other places of Germany Such Laws would have made the Divine, whose Article I am writing, very angry, for this is so far from punishing Fornication, that it is in some manner to reward it, seeing on, that it is in iome mainter to reward it, recing the Advantage of going every where without fear of any Reproach, is a Benefit that exceeds very much the prejudice of the Fine that is paid, which fometimes is not one half of the Money that is got by Proftitution I have heard some very judicious Persons say,

I have heard some very judicious Persons say, that the usage of a great many Countries is rather a Reward than a Punishment for Fornication. That Usage requires, that those who own themselves the Fathers of a Bastard Child, should be condemn d to keep it, and to give the Mother a Sum of Money. The order of providing for the keeping of the Child cannot pass for a Punishment, seeing the Law of Nature does clearly lay such an Obligation upon one. Nothing therefore but the Money that is paid to the Maid can be call'd a Punishment, but besides that it is as light Punishment for the Father, it is properly speaking a Reward for the Mother, it is properly speaking a Reward for the Mother Now it is a very strange thing, said those Gentlemen, that Christian Courts should award Rewards to Maids for having lost their Honour by scandalizing the Publick Scmebody answer'd them, that the loss they had made, whereby it was more difficult for them to find a Husband, requir'd them, that the loss they had made, whereby it was more difficult for them to find a Husband, requir'd the procuring some Amends for them as an Act of Justice. No, answer'd they, it is not an Act of Justice, but a Favour, and a Grace Justice does not require that those who have suffered Danage by the voluntary Transgression of the Laws of God, and of the Laws of Human Honour, should be indemnished. And if the Sovereign will bestow some Favours, he ought to make choice of more worthy Persons. Should Men be oblig'd to recompense a Mind, who in committing a Robbery for their sake and at their Instigation, should lose an Arm or a Leg? A Judge would be so far from causing any Gratification to be given her, to make up the Damage that she might have suffered, that he would condemn her to a corporal Punishment. The same thing would happen in all Punishable Cases, wherein she should lose any Member in executing a Mans. Counsels. Fornication only is excepted from that Rule. Let us call it then the common Offence and the privileged Case, Words (a) separately consecrated to other things, and about which a Book was publish'd (b) at Paris, in the Year 1611 Somebody alledg'd upon this, that the Magistrates of Institute, that those some of the Sons of the House, of having gor them with Child had made a Law for the future, that those for of Creatures should have but 25 Florins, for which they should be oblig'd to keep the Child, that they thought thereby to put a stop to Debauchery; for they were sensible that the Profit which accrued to those Maids from their ill Conduct, engag'd chiem either to make Advances, or to yield to the first Sollicitations, and that in a word, their Lascivious-ness ought to be deprived of all Hopes of Gain, and not encouraged by the hopes of the Sums that the Courts adjudged them But some Persons answered that it is not certain that fuch Laws have been made at Amsterdam, although the Noise of it was spread in other Towns of that Country Whether it be true or false, it is very certain that this proves that People are not ignorant that the common Conduct of the Courts of Judicature is too savourable to Portugation, and that it average Muds much ble to Fornication, and that it excites Minds much more to debauch than to contain themselves. And t appears plainly that the Sovereigns who cause the Transgressor of the Decalogue to be punished, are not directed by the Sinfulness of the A'tion, but by the temporal Prejudice which the State receives from it. Hence it is that they punish Robbers and Murderers, but because Fornication seems more useful than prejudicial to the temporal good of the State, they do not care to punish it, and they behave themselves in such a minner as to make People think that they are not displeas'd to have their Towns populated per far & mefas It they took the Law of God to heart on that point, they would increase the Fear of Infamy, instead of removing it; they would lay great Fines to be paid not to the Maids who transgress, but to Hospitals, they would implinit a Disgrace both on the Tempter, and on her that should not resist the Temptation and because Dishonour among Persons of mean Right, is not a Residue. shonour among Persons of mean Birth is not a Bridle frong enough to stop a certain Wantonness that animates the Tempter, that prevents him, and affines him of the Victory with the utmost ede, they would instead a more real Punishment, which they might eafily do

Ecclefial Discipline is very near fallen into the same relaxation. It is but sew (r) Years since the Preceptor of a Gentleman applied himself in a Town of _____ to a young Cocquet, and foon obtain'd what he defired of her As foon as her Relations perceiv'd that she was with (hild, they endeavour'd to marry her to that Gallant He refufed it, for besides that the ensiness of his Conquest was no great Charm to make him defirous to marry her, he did not think himfelf the only Person that had a hand in the Business, nor that the Child was more his than another's The only means to force him to take her for his Wife, was to thiesten him that if he did not marry her he should lote the Benefice he had in England He married her, and thereby preferv'd his Benefice Such was the Reward of a Wantonness, which had been carried to the most scandalous Excess What would the ancient Inthers fay if they should return into the World they might well cry out, caking their Eyes on the I ace of the Church, O domus antiqua quam disoari dominaris do-mino! It is the Fate of all Religions as well as of all Politick Bodies, to impair in growing old Men are more corrupt in their Youth than in an advanced Age It is quite otherwise with Republicks There is nothing like new Laws The Laws are like Bread and Eggs, pan d'un di, uovo d'un' hora The flou-rishing State of a Code (I mean the Practice and Ob-fervation of the Laws) is that of Infancy See the complaint of a Poet, who had described some abuses ot Augustus Age

(c) Non ita Romuli Prascriptum, & intonsi Catenis Auspiciis, veterumque norma

(1) Horst Od 15 lib 2

In that respect, Sects, and Communities, &crefemble Man who is only Innocent in the Cradle, and a little while after See the Remark M of the Article of Nesterius, in the beginning Let us observe that there are some 'f') Protestant Countries, where they use still some Severity against I ornication, both with respect to Women and Men But I am sure that our Alexander Alessus would require on, both with respect to women and Men But 1 am fure that our Alexander Alefus would require more than that What would be say of the other Countries ?

in the (anton of Bern

(f) AtGe-

neva, and more still

I must further observe, that the Courts that adjudge a Pecuniary Profit to fornicating Women, or that condemn them to marry those who debaucht them, do it to avoid many Inconveniencies a but they foment thereby the Disorders of Impurity, for every Sentence they give on that point Z

() I write

vileged Crie the Faults of an Ecclesi-ast k, that come under the cognizance of Suular (b) Hrit. ten by Be-Milleton

Counfellor

Dijon

in the Par-

(a) They

mon Oftence the Faults of an Ecclifiaftick, that are judged by the Tribunals of theChurch,

and a pribem extracted out of a Speech of James Thomasius, Profesfor at Leipsick, with several others at Leipfick in 1683 in brings a Quotation for every thing he lays I did st necessary to transcribe those Quotations If any one delires to go to the Head , he may cafily find Thoունսչ չ Speech

& Alexan-

Alex Genial dier

1 2 6 1 2 lb 1 6 6 7

der ab

a. This has till he died, which happen'd the (B) 17th. of March 1565. He was (C) miraci till he died, which happen'd the (B) 17th. of March 1565. He was (C) miracing by preferv'd from Death in his Youth. The Esteem and the Authority he was in, appear by the great (D) Number of Conferences wherein he affifted. He Married an English Woman, by whom he had Two Daughters, and a Son. He had but one Daughter living when he

ALEXANDER AB ALEXANDRO, (A) a Neapolitan Civilian who had a great deal of Learning, flourish d about the end of the XVtb. Century, (B) and in the beginning of the XVItb He first applied himself to the Bar at Naples B, and afterwards at Rome; but he spent all his leisure Hours in the Study of good Literature, and at last he wholly lest the Bar, to lead a more calm and agreeeble Life with the Muses The Reason that he (C) alledges for leaving off the Profession of an Advocate, was, y because of the Ignorance or Wickedness of those who administer'd listing. So that he chose rather to live a rance or Wickedness of those who administer'd Justice; so that he chose rather to live a quiet Life than to take much pains to study the Civil Law, since his Labours signified nothing against the Rashness of an ill Judge. He had seen many Examples of that disorder at Rome, which he mention'd to Raphael Volaterrarus who ask'd him the Rea-son of his Retreat. It is somewhat strange that among so many Manual of Learning who liv'd in his time, or who made the Elogies of the Learned Mention times, to twenty more Every Maid who attains to Mar-riage that way, creates a Mind in many others to at-tempt the fame means. That abuse has been perceived in France The new Laws are not fo favoura-ble there as the old ones were to those Maids, who make too great an Advantage of the Privileges of Marriage It is a Sacrament that has a retroactive Virtue, and which like that of Penance is a Plank after Shipwrack It makes one enter again into the Port of Honour, it repairs the old Breaches, it Legitimates Children that were not lawfully begotten bee the Remark of the Article Arielle I say nothing of see the Remark of the Article Ariotto I fay nothing of the thick Vail wherewith it may cover new Breaches, current Faults, and daily Sins current haults, and daily sins (B) The 17th of March 1565] The Calender of Poul Eberur notes that Alefius died the 18th of March, 1565 being 75 Years of Age the first Fault is very small, since it is but of one day, but the second is of I en Years, and therefore more considerable Alefius himself writ in the Register of the University The Calender of of Leipsick that he was born in the Year 1500 Bucholcerus (a) and Reusnerus (b) give him as long a Life is Paul Eberus I his whole Remark is taken out of Thomasius Bucholcerus might have been reprimanded for another thing , viz for faying that Alefius liv d and taught in Germany after his coming to Wittemberg, that is to say, fince the Year 1533

(C) He was miraculously preserved from Death | He says in one of his Books (e) that he often remembers but not without great Shiverings all over his Body, that as he was rolling down towards a Precipice from the top of a very high Mountain, he felt himfelf transported to another place without knowing how nor by whom, which he attributes to the I aith of his Relations, and not to the small Papers that he carried about him, containing some Verses of St John's Gospel, according to the custom of Children in those times

Children in those times

(D) The great Number of Conferences] In the Year

1555 when those of Nuremberg desir'd Melanchthon to come (d) and compose the Dissentions which the Disciples of Andrew Ossander caused in their City, he brought Alessia along with him, who performed his part (e) very well in the Disputes they enter'd into Melanchthon knew him to be very capable of the had had him for his Assistant in 1554 in the into Melanchibon knew him to be very capable of it, he had had him for his Affistant in 1554 in the Conference of Naumburg, which was held to pacify the Theological Troubles of Prussia Camerarius praises Alesus very much on that account (f) Alexander Alesus patria Scotus, valle carus Philippo Melanchiboni, rei Theologica intelligentissimus, & artista excellent compraentium disoutationum. Prasis description of the survey of the second of the survey of the surve po Melanchiboni, rei Theologica intelligentissimus, & artifex excellent congruentium disputationum, & vir dignitati atque dostrina exquisita prasiani He had observed in another place that Granvelle, who presided in the Conference of Worms, in the Name of Charles V in 1541 would not let Alesius speak, whom the Elector of Brandenburg had sent thither. Qui quidem & constitute that the safetit sufficient constitute of the safetit sufficient constitute. (f) Came- there of Brandenburg had lent thither Qui quidem & ratius ib paratus erat & cupidus conflictus, sed huic obstitit jussum (g) simon prasidis qui & Alesum ad pugnam instructum sciret, & Goulart talim administrationem rei viciosam esse animadverte-

(A) Alexander ab Alexandro] I give him his Lat n Name, as our Grammarians will have it.
They who (g) translate Alexander of Alexandria are mission. Our Author was of a Neopolican Family, the Name whereof was Alexander. It is pretended (b, Balzac the Name whereof was Alexander It is pretended that it had already produc'd forme Illustrious Perions, birbocrate as Moreri relates after Lorenzo Crasso Every body Chretien knows Balzac's Jest upon it, (b) There has been a Grammarian, says he, in the Kingdom of Naples who caused himself to be call'd ALEXANDER AB ALEXANDER Of Can any thing be more magnificent and more glorious than to be swice Alexander, to have Alexander for one's Name, and to have it also speak employed. for ones (†) Lordjbsp?

(B) And in the beginning of the XVIth] That which makes me speaks thus, is, that our Author speaking (*) of the Calamities of the Kingdom of Naples, carried them to the Death of Frederick the Son of Fordinand I that is, to the Year 1504. besides, he speaks (1) of Journal Pontanus as of a Person that fpeaks (1) of Jovianus Pontanus as of a Person that fianName was no longer in being Now Jovianus Pontanus and the did not die before the Year 1505. This is what those did not take notice of, who placed the Death of our Alexander in the Year 1494 wherein Moreri gives them a much greater Testimony of his Approbation, than of his Uncertainty.

(C) The Resson that he alledges I believe that the same of the hew the whole force of it, I must set it down the Author's own Words Quae cum viderem, see Mollerum nihil prassdus essentia vim potentiorum aut gratiam nihil prassdus essentia vim potentiorum aut gratiam nihil prassdus essentia vim potentiorum sut gracium vim potentiorum sut gratiam nihil prassdus essentia vim potentiorum sut gratis or ediscendis tet casuum varietatibus tam bis Treacontroversus or ediscendis tet casuum varietatibus tam pensiculate editis, tantum laboris or vigiliarum suscipere, pensiculate editis, tantum laboris & vigiliarum suscipere, pensiculate editis, tantum laboris Or vigiliarum jujcipere, tantoque nos studio satigari dicebam, eum ad ignavissimi impurissimique cujusque temeritatem qui juri dicendo prasideret, quem legis virum bonum esse volunt, non aquo jure sed ad gratiam Or libidinem judicia serri, decretaque legum tanto consilio edita convelli Or labosatir viderem He did much better to leave the Bar, than to initiate fome other Advocates who having lost many good Causes undertake to desend the worst. I have read not long ago (1), that one of the most same Advocates of the Age, whom his Brethren ask'd, why he took upon him to plead had Causes, answered them smiling, He did it because he had lost a great many good ones. This is a had excuse, continues the Author, an Advocate who having examin'd a Cause, finds it unwarrantable, ought to leave it. I have found another (m) Passage in the Book of Alexander ab Alexandro, that shews the Uprightness of his Heart. One of his Friends seeing that he did not push his Fortune forward, advis'd him to make use of the Expedients which had so well succeeded to such and such Persons whom he named to him, who had been raised by Favour to some other Advocates who having lost many good well succeeded to such and such Persons whom he named to him, who had been raised by Favour to dit Honours and Prelatures in spite of the Merit of their Competitors, and who had attain'd to Favour by unlawful ways. Our Author was not ignorant of those Examples, and knew some that were worse, he had seen in his Youth a very honest Man, well learned in Latin and Greek, who having strugglaw with an extream Poverty while he trusted to his Virtue and Learning, resolv'd to try another way He engaged himself into such a silthy Trade that it would be a shame to name it, and in a little while he became Rich and Powerful, and was provided he became Rich and Powerful, and was provided with good Benefices (n) Eo vefania processit ut co-affus inopia obscanis & libero homine indignis artibus vaaffus inopia objemis O libero homine indignis artibut va-caret (quibus vero artibus non libét dicere, ita fuda O pudenda sunt) confessaque suit sibi res en sententia, nam-que haud multo post O sacerdotio O opibus austus, af-fluens O beatus tranquilissime vitam egit But these Examples did not stagger our Advocate, he chose rather to be contented with a mean Fortune, than to hazard his Conficience (e) Longe igitur multure praftat, satiusque fuit uti ingenio meo, vacuumq molefties modeco civilique cultu contentum effe, negue in ambitionem non necessariam incurrere, quam bona animi, si qua sibi bomo studio & labore paravist , ca turpi quastu bave Said that Alexander was bis Chriflian Name tife De Scriptoribus homonymis (*) Alexand ab Alex Genial dier 3 C 15 fub fin p m 736 (1) Id lib 1 C 1 (k) Id 1b lib 6 c. 7 (1) Journal desSavans, 1690 pag. 301 Dutch E-(m) Alax

(n) Id ıbıd

(e) Id pidi

(a) Chronol pig 613 (6)liagog Hift pag (c)Lpiftola dedicatoria Commentar in Joannem Vide & Prafat in nlteram ad I motheum apud Jacobum Thomatifupra pag 305 (d) Camerar ın vıta Melanchthomasiusubi Jupra p (Beza in Icomb (f) Came-Translation of Philip de Comithere is scarce any that mentions (D) him We should know but very little of his Fife, if he himself had not touch'd upon some Particulars of it in his Work & We find there & that he lodg'd in a House at Rome that was haunted with Spirits, and therefore here is a Witness to be cited to incredulous Men, a Witness, I say, who boasts to rum libra have seen, and who relates the astonishing Singularities of the Ghost that tormented v that House. He says also that when he was very Young y he went to Philelphus's LeCures, who explain'd Cicero's Tusculanae Questiones at Rome We may gather from the 21st 2 Eum Chapter of the 4th Book, that he was (R) at Rome When No. 1 Chapter of the 4th Book, that he was (E) at Rome when Nicolas Perotius, and Domitites Calderinus, read Publick Lectures there on Martial I don't find that he spoke of the Office of Protonotary of the Kingdom of Naples, which so it is faid he gloriously Exercised I cannot tell when he died, but I know that he was buried a in the Monastery of the Olivetans Every body & blam'd him for the Assectation he shewed in vos meos not quoting the Authors who supply'd him with what he says Tiraquellus remedied colui & that disorder by a learned Commentary, that I was Printed at Lions in 1587 It was Ib I I Reprinted at Leiden in 2 Volumes in 8vo in the Year 1672 with the Notes of Dionystus c 23 Gothofredus, Christopher Colerus, and Nicolas Mercerus, on the same Fext I understand I Panzis by Gesnerus's Bibliotheca, that the Edition that was made at Paris of this Work of Alex- 101 de ander ab Alexandro in the Year 1532 was more exact than the rest, and that Gerard Interpret Morrhius of Campen who Corrected it, had collated with the Originals, the Places which 12 c the Author had taken from others He must then have collated many Things, for the 122 fix Books of the Dies Geniales are a mixture of a gifet many Collections concerning the History and the Customs of the ancient Greeks and Romans there are also many Description Grammatical Questions in that Work, which (I' is not so exact is it should be not believe that the French Tianslation, which i Bernnd de la Roche mide of thit Work, was ever Printed The Author of the Nerp ditan Bibliotheque did no way succeed in (G) the Article of our Alexander, but the Additions of Lunardo Nicodemo (H) are very curious on this Subject

Alciatus believed that Alexander ab Alexandro was yet living in the Year 1521 shall give his own Words (1) because they contain his Judgment on that Writer ALEXpeffimo exemplo fadare The Advice that was given him is much like this

Aude (a) aliquid brevibu Gyaris & carcere dignum Si vis esse aliquis Probitas laudatur & aleet He dedicated his Book to the Duke of Atri That Duke was very Learned, as we shall say in Jqua-

(D) That mentions him] Let if we believe Moreri, all the great Men of that Age, as George Trapezuntius, Theodorus Gaza, Domitius Calderinus, Hermolaus Barbarus, Philelphus, Pontanus, &c were his Friends and his Admirers All that can be gather d from the Book bis Aimirers All that can be gather d from the Book of Alexander ab Alexandro, is, that in his Youth (b) he heard the Lectures which Philelphus read at Rome when he was already Old, and that he eat fometimes with many Learned Men at (c) Journ Pontanus s. House, at (d) Hermolaus Barbarus, at (e) Sannazars and at (f) Gabriel Altilius's &c We want a more folid I oundation than this to affirm that certain Persons admire certain Persons. tain Persons admire certain Persons lowing Remark

(L) Was at Rome when Nicolas Perottus] This is all that can be gather d from what he relates con-Cerning Nicolas Perottus, and Domitius Calder nus as for that great familiarity which (e) Panzirol is pretends that he had with them, it must be look'd for elsewhere, and I cannot tell whether it be possible to find any Proofs of it I don't question but Panzirolies faid this at a distance, and on the Credit of his Memory, without taking notice that the Memory is a Mould wherein Objects change their form very easily

(F) Not so exast as it should be I chuse rather to alledge the Testimony of one of the Commentators, than to speak of my own Head Here is what Nicolas Mercerus says (h) Est profesto, mi Linoceri, werim quod agunt Fait Alexander wir eruditus & multa lestionis multa ad utilitatem publicam scripsit eleganter, multa tamen, ut hominum est instrumtas, minus accurate wel memoria witio, wel imprudentia lapsus Qua lestoribus indicari magni interfuit I am not the only Peron (i) who finds fault that those who give us some Books cum notis Variorum, should leave out the Epi-Books cum notis Variorum, should leave out the Epistles Dedicatory, and the Prefaces They should do what was done in the last Edition (k) of Diogenes Lairtius If it had been done in that of Alexander ab Alexandro, I might have given a better light upon that Author and his Book

(G) D d no way succeed in the Article of our Alexander] He only (l) refers his Readers to three or four other Books, and did not know that Alexander Junfconsultus Neapolitanus, the Author of the 4th Disterrations of which he (m) give, the Title, is not different from Alexander ab Alexandro' So that he speaks twice of the same Min, without knowing that they are not two Writers. Here is the Litle of the four Differentions Alexandri sur sconsulti Neapolitani Differention e quatuor de rebue admin ind s qua in Italia nuper contigere, id est de sorm sine i viris speciate fides prodita sun, insbigue de laud bus Juniani Mais somniorum conjectoris de umbrarum fru-rus & falsis imaginibus de illussonivus malorum camonum, qui diversis imaginibus l'omines delusere de qui- Alexanbuldam edibu que Rome infames sunt ol frequentissimos buldam ædibu que Romæ infames funt of frequentissimos lenures, & ton fi es imagines qua authoripse singul s fere nostibus in U b expertus est Romæ, in 410 Alfque anno nes apud quem I hey hive neither set down the Printer's Name, noi the Year of the Impression We shall see in the following Remain the state of Bases have been necessorered and the that those Pieces have been incorporated in the Der fol in

(II) The Additions of Leonardo Nicodemo me very 11 1 Cions curious | He proves that Alexander al Alexandro 1 du Matthe Author of the four Differentions, because most p 476 of the things they contain are to be found in the Dies Gemale. For I sample that which concerns the Praises of Julianus Majus, and the profiges of Dreims (n) is to be feen in the 11th Chipter ist Book, where that Jun inius is represented like a Man who had daily a Crowd of Diemaers at his House, whole Dreamshe explain d in a very intelli-Death or great Troubles Read the 23d Chapter of the 60 sth Book, and you will find what concerns the Apparitions and Hobgoblins, who haunted the Author sown House We find the Title of an Edition in Folio of the Des Geniales in Nicodemo's Additions I should take it for the first, if a (p) Pallage of Alciatus did not hinder me. Here is that Title Title Alexandri de Alexandro Dies geniales Ne quis opus excudat denuo infra septenn 1 m, sul dies imprecati onitus Apostolica autoritate interdictum isi at the end, Rome, in adibus Jacobi Mazochii, Rome Academia Bibliopola Anno I refine partus 15.- Kalend April Pontif S D N accupus nomine pontificali adduce non conflat, anno primo Nicod mo mentions a Fragment of a Letter (9) of Jerom Niger, which is but little obliging for the Nearobitant in account or for little obliging for the Neapolitans in general or for our Alexander in particular Quil libro d' Alessandro de gli Alessandri e intitolato Dies genialis, a similitudine delle notti Attichi d' Aulo Gellio, e de' Saturnali di Ma-crobio, cose cavate di qua e di la Ed in vero ha molto del Napoletano, con sopportazion del Sannazaro parlando fiom Vendesi sei carlini, al parer mio troppo caro l'Il give Ron an Article concerning Junianus Majus, the Artemido- 26th rus of his Age
(1) I shall give his own Words because they contain

I take them out of a Letter that he writ from Milan
Z 2

um dieego adolefrentu. I do Itil pag us, de regno 16 C T CVpr t us de Sponfal C 13. W de Hift Lit pig Lntitle i Scmeftina in Geniarum Alexandri ib vi m fol I was Reprinted at fort in du Maine.

tla Min pud nonnt lles cognit+5 competti. & gur ipic expertus fui (0) Lcocodemo 1715 the tho a mistake (p) I quote Remark (g) inat dated 26th 01 Tune

(a)Juven Sat 1 v 73 (b) Alex ab Alex lib i c (c) Id 1b lib 1 4.1 See also

1 3 c 8 (d) Ibid Inb, c r (r) Ibid
Inb 2 c r
(f) Ibid lib 5 c (g) Ad-modum fuit Panzirol de claris legum Interprer 1 2 c

(1) 115 1 c, to nh nie Hidier s be No es Cremus Chap 1 of . DE 1 ft put of the Anunad-

verfiones Philolokıcæ & Histori-(k) That of Amsterdam 692 which contains most of the Pre-faces, &cc of the forego ng Edi-(/) Nico-lo Toppi Biblioth Napolet pag 6 ib pag 7 lin in Lindenio renovato.

Pag 28

B Acron calls bim

Marcus,

Servius

occording to William Groti-

6 6 5 & Pomponi-

D de orig

quius in

Hor Sat 3 Î 1 2 Guill

Grot ubi

1 2 (10 & 43 1 3 c 36 55 & 61 1 4

fupri e Licit Histor

14115 2 Seel ru-us, Vit Jurisc pag 86 Cellius I

but it should be

ALEXANDER THE GREAT, King of Mattedoma. CEDONIA

a Merck-

ALEXANDER VII Pope. Look for CHIGI
ALEXANDER VIII. Pope Look for OTTOBONI.
ALEXANDER VIII. Pope Look for OTTOBONI.
ALEXIS, a Premontors There is a Book of Secrets under the Name of this Alexis It was Printed at Bafil in 8vo in the Year 1563 being a Translated from the Italian into Latin by Wecker It was also Translated into French, and Printed several times with Additions There is a Preface to it, wherein Signor Alexis informs the Publick that he was born of a Noble Family, that he applied himself to Study from his Childhood, that he learn'd Latin, Greek, Hebrew, Chaldasek, Arabiek, and several other Languages, that having chiefly had a very great Passion for the Secrets of Nature, he gather d as many of them as he could in his 57 Years Travels, that he had not communicated his Secrets to any body, but that at the Age of 82 Years and 7 Months, having Len a poor Man dead at Milan, whom he could have Cur d if he had communicated his Secret to the Chirurgeon, he was touch'd with fo great a Remorfe of Conscience, that he almost turn'd Hermit, and in that solitude he put his Secrets in a condition to be Publish'd The Hawkers carry them to the Country-Fairs, with their other little Books cover'd with blew Paper It is true that they have only the choice Remedies, of Signor

Alexis the whole Collection would be too great a Volume for them

A I I L N U S V A R U S (Publius) born at Cremona, first a Shoe-maker, and afterwards a Disciple of the samous Civilian, Servius & Sulpitius, and at last Consul, was a very I cained Man (A) in the Civil I aw He was Buried at the Charges of the Publick. This is all that is said of him by one of the Old Scholiasts upon Horace, in his Notes on a Passage (B) that concerns our Alfenus, whose y Consulship, they say, fell in the Year of Peni 754 I would not swear it Alfenus had writ Forty Books of Digests, that are mention d in the Index of the Pandotts, and some Books of Collections, Collectaneerum Aulus Gellius cites both those Works, and tho' (C) he resutes what he quotes out of them, yet he represents the Author as a Man who was a great Enquirer into Antiquities The Civilian Paulus made an A Abridgment of Alfenus's Books If it were true that there was an AII ENUS among the Councellors of the (D) Emperor Alexander Severus, who was a Disciple of Papinian, is some will have it from a very much intricate Passage of Lampridus, he might have descended from the other, tho' it must be confest that there were fome Alfenue's different from the Disciple of Sulpitius There was an ALFE NUS mention d by (icero in his Otition for Quinchius, and an ALFE NUS Varus, General of the Army under Viellius and Prefect of the Pratorium, who did not s flew the Refolies on of a brave Man, when his Party was overcome by that of I c/p han Donatus in the I see of I next speaks of an (E) ALFENUS, who with some others exempted the Linds of that Poet from the Fate to which those of the Neighbourhood were exposed, when

(a) I pift Gudne pag or

(1) Amm

Muccl lib , , c 4 p m 594 () Pig 56 57

I udg Bit

(i) Horat 1 at 3 1 1

tus for su'troc us ssimt sorpea, commentariosque Se-nativional dorum que v d sf. sr, em seque Rome ait, con mon to not Forum nutim men sourm sa it capiti conmod to act I sum autem men soum ja it capite aunto er septimo primi livo suspicior enim nescio quid Parriasimim, q em se seos authores plei umque adducere solitim quo nun juam visitat (A) si very lea nel Mm nitle C. si Law]. This Pissage of somi inne Mincellinic quinst the Advocates of his similoquantum, the salu videantur jura callo, Trei a similoquantum, & Cascelium, & Alfenum, ticient to convince us of the great Authority of the name of Alf mean matters of Jurisprudence Add to this the Testimonies alledged by Bestrand in the (1) fust Book of his Civilians

(b) A Pillage that con erns our Alfenus] The words of Horice deserve to be set down

(1) It nus wife omns A section firme on c, clausing u taberna, Su or wat, sap is or rive step imusomnis Estop sa, serve stus

(c) Herefute what he quotes ou of them] This concerns the figuration of these words, argentum pumpulum, that were in the Treity of Peace concluded between the Republick of Rome and that of Carthen. The Romans were to receive every Yen a certain I indute in Money, pur um put um, that is of good allay how a imagin d that the proper have or that Iribute was purum purum which is a very comical Iance the fire Gellius () does not delpide without reason the Scie that Alfinus gave to those words, and if one was to judge of that Civilian's Capacity by this, he would foon lose his great Reputation. He believed that purum purum was form'd of purus, as novients and a present and a consequence of the purus and propriate and propriate and propriate. cius 13d p opicius were foim d of novus and proprius, to give more force to the lignification of the printi-tive word Aulie Gillius refures him folidly, and flews that putum tignifies that from which all Super-fluities are taken off He does not cite the Book that Morers quotes, to wit, the 4th and the 30th of the Digest, nor that which Bertrand alledges, to wit, the 30th of the fame Digest, but he cites the 34th As for the other Work this the cites, it is entituled, conjectaneorum, in the Edition of Henry Stephens, but I for that Bertrand and William Crown have not but I see that Bertrand and William Grotius have read Colle Faneorum This last Title feems to agree better with the Passages of the Pandetts, where Servins is cited on the Testimony of Alfenus, Servins and Alfenum notat, putat, but it would be wrong to prefer for this reason, the last Title before that which Henfor this reason, the last Title before that which Hen

1) Stephens kept Bertrand makes Aulus Gellius say what he does not, to wit, that the Work entitul'd Collectanca consisted of four Books These are Aulu Gellius's words (f) In libro digestorum trigestimo & quarto, conjectaneorum autem secundo, in sudere, inquit, &c I do not question, but that since Bertrand said that Aulus Gellius quoted the 30th Book of the Digests, he believ'd that & quarto related to the following word, and that without taking notice of what follows, he concluded that the 4th Book of the Collection nea had been cited, from whence nevertheless he had no reason to conclude that the Work contain d but four Books, and that Aulus Gellius said it Neibut four Books, and that Aulus Gellius faid it Neither the critical Remarks on that Work of Bertrandinferted in the Edition of Leyden, nor William Grandus have taken notice of those small Mistakes us have taken notice of those small Mistakes

Gellius says something to the advantage of also nus See the Margin (g)

(D) Among the Councellors of the Emperor] The Paffage of Lampridius, as it is Printed is so talse in some respects, that nothing can be concluded from it for the existence of an Alfenus in the reign of Alexander Severus See Casaulon on that Passage But how ever Morer, should not have cited Horace, nor Aulus

Gellius for his Alfin us, furnamed the younges, who lived, fays he, in the reign of Alexander Severus

(E) Speaks of an Alfenus] Morers giving an Article of this Man, page 170 calls him, Alphenius a Roman Knight, and cites Donneus in vita a But Donneus does not flyle that Man a Roman Knight, and helidae (h) in the hell Editions it is Alphenius and besides (b) in the best Editions it is Alphenus, Varius, as two different Persons, and not Alphenius

(f) Id, 1b

for Mak-

(g) Alfenus Jurifconfultus, Servii Sille picii dile cipulus, rerumque rum non INCULIOsus Id ib (b) Thue of Hackius at Loydon 1680

(c) Aulus Gell lib 5 C 5

when after the least of Brusus they were affign'd to the Soldiers. Very a learned a Dacier Persons believe that he who did Virgil that good Office, is the same Alfenus who had been a Shoe-fielder, and the same Alfenus whom Catullus speaks of This is not (F) and the same should difficulty. See our Remarks, which shew sometimes Mr ALFONSUS. Look for the Kings of that Name under that of their King-Mdom.

ALYPIUS of Antioch, liv'd in the Reign of Julian the Apostate He had already commanded in England, when that Prince had a Fancy to cause the Temple of ferusalem to be rebuilt, and set him over that Work Alipius & went about it vigorously, and sound himself seconded by the Governor of the Province Yet he was oblig'd to give over the Undertaking, the Flames that came out of the Earth made the Place impracticable Eight Years after he found himfelf involv'd in the horrible Persecution that destroy'd a very great number of People, and that was first rus'd against those who had made use of Magick to know who should succeed I then. When those who receiv'd the Commission to inform against the Guilty, had set the thing a going, nothing was feen but accused Persons, who were immediately Condemn'd and Punish'd Alypins y who had betaken himself to a private I is, in order to enjoy the Pleasures of Quiet, was attack'd by the Informers, and accused of being to Poisoner He was Banish'd, and all his Estate was Consiscated this Son Hurceles being condemn'd to Death on the same Accusation, was happily say d & is he was led to the Place of Execution The News of that happy Chance, mitigated Alypius s Affliction in his Exile It is very likely that the Author of a Work of Geography, which pleas'd Julian the Apostate very much, does not (A) differ from our Alipius, but I do not believe that that Work is the Description of the (B) Old World, which I mes Gorbofredus Translated from Greel into Latin I don't well know one AI ? PIUS who made a Treatise e of Musick, of which Cassilladorus speaks, Meursius was the first who publish'd it in Greek Mr Hosman would have done better ζ to omit this Article wholly

6 See the Remark y See the Rumark A

Art che Hierocles e timago. ואוס עונ tio muli-V offius de icient Math pag 94 M Stakes in the first 1 artion of my Dictionary

ALY-

Varus as one Man It must nevertheless be confest, that these Verses of the 9th Eclogue of Virgil,

Immo hac qua Varo necdum perfecta canebat, Pare tuum nomen (superet moao Mantua nolis, Mantua wæ miseræ nimium vicina Gremonæ) Cantantes sublime sei ent ad sidera eggni are applied by the Grammarian Servius to an Alfenus Varus who was fent by Aurussus to command beyond the Po, after Pollio had lost that Government The same Grammarian observes that some Persons have applied these other Verses of Iirgil to the Civilian Alfenus I arus, Successor of Servius Sulpicius,

Nam (a) neque adhuc I are videor, nec divere Cinna Nam (a) neque adduc I are videor, nec divere Cinna Digna, sed argutes inter strepere anser olores. Their reason was, that Assume Variate the Civilian had composed some Verses. Servine consucted them by shewing that the Llogy ought to be understood of the Poet Varius, whom Horace praised so much (f) This is not without difficulty. A Man who applies himself with so much Ardour to the Civil Law, that by his great Progress he not only takes off the Shape of the Mechanick Trade that he had

off the Shame of the Mechanick Trade that he had exercised in his Native Country, but succeeds also the greatest Civilian that was at that time in the Republick of Reme, is in all likelihood grave enough not to join with Catul'us, and fuch other Sparks of the same Stamp in their Debruchery. But Alfenus, of whom Catullus speaks, was one of that Gang, (b).

Alphone immemor, at que unanimis false sodalibus, he carry'd (c) (atullus to his Whore, and therefore it is not very likely that he was the Disciple of Sulpitius Muretus was Censur'd for saying that varus, who carry d Catullus to his Mistress, was Quintilius Varus, and (d) the Censure was grounded on this, that there are at least 57 Years between the defeat of the three Legions of I arus, and the visit that Catullus speaks of I make use of this Reason. There would be so Years more or less between that iame. Visit are (1) the Consulship of Alsenus, and therefore it is very unlikely, that if the Shoemaker of Cremona was Consul in the Year of Rome 754. he should have had such a strict acquaintance with Catullus 50 Years before. To a Shoemaker of a Province that leaves before I or a Shoemaker of a Province that leaves his Trade to Study in the Capital City, is no young Boy when he is an intimate Friend of Men of Note Add to this, that he who did Virgil that good Office, commanded (6) heread the Add to this, that he who did Virgil that good Office, commanded (f) beyond the Po 40 Years before the Consulship in question. So that there is reason to doubt, that the Alsensi who was Consul in the Year of Rome 754 is the same with Virgil's Benefactor. For it is rare that a Man attains to great Dignition of the usual time to attain them has been long that This was the Case of those, who after a Government of a Province, were 40 Years without obtaining the Consular Dignity. obtaining the Confusar Dignity.

(A) The Author ______decs not differ from our Alypi-I That Author lived in the Reign of julian the Apostate We have two Letters which that Prince writ to him, that testify that Alp us was the Brother of Celarus and that he exercised a considerable Ofof Calarius and that he exercised a confidentiale (b) fine (g) I his lift Character agrees admirably well (g) See the with Alypins of Antioch, who after having been Deputy-Governor in Fingland, was fent to Judae to have the Intendance of the Building of the Temple Am (h) Amm mianus Marcellinus informs us of all these things (1) Marcel lib 23 C Ambitiofum quondam apud Hierofolyn am templuminstauran squatum apua incregorn am tempitum instauran sumptibus coe talat in modici. Neor um que maturar dun Alppio dedera An ochense, qui olim Britannias cui averat pro prassett s. Cum itagi cer i idem sort terinstaret Alppius, juvanetque provine an sometu endi globi stimmar um propi sundamentareto is assallis cerumpentes secere locum exust saliquoties spicanishus inaccession See how he ipeaks in the 29th Book

(1) Ecce outen Alypius quoque ex Vicario Bittanniarum placiditatis homo jounder, post oticsame expost im vitam 9 c

(quon am buc ul jue injustitati etiendera manis) in fine page lore maximo volutatus ut venifi il seus citatus ch cum Hierocle fil o

(B) Is the D scription of the Old Wold the James Cothotredus translated I that Definition is on incomymous Work, composed in the Reigi of the I imperors Conflantius and Conflant I there was in incident rors Constantius and Constant and very harbarous Latin I ranflation of it which salmassis communicated to the learned James Gothofredus, who caused it to be Printed with the Greek Text, and with a new Translation attended with Mores. Notes (k) to flus feems to believe, that the Author of that Description is the same Alphan with the formation at the same Alphan with the Apostate, but if it be so, continues he, it must be faid according to the Remark of James Gothofredus, that Alypius composed it before he commanded in Ingland, for there is nothing of that Island in it but on the credit of others Britannia provincia, ficit his fuerant narrant, valde maxima As for me, I could willingly conclude from that Passage, that Alpins did not mike that Description, and here is my ground for it. He had been a long time Lieutenant to Freshand (1) when Julian gave him a Commission in England (1) when Julian gave him a Commission to cause the Temple of Jerusalem to be built. He sent his Geography to that Emperor, while he commanded under him in some Province. He was therefore able to speak of England as an I ye witness He is not then the Author of the Description of the Old World, in which there is nothing faid of that Island but on the Credit of others who had travell'd thither. Let no body say that he wrote two Books, the one before he went into England, the other under Julian the Apostate, and that the first is the Description publish'd by Getingfredne; for it is very like-

Jib 23 C 1 pm ann 363

'd' inn

ent Math pig 248

(1) Negotiumque dum Aly pio dede rat Antiochensi, Qui OLIM

(1)Virgil Folog 9 epig 3 i Mi Daciermillor a rotes the _7ti, [p gram of Catullus () Varus m. me is ad tuns mores Vitum dixerat & fore otiotum Scortillum ut mili tum repente VI WE WE Non face nec invenustum Catul epig 10
(d) Scalig in Catull epi-O De is pla ed in the 754 b f) Servius in Fcl 9 4. 19

" Eunapius. In vita Jam blic Town in Africa y Taken from Baronius's Anthe Years that I have d See St Auguftin Re-# Deme trias, his Daughter 11 very much praised by the Inthers (Baroni 395 n 18 dem qu que Alypium compluepifiolæ Symmanum ld ib He quotes chus r 82d Letter of the 2d

(a Julian i pift,

pienti

Book In

my Ldition

I find thefe H ords in the 8 ...d

I etter Jampu dem domino & fratis meo Al-

pio comi tatum ia

fere irque

(e) M umbourg Histoire du Pontificat de St Leon, 1 1 pag 35 Du ch EIA

ALYPIUS, a Philosopher of Alexandria, contemporary with Famblicus, and one of the subtilest Logicians of his Time, was as little as a Dwarf, but his Wit made up that Impersection. He had many Disciples to whom he only gave verbal Instructions, without dicating any Thing to them Which was the reason why they less him to follow Famblicus! under whom they might improve by Lectures and Writings. Famblicus having had some Conversations with our Alypius, admir'd his Judgment, and his Genius, and even compos'd his Life, wherein he prais'd his Virtue, and the simmes of his Soul Alypius died very Old in the City of Alexandria a.

ALYPIUS, Bishop of Tagaste C, where he was Born, was one of St Augustin's good Friends He was Baptized with him at Milan in the Year 288 Five Years after good Friends He was Baptized with him at Milan in the Year 388 Five Years after he triveld into Palestine, and if on the one hand the great Character he gave to St. Jerom of St Augustin, served to coment the Friendship of those two Fathers, it seems on the other hand, that at his return into Africa he lessen'd St Augustin's Affection. Which is ascribed to his relating to him the Evil that St Jerom's Adversaries spoke of him it Jerusalem Alypius was not promoted to the Bishoprick of Tagaste, till the Year 394 a Year after his Travels into Palestine He assisted at the Council of Carthage in the Year 403 where some means were used to bring the Donatists into the Unity of the Church The good that Pinianus did to the Church of Tagase when he went thither in the Year 409 with the two Melania's, and Albina his Mother-inlaw, expos'd Alypius to Slanders, as if by his fine Discourse and Dexterity he had extorted too much from those good and charitable Persons The Inhabitants of Hippo murmui d furiously against him, because they believed he had made 'em miss the Prey they thought to have in their Hands They had obliged Pinianus to promise them against his Will, to make himself a Priest in their City, his great Estate had moved them to do him that Violence, but the next Day he lest Hippo and return'd to Tagaste, and did not think himself oblig'd by such a forced Promise as his was Alypius was one of the seven Catholick Prelates who disputed in 411 with seven Donatist Bishops, in the samous Conserence of Carthage In 419 he was deputed to Honorius by the Church of Africa. Pope Boniface receiv'd him with many Marks of Friendship, and charged him to send chi, deque eo meminir

meminir
more fill to do it, and he used all his Skill in it y, but Alypius confuted that Herefy id llaviamore strongly, by the (A) severe Decrees which he obtained at the Court of Honorius num ld ib no unit to St Augustin some crasty Letters which the Pelagians dispersed in the Churches It
meminir
more fill to do it, and he used all his Skill in it y, but Alypius consuted that Herefy and llavianum ld ib no unit to series

We should be not and the Court of Honorius against the Pelagians We should know his Actions and his Merit better, if we had the Work that (B) So Augustin promises upon it, in a Letter that he writ to St Paulinus, To conclude, & Alipsus was like to have been Marry'd

All PIUS (Falconius Probus) Brother of & Clodius Hirmogenianus & Olybrius, was Prefect of Rome in the Reign of the Emperor Theodofius Baronius proves it ¿ by some Inscriptions He adds & that there are several Letters from Symmachus to this zilypius, he cites the Koman Martyrology, which fays that (A) St Almachius was

ly that it he had writ that Description, he would have inscribed in the Work that he sent to Julian, and that therefore the first Work would not have been minded. So that it had been lost, and the Book which Gest instructed and adorn d with Notes, which Gest instructed and adorn d with Notes, would not have the sent instruction. We may be the sent instruction of the sent instruction of the sent instruction of the sent instruction. which (not infredus translated and adorn d with Notes, would not be extant at this present time. We understand from tulian that Alpius was a Poet Free 20, says he (a) x, τα diag camma and seconds: Certon, x, rather is taken to reorders too same in a tibuli) time aescriptiones prioribus melores tum jam quilu cam exornas Afterwards he approves of the minner how Alpius treated the People and praises him for using iometimes Mildness and sometimes great Resolution. Here 3 the desires and sometimes great Resolution. Here 3 the desires are some auticular popular, x, some action of the circular programmes and continue are some auticular x, popular, x, the mean market x, popular, x, the mean of the circular x, popular, x, the mean of the circular x, popular, x, the programmer of the original and the x, the popular and original and the x popular and original are some of the circular x, popular, x, the programmer of the original and the x popular and original are some original and the popular and and the TWE CO E INICO TWOIL & MIXPAE BY OUTEN, 80 desting space of D ripullica a item administratione quod diligenser of 1 a rimiter is and gere omnia fludes gratum est Etenim leni arem ac moder ationiem cum fortitudine o robore ita ter per are ut ile e en a lonos veros utare, hanc ad pravos fev re correcen los adlibeas, non mediocris ingenie ac virtuis

(A) By the fivere Decrees that he obtain'd | Baronius does not affirm that the African Churches fent Alipius to the Emperor, to desire leave to make use of the fecular Power against the Sectators of Pelagius, he only conjectures it, and grounds his Conjecture on the Orders that were dispatched in the same Year by the Emperor Honorius against the Pelagians of Afri-But Mi Maimbourg does not speak of this as of a doubtful thing, for having odiously compard the Conduct of the Protestant Ministers with that of the Conduct of the Protestant Ministers with that of the P'sp are he adds, (b) That which fill'd all France with Joy, is, that such a suft Decree was soon sollowed by that great Fdict of Oddor, that gave the fital Blow to Heresy, by forbidding the publick exercise of the pretended Reformation, destinoying all their Temples, and banishing the Ministers who would not renounce their Errors terminated out of the Impire, those that might yet be suspected of it were forbidden to meet, and those false Bishops, who would not subscribe to its Condemnation, were expell'd from their

(B) The Work that St Augustin promises upon it] (B) The Work that St Augustin promises upon it] Because what he says in that Letter may (c) give a general notion of Alprius's Merit, it will not be improper to set it down here Est esiam aliud quo issum fratrem amplius diligas, nam est cognatus venera bilis & verd beat: Episcopi Alpris quem toto pessore amplesseris & merito nam quisquis de illo vuro benigne cogitat, de magna Dei miserico dia & de mirabilibus Dei gitat, de magna Dei misericoi dia & de mirabilibus Dei muncribus cogitat Itaque cum legisset petitionem tuam qua desiderare teindicasti ut historiam suam tibi scriberet, & volchat facere propter benevolentiam tuam, & nolchat propter verecundiam suam, quem cum viderim inter amor rem pudoremque sulfuantem, onus al 10 in humeros meos transtuli nam hoc mihi etiam per epistolam sussiti Cuso ergo si Dominus adjuverit, totum Alprum inscram magnorodiis tuis nam hoc sum ego maxime veritus ne illa vereretur aperire omnia que in eum Dominus contustit. ne Vereretur aperire omnia que in eum Dominus contulit, alicubt minus intelligenti (non enim abs te solo illa legententur) non divina munera concessa bominibus, sed seipsum pradicare videretur, & tu qui nosti quomodo bac legas propter aliorum caveudam infirmitatem, fraterna notitia debito fraudareris

debito fraudareris

(A) Sr Almachius was kill'd by the Gladiators]
He went about to suppress the Worship of the false Gods on the day of the Octave of Christmas, (which is the first day of the Year) and it cost him his Life Here are the words of the Martyriology on the first of January (d) Rema S Almachii mariyris, quijubens
of January (d) Rema S Almachii mariyris, quijubens te Alypse Urbis prafeste cum diceres, hodice Ostava Domir nici dies sunt, sessare à superstitionibus idolorum & à jan
nici dies sunt, sessare à superstitionibus idolorum & à jan arificies possures, à gladiatoribus occisus est. Theodoret in the

DIRS ad эдл 39

ally by the Gamestors in the Prefecture of Alppins; lastly, he of Alppins Governor of Egyps, with whom John the Hermit (B)h the same with him of whom I speak in this Article. 2. That the hill'd by the G onversation, is The Hermit converted Alypius A learned Englishman conjectus St Almachius is an imaginary Saint, and that the Title of the hat the Martyr kk produc'd that wonderful Canonization.

ALKINDUS. Look for ALCHINDUS.

A L L A T I U S (Leo) Library-keeper of the Vatican, born in the Isle of Chios, is one of the most famous Writers of the XVIIth Century He was laborious and indefatigable, greedy of Manuscripts, endow'd with a great Memory, very fit to collect Materials, and consequently he deserved the Place that he had, although he had no very great Penetration, nor a manner of Arguing that savour'd of a good Logician I don't mention the Employments he had before he became the Pope's Library-keeper, neither have I examin'd whether Morers, who speaks of him at large, has been very exact. If I say any thing upon this, (A) it shall be in the Remarks. So that omitting here what may be found in his Dictionary, I shall only touch upon some things that are not there. Allast was very serviceable to the Gentlemen of Port-Royal, in the Dispute they had with Mr. Claude, about the Belief of the Greeks concerning the Eucharist Mr Claude calls him often the great Author of Mr Arnaud, and gives but (B) an indifferent Character of him Mr Simon represents him as a (C) Man of little Sincerity Never was a Latin by Birth, more passionate against the Schismatick Greeks than Allatius, nor more devoted to the See of Rome. He never was marry'd, nor in Oiders, the 26th Chapter of the 5th Book of his Ecclefiastical History, speaks of a Monk, whose name was Telemachus, who came from the utmost Parts of the East to Rome to endeavour the abolishing of the Gladiater: Games He had the Courage to go and cate-chife those Men in the heat of their bloody Exer cifes, but the Spectators were so offended at it, that they Stoned him to death Honorius hearing of it, caus'd him to be placed among the Martyrs, and commanded those fort of Games to be abolish'd (a) Baronius would reduce what you have just now read, and what I have cited out of the Martyrology, to all the fame Fact, and would be glad to make us believe that Theodores call'd Almachius, that he plac'd in the Reign of Honorius what was done in that of Theodosius, and that he imputed the action of the Gladiators to the Spectators. At that rate Theodores would be mistaken in three things

(B) John the Hermis had a Conversation Baronius cifes, but the Spectators were so offended at it, that (a) Baron

Theodorer would be militaken in three things
(B) John the Hermit had a Conversation] Baronius cites hereupon a long Passage (b) whereby we understand that good Pilladius took it very ill that the Hermit should leave him to go and converse with Alyp us Governor of the Province. The spite he conceiv'd at it gave him some contempt for the Hermit, and inspir'd him with the Resolution to retire. He would have done it, if the Hermit had not fent him word to tarry yet a while Palladius perceiv'd then that there was a great deal of Spirituality in that Man, and that he had a very particular Talent to guess a Man's Thoughts He staid till the Governor was gone, and then the Hermit made his

(C) The Title of the Almanack preduc'd that won-derful: anoniza ion] Those that cannot make use of the finglish Book printed at London in 1688 entitled, The Enribusiasm of the Church of Rome, may consult the Eleventh Volume of the BibliothequeUniverselle, at the 139th Page They will see there that according to the Conjecture of the English Author, Some ignorant the Conjecture of the English Author, Some ignorant Monk of the 7th or 8th Century, seeing at the beginning of the Calender, S Almanachum written by way of abbreviation according to the Custom of those Times, S Mail Ta-Almachum, sook that word seldom us'd in those times, lands name of a Saint, gave it a termination in us, and (1) The self of the first day of the Year Ignorance and each bad no sooner brought this new Saint into the World, but be found Martyrologists, who said he had been kill d in the Amphitheaser of Rome, in the Prefecture of Crailo Istoria de Poeti holy Courage Alcuinus (1) is the first that speaks of it in a doubtful manner Fighting No (c) anciboly Courage Alcuint
it in a doubtful manner

(A) If I say any thing upon this is shall be in the Remarks | I find in Lorenzo Graffo de that Leone Allacci (so he calls him) was but nine Years of Age when he was carried from the Island of Chier into Calabria, where he found the Protection of a powerful Famiwhere he found the Protection of a powerful Family (2). At the end of a certain time he was fent to Receive here he studied classical Learning, Philosophere do Divinity, in the Grecian College He was been at Naples great Vicar of Bernard Justinians, bethop of Anglona He return'd to his Native Country, and finding nothing to do there according to his defires, he came to Rome again, where he studied Physick under julius Casar Lagalla, and was admitted Doctor in that Science Afterwards he applied himself to Philosophical Learning, and taug'it Greek in the College of his Nation. The death of Gregoty XV made him lose the Rewa d of the Commission which he had received (f), to cause the Library of the Flestor Palating to be horought to Rome brary of the Elector Palatine to be brought to Rome Some time after he went to live with Cardinal afterwards with Cardinal Francis Barberini, Vatican from Pope Alexander VII Lorenzo Crasso fays only this in the Book that I have quoted I add that Allatius had been a long time Library-keeper of Cardinal Barberini

(B) But an indifferent Character] Allatius was (g) a Greek, who had left his Religion to embrace the Romish, a Greek whom the Pope had made his Library-keeper, the most addicted Man in the World to the Interests of the Court of Rome, the most malicious, the most flandering, and most violent Man against the Greeks, who are call d Schismaticks,

Man against the Greeke, who are call d Schismaticks, child tand particularly against Cyril, and after all a time Seller of Smoak———His Zeal for the Court of Rome appears in the very beginning of his Book, De perpetus consensione, to thus he ipeaks in the Pope's lavour, (1) The Roman Pontis holds of no Body, he judges every Body, and is judged by none, Obedience is to be paid to him although he governs undigitly, he gives Laws without receiving any he alters them as he pleases, he creates Magistrates, he determines Matters of Faith, he orders the great Affairs of the Church as he pleases. He cannot Err is he would, for no Infidelity or Illusion can come near him, and if an Angel should say otherwise, being stored as he is with the Authority of Jeius Christ, he cannot change. The Sharpneis wherewith he treats those against whom he disputes, as Chytraus, Greyston, the Archbishop of Corfu and some others, whom the Archbishop of Corfu and some others, whom he attacks on purpose, appears by the meer read-ing of his Writings, each Period honours them with some of their fine Titles (2) Fools, Lyars, Blockheads, Rosten Mushrooms, Infernal Mouths, Wicked, Impudent, and such other like terms that do not denote a very moderate Man To prove to us the Conformity of the Greek Church with the Remish in essential Things, he lays down as a 3 cap 15, Principle that one must acknowledge no other 16,17,18 Party but that which obeys the See of Rome for & advers the true Greek Church, and as for the other Greeks Chreygt whom he calls Hereticks and Schismaticks, he tairly passim maintains that it is well done to reduce them to Obedience by Fire and Sword (3) That Hereticks must be Proscrib'd, Exterminated, and Punish'd, and (3) Allat if they are obstinate, burnt and put to Death They de Perpet are his own Words Had Morers reason then to call conf lib him good Man? Is that didainful Elogy due to those 2 cap to who ipeak of nothing but penal Laws, Extirpation, Ibid lib who ipeak of nothing but penal Laws, Extirpation, Ibid lib and Fire and Sword, when the Question is about 3 cap 11 what is to be done to Hereticks?

(C) Represents him as a Man of little Sincerity]
The design of the whole first Chapter of the Critical History of the Levant, is to shew that Lee Allatini

(f) More~ Ti places Tear 621 taken till (g) Clau-de, Re-Mr Arnaud B 3

> (1) Allat de Perpet conf lib

Allat de conf lib

(c) Theo-

ib n 30

(b) Pallad

in Laufiac cap 22 apud Lipom tom

> Poets Garage 73 06 See alfo has Elogii d'huomini letterati to i pag 397 & seq (e) That of theSpinel

d see the louinal

desSavant

of th 15

Novemb 1666 B Henn

Witte, Di

mum Biograph

Moieri

places his D Ath IN 1670

he gives a reason factio (D) that deserves to be known. It would be difficult to find a more notable Supplement in the History of Authors, than that which concerns a Pen (E) that he will. He published several Manuscripts, several Translations of Greek Authors and several Books of his own Composing. The List of them in Mereria Distinguish those Three forest Works, nor does it comprehend all that Allatius published. There is more Reading and Learning in his Productions, than Wit and Judgment. He knew how to discover the Faults of those against whom he were but he did it with the greek Sharpness and in an insulating manner. This writ, but he did it with too much Sharpness and in an infulting manner. This is chiefly to be seen in the Dissertations a that he published against Mn Chreyethen, concerning the Council of Florence His Genius and his Memory may be known, by the Digiestions he made from one Subject to another me the same Volume. Mr. Sallo was nothing less than (F) his Admirer in that respect. Allatius died at Rome in the & Month of fanary, 1669, being 83 Years old He had often made Greek Poems He made one on the Birth of Lewis XIV wherem Greece's brought in speaking That Poem wis printed before his Book, de Perpetua Confensione, which he dedicated to that King I forgot to fay that the Gentlemen of Port Royal did not fail to answer something to Mr. Claude (G) in favour of Allatius.

A L MAIN (James) Professor of Divinity at Paris in the College of Navarre, sourish d in the beginning of the XVIII Century He was Born at Sens, and acquir'd the Reputation of one of the most subtle Logicians, and of the best Schoolmen of those The great Inclination he had for the Doctrine of Scotus, and for that of Occam, and Gabriel Riel, shews the Character of his Genius He taught Logick and Physicks before he was admitted into the House of Navarre, in the Year 1508 and publish'd some Tightiles on those two parts of Philosophy in 1505, and 1508 He took his Doctor of Divinity's Degree in the Year 1511, and the Year following he explain'd the 3 Books of Sentences in the College of Navarre. He was made use of at the same time to write tor King I cours XII against Pope Julius II and for the Authority of the Councils against a Piece of Cardinal Capetan The Council of Pisa had sent that Cardinal's Book to the Faculty of Divinity of Paris to be confuted by them, they made choice of Al- (e) Diog mun for that daudgery, and had no reason to repent of their choice. That Doctor had no Reason to be passionate against Caucus, Archbishop of Corfu, that Caneni has not imputed any Opinions and Practices to the Greeks which they have not, and that Allatius to pleaf Pope Urban VIII who had it 'at tim form d the Delign to reunite the Greeks w th the Church of Rome by way of Misigation, molli-tied many things in the Opinions of the Greeks This is to fry plainly enough that he wanted Sincerity, for it (mem was in the right, he could not be contridicted or tot Complaifance to the Pope, without fichificing candor to the Maxims of State

(D) A Kinjon for it that deserves to be known | Pope Ale ander VII ask d him one day why he did not take Orders It is, univer dhe, because I would be almin rely to many But why then, reply'd the Pope don't you many Pro replied Allatius, to be always Thus he spent at low y to make myfelf a Priest (f) hi whole Life in deliberating between a Parish and Wife leihips when he died, he repented that he I all not made choice of either of em but he might perhaps have repented 3 or 40 Years successively, if he had made choice of either of em (b) A I in that Allatius us d] This particularity comes from the same hand as the foregoing, to wit John Pasti et a, Allatins's good Friend, Heir of his Books and Principal of the College de propato mis five. He told Dom Mabilion (a) that Allatius hiving made use of one single (b) Pen for 40 Years to write Greek, and loing it at last was ready to cry fix Greek. He writ very fast, for he transcribed (c) in one Night the Diarium Romanorum Pontificum, which Ili arion Rincatus, a Monk of Citeaux had lent him Alla iur was not permitted to publish

(I) Noti * Is then his Admirer in that respect See here how he ipeaks, (d) after having observed that the chief Piece of one of Allarius's Works was a Complaint of the Virgin "That Complaint "Was composed by Marchaelle Free and the Complaint "The Complaint "Was composed by Marchaelle Free and the Complaint "The Complaint" was composed by M taphrafter, from which Lee Al-"latius took occasion to give us an Elo"gy of Metaphrastes, written by Pfellus And beciuse Metaphrastes s Name was simeen, he also took occasion from thence to make a very long Differtution on the Lives and the Works of great Men, whole Name was Someon I rom the Someons he I occided to the simens, from those to the S moniwith g pleides I co Allariar For he has already mide other Differtaions on the Lives and Works a and laftly, to the Simenaffides of fome Authors who had equiveral Names as that of George, Methodius, Micross, Philo and Pf I has Their forts of Projects are of a new Inven-"tion, it least we have none like them in the Works "et the Ancients" Do he Lacricus seldom forgets to mention at the end of each Life of the Philosophers those who had the same Name as they and he cites (e) Demetrius Magnes, who had wret a Book, we our union tout the homonymis Poets at Scriptoribus See the Remark H of the Article Apollomius Tyaneus Neither is Allatius the restorer of those Projects Meursius had publisht several Treatises of that Nature before him See Mr Terffier in his Catalogus Authorum Bibliothecarum, where he gives the (f) List of the Authors who exercised their Pen on that Subject He calls them Scriptores de homonymu According toMr Sallo, Homonymi ought to be translated these that have Equivocal Names, but it would be a wrong Translation It was never faid that Princes of the same Name as the Charles s, the Lewis's, the Henry's, had equivocal Names Names of that Nature are those, that may be taken in a different Sense, such is their Species and their Use, both in Logick and in common I anguage But to return to Lee Allatius, I must observe that he was very fit to draw up Lists or Catalogues. He made it appear when he publish'd his Apes Urbane, it is a Rook that grows to your and it already warms it is a Book that grows scarce, and is already very dear in Holland It contains a List of all the Lettered Men that appear'd in Rome from the Year 1630 to 1632 and a List of their Works The reason of the Title is taken from the Bees, that Pope Urban VIII bore in his Coat of Arms There is another Lift of Allating that is less known than this, and the Title whereof is Dramaturgia. It concerns the Pieces for whereof is Dramaturgia. It co the Stage, and their The Book that he publish'd at Rome in the Year 1636 De erroribus mag- is certain norum virorum in dicendo, contains divers Remarks that Mr itolien from Claudius Du Verdier Mr Morhof (b) reproaches him with it

(G) Answer something to Mr Claude in Favour of quates Allatius J First of all (1) they mention part of with what Mi Claude says of him, and then they go on praise, in this manner "But besides that those ill groundand to "ed Reproaches don't look well, that Allatins's
"Writings give quite another Idea of him, and that
"(1) his Fellow Ministers spoke of him in quite another manner, and cited him with Praise, they are also against good Senie for a Man may be interested or sharp against an Author whom he refutes, without being a Cheat and a Forget of false Passages, and false Histories, and there is no Consequence from the one to the other. It is not with Vices as it is with the Virtues of Men, there It is not is no Affinity between them, nay, they are of-ten contrary to one another, and some Persons may be Pathonate, Violent, Flaterers, Interested, and yet we have no Reason therefore to believe that the Passages which they cite are supposititious

Laert in Epimeni de, lib (f) Pag 355 (h) Morof

dePat 1-Vin p 86 179 (1)Repon ie genera 13 P 212 (1) Drelincourt Dialog de la descente aux en fers,p 29 & ieq Note, Tha ın my Ediis the od.

the 466th Page and the following must be look afor CONCERNO Leo Allatius is certain

Dreliacourt quescs him and takes advantage of what be lays comcerning the U oman, who conju red the Ghoft of Samuel He quotes de Engastrimytho 16,0

There

(f) Mi billm Mufrun Ital t 1

15 q

(1)1 (i) S 1/21 of Lin lot as ()_ livetan ()11 Ma-Li'lon p (1) louinul des 5 1115 C 1 died pretty Young in the Year 1919. An Edition (A) of all his Works was made at Paris two Years after a. Those who say that he was a Monk (B) fire mistaken.

1005

A L P A I D E, a Concubine of Pepin, and Mother of Charles Martel. Some Authors Say (A) without good Grounds for it, that Pepin married her after he had divorced Navarr Plettrude. It is a general Opinion that Lambert, Bishop of Liege, was never so base as to approve (B) Pepin's Love for that Mistress, and that Alpade being angry at the Liberty he took to censure them, made Pepin consent to the Design she form'd against that Prelate's Life. They add, that Dadon, Alpade's Brother, executed that abording the parallel of the p that Prelate's Life. They add, that Dodon, Alpaide's Brother, executed that abominable Design, and that having committed that Murder, he sell into a Disease that bred a great many Worms in his Body, and oblig'd him to throw himself into the Masses Lambers has been Canonized 'tis said he was the only (C) Prelate who durst tell Pepin the Truth, and that he suffer'd St John the Baptist's Fate. His Morality was so pure Fr t that he would not so much as give the Benediction (D) that was desir'd of him at Table for Alpaide's Glass That Woman y retired at last into a Monastery, where she died A Clouster is commonly for those kind of Persons, what Legborn was formerly that that to Bankrupts

ALSTEDIUS (John Henry) a German Divine of the Reformed Religion, was had been one of the most copious Writers of the XVIIth Century He was an indefatigable Writer, and one that answered his & Anagram wonderfully well He was a long time Professor of Philosophy and Divinity at Herborn, in the County of Nasjau, from whence he went into Transilvania to be Professor at Alba-Julia s, where he died in the Year 1638 being 50 Years of Age He had been one of the Fathers of the Synod of Dort One of his chief Occupations was to compose Methods, and to reduce all the Parts of Arts and Sciences into certain Systems His Encyclopedia & found Favour (A) with the to be found

Roman

"There is yet less Reason to believe it of Allatius than of another, because some Books which he cited when they were but Manuscripts, having been afterwards printed, have justified his Faithfulness, and because it appears moreover that he always pretended to the Reputation of a Learned Critick, and it is well known that such Persons are moreover. and it is well known that fuch Persons are very

"far from fallifying Authors"

(A) An Edition of all his Works was made] Oliver

Lagdaness took that pains, and added a Preface to it, wherein Almain is very amply praised The best of his Works are four moral Treatises Expessive circa decisiones quasisonum Magistri Gulielmi Occam de potesta-te summi Pontificis De auctoritate Ecclesia & Concilio-rum Dictata super Sententias Magistri Roberti Hol-

(k' LaunoiusHift

Gymnaf

Navar

p 611 (1) De

Script

Ecclest 1

p 488 (m) Ibid

Pag 614

(B) That he was a Monk] Father (1) Labbe accuses Gesner and his Abbreviator Similerus of having fally advanced this fact Morers did not fail to fay the same after Father Labbe Mr de Lauroy (m) is more particular in his Accusation against Gesner, he blames him for saying ir his Bibliosheca, that Almain was of the Order of the Franciscans He adds that Possevin in his Apparatus makes him only a Monk Father Labbe did not make use of that Distinction, he says that Almain was a Monk according to Gesner, but that according to others he was of the Order of St Irancis I do not believe that Gefner faid what is imputed to him, for I could not meet with any place in his Bibliotheca that makes mention of Almain I found indeed a Benedictin whose Name was Almannue, but he makes him live in the Year 890 As for Simlerus, it is very true that he says that James Almain a Monk wrote a Book against Cardinal Casesan Morers did not well know that Writer's Age, he flours sh'd still, says he, in the beginning of the XVI Century Say rather that he did not begin to flourish till

(a) Cordemoi, Hist de France vol 1 p 381 .

that time

(A) Some Authors say without good grounds for it, that Pepin _____ after he had divorced Plectrude]

Mr de Cordemoy (a) observes that they go only upon the credit of the second Continuator of Fredegarius, who says that Pepin married Alpaide "But" besides that this Author, who writ (as every body knows) by the orders of Charles Marrel's Brother and Nephew, took care not to speak others wise of the Amours of Pepin and Alpaide then as of a Marriage, he does not say that Plestrude was divorced Nay, there are still divers Acts which shew that Plestrude never siv'd separated from Pepin, so that according to the Ecclesiastical or Civil Laws, Alpaide could not be lookt upon as his lawful Wife, and if he married her, he had two Wives at a time

(B) Was never so besse as approve Pepin's Amours]

(B) Was never so befere to approve Pepin's Amount] Worneed not wonder that the second Continuator of Bredegarius should say nothing of Lamber's Conduct, nor of the fatal Consequences it was attended with, he could not touch on it without incurring the displeasure of Charles Marsel's Relations, who made use of his Pen, and therefore his silence is of no force But (6) the Author of the Gests says nothing of it neither An Author (s) who was then living fays only, That St Lambert was kill a by a Lord whose Name was Dodon, to revenge the Death of two of his Relations, whom the Servants of that Holy Bishop had kill d without his knowledge. If we knew of what Party that Author was, whether he was for Charles Martel, or for Plettrude, whether he hoped or terred any thing. We might know the Conformance of he any thing, we might know the Consequences of his Silence Mr de Cordemoy adds (d) that it does not appear by any Memoirs of that time, either that Dodon was the Brother of Alpaide, or that she moved him to kill St Lambert, that there are indeed some words in some Mariprologies made about that time, which shew that thus Violence had been done by Order from the Court, and that as Pepin was the Master of it, those that writ afterwards thought they ought to explain to the disadvantage of that Prince and of Alpaide what was in cover d words in those Martyrologies In my Opinion the surest way is to place this in the number of doubtful things. Those who (c) say that none but Lambert Bishop o Liege durst reprimand Pepin, and speak openly of his Bigamy as of a publick Adultery, without suffering himself to be mov'd either by the Promises or the Threats of Dodon, Alpaide's Brother, did not write (f) till a long time after, which makes their Testimony less certain Moreover the Son of Alpaide was such a formidable Man, that nothing can be inferr'd from the Silence of contemporary Writers

(C) The only Prelate who durst tell Pepin the truth]

An Author of an Historical Dictionary would have a thousand Occasions to observe, that there are no greater Flatterers of Princes than Clergymen Their Sermons, their Prayers, their Speeches, their Epidles Deducatory are so full of extravagant Flories. Liege durst reprimand Pepin, and speak openly of his

Sermons, their Prayers, their Speeches, their Epi-files Dedicatory are so full of extravagant Elogies, that the condition they put an honest Hearer or Rea-der in, cannot be better represented than by the Proverb, date mili pelvim If it be said that Pepin was no King, I answer, that he had the Key of Tongues and Pens, Punishments and Rewards in his hands, he only wanted the Title of Sovereign, he had the reality, and performed the Functions of it Flat-terers do not mind a vain Title They adore him more devoutly who has the Power without the Title, than him who has the Title without the

(D) The Benediction that was desir'd of him at Table for Alpaide; Glass] See here how a (g) modern Hi-ftorian relates the thing Ad epulas invitator (B Lan-Itorian relates the thing Adepulas invitator (B Landebertus) a principe Pippinus caterique illustres virique aderant, scyphum quisque suum ab Antistite benedici, aut, ut alis dicunt, de manu cius peculum accipere, pia ambitiene supichant Cum Alpais (nam & issa pleno convivuo intererat) scyphum suum a Landeberro issa pleno convivuo intererat) scyphum suum a Landeberro issa pleno convivuo intererat scyphum suum a Landeberro issa pleno convivuo intererat scopfus Compare with this the Stories rumbelain the new Letters against (b) Maimbourg's Elisami of Calvinson related in the new L. History of Calvinism

(A) Found Found with the Roman Catholicks] Lorenze Craffo places Alftedius among the great Men whole Elogies he has publish'd It is very likely that eMezerai. Abrege Chront 1 707 Cordemoi Hist de pag 381 2 Moreri, who Says Monastery founded ly Alpaide at Orpled The word fedulitas inAlstedius e Witte, Diar Biograph t 1 rs a Folio, div ded into

4 Tomes

(b) Cordemoi, ibid (c) (co-Lamberri c 7 apud Cordemoi, ibid (d)Cordemot 1b p 382 (e) Anfelm Laodicenf Canonicus Sigibert Monachus Gemblacenf Nicolaus Laodic Canonic Vener & alii citante Cordemoi, pag 381 (f) Cordemoi p 381

> (g) H2drian Valesius 1 33 rerum Francica-

(b) Pag.

3 31 a Vossius de Scient, Matheth p 3-6. EsicAmelot de la Houstage, who quotes a letter of cember, 1561, in lis Marginal Notes of Fra Paolo's Tranfittion, p Iranfla'ia Ibid p 494 Frillivic 11ift Conc 7 rident 1 15 6 13 n 1 (ld 1 14 Wirre, pap 26 S Ju 1685 See bis Mu-

Distium

Biogr t 1

frum Italicum, tr P 78, 79 Witte, 1b p 116

Roman Dathelicks; the mass Reprinted an Links, and fold pretty well in trace. Some are of Opinion that that his best Works is his Treasure of Chronology, of which shere are several Editions, others speak slightingly of the Vossus says nothing of it, he only mentions the standard of generally and particularly the Treatise of Archimetick. He acknowledge that Author to have read much, and that his Learning was very much diversified. Those who sudge of him with the least Flattery, own that there are good things in his (B) Methods and Systems. He did not persuade many Proping of what he endetwour'd to prove in his Friumbles, Ribbout, that the leasured People of what he endetwour'd to prove in his Friumphus Biblique, that the Materials and Principles of all Arts and Sciences, are to be lookt for in the Scripture Rewas impossible for him to publish so many Books, without making use of the Labours of others, but he took too much from other Authors, whom (C) he transcribed without any Scruple John Himmelius, a Divine of the Confession of Augsburg, and Divinity Professor at Jena, is one of those who (D) writ against him Morers (E) did not know king, of the Year of the Death of Alfedius, and it had been better for him to say nothing of 3 b of De- it

ALTAEMPS (Mark) Son of one of Pius IV's Sisters, was one of the Cardinals that presided in the Council of Trent Wolfgang Aleaemps his Father was a Count of the Empire in the Dioceis of Companies How sine soever the Dignity of the Pope's Legate was in that Council, that Cardinal obtain'd it only by the Artistices of some ril The Rorromeo's related to the Pope in the same degree with him, haaffected Persons ving a mind to remove him from the Court, caus'd him to be sent to Trent 6, where he y Fia Pa- remain'd (A) from the Month of January 1962 till about the beginning of the Spring olo, 17 in 1963. The Pope recall d him to raise Troops, for hearing that the Dukes' P 648 of of Saxony and Wirtemberg and the Landgrave of Helle rais'd Men, and that the Germans-Amelot's of Saxony and Wirtemberg and the Landgrave of Helle rais'd Men, and that the Germans-Amelot's had a mind to plunder Rome where they had found fuch a great Booty in the Year 1527 he was not willing to be surprized ? That Cardinal was very much displeased with Pibrac's Speech His Opinion was that a vigorous Auswer should be made to it; and he said that the insolence of that Civilian eight to be restrained, who was only us'd to treat with mean Persons A He was promoted to the Purple in the Year 1561, and a little before his Legation, the Canons of Conftance had chosen him for their Bishop. He had neither the I earning nor the Experience requisite to preside in a Council; but his Uncle Pius IV was not ignorant that the other Presidents would supply what was Wanting in him e, and teach him the Intrigues of Occumenical Councils When Pope fent him Nuncio to the Emperor Ferdinand in the Year 1560 he gave him f mous Cornelius Mullo & Bishop of Bitonto for a Pedagogue Altaemps was then Bishop That Family increased its Dignities afterwards, for we find a Duke of of Cassano ALT ALMPS who died a in the Year 1620. He was learned, and if I am not mi-staken, it was he who collected the Library that was so long famous at Rome under that Name, and which was not yet quite fold when Father Mabillon travell'd & into Ita-That Duke of Altaemps's Name was John Angel, and he publish'd the Life of Pope, Anicetus Another Duke of AITALMPS, whose Name Gaudentius, and who died in the Year 1677, was no less curious in Books, nor less learned He published the Life of St Chrysoftom, and persecuted Holiness triumphant i

ALTHU-

() De la perfection di Chietien, pag apud Konig, Bibl p 29 (k)Entret fur les fuences. apud BailletJugem t 2 n 269 (a) Baillet, ubi supia

Morers took from thence, the Pruses he bestows upon Alfedius I find the Readers are referred to 1 () Work of Sorito be informed about that Learned Giman He much have been better known and more effected than many others among the coman (atholicks Father Lami of the Oratory is of Opinion that A'stedius (k) is almost the only one among all the mater of Encyclopidies and Systems of Sciences, that d scruisto be read, and to keep his rank in a choice Li-trary See the following Remark

(B) Own that there are good things in his Mithods] See here what Mr Bailles (a) took out of the Anonymous Goman, who writ the Bibliographia curiofa liftorico-pli lologica "Alftedius has indeed many good things, but he is not exact enough in many "Places Nevertheless the publick received him with great Applituses when he appear'd the first time, and he is not useless to those who being " destitute of other helps, and not having the Authors, would acquire some Knowledge of the Terms of each Protession and Science One "Terms of each Profession and Science One cannot sufficiently praise his Patience and Labour, and his Judgment and Choice of the good Authors out of whom he made his Abridgments I or they are not meer Pieces and Rhapoldies ill joyn d, but he gives the Principles of the Sciences ind Arts with great order, and endeavours to be uniform every where, though some Pieces are better than others, and some of them are good for nothing, as his History, Chronology, or good for nothing as his History, Chronology, or plexed himself by endeavouring to make himself "plexed himi-li by endeavouring to make himself too clear, that he is too full of Divisions and Subdivisions, and that he affects a Method too "much constrain'd" Lorenzo Crasso says, that the there is more Labour than Genius in Missellia's

Works, yet they are esteem'd, and People have an Admiration for his Labout, that gives him entrance into the Temple of Glory (b) Con gloria del suo (b) Lor none s'e ammirata la fatica fatta nelle storic, enella Cro- Crasso ubi nologia di Ten pi le quali cose, quantunque in libri d- insta, p versi di Scrittori illustri sacri e prosant i uovansi, e vi 214 (c) Thotavia l'ordine dato da Giovanni Errico alle sudette fatiche storiche c stato da gli huomini amatori delle antichita, e plagio lideli crudizioni assa commendato

(C) Hi transcribed without scripte le Here 154 page

dell crudizioni assai commendato

(C) Hi transcribed without scruple I Here 15 a Passage of Thomasius (c) Hunc in Paratilis Theo16 logicis quicquied de silentio sairorum assert (1), observo (1) Tit prope de verbo descripsise e Casaubono (2), quem nomina11 tamen et am lettoris intere at, ut scret unde plura sibi haurienda sorent Vereor autim ne quere im eandem alibe quoque excuserit, cum in ipso ad lictorem principio reconstrum periodum unam alteramque ded cationis Casaubonia16 ad Banae 10 11.43-the Age of 52 Years

(A) Where he remain'd from the Menth of January] Pallavicini (f) took up Father Paul for having taid that Cardinal Simmetra and Cardinal Altaemas were named the Pope's Legates both at one time, to be added

Craffo ubz teratio. il. ron n. 43.

2 pag 21-(f)Pallav Histor Concil Trid lib. 15 C

ALTHUSIUS (John) a German Civilian, flourish'd towards the end of the a stand mot XVIth Century. He writ a Book of Politicks Some Civilians of his Country are of the XIV strangely (B) angry with him, because he maintain'd that the Screenighty of States of Moreri belongs to the People He was Professor of the Civil Law at Herbern, and afterwards a Jorius of Fallow He was a Transfer of Tran

Pensionary of the City of Embden He wrote a Treatise De Jurisprudentin Romana, Elog cap another De civili Conversatione, another intitled Dicaeologia, &c

ALTILIUS (Gabriel) born in the Kingdom of Naples, flourish'd about the end of the a XVth Century. He was chiefly esteem'd for his Latin Verses, which shew'd tractatus that he cultivated good Literature, and that he read the Antients with great Advantage. This served him to put himself forward in the Court of Ferdinand King of Naples, which preserved still something of the good Taste it had got in the Reign of the made ples, which preserved still something of the good Taste it had got in the Reign of an Epitaph King Alphonsus. He was chosen Preceptor to the young (A) Prince Ferdinand B upon Altitude appears also that he was employ'd in State Affairs, and that he y accompanied Jolius, and was Pontanus to Rome, for a Negotiation of Peace between King Ferdinand and Pope dedicated to him the Innocent VIII. He had a great share in the Friendship and Esteem of the same Pontanus, as the Writings of the latter shew & Sannazar gave him also several marks of his de magni-Esteem in his . Poems. Those two Authors are not (B) the only Persons that prais'd ficentia him. One of Gabriel Altibus's finest Poems is that which he compos'd on the Marri- . See eleg age of (C) Isabella of Arragon. One would not easily believe that Latin Verses rais'd or spigr him to the Prelature; but it is certain that they ferv'd him much to obtain the Bishop- Jovius, rick of Policastro Some have taken it ill that after his elevation he neglected the Mufes (D), who had been so useful to him They find some Ingratitude and Impudence in his sudden leaving of them And his Fault would seem unpardonable to them, had lius tom 7 Ital Sacree they not some regard to the Excuses he might make, that Episcopacy required he pag 795, should apply himself speedily to the Study of Holy Writ He died in his Bishoprick, 796 being above & 60 Years of Age He was raised to it by Sixtus IV in the Year 1471 and enjoy'd it till the Year 1484 which was that of his Death 3. We find only the Epitha-

to the Legates that were already named He knew not that Simonetts was honour'd with the Legation of the Council at the fame time with Ofices and Seripande, several Months before Cardinal Altaemps was made their Collegue He censures him for another thing, which is, that he mentions Ofens and Seripande only when he speaks of the things that happen'd a considerable timeaster their Legation Such Faults are not very material, yet it cannot be taken ill that they should be noted, for it is the duty of an Historian to avoid them

rian to avoid them

(B) Strangely angry with him] Boeclerus (a) maintains that Althusius's Principle is only sit to break all the Bonds of the Civil Society, and that his Work is so far from deserving to be recommended to Students, as several Men do, that it rather deserves to be burnt Omnes reges nibil alias esse quam Magistratus—Althusio inter solemas carmina places, unjus Politica non tradit sone qui civitatis sinis or felicitas or tranquillitas obtineri debeat, sed quibus modis omne vinculum societat sai saliatis civilis disolvi ac everti possis Demagogica appelles merito, or tamen quia Juriscon-Demagogica appelles merito, & tamen quia Juriscon-sulti nomen prafert, & quadam subinde in oftentationem ejus scientia jacit, commendari juventuti Academica audimus librum orco damnandum judicio eorum qui venena a cibis disti nguere didicei unt Here is the Judgment that the Learned Conringius makes of it (b) Fundamentum dostrina sua politica collocat in eo qued summa Resp cujusvi jure sit penes solum populum qui error pestilens est es turbando orbi apius. Another German Writer expresses himself with more force (c) In elass missam, says he, referendi sunt illi politicorum qui majistati apou tov souxinior populum faciunt, inde politici populares, es, quia jugulum omnium principum ac Regum petunt, Monarchomachi disti. Horum hominum messanda dogmata resertim habet Althusius in sua politica Vulcano publico edisto consecranda

(A) Preceptor to the young Prince Ferdinand] This is what Paul Jouius meant when he us'd this Express. ejus scientia jacit, commendari juventut: Academica au-

(A) Preceptor to the young Prince Ferdinand] This is what Paul Jovius meant when he us'd this Expression, junioris Ferdinandi regis Ughelli (d) makes also use of it Toppi (e) is of another Opinion Fu machro, says he, di Rè Ferdinando I d'Aragens, e Vescovo di Policastro nel 1471 I believe he is mistaken Fardinand I died in the Year 1494 being above 70 Years old So that he must have been born about the Year 1424 And Aleslius must have been his Preceptor of a King s Son is not commonly very young; he must have had time to shew his Erudition And doubtless King Alebonsus who was learned and surrounded with have had time to shew his Erudition. And doubtless King Alphonfus who was learned and surrounded with learned Men, would not have chosen Altilius without examining the Proofs of his Learning. We may therefore suppose that Altilius would have been 30 Years of Age in 1440 but he was only a little above (f) 60, when he died in 1484, he must then have been about sifteen Years of Age when Fardinand I wanted a Preceptor It is therefore unquestionable that he was not chosen for that Employment. I wonder that Nicodeme who made such a sine Supplement to Toppi's Book, takes no Notice of that Mistake I must make a small Remark against Paul Jewius He pretends (g) that Assistant made no more Verses after he was promoted to a Bishoprick, and abid that the best of his Poems is the Epishalamium of Isabella of Aragon I don't question but that this Isabella was she that was contracted the 1st of November 1478 with John Galeanzo Sforma, Duke of Mislam I cannot therefore persuade my self that Assistant is guilty of the Desertion that is imputed to him He was made Bishop in the Year 1471 the best of his was made Bishop in the Year 1471 the best of his Poems was compos'd the following Year How can then any body complain that the Mitre made him for sake Parassur?

(B) Are not the only Persons that praised him] Gyraldus speaks most advantageously of him Basil Zanchius made many Verses in praise of Altilus, that are to be found in the Delights of the Italian Poets John Mattheus Tuscanus (h speaks very well of him both in Verse and in Prose But if any one is desirous to see an Encomium upon his Wit and Probing. let him read Alexander ab Alexandro, who describes at large (1) the manner how he and some others were treated by Alishus, when they went to wish him Joy for his Preferment He gave them a Supper more becoming his first Condition, than the Dig-nity of a Bishop, wherewith he was then invested, Joy for his Preferment he had not yet dismist the Muses, his first Mistresses, (juppose he ever dismiss d them) and so the Conversation run on some Verses of Marrial that were

fung by a young Musician
(C) The Marriage of Isabella of Aragon] It is by that Poem and by his Elegies that he acquired his (k) Reputation Julius Scaliger found too great a pro-fusion in the Epithalamium Here is the Judgment he made of it (1) Gabriel Altilius epithalamium ceci-nit longe optimum, excellentissimum vero futurum si sibi ille temperasset Dum enim vult omnia dicere, assicit auditorem aliquando fassistatio canto quanta in alice voluptate. Est enim nimius, quod vitium illi genti est peculiare. Est enim totis illis Italia tradibus perpetua loquendi samei. This is but little obliging for the Neapolitan.

This is but little obliging for the Neapelitani

(D) Neglected the Muser who had been so us estilito pra him.) This somewhat strange that a Bishop (m) (1) Jul should be the Author of that Reproach, and that he should express it in such hard. Words si virtuitis lig Poemerito Policastir (as urbs olim Buxentum fuit) antistes tic 1 6 settin, à Music, per quas prosecras, cileritor I M PU-DENTERQUE discossir, MAGNO herele (m) Paul INGRATI animi PIACULO, nifi ad spom Jovius non injusta vienia ob id culpa tegeretur, quod ad sacras ibid literas nequaquam ordinis oblitus tempessive consussifit (n) Baillet See (n) Mr. Baillet's judicious Reflections upon this These 4 Verses of Latenus are not amiss suddiet Altisius descrite transfuga Music Poet C in quarum tabulis mobile nomem eras pag 338

And it Altitus asjerois remijing a major In quarum tabuls nobile nomen eras Sed quid peccavis, fi domercatur ut olim Carmonibus Phabum, nunc pictate Deum? A 2

(b) In Pe plo Italia

(1) Genial dierum, aded molliter ac dè in elsgis & heroico carmine ex celluit ficuti ex epithala mio Ifa bellæ A ragonia perspici potest, ut Pontani atque Actii tefimonio antiquis vatibus æquaretur Jovi us ubi su pra (1) Jul CæfarSca

(n) Baillet, pag 138 See alfo

Alti- 82

(b) Conring de civ pru-dent c (e)Mever in Analys libri 3 polit Aristot

(a) Boecler in

Grotium

de Jure belli, l 1 c 3 n 8 p m 235

> d)Ughell ubi infra pi, Biblioteca Napoletana, DME 101

(f) Jovius in Elog Cap 125 See also Ughellus Ital Sacr t 7 pag 796

Epithalamium of It and of Aragon in the Collection (E) of Gruterus, and in that of John Mattheus Tuscan are it is very likely that most of Altilius's other Verses are soft ALTING (Henry) Divinity Professor at Heidelberg, and at Graningen, was bott at Embden the 1 1 of February 1583 His Family had been a long thine very considerable on First and Constant of the control of the con at Embden the 1 1 16 February 1583 His Family had been a long time very confiderable in Friesland He was design'd from the Cradle for an Office wherein his Father (A) had signalized himself, I mean the Holy Ministry For that end he was sent very early to the Schools, and after he had learn'd Classical Learning, and gone thro a course of Philosophy at Groningen, he was sent into Germany in the Year 1602. He was three Years at Herborn, where he made so great a Progress under the samous Piscator, under Matthias Martinius, and Willsam Zepperus, that he obtain'd leave to teach Philosophy and Divinity He was preparing to travel into Swifferland and France when he was made Preceptor of a three young Counts who studied at Sedan with the Electoral Prince Palatin He took possession of that Employ in the beginning of September 1605 The Storm that threaten'd the Duke of Bossilon from Henry IV. and which had no consequence, was the cause that the Electoral Prince left, with those with those here he contiyoung Lords in the Year 1606 Altingius followed them to Heidelburg liere he continued to instruct the three young Counts He was also admitted give some Geographical and Historical Lectures to the Electoral Prince, and he became wholly his Preceptor in the Year 1608 Some Proofs of it may be found in (B) the Library of a Ihe Count of Nastiu, of Solms, and the Menberg

C Konig re listanoft tou ifbir c

Λ' гъ ham Soulterus, & tamus Inc I I fer mas d pacifix astical 5 mie, and thersby the University the Vatican He accompanied him to Sedan in that quality, and instructed him so well, that the young Prince after his return to Heidelberg in 1610. being ask'd Questions on all the Points of Religion before the Duke of Deux Pants, Administrator of the Electorate, and before several other Persons of Note, answer'd very pertinently in Latin. He was one of those that were chosen to accompany the young Elector into England in the Year 1612 where he had the Acquaintance of George Abbot, Archorhop of Conterbury, of Dr King, Bishop of London, and of Dr Hacquell, Preceptor of the Prince of Wales He had also the Honour to speak with King James The Marriage of the Lector with the Princess of England having been Celebrated in London in the Month of February 1613 C Altingius went before with his sirst Pupils, and arrived at Vixit anno Heidelberg the first of pril In the Month of August following he was made Professor of the Common Places of Divinity, and because he could not preside in the Different putes without being Doctor of Divinity. putes without being Doctor of Divinney, he took that Degree in the Month of Nowonher according to the usual Ceremonies In 1616 he had a laborious Office conficultion of the Seminary, if I may be permitted Alting call so the College of the Sanience that was at Heidelberg Ha was a College of the Sanience that was at Heidelberg Ha was a College of the Sanience that was at Heidelberg Ha was a College of the Sanience that was at Heidelberg Ha was a College of the Sanience that was at Heidelberg Ha was a College of the Sanience that was a college of call fo the College of the Sapience that was at Heidelberg He was offer'd the Profesiorship that the Death of Coppenius made vacant in the Year 1618 which was the second Profelloring in the faculty of Divinity, but he refused it, and procured it to Scultetus. He that the Larring in the Synod, of Dirdrecht, whither he was sent with two 2 other Deputies of the Ralamate. It was at that time that the University of I cid n was it hisblitated with respect to the Doctorship, which they had suffer'd to the catinguished Altingius solemnly created the Pistessor, John Polyander, Licentiate in Low-Divinity, who afterwards received his Doctorship from Santestus, and by that means found handless the Authority respects to construct the Doctorship from Santestus, and by that means found handless the Authority respects to construct the Doctorship from Santestus, and by that means found himself invested with the Authority require to confer the Doctorship on his Collegues Doubtles Allingius concerv'd great Hopes a little after his return to Hesdelberg

The Troubles of Bob med brought a Crown to the Elector Palatine, which was foon attended with a dicadful Ruin Tilly took Hadelberg by Assault in the Month of Septem-

Altilius would have been more to blame if after having got i Mitte by much Pleaching, he had done like many others, who Preach no more after they are mide Bishops 1 he reason of it is, that to preserve that (a) kind of Commission, it is not necessary to nie the same Expedients which are made use of to attun to it in the Collection of Gruterus]

I mean by that Collection the Work entiruled Dili-A (lealorum Poetarum collectore Ranutio Ghero The Collection of John Matthaus Tuscanus is cutituled, Carmina illustr in po tarum Italorum. That Author says in his Peplum that he has only read the Epithulan ium and some tew Lpigrams of Altilus lie who procur da new Edition of Sannazar's Latin Poems in 1689 and adorn'd them with some Notes, observes (6) that he does not remember to have seen my printed Pieces of Altilius but the Epithalamium and an Epigram, from whence he infers that many of them are lost fince Paul jovius mentions that Poet's Élegres, and Sannazai aferibes fome Odes to him Fo make up that loss in some manner, he has Pieces of Altilius, which he had in Manufeript Form 14) mentions three Pieces of Altilius inferted me for delle Rime de' Poets illustri raccolts & ordinate da Girotavio Ruscelle, stampate in Veneria nel 1558 in 810. Those three pieces are, Gabrielis Altilis lamen-tatio ciulaem Ep thalamium, ejusaem Elegia

(A) lor an Office wherein his Father had figualized in [1] His Name was Menso Altingias, and the was the Grand'on of another Menfe, who was given as an Hostage to the Duke of Guelderland by the States of Or van the Year 1523. Another Benfe Mingins

Great Grandfather to him that was given as an Ho-ftage, had been Counfellor to Reinold the Fat Duke of Guelderland, and (d) retir'd into the Country of Drent in the Year 1361 Menso Altingius the Minister was the first, who with two others preach'd the Reformation in the Territory of Groningen, about the Year 1566 during the Violences of the Duke of Alba, (e) Sub spfa Albani ducis graffante Tyranmide He was also the first Minister that Preach'd in the great Church of Groningen, after the reduction of the Place to the Power of the States-General, in the Year 1594 He serv'd the Church of Embden 38 naufregive Years faithfully, and oppos'd with great Courage the Fury of the Anabaptists, and the Plots of the Ubique tarians He died the 7th of October 1612 the Day that his Son and Abraham Sculvetus had his agree tangent of Coole and Abraham Sculvetus his agree tangent of have been (f) cast away on the Lake of Haerens.
His Life written by Ubbo Emmius is among (g) the Papers of his Heirs

(B) Some Proofs of Altingius's Tutorship may be found in the Library of the Vatican | The Exercises of the King of Bohemia, Corrected by Alting, us, are preserved there, and are shewed to Travellers, as the Author of that Protessor's Life siys He adds, that those Monuments deserve as much to be shewed to the Curious, as most Relicks that are shewed them (b) Hujus wagifterit ejus ne unquim apud posteros intestata queat s industria, vel Roma, quod miremur, faciet, qualities les Patitama inter Heidelbergensia cima an spolia, ostentat themata & exercitia styli Rass Bohemie Altingii meme emendese, eruditis peregrinatori-bus minimeque superstitiosis visende, esque non minus crede, quem pleraque insorum reliquia di sociaru, digue spettetu

(*) (1"uft Init mil ettum tacile iis aitibus retinetui quibus tum elt

(1) H. fid.

:) la notis p 184

(c) Toppi ubi fupra pag 102

1567 ATA therefore of Henry Altingius's Life has not been so exact in this Particular Should have (f) Subita procelpestate. naufregio dem toto corpore madentes, falvı tamen dans ın proximam ripam eva-ferunt Vit Hen. Alting (g) Vit Altring

(C) All Akupg

(c) I must

ber 1622. and luffer'd all imaginable Disorders (C) to be committed in it. Altingius having ascaped (D) the Fury of the Soldiers as it were by a Mirrie went to his Family which he had sent some time before to Hesbron. He niet is chorndorf, where setuld hardly targy some Months: the (E) Lutheran Ministers is did the Doctrine of Intoleration against hum in the Year 1623 he retir'd with his larger. That Prince kept cost away went from thence to want upon the King of Bohemsa at the Hague. That Prince kept cost away have with him to teach his a eldest Son, and would not suffer him to serve the Church in the Sea of Bulleton that desired him for their Minister, nor the University of Branches which of the Hallen that desired him for their Minister, nor the University of Branches which of the Hallen of Embdes that defired him for their Minuster, nor the University of Francker, which of- of Harlem fer'd him in the Year 1625, the Professorship of Divinity, which the Death of Sir the 7th 9 January brandus Lubbertus had made vacant. That Prince permitted him with much ado the January following Year to accept of a Professorship of Divinity at Groningen. Altingus took possession of it the 16th of June 1627, and kept it till he died. It is true that in 1633, he was entirely resolved to go from Groningen to Leyden, but it was upon this Condition, that the States of Growingen should consent to it, which they did not It is also true that he hearkened the Proposals that Prince & Lewis Philip made him in 1634 to come and re-office the University of Heidelberg, and the Churches of the Palatinate, Administration come and re-come the University of Heidelberg, and the Churches of the Palatinate, and that he was ready come to Francfort through many dangers, but that Design firstor of proved ineffection by reason of the Battel of Norlingen which the Imperialists won the Palatin He was forc'd to return to Groningen thro' several By ways It does not appear that he nace, and the was forc'd to return to Groningen thro' several By ways. The last Years of his in 1633. Life were full of Trouble, Griefs and Diseases made his Life very uneasy He was so he officed afflicted at the death of his Eldest Daughter in 1639, that he fell into a Melancholy. Altingius which brought him into a Quartan-Ague, of which he could not perfectly be cur'd, frof for it turn'd into a fad Lethargy in 1641 The Physicians had scarce cur'd this District, and Ecclestemper, but a domestick Affliction happened that brought bodily Infirmities upon him fiaffical semore than ever Altingius lost his Wife in the Year 1643 and griev d so much for her, nature that he was no longer able to overcome his Melancholy From that time his Infirmities increas'd daily, and at last he died christianly and devoutly the 25th of August

(C) Allimaginable Disorders | They Plunder'd the Town, they Ravish d Women, they Kill'd and Torter'd the Inhabitants, in a word, they committed the Outrages which the Fury of the Soldiers, and by a false Zeal of Religion, is capable of (a) | I have been passed directionis, lancera, libidinis, qua militaris licentia, victoris insolentia, edium religionis, barbarorum Croatarum servas comminsula potuere aut patrabarorum Croatarum feritas comministi potuere aut patra-re-Eanotte insomni & mæsta inter lamenta & efulatus quibus omnia undique perstrepebant, aut sequioris scaur v m patientis, aut viro um equules subditerum, ai per varia tormenta ac vulnera lenta citave morte uffectorum, &c These are the usual fruits of War which is enough to make those the the who under-take or advise it, to prevent seems Evils that perhaps would never happen, and which at the worst would sometimes be less than the Evils that necessarily tollow a Rupture I shall have occasion more than once to mention the Anguishes which great Captains have found themselves reduced to, when their Consciences reproached them with the Ravages that they had occasion d

(D) Having cleap d the Fury of the Soldiers, as it were h, a Miracle] The Circumstances of his Eleape delerve to be related He was in his Closet, when he heard that the Enemy being masters of the City, begun to Plunder it He boited his Door and fell begun to Plunder it He bolted his Door and fell a Praying One of his Friends accompanied with two Soldiers, came to advise him to retire through the Back door to the Chancellor's House, which was put under a good Safeguard, because Count Till, would have all the Papers that were there to be well The Lieutenant Colonel of the Regiment of Hobenzollern kept that House With this Battle-ane, faid he, I have kill'd Ten Men this Day, Dottor Alus should soon be the Eleventh, if I knew where he lies Who are you? continued he, directing his Dif-le to that Doctor Altingian was not so much troubled but that he found immediately an Answer (b), which was not the fallest that he could make, I have been a Teacher, answer'd he, in the College of the Sapience The Lieutenant Colonel promis'd to fave him The next day the Jesuits took Possession of the House, and sent away that Officer so quickly, that he had not time to enquire about that Teacher of the College of the Sapience Thus Aleingius found himfelf in the Hands of the Jesuits, but he had hid himfelf in a Garret, and by good fortune a Cook of the Electoral Court was employ'd by Count Till, whose Kutchen was in the Chancellor's House That Man fed Altingius privately in the Garret, and even gave him the opportunity to go and fee what past at his House, being attended by three Soldiers of the Bavarian Army for his Guard Altingian found his House in great Disorder, and his Closet in the Power of a

Captain, who told him either in a bantering way, or out of civility, that he gave him leave to carry away what Book he pleas d. He would not accept away what Book he pleas'd. He would not accept his offer, and only answer'd, that if those things belong'd to him, he desir'd God would give him a longer Possession of them, than to their first Master Altingius ran many Dangers in his return, and after three Days 7illi give him leave to retire I have read somewhere that it Altingius had not been afiaid of being accounted a Plagiary, he might have fav d many Books of the Electoral Library, and that he had removed many of them to the College of the Sapibut I confess that I don't understand this, find fome contradiction in it. If he brought no Books of the Lictoral Library into his Closet for fear of being accounted a Plagiary, why do you fay that he brought leveral of them into the College of the sapience, and that he might have fav d many? Besides, according to the Author of his Life, he was only allow'd to carry away one Volume However read what follows (c) Hunc (Quintilianum) & alies illius Bibliothe a libros sua manu in collegio Sapientia enceperat Henricus Altingius, atque ex communi illo incendio Bavarico eripuisset, nissuis reculis timuisset, & ne plagiarius haberetur, si antiquus liber in ejus sup llectile reperiretur, veritus

(E) The Lutheran Ministers exercis'd the Doffrine of Intoleration against him] At the request of the Electore is he obtain d leave of the Duke of Wirtem berg to dwell at Schorndorf He tarried there till the Month of February that followed the Desolation of the Palatinate The Lutheran Ministers murmur'd at his living there, and at the permission that the Duke had given him, the reason of their Discontent was, that Altingini was a Professor of Heidelberg Ibs ad Februarium usque hasit, facultate hac per se-(d) Ibs ad Februarium usque hasit, sacultate has per serenissimam Electricem impetrata à Duce Wirtembergies, cujus alias Ministri Lutherani quasi Ponts Axeni accolor, aut aves Dioniedea, qua solos socios gratanter excipiunt, id ferebant agerrim, un alia de causa quam quod Altingius Professor esse Heidelbergensis. I believe they had better observed the Laws of Hospitality towards. a Merchant of the Palatinate, or towards a Calvinift Professor of a very remote Country, than towards a Professor of Heidelberg The Palatinate was near the Dutchy of Wirtemberg, the Professor of Tubingen and those of Heidelberg did often thwart one another by Disputations, and polemick Writings, which occasion'd a Theological and Professoral Hatred But after all, the hard usage of the Divines of Wirtemberg cannot be excus'd Allengus had escaped from the Popsish Flames, the Injury he had represented from the common Enemy should have ferr'd him for a powerful Recommendation; his Belief did only differ from that of Wirtemberg in thinds

Biblioth prg 378 I don't know whether a Man may be call'da Plagiary, when he dues not Acal the Thoughts of an Au-Book or # Volume without publishing is in his own Name (d) Vita Altingu

(a) Ex vir Henr Altıng (b) 10c Asithor of i s Elary compai sit w intrat of Athan drus Saue Jago /c ille vultus,ille habirus, ille fermo, is reium atticulus guemvis alıum percellere poterat at nofter imperterritus foleiti tamen ulus reiponio nec ta tempesti-vè ie pro-didit, eadem for Athanafius dexte-ritate ufus, Ego, ınquit,

Ludima.

gifter fur

in Collegio Sapifontibus rarum derivatam . ut gloriæ libi duceret se ab imperitis ac nasutis Palemoducı tanquam Theologum icripturabiblicum In vita ejus C Taken fromJames Altingiamone those of the Profesors of Groningen, vctus, atque anti-

Immorta-

le odium, & nun-quam fa-vulnus Ardet adhuc Ombos, & Tentyra, fummus

Inde fu-

cinorum Odit u-terque lo-dat ha-giaries at ror vulgo, quod numultas.

ningen,
Printed in things not effential If Men were to Hate and Perfection the fective each other for Religion, they should wait till they are like the (a) People of Egypt, some in the service of one God, and some in the service of quite another God. Therefore we see that the promoters of religious Wars do always suppose that the vetus, at.

Differences are of a very great consequence. It is a Gangrene, say they, it is the undermining of the Foundations of Religion.

(F) The Books he composed. Here are those that have been published. Note in Decadem problematum Johannis Behm, de gloriof Do & beaterum cale, Heredelbergæ 1618. Less communes cum-didatives tum elem-Uici Problemata tam Theoretica quam practica Fig. Problemata tam Theoretica quam practica Explicatio Catechofees Palatina cum vindiciis ab Arminiamis & Socialiamis, Amstelodami 1646 in 3 Volumes Exegesis Augustana. Confessionis uma cum syllabo controversionimi. Lucheranarum, Amstelod 1647 Methodus Theologia Didastica & Catechotica, Amstelod 1650. Those that are not publish'd are more in number, and some of 'em are imperfect. The List of them is to be seen at the end of the Author's Liste. I find in it that the Medulla Historia problems, publish'd by is to be seen at the end of the Author's Life I find in it that the Medulla Historia prophana publish'd by Daniel-Pareus, is a Work of our Alingius It is a Plagiarism, that has not been observ'd by Thomassus, nor by Mr Almeloveen (b) The Ecclesiastical History of the Palatinate, from the Reformation till the Administrator John Cassimir, is one of the most considerable among the Manuscript Works of Alingius (C) West in a guarantism Planta. See 1 I shall see

(G) Was no quarrelsom Divine, &c] I shall set down the very words of his Historian (c) Aliceus a jurgiis & vitilitigiis cuminisessorum, ab iis distinisicus,quum folos credat habendos

diffe Deos, potins implicantur quam explicantur, a scrupulositatibus quos ipse pracifistarum qui nodum quarunt in scripp, colani culicen, camelum deglutientes. The Sect of the Precisifit made a noise in Holland about 40 Yoars (d) ago it is vey well Characteris'd in these words, they strain a

V 33 Gint, and swallow a Camel, they open a Door to

(b) He has Disputes, that serve only to arm prophane Men and publish'd a the Libertines Let us proceed, ab omni denique catalogue nauragoisa & nevatione in Thologicis quasi illiad semper of the PlaTertulliani tenens, primum quodque verissimum giaries as the end of his Amoenitates Theologico-philologica, Amstelod 1694. (c) Vita Jac Alting (d) I wrise this in 1698.

a Theologian probabat ac tuebatur solidan se mascus babat ac tuebatur solidan se mascus solidan se mascus babat ac tuebatur solidan se mascus solidan se mas the Royal Family. He contributed very much to the Gatherings enact were made evolution non exclusions Scholasticorum, etsi illarumnexpertus non essential the Countries for the Churches of Germany, and particularly of England, and he disposed of the Alms of Lewis de Geer. I omit the two considerations that he was charg'd with, one concerning the Revision that was made at Leyden of the new Dutch Translation of the Scripture, and the other concerning the Visitation of the Country of Steinfurt. He had some Collegues in the first; but he was the only Inspector-General in the second, the Count of Bembesm having sent for him to inform against Sociousanssans. which threaten'd the Country, and to put a good for him to inform against Societais in the teconic, the Country, and to put a good Order in the Churches Alisinguas's Elogy says, that he was no (G) quarrelsom Divine, he did not amuse himself with Trissing and sales Scruples; he did not love Novelties, he was zealous for the ancient Doctrine, an Enemy to the Subtilities of the Schools, and sales only a country. Schools, and relied only a on the Scripture. Those of his Profession should order (H) the Affairs of their Families, as he order'd his No body spoke of 'em but to say in general, that every thing was right, he afforded no other matter for Conversations. He married at Heidelberg in the Year 1614, and had seven Children, whereof one Daughter and two Sons outliv'd him. The Eldest was Professor of the Civil Law at

*Deventer & The following Article treats of the other

A L T I N G I U S (James) Son of the foregoing, was Professor of Divinity at Groningen He was born at Heidelberg the 27th of September 1618 during his Father's Deputation to the Synod of Dordrecht His Childhood was a (AA) perpetual changing of Places He perform'd his Studies at Groningen with great success, and having a great Inclination for the Oriental Languages, he went to Embden in the Year 1638 to Study under Rabbi Gumprecht Ben-Abraham He went into England in the Year 1640 where he made himself known to the greatest Men He Preach'd there, and was admitted Priest of the Church of England by the learned John Prideaux, Bishop of Worcester He had once resolv'd to pass all his Life time there, but he acceptable of the Prideaux of Communication and the Prince of the Church of England by the learned John Prideaux, Bishop of Worcester He had once resolv'd to pass all his Life time there, but he acceptable of Communication and the Prince of the Church of the Church of Communication and the Prince of the Church of t ed the Hebrew Professorship, vacant by the Death of Gomarus at Groningen He was Install'd there the 13th of January 1643 the same Day that Samuel Marisius was Install'd in the Professorship of Divinity which the same Gomarus had exercised. Altingius's Titles and Offices increas'd with the Time, he was admitted Doctor of Philosophy the

There is no doubt but that the love of Novelties is a Plague, which having fet the Universities and the Synods in a Combustion, staggers and shakes a State, and sometimes overthrows it so that those Professors cannot be too much prais'd who tell their Disciples, that they must avoid that Spirit of Innovation. It is true that the Care that is taken to recommend the Observation of the ancient and commonly received Doctrino, feems to suppose the Principle of the Authority of the Church, which is constantly rejected by the Protestants when they have occasion to dispute with the Roman Catholicks. But this ought not to discourage any body from preventing Innovations, for if a reason could not be made use of till it were free from all difficulties,

Men would be too long without doing any thing (H) Should order the Affairs of their Families, as he ordered his] It was only known that no body knew what past in 10, except that all things were done decently and according to the sear of God (e) Hinc (e) Ibid in samilia equi omnia semper pacata, omnia ordinata, de qua boc solum sciretur, quod a nomine sciretur quid in illa serve, nist quod pie, composite, decenter omnia sieri nominem lateret. This is much better than if every body descoured of when as said and done in Mu nominem lateret. This is much better than if every body discours'd of what as said and done in Minister's House. Such News was discours'd of there this Morning, (f) says one, last Night such a Restlection of a Novelist was disputed of there, will another say. A third says, he may excuse himself like Adam, and say, The Wife that thou gavess me made me do it. What, says a fourth, you only heard that Circumstance in that place, I mistrust it, it is a bad. Office of Intelligence the Nympha loquax that presides there adds, and causes to be added what she pleases to the Relations. I will have none of her Glosses, or of her Commentaries, but I appeal to the Text how uncertain soever it may be it can be no wonder that Allingins was so inconsolable after the death of his Spouse, if it be true, as his Historian relates, that he liv'd (g) near 30 Years with her without any Complaint or Contestation. Few Persons can boast of such a thing, and complain that they are ignorant whether the effects of Reconciliation are as sweet in Marriage as (b) in Galantry

tion are as sweet in Marriage as (b) in Galantry

(A \(\triangle \) A perpetual changing of Places] For at two Andr

Years of Age he was sent to Christian Chytraus Mi. Act 3

(f) See Grutefus Rimark N (g) Cum nos prope 30 line rixa fine querela contun-(b) Amanredintegratio est nuster sc 3

A LST IN GUI UASI

A Li T I N GIT U ISI

2.1st of Oder 1965; Academical Prescher in the Year 1647, and Professor of Divinity in 1667, the travell'd twice (to Heidelberg property the Year 1651 and another time in the Year 1662, and he had received a thought analysing fifteem from the Elector Palatin Charlen Travell, who followed him describes to accept a Professor thin of Divinity share; but, he ideclined it civilly. The soon quartel'd with Samuel Margine has constituted in was almost that for the lame Principles, positive Method of teaching was not the same, and they had not the same Principles, positive ral Points Alengine applied himself to the acceptate, without any innutification satisfies Divinity is he was in the Categor of Glory, and hastened to go on in 190 and wanted neither Wit nor Learning to maintain his Opinions. The first Lectures, that he made at home on the Categorium drew so, smany Auditors, that so, y want of made at home on the Careeniam drew formany Auditors, that for ywant of Room in his Chamber, he was obliged to make use of the Academick Auditory. He had most of the Foreign Students on his side. His Collegue used hundels to the Distinctions and Method of the Schoolmen, his Name had made a Noise a long time, he publish'd many Books, he had a quick Wit and group Learning withe Students in Davinity of that Granting applied themselves to him, it being the surface way to have a Church, for a Parishes were forv'd by Munisters who had fluided according to his Method. This is more than sufficient to raise, and keep up a Davinon, although the Temper should inpute concern'd in at Altingue had very great Obstacles to exercome the Majority of the Voices, and the Authority of the Age; was on his Adversary and the Besides Mayority could make use of a continuous fit to exasserate every body. de Besides Maresus could make use of a contrivance sit to exasperate every body, and to awaken the most venerable Prejudices. Which was to day, that Althous was an Innovator, a Man that removed the facred Bounds which our washers had so wisely plac'd on the Confines of Truth and Falshood: He fet up for a publick Acquier, and imputed 3x Erroneous Propositions to famer, Alignmen. The Curators of the University sent the Accuser's writing and the Answer of the Accused Farson to the Divines of Leyden, without giving the Parties notice of its and defired them to give their Opinion upon it A Judgment (A) was given worthy of Observation a Altingius was declared to be free from Herefy, his Imprudence was only blam d in forging new Hypothefes, on the other hand, Marefius was found Guilty of want of Modesty and Charity
The latter would not acquiesce in that Judgment, and refused to be silent. He would have the Cause to be examined by the Consistories, the Classes, and the Synods, but beriors would not consent to it, and forbad writing either for or against the hent of the Divines of Leyden. Thus Marefius's Book, Audi & alteram pirtem, was first the Consent made, great posses, and the had find a formal. suppress That Quarrel made a great noise, and might have had sad s Consequences by the calling of Maressus to the University of Leyden, but he died y at Groningen before he took Possession of that Employment There was a kind (B) of Reconciliation on his Death-Bed, I shall speak of it in the Remarks Altingius was obliged ((') to com-

«Cum Altingium ab omni hærelcos folverent, in info auin procudoudis nove inventis in Mareño modeftitem requincient Vif Jac Alting 6 ht 153 minam habitura caphen Marefin quamquam sene ad Theolo-Lugdu-Ibid

(g) Sequente mox anno propter imminentem Heidellergæ oblidionem, matre etiam comite. eaque tum ravida Pravio... Hailbronnım,ındeque exaeto anno Schorndorfium nafter of Bretten. The Year following his Mother was oblig d to retire to Heilbridge potwith francing (g) her being with Child, where the carry'd him along with her At a Year's end they must retire to Schorn-dorf, from whence his lather Henry Alengius brought his whole Tamily to Embden thro' By-ways From Embden he removed it to Leyden, where he was Preceptor to the King of Bohemia. The Plague obliged him to go from Leyden to Honstaerdijk, lastly he went from Honstaerdijk to Groningen, when he was invited thither to be Professor of Divinity in the Year 1627

James Altingius was then Nine Years of Age

(A) A judgment was given worthy of Observation]

I do not pretend to take any part in the particular Affair in question here, and shall only say that in general one cannot forbear on the like Contestations to under a tele Deviant of Years. ons, to judge as the Divines of Leyden did who advance new Hypotheses are too Zealous to maintain them, to the prejudice of the Peace, and of the Ecclesiastical and Academical Tranquillity They may be Oithodox, but they have not Prudence enough they are guilty of Rashness, for it as a piece of rashness to disturb the Publick Peace them a great and urgent Necessity. Those who waste a new Method of teaching, appear too passionate. I am apt to believe that sometimes there is nothing personal that directs their Proceedings, but they overdo things, they alarm the whole Church for Tristes, they make People asraid of a total Depravation of the Consession of Faith, when there is yet no attempt against it. They are Zealous, but they are neither moderate, nor charitable, nor equitable. Nay they are as imprudent as their Adversaries. They don't observe that a new Method, of which no notice seems to be taken, salls of it self, whereas if it be oppos'd earnestly, it degeneratements a Party. The new Method, or maintain them, to the prejudice of the Peace, and of which no notice feems to be taken, falls of it ielf, whereas if it be oppos'd earnestly, it degenerate winto a Party The new Methodist will have state that the continuous in the Government, that will maintain im with all their Chients, and thus you will foon see the Combination of the Civil and Canon Law, and the Fastions of the Church and State matched together. What may not one fear of such a Consult? How many Evils would Religion and the State avoid, if People were only contented to oppose Fundamental Innovations

(B) A kind of Reconceliation on his Death Bed | A (B) A kind of Reconceliation on his Death Eed] A Minister of Growingen ieeing Marefius past accovery, proposed to him to reconcile himself with his Collegue, and having his Consent, he went and proposed the same thing to Altingius, who answer d that the silence he had kept notwithstanding the Clamours, and the Books of his Adversary, withested for his peaceable Temper, that he was always ready the scent of a Peace on reasonable Terms, but that to accept of a Peace on reasonable Terms, but that he desired Satisfaction for the injurious things which had been publish'd against his Honour, and that he did not fee how any one could be desirous to have any Friendship for him, while he was thought to be such a Person as he was represented to be The Mediator went away without proposing any thing else A little while after, a report was spread all over the Town, that Mr Altengius was to hard-hearted as to refuse altogether to be reconciled to his dying Collegue. So true it is that Town Reports are little consistent with Truth. The Mediator return d with another Minister to Mr. Altingius, and got alron of Satisfaction from him. That I orm did not please the field Research and the same than the field Research. the fick Person, and that which the fick Person dichated did not pleaseMr Alingus, more Goings and Gomings were used than for the Capitulation of a Fortress. At last, the Alteration that Alingus inser-Fortress ted in the Formulary of Marefius having been accepted, on condition that Altingius should accept what Manefine added to it, to make the Conditions equal on both fides, they figned it, and this was all the Reconciliation Note, that the Parties retracted only Personal Injuries, as for the Doctrinal Accusations, the Accuser left them to the Judgment of the Church (a)

(a) Taken
(b) Altingius was oblig d to complain that he was plaid from a Letupon, I He grounded his Complaint on the last fidition of Maresim's System, wherein he was very ill treated He pretended that his Adversary wis to the bound to suppress all the Monuments of Discoid, Volume of and that since he had not supprest such an injurious bis Works Book, his Reconciliation was not fincere. Pofica-

(a) Taken from 1 Letternf ames Afringius

e Vitaria calibem ad annum ætatis trigelimum fere per-duxit, cufus tun-dem perræfus junxitlibi tori fociam Ib β Ex vita Tacobi Altıngı ın lımine operum, y Grego rius Turon de gloria confessor Cap 33

plain that he was play'd upon, and was not quiet after he was deliver'd from such a terrible Adversary: the Clergy grumbled (D) continually against what they call'd Innovations, but the Secular Power stopt by its Prudence the Synodal or Consistorial Storms, and threaten'd to interdict those that should stir the Quarrel of those Two Champions in any Ecclesistical Assembly. Altingues had but little Realth the three last Years of his Life, and at last a continual Pever that lasted but Nine days, took him out of the World the 20th of Angult, 1679. He died being piously resigned to the Will of God, and recommended the Edition of all his Works several times to his Cousin Menso Alting Burner Masser of Greatener. His request was personned from Years after his Death, but Burgo-Master of Growingen. His request was perform'd some Years after his Death, by the printing (E) of five Volumes in Folso. He had a siv'd a single Life fill he was almost 30 Years of Age, and then (EA) he married. If he had liv'd longer, he would have compos'd Two Books, one in Latin, and the other in Duteb; the first would have been an Apology for his Doctrine, and the other, an History of his Life since his Professorship; and thereby he would have snewed the Injustice that was done him, by creating him (F) so many Troubles c. This is what I have extracted from his Life, prefixed to the 1st Volume of his Works. If any body finds any Falsities in this Article, I defire him not to lay it to my charge, who have only faithfully reported what I find in the Book that I have cited I advertise once for all, that I don't warrant the Truth of fuch Accounts I conclude with this Remark, that Alengini was a Divine very much addicted to the Text of the Scripture, and to Coccesans m and Rabbinism. This last Application exposed him to a (G) terrible Injury He preach'd well in Three Languages, in German, Dutch and English

A M A B L E, a Priest of Riom in Auvergne in the Vth Century, is praised by Gregorius of Turonensis, as a Man admirable for his Holiness, and who wrought many Miracles. It is faid be commanded Serpents 'tis thus that Historian expresses himself; but he speaks of another thing as an Eye-Witness. I have seen at his Sepulchre, says he, one possess with a Devil set free, I have seen there a Persur'd Person become as suff as an Iron Bar, and after have

(4)Alting t 5 Man-till pag 425

(/ Cum

in iplius

eflet potestate to-tum opus iuppreifiife, quæ

unica fupererat in opere uf-quequa-conformi

quam autem ad plures abist (Maresius) — mo-nicus fui ego (b) de systematis novi perpetuis annotatio-nibus, qua infandis maleditis cam in alios tam in me constarent Liber ille paucis anto mortem ipsius diebas vendi quidem caperat, sed nondom in meas ades sueras illatus — Guravi ergo afferri, atque inde didici quantopere D Marefius mihi illuffet quando in speciem concordiam redintegrari enpetin Etenim quotiescunque verum illud est ac sincerum votum non tantum verbis pass mitur, fed ctiam abolentur omnia monumenta priorio immicitia Tenera namque conscientia ad suam ipsius in-famiam spectare retur, si quod ipsamet damnavit acque ex sua memoria abolitum voluit universorum notitia ac memorie infixum dederit, editis contumeliosis chartis per un versum orbem disseminatis If I may be allowed to speak my Thoughts freely, st does not feem to me that it was reasonable to pretend that Maresian should suppress a whole large Book, the Bookseller should have been indemnissed, and so the Charges of the Reconciliation would not have been a meer of the Reconciliation would not have been a meer unfay, a noilem fastum, they would have been a pecuniary Loss to the Family The question was not only about 3 or 4 Leaves, but about the whole Work, as Altingias (c) himself acknowledged It was enough that he declared in a Writing under his hand, that he (d) retracted all that he might have faid or published against his Adversary's Reputation With that alone he might die in due form, e morte canoni-camente, as they say beyond the Alpi

(D) The Clergy grumbled continually } The following words will inform us of the Matter Quality fuing words will inform us of the Matter Quality fuerit utriusque ante mortem mutua reconciliatio opsismet Autoris Epistola initio Mantisse tomi quinti posita testatur Quiescente Marciso, non sic tamen quiescendum sibi duxerunt qui ipsiu partium fuerant Nibil autem adeo dedisse operam videntur, quam ut via quasi ecclessista, Altingii opinionibus obsisterent sta variis quidem stas, Altingii opinionibus obsisterent sta variis quidem suttibus posta jastatus vir optimus, sue autem sentiescunque aliquid proponeres Ecclesiasticorum ordo, ilhus mox procerum edisto vel consulto resessione est sono entroversis Marciso-Altingianis in catu aliquo Passerum quidquam movereus sia fastum sapius est ut generalibus etiam verbis, concepta gravamina de periculosis novitatibus in sono altingius might have seared every thing from the Divines, if he had not been protected by the Magistrates se is secretain that the Secular and escentarione estima. by the Magistrates It is certain that the Secular and Ecclesiastical Powers stand in need of each other the latter must serve sometimes for a Spur to the (f) Alterius fic Altera posest opem res, & conjurat ami-

(E) By the printing of Five Polumes in Folio] The late Mr Bekker, at that time Minuster at Amberdam, who had been a Disciple and a good Friend of the Author, took a particular Care of that Edition It was published at Amsterdam in the Year 1687, and contains several forts of Treatises, Analytical, Executives, getical, Prattical, Problematical, and Philosophical, which not only witness the laborious Life of James Al-tinging, but also his great Knowledge His Diligence may be known by another thing Most Learned Men become at last lazy in writing Letters, but he never knew that Fault he (s) write five Thousand Letters has been sould not published the contractions of the co Letters, but they could not publish many of 'em The meer Names of the Divines to whom he writ

The meer Names of the Lavana flew that he was no Veetian

(E\Delta) And then he married] Of Eight Children that God had given him, but Three were living when he died, one whereof was a Physician, another he died, one whereof was a Physician, another he died, one whereof was a Physician, and first and the last died soon after their lather

(F) By creating him so many Troubles ? Those who would rather have the Words of the Original than my Abridgment may be satisfied (b) Dixis interalia (Altingius) si Deus sibi vitam viresque concederet, stare sibi animum duos libellos in lusem mittendi, alterum quidem quem orsus etiam cst, quo se purgaret coram Ecclesià ab beterodoxias & hareseos crimine sibi intentato, alterum vero quo historiam vita sua publica panderet, abeco tempore quando Academia docere capiste, unde cuivis judicandum relingueret, quo que qua injuria tantum ipsi molestiarum creatum sussetti pracateris autem conquerebatur a malevolorum insidis atque inimistis steptis quo minus ut viellet publico inservire potusses. It is tettamly a very deplorable thing, that by Civil my Abridgment may be fatisfied (b) Dixit inter is certainly a very deplorable thing, that by Civil Wars many excellent Workmen should be hindred from making their Talents useful for the Service of their Community, and against foreign Enemies, against whom all the Forces of the Parry ought always to be kept well united. I do not speak of the Scandal it occasions, for on the contrary we ought to be scandalized at the little Scandal it gives. it because to be rightly scandalized one must have a degree of Wit to which sew Persons attain? Is it because Custom hardens Men at last, and ab assures mension passes? Whatever the Cause of it may be, it is certain that People have an excessive Indulgence for those, who keep up discord by violent, injurious and cavilling Writings, under the false pretence of Zeal. Nothing would be more effectual to mend the tching defire that appears in fome Perions to write many biting Books against their Brethren, than if People were offended in earnest at such a Conduct, ar People were offended in earnest at such a Conduct, and publickly expressed their Contempt and Indignation. But while we see them follow the Farry that knows how to make most Noise and Bushle, the Disease must be look'd upon as incurable (G) Euper'd him to a terrible injury. He was call d a half yew, a Man who only differ'd from a yew by the Pereskin; an short, a Man who complain'd some.

(a) Lo. epistolæ quarum tam paus oo pubtuiffe . id equidem dolendum. Ead fcrihendas literas im-(b) Ibid.

emendatio Ibid (d) Ita ut indicta ve-Marefius fi quæ in dictis & fcriptis iplius in famam CI D Altingii iiicurrere Vıdeantur (e) In vita Jacobi Alting (f)Horat.

arte Poet.

ing confest binstainer, the come as free as be was before. When such a Man as Gregorius Turo- a che measts makes also as a set as feed, 'tis a sign that the thing as not very kentain, neverthe- Abbut less that however over Serpents is accounted the most certain thing of all shots that are attractionable as St. Anable. One would think it was his Lot, or to speak here a Mollebranchist as la Differ that God made him an occasional Cause for the cure of those that were wounded by the fur fur least the container of the cure of the cure wounded by the first section of the cure of the cure of the cure wounded by the first section of the cure of the cure of the cure wounded by the first section of the cure of the cure of the cure wounded by the cure of the cure Serpents. A modern Author, though a Canon in C the City whereof St Amable is Science Patron, confesses, that be does not believe all the Maracles that are reported of him in the Live de St 10 lycarpe,p of the Saints of Auvorgna, nor inserveral other Legends, but declares on the other side, that of the firmly believes that Saint has a Sovereign Power over Serpents, because every body for the serious space of (H) 1200 Years affirms to have seen wonderful effects of it — and because he had the Happmess to see some of them bimself. He a questions much the truth of a cert in leading to the Happmess to see some of them bimself. He a questions much the truth of a cert in leading to the Bay. that runs at Riom on that Saint, to wit, that when he went to Rome on foot the Sun fer u d 151 bim for a Servent, and carried his Gloves and his Cloak in the Air like an Umbrelio during the 4 lb pag great Heat, and kept off the Rain from him in had weather That Tradition is accounted for 103 certain in that Country, that they feldom draw St. Amable's Picture in how his cloves and so how the Air by a Sun-Beam. Credat Judans & Aprilles, 123 he, non word Hogo. This suffices to give to this Article the form that this Dictionary seems to require, race Sat 5 without any Resignation of mine. A meer Relation of such things is a heap of Fig. 1 is large.

A M A M A (Sextenus) Professor in the Hebrew Tongue in the University of nhich but for igrees Francker, was a very learned Man. He was of Friesland, and had been a Scholai (A) of with the Drussus The University of Leyden, which endeavours to get the most famous Professor. Rules of fors of the neighbouring Universities, by offering them more considerable Advantages, Runnity tried to take him " from the University of Francker It was to fill up the place of Erpe
In 16 6

See the nins, who had been one of the most Learned Men in his Age in the Orient il Languages Epifile De-Amama did not refuse that Call, neither did he absolutely accept of it, unities he should awatery of first obtain leave of his Superiors of Friesland But they did not grant it 0, and without the Anti-burbirus doubt they better'd his Condition in such a manner, that he had no reason to repent his Biblious not being Professor at Leyden. The first Book that he publish'd was an Essay of a very fine Design that he had conceiv'd He had undertaken to censure the Vulgar Translation, which the Council of Trent has declar'd Authentick, and before his whole Deciding fign was executed, he published the Censure s of the Translation of the Pentate chi Pentate chi Pentateu-Thus & he began to be an Author He was preparing the Continuation of that Con chi, he is sfure when he found himself oblig'd to go about another thing, I mean to confer he mikers. Dutab Translation of the Scripture with the Originals and the exactest rearrieron. That Dutch Translation had been made from Luther's German Version. He give the Originals and the exact translation had been made from Luther's German Version. Publick an Account of his Labour, by the Work that was published at Amford first the tell yis.

Vulgar Language, entituled Bybelfche Conferentie

This Work is spoken of in the Sup to soon plement (B) to Moreri's Dictionary

That Care of Collating kept Amin ery busy, missille adolding the Publication of that Book, and of some Grammatical Pieces \(\mu\), hin adolding dred him a considerable time from applying himself to the censure of the Vulgar Transcentific centure.

tom 5 in Mantiff pag 426 (4) Crede fometimes of not being Circumcis'd, and whose Fore-skin was a trouble to him. The occasion of mihi levithose Abuses was, that he had maintained that the points of the Tetragamma are not proper for that Name, and that therefore the true Pronunciation of it is not known, and that those are not to be accus'd leviter exof Jewish Superstition, who read it Adonat Here follows the Judgment that was made of that Thought (c) Impudentia eft Grammaticorum nonnullorum & filioorum Bieri negare ex superstitione Judaica oriri quod id nomen aliter pronuncietur quam legitur _____ Scd per nos homines semi-Judai doltrina, studio, assoltu, com-mercio & qui solo sere pondere praputii, & quo interdum se, gravari dolent, distant a recuticu, insaniant ut libueris concitant. Vestra est impudentia, petulantia, & Super-bia in primo gradu, quod austis dicam scribere imperitia Cignorantia tot illustribus Ecclesia viris vobu etiam tam trifles agumus feor ignorance tot illustribus Ecclesia virus vobu etiam longe destroribus, qued id nominus enuncient or pronuncient usi scribisur. Was it a sufficient Subject to be so very angry, and do we not see here an Example of what (d) a Pagan Philosopher judiciously remark'd? Could any thing worse be said against a Many who would make a Bargain about his Apostacy, and who should only wait for the Solution of three or four small Difficulties to turn Jew?

(H) For the space of 1300 Tiers? This Calculation does not agree exactly with what is faid in the following Page, that Greeness Turners is lived but nihil magnum Inquant, vobis ira &co est, quod magno estimatus

(c) Oper Altıngıı

a funt propter quæ non candefca-

mus,qualia quæ pueros in rixam &

Jurgium

Nihil ex hıs quæ rium eft,

infantia

exigua

ira, 1 3, c. (c) Father Labbe de

Script Ec. clef t i Pag 398 Moft Au-Authors place hu Death in the Tear on does not agree exactly with what is faid in the following Page, that Gregorius Turonensis liv'd but about 50 or 60 Tears after St Amable. It is not necessary to prove that the Words do not signify that he was born 50 or 60 Years after that Saint, it is plain enough that they signify that he was a grown Man, when St Amable had been dead 50 or 60 Years According to this the death of that Saint should fall about the beginning of the VIth Century, for Gregorius Turonensis (c) liv'd but about 52 Years, and died in the Star 504. Now if the Miracles of that Saint of Rimakad been seen for the space of 1300 Years about the end of the XVII Century, he must have slourish'd about the end of IV Century, and in that

Cafe it cannot be faid that a Man of 20 Years of linu iso Age in 562, liv'd 50 or 60 Years after him

(A) Ho had been a Scholar of Druhus | This is certain by feveral Passages of the Antibarbarus B blicarus As for Sinessus, whose Disciple they make him an the Supplement to Anaesia Distributory. I come Bibi p m in the Supplement to Morer's Dictionary, I confess he is absolutely unknown to me, and I question much whether he is known in the United Province

(B) In the Supplement to Moreri's Dict onary | That Supplement fays that according to Mr. Simon, The ready pub defign of Sixtinus Amama in that Book is to show that list d in the Dutch Bible, which was read among the Protestan s of the Low Countries, and had been translated from the German of Luther, was full of Faults, this he shows very well. To give a more compleat Information upon this, I must set down the very Words of the Author that is here cited. The Protestants of the Low 9 Pages in Geneties, says Mr. Simin in his Letter to Mr. P. 400 which the protestants of the Low 2 Pages in the Low 2 Pa concerning the Infpiration of the Sacred Books, Page was no, built their References only on a Dutch Person that London was made from that of Luther, but at last they they resolved to go about a new Translation For that purpose in 166).

Sixtinus Amama composed a Book in Dutch, entituled Rubelsche Conferences and the first that they are the they are the they are th Bybeliche Conferentie, wherein he shews as large that the street was necessary to publish a new Bible for the Dutch the Churches He says that the Dutch Leanstation which they read in their Churches, and which had been taken from that of Luther, contain'd in certain places more Faults than Verses, and he gives a great many Lxamples of it in that Work In Page 11 Mr Simon has these Words ______ It is true that the Calvinits of the Netherlands rejected their ancient Translation, and flation mextatus in diac Bibi pm 295 be bad ala konig wholass he was living 11 1630, and Father Morin who suppe-ses Exer-

parte 1

p m 61

saught at

Iraneker

fore mist 1-

Remark

Niphew, ci renders

in word Nepos in I huanus

Len B see the

12 y And not

12 1633

flation He set in the so that Work again, when (C) he knew that Merson Merson had refuted him at the Six sirst Chapters of Geness. Leaving their works other Works he apply'd himself the littly his Censure against that Author. His Answer's one of the Pieces, where he Ansi-Barbarus Biblious which he published in 1628; is composited. The other was are the Censure of the vulgar Translation on the Historical Books of the Old Thement, on Job, the Psalms, and the Books of Solimon, and some particular Differentions. One of them is on the samous Passage of the Proverbs. The land created me in the beginning of all his Wass, wherein Amount shows that those wholests I ord created me in the beginning of all his Ways, wherein Amama facws that those who act cus'd Drusius of favouring Arsanism, were downright Calumniators. The Ansi-barbarus Biblious was to contain Two Parts, each of Three Books The Author publish'd only the first It was reprinted (CA) after his Death, and the fourth Book was added to k, which contains the Censure of the Vulgar Translation on Isaiab and Ferenzab It is impossible to ward the Blows he gives to the Vulgar Translation, and to answer the Reafons whereby he shews the Necessity of consulting the Originals. And indeed few I earned Men of the Roman Communion will deny it; they will only maintain (to fave the honour of the last Council) that they did not pretend to submit the Originals to the Authority of the Vulgar Translation. The question is not to the here when their this can be find sincerely. Our Sixtinus exhorted so powerfully the Study of the Original Languages of the Bible, that some Synods being moved with his Reasons (D), ordered that henceforth no Minister should be admirted a Minister, unless he had at least an indifferent Skill in the Greek and Bebrew of the Bible I must not soiget the Least he shewed to put an end to a Vice that prevailed as much in the Univertity of Iraneker, as in the Univertities of Germany, I mean (E) Drunkennes ' He' made a vigorous peech on that Subject in 1621 They were so well satisfied with him in Iriefland, that after his Death, which happen d in the Month of December a 1629, they were very liberal to his Children, as Nicolas A M A M A, one of them tellifies with great Acknowledgment, in the Épistle (1) Dedicatory of a Book.

A M A S A U S (Romalus) Profesior in Greek and Luzin at Bologna (A) in the XVI th Century, and & Secretary to the Senate, made himself fambus by his Learning, and by his I imployments He was originally of Bologui, and born at Udine Pople Paul III made him Pieceptor to his y Grandion Alexander Fainele He was afterwards employ d'infi more important Affairs, he was deputed to the Emperor and to the Princes of the Empire, and to the Court of Poland No Learned Man shined brighter than he at Rome under the Pontificate of fulius III He was that Pope's Secretary He made. Knowledge in the Greek Language appear by the Iranslation of Panfameas, and By

(b) It s 27 of Dec 16.6 (i) Vide ital Oxomentem, where instead of Mulennum there ar Marlen-(a) Prinred atl eyden 128 1698 (e) Pub-I fh d in Holland, 1698 See Bibliotheca novorum librorum. on July and Auguit1698, run the hazard of not knowing it for a long time, he had never heard before that there was fuch a Man he hid never heard before that there was such a Man is I other Meetern. I hele are his words in his Epitile Dedicatory (1 All) we te finise (1) Rivete, nomicial Message of the provine Confere capitum adversus means shiften as suspensed from In provine etiamnum junta cum ignivissation specific. It ad modestam & mansusam replicationem bostominists in me animals. I wonder he did not infect in his suiton larus the forerunner of his Answer, which he had published in the xear 16-7 with this I itle Epistola (2) me of open ad Marnum Miss noum Miss noum Miss noum Miss noum has infected it in the 3d put (d) of his sammadversiones

((\Delta) It was reprinted after his Death 1 At Fiankin in 4to in the Year 1656 Mr Baillet spoke of that I dition in his Anti, at the 315 Page of the 2 I ome I must not forest, says he, the Anti Barbaius, which a Pross story in Hebiew of the University of I raneker, in I itestand, whose Name is Sixtinus Amama, pullish don the Text of the Holy Scripture, in the Text

(C) He knew that I ther Mersenne had refuted it I Mi Kivet informed him of it, for otherwise he had pullish don the Text of the Holy Scripture, in the Tear 1656 in 4to in the Ioan where he trught — The Work ississ of a with several small Distrations and Discourwork is fit of a miter several small systemions and life in-fit, it at do not make its Occommy very agreeable. Note that they have interted in the new (e) Edition of the great (riticks, his Censure of the vulgar Translati-on of the Pents euch, and his Notes in libros Histori-cos, Pfalmos, Proverbia & Ecclesiasten, which had never been printed (D) Some Synods ordered] Here are the words of the Ast that was made upon this by the Synod of Trustand held at Harlingen in the year 1624 De-cretum off ut in posterum Theologia Candidati quotquot ad examen Ministerii Eclis admitti disidirabunt, prater ad examen Ministeri Eclis admitts disiderabunt, preter tissimonia Schatus Academics of Theologia Professiona exhibeant estiam tissimonia Professionum Ebraa of Graça Ingia, quibus doceant se in pradictis tinguis cos saltem progi sur sicisse, ut originalem Peteris Novique Tissament textum mediverser posset instelligere, usque in Classe ista, cujus examini se offerant, ejus quoque respectivim edere teneantur trappears by the same Ast that it was the Supplex (a) paramess of Amama, whereof some (opies had been distributed to the Assembly, that made them take that goodResolution

Assumbly, that made them take that goodResolution (E) I mem Drunkenness The vigorous Resolutions that were taken against that disorder, ought not chiesly to be attributed to Soutinus Amama, et is enough to say, that he contributed to it, and had he only harangued, and congratulated publicably those who resound the University in that respect, he would deserve many Praises. He acknowledges that Amelius Protessor of Divinity, and Haching Protessor of Livinity of the constitution of the constitutio Professor of Divinity, and Hacking Professor of Logistics and sing been admitted into the Academical Season and finding themselves supported by the Rector of the University, undertook the Reformation of that Disorder courageously and with happy Success He congratulates them for it, and dedicates his Speech de barbarie morum to them upon that account The Render will be glad to fee here how he expresses himself, and the Distinctions which those Reformers underwent (1) Ad primam occasionem ______intrepidis & commasculatis animic Lo - rendas illas & feroces belluas I, brietatem & I icentiam, (1) Adprimam (1) Sixt rendas illas O feroces belluas I.brietatem O I icontiam, que hie stabulabantur, ex seademia ejecisiis, ac Christianam disciplinam jam desperatam, Dev supra quam de quoquam sperari potuiste benedicente. Academia redonastis Cujus preclai & eleni graticultur de guismi fresnoris, secuti invidiam apud discilitam o barbaram secutivem sustinistis, O quasi prepilatis hastis objetti sustinistis soli, ita o equ simum censeo, ut vodis quoque pra aliis tam egiegii operis gloriz transcribatur. He lass horrid things concerning the Debauchery that ieign'd horrid things concerning the Debauchery that reign'd in some Universities. All the new Comers listed themselves in the Service of Basebus with certain folemn Ceremonies, and they made them swear by St S ophen of Wood that they would spend all Money If any one had more regard to the state of the sta that he had fworn to the Rector of the Unithan to that pretended Oath, the debauch d Scholars teaz'd him in fuch a manner that they oblig d him either to go away, or to do like the rest. He him either to go away, or to do like the rest. He added to his Speech some Fragments of Assection's Complaints on the same Subject Bellarm n (c) de-plores with great vehemency, in his 20th Sermon, making the Drunkenness that prevailed in the University of Server is in the Epistle

the Epifile

(F) In th Epifile Dedicatory of a Book] It was Dedicatory or inted in the Year 1611 It is an OHave of 600 of his Pages, entituled, Differentianum maninarum teas, Speech de wherein there is much Reading, and the American departs in many things from Arifotle's Opinion without addicting himself to the new Philosophy He has innovated the very Orthography

(A) Brick XVIth Gentury] Morers was not mistaken

Amama in Præli Anti-barbari Bib

the Epistle

part of the Anti-baibarus Bib-Licus, and had been alicity pined

2011

19 150

of a Work a of Xenophon. He composed also a Volume of Speeches, and Scholas duas de a The Exratione infituendi. As for the Two Books he had written, wherein he made it appear pedition of that the Latin Tongue is finer than the Italian, they were never frinted 6 Some fly the lourger that the died (AA) in the Year 1558, being 69 Years old He left a Son whole Name 6 fx Tluwas Pompilius, and who did not degenerate, for he was a Man that understood and and 1 a translated Greek He was 2 also Professor of that Tongue at Bologn. I believe that Page 4. Calditihe translated only two Fragments (B) of the fixth Book of Polybius he shewed more on Feil-Capacity in it than Peroteus and Musculus did in translating that & Author Yet a feri learned Man accus'd him of having skipp'd all the difficult Places, being contented to 2 Bumild acquaint the Reader, that the Interpretation of them might be found eliewhere a As Jugem to his Father, it is agreed that he was a great I over of Elegancy, and Charnels, he enlarged what was too concile, and shorten'd what was too diffused, and cleared the t 4 pur obscure Passages ? His Translation of Pausanus stood in need of Sylbu gius s Re-

Niece of the last Darius, and Wife of Di nifius Tyrant AMASTRIS, of Heraclea Look for her History in the Article of that Dion, fins You will also find

there the Town of AMASTRIS founded by that Princeis

A M B O I S E (Francis d') a Parissan, deserves a place among those whom the Profession of Learning rais'd to wordly Honours He was the Son of a Chirurgeen of Charles the Ninth He studied in the College of Nivnic II. riught afterward in that College, for we find that in 1572 he had already ranght the feech 1 Class four Years He applied himself afterwards to the Civil Law, and become a very good Ad vocate in the Parliament of Piris, after which he had in Office of Chancellor in the Parliament of Bretegne, and lastly he was Master of the Requests 3, and Counsellor of State He travelld () n into several remote Countries He published many French Verses in his Youtin, and some Littin Pieces, which doubtless did not seem to him to be very honourable Things when he was raised to Dignities, for they sevour of a Man, who fends his Muses in quest on all sides, sometimes with Compliments of Condolance, and sometimes with Congratulations, in a word, they savour of a Man provided with the Office of Compliment-Bearer of Priniss to the great Loids I shall set down (AA) the Titles of some Books of our transis d Amboile. It teems to me they will less contribute to immortalize his Name, than the Pains he took to collect the Manuscripts (B) of Peter Abelard, and to add an Apologetical Piesace to them, ken in that Chronology It should not therefore have been chang'd in the Dutch Edition, where instead of the Sixtoenth Century they have put the lourteenth. Three things were to be conjected in that Article, which ought not to have been past over I It was too dry 2 It should have been under the word smafaus, and not under the word Ro nulus It should not have been faid that Amalaus t anflated the Works of Kenophon, but that he translated the feven Books which Kenophon compos'd of the Expedition of the younger Crysts

(A) That he died in the Y ar 1558 being 69 Years old] Thuanus is mistaken in placing the death of old Thuanus is mistaken in placing the death of Romulus Amaseus in the Year 1558. For this Romulus was dead from the Year 1552. We have the Proof of it in a Letter of Giovanni Antonio Serone, an in timate Friend of Romulus, dated the 20th of October of that Tear, and inserted in the collection of Turchi, pag m 257. This is what M de la Monnoie did me the tavour to write to me Lastly, if Amaseus died in the Year 1558 there would be reason to say that he hv'd 69 Years, for the day of his Birth is mail d in the Figures of (a) Luke Gauric on the 24th of June 1489. I have found three or four Particulars in that Work of Gauric which I shall insert here June 1489 I have found three or four Particular in that Work of Gauric which I shall insert here Amalaus was lean, very tall, bald, at d had a little Head. He was secretary to the Senate of Bologua, and taught Eloquence in the fune City, having a Salary of 300 Crowns per Annum. He taught after-Salary of 300 Crowns per Annum He taught after-wards at Rome in the time of Paul III having a Penhaving at Ross in the time of Paul III having a response of 600 Crowns, nutu Pauli III ex lettura is urbe habitat 600 aures. Thuanus was ignorant of this

(B) Two Pragments of the fixth Book of Polybius]

Pompilius Amaleus having translated those fragments which treat of the Military Discipline of the Romans, explain'd them in a Commentary that is any other Manuferture of Themas of the Manuferture of the Man

mong the Manuscripts of Theanus S Library (b)

That Manuscript is in Italian The Author tranflated those Fragments both into Latin and into his Mother Tongue

(A) Travelled into several remote Countries] Verdier Vou-Private (c) observes that Francis d Ambus made a Description of the Ringdom of Poland at Warsaw, when the Duke of Anjou, at present King of France, was eletted King of Poland. This is one of his Travels. It cannot be determined by the words that I have cited, whether he went into Poland in the Retinue of the new King, or whether he was there when the Duke of Anjon was elected. This last Sense would be the only one that should be put upon those words, if du Verdier Vau-Privar had us'd to write very exactly See the Devices (4) of Francis d' Amboile, whereby it appears that it the time of that Flection he was in that Country at the Bilhop

of Valence's

(A \times) The Titles of some Books] An Elegy (e) on the Death of Annas de Montmorency, Pier and Conflable of Trance, with a Latin Panceyrick, and a French Ode on the Diafter of Frence in 1568 (f) A Panegyrick on the Maniture of Henry of Lorean, Dicke of Guile, and Catherine of Cleves Councils of Lu, in the Lamb (a) of Master Cather Remains the .570 The lomb (g) of Meline Cales Bourdin, the King's Attorney General in his Court of Parliam ne a Ring's Attorney General in his Coust of Parliam in a Parlia, being three Sonnets, an Elegatianfix edjoin the Latin of Antony Valet, and fone Latin in indexSyllabica Verses, in 1570 Its Annuas de C'm whereis there is a Poem entituled the safesport for the cues amount out s, in 1572 Connect Annuas containing divers sactions if should, and among others that which he calls the Neapolitan Women in 1584. The Neapolitan Women in 1584. The Neapolitan Women in 1584. litan Wamen were the Frinflation of an Italian medy He calls himself at the beginning of that Translation Thierry de 1 : spinle G Picard, and he made use of the same Disguise in the Little of the (d) Pag Regrets fenches de quelques animana, which he tran-flated from the I alian in 175 and in the I itle of the Dialogues and across des Dimosfelles which he pub Infi d in 158, I a Croix au Maini, who inform d me of this, fays that this Author underflood many I an giages, and that he had published tever if Works in Latin His Collection of Devices was published after his Death in the Year 162

(B) The Manus repress of Peter Abel and His diffusement in this deserved a publick Acknowledgment. We are indebted to him for a very good I dition of pag 87 Writings of that famous I ogician It contains The Letters that Abelaid and Heloift wist to each other, which are preceded by the Relation he himthe writt to some other Persons, and those that St. Bernard, the Abbot of Clugn, &c. wrote about his Errors, his Condemnation, or his Death, with some Treatises that one of his Distiples published for him. Treatifes that one of his Disciples published for him 3 Some Dogmatical I reatifes of Abeland as the Exposition of the Lord's Prayer, that of the Apostle's Creed, that of St Athonahur's Creed, the Answer to some of Helses as Questions, a Commer tary on St Paul's Epishe to the Romans 4 Several Sermons on the chief Holidays C An Introduction to Theology, wherein is his Book of the I mits 15 , apudBai'l 407 d'This is (afiubon s luac men rpud Bail let ibid s tince mitcipi edit Rar (I his is Yu lement of lim ib chiele Ihmoto tione Ambotu apud I aunon m Hift that Gymnaf Navair pag 799 & 800 See also par ,56 021 01 Abelard Little of quitis, Regis in Init ore rio Conb hon Baronis Chattie

> 00 du Main

Line

P g &

4-(a) Du

Verart

Cio x du

Bibl I

Verdier

ltine pre ,o,

(a) Tol 72 verso, edit Ve-3552

(b) Pag 453

(e) Du Terdier Biblioth pag 365 that is prefixed the Edition of (C) the Year 1616 That Prefix forms me of thing which I mot found in the History of the College of Nature, to wit, that he publish'd at Treatise of the Council, and a (D) Preface on the History of Gregorius Turonense the which Preface he clears that Historian stom the Accusations of Flucius Illyricus, and does not vindicate him in what concerns the two Dionysius's, the Flacius Illyricus, that does not vindicate him in what concerns the two Dionysius's, the Arcopagite, and the Corinthian He appears under the false Name of Thierry de Timophile in the I ist of disguised Authors publish'd by Mr Bailles

A M B O 1 S E (Adrian d') younger Brother of the foregoing, raised himsel no less than he, for he was made a Bishop. He had a share like him in the Liberali ties of Charles the Ninth, who maintained him a confiderable time in the College of Navarre, and he found the same savour with King Henry the third He was Socius Na warr cus when in 1579 he was elected Rector of the University of Paris. Du ring his Rectorship the University desir'd of the King the Consumation of their Pri vileges, and he was the Speaker, being attended by many Doctors He took his Licenses in Divinity in the Year 1582 and was praised on that occasion by Michael Thiriot, who among other Encomiums, find that he was descended from a (d) very noble Family He was the King's Preacher and Almoner, and Great Master of the College of Navarre, a when in 1594 the University of Paris took an Oath of Fide-lity to Henry the Great About that time he had the Parish of St Andrew at Paris bestowed upon him, and lastly in the Year 1604 he was made Bishop of Tregular He

a Id pag 371, 372

(a) Pag

41, (%) Seba

thecoun,

11410 P () (i) Ibid

pig ,8 noius ul i infor pag 8(1) (f) Fitter

Oudin

Supplem pie 41,

lius tpe

universil

Konig Bibl vet

& nov i phorus Hend-

reich, in the first Sheers of his Pandett r Brinden-burgicæ

Gieg Ti ronemus

(1) 1 s ne tore fount in Allads

Bibliorheque de

Dauphine

() Prof ne

CIII Biblioth

flin Poulliard, pag 35 Hir Book n as Po ntct 11 Pa-115 /2 16 8 (c) 2 tit It | nd | 1 Bibliothe

6 The learned Notes of Andrew du Chesne on the History of Abelard's Calamities There are yet some other Works of that Author which are not Printed One may fee the Titles of them in the Supplement of Lather Oudin (a), and in what Libraries they are to be found Francis d Ambuse ctused the Rules that Abeland gave to the Nuns of the Pathe Rules that Abelard gave to the Nuns of the Paraelet, to be translited into our Language. His Apologetical Prefice displeas d many People, and fime hive given out that it occasion d what was done at Rome against the Work of Abeliad lawe been put in the e pu gatery Index of Rome, I believe the Fault of it one bit not so much to be imputed to the rather, as to him is a mide the Priface, wherein instead of advertising the Keader to be cautious in reading such and such Passings of Abelia d se undertook to defend him. They are the words of the Author (b) of the Antiquities of Melun, Advocate in the Publiment of Paris. It cannot (c) be faid that he writ the Life of Peter Addira, he gave only a floir Acceint of his chief Adventures. That Account contains many Firors. in Firors this i not a proper place to take notice of em. But without leaving the time Subject of this Kemark, I may very well by that Irancial Am-loge did not produce to Peto Alelard all the Glery that he defigued to produce him by the I dition of his Works. The Publick did not find in the Wri-tings of that Author, that great Subtilty, and that prest Force which made him to Lamous during his I the Here is another Paflage of Schaffian Roulliard this hemaik, I may very well fry that Irancie (1) As to Abeliad & Writings, certainly they don't fam to me to as fair the great Praises and Encommuns vellowed upon him by so many eminent Authors And the fore I amprofunded, that the Excellency of that Man corlitea in a ready Wit, an eloqu nt and copious Discourse, and a Pintelophical Ginius that made him dreadful and ino neille mall fores of Disputes Ar in our time we Love leen two or three Persons, who acquir a a great I fleem by some of those Perf trient, and jet whit they have printed proved very much inferior to whi every lody would have expeled from them

(C) The Edition of the Tear 1616 | The conveniency of his Arithm tical Figures has also its inconvenience. The Printers commit a Thousand I sults in them which the Correctors do not perceive this multiplies Beings very much without necessity. We have an I xample of it here. Some (e) place that I dition of Ar I and in the Year 1606 and others (f) in the Year 1626. I don't question but that teveral Authors will say that Abelara's Works have been Printed three times in the space of no Year, and as some (g) fig that they were printed in Folio in the Year 1616 it is a new way to multiply the I dirions without necessity

(D) A Preface on the History of Gregorius Turonen-Albot de Marelles (b) speaks thus H s Hessery of the I tench (he mean's Gregorius Turonensis) which fin h of all his Works, was formerly translated by Claudius Bonnet (i) a Gentleman of Dauphine, wie stylet h mill Desto of the (will and Canon Law, on which Mi Henry d'Amboile, Master of the Requests, made a prt) long Preface directed to Madam Henrietta de Bilace Marchioness of Verneuil, which was printed as Paris in 800 for Claud us de la Tour in 1610

(a) From a very wolle Family | Nevertheless Thiriot mentions the Chirurgery of the Father in that Elogy of the Son It ike this Nevertheless from M de Lannoi, for these are his Words (1) " Attamen "Thiriotus ait, Hadrianum tumditissima & nobilissima fatum esse familia His enim verbis atitur Iranciscus primum in duorum infortorum Na-varra socialitiorum disciplinam receptus est, & Caroli IX liberalitate ad Rhetoricus ac Philosophi-"Caroli IX liberalitate ad Rhetoricas ac Philosophi"cas inflitutiones erucitus Deinde humaniores "literas ibidem docuit, & C. A very good way to reconcile those two Authors, would be to say that Nobilissima familia does not figurify what the Fren / call a very Nolle Fam. ; a Gen lei ian's Family, tor it Thiriot understoca his Intin so, he would not had spoken exactly Chicurgery is not the Profession of a Gentleman in France. It M de Launoi had taken the thirty i that time Sense, he would have brought Proofs without necessity, and his Proofs would have been of no force. It is not necessary to prove that been of no force. It is not necessary to prove that the Qt. I ty of a Gentleman has been given to a Per-fon, we en it has been said in express words, that he was born of a very Noble I amily, in the Sense that t'e French put upon that word and it to prove a thing of that evidence, the Quality of Fellow of a (college, and that off the Cutait of the fecond Class, which find a Person that so the College of Nevarri, were alledged, it will be a very odd Proof Such Proofs of Nobility were never admitted It may be then, that not only Michael Thirros, but also M de I aunoi, took nobilifima familia, for a considerable I amily that made a good I iguie, and not for a noble I amily This must be taken notice of in the I arin I legies of Men of Letters one would be mistaken it he should take all those to be nobly deicended, of whom it is find nobile loco, nobile genere, nobili prosapia oriundi I know very well that Francis a Amboise qualified himself Liquine in the Edition of Abelard, but this proves at most that his Father or he were enobled, and not at all that his Father was both a Chirurgeon and a Gentleman A Thought comes into my Head, which is, that perhaps the Predecessors of Francis d Ambosses having degraded themselves, he obtain'd the Re-habilitation of his I amily Nay, how do we know but that he descended from a Bastard of the illustrious I amily of Ambosse? This seems to be the most likely, for he lays that he went (1) to the Convent of the Paracles to collect what he could of the Works of Peter Ablard and that he was very well received by the Abbesses la Rochiforcaut, his Relation, whose Grandmoth by the I ather's side, lays he, Ansancte d'Ambosses, Wife of the Lord de Barb sieux, Knight of the Order, was the only Daughten of Guy d'Ambosse, and Grand-daughter and Heiress of Charles Loid of Charmons, Marshal of France So that the whole Succession of that most Ancient Tamily was devolved upon her, and she transferred the Estate of the eldest Branch into the Family of its Rochefoucaut Foram was both a Chirurgeon and a Gentleman A Thought Blanch into the Samily of is Rochefoucaut Foram vetustissimam familiam crewit, & pr mogenita NOSTR A ad Rupifocaldos transfulit It is a remarkable thing that the Son of a Chirurgeon of Charlesche Ninth should speak thus. Note, That it must absolutely denied, that a Branch of the ille Family of Ambeife remain d in or fell into Obf

The Chirusgeon of Clar'es the Ninth was perhaps of that Branch

nosus, ubs Supra, pag 799,80

pologet

died the 28th July 1616 and was buried in his Cathedral, when B) his Epitaph a Lx Lau-gives him great Praifes I don't know whether he wrote any thing else besides a nois ib Pag 800 French Tragedy, entituled, Holophernes, which was Printed in the Year 1580 a A M B O I S E (James d') younger Brother of the foregoing, followed his Faminimus

The second of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher, and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher and became Dector of Physics Capacity in Chirurgery, he rose some degrees higher and became deg That Promotion was made between the Year 1582 and the Year 1597 for Pi- medendi mean y testifies in the Book that he wrote in 1597 concerning the Signs of Virginity, that at that time James d' Ambosse was Doctor of Physick, but that he was only Master of Arts and Batchelor of Chiurgery, when with great Dexterity, and in the Presence of many great Masters, he dislected a Woman that was Tang'd in the Year 1579 for destroying her Child We know moreover that he was only a Chirurgeon felicistic that Name and that he was the Presence of the State of the In the Year 1582 and that he was Licentiate in Physick and the Kings & Physician in the Year 1594 when he was elected Rector of the University of Paris The Oath which that University took to Henry the Great, and the Process which they enter dagainst the Jesuits fell upon his Rectorship There are two I tin Speeches which Jimes a Amboise made to the Parliament in the quality of Rector, the 12th of Min, and Hadi the 13th of July 1594 they are cutting against the Jesuits. He had been a & Member of the College of Navarre before he was Redor.

A M B O I S E (Michael d') Esquire and Seigneur de Clevillen, hit in the XV Ith Torpan Century He gave himself in his Works as poetical Name, that was no great Or atm no them, and did not hinder him from falling with his many Poems into the olden ty of Oblivion He appears no more than Francis d' Ambo c in the vist Collection et Mr Baillet Yet there is some likelihood he hoped that the Title of his We I would abus Me entertain the Curiofity of the Readers a long time. One of his Books entired, I nereal Epiftles, Fancies, Complaints, Epitaphs, Thirty Four Rounds and the Bil Ic Was printed at Paris in 1556 Another is entitled, & Le blasen de le dest. The Carrie Is in these of Ovid, that is to lay, the Letters, that he composed in univer to these which the sound in the composed in the control of Heroines of Ovid writ to their Husbands or Gallants, feem d as if they were to be ve y pleasing, and yet they underwent the sate of his other Poems. They are quite unknown the undertook some Translations, he turn d four Satyrs of a Juvenil into I rench Veile, he do not as also the 10th Book of Ovid's Metamorphesis, the I cloques a of Be prista Mintu nus. Medicus and the Italian Treatise of Antonio Phileremo Fregoso, entituded, u Ris de Dimerite, community of the Death of Messive William du Bellai, Lord of Langey in heroick Verse, and the Guidon des gens de guerre & in Prose See the Bibliotheque of du Verdie Vauprivis Thine AMBROSE, General of the Order of Camaldoli Look for CAMAL. DOLI

A MELIA, a City of Italy It was anciently called Ameria It is situate be tween the Tiber and the Nera Cato o says it was Founded 964 Years before the War of 11 Isla-Persius So that this War having begun in the Year 581 of Rome, it would follow ve to that Ameria was 383 Years older than Rome Fifus calls the Lou ider of that City A minus. It appears by Inferior that it became one of those Cities which the Romens call d Municipium Cicero commiss it in the fine Plea he made for Ro' us Amerinus. It acquir'd the Right of a Romen Colony under Augustus. It is to untermache for this function of American that anciently and the Hills that surround it have fine Vine vards of It is not certain that anciently and the Hills that surround it have fine Vine vards of American that anciently and the Hills that surround it have fine Vine vards of American that anciently and the Hills that surround it have fine Vine vards of American that anciently and the Hills that surround it have fine Vine vards of American that anciently and the Hills that surround it have fine Vine vards of American that anciently and the Hills that surround it have fine Vine vards of American that anciently and the Hills that surround it have fine Vine vards of American that anciently and the Hills that surround it have fine Vine vards of the Vine vards of American that anciently and the Hills that surround it have fine Vine vards of the the Vines of Ameria were effected I make this Article only to (A) rectify that of the Morers, and therefore I don't enlarge upon it Leander Albertas (B) with likewise to 144, be corrected

A MELIUS, a Platonick Philosopher in the IIId Century, was of Tuscary His true Name was Gentilianus, and he liked the Sirname of Amoris better that that of 15.7 Amelius He was 24 Years a Disciple of Plotinus it Rome, after which he tetird to adjunct, a City of Syria, where he was when Plotinus died. He adopted one Justin 1543 li Hespebius born in the same City of This is doubtless the cruse of the I aliny that Ciox du Maine Suidas set forth, when he said that Amelius was of Apimeu He is not less mistaken,

(B) Where his Epitaph gives him great Praises] I believe the Reader will be glad to find it here. I sake it from M de Launer

Table of pater cruditionum,

Table of Latia madens Minerva, ina in Cathedra diferte praco, Idemquehareseos severe censor, Priscorum nova norma Episcoporum, Antistes pie, pauperum patrone, Custos virginitatis atque amator,

Tu quocumque teris, sequeris agnum
(A) I o restify that of Moreri] I No Author says that Ameria was built in the time of the War of Perseus II Pliny does not maintain that it was built in 964 before that War He only tells us that Cate had faid fo III Cicero did not plead for a Player born in that fown Rescuis Americas for whom he pleaded fferent from Rescue a Player, for whom a likewise IV These words of Virgil (a), Amerina parant lente retinacula viti, do not that the Vines of Amelia were esteem d in his That Verse signifies only that in the Territory of that City there were a great many Boughs, as pliant as Ozier, which they make use of for the diesing of their Vineyards I rgas de que bus voi es ntur que virge abundant circa Am rinum oppi-alis genus falicis di unt, dispani colore a cett ra salice nam estrubia C au conneciendum aptior, quia tig 1. prater morem lenta est (b)

(B) Leander Albertus wan s lil emise to be corrected 1 c Lean-

(B) Leander Albertus wan slit erije to be corrected;
He makesCare fay that Ameria was rebuilt above 900
Years before the War of Perfeus, and the it was first built by the Vijentes, a People of Tuliany, under the conduct of Ameroe, Daughter of the Italian Atlas, and of Pleione He supposes that Pliny and that it was built 964 Years before the War of Perseus, and represents (see and Pliny shell y of two different was built 964 Years before the War of Perjeus, and σ Porphy represents Case and Pliny is being of two different Opinions Afterwards he endeavours to reconcile them, which he does in the following method The Chronology of the one says he, agrees well enough with the Chronology of the other Case mentions above 9 to Years before the War of Perseus, (b) Serving Malana mentions of Years before that same War. and Pliny mentions 964 Years before that same War So that it is easy to make them agree together

Pag 800 6 Natu Mich Thiriotus Ambofii thudl m

2 Incolus Ambou 1-Litter & c I was a 41 bl ons,1537 1 At Pauls > At Puis

CERUS der Albert Ital Pag σ Porphy

Maine

1543 c A) ud

Plinie m

us in Virgil ik

(a)Virgil George 1 This Ver fe is very ill Moreri, Atque Amerina parent lenta retanacula ATCI

Stoick Philosopher

6 In 263 y DID Xy avTIZE -Jas, neσηγαγογ deiryűvas TCIPGALvO, 011 שמש שור שע ש ronka Quapropter eum contra tentavi, constus cs dur in-Porphyr ın vita Plot Staken from Plotinus s ifi, wii - phyrius Ďe Pra par Lving 1 ji či Glac aff 1 2 n l'a Jul & His Rock 15 ent sled. Bellarminus enei-

1) Plu lib , c 14 in fine (v) Porphyr in vita Plotini

vatus

Ibid (d) Theocar aff pag 5 o

(c) Tillem Hift des Lmper t , pig 1784 Bruffels when he affirms, that (A) Porphyrius was a Disciple of Amelius What is certain is, that Amelius was very much Esteem'd by his Master, and that he answer'd shar Esteem with a fingular Veneration for Plotinus. When he begun to Study under that famous a Hewes a Philosopher, he only knew what he had learn'd of a certain a Influenchus, but by his great Application he out-did all his Schoolfellows He knew part of Numerius & Lectures by heart, he had Collected and Transcribed most of 'em He made also large Collections of all that he had heard in the Philosophical Conferences, and out of those Collections he compos'd a hundred Treatises, which he gave to his adoptive Son He had produced nothing else when & Porphyrius came to Rome, that is to say, after having profited by Plotinus's Instructions for the space of 18 Years Asterwards he compos d 40 Books against Zostrian us, one of those ancient Hereticks both in Philosophy and Religion, who made such an horrible mixture of the Dodrines of the Gospel, and of the Philosophers There arose a great number of those Hereticks in Plotimus's time, which oblig'd him to arm against them He undertook the Deseat of the Conofficks, while Amelius opposed Zostrianus, and whilst Pophyrius attack'd the pretended Revelations of Zoroaster Amelius having heard asterwards that Plotinus was accused of having adoin'd himself with the Spoils of Numerius, took Pen in Hand to justify his Master, and in three days he wrote a Book which he dedicated to Porphyrius, and which the latter entituled, Of the difference between the Doctrine of Numenius and that of Plotinus What I am going to say is sufficient to shew the Esteem that Plotinus had for Amelius Plotinus did not much care to shew his Strength, and therefore he scribendo lest some doubts in the Minds of his Auditors, and wanted in some manner to be forc'd provocate to shew the best part of his Doctrine. This made a Porphyrius propose several Objections to him in Writing, to prove that our Ideas are out of our Understanding This is what I ather Mallebranche has renew'd in our days Plotinus having read those Objections, gave them to Amelius to resure em The Opponent reply d, Amelius rejoin'd, telliguntur extra intelletrictation in a full Auditory Longinus, whose Taste was so right, and whose Cen turn essertium es placed him nevertheless (B) among the few Philosophers, whose Works seemed to him worthy of confideration. He writ a long Letter against that which he had received from zimelius, concerning Plo inus s Philosophy Zinclius was a Votriy & of Papanian, and a great Observer (c) of new Moons and Festivals. In one of his Books he had cited the beginning of St Folias Crospel, to confirm Plato's Destrine Fusebius alledges this Passage, but not so fully as Theodores & and St Cyril:

AMLSIUS (William) an Inglish-Man and Protessor of Divinity at Francker, flourish d in the XVIIth Century He concern d himself very much in the Disputes of the Arminions, and write learned (A) Books against them. He is one of the reformed Divines who have treated Cafes of Confedence most exactly and methodically most needless to observe that he writ against & Bellimin, for no body is ignorant that in those times the Works of that Jesuit were resuted by the greatest part of the Protestant Controversists Amelius writ a Book entituled, Medulla Is when a He writ also fomething against the Socialins, and against Metaphysicks, and for Puntanism, of which

I ho' one of them uses the word Rebuilding, and the other the word Building, it must not be intered from thence that they affirm contrary things, for the word condere that Pl n/ makes use ot, is indifferently taken both for Lounding and for Repairing and chimerical Disputes fall to the Ground to the thame of that Author, as soon as Pliny is consulted, for it appears that he gives not his own Opinion, and only fays, Ameriam (a) _____Cato and Perfer bellum con litam annis 964 prodidit

lum con litam annis 964 prodidit
(A) That Porphyrius was a Disciple of Amelius } Porphyrius huntelt frys (b) that when he begun to le a Disciple of Posinus, Amelius had Studied 18 Years under that Philosopher He adds that he was Amelius's Fellow-Disciple 6 Years, after which they fet out from home, himself for Sicily, and the other for Apamea They liv'd in the Places whither they retui'd at least till the death of Plotinus Now Porphyrius being then about 38 Years of Age, and hav-ing had more Reputation at Rome than Amelius, there is no likelihood that he became his Disciple to this thit And us dedicating to him his Apology to Plotinus, define him to excuse and correct the Faults of it (c) Lastly, the silence of Porphyrius is a very strong Angument against Suidas Porphyrius mentions Amelius at every turn in the Life of Plotinus, and should he not have faid a word of his having been a Scholar of such a Master? Susday might have been deceived by Theodores (4), who calls Amelius the Head of Porphyrius's School, that is, according to the Interpretation of M de (s) T Hemone, of Ploti ius of School where Porphyrius is studied. And inacci Study fire le was Porphyrius's Master (They are M d. 1.11 mm. s words) We may also reclose Castricials Littless around the Picarles a Merican The did us latinus among his Disciples, a Man boo did Amelius all manner of Service So that here is a modern Author who falls into the Error of Spidas, and goes farther still, for it is plain by the Life of Plotinus, to which he refers us concerning Caftricius, that it was in Plotinus Life-time that Caftricius had to great an Inclination for Anclus at Rome Now to great an Inclination for Anicl us at Rome Now it is undeniable that whilft the latter was at Rome he had no Disciples. He was Plotinus's Disciple, and did not set up Al a against Altar

(B) Among the sew Philosophers | The number of tem was so small that it comprehended but two Authors, Plotinus and Aniclius The Glory of the latter was the greater for it, nevertholes his Writings lost in a short time their first Reputation Eurapius (1) places them in the same Category with those of (f) places them in the fame Category with those of two other rellow-Students of Porphyrius, and pilles

(C) Great Observes of New Moons and restants I dred the am not ignorant that instead of New Moons, it would be better to say, of the field Danc of the Month, (h) as Marshins Feinus did, but I thought my Expression would be more easily understood. Here are Popplytius's words (1) Directors, the segment case meeting the needless of Now, will any body say that Philosophers (alendas not have writ so much in fivour of Paganism, they would not have been the only Writers whom the Christians were obliged to oppose for the Priests did not concern themselves with it, their Ignorance dispensed them with it (G) Great Observes of New Moons and Testivals I I dispensed them with it

(A) He writ several Books against them] He begun to dispute wive with Grevinchevins, Minister of Retterdam, and not being able to say all that lay on his

in Viti

He was $(A\Delta)$ a rigid Sectator. He published this last Work in England in 1610 I say nothing of his Lectures on the Palms, nor of his Explication of the Epistles of St Perer He did not die a in the Year 1619, as Henning Witte affirms in his Diarium Biographical AMESTRIS, Wise of Actives King of Persa See the first Remark of the Article MASISTES

"AMY OT (James) Bishop of Auxerre, and great Almonet of France, was one of the most of Officer tests. His Father and Mother, who were indeed honest, but of a very I fay a It ap.

Joth of October 1514. His Pather and Mother, who were indeed honest, but of a very (A) mean Condition, used all their Industry to maintain him at Paris, where he learned his School Learning and west through a Course of Philosophy in the College of Cardinal le Maine He had naturally a heavy Wit, but I about and Application supplied that desect Having taken his Master of Arts Degree at 19 Years of Age, he continued to study under the Royal Professors whom Francis I had established He heard fames Tusanus who explained the Greek Poets, Peter Dances, who was Protessor of L-loquence, and Foressur Fineus who taught Mathematicks He lest Paris at 23 Years of Age to go to get (B) with the Steur & Colin, who was possess of the Abby of St Ambrose in that City At the Recommendation of that Abbot, a Secretary of State took Amyor into his House to be Tutor to his Children The Progress they made under the Progress they have the Progress the Progress they are they are the Progress they are the Progress t him moved their Father to recommend him to the Princess Margdiet, Dutchess of Ring, only Sifter of Francis the First By that Recommendation Amyor was made publick Lecturer in Greek and I atin in the University of Boarges He read'Two Lecture's every day for Ten Years, a Latin Lecture in the Morning, and a Greek one in the Asteinoon

(e) Grevinchov Præf Differtat Theolog de duabus quæstionıb (f) Gre-(f) unch ab (g) St Kon al, de usage de l'Histoire pag 74 (b) RoulliaidAntiquitez de Melun, pag δός (1) Thuan Histor 1 10c ad 4nn 1591 p m 4 5

(k) Lanu filius erat.

no oppido

excellenti

ingenio,

Latineq,

& Grace doctiffi-mus C1-

rolus Ma-giftrum

cum appellabat, fordes quod Imguis bu-bulis utcretur Pa-Mai-Hifforia vitæ Caroli

(a) He u mistaken ,

Auxerre

end not

he should bave faid

Karı-

Vir

ortus

his Heart, because they were interrupted, he con-tinued that Dispute by Letters, and publish d what he had objected, and what had been answered him The things in question were the Redemption of Man thro the Death of JESUS CHRIST, and Election grounded on the Prevision of Faith Grevinchouses made another Edition of their Dispute at Rosterdam, in the Year 1615, in 410, Amesius is the Author of a Book wherein he replied to the Answers which the Arminians had made to the Objections of the Ministers of Holland That Work is Proposed the Ministers of Holland That Work is entirelled, Coronis ad Collationem Hagiensem His entitled, Ami-Synodalia, contains some Remonstrants on the Scripta Synodalia of the Remonstrants entitll d, Anti-Synedalia, contains fome Re-

It was printed at Francker in the Year 1629

(AD) For Puritanism of which he was a rigid Sectator] You will find in the Preface (e) quoted by me some I xtracts of the Book that he publish d against I piscapacy, in the Year 1610 by which you will see that in his Opinion there were no other good Men in England than the Puritans They made themselves known by their Avarsion for Stage-Plays, Oaths, Dancing, Gaming, American Treats The rest were only Gamesters, Distance, Swearers, and Children of Belial There was Medium between these two Extreams, either to suppress Episcopacy or to bring back the Church of Rome from Hell (f) Hi feel foli in er Angles vin bom, implices, quiques ex scelerifugio set cognoscere, quibus ex repuaio spectaculorum, suramentorum, chorearum, alearum & commissationum, inditum sit nomen Puritanorum relique vero infigues aleatores, potatores firenui, religionis officia susque deque habentes, versuit institures papistanum, ambitionibus pravis corrupti, juratores impii, ho-mines dinique vani, injusti, turpes, & omnes slii Belial Adeoque vel e medio tollendum ementitum hunc Episcoporum ordinem, vel denuo Papam revocandum ab orco

(A) But of a very mean Condition,] that Amyot's Lather was a Currier of Melun, others fay that (b) bemade and fold Puries and tagged Points, laftly, fome fay that he was a Butcher I find three good Authors for this laft Opinion, (1) Thuanus, Papyrius (k) Masso, and Brantone I believe the Reader will not be displeased to see the Words of this last ther Particularity, which ought to be known, thought to having faid that thought to be known, thought to the having faid that it should be false Brantome having said that Clarles IX making a Speech to the Pailiament said with a brave and menacing Boldness, "You ought to obey my Oidinances, without disputing or contesting about them, for I know better than you what is sit and expedient for the good of my "Kingdom", Adds "Having as yet no Beard, he spoke those Words before those Old and Wise "Mare who all words before those Old and Wise "Mare who all words before those old and wise "Mare who all words before those bold and Wise "Mare who all words before those bold and who all wh he spoke those Words before those Old and Wise Men, who all wonder'd at such a bold and grave Speech, that savour'd more of a generous Courage than of the Lessons of his Preceptor, Missing, who had nevertheless instructed him well, whom he lov'd very well, and he had given very good Benefices, and made him Bishop (a) of Lizieux, and call'd him always his Master. and jesting sometimes upon him, reproach'd him with his Avarice, telling him, that he liv'd only

" on Neats Tongues, and indeed he was a But- 1, Rea cher's Son of Mehin, and could not but eat of the Meat that he had seen his Father drais Abating Avarice, he was a Greit and Letrned Man both in Greek and Latin, withcis the fine and eloquent Translation he mide of Plutaich, tho iome envious Men faid he was not the Author of it, but a certain great Man very well skilld in the Greek Tongue, who happen d luckily to him, to be a Prisoner in the Pislon of the Palace of Paris, and in Necessity, whom he released and took into his Service, and they two privately made that Translation, and afterwards he published it in his own Name. But it is a meer Fility, for he alone made it, and they who kiew him, discours d with him, can its that he wanted no help forsiuch a Work — To conclude, he educated that brave king very well, and chiefly in the Catholick-Religion It I was to call into que-Catholick-Religion ftion the Three mean Projections that are nicribed to our amyer's I ather, it should not be because his Son did not Name any of em in the Manufeript of his I ite, he was contented to fay that his lather and Mother were more virtuous than rich, parentibus (b) bonefits magis quam copiosis. I his Reason does not work upon me, for these ne few great Men of a mean Lytraction, but what are very willing to puls lightly over the Obscurry of their Birth Particu lais on that Subject are troublefome to them will own in general, that they wer not Men of Quali ty, but don't expect they should give any Memoirs wherein you may read that their I ather was a But cher, a Cobler, a Seller of tagged Points, or of Matches, that they begg d in their Childhood, ex Those who own such things, and are willing they should be put in their Llogies, are to few that tho it were true that Amyor had begg d for some time in the Streets of Paris, I should not wonder that did not mention it in the Memoirs of his life So that I do not refute by his Silence (c) what is related of his Beggary, and of his having been a loot-Boy, and of his abode in the Hotpital of Orlemo It is true that I cannot reconcile that Silence with that part of his Will, wherein he leaves (d) I welve hundred Crowns to that Hospital as an acknowledgment for the Charity that he had found there It has been observed, (e) that in his Worls he never qual fithumfelf with the little of his Countre,, and that he hid very little (orr sponden e with it during his good los tune Doubt'els he had the weakness to 100k upon that City as a Mortification to him, and to fancy that his Correspondence with Melun would make People talk of the Meanness of his Birth Yet I have read that he advanc diomePerions of his Family He died envested (f) with great Dignities, and worth above two bundred thousand Crowns, vehicles a great many other means he had to advance his Relations, some of which had a share in his I iberalisy

(B) To go to Bourges with the Sieur (olin] Bu-last (g) who follows the Antiquities of Melun almost every where, leaves them here, to inform us of a thing very little known, which is, that Amyot turn'd Monk in the Abby of St Ambrose at Bourge & But

PLATS from the Epifile Dedicatory of ris Lea Eur upon the Pfilms m 16,5 that he was already find in that Jame Epi-Ate, that having been Pros Francker swelve. 2 cars. He had leave given b m to go to Rotrerdam, where be mile Pro feljor 1 He mas Lianers det Wille ım Bouchetel Siem de

(b)Roulli

(1) St Ral ib I 76

. Koi l iapri

(f) They are la Popelinere's Words , p 1' H1fforce dem des fciences 1 1 PAR

It was during that time that he translated Heliodorus's Historia extrinopias into French. That Translation pleas'd Francis I. so well, that he soon provided him with a Benefice. He gave him the Abby (C) of Bellesaue, which the Death of France Varables had made vacant. That Prince died soon after, which made Amyor think that it would be better for him to go into Italy in order to raise himself, than to expect any thing from the Course of France Washing from the Course of France Washing and Taly when the Washing the Remains whom the course of France Washing the Remains whom the Course with Many News whom the Course whom the Course whom the want to Expect with Many News whom the course of France Washing the Course with Many News whom the Course whom the Course whom the Course with Many News whom the Course whom the Course whom the Course with Many News whom the Course who washing the Course whom the Course who him to go into Italy in order to raise himself, than to expect any thing from the Court of France. He went to Vensce with Morvillier, whom Henry II. sent on an Embally thither Morvillier made use of him in some Affairs, and sent him to carry the King's (D) Letters to the Council of Trent in 1551. When he was recalled from his Embally, Amyor would not return anto France with him, but chose rather to go to Rome, where he was very kindly received by the Bishop of Mirepois. He lodged about Two Years at his House. It was then that examining the Manuscripts of the Vassean, to which Romalus Amasaus, who was the Keeper of that samous Library, gave him free access, he understood that Heliodorus, Bishop of Trees, was the Author of the Amours of Theagenes. He found a more correct and more entire Manuscript of that Work than that which he had translated, and did not fail to do what he ought, to be in a Condition to give a better translated, and did not fail to do what he ought, to be in a Condition to give a better Edition. His learned Occupations did not hinder him from thinking of railing himself. He made his Court very dexterously to Cardinal de Tournon, and insinuated himself fo well into his Favour, that the Cardinal nam'd him to the King. when that Prince having recall'd him to France, defired him to recommend to him a good Preceptor for his Two Younger Sons. a This was about the Year 1558 Thus Amyor became Preceptor of Two of Henry II's Sons. Whilst he was in that Post he made an ϵ end of his Tranflation of Plutarch's Lives, and dedicated it to that Prince afterwards he undertook the Translation of Plutarch's Morals, and finish'd it in the Reign of Charles IX to whom he dedicated it Charles IX was a great Benefactor to him, he gave him the Abby of St Cornelius of Compiegne, and made him great (E) Almoner of France, and Bishop of Auxerre, and because the Dignity of great Almoner, and the Office of Curatoi of the University of Para were Vacant at the same time, he gave him both of 'em 2 Thumus does very much complain of that Conjunction. Henry III had perhaps yielded to the importunate Sollicitations of the Bishop of St. Flour, who had followed him into Poland, and instantly desir'd the Dignity of Great Almoner, but the Dutchess of Savoy, that King's Aunt, did so earnestly recommend Amyor to him, when he past through Turin in his return from Poland, that not only his Office was continued to him, but a new Lustre was added to n in his Favour: for when Henry III made Amyor Commander of the Or-

& They Reigned oju after 🖝 nother, we-der the Names of Charles IX and Henry 111 A He began it in the Reign of Francis I to whom he presented those Lives written with a fair Adam Charles, e Writing Master of Paris Roulliard ubi infra 7 Thuan de vita iua lib 5

But that the Abbet judging him worthy of a more confpi-cuous Life than that of a Cloyfter, made him acquainted with the Secur de Sacy Bouthetel 'Tis pity he quotes

no Body for it

no Body for it

(C) He gave him the Abby of Bellosane, which the Death of Francis Vatablus had made Vacant? This is altogether inconsistent with the Narrative of the Abbot de St. Real, That Author (h) will have it, that in the Reign of Henry II Amyet was still in the Abbot Obscurity of a small Tutorship in the House of a de St. Real, who was a Friend of his, and that M de al, who fully the Hospital, who did not know him, did only recomment him on account of a Greek Engram that was mend him on account of a Greek Epigram that was presented to that King This must needs be false, if it be true as the Manuscript of Amyer's Life says, that this Learned Man had been several Years Profes for at Bourges before the Death of Francis I and that his Works having been presented to that King he had a very good Abby bestowed upon him Can any one believe that Mr de l'Hospital knew not a Frenchman who had published (1) in 1549, at farthest a Translation of Heliodorus's Historia Ethiopica? How do we know that Henry II took a Journey to Bourges before the first Edition of that Translation? Add, that the Manuscript Life of Amys makes him go in-to Italy soon after the Death of France I Reconcile this if you can with the Abbot de Se Real, who makes him a Tutor at Beurger during Henry II's

Journey to that Town (D) Carry the King's Letters to the Council of Trent]
I must necessarily rectify the Author (k) who sup-I must necessarily rectify the Author (k) who supplies me with this Article, though he says that he made use of a Life of Amyer begun by himself, and ended by his Secretary We have a Letter of Amyer which contains the Relation of his Journey to Trent Few days after that Journey, he writ to M in Merwillier, Master of the Requests Now he is so far from saying that M de Merwillier, Ambessador of France at Penice, had sent him to carry the King's Letters to the Council, that he declares in express words, that he was chosen for that Business by Cardinal de Tourness, and by the Ambassador de Selve It is a convincing Proof that Mervillier was not Ambassador at Penice at that time and thus appears more le is a convincing Proof that Advisiter was not Ambassador at Venice at that time and thus appears more plainly still by Amyes's Letter; for it is directed to M de Norvillier at Court Observe these Words of Amyes, (I) Cardinal de Tournon, and the Ambassador de Selve have been pleased to pitch upon me for that Commission, when I thought on nothing less, or anything like it — (m) it is to be observed that I was not at all named in that (n) Letter, but the worst is, that they had (n) That not so much as sent a Copy of it, by which we might know which the what was in it. So that I never saw any thing so ill. King write managed. It was not then the King that sent him to to the Famue his Protestations against the Council, but it there of the was Cardinal of Transparent the Rough Ambassada. make his Protestations against the Council, but it was Cardinal de Tournen, and the Prench Ambassador at Vence, who chose him to carry the King's Letter, and to read his Majesty's Protestation word for word before the Assembly He acquitted himself very well of that Commission Here is what I am driving at The Abbet de Sr. Real takes it for granted, that Amyse was Preceptor of the Children of Prance before the Negotiation which I have just now mention'd, and he supposes that Henry II employ'd hem tion'd, and he supposes that Henry II employ'd him in that Business, because he had experienced the Truth of the good Character that M de l'Hospital had given of him, when he told the King that Amyor deserved to be Preseptor of the Children of France All this is preserved to be consisted by America I extra and the suppose of the Children of France.

had given of him, when he told the King that Amyos deserved to be Preceptor of the Children of France All this is irrefragably confuted by Amyos's Letter to Morvillier Be sure to mend this Falsity in du Saussai (a) Andr Saussai Be sure to mend this Falsity in du Saussai Saussai Saussai Roman Amiotus adhuc Abbas ad Concilium Tridentinum ab Henrico II mississist negotiorum magni momenti causa Henry II had no hand in that (2) Great Almoner of France and Bishop of Auxerre structurated of those Two Dignities was conferred on Amyos the 6th of December, 1560 by Charles IX at Orleans Du Peyras (b) who had read the Registers of the great Almoners of France, mentions this date as extracted out of the Registers of Amyos It is rot, History that the Abbot de Scala relates concerning that Prelate's Fortune comes to nothing. He says that Amyos in the Reign of his lacour, on Disciples France II and Charles IX had only the Abbot of Bellosane, with the Honour of having spoke the judicious and bold Protestation of Henry II before the whole Council, and that his Fortune had like to stop them ever be had hoped for, and which admirably should be should be some them the should be some themselved and the preceptor a pope——This made such an Impression on Charles IX's Mind, that he feed, that it an Occasion should offer he wou'd do as much for his.

And indeed som after the Place of Almoner of France being vacant, the King gave is to Amyot. All this falls And indeed from after the Place of Almoner of France being vacant, the King gave it to Amyot. All this falls to the Ground as foon as the Registers of that great Almonery are confulted, wherein we find the Office of the great Almonery and Amone of the Confunction of the Confunct fice of great Almoner conferred on Amyer, the Se-which the thers of the Council of ard,Antiq de Melun (1) In-structions & Miffives des Rois tres-Chresti. ens & autres pieconcernants le pra, pag

(1) I express my self shus, because du Verdier

Vas ment ons anEd:tion of 3549 But this does met prove that it was the first (4) Seba-Stian

Roulli-

Concile de Trente pag 14 edit 1608 (m) Ibid pag 23.

der of the Holy Ghoft a, he ordered that in his (F) consideration all the great Almoners a Upontle of France should for the future be Commanders born of that Order Amyor did not first Instiforget his Studies in the midst of his Dignities; he revis'd all his Translations exactly, and compared them with the Greek Text, and made many Alterations in them in a word, he design'd to publish a more perfect Edition, with various Readings of the Manuscripts, but he did not live long enough to finish that Work. The Civil Wars and the (G) rebellious Spirit of his Deocesans gave him a great deal of Trouble 'He was robb'd in his return from the States of Bloss in 1589 He died the 6th of February 1593 in his (H) 79th Year. He had preach'd sometimes on solemn Festival days He made afe of the Latin Tongue in composing his Sermons, though he spoke them in French He had a very particular Custom in Preaching, he turn'd the Door of the Pulpit towards the People, and fat in the middle of it on a great Chair. He meddled with Poetry (1), but did not succeed in it. This is what I have extracted out of a B Life of Amyor begun by himself, and finish'd by his Secretary His Translations are the best (K) things he did, though all the (L) Criticks are not favourable to Paris we read it, cond Day of the Reign of Charles IX Besides, Francis II was not a Disciple of Amyor, but of Peser Danes But to proceed M dest Real supposes that the Queen Mother having soon heard what the Line for his Processor for the Processo fes that the Queen Mother having soon heard what Charles IX had done for his Preceptor, sent for the latter into her Closes, where she received him at first with these dreamful Words "I made the Guises and the Charcellors, the Constables, and the Chancellors, the Kings of Navarre, and the Princes of Conde" buckle to, and do you pretend to oppose me, little "Priest" Notwithsanding the Submission of Amyot, the Conclusion was, That if he had the Office, he should not live 24 Hours The Abbot says afterwards that Amyot absconded, and that Charles XI imagining immediately what might be the Occasion of it, fell into such a fury that the Queen, who had much a attactly what might be the Occasion of it, _______ fell into Juch a fury ______ that the Queen, who had much ado to govern him, and who fear'd him as much as she lov'd him, gave immediately Orders to look for Amyot This is to suppose that Charles IX had been King long before he gave that Office to his-Preceptor But nothing can be more false, he gave it him the next day after his Accession to the Crown, before Catherine de Medicis had tasted of the Regency, and made several Persons Buckle to Every body knows that her Power was small enough in the Reign of Francis II Nevertheless I own that the Resections of Mr des- Real on these things are fine and folid, being confidered in themselves. As for the Bishoprick of Auxerre, it was not given to Amyes in the Year 1568, (c) as Du Peyrat affirms, but (d) in the Year 1570 after the Death of Cardinal Philibert Babou who was possess of it (F) That in his Consideration all the great Almoners of bi lupra .

(c) Du Peyrat 11-

pag 481 (a) There is therefore a mistake in the Table of lo's Tranflation, where 'tis

Fra-Pao-

Said that

Amyot went Ambassador to Rome

under the Name of Bishop of Auxerre.in 1562 The Bishop of Auxerre mention d by Fra-Panot James Amyot (e) Will Du Peyrat ubi fupra,pag

(19) The Ordinance is to be the 18th

Book of Henry's

II of the

(f) Sauf faius ubi

ubi supra

pag 612

fupra (g)Thuan

(F) That in his Consideration all the great Almoners of France I Here is what I find in another (e) Author Henry III in the Year 1578, instituting the Order of the Holy Ghost ordered in (1) Favour of Amyot, that his great Almoner, and his Successors should be associated in the same Order with the Title of Commanders, who nevertheless (says he) shall not be obliged to prove their Nobility which he added to gratify the said Amyot, who was not of a noble Extraction, but entered into the Temple of Honour through that of Virtue See in du Saussay (f) King Henry II sanswer to the Courtiers, who murmur d at the Promotion of a Man of such a mean Birth The same Author says that Amyot made the Statutes and the Litanies, or rather the Office of the Order, Hujus statute & horarias preces scite & scienter composut

scite & scienter composuit

G) The Rebellious Spirit of his Diocesans] Thua-Memory of our Amyse, for he accuses him of having forgot the Favours which the Two Princes his Pupils had heap'd upon him, and of having too much indulged the Seditious and Factious I ury of the Inhabitants of Auxerre The Love of Study and Old Age made him keep his Residence, and he had not the Courage to oppose the I orrent of Rebellion Sebaltian Resiliand does not speak of him in on Sebastian Reulliard does not speak of him in that manner, but infinuates, that he was abus'd for that manner, but infinuates, that he was abus'd for his Fidelity (b) Afflictions, fays he, came upon him at his going away from the States of Blois, in the Year 1989 because through the Fury of the Troubles that grew hot at that time, he was robb'd and plunder'd half-way in his return to Auxerre, and being come thit bor he was very much troubled by the Inhabitants, and even by his Clerky At last, things were pacified by degrees, so that he did not stir from that place, but he daily complained that the want of his Estate and of the Conveniences he enjoyed before, deprived him of the Pleasure of Study Ste Marthe (1) owns indeed that some bad Reports had been spread, but does not believe them to be true. ubi fupra,

(H) In his 79th Year] Thuanus applied himfelf Antiqui-to some Persons very ill informed concerning Amou, tez de Me Reing they could neither tell him when he died, nor at what Age He says in general that myot, whose Death he places in the Month of July, 1591 was above 60 Years of Age Ste Marthe places it in the Year 1592 Triennio post Henricum tertium detessabili parricidarum coitione sublatum evivus excessit (a)

oili parricidarum coitione Jublatum e vivus excessit (a) Jroni inat

(I) He meddled with Poetry, but did not succeed in it]

Sebassian Roulliard his Countryman would doubtles have spar'd him on that head, if it had been possible

These are his Words As to (b) the Latin Poem that he made one the Coronation of King Charles IX it appears (a) Simthereby that he had read Hoi ace very much, but he would must in have proved a very indifferent Poet. The Translation of Greek Verses into French Verses, to which Amore 196 of Greek Verses into French Verses, to which Amjor confined himfelf in his Plutarch, is frightful Charles (c) the Ninth found it course, in which his Opin on was followed by many others Roulliand alledges a pitiful excuse, It is, says he, a Collection out of five ral. Authors, and of a different Style Here follows the Judgment he made of Amyots Prose In shore, says he, according to my Opinion he was more happy in Translating than in Composing, either in I iench or in Latin for what I have five of it seems thange's heavy and different than the control of the contr for what I have seen of it seems strange'y heavy and dull

(K) His Translations are the best things he did] The first of all was that of H hodorus, but that of Plufareh procured him his chief Reputition He trunflated also Longue's Pastorals, several Books of Diodorus Siculus, and some Gre L Tragedies The Dutchess of Savoy not sinding the Life of Epami nondas, nor that of Scipio in Plutarel, desired him to compose them He did it, but they were not published The Preface was ready Peter Matthieu (1) 5 1 500 faw it, and therefore we may believe that Amjor h d aiso Sir put the last hand to that Work It is said (7), that he durst not undertake the Franslation of Philostratus, though King Henry III hid often detired him to go about it, but he excus d himself on the Impossi bility and when that Prince saw the Vession (1) I huof Vigenera, he told An jot, you was saying that Philostratus was past translating, Amjor answered him, That he thought so till then
(L) All the Criticks are not favourable to him] Mr (1) Gilac, tarch procured him his chief Reputition He trun-

(L) All the Criticks are not favourable to him] Mr Baillet (g) has collected the Praises bestowed upon Replique the Translation of Plutarch They are fine and glorious I add to them what I heard Mr Conrart lay in the Year 1675 somebody having told him that most of the Cop es of Plutarch translated by the Abbot Zallemant had been burnt in a Bookieller's Warehouse, the loss of it, said he, will not be so great, while we have the Translation of Amyor, which great, whilf we have the Translation of Amyot, which contains the finest turns of our Language, and the best Occommy of our Periods Mr Baillet has not been less careful in collecting the disadvantageous Judgments He has not forgot that Thuanus praises that Translator's Elegancy more than his Faithfulness Diodoro ac pracipus Plutarcho licet majore plerumque elegantia (b) quam side Gallice redditis He forgot another Passage of Thuanus mention'd by Mr de Girac This last Author shall be the only one, whose words I shall alledge, as a kind of a Supplement to Mr Baillet's sine Collection "(1) As for Epitimius, who "18 kill'd in Amyot, whereas in the Greek Text it is is kill'd in Amyor, whereas in the Greek Text it is only his Horfe, I had rather believe that this famous Interpreter made use of different Copies from those that we have, than say, as Thuanus (1) does, that his Versions are much more Polite tution of December, 1578 Latin, and has not been prin-Sebastian Roulliand Advocate liament of Paris whe publifly d an Al stratt of 11 12 1 15 tez deMelun,p 605 & ieq 1 ken the Article from that

614 (c) Id 1b ubi tupri, P 168 Jays fo Vau-privas, Prolopogi i-(1) Amio-Pæmentci Longi, Heliodori ci,Diodori S culi historica. ac postretarchum in linguam no-ftiam Gallicam de verterat, fed hunc

(1) Sammarth in elog p m majore elegantia quam fide, dum auribus nostris placere quam de lensus veritate laborare potius existimat. Thuan de vita sua.

1 5. C c "than a See hes Trauté de l'ulage de l'Hiltosre. Mr Teillier bas taken from it whatever concerns Amyor. in bis Additions to the Elogies out Thuanus, tom 2 pag 152

$ In 1616

hum, and though some have said that his was (31) a Blagury sto that at spect Some have (N) taxed him with Coverentiels. The Abbert as St. Red a knew many curious Particulars that are not in the Lase of Amyor. They it no be seen it is derer's Dichonary Which is the Reason why I don't make use of them, though I should not que ftion the Truth of 'em. If I have any Supplemente or Explications, to add to what I have find, I shall place them in the Remarks

The things that Varilles (O) relates concerning Amyor are full of Falsities. They ought to be criticis'd so clear shat Chaos.

A MYRAUT (Moses) Minister and Professor of Divinity at Saumur, was one of the most illustrious Divines in France in the XVIIth Century He was of a good (A) and ancient Family, originally come from Orleans, and he was born at Bourguest at small Town of Touraine, in the Month of September, 1596. Having perform'd his Course of Philosophy, he was sent to Postiers to study the Civil Law, and applied hunself to at with so much Assiduity, that he spent 14 Hours every day upon it. He took his Licenses & at a Years end, but went no farther Mr Bouchereau his Countryman and Minister of Saumur, advis'd him to study Divinity The reading of Calvin's Institution

(2) L' O1seau. de Paction hypothen hook 3 - דואסד נפי היי 111 2115 01 > 211170 Truage מוד לכוח מוח

Peliflon mhis Hi-Rone de 1 1cidemie p

7,2 (k) Above K mark A mics. O. pulcul p

Ultraj

(m) Pope-

Im Idee de l'Hifoire accomplie,

13P 259 (n) Id Hiftone des histor-drei's Profupograpi se ics pag (0) Du 1 12-tom 3 P

(p) Sec the R mark A ar the end

(9) Varil-las, Hift

de l'herefie I ic P 310 Dutch Edit

2573

"than I sithful, and that he was not so careful of the Froth, as he affected to please nice Ears I know that a Learned (2) and wife Civilian fays he did not understand a fine piece of Antiquity con crining a I aw of Solon, for instead of saying thu that Lawgiver had boasted somewhere in his Poems, that he had delivered the Atomians from all the Debts they had contracted, and taken 'from all the Debts they had contracted, and taken "away the Penoncels, that were jet in many places on "the Mortgaged Lands, he has translated, to have sa"ken away the bounds, which before separated the subspitance of all the Territory of Attica I could add se"veral Remarks on many Places, wherein good
"Anyot was mistaken, but I cannot approve Mr
"de Niziriae, who (3) in a Discourse that he made "concerning Translations, after having praised the "Wit, Labour, and Style of that Eloquent Tran"stator in his Version of Plutarch, presends to show that he has grosy mistaken the Sense of Plutarch in Two "thousand Places"
(M) That he was a Plaguary in that respect] We

(M) That he was a Plaguary in that respect] We have seen (k) what Bran one says on this Subject Let us see now what others have said of it (1) I have heard M Patin fay, (lays Mr Colomies) that he had it from the good Man Lawrence Bochel (who cau'd the Decrees of the Gallican Church, &c to be printed) that Amyot had translated Plutarch's Lives from an old Its ian Version of the King's Library, and that i was the Cause of the Faults he had committed I cannot tell whether that I cofion be that which Baptist Alexander Jaconel of Rieti made from the Latin in the Year 1428 which is in the same Library La Popeliniere (m) cen-iures Amyos for not giving Turnebus the honour that was due to him, because he did not inform the Publick of the Affishance he had from him for the Understanding of the disticult Passages He pretends that I ure ebia fent him whole Passages turned into I rench, about which Amyor was at a lois, and that several other Learned Men(n) assisted him with their good Advice

(N) Some have taxed him with Covetousness] I have cited a long Passage of Brantome in the Remark A, wherein Charles IX taxes his Preceptor with that Fault Another Book (o) informs me, that Amyor isking one day a Benefice of a great Revenue, that Prince told him, Master, you was saying, that if you had a thousand Crowns a Year you would be satisfied, I believe you have that and more Sir, answered he, Appetite comes by eating, and yet he obtain'd what he delired You may it you please take the Two hundred (p) thousand Crowns, that he got, for a doubtful Proof of his Covetousness.

(O) That Mr Varillas relates are full of Falsties]

He says, (q) that the Court of Francis I stopping from Hours in the Castle of a Gentleman of Barry, Amyot who was Preceptor in that Gentleman's House, took Occasion to present his Majesty with an Epgram of Four excek Verses, which he had just then made. The Learned Persons, who followed his Majesty, liked the Epigram so well, that it was not thought proliked the Enigram so well, shat it was not thought proper o leave the Author of it any longer in a Province so remotifrom Paris. The king took him into his Service, and gave him a considerable Pension. Circumstances are strangely transposed in this Account, for we have seen() that the good esset which some of anyot's Greek Verses presented to Henry II, did produce, is attributed to Michael de Infantel Varilles relates in another Book (s) that Amyot Profestor of the Greek Longue at Bourges, made himself known to the Court by his pelite may of writing French, and that then Bouchesel and Marcillier Secretaties of State recall'd him to Paris, and having brought him back to the Communion of the catholick Church, recommended him to Cardinal de Tournon, who presured him the Abby of Belloiane, and the Commission of Secretary to the Ambassador at Venice, from whouse he set out to execute the King's Orders at Trent in the Year 1551. Thus that Historian refutes in one Book what he had said in another. He adds, that Amyot made a Discourse before the Fathers of the Council. He gives the Substance of it, and quotes Amyot's Speech. But that Speech is a Chimera, Amyot did only read the King's Protestation. Is quotes Amyot's Speech But that Speech is a Chimera, Amyot did only read the King's Protestation Is it not a great Boldness to cite Manuscripts that never were in being? Varillas says (a), that at the Age of Ten Years Amyot was found sick in the Road of Paris by a Ditch, and that a Gentleman by ing by _______ set bim an his Horse, and carried to a House that was near, where he recovered, where the paid afterwards with Usury, by leaving to the Heirs of bis Benefaller Saxteen hundred Growns a Year Tis said in Amyot's Life, that he left (b) 12 hundred Crowns to the Hospital of Orleans It was there that the Gentleman carried him, there he was cur'd, and there to the Hospital of Orleans It was there that the Gentleman carried him, there he was cur'd, and there he receiv'd 16 pences was to that Hospital that he left afterwards a law is a bundred Crowns, (c) according to the research Mr de St Real Why does Varillas after those Circumstances, and amplify Amyot's Gratitude? Why does he by his Exaggerations convert a meer Legacy of Three thousand fix hundred Livres into a yearly Rent of Six (d) thousand two hundred Livres? He tells us, that Amyot being a Student changed his Religion, and serv'd for an Instrument to seduce his School-Fellows, 'till being discover'd he fied to Bourges, where the same Volmar, who had instructed Calvin and Bers, procured him a Tutor's place in the Hanse of the Abbot of St Ambrose, whose Neghews were committed to his Charge, and chale him

"were committed to his Charge, and charge minimum fince for his Successfor to teach Greek amyes was foon weary of teaching publickly "This Account cannot be reconciled with the Memoirs of mishish'd by Sebastian Roulliard We Account cannot be reconciled with the Memoirs of Amyot's Life, publish'd by Sebassian Roulliard We find there that he (e) was about 23 Years of Age, when he went to Bourges with the Abbot of Se Amberofe, who persuaded him to undertake that Journey, and therefore he went thicker in the Year 1537 Now Volmar (f) left Bourges in the Year 1535, and consequently it was not he that made him acquainted with that Abbot We find in the same of the Memoirs that Amyot fill'd up the Professor's place losoph (e) em Years, and that he was often heard to say among Pag 233 (g) ten Years, and that he was often heard to Jay among

(g) sen Tears, and that he was often heard to Jay among hu Friends, that he had a good Maintenance, that he had never a better time than that, and that he sook a very great Delight in performing that Exercise, because he enjoyed a very great quiet. And therefore 'tis not true that he was quickly weary of teaching publickly Varillas Observes that Bouchees and Mai villier represented to hom the Obstacles that he Harely brought to his Salvation and Fersure, and that he made use of their Advice Beneficiel knew him then for a Calvin but would be in such a Case have made him T to his Children as (b) he did?

(A) Of a good and succept Family] His grand-Grand-Father Scaphen L'Amprovis Was Echevin of Orn trang-rather stapes L. Amprovie was Echeum of Orn-leans, when the Common Law was actioned there in 1509. The Verbal Process of the Common Law witnessign in. It is precentably but the first of that Family is one L'Amproult, whose Tomb

(c) Saint Real ubi fupra,pag 75 (d) Varillas ibid p fupra pas. pag (g) Roul liard ibid

MARKE

(b) Rou gliard, 16 3) Roul-

(r) In the Remark G (1) Varake lis, Hift. de Henry II I 2 p

m 2043

made him very much approve that Advice, so that having told his Father who (B) had some Reasons to make him study the Law, that he passionately desir'd to be a Minister, he obtain'd, though with much ado, the Consent which he desir'd He went to study at Saumar under Cameron, who lov'd and esteem'd him in a particular manner, and he was for a confiderable time a Student in Divinity When he was admitted a We find Minister, he was given to the Church of St. Aignan, in the Country of Manne, where in Mr having hv'd 18 Months he was invited to Saumur, to succeed Mr Daille a, who left that Daille's Post to be Minister of Charenson. At the same time that the Church of Saumur desir'd Life, that to have him for their Minister, the Academical Council cast their Eyes upon him to make him Professor of Divinity. Which was the Reason why the Church of Rouen Paris in and Tours, who at the same time desired the Synod that they might have him, were the Tear disappointed in their Hopes; for the National Synods had ordered that the Interest of 1626 the Academies should be preferr'd before that of the Churches. His Admission to the Professorship in 1633, the Examination that preceded it, and the inaugural Thesis de Sacordosso Clerifts, procured him great Applauses Two other excellent Professors were admitted with him, to wit, Lewis Cappel, and Joshua de la Place so that those Three Persons were given at one and the same time to the Academy of Saumur, who were extremely well qualified to make it flourish, for besides their great Learning, there g The was a wonderful Sympathy among them, which produc'd a very edifying and happy Speech he Concord, which is the more to be praised, because it is a very great Rarity in the made to Academies Mr Amyrant was deputed to the National Synod of Charentons in the Year inserted in Inserted Inserted in Inserted That Assembly deputed him to make a Speech to the King, and to represent the Merto his Majesty their Complaints concerning the Infractions of the Edicts He was par- cureFranticularly charg'd to order it so that he should not speak (C) Kneeling, as the Deputies cois for of the last National Synod had done, and he managed that Business with so much the Year

Desterity and Resolution, that he was at last admitted to be Audited as the Audited State of the S Dexterity and Resolution, that he was at last admitted to his Audience & according to the ancient Usage, and according to the desire of the Assembly That Deputation brought him acquainted with Cardinal de Richelien, who wonder'd to find so many Qualities in him that did not savour of a letter'd Man Some time after he publish'd a Piece (D), wherein he explain'd the Mystery of Predestination and Grace according to the Hypothesis of Cameron That Piece rais'd a kind of Civil (E) War among the Protestant Divines of France Those who were not for that Hypothesis, cited it down as a Novelty, especially when they saw the great du Moulin make it his business to accuse Mr Amyraut of acting contrary to the Synod of Dort, and of favouring Ar-The Authority of that famous Divine, who had got the Veneration of mihi anı (m the People by many Books of Controversy, made such an Impression upon several Ministers,

Year 1370 and 1s to be seen in the Church of St Preserve on Pour His Epstaph says that he came from Haguenaw, a Town of Alface, being Captain of a Company of Reiflers That Tamily benefited the Convent and Church of the Minimes at Orleans and in that Quality their Coat of Arms is to be feen in the Glass Wandows of the Church I shall occasionally observe that an Fuglishman of the Communion of Rome has very ill latiniz'd the Name of Amyraut, for instead of Amyraldus, he says Amurath This would be but a small Fault, if by a cold and mean Allusion he had not added to it a very ridingless. culous Doubt Moses quidam Amurath, says he (1), Minister Salmuriensis, home saltem nomine (nescio an & progenie) Judao-Turca In the following Pages he calls him Amyrath These Words of Father Bartolocs: are very surprising Moses Amyraldus, says he (a), videtur Judæus Conversus and fidem, scripsing, eruditissimam & Gatholicam dissertationem de mysterio Trinitatis, deq, vocibus, & phrasibus, quibus tam in scriptura, quam apud Patres explicatur Pars IV que cst de primerdis reveletionis mysteris Trinitatis in veteri Testamente, habetur in libro Wagenschlis inscripto, Tela Ignea Sacana pag 140 Thus the most famous Authors are iometimes unknown to one another Father Barrolocci not knowing Mr Amyrous otherwise than by a piece inserted by Mr Wagenseil, took him really for a Converted Jow

(B) Had Some Rassons, &c] He design d him for the Office of Senechal, possest by his Uncle who had no Children

the Souls of no Children

(1) In his

Notes upon Some ex tracts of

Edward

Dering's Spache

This mas printed at London ın 1659 with a Picceintstl'd, Nun-mortas,

which is

Dialogue herm een

[#)-Bereol Bublioth

Rabin

part 4.

Henry VIII charles I

(C) That he fould not speak Kneeling] Mr Amyraus was the Person who represented the State of that Question to the Synod, and he promised at the same time to make all possible Instances if the Assembly gave him Instructions about it. They charg'd him then to demand the Restoration of the Privilege which the Minrsters had enjoy'd, to speak to lege which the Minriters had enjoy'd, to speak to his Majesty standing, as the Clergy of the Kingdom do He went with Two Elders to Monosoux, where the Court was, and having applied himself to Mir do he Fridere, Secretary of State, he understood by him that the King expected that the Deputies of the Synod-should not speak otherwise to him than those of the preceding Synod. There being always a Commissary from the King in our Synods, he who affified at that time in the National Synod of Charenton, had notified to the King what they had charg'd the Deputies to ask, and the Court not thinking fix to grant that Request, Mr. de la Vribblere was ordered to declare it immediately to the Deputies Mr. respectfully the Reasons of the Synod, and above a Fortnight past without yielding any thing on either side Cardinal de Richelieu being inform d of that Minister's Resolution, desir'd to confer with him on that Subject, and endeavour d to persuade him not to insist any longer upon it. He answered and replied to all the most plausible things that could be alledg'd by the Cardinal, and at last the Audience was granted as Mr Amy, aut desir'd it I he Cardinal discouris'd several times with him concerning the Complaints of the Protestants, and was mightily pleased with that Minister's Wit and Manners

(D) A Piece wherein he explain'd the Mystery of Pre-destination] A Roman Catholick of Quality occa-tion d that Piece He had din d with Mr Amyraut at Bourgueil at the Bishop (a) of Chartres, to whom (a) He was that Minister was very well known After dinner of the House he brought in a Matter of Controversy into the Con- of Eramverfation, and charged the Protestants with teaching pes Vavery harsh things about Predestination Mr Amyraut spoke, and there was a kind of dispute in a very was aftercivil way between him and the Bishop of Chartres, on that difficult Question The Evening being made Archacome the Company parted, the next day Mi Amybishop of of Quality's House, as he had promis'd him, and (b) At found him well affected to the Protestant Religion, Plessis-Riwith several Scruples about the Doctrine of Predesti- deau nation, as Calvin explain'd it He removed all those Scruples as well as he could, and yielding to that Gentleman's defire, who entreated him to write a Treatife, wherein the Matter might be more narrow. Treatife, wherein the Matter might be more narrowally discussed than in a meer Conversation, he write and publish'd (c) the Book of which I ipeak This (c) Int 634. Is what I find in my Manuscript Memoirs Mr (d) Pramamyrani does not say that this was the Reason why fat Specific that Piece, he gives another (d):Reamon for set, which is very different (E) A kind of Civil War among the Divines That de Gratia Dispute was considerable enough to deserve a good University of the C c 2

wards Reims

Echantildostrine de Calvin C In the Year 1637 (y) Blon-del, Actes authent pag 36 (8) It is In ituled, Animadversionum ın Lxercıde gratia univertali, and was Printed at Saumur, ın 1648 in 410 (-) Blondel, ib pag 40, 41 E) What ss faid in the Melange Cri-Iom 1 1 2Q. 15 not true, that Mr Amyraut miere ti st against Mr Spanheim, o this bis large l'olume was composed against Mi Span-

ARF-FLECTI-ON on the Lvils occasion d by the Disputes of Divines heim s 1 hefes

It was

30) itten 4-gainst the

Three Volumes of who was the Aggres-101

Sci Salia-

Vius's Les-

ters, pag

8, 95 108 Edit

1697

(a) JohannesQuick, a London Minister His Book Intituled, Synodi con in Gallia 10 formata was print-cd in Fol 1692 (4) See Ælchylus's Life, written by Tanaquillus Faber

a Intituled Ministers, that though Mr. Amyraut had publish'd a piece a, wherein maintain'd th Calvin had taught Universal Grace, there appear'd many Deputies charg'd with Ir structions against Mr. Amyraus in the National Synod of & Alencon, and some of their (F) were so hot that they would have had him deposed. The Deputies of the Province beyond the Loire were the most violent against him. Nevertheless the Assembly havin heard Mr Amyraut who explain'd his Opinion in several Sessions, and who resolved th Difficulties that were propos'd to him, fent him home with Honour, and impos'd a Si lence about those Questions that was not very well kept. Some Complaints y wer made against Mr Amyraut in the National Synod of Charenton in 1645 as having acted contrary to the Regulation which concern'd that Silence, and he complain d in hi turn of some Contraventions committed against the same Regulations. The Assembly suppress d all those reciprocal Complaints, by an boly Amnessy, ordered again that every body should be silent about those Things, dismiss Mr Amyraut with Honour, and per noted him to do count the Ferrage who should be silent about those Things, dismiss Mr Amyraut with Honour, and per mitted him to do against the Foreigners who should write against him, what the by nod of Anjou should think fit. That Synod permitted him to publish an Answer Atc the three Volumes of Mr Spanbeym about universal Grace, which recasioned many other Books See the Margin ζ . During the National Synod of the Year 1645 Mr Amyraut was desir'd by the Assembly to enter into a Consensation with Mr de la Milletiere, in order to bring him over to his Opinion. The Conference continued feveral Days, but they did not agree better in disputing by word of Mouth, than in the Books they had already Publish'd against each other The Doctrine of Mr de la Place about Original Sin was attack'd in that Synod. Mr Amyraut hearing of it appeared before the Assembly to plead the Cause of his Collegue, and shewed in a long Discourse that the Doctrine complain'd of was not at all dangerous. That action was not only prais'd by reason of the great skill whetewith the Doctrine of Mr de la Place was detended, but also because Mr Amyraut's only aim was the Interest of his Collegue; for his own Opinion about that point was not that of Mr de la Place. If I add that Mr Cappel did not follow the common Opinion of the Protestants about the Antiquity of the Points of the Hebrew Text, I shall have named all the Complaints that were made against the Academy of Saumur But notwithstanding those Complaints, a great many Students in Divinity resorted thither, and their number grew lesser place in the Ecclesiastical Annals of the Protestants He (a) who publish'd in English a very curious History of our Synods of France, is able to inform us of the Quarrels which the Doctrine of universal Grace raised there I think it would be a great Calumny to fig, that those who mov'd that Question first, would have done it, tho' they had foreseen all the Evils that were to result from it for to what purpose are those Disputes? Will no difficuly remain, provided the Hypothesis of Cameron be made. mun, provided the Hypothesis of Cameron be made use of Is it not true on the contrary, that there never was a more palliative Remedy than that? never was a more palliative Remedy than that? There needs many other Things to fatisfy Reason, and it you go no farther, you had as good stand still and keep to Particularism But granting that Universalism has some advantage, and affords the best Answers to some Objections Is that sufficient to counter balance to many ipiritual Crimes that I actions draw after them, fo many ill Sufpicions, fo many finisher Interpretations, to many in suspicions, to many finisher Interpretations, to many false Imputations, fo many Animosities, so many injurious Words, so many Libels, and so many other Diforders which attend such a Theological Conflict? If you believe that Particularism damns People, you do well to resute it at any rate. I say the same thing to those who should take Transcript for a mortal to those who should take Universalism for a mortal Herefy but fince you don't pretend to refute a per-nicious Opinion on either fide, Dispute no farther than you may do it without troubling the Publick Peace, and be filent when the Event shews you that you divide I amilies, or that two Parties are forming Don't continue to raife a thousand Passions, which ought to be chained up like so many wild Beasts. Wo be to you, if you occasion their being let loose. Thanks be to God the Civil War of Universal Crace and some others. verfal Grace and iome others, have not deferv'd the Application that was made in my hearing of some Verses to Schismatical Disputes The Preparations Veries to Schisinatical Disputes and the Auxiliary I roops of the two Leaders were compar'd to this Decoration of the Stage

Aigles, (b) Vautours, Serpens, Grifons, Hippocentaures, & Typhons, Des taureaux furieux dont la gueule beante Lit ti ansi de frayeur le grand cheval d'Atlante, Un char que des dragons éssucelans d'eclairs Pomenoient en sissant par le vuide des airs,

Din operation en signant par tervatue us uses, Din operation encor a la trifte figure,
Et l Herreur & la Mort s'y voyoient en peinture Mi Amyraut had the fatisfaction to be reconciled to his most violent Adversaries, and the great Men of the World needed not always concern themselves with the Pacification The Prince Tarente concern'd himself with it in the Year I cannot tell whether the Parties gave him Trouble than the Marshals of France have by the Differences that fall under their Jurisdiction, however, he succeeded in his Undertaking, (c) and (c) Hereperhaps better than a Synod would have done As for the Reconciliation with Mr du Moulin, it was the Cassie Mr de Langle, Minister of Rouen, who procur'd it As soon as he had made his Proposal, Mr Amyrane As ioon as he had made his Propoial, Mr Amyrant did fully confent to it, and offer'd to make all the advances. He wister Letter first, and Mr du Monlin answer'd him reservilly. Those Letters were Publish'd for the minimation of the Church. They are dated in the factor of the Church and Mr du Moulin's Answer in one (d) of his Books. Reason and Charity incline us to believe that those, who made so much notife and raised so many Stormer. who made so much noise, and rais'd so many Storms against a Doctrine, which they have at last acknow-ledg'd to be harmless, and the Desender whereof seem dat last a faithful Servant of God to them, did not die without being assamed of their Prepositession, which represented to them an Hypothesis wherein there was no harm, as an hideous Doctrine See what follows

(I) Some of them were fo hot that they would have had See the him deposed | If they liv'd 30 or 40 Years longer, I do not see how they durst lookPeople in the Face, for at thentique last that Doctrine which they judg'd worthy of the by David most thundering Anathema's, was found to be the Blondel, the greatest Men that served the Reformed Churches to pag 85 france It was the Doctrine of M Mestrezat, M le Fautheur, M Blendel, M Daille, M Claude, M du Bosc The Particularists were ioon oblig d to acknowledge the Iavouriers of universal Grace for their Brethren, faithful Ministers of J L S U S C H R I S T, we have seen that the French Ministers, who steems
we have seen that the French Ministers, who steems
we have seen that the French Ministers of the Sumarkets to Holland, and who fign'd a Formulary in the Synod of Retterdam in the Year 1686 were not submitted to any Declaration that reflected in the least mitted to any Declaration that reflected in the least upon the System of Mr Amyraus (e) From whence then came the Nosse that was made at first against that System? How comes it that the same Doctrine was accounted at first a Monster, and afterwards an innocent thing? Must we not look upon it as an effect of original Sin, and of a Thousand dark Passens. Which quight to produce at less a most fine. effect of original Sin, and of a Thouland dark raifions, which ought to produce at last a mortifying Humiliation? The worst is that Men do not grow better for what is past, each Generation affords the same Symptoms, sometimes greater, and sometimes lesser. For it may often be very well said, when Cales

of Thouof Ottober, 1649 Mr Amyraut with Mr de Champvernou, Minister of Taillebourg and with Mr. Vincent Minifin of Rochelle Actes Authentiques by David William Rivet, and was the Andrew River Pro fessor . at Leyden.
(d) Vindiciæ Apologiæ, pag 418 (e) See the Remark M of the At ticle Dailtwo Collegues, and had time to publish many (G) Books He wrote as easily as he arest c Auspace, and that is much, for he had a fluent Tongue both in Latin and French, and as what is Il in his Divinity Lectures, as in his Sermons He knew the World, and could afford a Teat variety of things in Conversation, that were out of his Profession And doubtless, it was that which contributed as much, or more, than the reputation of his Learning, to the happiness he had, all his Life-time, of being considered and respected by the Great Men of the contrary Religion. I have said already, that Cardinal de Richelieu had a great esteem for him I will not add, that he got him acquainted with his Great Design steems (H) of re-uniting the two Churches, for it would not be a sufficient Proof of his great Consideration for him, that Cardinal having sounded several Ministers upon it who were The Marshal (1) de Breze, and the Marshall (K) de la 11every much inferior to this illerase, ought to be reckon'd among the great Lords, who had a pirticular Fifteem for our Amyraut Mr. le Goux (L) de la Berchere, first President in the Parliament of Bur-

Salmuri-

Replique

Adin &

de Cottiev part

Cases, Denunciate pologies, and Disputations, come out apace, imquefaces of saxa volume, and when Books fly about continually from place to Let em alone, they will agree and without much

🎎: motus (b) animorum atque hec certamina tanta Pulveris exigni jattu compressa qui cfcont
But fuch a thing cannot be faid always Things

erumpit

are sometimes carried to Extremities Res in nervum (G) Many Books] He publish'd his Treatise of Religions in 1631 Five Years after he publish'd Six Sermons on the Nature, Extent, &t of the Gospel He publish d several other Sermons at several times His Book concerning the elevation of Faith, and the depressing of Reason (de l'Elevation de la Foi, & de l'Abaissement de la Raison) appear'd in Calvin's Defence on the Doctrine of Absolute Reprobation appear d in Latin the fame Year, and in French in the Year 1644. He begun his Paraphrases on the Scripture in 1644. The Epistle to the Assans was Paraphrased first, he went on with the Epistles, and ended the Gospels but he had the Prudence as well as Calvin not to meddle with St John's Revelation For fear resolved the Paraphrase of the Product of hinder the Roman Catholicks from reading his Pahinder the Roman Catholicks from reading his Paraphrases, he would not name himself. In 1647 he publish'd an Apology for the Protestants, a Treatise of Free Will, and another De seessione ab Ecclesia Romana, deque pace inter Evangelicos in negotio religionis constituenda. He treated more amply afterwards of the Re-union of the Calvinists and Lutherans, in the Irencon printed in the war 1662. His Book de la voiation des Passeura publish'd in 1649. He Preach'd on that Matter before the Prince of Tarence, during the holding of a Provincial Syof Tarente, during the holding of a Provincial Sy-nod of which he was Moderator That Prince de-fir d that Sermon to be Printed, and that the Matfird that Sermon to be Printed, and that the Matter might be more amply treated, for it was a great Topick among the Missionaries For which reason Mr Amyraus did not only Print his Sermon, but publish'd also a compleat Treatise on that important Controversy, and dedicated the whole to the Prince of Tarents. His Morale chressense in six Volumes in Sea the first whereof was Printed in the Veat 1662. 8 ve the first whereof was Printed in the Year 1652 is the product of the Conversationshe often had with Mr de Villarnoul, a Lord of an extraordinary Merit, and one of the most learned Gentlemen of Europe, who was also in that respect Heir to Mr du Plessis Mornes, his Grandsather by the Mother's side The but sew Matters on which Mr Amyraut die Write He publish'd a Treatise of Dreams, He publish'd a Treatise of Dreams, two Volumes about the Millenium, wherein he re-futes an Advocate of Paris whose Name is Mr de Lames (c) who was a great Chiliast, the Life of the Neue, surnamed Bras de fer, and several other Works which I do not mention, or of which I speak in the sequel of this Article He mounted also on Parnassus, for he made a Poementitl'd, P. Apolica Contraction of the Santas Contr logie de St Etienne a ses Juges, (St Stephen's Apology to hu Judges) The Poets did not rise up against it, but the Missionaries did It was pretended that the Author had spoke of the Holy Sacrament of the Alter with the utmost Irreverence, but he publish'd a Piece for his Justification, of which I cannot say any thing more to the purpose than what Mr Daille said of it Let us hear him then "As to St Ste-" phen's Apology to his Judges, which work (1) make "phen's Apology to his Judges, which you (d) make "use of to convict us of having abus'd your Sa"crament; if you and those who are so much of"fended as a had your before a read the Letters."

"fended at it, had vouchfafed to read the Letter which the Author has publish d for his Justification, you and they would not have such an ill Opto

nion of it, nay you would perhaps wonder at the Illusion which your Prejudic shave produ-ced in your Mind, by pretending that what he has written against the Ixtravigancy of the Pagin "Idolatry, was meant of you and your Iraniub"fiantiation (c)

(H) Great Design of re-unitine le (hurches] The Jesut who discours d with An minum about this subject was call d Father In overt Mi de Villeneuve, aux deux livres d who was at that time the king's Lieutenant at Saumur, having made em Dine together, and with 10 much (omplaisance for the Mir ister, that he gave him the upper Hand of the Jeius, and that no Grace was faid at his Table for that time, order d chap 17 p m 108 it so after Dinner that they discoursed together in private. It is true that Mi Amiran declar d he could not help communicating to his Collegues the whole subject of their Conference The Jeiust fud that the King and his Liminence had tent him to make Proposals of Agreement in Mitters of Religion, and then he gave to understand, that they would facrifice to Peace the Invocation of Creatures, Purgatory, and the Merit of Works, that the Pope's Power would be limited, and that it the (our of Rome should refuse to consent to it, they would take occasion from thence to create a Patriarch, that the Cup should be given to the Laity, and that they might also yield some other things, if they observed a true defire of Peace and Re-union in the Protefrants But he declar'd, when Mi my aut put him on the Doctrines of the Lucharift, that they did not pretend to change any thing in it, whereupon the other answer d him that there was then nothing to do Their Conversation listed about 4 Hours, the Jesuit required secrecy from him Mr Amyraut protested to him, that according to the Decliration he had made at first to Mr de Villeneuve, he would communicate their Conference to his Collegues; but that he would answer for their Diferction That very Evening he gave them an Account of the Conference, and made no icruple to speak of the Connectice, and indee no icrupie to speak of it when there was occasion for it, after the death of Cardinal de Richelieu and I ither Audebert

(1) The Marshal de Breze | He was Governor of Saumur, and never went thithen without fending to defire Mr Amyraut to come and fee him He defin d him also very often to go to his Castle of Milly, where he made his common Abode, and when he received the News of the Death of his Son the Duke of Fronsac, Admiral of France, he would always have Mr Amyraut near him He received teveral visits from him in his last Sickness, and even recommended himself to his Prayers, and desir d to be pray'd for in the Protestant (hurch of Saumur He died in the Castle of Milly in 1650

(K) The Marshal de la Meilleraie | When he was a Protestant, he studied with Mi Amyraut at Sin He always remember d that ancient Acquaintance, and the next day after his coming to Stumur when the Court was there in 1652 he lent to compliment that Minister, who did not ful to go ind pay his Respects to him immediately, and to be received by him as usually with a Thousand Marks of Consideration. That Marshal having heard of Mr. Amyraut's last Sickness, sent a Gentleman to see him, and to tell him, that if his Gout would have permitted him to bear the motion of a Coach, he would have come to fee him. He was at that time at his Castle of Montreuil-Bellat, four Leagues from Saumur

(L) Mr le Goux de la Berchere] He was con-fin'd to Saumur in the Year 1637 where he liv d

(c) Set 100. 1 9, and of the 1ft Tome / Ancillen's Melange Critique de licetage CHIP ...

(x) V1r-gil, And

Georg Lib

(d) He JP aks to Father Adam.

gundy, and the Intendants (M) of the Province of Amou, are of that aumber; and we may add to them some Bishops (N) and Arch-Bishops, and above all (O) Cardina Mazarin, whose Civilities to that Professor were extraordinary. It is very likely tha he found Favour with that Cardinal among other Reasons, because he declar'd openifor the Doctrine of the Obedience of Subjects to their Princes He did it usefully for the Court of France during the Disorders, wherein the Fortune of Cardinal Mazarin was so much tossed, and on several other occasions he shew'd that it was (P) his darling Doctime, so far as to quarrel about it with a a Minister of Rochelle. but at the same time he declar d that a King was not to be obeyed in things wherein the Consci-

& Philip Vincent

> till the Year 1644 Being a Man of great Merit and Learning, he lov d the Learned, whatever Religion they might be of He desired presently to be acquirented with Mr Amyraut, and found him so worthy of his Friendley, that they became very well acquainted They iaw each other commonly twice a Week, so that its no wonder if that Minifter could supply some Memoirs for the Life of that President It is not necessary to say that Mr dela Berchere died first President in the Parliament of Greatly and that his President in the Parliament of Greatly and that his President in the Parliament of Greatly and that his President is the President in the Parliament of Greatly and that his President in the Parliament of Greatly and that his President in the Parliament of Greatly and the pre nolle, and that his Biother fucceeded him, but I must observe that the latter being willing to have his Brother's I ste publish d, desir d Mr Amyraut to communicate some Memoirs to him concerning the Patriculars that past between them Mr Amyraus tent him among other things the Account of the Conference that he had with Father Audebert, for as ioon as the Report was ipread in Saumur that he had a private (onference with that Jeiuit, Mr de la Berchere would know of him what there was of it Mr Any out told him a good part of it, and defired him not to speak of it. That part of his Memous was not made use of in the Life of Mr de la Berchoe that was published In 1648, he dedicated he Book des droits du Mariage to that illustrious Magistrate, who was at that time first President of Grenelle

(M) The Intendants of the Province of Anjou] He never fail d to wait upon them, and all of 'em return d him his Visit, and shewed a great considera-When he went in 1658 to drink the Waters of Bourbon, he received many Civilities at Bourger from Mi Mandat Intendant of the Pro-Vince He might have lodg d at that Intendent's House, who defir'd it He dined there with the Archdeacon of Bourges and some other Clergy-Men

the Re-

mark D

(b) In the

th Talers of t Ora-

Clurch of tory at the

Siumui

(N) Bishote and Archbishops] See what has been find above (a) concerning the Bishop of Chartres I add here that in the Year 1662 the Archbishop of Paris Haraouin de Perefixe, being gone to Saumur for a Vow which the Queen-Mother had made to Our Lady (b) des Ardill ers, fent word to Mr Amyraut that he sho ilu be very glad to see him Mr Amythat he into hid be very grad to lee him Wir Amy-rant was very ready to give him a Visit, but he let him know that he would not call him My Lord The Archbishop having yielded to it, received two Vi-sits of that Minister, discoursed two hours with him every time, and treated him very civilly They discoursed among other things of Mi Daille's Books, of which the Prelite spoke very well as to the part

(0) And above all Cardinal Mazarin] Saumur in 1652 iome days after the King and the Queen-Mother, and hearing that a Sermon of Mr Amyraus had been much spoken of at the Queen's Table, he defir'd the Count de Comminges to tell that Minister, that he should be very glad to be acquainted with him That Count was Governor of Saumur, and had a great Affection for Mr miraut He promis d him that the Protestants might meet on a Sundy as usual, though the King was in the City, but he told him at the same time that they must break off their Askmblies the three first days after the King s coming What was promis d was perform d Mr Amyraut preach'd on the Sunday upon these words, Fear God, Honour the King, and was heard by many Persons of the Court, who were very well satisfied with him, and spoke of his Sermon with praise, not only to the King as soon as they came from Church, but also in the Evening during the It was then that Cardinal Mazarin heard of that Sermon, and was informed by Mi d. Conminger of the Zealthat Mr Amyraut, and all the Protestants of those Parts, had expressed for the King's Service in the last Troubles The Cardinal was to delirous to fee that Minister, that he fent him word of it the very next Morning by the Judge of the Provostship So that Mr de Comminger teeing that he was not the first Messenger, told Mr

Amyraut smiling I see, Sir, that we shall soon stand in need of your Intercession with his Eminence, which will prove to you the usefulness of the Invocation of Saints. The first Visit was pretty thort, but Mr Amyraut was desir'd to come again the next Morning at Light of the Clock The Cardinal shewed him all manner of Livilley made him see the Live Spoke so of Civility, made him fit near the Fire, spoke to him concerning State Affairs, gave him a particular Account of all the Efforts that were used in Xainsonge, to draw the Protestants into the Prince's Party, and desir'd him to endeavour to make all those Attempts useles Mr Amyraus assur'd him that there was nothing to fear from the Protestants of France, and that he would write to several Ministers of Xaintenge, to the end that the Synod, which they were speedily to hold, should authentically testify their Fidelity. The thing was perform'd. Two days after that Audience, the Cardinal under pretence to see the Protestant College, and the Library of Mr du Plessis Mernay, had another Conference with Mr Amyraus in that Minister's Closet. They stoke of the helps of Nanta, and because Mr. Amyraus and because Mr. spoke of the Edict of Nantes, and because Mr Any-raut being askt, whether Henry IV had been oblig-ed to make it, answer'd Yes, but that if it had been a meer favour in the beginning, the observation of it would be a necessary thing at present, the Cardimal told him that he was in the right, and cited this Maxim of the Law, quod initio fuir voluntatis, and post fasto sit necessitatis. The Reader will be glad to find here what Mi (c) de Guitaut said to Madam de la Trimouille in the Queen's presence. His Emide la Trimouille in the Queen's presence. His Emi-Captain in nence is with the Minister Amyraut they are both Clerthe Queen gymen, but I am sure they will not speak of Religion, his Guardi, Eminence will not get any thing by it. During the and Uncle sive Weeks that the King was at Saumur, Mr Amy-to M de saut gave the Cardinal many Visits, and was always. Commin kindly received by him, and when he took his leave, ges of his Eminence, he told him that he might write to him directly whenever he had any request to make him directly, whenever he had any request to make either for the Party in general, or for his own private Interests He did not make use of that Permission till after the Journey he made to Paris about the end of the Year 1658 He saw his Eminence three or four times, who us'd him very civilly He spokes to him of the National Samuel when the spoke to him of the National Synod, whereof the Convocation had been desir d so many Years The Cardinal answer'd that the Reasons which had prevented the granting of it, were still subsisting, and would have Mr Amyraut write to him about it He gave himself the Honour to write twice to himself. about it the Cardinal answer'd with his own Hand; and every time that he answer'd him afterwards, he made use of a Secretary's Hand, but he Sign's pro-

prio pugno
(P) That it was his darling Dostrine In the Apology that he publish'd for the Protestants in the Year 1647 he excuses their Civil Wars of France as well as he can, but he declares nevertheless, (d)
That he will not in any wise undertake the desence of taking up Arms against ones Prince for any Cause whatever—and that he always believe a that it is much more agreeand that he always believe d that it is much more agreeable to the Nature of the Gofpel, and the Practice of the ancient Church, to have recourse to no other arms than to Patience, Tears and Prayers——And every time, says he (e), that I look over the History of our Fathers, I cannot but be very sensibly sorry that they did not Crown so many other sine Vertues, of which they left us Examples, with the invitation of the fift Christians, in that invincible Patience which they showed under the Persocutions of the Emporers A Latim Piece (f) which he Publish'd two Years after, shows how he maintain'd that Cause against the Complaints of a Minister of Rochelle, who would have done better not to have taken notice of Mr. Amyraus s Book, than to be offended at it. The Book entituded, de la Souveraint ones Molish'd in 1650 on occasion of the Tragical Death of Schooles I King of England, shows yet with more force Mr. Amyraus's Opinion about Subjects taking up Arms against their Princes. There was no way

(c) He wa Captain (

Queen's Supper

MANYRAUT. AMPRUTZES.

Presentant Lords. He fell out with a Minister of Saumur, whose Name was Mr. d' Hu. & Konig affine, and had not all the Saussacion that he expected in the a National Synod of Inotheca ence is concern'd (2) Loudon. It is thought that the Glory he enjoy'd was against him on that occasion; as & Witte if he had been a great Tree that shaded the little ones, and the Branches whereof in his Dia-were to be out off Besides, the Relations of those who had declar'd against the Doctrine his Death his Death of univerful Grace, favour'd his Enemy as much as they could Tis likely he might have been one of those (R) who sat at the Table in that Synod, to which he was deputed by his Province, if he had not been thought to be personally concerned in the Affairs of Mr d' Huisseau with the Church of Saumur He died very Christian-like the 8th day of then Com-January 6 1664, and was buried according to all the A content of the State of the Com-He had the Finan-January 6 1664, and was buried according to all the Academical Ceremonies a great Freedom of Mind in his last Sickness, which gave him occasion to make several edifying Discourses, and to give good Testimonies of his Faith in the Presence of Sto Bermany Persons of both Religions Among his other Virtues his Charity for the Poor ought to be observed. He gave them the Salary of his Ministry during the ten last Years of his Life. He gave Alms without distinction of Catholicks and Reformed. the Mendicant Friars that came to his House never went away with empty hands, and the kings he recommended the Recollects of Saumur to y Mr Hervart, when they had recourse to the King's Treasury to rebuild their Cloyster that was burnt. They thank'd him for the good Effect of his Recommendation. He lest but one Son, who was a very Learned Advocate in the Parliament of Paris, and who fled to the Hague since the Revocation of what has He had a Daughter who died in 1645, Eighteen Months after been faid by The Grief which that loss cast his Wife into moved him to write the Jews the Edict of Nantes the was a married a Treatise of the State of the Faithful after Death; which he dedicated to her It was the famous printed the Year after. Here is the Distinct that a Mr du Bose with with his own hand Rabbin under Mr Amyram's Cut,

A Mose ad Mosem par Most non fust ullus More, ore & calamo, mirus uterque suit

It was some Years after the Death of that Professor, that his Picture was engraved by his Son's Care &

Some Particularities concerning Mr Amyraut are to be found in a Work entituded n Molange Critique de literature recueilli des conversations de seu Mr Ancillon, whereby it appears myrau the settle graph in a Passage in a 8 Letter of Balzac, wherein the Author of an the Sc Apology is much prais'd, is to be understood of him We find also there that Patin Whate esteemed him very much But take notice that what is disobliging in Patin's Letter does not concern the Minister of Saumur I shall speak of that (S) in a Remark, and also from of some other small Mistakes

A MYRUTZES, a Peripatetick Philosopher, born at Trabisonda, was very mith Remuch esteem'd in the Court of the Emperor David his Master, and wrote in Favour of marks of the Greeks against the Decimal of the Council of Florence x; but he lost all his Glory of staken way to be filent, for the Catholicks did not cease to impute that Tragedy to the Presbyterian Party, and to draw a Thouland odious Confequences from it against the Protestants of France Mr Amyraus did not think he ought to leave the Injustice of those Reproaches without an Answer During the Troubles of the last Minority that Minister did always informethe People in his Sermons with the obediential part, and when he was consulted how they ought to behave themselves, he answer'd, That the only way was to keep to the King's Party It is likely that the Persons, who consulted him, went honestly about it, and did not dive into the Artistice that prevails in those forts of Consultions Rebels nover fail to magnitude that they will only remedy Abuses, and trailing the evil Councellors that are about their Marking One must be very filly to be eatch d in that Trap, and to want the Advice of a Director of Conscience The distinction of the Pope and of the Marking See is not so gross a Sophism Lastly, Mr for the Holly See is not so gross a Sophism Lastly, Mr for the Holly See is not so gross a Sophism Lastly, Mr for the Principles of Christianity Subjects ought not to take up Arms against their bovereigns. He declares openly for that which is call'd Passe Obedience That Work was dedicated to Charles II. King of England, soon after this Prince's Restauration. The Author had made himself acquainted at Passe with one of that Prince's Chaplains in the Year 1648. Two Years after he expressed to the Mr Amyraus to dedicate to him his Paraphic on the Plasms, but not till he knew from the Bishop of Durbam, he may and congratulated him for the Bishop rick of Durbam, he may and the Plasms, but not till he knew from the Bishop of Durbam whether that Monarch would be pleas'd with it

(R) That Ring: were one to be obesed in things where swith Confesses is consumed. This appoint when the Senechal of Laurage holided to him an carrest of the Council of State, which ordered all the Proteflants to put out Hangings before their Houses on the Eve of that Feast, and desir'd him to order the Protestants to conform themselves to it, for fear their Disobedience should make the People rise against them Mr Amyraut answered, that on the contrary hewas going to exhort his Flock, to put out no Hangings, and that he would be the first that should refuse it That he had always preach d, that the Superior Powers must be obeyed, but that he never meant it of such things as concern the Conficience Leaving the Senechal, he went from House to House to exhort his Parishioners rather to suffer any thing than to obey that Arress The Senechaldaus'd it to be publish'd with Sound of Trum pet, the Consistory met, thank'd Mr Amyraut for his Conduct, and charged the Liders to take care that there should be no Hangings The King's Lieutenant refus'd to assist the Senechal, and hinder'd the Tumult that begun to be form'd The Arrest was revoked some time after

A 13

(R) He might have been one of those who sate at the Table] If all those who shall read this Book were French Protestants, this Remark would be needless, but at will not be so to other Readers. In our Synods of France there were commonly Four Persons, who form'd what was call'd the Table. One of those Four Persons was the President of the Company, and was call'd the Moderator, the other Three were the Moderator's Assistant, the Secretary, and he who collected the Acts.

collected the Acts
(8) Of that in a Remark, and also of some other small missingles] Patin says in his 113th Letter of the first Ediucin (a), that there was a Physician of Nyott, in 1663, whose Name was Mr Lustand, who had a Mind to cause an Apology for the Physicians so be printed against their who accused them of yielding too much to Nature: he says that that Physician means particularly Mr Amytaut a Minister of Sangara, who soke thus of 'em in the last Polumit of the Christian Morality He mrong in 1665 nard de afternom de Advocate at Saumur. Allusion to 171 Praiseof Moles Maimoni* des (Taken from the M morial mpartid OM Amyraut Whatever grour ded upon pul-Ick Proofs cl, is taken from tlat Memorial n Pr nted at Balil in the Year Mr Concalld Amyruta in the sup-Moreris Distionary mobiel s wrong latius de perp conf h[°], с Р 935, lib

> (a) Melange (ri tique de literature, tom : P 133, 134a

pag 441 & tom 2 tical Histo ry of Con-frantinohim before Beslarion, ftius,apud Allat pag. 883 2 That Imperor arrived at Venice the 8th of I'ebruary 1438 1 Apud Allitium prg 886 s Id ib pig 9 8 l 11 pag 476 n Id 1 13 prg 567 Iwas a I wan in Attici / Jonfius de leng-tor histor Phil pag 169 and 11 the In dxж Gefner 111 Biblioth anotes it, without ntimat ng

(a) Pitin's of he ift Edit of the Melange Caraque P 1, () De 1ft m 16,1 anathe _l 28 1042 (d) In 10 Epifile ata (Hor) to she Students in Divinity that be wis finfi-

He of the ablurdity I Dat 15 18 I unap-Prus

proam

vic Soph

Guiller, by his Apostacy He was one of those who went with the Emperor Devid to Constant History History History History Habones II caus'd him to be brought thither after the taking of Trabinous Mahomet II tom; the Year 1461 That Philosopher being gain'd by the Promises of the Sultan, abjur'd his Christianity, and turn'd Turk with his Children; one of which, under the Name of Mehemet-Bog translated several Books of the Christians into Arabick, by the order of Mahemet the Second That Prince gave Amyrutzes considerable Employments in the Seraglio, and discours'd sometimes about Learning and Matters of Religion with him or with Mehemet-Bog a. As Allatius expresses himself, one would be apt to take that Philosopher for the (A) Protovestiary of the Emperor of Trabizanda. I must not force to the that Philosopher so the American delayer to be afterned by Protock when the Emperor forget to say that Amyrutzes did not begin to be esteem'd by Princes, when the Emperor of Trabizonda honoured him with his Affection, for he had been a long time very much consider'd in the Court of Constantinople. He was one c of the chief Learned Persons, whom the Emperor John Paleologus consulted about his Journey into Italy, and he accompanied that Emperor y in that Journey, as he himself says J, in the Relation that he compos'd of what had past in the Council of Florence, and which he inscribed to Demetrius Governor of Napoli di Romania He affirms among other things, that the Patriarch of Constantinople a was strangled whilst that Council was held, and that the Physitians attested that Fact Physicians attested that Fact

Many Writers have been call'd by that Name AMMONIUS Athenaus quotes two Works of a very different Nature, compos'd by an Author whom he calls of MMONIUS One of them & treats of Altars and Sacrifices, the other a treats of the (A) Curtezans of Athens He does not politively say that those Two Books are of the same Ammonius, neither does he say any thing that intimates the contrary. Besides he says nothing of that Author's Countrey, nor of the Age he hiv'd in We know by (B) another Author that he who wrote the Book concerning Altars and Sacrifices, was a Native of Lampria & Suidas, fuch as we have him at prefent, speaks only of Ammonius Saccas but without doubt he mention'd an Ammonius different from that, for what we find in his Dictionary cannot have been faid of a fingle Person It is imposfible that the same Ammonius shou'd have abjur'd the Christian Faith, and succeeded A-Two things we find in Suidas concerning Ammonius. Was he so ignorant as to believe they were not inconsistent? I see no likelihood in it. Fonsius i conjectures that there is, a Gap in that * Passage, and that Suidas might have spoken in that Gap of Ammonius mention'd by Athenaus If this was true, it must be said that the Treatise of Sacrifices and Altars, or that of the Curtezans of Athens, or both, were written by a Grammarian who was Aristarchus's Successor. The second AMMONIUS I design to speak of, is a Philosopher A of Egypt Plutarch whose Preceptor he was mentions him

